TAWNEY SUBJECT OF HARSH WORDS BY LA FOLLETTE

Minnesotan Is Branded "An Ideal Servitor of the 'System.'"

Stinging Characterization Appears in Current Number of Magazine.

"Tawney's Tactics" Are Explained By Series of Examples of Actions.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—"In Tawney the 'System' finds an ideal servitor. No weight of authority deters him. No task is too big for him to tackle. No service is too slight to engage his attention. He is always 'on the job.' His specialty is knocking in the head appropriations for government investigations of the 'System's' wrong doing."

This is a portion of the stinging characterization and hanging in effigy which Senator La Follette makes in his weekly magazine today of Congressman Tawney of Winona, Minn. Close on the heels of the articles by President Charles R. Van Hise, scoring Tawney in the two other publications for his attitude on the conservation of the nation's resources comes a more caustic delineation of Tawney as the new friend of child labor in La Follette's this week. He is depicted as the "great hush——h——h," and as

TRUST COMPANY MANAGER ACCUSED

H. M. Lewis Is Arrested on Charge of Fraudulent Use of the Mails.

Washington, Oct. 1.—H. M. Lewis, whose acts in connection with the management of the National Trust companies and other similar corporations engaged in the guaranteeing of securities of corporations have been inquired into by United States Commissioner Anson S. Taylor, was today held under $3,500 bail to appear before the grand jury for further proceedings. It is expected that Lewis' case will be heard in the first October term and that an indictment will be asked on a charge of seeking to defraud the public by illegal use of the mails, and also of conspiracy against the government by similar means.

IOWA BREWERS SEEKING RELIEF

Set Attorneys to Studying New Laws on the Liquor Traffic.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 1.—Attorneys for the principal brewing interests of the state, it was announced today, will soon work out a line of action to safeguard the brewing business, which has been curtailed by the recently enacted Moon and Bennett laws.

These two laws not only place restrictions upon the saloons, but reduce the number of such places. Recently Attorney General Byers held that the Moon law became effective on the day of passage, instead of on July 4 next, and yesterday brewers from Dubuque, Sioux City, Davenport, Council Bluffs and Waverly held a secret meeting here and discussed the situation.

The line on which the brewers will make their fight is not made public. In the meantime they urge every brewer and saloon man in the state to comply strictly with the statutes.

NEGRO AND WHITE MAN ARE HANGED

First Executions Are Held Under Tennessee's New Statute.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 1. — William Mitchell, a white man convicted of murder, and Cecil Palmer, colored, sentenced to death for criminally assaulting a woman, were hanged at sunrise today. These were the first executions under a new law that all executions in this state shall be held at the state prison here.

DRIVEN BACK BY MOORS

Spanish Forces Are Forced to Retire From Mount Guruga.

News of Defeat Is Kept From Knowledge of People in Madrid.

Melilla, Morocco, Oct. 1.—A Spanish force from Seeluan, reconnoitering yesterday in the direction of Sokel Jemis, encountered the Moors and met with a serious reverse. Gen. Diaz Vicario, three other officers and fourteen men were killed and 182 men were wounded.

The Spanish force was under the command of Gen. Orozeco. The other officers who lost their lives were a lieutenant and two captains. The Spaniards were ambushed by the Moors.

People Kept in Ignorance.

Madrid, Oct. 1.—The latest Spanish defeat in Morocco, in which Gen. Diaz Vicario lost his life, is not yet known to the people of Madrid, and the authorities are carefully suppressing the details of the activities of yesterday and Wednesday, which indicated that the Moors were resuming the offensive. It is now known, however, that the Spaniards retired from the summit of Mount Guruga because of the sudden appearance of 4,000 Moors, whose attack was expected momentarily.

The enthusiasm that followed the announcement of the possession of Mount Guruga is dampened today by the meager reports already made public, and the people will be further dismayed when they hear of the reverse of yesterday.

WEST IS SLOW TO HUNT JOBS

Census Bureau Has Too Few Applications From That Section.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Unless more residents from states in the Far West make application to the United States civil service commission for the examination to be held Oct. 23, for positions in the census bureau, those states probably will fail to receive a full share of the appointments.

It was stated at the civil service commission today that as the census act provides for distribution of appointments among the states and territories in accordance with the law of apportionment, the civil service commission is anxious to have applications from persons in Western states desiring appointments in the census bureau.

It is expected that about 3,000 appointments will be made from the examination to be held in all the states and territories. These appointments will be for terms of six months to two years, and will average about one year in length.

STAKES HIS LIFE ON FALL OF THE COIN---AND LOSES

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 1.—David Eldredge, a mine owner, who disappeared in the desert several weeks ago, staked his life on the toss of a coin and lost, according to Malapai Mike, a prospector who was the last to see the missing man. Parties have searched the desert in vain for Eldredge and have given him up for dead.

Mike came here from Greenwater last winter. He says he and Eldredge, who was the son of Benjamin Eldredge, a wealthy Illinois manufacturer, started for Telescope peak to inspect a power site. On the way they lost most of their provisions and all but one of their burros. When their water supply was reduced to five gallons, Mike says Eldredge suggested the tossing of a coin to see which should take the burro and make a dash for Greenwater for aid. Mike won, and taking one gallon of water, left his companion.

On arriving at Greenwater, Mike sent a party in search of the missing man, but no trace was found.

PEARY BACK IN NEW YORK

Few Recognize Explorer and He Avoids Big Demonstration.

Joins Crew on Roosevelt for Parade Up the Hudson River.

New York, Oct. 1.—The whistles of a hundred harbor craft shrieked a continual welcome to the steamer Roosevelt as she ploughed up the harbor this morning at the moment in which Robert E. Peary stepped from a train in the Grand Central station, returning to New York from his trip to the North Pole, to participate in the Hudson-Fulton naval parade up the Hudson river.

The Roosevelt was well on her way from the Quarantine station, on Staten island, to a pier at the foot of West Forty-second street, where the explorer was to board her, when Commander Peary arrived, at 7:15 a. m. He was accompanied by Mrs. Peary. The hour of their arrival was so early that few persons were at the station to greet them. They were warmly greeted, however, by Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club. A group of newspaper men also were gathered on the platform, and they, with the few others in the station who discovered that this was the return of the North Pole explorer, crowded around the commander and questioned him about his trip to the Far North.

Too Hungry to Talk.

With the laughing remark that he was too hungry to talk, Commander Peary turned aside the questioners and hastened across the street for breakfast. After a hurried breakfast the commander and Mrs. Peary left the

JOHNSON MEMORIAL

Fund Shows Steady Growth and Will Be Greatly Increased.

Contributions From Outside Show Widespread Regard for the Governor.

Fresh impetus has been given to the Johnson memorial movement by the appointment of the monument commission by Governor Eberhart. The work of collecting the funds will now become centralized. President C. D. O'Brien of the commission will call a meeting for next week at St. Paul to organize and adopt a mode of procedure. It is hoped that the Duluth fund will have reached much larger proportions before the meeting of the commission. Certainly the present total of the contributions here is not creditable to the city, and the Duluth representatives on the commission should be able to make a much better report at next week's meeting than they would be able to do today. No doubt there are hundreds of people in Duluth who desire and intend to send their contributions but have neglected to attend to the matter for various reasons. They should not delay longer, but send in whatever amount they desire, not exceeding $1 each, to the fund for erecting a monument to the late governor. The commission named by Governor Eberhart represents every congressional district in the state and is composed as follows:

Commissioners at Large.

C. D. O'Brien, St. Paul, president.
A. C. Weiss, Duluth.
C. W. Ames, St. Paul.
E. M. Neill, president of the Federated Clubs, Red Wing.
Mrs. C. G. Higbee, president of the

THE RETORT COURTEOUS

Mayor Completes Reply to Port Huron Gas Company.

Says Local Plant Is Far From Being a Failure.

Mayor Haven today completed his reply to the Port Huron Gas company, declaring in plain language that the gas company which says Duluth is running its municipal plant at a loss is falsifying outrageously.

The Port Huron company, which is trying to get a franchise for thirty years and sell gas at $1 per 1,000 cubic feet, advertised that this city is running its plant at a loss, setting forth numerous figures to substantiate the allegation. According to the Port Huron company's figures Duluth is selling gas for 75 cents which actually costs over 96 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

The Port Huron officials have asked for the true facts, and they were forwarded to them today by the mayor. The mayor strikes straight from the shoulder, pronouncing the figures incorrect, and selected with no view of being accurate. He says that Duluth is selling its gas at cost, and that the city is not losing any money by its investment, which, he says, has been extremely popular in Duluth.

The Port Huron Gas company figures that the plant has cost Duluth over $800,000 and estimates the loss of taxes to the city at $11,000. The mayor declares that under private ownership the value would never be given nearly as high as that, while at the most the city could not collect over $4,000 a year in taxes from the plant.

The depreciation is placed at over

HOW IRELAND HAS FARED UNDER THE BRITISH SYSTEM OF TARIFF

Written for The Evening Herald by Zach McGhee.

(Copyright 1909, by Zach McGhee.)

Dublin, Ireland, Sept. 17.—We have been told in congress and elsewhere in America that practically all of Ireland is in dilapidation, degradation, and distress. The poverty, the industrial stagnation, the rags and misery attributed to this island have been luridly pictured to us to show us what horrible woes would surely come to us should our tariff duties be reduced to a revenue basis.

Having visited the two typical cities, Belfast in the north and Dublin in the south, and cycled through representative farming portions of both sections, talking with all classes of people, seeing their work places and homes, I am prepared to give some facts about the case. But before doing so, I will quote what a man who has been here studying the situation for some forty years has just said to me. He is a Presbyterian minister of capacity and information, who does not live in the city, but in the country. In politics he is a Conservative (Republican) and favors "tariff reform," that is, a protective tariff.

Under Free Trade.

"There is no doubt," said he, "that England has prospered under free trade.

"Ireland has prospered also," he replied. "There is no denying that economic conditions here have been steadily improving since 1850. Free trade lessened the cost of living, and the people have prospered under it, but so far as Ireland is concerned, the land legislation is the chief cause of the improvement."

I expect to deal with the land question another day. Just note that that's a protectionist talking about improvement. Fellows in our country have been declaiming to us how Ireland has been steadily going down hill rather than improving economically.

Bear another thing in mind, that the most distressful times Ireland ever had were in 1846 when the potato crop failed. So great was the suffering of the people that to give temporary relief, several foreign nations, notably our own, sent shiploads of provisions here, while to give permanent relief the British parliament repealed the protective tariff on wheat and under the leadership of Sir Robert Peel proceeded by degrees as fast as feasible to put the country on a tariff-for-revenue-only basis.

Since that time the city of Belfast, for instance, and the farming districts of all Northwest Ireland, have advanced with marvelous prosperity. Belfast, the center of the linen industry, though it has numerous other industries, notably shipbuilding, all flourishing, is a fair sample of Irish, as Glasgow is of Scottish, and Bradford of English, prosperity.

Not Much Stagnation.

With all we have heard of stagnation in the United Kingdom, Belfast has passed through the American panic, which affected all the industries of Europe more or less, almost without stopping a hammer or a wheel. Now there isn't one of either at rest. I should have stated, by the way, when writing from Bradford and Leeds, that very few woolen mills have been forced either to shut down or go on short time, while numerous mills have been and still are running day and night.

In 1850, about the time the last tariff duties were taken off, there were in Belfast 326,008 linen spindles. Now there are 920,000. In 1850 there were 88 power looms weaving linen fabrics.

CIVIC SPIRIT IS SHOWING SIGNS OF AWAKENING

Citizens Becoming Aroused to Importance of Many Public Questions.

Will Find Answer to "What Is the Matter With Duluth?"

Railroad Rates and Cost of Living Are Being Probed.

That the citizens of Duluth are at last thoroughly awakened to the importance of several problems that are confronting them, and are becoming imbued with the booster spirit, is shown by the widespread comment on these problems heard on all sides, the numerous letters to the newspapers dealing with them, and the activity of the Commercial club members and directors.

It now looks as if the occupancy of a new home by the Commercial club had given that organization a new impulse, and that this winter will see a determined effort to get at the bottom of certain problems that have long worried public-spirited citizens who had the good of the city at heart.

There is a new interest in civic affairs, which has long been lacking, and which promises to bring results.

WILL OPPOSE JEROME IN NEW YORK ELECTION

C. S. WHITMAN.

Mr. Whitman has been chosen for the office of district attorney on the Republican ticket. Mr. Whitman is now a city judge, and he has a record for fairness and independence which makes him a strong candidate for district attorney. It is known he will have to run against W. T. Jerome, who has filed as an independent candidate, but the Democratic nominee has not yet been chosen. Jerome was expected to get Democratic support until his recent attack on Justice Gaynor, who has been nominated for mayor through the dictation of Tammany.

TAFT DOING BEST HE CAN

President Says So in Speech at Dinner on Seattle Fair Grounds.

Declares Some Followers of Roosevelt Are Going Too Far.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 1.—President Taft spoke at a dinner last night in the Washington state building at the world's fair. The dinner was attended by 500 guests.

Referring to Secretary Ballinger, the president said:

"I am grateful to him for coming into my cabinet. I wish to testify in the presence of his friends and neighbors to the sincere and high esteem in which I hold his services to the government."

Mr. Taft took up the criticism made that the administration was not carrying out the Roosevelt policies and said:

"I am bound to admit that Mr. Roosevelt's knowledge of the West is greater than I have, for he had lived in the West and loved it better than he did his own home in the East; but I was in the Roosevelt cabinet four years, and became imbued with the determination to carry out the Roosevelt policies as I understand them.

SAY SOLDIERS STONED CARS

Omaha Authorities Claim Car Containing Police Squad Was Attacked.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 1.—Last night, for the first time since the street car strike began, the cars were run until 10 o'clock. There were numerous disturbances and quite a number of arrests. Nine soldiers were arrested near Fort Omaha charged with stoning a car which was carrying a detail of police who had been sent there to look for rioters. The soldiers are members of the Thirteenth infantry.

WHEAT BUYER FATALLY HURT

Edward Brouillett Caught in Elevator Belt at Crookston Mill.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock Edward Brouillett, wheat buyer for the Crookston Milling company, was probably fatally injured, and, but for his remarkable strength and nerve, would have been dead before his plight was discovered. He had gone to the cupola of the mill for some reason, and a half hour afterwards, when a farmer who had been waiting to have his grain weighed made complaint to the head miller, the latter started on a trip of investigation and finally found Brouillett caught in the elevator belt, with his left arm broken near the wrist, and in a fainting condition. The head miller cut the belt and the injured man was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where it is feared he cannot recover.

When found he had his feet braced, and with almost superhuman strength had managed to stop the belt, though the pulley was revolving under such a strain that the shaft was bent. Had he lost consciousness his body would have been hurled around the shaft and his life beaten out in a moment. He fainted as soon as released by the head miller who slashed the belt in two. Brouillett came from Red Lake Falls two years ago and has a wife and several children here.

SECOND RIOTER FOUND GUILTY

The Cases Against the Other Two Are Dismissed.

Mary Mendyka, charged with being one of the crowd which started a demonstration against Rev. A. Ryczek, pastor of the "independents" who broke away from the mother church, was discharged in municipal court today. The court found that the disorderly conduct had not been in a public place as she was standing on the porch of a nearby residence. The case against Josie Konczak was dismissed as it was found that she was not implicated. Stans Walsczak pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs. This is probably the end of the trouble as far as the police court is concerned.

WHITNEY ON HIS WAY TO MEET DR. COOK.

Truro, N. S., Oct. 1.—Harry Whitney, who was with Dr. Cook at Etah, arrived here last night from St. Johns, N. F., and took a train for New York to see Dr. Cook. Mr. Whitney declined to make any statement.

DRY SIDE OF TOWN TO FINE WET SIDE DRUNKS $25

Bristol, Tenn., Oct. 1.—To protect the Tennessee half of Bristol, which is "dry," against what is described as a threatened deluge of "drunks" from the "wet," or Virginia, half of the city, Recorder T. J. Burrow, beginning today, will impose a minimum fine of $25 for drunkenness, and declares that there is no guarantee that fines will not be raised to a larger amount.

This action of the recorder in giving notice of the increased minimum fine for drunkenness was taken because today the saloons of the Virginia half of the city were thrown open in accordance with the court decision declaring the local option election of July 8, which was won by the "wets."

In preparation for today's opening of the saloons in the Virginia half of of the city, ten solid carloads of whisky, beer and other ardent spirits reached Bristol during the week.

While the Tennessee city has raised the minimum fine for drunkenness, the Virginia city will continue to impose a $10 minimum fine, although some of the people there are inclined to think that the fine should be lowered since the opening of the saloons.

STILL AHEAD OF RECORD

Ore Shipments to Date Surpass Those of 1907.

Believed That 1909 Will Prove a Banner Year.

Every indication points to the breaking of the immense tonnage record established by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway and the Duluth & Iron Range railway in 1907, the banner year in ore shipping up to the present time.

Figures for the present month on both of the railroads bring the total amount of ore hauled over both roads to a higher total than the total amount hauled in 1907 during the same period.

Whether the record of the present season will be higher than the record established in the prosperous season of 1907, is a question that the volume of business over the country will determine. If the demand for ore continues heavy through the present month and the month of November, there is no doubt but that the present season will establish a record for the greatest amount of ore tonnage ever shipped from the Head of the Lakes.

During the month ending yesterday, the Missabe hauled 2,133,800 tons of ore. In September of last year, 1,617,134 tons were hauled by the Missabe. In September, 1907, 2,203,638 tons were hauled, which is slightly ahead of the tonnage record of the past month of this season.

But taking the record to date for this season, up to Sept. 30, and comparing it with the record of similar period in 1907, it will be seen that the Missabe is ahead of the high tonnage mark of two years ago.

To date this season 9,847,177 tons have been shipped to the Missabe docks. Up to Sept. 30, 1907, 9,406,283 tons had been shipped over the Missabe. To Sept. 30, in the lean year of 1908, but 6,201,121 tons had been shipped. It will be seen that the present season is far away ahead of last year, as well as topping the tonnage record of two years ago.

As to the prospects for breaking the total yearly record of 1907, officials of the Missabe are not prepared to commit themselves. In 1907 the mines were extremely busy all through the month of October and November. In fact, the last boat from the Missabe docks left in 1907 on the first day of December.

During October of last year, the Missabe hauled 2,502,556 tons or ore, which is the biggest monthly record ever established by that railroad. So the road will have to haul an immense amount of tonnage in October and November to keep ahead of the year's total tonnage of two years ago.

The figures for the Duluth & Iron Range show a tonnage record to date ahead of the record up to Sept. 30, 1907. The officials of that road are confident that the present year's record will be greater than the record made by that road in 1907.

During September the Iron Range hauled from the mines 1,660,473 tons of ore. In September, 1907, 1,255,584 tons were hauled. In September of last year but 1,132,116 tons were shipped from the mines.

To date the shipments from the mines over the Iron Range railroad have totaled 6,809,892 tons. That the present season is far ahead of the 1907 record will be seen by the figures of two years ago. To Sept. 30, 1907, but 6,153,800 tons were shipped from the mines. In a similar period last year only 3,921,139 tons were brought from the mines.

Two years ago the Iron Range had big months in both October and November, but the officials of the railroad are confident of breaking the record of 1907.

BOATS BUNCHED DOWN THE LAKES

Head of Lakes Situation Reported at the Lower Ports.

The most noticeable feature the past week in marine circles is the remarkable falling off in the number of arrivals each day. The boats have become bunched at the other end of the lakes, as they were here some time ago, and it is probable that when they do begin to arrive, along about the first of the week, they will come in a fleet. When the boats are bunched in this way there are usually some exciting races up the lakes, not alone to see who shall first get to the dock, but because there is a certain rivalry between the captains as to who has the fastest boat.

Grain is now taking all the spare tonnage on the lakes, and all the boats are busy. Some time ago a number of boats were chartered for October shipping, and these boats are now taking care of their contracts. Just at this time, due to the bunching of the boats down the lakes, there is not much activity along the local harbor front, either in the matter of shipping ore or grain. The first of the week will begin the big rush, and from that time on until the middle of December there will be no rest for the vesselmen.

BREEDERS OF HORSES

Must Follow Different Lines to Furnish Horses for Army.

Report From the Department of the Missouri Is Discouraging.

Washington, Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Hull of Iowa, chairman of the military affairs committee of the house, and an enthusiastic friend of the army, has become interested in the creation of markets for the purchase of horses suitable for the army. And as a resident of Des Moines, Iowa, he has hoped to see the capital of the Hawkeye State made one of the chief horse markets of the country. Capt. Hull is not slow in asking anything for his district, particularly insofar as anything to the advantage to Fort Des Moines goes, and has taken up with the quartermaster general of the army the subject of a careful investigation of horses being raised for market with a view, if possible, of securing a better class of horses both for mounts and for general army purposes.

Gen. Aleshire, quartermaster general of the army, who is a most enthusiastic horseman, and as good a judge of horseflesh as any in the country, took up with the adjutant general of the Department of the Missouri the necessity of having expert investigation made of horses throughout the West with a view of securing better strain and hardier animals. As a result of these suggestions an officer was detailed to make a report upon the subject of horses through interviews with local horsemen, veterinarians, importers of horses, liverymen and hotel men, as to how best to bring about a larger horse market than now exists in the commercial cities of the West and Northwest. This report, which has just been submitted to the quartermaster general by one of the younger officers of the service, but who is especially fitted to make such a report by reason of his intimate knowledge of the horse from childhood, is interesting.

"I found the business of raising horses to be confined almost wholly to the farmers," says Lieut. Reaney of the Second cavalry, the adjutant general of the Department of the Missouri. "I saw a great many horses of all kinds, the draft horses predominating. In fact, few of the farmers raise any other kind. Too often, however, they endeavor to raise good colts from "plug" mares with but indiffeent results; some are good, many are fair and a large proportion are only fit to plow corn. While there are many handsome stallions of pure strain, there are native pure strain mares." This report is based on a visit to thirty counties in the state of Iowa during July and August of this year.

Suitable Horses Scarce.

Lieut. Reaney continues his report as follows: "In the counties visited I found on record in the auditor's office 46,921 yearlings; 40,201 2-year olds, and 24,703 3-year olds and over. There were 2,526 stallions and 16,698 mules and asses. Horses suitable for our cavalry and artillery are scarce and high. I saw a few, but the dealers say that 'soldiers' are scarce and that there is nothing in them at the everage contract. They begin at $200 and I do not believe that an order for five or six carloads could be filled in the territory I covered."

In view of this discouraging report it is pretty hard to see how any of the big cities of the West can hope to become a market for horses unless breeders follow diferent lines than at present. The quarter-master's department purchases in the neighborhood of 2,000 to 2,500 cavalry and artillery horses a year and the average price during the fiscal year 1909 was about $158 for cavalry and $198 for artillery horses. It was hoped by the army people hereabouts that either Des Moines or Omaha could be developed as a purchasing center, but from the report of Lieut. Reaney, so far as Des Moines is concerned it would seem to be impracticable.

The horse raisers in the Department of the Missouri and on the Western ranges have in the past made good money from the sales of horses. And there seems to be no reason why farmers and breeders in other sections of the country should not get busy and rake in a part of this army expenditure. The army owns about 30,000 animals—horses and mules, and as at present organized must keep the number up to about that figure. To feed these animals forage to the value of approximately $3,000,000 is purchased each year. The appropriation for horses for calvary service for the fiscal year 1909 was $510,000 and about 300,000 was used from army transportation for the purchase of draft and pack animals. This makes a rather neat sum that goes to the farmers of the country from the army in connection with the animals needed for its service and should be an incentive to the farmers to raise a better class of animals for the cavalry and artillery than the army is now getting.

REFUSED TO GRANT WRIT,

Miss May A. Itrich Must Remain in Jamestown Insane Asylum.

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 1.—Word has been received that the state supreme court has refused to grant the habeas corpus application filed for a removal from the state insane hospital of May A. Itrich committed from Morton county.

The grounds on which the decision was based are first that there was no irregularity in the appointment of the board committing the patient to the institution, and second that the evidence allowed that she was insane at the time and is now insane.

Attorney Stutsman of Mandan filed the application for a habeas corpus. The probabilities are that the patient will remain at the hospital for some time or until her condition is sufficiently improved to be removed.

Money Comes in Bunches to A. A. Chisholm of Treadwell, N. Y., now. His reason is well worth reading: "For a long time I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, and general debility," he writes. "I couldn't sleep, had no appetite, nor ambition, grew weaker every day in spite of all medical treatment. Then used Electric Bitters. Twelve bottles restored all my old-time health and vigor. Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infallible for Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Blood and Nerves. 50c at all druggists.

MILITARY STRENGTH

Of France Now Engaging the Attention of the Authorities.

Proposal to Train Arabs and Algerians for the Army.

Paris, Oct. 1.—In an effort to devise means for strengthening the military position of France, particularly, in comparison to that of Germany, M. Messimy and Cool. Manginn, both well known as authorities on military matters, have sounded a new cry. Their proposal is:

"Let us call Africa to our aid."

It means that large contingents of Arabs and other natives of France's possessions in the dark continent should be raised and trained with a view to coming to her assistance if she should ever be engaged in war in Europe.

Two years ago compulsory service for the Algerians was suggested, but the question is now being revived with more energy, and it will no doubt give rise to considerable discussion, if not to down right controversy.

It is pointed out that Gen. Delacroix has devoted great attention to the matter, and has drawn up a report for the minister of war, in which he expresses his fullest approval.

He states that the reduction of the term of military service from three to two years has diminished the strength at France's disposal. The statistics relating to the birth rate are also a cause of anxiety. So some expedient has to be found for filling the vacuum.

The proposition of Col. Manginn that a certain number of regiments of tirailleurs be raised in Senegal and the Soudan, and M. Maassimy's suggestion for the incorporation of a certain number of Algerian Arabs, are both, in his opinion, excellent. "During the first fortnight of the mobilization," he says, "they would admit of the introduction of reinforcements which might contribute to victory."

M. Delcasse considered that, if France could eventually procure three army corps from Morocco, she could easily, in the meantime, fill up gaps at home with troops recruited in Algeria and the Soudan.

M. Messimy states that prominent legislators are rallying to his views, and have acknowledged that there is nothing of a wild or revolutionary nature in them, adding that, as France is so badly off for men, it would be utter folly to abstain from drawing largely on the reserve of the hardy soldiers in North Africa.

M. Pierre Loti, the most famous and most read of the forty French "Immortals," known in this country not only for his fascinating books, but also for his hatred of all things English, has suddenly been conquered by the charm of London.

He devotes a long article in the Figaro to the beauty, the ideal order and method of London, and to the refinement of the Londoner.

"I find London is a peaceful city," he writes, "spread amid gardens with lofty trees, lawns and lakes. * * * There seem to be flowers everywhere. The most humble balcony, the most modest window, has its basket of flowers.

"How neat and methodical everything is in the streets, in the way traffic is handled! No quarrels; no one raises his voice. * * * And how discreetly the women are dressed! Nowhere do I see extravagant hats like those which make the Avenue de l'Opera look like the recreation hall of a lunatic asylum.

"It is strange, indeed. I fancied that in London everything would be repulsive to me, and on the contrary, I feel my racial dislike of the English nation gradually vanish. One only knows the English when one sees them in England."

Surely M. Loti has hit upon a principle that all peoples of the world might well adopt, to the advantage of good will among races and governments. If Europeans, for instance, would withhold judgment of America until they have visited America, instead of harshly criticising that country because of the faults and peculiarities of certain Americans that travel abroad, they would be doing justice where now many are prone to injustice.

How often, when I have heard these criticisms, have I wished that those uttering them might know the wonderful new land and its splendid people as I have come to know them!

In the famous old Conciergerie, where so many noted prisoners have been confined, and which even today is used in part for jail purposes, a new museum is being formed which bids fair within a shot time to present one of the most interesting collections of historical relics to be found anywhere in France.

M. Pourret, director of the new museum, is energetically adding to the existing collection of relics of the celebrated captives during the great Revolution, and intends to display the result of his efforts in the hall so appropriately called La Salle des Girondins.

Among the objects which M. Pourret so carefully treasures is a low chair of the Louis Quinze fashion, covered with velvet, which was once of a dark red, but has faded to a yellow tint.

It was used by Marie Antoinette, and he keeps it in his own office, as he says that if he had left it in the cell occupied by the ill-fated queen, nothing of it would have remained, as about 500 visitors are admitted on Thursdays, and many of them carried off a scrap of the velvet or of the wood.

Articles belonging to Robespierre, Danton, Mme. Roland, Mme. Recamier, Mme. Elizabeth and other celebrities are also to be displayed in the Salle des Girondins, which will likewise contain a collection of registers and documents relating to the Revolutionary period.

So great, indeed, is the interest exhibited in the task which M. Pourret has undertaken, and which is for him a labor of love, that he is daily receiving offers of articles which have belonged to people who figured in the great upheaval, either as free gifts or at very reasonable prices. So the museum promises to be very complete, as well as extremely interesting.

BRAINERD IRON MINES ACTIVE

Options Taken on Several Properties and Prices Are Soaring.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Things are becoming more and more active in iron land circles around Brainerd. A drill has been taken from Deerwood to the town of Garrison and will put down holes on the homestead of James Dykeman in that town. The drill belongs to Cuyler Adams and his associates, who are reported to have made a lease on an advance royalty basis of Mr. Dykeman. It is also reported that a drill is to be started between Borden lake and Mille Lacs.

There have been several good sales made by option in this vicinity. Albert Kamrath has, it is reported, sold a three-fourths interest in his farm on East Oak street to local parties. Rumor has it that he gets $1,000 for the privilege of drilling, and a good price for the land if mineral is found.

F. H. Guenhagen and E. P. Slipp have also sold an option on a one-third interest in their quarter section in Crow Wing township.

Mrs. E. B. McCullough has sold her 20-acre tract in the eastern part of the city, on Oak street, for $200 per acre, to A. D. Polk, it is stated. Rumor has it, also, that Dr. Grovers has refused $15,000 for fifty acres in the eastern part of the city.

The line of attraction running through the town of Crow Wing has been found, it is said, west of the Mississippi river, and $75 per acre is being offered for lands in the hills on that side of the stream.

The Hildebrandt estate, which owns the farm south of the city, has been offered a good price for a forty, but wants to sell the rest of the tract, and the iron men do not want it.

STOCKWELL SUIT.

Action Against North Dakota Superintendent to Be Tried Soon.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Papers were filed in the Grand Forks district court yesterday afternoon in the case of the State of North Dakota vs, W. L. Stockwell, state superintendent of public instruction. This brings the action on for trial at the December term of court.

The suit is for the recovery of $5,578.80 in fees claimed to have been collected by the superintendent on various kinds of examinations for teachers, and of which he has made no accounting. Supt. Stockwell, through his attorneys, J. E. Gray and Jeff Myers of Grafton, admits having received the money, but claims that he was rightfully entitled to it.

BOY HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Loses His Balance and Falls Under Blades of Heavy Disc.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 1.—As the result of an accident while driving a disc, Roy Hawks, the young son of a homesteader living near Owanka, had a remarkably narrow escape from being torn to pieces by the blades of the disc. While riding on the disc, which was being drawn by horses, he lost his balance and fell to the ground directly in front of the wheels and disc blades. The fact that the ground was soft was all that saved him from being crushed to death. When persons nearby rushed to his assistance it was necessary to lift the disc bodily from the ground in order to release him from his position under the heavy machine.

THRASHING AT CROOKSTON IS NEARLY COMPLETED.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thrashing operations are about 75 per cent completed in this vicinity. The weather is now ideal, and ten days more will see all thrashing completed. Plowing is somewhat backward, but with th steam plows to be operated, about an average acreage will be turned over before the freezeup occurs.

RULES FOR FISHERMEN FOR GATHERING SPAWN.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 1.—S. P. Wires, supernitendent of the Duluth fish hatcheries, was in Marquette this week. He had just returned from Detroit, where he conferred with State Fish Warden Pierce in regard to the gathering of spawn in Michigan waters this fall. He stated that the warden had agreed upon a set of plans and that the fishermen throughout the state will be notified by letter as to the rules, regulations and modus operandi of gathering the fish eggs this fall.

HAS LITTLE HOPE OF LANDING SILICA PLANT.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 1. — The Queen City Commercial club has almost given up all hope of landing for Marquette the silica plant of the Michigan Gold & Silica company. The contest for the plant was between Marquette and Milwaukee. As there is a plant already established at the Cream City and as it would incur an expenditure of $60,000 to erect one in Marquette, the directors of the company have almost decided to accept the Milwaukee location.

Old Resident Gone.

Hubbell, Mich., Oct. 1.—Thomas Marcelain, one of the oldest residents of Hubbell and a pioneer in the village's history, died Monday morning at his home in Hubbell. Death was due to kidney trouble, which the deceased had suffered from for the past six months. He had resided here for twenty-eight years.

Mrs. Mayo Hit by Stone.

Rochester, Minn., Oct. 1. — While driving in their automobile in the country, Mrs. Charles Mayo, wife of Dr. Mayo, was seriously injured by being struck in thehead by the blow. stone hurled by unknown youths. She was rendered unconscious by the blow. In her arms she held her baby at the time and the little one came near being hurt.

OKLAHOMA GIRL, RECORD COTTON PICKER.

Kansas City Times: Miss Margaret Montgomery, a farmer's daughter, near Stillwater, is by long odds the champion cotton picker in Oklahoma, and probably in the whole country.

One day last fall she picked 700 pounds of cotton. Miss Montgomery is 23 years old, was born on a farm in Chautauqua county, Kan. She is a musician, and such an accomplished horsewoman that she won the first prize in the ladies' riding race at the Payne county fair last fall.

FLEET IS AT NEWBURGH

Upper River Towns Take Charge of Hudson-Fulton Doings.

Prospects for Flights in Aeroplanes at New York Are Poor.

Newburgh, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Newburgh, where for a time during the revolution Gen. Washington made his headquarters, gave welcome today to the quaint Half Moon and the Clermont and witnessed their formal transfer from the Lower Hudson commission to the Upper Hudson commission, which will pilot the two vessels through another week of the Hudson-Fulton celebration in the cities lying to the north.

Accompanied by an imposing array of naval and river craft, the little vessels, which began the day's journey at Peekskill, plowed their way through the quiet waters of the Hudson and anchored in the bay while Governor Hughes, the members of the Hudson-Fulton commissions froom up and down th river, members of the legislature, the foreign and other guests were welcomed by Mayor McClellan as they came ashore.

Greeted By Red Men.

Down at Cornwall, four miles below Newburgh, the Half Moon and Clermont had anchored to await the coming of the naval parade from New York, and the villages there were out in force. Members of the Waorneek tribe of Red Men, gay with paint and feathers, arrived on the shore, and sent out a welcoming detachment in canoes to greet the Half Moon, while guns boomed out a welcome from Palmer's park.

In Newburgh the fleet was received with a military salute, the tooting of whistles and the cheers of the thousands who crowded every point of vantage along the river front. During the brief formalities attending the transfer of the Clermont and Half Moon to the Upper Hudson commission, the sailors and marines from the American and foreign warships were landing further down the river to take part in the parade which was one of the chief features of the day ashore.

Tars Guests at Dinner.

Entertainment for most of the official guests was provided at the Newburgh City club, while a shore dinner had been prepared for the soldiers and sailors at the Driving park.

The military parade which Governor Hughes reviewed was made up of two divisions, naval and military. Detachments of sailors and marines from the warships and revenue cutters, including those from foreign shores, and naval militiamen, composed the first division while the second was made up of national guard troops from various cities in the state.

Convicts See Fleet.

Ossining, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The convicts in the state prison were allowed to see the Hudson-Fulton parade as it passed up the river today. Just before the first ship reached a point off Sing Sing prison, Warden Frost and Chief Keeper Connoughton stopped work in the prison shops and, forming the men in squads, marched them into the prison yard and lined them up where they could get a good view of the parade.

The convicts were not permitted to make any demonstration as the naval fleet passed up the river. They stood stolidly gazing at the vessels, and when the last one had passed the convicts were returned to their shops.

The river banks at Ossining were lined with hundreds of people, who watched expectantly for the appearance of Commander Peary's ship, the Roosevelt.

Little Chance of Flying.

New York, Oct. 1.—Prospects of a flight by either Wilbur Wright or Glenn H. Curtiss were not bright today. At 10 a. m. the anemometer at Bedloe's island registered a wind velocity varying from ten to thirty-five miles an hour. The wind was puffy and uncertain, and a flight under such conditions would have been hazardous. Everything was in readiness for flights by both aviators should the wind subside or become more reguiar.

Arrangements with the celebration commission give Wright and Curtiss until 4 p. m. Saturday to make a successful flight. As Curtiss is expected to leave on Saturday night to keep an engagement at St. Louis, it is believed that he will make another effort today or tomorrow. Both aviators said this morning that prospects for an exhibition were far from promising.

DIRECTORY OF AMUSEMENTS

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"Just Out of College."

"JUST OUT OF COLLEGE."

George Ade's Farce, With Music, at the Lyceum.

"Just Out of College," for which George Ade stands sponsor, was presented before a fair sized audience at the Lyceum last evening, and will be the attraction the rest of the week, with a matinee tomorrow.

The plot concerns the efforts of a gabby young man named Swinger to win the hand of a pickle magnate's daughter. Old Mr. Fifty-seven insists that the youngster prove himself a business man and gives him a big wad to start with. The gabby boy well nigh wrecks the old man's particular pickle combine and, of course, wins the girl. There are some interpolated songs.

William A. Mortimer, seen here last year, is still playing the role of Swinger. The company is a fairly capable one, and the play offers a good evening's amusement. William Chrysie Miller, as Prof. Henry Dalrymple Bliss, deserves special mention for a very effective bit of comedy work.

LOGGER IS DROWNED.

Andrew Mattson Loses Life at Mouth of Cloquet River.

Floodwood, Minn., Oct. 1.—Andrew Mattson of this place drowned at the mouth of the Cloquet river, a few miles south of here. Mr. Mattson and the other members of a driving crew were engaged in breaking a log jam. The river at that place was too swift for a boat to go directly from the shore to the jam in the center of the river, so Mattson and another driver took a raft a little way up the St. Louis and floated down, expecting thus to make better progress in working at the congested material.

The current of the river was too strong for the little craft and as the raft approached the jam it upset, throwing both men in the water. Mattson's partner managed to catch hold of the raft but Mattson failed to come to the surface. The body of the drowned man has not been recovered, and it is likely that it has been carried down stream among the logs.

EYE IS BADLY INJURED BY KICK FROM A HORSE.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Le Brun was brought from Langdon and is now under the care of Grand Forks physicians for a very serious injury to his eye. Le Brun was engaged in driving a load of hay, when he fell from his place, striking just behind the horses. One of the horses gave him a vicious kick, striking him just below the eye. He was left there unconscious several hours before being discovered and given surgical attention.

PUT UP VAHEY FOR GOVERNOR

Boston, Mass., Oct. 1.—With singular unanimity and almost unparalleled harmony, the Massachusetts Democracy yesterday, at Faneuil hall, named its state ticket, headed by Former State Senator James H. Vahey of Watertown, and adopted a platform of party principles. Two men formerly enrolled in the Republican ranks were named on the ticket. These so-called "Liberal" Republicans are Eugene N. Foss of Scituate, a leader of the "reciprocal wing" of the Republican party, and Harvey N. Sheppard of Boston. The ticket:

For governor, James H. Vahey of Watertown; for lieutenant governor, Eugene N. Foss of Scituate; for secretary of state, Prof. Arthur T. Clark of Williamstown; for treasurer-receiver general, James H. Bryan, Westfield; for attorney general, Harvey N. Shepard of Boston, and for auditor, Alexis Boyer, Jr., of South Bridge.

The platform declared in favor of an immediate reduction of the tariff on the necessaries of life; a reciprocal trade treaty with Canada; the support of only such candidates for public office as are pledged to the ratification of the constitutional amendment favoring an income tax; the election of United States senators by popular vote, and direct nominations.

Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell of Boston introduced a resolution which was adopted, expressing the sorrow of the Massachusetts Democracy at the death of Governor Johnson of Minnesota.

EDEN TO BE ADAMLESS

Women's Colony in Western Australia on Rock Facing Sea.

Married Women Whose Husbands Are Alive Will Be Barred.

London, Oct. 1.—No man will be allowed to own a share of stock or a rod of land or to hold any office in the new industrial colony which is about to be started in Western Australia by a number of British women. It is situated within forty miles of Altany, on a great rock facing the sea. The land has been obtained from the government of that commonwealth by a number of British women as a freehold property.

Among the number is Mrs. Emily Crawford, president of the Householders' league; Miss Crooke, an expert woman gardener, now chief of the Women's Agricultural college, established by Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Martin at Bredon's Norton, in Worcestershire; Miss Hetty Sawyer, M. D., a successful London medical practitioner, and an owner of great woolen mills, who is too modest to allow her name to be mentioned. The moving spirit is Mrs. Crawford, who is a novelist and an artist and a woman of wealth. She was one of the judges of hammered metal work at the Chicago World's fair. Much of the capital is being supplied by Mrs. Martin, who is better known in America as Victoria Woodhull, the advocate of women's rights, who married the late John Biddulph Martin and settled in England. James Carlton Young, a millionaire of Minneapolis, also has come forward to assist in establishing the new colony, and is credited with the desire to erect a library or art gallery in the near future at Emilliah, as this Adamless Eden is called.

Much Capital Assured.

A good deal of the capital needed for the scheme is secured. All would be forthcoming were it not that Mrs. Crawford and the other freeholders will allow no men to buy a perch of land. Even married women whose husbands are alive are also excluded from the privilege. Widows and spinsters will run the colony in the interest of their own sex.

When Mrs. Crawford was asked why it was she and her associates went so far afield to sink their capital, she replied: "It is solely a question of the parliamentary vote. There is no security in this country for women's financial enterprise. We pitch our tents in Australia because there women have the franchise. Consequently, they have the protection and the advantage which it affords."

This new township is finely equipped by nature for a healthy resort. Situation and scenery are beautiful. It has mineral springs of much local repute for rheumatism, gout, etc.; there is a small lake of pure fresh water, and more than the usual attractions in fishing and wild bird shooting are offered. The climate is dry and bracing, and at no time excessively hot. Finally, it is within ten days' journey of Colombo, a fact which means an immense advantage to Anglo-Indian families, who will be enabled to deposit their children there instead of taking them to England. The mothers, at any rate, can visit them twice a year, and the fathers will be enabled to spend their annual leave with them instead of saving it up for three years in order to join them in England. The owners of the township intend to establish schools which will compare well with first-class schools in England. They are making a point of special schools for girls wherein domesticity will be taught to perfection.

At Emilliah will be built the first Australian kursaal. A company of women is now being formed to carry it into effect. It will be erected on the model of a German bad. Gambling is, however, to be excluded from its attractions, but in every other respect it will be identical with those in Europe. Australia is sadly in need of a lively resort, those existing there being dull and dowdy with practically no amusement. Thus, the new watering place is precisely what is wanted, and the promoters anticipate for it a phenomenal success, the more so as well-to-do Australians come close to this point to escape the heat of the interior. It is expected that the kursaal will be complete next summer when the services of European artists will be obtained to fill its programs. Meanwhile, a number of the best amateurs are contemplating a tour to Emilliah to the new kursaal, when it is ready to receive them.

School of Gardening.

The school of gardening will be started at once. It will be one of the prominent features of the entire scheme. The railroad company has offered to facilitate in every possible manner the interests of the gardeners. It has already divided the ground which is laid out in portions of 160 acres to each proprietor. When the time comes it proposes to run special trains for the transport of produce at the lowest possible rate to Albany, which is also the port.

The school of gardening will include training in dairy work, beekeeping, fruit bottling and the cultivation of vegetables, fruit and flowers, with a knowledge of pruning, etc. Being virgin soil in most places, the new colony is especially adaptable for the production of fruit. The promoters intend to make a point of planting only the choicest trees, with the object of sending the fruit to the home market, where they are aware that the demand is only for the best qualities.

There were on exhibition in the Western Australian building of the Franco-British exhibition last year pictures of the surroundings and the giant fruit and vegetables grown in the neighborhood. Especially remarkable are the apples, pears and potatoes, all of which reach enormous dimensions, frequently weighing two and three pounds each. They are perfectly sound, while the flavor is pronounced equal to that of fruit grown on British soil. The market at Albany is eager for all it can buy; the demand at present is far in excess of the supply.

The woman already referred to who has made a success in England as the proprietor of a woolen mill, is about to build a mill of larger dimensions on her freehold at Emilliah. She will take over with her the skilled labor and the machinery to start the enterprise, which she hopes shortly to complete as a going concern.

The Skin Industry.

The skin industry is yet another for which there is a great scope. A great factory for the preparation of sheep, goat and kid skins will soon be raised. These will be made one of the specialties for export. There is also a proposition to develop a glove factory. The skins of birds, from the giant black and white swans to the parrot, all of which are found in the new township, will also be turned to suitable uses such as the manufacture of fans and ornaments. Although nothing definite can be said about the mineral products there is an idea that the soil will prove rich in them, and that there are indications that petroleum will be found.

The founders will not be above accepting any contribution which Australian millionaires may see fit to present to the new colony. On the contrary, they seem to consider it the duty of these gentlemen to come forward and sustain them.

The establishment of this great enterprise beyond the seas is watched with interest by those concerned in solving the problem of what to do with our superfluous womankind. If the venture meets with success, it may be regarded as a first step in an important and far-reaching scheme which promises a life of interesting activity with a handsome return for those who enjoy experiences in fresh fields and pastures new.

SOCIETY OF EQUITY TO MEET AT VALLEY CITY.

Valley City, N. D., Oct. 1.—The state convention of the American Society of Equity will meet at Valley City on Wednesday, Oct. 27. All local unions are entitled to representation at this meeting and there will undoubtedly be a large attendance.

The main purpose of the convention will be to elect state officers for the ensuing year.

H. O. Brown, the retiring president, was appointed grain commissioner at the Minnesota terminals. He may be succeeded by E. G. McIlroy, president of the Ward county union.

Banks Will Be Reopened.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 1.—The Columbia bank, which suspended on Tuesday with $3,000,000 in deposits, will be turned over to the officers by the state banking board on Monday. Stockholders in the Columbia Bank & Trust company have offered to put $400,000 in cash into the Columbia's vaults.

The depositors have been cared for by the state guaranty fund. The total amount paid out since the suspension is lest shan $200,000.

WILL "BOB" DUNN BE CANDIDATE?

Wheelock's Appointment Regarded as an Indication of It.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 1.—Republican leaders believe that the appointment of Ralph W. Wheelock as the governor's private secretary means that Governor Eberhart will be opposed for the Republican nomination at the next convention, and that Robert C. Dunn is to become an avowed candidate for the nomination.

If Charles S. Mitchell had taken the office, it could only have been with the understanding that he abandon the Dunn ranks. Mr. Mitchell was in conference with Mr. Dunn at Princeton Tuesday, and his refusal followed that conference.

Mr. Wheelock was a Collins man in the bitter Dunn-Collins campaign of 1904. In view of the possibility of some of the venom of the memorable campaign of 1904 entering into the contest to come, it is a remarkable coincidence that, preceding the announcement of his appointment, Judge Eli Torrance and Judge Loren W. Collins, both of Minneapolis, were callers on Governor Eberhart and were closeted with him for some time. They came out arm in arm and said they had called only to pay their respects.

Judge Torrance, it will be remembered, came out in an open letter against R. C. Dunn in the 1904 fight, while Judge Collins was Dunn's oppinent in the bitter preconvention fight. The animosities which followed resulted in the elevation of the late John A. Johnson, a Democrat, to the governorship.

Back of Wheelock's appointment was said to be Senator E. E. Smith, and a visit by the executive to the Mill City Wednesday afternoon offered, in the minds of some, a certain amount of substantiation to the story, but there is nothing to back it up. In political circles Wheelock was never looked upon as having a chance. That Governor Eberhart visited Minneapolis is known, but it is said he visited there for the purpose of seeing Mr. Wheelock and attending to some matters in connection with his own stone business.

No Forest Fires.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 1.—One of the gratifying aspects of the past summer and present fall in the vicinity of Marquette is the fact that no fires have as yet materialized. In this Marquette is exceedingly fortunate. Heretofore, hardly a year has passed by in which the destructive conflagration of the woods and the consequent oppressive atmosphere did not make their local visitations.

JOHNSON STILL DELIRIOUS.

Langdon Attorney Suffers as Result of Typhoid Fever.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 1.—Attorney John Johnson of Langdon, who was dragged from the Red river last Thursday morning, is doing very nicely at the Deaconess hospital, where he has been since the accident. He is delirious at times, but his condition is not at all serious, the trouble, it is thought, being caused by typhoid fever, which he is suffering with at present.

MONSTER PARADE

To Be Feature of Shriner Celebration at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 1.—A monster parade will be one of the features of the big Shriner celebration in Grand Forks on Nov. 30, in case the weather is favorable. Arrangements for this feature of the day's program are already being taken care of and with the proper conditions Grand Forks will see an eye-opener in the parade.

From 800 to 1,000 people, it is expected, will attend the institution of Kem temple. C. N. Barnes received a letter from Aberdeen, S. D., to the effect that there would be at least a carload of Shriners from there, while Duluth, Winnipeg, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Fargo will send large delegations.

SAYS 75,000 FAMILIES LEFT STATES FOR CANADA

Montreal, Oct. 1.—J. Bruce Walker, of the Canadian department of the interior, who has just returned from an inspection of the immigration condition in the Canadian Northwest, said that 75,000 American families, each with an average capital of $1,000 had entered Canada from the United States this year to become homesteaders.

GERMAN YOUNG PEOPLE ALLOWED TO USE ENGLISH.

Burlington, Iowa, Oct. 1.—With the installation of officers, the general conference of the German Evangelical church in North America closed a ten-day session last night. The most notable action of the conference was the granting of permission to young peoples' societies of the church to use the English language in communities where English is the predominating tongue. It is thought that this action will eventually lead to the supplanting of German by English in the church.

Other action taken includes affiliation with the Church Federation of America, the extension of the church educational system, extension of the foreign mission field, widening of home missionary work to extend into Canada, retention and strengthening of the parochial school system, organization of a ministerial aid society and the decision to erect a tuberculosis hospital and other benevolent institutions.

The decision to allow the use of the English language and to affiliate with the federation of churches was a victory for the progressive element in the church.

ON THE IRON RANGES

HIBBING BEING SURROUNDED

Mining Operations Cutting Off Locations From Access to Village.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 1.—The progress of stripping operations within the village limits of Hibbing is making the citizens of this place wonder what their town of 12,000 people is going to do for a means of communication with its nearby neighbors. It looks now as if within a year it would be possible to get to some of the mining locations lying no more than a mile from town only by a very roundabout route.

The Oliver Iron Mining company is now stripping along the north edge of the town and its new pit in that section is separated from the village power house, and from various brick blocks and business houses by only the width of the street. The stripping will be carried through to the Sellers pit, which has been stripping during the past two years, and the north end of the town will then be entirely cut off.

It is rumored, however, that a long bridge will be built over the pit at First avenue, and that a new road will be built to Chisholm. Whether this will involve the tearing down of the viaduct east of town and the abandoning of the present road to Chisholm is not certainly known. If this viaduct is taken out, the Webb, Morris, Nassau and Columbia locations, only a mile from town, will be completely cut off from the village.

Work has been in progress cleaning up the site for the new Oliver office, machine shops, etc., in the southwestern part of the residence portion of the town, and ground was broken this week for some of the buildings. The new machine shops will be the largest on the ranges, and the buildings at this point will cover a large tract of ground.

ROAD WANTS TO ABANDON LINE

Brookston People Oppose Petition of Missabe Northern Railway.

Brookston, Minn., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company has petitioned the state railroad and warehouse commission for permission to abandon that portion of its tracks between Brookston and Culver. The commission will set a date for a hearing on the matter and arguments pro and con will be heard at that time.

The part of the road that the railroad company wishes to abandon is on the original charter line of the company. At the time the road was built, some fifteen years ago, connections were made at this point with the old Duluth & Winnipeg railway, and the starting point was Mountain Iron. Subsequently a new line was constructed from Columbia Junction (Culver) to West Duluth, and the new line has since been used in place of the one between Culver and Brookston.

The railroad company desires to abandon its old line for the reason that in order to maintain it, it would be necessary to reconstruct a bridge across the St. Louis river at this point. The bridge was destroyed by ice and logs some three and a half years ago, and as no effort has been made to replace it the matter was brought to the attention of the raailroad and warehouse commission. The people of Brookston are preparing to remonstrate against the petition of the railroad company.

SECOND STORY FOR THE COURT

Remodeling of City Hall at Virginia Is Under Way.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work of remodeling the city hall is well under way, and a crew of men is now engaged in tearing down the outer brick wall at the rear of the building. Fifteen feet will be added to the building, which will be two stories in height, the second story to be occupied by the district court when completed.

The municipal court now has its quarters in the council chamber, having been obliged to remove there on account of the tearing away of the outside wall. The work is being done under the supervision of the building committee of the city council, Aldermen Elmquist, Gillmor and Weber, who have engaged the services of L. R. Masson as foreman of the job.

It is the purpose of this board to appraise the property, and upon its report the government officials will commence condemnation proceedings to take over the mineral rights. It is still a possibility that work on the new building will be begun this fall.

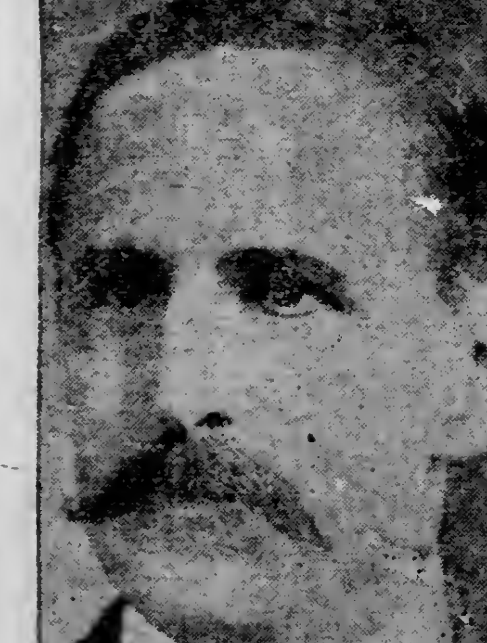
Tawney and Child Labor.

In a five-column article the work of Congressman Tawney in opposing investigation measures are spread to the sunlight and there is rebuke after rebuke because, the article claims, Tawney opposed an investigation of child labor, which might disclose conditions worse than the packing house scandals.



CONGRESSMAN JAMES A. TAWNEY
Of Winona, Minn.

The article shows how Tawney attempted to thwart this and other probes, but beaten, turns in an onslaught on an appropriation which would finance the work. President Roosevelts' favorable attitude on the measure, together with that of the bureau of labor, are quoted to substantiate La Follette's views.

"At the that time, too, the department of the interior, under Secretary Hitchcock, was beginning to uncover wholesale land thieving in the Western states," says La Follette's weekly magazine. "Men important in the circles of 'big business' and 'big politics' were being implicated.

Found 600 Indictments.

"The clues were running into the department at Washington. Six hundred indictments had been found. A single conspiracy was uncovered which had stolen 265,000 acres of public land in California. But the work was handicapped for the want of a secret fund at the disposal of the secretary of the interior for its prosecution. A force of detectives was needed. The secretary had employed some secret service men, but his fund was exhausted.

"He appealed to Tawney and his committee to give at least $20,000 with which to push this great work. Grudgingly Tawney reported an appropriation of $10,000. It was ridiculously inadequate. It was attacked on the floor of the house by Democrats and Republicans. Tawney was smoked out. To save his face, he accepted a compromise amendment proposed by Williams, the Democratic leader, allowing $20,000 to enable the Republican administration to fight land thieves. Again Tawney was beaten, but also again he wanted red tape.

Another of His Pets.

"Another pet of Tawney's was the pneumatic tube appropriation. The pneumatic tube service is rented by the government from a patent right monopoly. It is used to distribute mail to branch postoffices in a few large cities. The service costs this government nearly $1,000,000 a year. The annual rental is $17,000 for each mile of service.

"So much criticism is encountered each year upon this item in the postoffice appropriation bill that Chairman Overstreet of the postoffice committee in the Sixtieth congress proposed an amendment directing the postmaster general to investigate and report the feasibility and desirability of the government's owning and operating this pneumatic tube service.

"Under the rules of the house, new legislation is not in order upon appropriation bills. The Overstreet amendment was new legislation. Of course it could be killed by any one raising the 'point of order.' Tawney raised the 'point of order.'" cessor than I have. There is a difference of opinion as to what the Roosevelt policies are. We have heard of Catholics of whom it is said they are more Catholic than the pope. Occasionally we find gentlemen so earnest in support of the Roosevelt policies that they are more Rooseveltian than Roosevelt himself. I am doing the best I can to carry out the Roosevelt policies as I understand them, and as I was in his cabinet for four years I had at least fair opportunity to know what they were."

The article contains a score of similar illustrations discussing what it calls "Tawney's tactics."

President Taft paid another visit to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition this morning to witness a parade of the blooded stock in the live stock show. On his way to the fair he reviewed the children of the Broadway high school.

Has Some More Golf.

After a half hour at the stock show the president and party were taken to the Seattle Golf club, where they spent five hours.

In the morning he played a nine-hole golf game with H. C. Henry, the railroad builder. After luncheon a foursome was to be played by the president with A. Peters, C. J. Smith and A. S. Kerry. Mr. Peters was a classmate of Mr. Taft at Yale.

After the game the start for Tacoma was made. The president and his fellow travelers were conveyed to the yacht El Primero, lying at a wharf in the center of the water front. On the way to the yacht the president reviewed the pupils of the Lincoln high school.

At the wharf the committee on ceremonies of the world's fair surrendered the president to the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce, and that organization will entertain him until the departure for Portland at 12:15 o'clock Saturday morning.

The Commercial club, as the city's executive agent, feels the effect of this widespread public sentiment, and the officers feel that they have the city behind them in any efforts they may make to solve these problems.

Cost of Living.

The public affairs committee of the Commercial club has a committee at work studying the cost of living in Duluth. The members of this committee are studying all phases of the problem and trying to ascertain if the cost of living is really higher here than in other cities of the country, and if so, the cause of it. The rent problem, the fuel question, the cost of food supplies, and all other items which go to make up the total, will be studied. This committee is planning to make an exhaustive study of conditions, and will report to the next meeting of the public affairs committee. This will give the committee and the citizens in general, facts on which to act.

The work of this committee is necessarily slow. It is a difficult and tedious matter to gather statistics of this kind, and requires faithful and painstaking effort. The members of the committee are W. A. McGonagle, E. W. Bohannon, S. T. Harrison, C. W. Andrews and J. J. Eklund. With such a committee a thorough and reliable report is assured.

Railroad Rates.

Following out the suggestion made by E. M. Ferguson, the club will make a scientific study of the railroad rate problem, to see if Duluth is being discriminated against in the matter of rates or railroad accomodations. A meeting of the executive committee was held last evening, and it was decided to have a special committee of transportation experts, to which all complaints or suggestions will be referred. This committee will investigate rate problems and endeavor to get at the facts. Railroad rates are a closed book to the average citizen, who has not made a study of them, and the members of the public affairs committee feel that there should be some study of them made by men who are familiar with them, and who can detect instances of discrimination against the city. Mr. Ferguson stated that other cities got what advantages they had by going after them. He stated that Duluth had always been content to take what the railroads chose to give, without protest, and the result was that Duluth got little or no consideration. The special committee is composed of C. F. Rowe, F. O. Davidson, E. A. Risden, H. A. Farnshaw and L. L. Culbertson. The first four of these men are employed as traffic managers for Duluth wholesale houses, and are therefore thoroughly familiar with rate problems. Mr. Culbertson is in the commission business and in close touch with traffic matters. These men were formerly on the committee on the wholesale and jobbing interests, but the executive committee last evening simply switched the wholesale and transportation committees. The wholesale committee is now composed of B. P. Neff, Leon E. Lum, J. T. Hale, E. W. Matter and R. F. Grant. These men were not in as close touch with rate questions as the members of the former wholesale committee, and it was decided to switch the two. The new transportation committee met at noon today, and talked over their plans informally.

The citizens of Duluth can be assured of a prompt consideration of any case they may submit to this committee and their assistance in furnishing information which will assist the public affairs committee in getting at the facts in the case will be appreciated.

The Public Market.

There is also a special committee investigating the problem providing a market for the farmers in the vicinity of Duluth. Under the present system, it is claimed, the farmers of Northern Minnesota are not encouraged to send their produce to this city. It is claimed that enough produce is raised in the immediate vicinity of Duluth to supply the city's needs, and that if proper facilities were provided for handling it here the city would secure fresh farm produce at a greatly reduced cost, and the farmers would find a ready market for their produce. This committee is working on a plan to establish a cooperative public market in the city, to receive shipments of farm produce from any point in the northern part of the state, and dispose of it either to grocers or to consumers direct. The members of this committee are O. H. Simonds, E. A. Schulze, John F. Williams, A. B. Hostetter and C. P. Craig.

The first fall meeting of the public affairs committee will probably be held next week. It will be called just as soon as these various committees are ready to report, and it promises to be one of the most important held since the club was organized. It is the evident intention of the committee members to get at the bottom of these problems, and the energetic manner in which they are being taken up uromises to produce results. In short, there seems to be a determination to find out "what is the matter with Duluth," and a growth of that progressive public spirit that has built up the coast cities, and which is so noticeable in Denver, Seattle, Portland and Tacoma.

$38,000. This the mayor asserts, is absolutely wrong. He says that the plant is now in better shape than ever, replacements and repairs being made regularly and charged to the operating expenses.

In recent years hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent for extensions, he explains. At the present time they are an added burden, but they will shortly be producing revenue which will go into a surplus which will take care of the bonds now outstanding. For years the earnings of the department have been turned back into repairs and extensions.

In conclusion he says that the plan has been such a decided success in Duluth that it has met with universal approval, adding that it would hardly be safe for any one to say here what the Port Huron Gas company said in its attack upon the local system.

MRS. JOHNSON MOVES.

Occupies Her New Home on Lincoln Avenue, St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. John A. Johnson, widow of the late governor, moved yesterday to the home on Lincoln avenue. She has been living at the Aberdeen, but the decorations and alterations in the house have been completed and Mrs. Johnson will make it her home. DULUTH BOYS ARE MISSING

Ran Away From Home Nearly a Month Ago.

Started for Home, But Disappeared on the Way.

The whereabouts of William Shapiro and Frank Lighthouser, 15-year-old boys who ran away from their homes nearly a month ago, has become a puzzle to the police and a matter of great anxiety to the parents of the boys.

Both boys shipped out of the city on a passenger steamer to work their way down the lakes. The police sent wires ahead to police of lower lake ports with the result that the boys were captured at the Canadian Soo.

Money was forwarded to pay their board and transportation and word sent to Chief Troyer that the boys had been put on the Hamonic. The boys' parents were notified and they were at the dock to welcome the prodigals. But they did not appear and no other word has since been heard of them.

Wires have been sent to the Soo, but no answers have been received. Every day some member of the boys' families is at the station to make some inquiry, only to get the same answer.

WANTS DAMAGES FROM ATTORNEY

Charles Rebek Sues Joseph De La Motte on Account of Assault.

For a blow on the point of the chin, alleged to have been delivered July 27 in front of the Wolvin building on West First street, Charles Rebek wants $2,000 from Joseph De La Motte.

De La Motte is an attorney and Rebek is a Duluth Austrian, who is said to dabble somewhat in personal injury business. The assault is said to have been caused by Rebek having settled a case in which De La Motte was interested. When they met the subject came up and the discussion ended in De La Motte stretching Rebek out on the walk with a knock-out blow, it is said.

WOMAN SUES STREET RAILWAY

Mary Swenson Says Car Failed to Slow Up at Crossing.

Mary Swenson filed suit in district court this morning against the Duluth Street Railway company for $5,060 for injuries alleged to have been sustained by being run down by a car.

Miss Swenson lives at 2224 West Third street. May 23 of this year she was coming down town and ran from her home to catch a car at the corner of Twenty-third avenue west. The car was running east on the south track. She claims that another car, running west on the north track, was run across the crossing without a slackening of speed, and it struck her, severely injuring her. She says her physical condition will be impaired for the remainder of her life, and she wants damages.

A LIBERAL MORALITY.

Joseph Widener, the young Philadelphia millionaire, was entertaining a party of Anglo-Americans at luncheon at the Ritz in London.

The day was mild and sunny, and the French windows of the beautiful restaurant stood open on the green park and piccadilly. A limeousine glided swiftly past Devonshire house; a well-known American millionaire sat in the sumptuous car; and Mr. Widener, nodding toward the man, said to his neighbor:

"That is Bonns. He made $19,000,000 last year."

"Is he honest?" the neighbor, an Englishman, inquired.

Mr. Widener laughed.

"Well, Lord John," he replied, Bonns' moral code resembles that imputed to the Brazilians. It—er—is liberal. It countenances many shady things.

"In Brazil, you know, in introducing a friend to your banker, recommending him to a business associate and so forth, you show the highest confidence in him—a confidence that can go no further—when you say:

" 'This is my friend. For all he steals I will be responsible.' "

LOSES HIS LEG AND WANTS $30,000

Raymond G. Moran Sues the Oliver Mining Company for Heavy Damages.

Raymond G. Moran filed suit in district court this morning against the Oliver Iron Mining company, asking $30,000 for injuries sustained at the Holman mine at Taconite. His left leg was amputated as a result of the accident.

Moran was employed as a fireman on a locomotive engaged in the mine, which is of the open-pit variety. He alleges that July 7 of this year, while he was engaged in oiling the engine, the engine was started without warning. His left leg was caught under the wheels and crushed so that it had to be amputated.

SUPERIOR NEWS

Woman Gets Six Months.

Gladys Wilson, colored, will be the guest of the sheriff for the next six months. She pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon in superior court to the charge of running a disorderly house. She is a niece of Henry Briscoe, who is now serving a term in Waupun for the same offense. The Wilson woman admitted that she was the proprietor of a resort on Third street.

Busy Day in Court.

Judge Parker of the municipal court disposed of twenty-eight "drunk" and "vag" cases yesterday, the grist being unusually large. There seemed to be plenty of cash with the crowd and seven of the number got off with fines. Eight will reside in the workhouse for a few days and the rest are out on suspended sentences. The coming back of many of the harvest field hands is said to be partly responsible for the increase of drunks on the police court calendar.

May Have Women's Mission.

It is said that officers and directors of the Lake Superior Mission are entertaining plans of extending the work of the mission into a new field, which will provide for a building for women run along the same line as that for men. The officials refuse to give out any details of hiw the plan is to be worked out.

Refuse Resignation.

At a meeting held last evening, the congregation of the Pilgrim Congregational church refused to accept the resignation of Rev. E. H. Shepley as pastor of the church. The resignation was handed to the church board some time ago.

Will Inspect Pupils.

Medical inspection will be carried on this year in the public schools of Superior, and special attention will be paid not only to evidences of contagious diseases, but also to symptoms of troubles with the eyes, ears and throat. Dr. Bulkley will conduct the examination, which will probably be begun next week.

JURY GETS NEWSPAPER AND BRIBERY TRIAL FAILS.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 1.—Judge Memminger today dismissed the jury in the trial of Maj. John Black, former director of the dispensary board. The judge ordered a new trial. Black is charged with accepting a bribe. The jury was dismissed because one of the jurors had carried on a conversation with outsiders, and a newspaper had been thrown into the room containing editorial comments on the graft trials.

Underwood Typewriter Wins.

New York, Oct. 1.—Miss Rose L. Fritz, again wins the world's championship for speed, writing 95 words per minute on the Underwood typewriter, breaking all previous records. Miss Florence E. Wilson won the amateur championship of America and Miss Wilson, also, won the school championship of America. All championships were carried off as usual by Underwood standard typewriter operators.

WHY HE DIDN'T HAVE TO WORK.

Catholic Standard and Times: "But," said the good old lady, "why don't you go to work?"

"Why, ma'am," began the disreputable old loafer, "yer see, I got a wife an' five children to support—"

"But how can you support them if you don't go to work?"

"As I was a-sayin', lady, I got a wife an' five children to support me."

TASMANIAN RABBITS.

Daily Consular and Trade Reports: In a debate in the parliament of Tasmania with reference to wire netting protection against the rabbit pest the remarks which were made suggest the excellent market Tasmania would afford for wire netting.

One member stated that they were endeavoring to promote closer settlement on crown lands, giving advances to settlers, promoting immigration and doing their best to induce people to go on the land and keep them there. But they were doing nothing to cope with the great evil small farmers had to contend against—the rabbit pest. The government lands were overrun by the pest, and little was done to keep them down by poisoning. They had tried trapping, shooting and poisoning in some quarters, but the pest still multiplied, while the birds and the flocks and herds were poisoned. In the district he represented this was a matter that affected the very life of the farmers. One man had written to him that he had been farming twenty years, and it was questionable if he could go on any longer because of the rabbits. The only effectual way to deal with the pest, he held, was with wire netting. The settlers did not want one penny from the government, but they asked that the government import wire netting, sell it to the settlers at cost price and give them a reasonable time to pay for it.

Another member said that he thought the government should help to exterminate the rabbit pest just as it was trying to do with the San Jose scale, and if the government would only import a few hundred miles of wire netting it would be able to get it much cheaper than any settler who wanted a few miles only of the fencing. The government should at least try to prevent the small farmers from being ruined by rabbits bred on the crown lands. Another member said that the laying of rabbit poison did a great deal of harm by the wholesale destruction of native birds, kangaroo, wallaby and other game. Years ago the black and white magpies, most useful birds to the farmers, were to be seen in hundreds, while today very few could be seen. For catching and caging one of these magpies was a heavy fine, yet they were poisoned wholesale. If the government would provide the settlers with wire netting at cost price it would be an immense boon.

Some of the members doubted whether the government could properly go into the business of selling wire netting, and whether it could afford the big expense of wire netting the crown lands. It was urged, on the other hand that the government of New South Wales had purchased wire netting and sold it to farmers at cost price, and Tasmania ought to do the same. The premier of Tasmania said that the proposal to provide wire netting for settlers and others who would wire net their lands would receive the serious consideration of the government.

"PADDY'S MARKET."

The very name of "Paddy's Market" conjures up visions, says a writer in the Gentlewoman, of rollicking shillelah brandishing Irish "boys," and jig dancing, red petticoated colleens, says the New York Sun.

Not without reason, too, as Paddy's Market in Cork retains most of its Old World features to the present day, and a visit there is equivalent to putting back the clock at least a hundred years.

Down the open street where the market is held every Saturday the venders, chiefly old white capped peasant women, sit surrounded by their wares—religious pictures and periwinkles, old furniture, clothes baskets, cradles (without or without an occupant), bacon and loaves of bread, pigs' heads and their feet exposed for sale, on perhaps a bundle of castoff clothing!

Yet sometimes lurking in the midst one finds some treasure trove, a stray print or engraving, well nigh eclipsed by the vandalism of a modern gilded frame, some piece of old Cork glass or Mason's ironstone. Among my most cherished bits of loot was an old Chalsea "man and maid," and by Toby jug and quaint little copper lustre mug, with band of mottled pink and green, were other finds, and my tea caddy of inlaid mahogany, battered 'tis true, picked up for a modest sixpense, from Biddy Balone, a dealer chiefly in salted herrings.

Do not fancy, however, that loot of the kind is lightly come by, for it often means weeks of improfitable searching before patience is rewarded by a single find. I have seen a mahogany tallbow groaning beneath layers of bacon, and a Chippendale chair cheek by jowl with a three-legged milking stool, but these are not everyday discoveries.

One piece of friendly admonition only would I offer to intending pilgrims—kilt your skirts as high as Mrs. Grundy will permit. The fair City of Lee is no whit behind that by the Liffey in careless scavenging, and Paddy's Market, well! it is Paddy's Market.

LOUISIANA'S FROG INDUSTRY.

Lafayette Correspondence New Orleans Times-Democrat: The frog industry, one of the most unique enterprises of the country, is flourishing in this section of the state, and the frog hunters earn good daily wages. During the season, which begins the latter part of February and continues until June 1 the frog hunters are paid from 5 to 15 cents for their catches, according to size.

A dark night and a bullseye lantern are all the equipment necessary for the frog hunter. The light blinds the frogs and they are easily caught. One day last week two boys brought in enough frogs, the result of one night's catch, to net them $12. The total receipts of frogs for one day last week tested the capacity of the plant and carpenters were put at work immediately enlarging the quarters for the 16,000 frogs on hand.

It has been feared by some that the rapid consumption of these frogs would exceed the supply for the next year, but the hunters, who are well informed, state that the supply is inexhaustible in this section and that frogs are as plentiful as ever, notwithstanding the heavy shipments of previous years. The young frogs, however, are protected and will be ready for the market next season.

New York Press: People can not be made to believe what can not be denied. The measureless experience of China certainly proves that the vast majority of diseases is preventable by temperate living. Acute disease of the various big organs of the body, such as the heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, brain, spinal cord, are altogether unknown in China. In China there are no food inspectors. The yellow people are shrewd and watchful, and will not buy what is bad.

BEES THAT WORK ALL YEAR.

Indianapolis Star: A quaint method of working the bees overtime was given by one of the enthusiasts, who claims that the bees really enjoy the "busy" life throughout the year, when they find themselves where honey-producing blossoms are plentiful.

"My bees now work overtime," he said. "No hibernating for them. In the spring I send them down South, and they toil like blazes among the Southern flowers. In summer I bring them here to the East, working them till the honeysuckle and the clover are quite gone. The autumn season finds them in Florida, where they make a peculiarly rich and aromatic honey from the Florida flowers. California gives them all they can do in the winter.

"It's a splendid idea. I got it from those hotel keepers of Europe who have winter hotels on the Riviera and summer hotels at Dinard or Trouville. My traveling bees yield thrice as much honey as stay-at-home ones. Thank goodness, there are no labor unions among these insects."

The beekeepers who, on the other hand, are content to have their bees remain in the same place throughout the year and work during the blossom time of fruits, flowers, the barley and clover and wayside flowers, were consulted as to the best methods of housing the bees during the winter.

Some experts are in favor of sheltering the colony by placing all the hives in a sort of open pen, snugly inclosed on the north and left open to the southern exposure. These inclosures are preferably long and narrow and but little higher than the hives, which are set close together in a straight line. Here the summer workers hibernate during the coldest winter weather, and so cosey and warm are their winter quarters that they are strong and hardy and ready for work at the first possible suggestion of early spring bloom.

Turkish Bath Cures Rheumatism at Home

Costs But 2c a Bath, and the Body is Rid of Uric Poison, With Astonishing Rapidity.

Quickly Cures Kidney Trouble, Nervous Prostration and All Skin Diseases.

The Robinson Thermal or Turkish bath, taken at home, is becoming a rage. Those who have used the bath have been completely carried away with enthusiasm because of the astonishing results obtained.

Well-known physicians say that the Robinson Thermal Bath at home, is about to become an almost universal conqueror of disease. This is not an exaggeration. Any man or woman can prove its results inside of 24 hours, in some cases 30 minutes.

In cases of rheumatism, especially, the uric acid poison is extracted from the system through the pores, almost as liquids are sucked up through a straw. Drugs merely smother the poison or ease the pain. They do not extract the poison from the body.

Anyone can now take Robinson Thermal baths at home and at a cost of only about 2c a bath. The only way to take these baths is by the use of the Robinson Thermal Bath Cabinet, which is a unique and marvelous invention.

AIDED BY QUEEN-MOTHER.

Workman Fainting With Hunger, Rescued By Christina of Spain.

San Sebastian, Spain, Oct. 1.—A bricklayer whom the queen mother saw fainting with hunger in the street and charitably supplied with money has returned to his home at Manzanares, happy and contented.

The queen was motoring through the Calle Zubieta when she saw the man. She stopped and learned he had tramped for many days in search of work and food. The queen at once emptied her purse, containing about $1.50 (all the money she had with her), and handing it to a police officer, ordered him to give the man a good meal at a neighboring restaurant. Afterwards he was to be taken to the Miramar palace.

The man, whose name was Jose Rueda Pelaez, was accordingly brought before Queen Christina at the palace. Asked what he most wanted, he replied simply that he wished to return to his native place. The queen thereupon gave instructions that he should be comfortably lodged at a boarding house and afterwards sent by train at her expense to Manzanares.

BANK ROBBERS GET OFF WITH ABOUT $10,000.

Glenwood Springs, Colo., Oct. 1.—After a futile all-day search through the hills for the two bandits, who Wednesday robbed the Citizens National bank and escaped with approximately $10,000 in cash, the hunt was practically abandoned last night. Bloodhounds were taken to the point where the robbers abandoned their horses after a battle with the posse, but failed to pick up the scent.

TAMMANY IN CONTROL

Dictates Democratic Slate for New York's Municipal Election This Fall.

Declares for Public Ownership---Johnson Resolution Is Adopted.

New York, Oct. 1.—The Democratic convention of the city of New York last night nominated the following ticket:

For mayor, Justice William Jay Gaynor of Brooklyn; for comptroller, Robert M. Moore of Manhattan; for president of the board of aldermen, John F. Galvin of Manhattan.

Tammany had its own way at the convention. Of the 1,679 delegates represented, Tammany had control—to all intents and purposes—of almost the entire representations of the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx, mustering 918 votes.

The Tammany cohorts overrode with ease the opposition faction, headed by State Senator Patrick H. McCarren of Brooklyn, who hoped to secure the renomination of Comptroller Metz of that borough. The convention nominated for this office, Robert M. Moore, president of the Commercial Trust company, the Tammany selection.

For Municipal Ownership.

In the mayoralty fight, Justice Gaynor's chief opponent will be Otto T. Bannard, president of the New York Trust company, who was nominated by the Republicans a few days ago, and who has some assurances of support from the fusionists. There still remains the possibility that the Independence league will make the contest a triangular one by naming a separate ticket.

The platform adopted by the Democratic convention dealt broadly with national, state and municipal questions, denouncing the recent tariff legislation and objecting to any interference in local affairs by the state legislature. Regarding city affairs, the platform advocates, among other things, municipal ownership and the building of additional subways by the city.

There was no mention or even indirect reference in the platform to the retiring administration of Mayor McClellan, who led the party to victory four years ago. This rather astonishing omission called forth considerable comment from delegates.

Resolution on Johnson.

A resolution on the death of Governor Johnson of Minnesota, extending sympathy to the family, was carried by a rising vote.

Outside of the mayoralty fight, chief interest in the campaign will center in the contest for district attorney, who will be nominated at a separate convention later. District Attorney Jerome's attack on Justice Gaynor earlier in the week makes it unlikely that his candidacy for re-election will receive Democratic indorsement.

The Republican candidate for mayor, Otto T. Bannard, was also referred to by several speakers. One of them, seconding the Gaynor nomination, spoke of Mr. Bannard as "an unknown man whose nomination was forced upon the Republicans by the Taft family." He continued:

"The issue is drawn clearly—shall the people of New York select their own mayor?"

The speaker dwelt at length on the indorsement which Mr. Bannard received from President Taft.

Is Republican Judge.

Justice Gaynor, the mayoralty candidate, is a native of Oneida county, N. Y., and is 58 years old. He became well known nearly a score of years ago for his work in breaking up rings in the Democratic party and for his action in securing the conviction of John Y. McCane, known as "The Spear of Coney Island," for election frauds. In national politics a consistent and lifelong Democrat, Justice Gaynor was nominated for the supreme court by the Republicans and Independents of this city and since that time has twice declined nominations for governor offered to him by his own party. He was prominently mentioned for the second place on the national ticket at the Denver convention last year.

PAID RIPPING NICE BOUNTY

How England Got Her Soldiers to Fight American Colonies.

London, Oct. 1.—That it was not the easiest task in the world for King George's government to find soldiers and sailors to fight against the embattled farmers in the American War of Independence is proved by an old recruiting poster which has just been discovered among a pile of dust-covered papers in a marine recruiting office at Glasgow, Scotland. Bounties of $84 a man were offered to recruits for the royal marines, and all sorts of inducements were held out in the way of pay and prize money. The text of the poster is as follows:

Great Encouragement.
American War.

What a Brilliant Prospect does this Event hold out to every Lad of Spirit, who is inclined to try his Fortune in that highly renowned Corps,

THE ROYAL MARINES.

When every Thing that swims the Seas must be a

PRIZE!

Thousands are at this moment endeavoring to get on Board Privateers, where they serve without Pay or Reward of any kind whatsoever; so certain does their chance appear of enriching themselves by PRIZE MONEY. What an enviable station then must be the Royal Marine hold—who, with far superior advantages to these, has the additional benefit of liberal pay, and plenty of the best provisions, with a good and well appointed ship under him the pride and Glory of Old England; surely every man of spirit must blush to remain at home in inactivity and indolence, when his country and the best of kings need his assistance.

Where then can he have such a fair opportunity of reaping glory and riches as in the Royal Marines, a corps daily acquiring new honors, and there, when once embarked in the British fleet, he finds himself in the midst of honor and glory, surrounded by a set of fine fellows, strangers to fear, and who strike terror through the hearts of their enemies wherever they go!

He has likewise the inspiring idea to know, that while he scours the ocean to protect the liberty of Old England, that the hearts and good wishes of the whole British nation attend him; pray for his success and participate in his glory! Lose no time then, my fine fellows, in embracing the glorious opportunity that awaits you; You Will Receive

SIXTEEN GUINEAS BOUNTY,

And on your arrival at headquarters, be comfortably and genteely clothed. And spirited young boys of a promising appearance, who are five feet high, will receive 12 pounds, 1 shilling and 6 pence bounty, and equal advantages of provisions and clothing with the men. And those who wish only to enlist for a limited service, shall receive a bounty of 11 guineas, and boys 8. In fact, the advantages which the Royal Marines possess, are too numerous to mention here, but among the many it may not be amiss to state—

That if he has wife or aged parent, he can make them an allotment of half his pay, which will be regularly paid without any trouble to them, or to whomsoever he may direct; and being well clothed and fed on board ship, the remainder of his pay and prize money will be clear in reserve for the relief of his family or his own private purposes. The single young man, on his return to port, finds himself enabled to cut a dash on shore with his girl and his glass that might be envied by a nobleman. Take courage then, seize the fortune that awaits you, repair to the Royal Marine rendezvous, where, in a flowing bowl of punch, in three times three, you shall drink:

LONG LIVE THE KING, AND SUCCESS TO HIS ROYAL MARINES.

The daily allowance of a marine when embarked is one pound of beef or pork, one pound of bread, flour, raisins, butter, cheese, oatmeal, molasses, tea, sugar, etc., and a pint of the best wine, or half a pint of the best rum or brandy, with a pint of lemonade. They have, likewise, in warm countries, a plentiful allowance of the choicest fruit. And what can be more handsome than the royal marine's proportion of prize money, when a sergeant shares equal with the first-class petty officers, such as midshipmen, assistant surgeons, etc., which is three shares each; a corporal with the second class, which is three shares each, and the private, with the able seamen, one and a half shares each.

For further particulars, and a more full account of the many advantages of this invaluable corps, apply to Sergeant Fulcher, at the Eight Bells, where the bringer of a recruit will receive three guineas.

Burley Pool Assured.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 1.—Reports from the fifty-odd counties in which burley tobacco is grown in Kentucky indicate that the 80 per cent vote necessary to declare the 1909 burley society pool has been secured. Reports were that, in round numbers, 101,000 acres have been pooled and 94,000 not pooled in Kentucky.

56% OF THE POPULATION OF THE U. S.

live in rural districts remote from physicians or drug stores, and they are obliged to depend upon proprietary medicines to a very great extent.

To the women in these homes such standard remedies as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound come as a boon and a blessing. Records show that it has cured more women of those dread feminine ills than any other remedy.

You'll Do Better at Kelly's!

Cut Down Your Coal Bill!

A cheap heating stove with its leaky joints, loose doors and poor construction not only wastes fuel, but it is a menace to your health. The Stewart Heater is no novelty, no experiment. For over seventy-five years it has been recognized as the best heater made. The Stewart heater has long been the most popular and widely used heater in the Northwest, where the rigorous climate demands quality, heat efficiency and long service. For simplicity of construction, beauty, quality and durability, no other heater is its equal.

If you have suffered the annoyance and discomforts caused by heaters with special freak construction (designed to overcome the deficiencies of cheapness), you'll better appreciate the simple, common sense construction of the Stewart Heater. The cold air is taken in at the center of the bottom of the stove and is heated so intensely that a match can be lighted by holding it twenty-four inches above the top.

Stewart Heaters

A Stewart Base Burning Heater will circulate every ounce of air entirely through the stove and into a room size 12x15 feet with a 12-foot ceiling in 50 minutes, so that you can readily see that by circulating this air through the stove in this time, it makes warm to a comfortable and even degree all parts of the room. Another important point, a Stewart heater will give one-fourth more heat with one-fourth less fuel than any other heater of equal size. These few facts explain why there are more Stewart stoves in use at the Head of the Lakes than all other makes combined.

THE PENITENTES AND THEIR STRANGE RELIGIOUS PRACTICES

A. J. Waldron, a banker of Albany, N. Y., who is registered at the Spalding today, tells an interesting story of the Penitentes of New Mexico. Mr. Waldron has just returned from a horseback trip through the rough country of the mountainous part of New Mexico, including a trip to the famous Hermit's Peak mountain.

The Penitentes, according to Mr. Waldron's statement, are native Mexicans who are doing penance for some fancied sin of the past. Mr. Waldron does not believe that the sin is so much fancied, for he says that he has yet to see a Mexican who has not a long line of sins to wash out.

But, anyway, they are continually inflicting self-torture for sins they have either committed or fancy they have. If you are a good working member of the Penitentes, says Mr. Waldron, you do not have to be a thorough sinner to enter into the spirit of the movement to do penance.

As Mr. Waldron describes the movement, it has college football or prize fighting beaten to a whisper as an example of the life strenuous.

If one of the Penitentes really feels guilty, he will ask the high priest of the order to make him do something that he would not do under ordinary circumstances.

All right, says the ruler of the Penitente order. So he engages two particularly hardened sinners of the organization to carry a cross up to the top of Hermit's peak. The cross is a heavy affair, constructed out of heavy timber, twice as high as a man, and so heavy that two husky athletes would not want to carry it a short city block. These real sincere Penitentes are asked to carry this cross to the top of Hermit's peak, a walking distance of several miles, if it were on the level, and are also asked to sing on the uphill journey.

Some equally sincere Penitente follows the two burdened sinners with a large and stinging whip. He is supposed to slash the lash across the bare back of the two sinners at every few steps. The sincere Penitente seldom fails to carry out his instructions, according to Mr. Waldron.

For years this form of self-abnegation has been going on. For the fancied wrong, or sins of some member of the clan, these members of this tribe of half-wild Mexicans have been performing this rite.

They torture themselves and often die from their wounds, according to the statement of Mr. Waldron. Their rites resemble, in this respect the sun dance of the Sioux Indians, in the early days of the West.

There is one thing that is unsafe to do—that is the attempt to take a picture of the Penitentes. Mr. Waldron knows this from experience. During his trip of New Mexico he carried a kodak with him. During the weary trudge up the mountain of two of the Penitentes, followed by a lasher, he attempted to take a snap of the trio.

His camera was broken, he was attacked, and but for the fact that he rode a good steady mount, he might have been made to pay dearly for the liberty of attempting to take a picture of a religious ceremony that the Penitentes consider sacred.

Mr. Waldron says the Penitentes are one of the few existing races that practice actual self-torture. How long this will be allowed to exist, he does not attempt to say. The tortures practiced are brutal and without spiritual meaning, says Mr. Waldron. It is only a question of time until the government of the United States intervenes, and the atrocious practices are stopped.

PLAN JOHNSON TABLET.

Elks of State Will Help Mankato Lodge's Project.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 1.—The Elks of Minnesota are planning to erect a memorial tablet in honor of the late Governor Johnson, to be placed in the rooms of the Mankato lodge, of which he was a member. The plan originated with Mankato Elks, but lodges throughout the state will be asked to contribute.

The Elks feel that in his life and character Governor Johnson exemplified in the highest degree the ideals of the fraternity and that a permanent memorial should be erected in his home lodge.

SAYS ENGLAND AND SPAIN ARE IN CAHOOTS.

Paris, Oct. 1.—A local paper prints a letter stating that a secret treaty exists between England and Spain by which Spain places her strongholds in Africa, commanding the strait of Gibraltar, at the disposition of England in case of war. This, it is said, is in return for England's support of Spain's program of African conquest.

SAYS ARMY OFFICERS DREW TOO MUCH PAY.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 1.—Offcers at Fort Sam Houston who served during the Spanish-American war have received letters from the auditor general of the war department telling them that they are indebted to the United States government as a result of mistakes made in computing their rate of pay during the war. The sums vary from $200 to $400. The officers are given from thirty to sixty days in which to pay the money to the government.

MAINE FLOODS ARE RECEDING

Excessive Rains Have Caused Much Damage to Property and Crops.

Portland, Me., Oct. 1.—The freshet which came suddenly on the farms and villages of Northern Maine on Tuesday and Wednesday has begun to subside and it is believed that the danger is over. Along the watersheds of the Penobscot and St. Croix rivers great damage has been done to lowland crops, scores of bridges and culverts have been wholly or partly destroyed, millions of feet of logs have been swept from their confining booms and washouts have obstructed traffic on railorads.

City in Darkness.

Calalis, Me., Oct. 1.—Clearing and warmer weather has brought some relief from the conditions along the St. Croix river valley, caused by the heavy rains of the last week. Early yesterday the river reached the highest point recorded in years, then began to subside. Before the day was over streets in this city which had been flooded were free from water. The interference with the electric lighting plant, however, continued and last night the city was again without street lights.

The first mail for two days arrived late yesterday afternoon.

Medicine Man Is Suicide.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 1.—Old Baptiste, the last medicine man of the Colville Indians, committed suicide in a spectacular manner at Oroville, lying down on the railroad track in front of an engine. He was intoxicated. Baptiste was known as "Bat," and was over 80 years of age. He took part in many fights with the whites half a century ago.

This Will Stop Your Rheumatism

A Remarkable Electric Device That Positively Has Relieved Countless People of the Pains and Causes of Rheumatism.

Throw away your pills, powders and other medicines. Here is a treatment that will make you rub you eyes and wonder. It is not a maybe, but it is a fact—a marvel. It has been proven a tremendous success. Men and women formerly crippled with rheumatism report themselves now hopping around like boys and girls, as a result of using this simple and wonderful device, called Electropodes.

Electropodes produce a wireless, unnoticeable, yet powerfully effective current, which passes through the entire body, through every muscle, nerve fibre, vital organ and blood vessel. It is the new way of using electricity, opening a tremendous field to the successful treatment of disease.

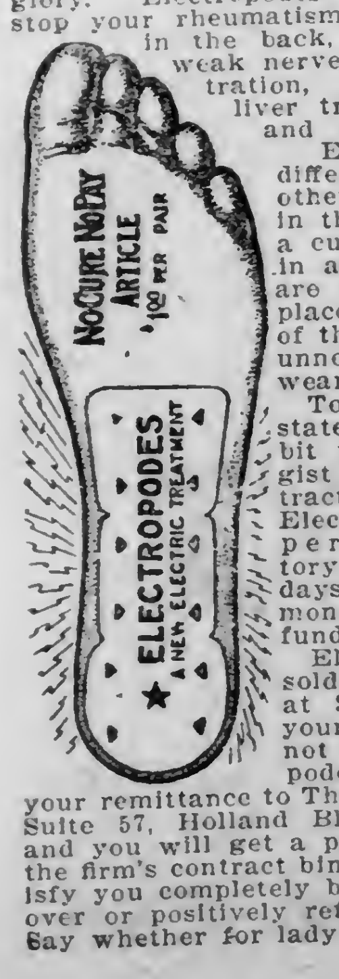
By this electric current, Electropodes regenerate the tissues, purify the blood and the vital organs, especially the kidneys, regulate the functions, and turn the nerves almost into "cords of steel."

It proves that electricity is not only life, but health and vigor in all its glory. Electropodes will positively stop your rheumatism, lumbago, pain in the back, kidney trouble, weak nerves, nervous prostration, stomach and liver trouble, insomnia, and heart weakness.

Electropodes are different from any other electric device in that they produce a current only while in actual use. They are metal insoles so placed in the heels of the shoes as to be unnoticeable to the wearer.

To prove these statements are every bit true, your druggist will sign a contract that if the Electropodes are not perfectly satisfactory to you after 30 days' trial, your money will be refunded.

Electropodes are sold at drug stores at $1.00 a pair. If your druggist does not have Electropodes on hand, send your remittance to The Electropode Co., Suite 57, Holland Block, Lima, Ohio, and you will get a pair together with the firm's contract binding them to satisfy you completely before 30 days are over or positively refund your money. Say whether for lady or gentleman.



APPLES ARE PLENTIFUL

Receipts Are Heavy and Local Prices Seek Lower Level.

Concord Grapes Are Also Feature of the Fruit Market.

Apples and Concord grapes are the leading offerings in the local fruit market this week.

Both fruits are on a cheaper basis than they were last week and receipts have been large.

Concord grapes have not been more plentiful this season than they have during the past few days. The enormous receipts have been of excellent quality and the very best Concords have been selling in the wholesale district at 18 cents a basket, which is the lowest price they have been sold at yet.

California Muscat grapes are offered quite freely at $1.50 for four-basket grapes, but other varieties are scarce, the season for them being about over.

Receipts of apples are increasing all the time. About every package freighter is now bringing in many barrels of them from the Eastern states, and the movement will be more or less heavy from now on until the close of the season of navigation.

Besides being a large consumer of apples, Duluth is a great distributor of them. New York and other Eastern growers are able to send the products all the way to the Head of the Lakes by the water route, which is considerably cheaper than by rail. The advantageous position Duluth occupies as regards this fruit can be clearly seen.

New York is a very heavy shipper of apples right now, and the other Eastern states are hardly less active in the movement.

Choice new apples are quoted in Michigan street at $2.75 a barrel.

As the season advances the market for Elberta peaches takes on a stiffer tone. Receipts are beginning to show a falling off and the prices are on a firmer basis.

Bartlett pears are still offered at $3 a box, but an advance is expected soon, as the season for them is pretty well advanced. Red California plums are selling at $1.60 a crate.

Fancy California grapefruit is offered in all sizes at $3.75.

The banana market is without feature, the price remaining the same as it was a week ago, 4 cents a pound.

California canteloupes are still in the market, although the season for them and for watermelons is about over. In fact, watermelons have practically disappeared. California standard canteloupes are selling at $2 a crate.

The market for oranges is quiet and unchanged from last week.

Fancy tomatoes are quoted at 65 cents for four-basket crates.

The egg market is still on a fairly easy basis, the price remaining around 22 and 22½ cents a dozen. Increased receipts are responsible for the easy tone.

Butter remains uncompromisingly firm. The best creamery grades are still quoted around 31½ cents a pound, and the inferior grades are showing corresponding strength.

This is about the last week of fresh green vegetables at the present prices. In other words, this is the last week of fresh green stuff grown out of doors.

The nights are becoming frosty and the green vegetable price must shift from the easy summer prices, to the winter list asked for hothouse goods. Even at the hothouse prices, the offerings and variety will not be as large and varied as during the summer, of course.

This has been a remarkably good season for green stuff of all kinds. Duluth has been well supplied with it from the first and prices have been cheap.

The staple vegetable line is steady. New Minnesota cabbages are selling at $1.35 for medium crates. This basis is somewhat different from the cabbage price level of last fall in 1908, there was a shortage of the cabbage crop and the lowly vegetable climbed the price list with agility and rapidity of an African monkey ducking a popular hunter.

New beets, turnips and rutabagas are 60 cents a bushel. Carrots at 75 cents a bushel. Pumpkins and squash are $1.50 per dozen. This is the open season for pumpkin pies.

Horse radish is $7 a barrel.

Potatoes are 55 cents a bushel and sweet potatoes are $2 a bushel. The Virginia sweet spuds are quoted at $3.50 a barrel and the Jersey sweet ones at $5.50 a barrel. Sweet potatoes are in excellent demand at the present time.

Poultry and meat prices remain steady and unchanged.

BRYAN EXPLAINS HIS OBJECTIONS

Writes Letter Regarding Proposed Tariff Debate With Bailey.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 1.—In explanation of his position on the proposed debate with Senator Bailey of Texas at Atlanta, Ga., W. J. Bryan has addressed a letter to Clark Howell, editor of the Atlanta Constitution. The letter follows:

"I wired you that I would communicate with you by letter my reasons for believing a debate inadvisable. When a joint meeting was suggested at El Paso, Tex., I replied to the effect that I was trying to aid in the election of a Democratic majority in the next congress; that to that end I have suggested a brief but specific tariff plank which I ask Democratic candidates to accept, reject or amend, and that, believing a debate would tend to turn attention from the issue to individuals, I would not consider the proposition unless it came as a personal request.

"I might add the further reason that a debate between two Democrats would accentuate the tariff differences that have embarrassed our party in congress and give the Republican newspapers a chance to dwell upon Democratic dissensions instead of devoting their time to the contest now being waged between the progressive Republicans and the standpatters.

"A debate might be pleasing to the participants and entertaining to the audience, but I believe that the subject which I am endeavoring to present is worthy of calm and serious consideration. Very truly yours,

"W. J. BRYAN."

SUICIDE SHORT ABOUT $15,000

Insurance Man's Act Is Surprise to Officers of New Era.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 1.—Following the suicide of Dr. Alfred M. Webster, secretary of the New Ara Associaition of Life Insurance organizations, who shot and killed himself in the offices of the association last night, the organization's directors issued an official statement. The statement says:

"The investigation has not yet progressed sufficiently to determine the exact amount of the shortage. Making allowances, however, for all unadjusted death claims, there remains a bank balance of $15,000 above all possible liabilities so far as can be ascertained."

The shortage is estimated at $14,594.

Dr. Webster was known as a political reformer and always appeared to be a man of exemplary habits, and the other officials of the society are at loss to account for the disappearance of the money.

A note which the suicide left was taken in charge by Judge Cyrus E. Perkins, president of the New Era association, and was made public last night. Apparently the closing sentence alludes to the bullet that the writer was about to shoot through his heart. The note follows:

"Sept. 30, 1909.—I have fought a losing fight. I tried to allow no smirch on my good name, but I could not have a home while doing so. I fought 'graft' in high places and all the powers and principalities of this world have been against me. I have earned all that I have ever got from the New Era and more. I have given honest service, but if there is anything yet due, I pay it now with all my heart. A. M. WEBSTER."

MILL CITY MAN STUNG FOR $10,000

W. H. McGrath Files Claim for Losses in Maybray Fake Deal.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Oct. 1.—Two more civil suits were filed in the federal court yesterday to recover $25,580, alleged to have been lost as a result of fake wrestling matches and prize fights promoted by J. C. Maybray, now under indictment for alleged illegal use of the mails. Twelve of these suits have been filed, involving $140,000.

The first case is that of W. H. McGrath, a lumberman of Minneapolis, who sues for $10,000. The suit is directed against the First National bank, Ernest E. Hart, Republican national committeeman for Iowa; Benjamin Marks, a local capitalist, whose name also figures in the Maybray indictments; Maybray himself, and P. J. Conors, formerly cashier of the First National bank of this city.

The other suit is brought against Benjamin Marks and Maybray by P. E. George of San Antonio, Tex. He charges that he lost money in New Orleans, where, after losing $7,580 on a fake wrestling match, he was induced to return home and secure $8,000 more, which he also lost in a similar manner.

New Fall Hats at $5 to $10
Individuality is the keynote of our millinery section. And naturally exclusive styles follow such leadership. The true millinery shop must continue to show "different" hats. This is not much of a task in the very expensive hats, but in those at popular prices it is different. It's the great variety of neat, stylish hats at popular prices that has helped to make our millinery reputation. Now for Saturday we have hats at $5.00, $6.00, $7.50 and $10.00
that are reproductions of all the new ideas in the more expensive hats. We should like to "show" you if possible tomorrow.

WEST END

FALL FATAL TO MEYERS

"Common Drunk" Dies of Fractured Skull at the Poor Farm.

Fell Down Stairs in West End Saloon While He Was Intoxicated.

Picked up for drunk, Wednesday night, in front of D. Butler's saloon at 2232 West Superior street, lodged at the police headquarters for the night, and taken to the county poor farm yesterday afternoon as a pneumonia patient, Robert Meyers, 35 years old, died last evening at the poor farm as a result of a fractured skull. Meyers was a painter in the West end.

It was not until he reached the poor farm, where he was taken in an ambulance, that the authorities discovered the serious condition of the man. Dr. Clark at the poor farm, made a thorough examination of the man's head, and found the skull to be fractured. Death came about 10 o'clock.

Patrolman Mike Mason picked up the man on a sidewalk a few feet from the entrance of the Butler saloon Wednesday night. From all appearances, the officers said, the man was "dead drunk." Inquiries in the saloon brought out the fact that the man had been drunk when he entered the saloon during the afternoon.

Meyers is a painter and had earned $2.75 the day before at his work. He had spent most of this for drinks on Wednesday. Late in the afternoon, he went out the back door of the saloon to go down to the basement. It was in going down the the cellar steps that the accident, which afterwards proved fatal, occurred.

Meyers stumbled on the third step, and investigation later has shown that he must have struck his head against a water pipe when he fell. He rolled to the bottom of the stairs, where he was picked up and moved out of the way. The bartender says that every one thought he was merely drunk and he would soon sleep off his "jag."

About 11 o'clock Meyers recovered himself sufficiently to get up and walk up the stairs. He started down the street, but reeled and fell on the sidewalk. It was shortly after this that Officer Mike Mason picked him up and took him to the police station.

No medical attention was given him until morning, as it was thought that he was simply drunk. When he began to come out of his stupor, it became evident that he was ill. A doctor was summoned, who pronounced his case pneumonia.

He was then ordered to the county poor farm. The ambulance took him out, arriving there is the early afternoon. Another examination there showed that the man's skull was broken. He never regained consciousness after arriving at the poor farm.

The police are today looking up the relatives of Meyers.

CHILD HOOKED BY FAMILY COW

Infant Gored in Mouth While Playing Near Its Home.

The 18-months-old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Eckland of 203 Chestnut street, was hooked in the mouth by a cow yesterday afternoon and for a time, it was thought that the accident might prove serious.

The child is just able to toddle around and according to the story brought to a West end physician, who dressed the wound, by the mother of the babe, a cow gored the little one with its horns, when the baby was playing in the yard.

A couple of stitches were taken in the infants mouth and it is believed the child will recover without any serious results.

BUILDING REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER

Permits for Work Aggregating $287,000 Were Issued Last Month.

The monthly report of S. M. Kielley, building inspector, shows that during September the department issued 128 permits for improvements aggregating over $287,000. The report shows a falling off compared with the same month a year ago when 129 permits were issued for improvements costing $294,922. Inspector Kielley could have swelled the totals greatly for September, the plans for the new Alworth building at Third avenue west and Superior street being in his office, but with a good start it is expected that the totals for the present month will greatly exceed those of a year ago.

WILL FIGHT FOR INDIANS' LANDS

Government Is Preparing Material on Oklahoma Allotments.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The department of justice is preparing to fight the cases against those persons who, by various means, obtained from members of the Five Civilized Tribes of Indians land that, under the federal government's contention, could not be alienated. The suits involve large areas of valuable lands, and the government's effort is to recover the lands for the Indians and clear the title.

The United States circuit court in Oklahoma recently decided that whatever right of suit there may be was in the allottee, instead of in the United States, because the Indian allottees had been made citizens of the United States, and were no longer the wards of the nation. This sweeping decision included the full-bloods, as well as the half-bloods and others.

Arguments Dec. 6.

On the application of the government, the United States circuit court of appeals at St. Louis has just advanced these cases, and they will be argued about Dec. 6. Assistant Attorney General Russell is preparing the brief for the government. The brief will be filed the latter part of October.

The government will contend that the lower court's reasoning was bad, chiefly because guardianship is not incompatible with citizenship.

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT

More Strangers Visit It Than Any Other Executive Departments.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Although there is really less of general interest to see in the treasury department, more strangers visit it than any of the other executive departments. It is estimated by the treasury guides that over 200 visitors a day are shown through the building. This does not mean that the visitors are taken into every nook and corner, for there are several interesting divisions they never see, simply because the guides do not refer to them, as it would require a special permit to visit them. This refers particularly to the secret service division, where is to be seen a collection of famous counterfeits, photos of the counterfeiters, and numerous paintings of money seized by secret service agents. The law is very strict and forbids anyone from having in his possesion any painting or picture, no matter how large or small, in imitation of currency. One of the paintings in Chief Wilkie's office, which is considered a work of art, represents a barrel filled with money of all denominations. Of course, no one could be deceived, nor could a bill be cut from the picture and passed on even a blind man for the real article, but the law takes no chances. Any picture or drawing in imitation of United States notes or securities wherever found by agents of the secret service is seized and confiscated, unless the owner secures a permit for it from the secretary of the treasury. While the possession of such articles is a violation of law, there has never been a prosecution for it, simply, perhaps, because such action would be too absurd.

To show just how strictly this section of the revised statute is enforced, it may be said that several years ago a metropolitan newspaper gave away with its Sunday edition a clever colored picture of a newsboy, a corner of a $5 bill sticking out of his pocket, the boy talking to a companion and advising his unfortunate competitor to sell the rival newspaper. The pictures were distributed before the secret service was aware of its existence, but the plate was confiscated and the paper warned not to offend again.

"DRYS" ASPIRE TO CONGRESS

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 1.—"The supreme effort of the Prohibition party next year will be directed toward electing members of congress," says W. G. Calderwood, secretary of the state Prohibition committee, who has just returned from the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the Prohibition party, held in Chicago. "The national committee has never centered its work in this direction, but from prospects brought out at the anniversary the party will meet with results in 1910."

Mr. Calderwood is most enthusiastic over the big rally at Chicago, where the past, present and future of the party was discussed.

"The tone of the meeting was optimistic to the extreme," says Mr. Calderwood. "The reformer must be optimistic if he stays in the game. He must have a good digestion, in fact, must be the opposite of the weazend man of the caricatures. Chicago is a very 'wet' town, but that parade ten miles long gave the liquor people a scare."

Mr. Calderwood was one of the speakers at the meeting, his subject being: "The Prohibitionist as a Patriotic Politician."

S.S.S. THE CURE FOR SCROFULA

The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands of the neck, sores and ulcers on the body, skin affections, catarrhal troubles, weak eyes, and general poor health. The inherited poison, transmitted through the blood, pollutes and weakens this fluid, and in place of its nutritive qualities fills the circulation with scrofulous matter, which saps the vitality of the entire system. Thousands of children, born with a scrofulous taint, have spent their childhood in constant physical suffering, and grown to manhood or womanhood handicapped by ill health and stunted growth, and perhaps later some disease of the bones or joints developed. S. S. S., given in their early life, would have prevented this. It would have cleansed and purified the blood of the taint, nourished and stengthened their systems, and assisted each to grow into strong, healthful manhood or womanhood. S. S. S. is the very best remedy for Scrofula. It goes down to the bottom of the trouble, and cleanses the circulation of all scrofulous matter. It supplies the weak, diseased blood with strength and health-building qualities, and under the purifying effects of this great remedy all symptoms of Scrofula pass away. S. S. S. contains no minerals in any form, and is an absolutely safe treatment for children, even infants, or persons of any age. Literature about Scrofula and any medical advice free. OFFICE FOR COLONIES

Plan to Unite Government of All Our Insular Possessions.

Washington Aims to Get Next International Aviation Tournament.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The recent executive order of President Taft transferring jurisdiction over Porto Rico from the department of the interior, and confiding the care of the island to the bureau of insular affairs of the war department, is the first step in a carefully considered plan of the president to unite under one bureau or department of the government, if possible, the government of all the insular possessions of the United States. It is probable that all the insular possession ultimately will be transferred to the bureau of insular affairs, or to some department especially created for the purpose. Senator Root, who created the bureau, is an advocate of this policy.

There is little doubt that in the course of time the bureau of insular affairs, or a special department, will be elevated into an office corresponding to the colonial office of Great Britain, and to other departments of European governments, which have under their control islands and colonial possessions.

Brig. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, and Secretary of War Dickinson, sailed for Porto Rico Sept. 20 on a tour of inspection of the island. Their visit will be followed by a report to President Taft, which will have an important bearing on the steps to be taken later to establish a colonial or insular office as a department of the federal administration.

President Taft believes, from the experience he gained in the Philippines and Cuba, that all the insular possessions should be placed under a single bureau or department. There has been some question whether it would be wise to place Alaska and Hawaii under the same bureau. The president favors this, but there is said to be strong objection to it in congress.

Aviation Tournament.

Washington intends making tremendous effort to secure the next international aviation tournament. A suggestion printed in one of the Washington newspapers recently that the capital is the logical place to hold the next aerial contests, has been eagerly taken up by influential residents, and other cities which intend to compete for the honor will have to "step lively." It is understood that New York, Chicago and St. Louis will be the chief candidates for the meet.

The question as to which city will capture the prize rests with the Aero Club of America, whose headquarters are in New York, and as the metropolis is the largest city in the country, where practically unlimited sums can be raised for purses and other expenses, it is probable the aerial carnival will be held there, although there will be keen competition on the part of other cities, including Washington. The Aero Club of America is the only club recognized in America by the international board of aviators, and the decision as to where the next tournament in the clouds is to be held rests entirely with its officials.

There is an interesting story of the alleged dislike for certain members of the Aero Club of America for the Aero Club of Washington, which has never been printed, and which members of both clubs have carefully kept silent about, except among themselves. When the Wright brothers came here to receive from President Taft the gold medals given them by the Aero Club of America, members of that organization thought the Aero Club of Washington was taking too prominent a part in the ceremonies, and administered a distinct snub to the Washington club by refusing to allow the Wrights to occupy apartments that had been prepared for them by the Washington enthusiasts at the Cosmos club. The Wrights were "put up" at a hotel instead, though a committee of local aviators endeavored to take them to the club when they arrived. This caused a decided coolness between the organizations, which still exists.

Taking the Census.

In allowing the appointment of Democratic supervisors of the census in the Southern states, President Taft has, according to the political prophets in Washington, thrown away an excellent chance to further strengthen the Republican machine in the South.

"The president," said one of the wiseacres recently, "evidently prefers excellent service in taking the census, rather than political advantage. These appointments could have been used to great advantage in securing Taft delegates to the next national convention, but the president preferred to throw away the advantage."

The president has told Director of the Census Durand that the best men in the South must be selected, "irrespective of politics." Of the 330 supervisors, the South gets one for every congressional district, except in cities containing more than one congressional district. In such cities only one supervisor is named.

In connection with the appointment of the census supervisors in the South, it is instructive to note the interest Postmaster General Hitchcock takes in the matter. Just before the last list of Southern supervisors was announced, Mr. Hitchcock paid a flying visit to Beverly. There is little doubt he was there to take a hand in naming the supervisors. Mr. Hitchcock is a practical politician, and does not altogether agree with his chief in such laudable and disinterested motives as animates the president in the appointment of Southern supervisors.

When Hitchcock first took office under the Taft administration it was said his field of patronage would be small, and that the assumption that he was to hand out rewards to Taft workers was erroneous. There was nothing true in this, for the postmaster general is easily the most influential man in the cabinet. He is busily building up a machine of his own in the South, through appointments of fourth-class postmasters.

The Consular Service.

As soon as President Taft returns from his Western trip he will take further steps to reorganize and strengthen the consular service. The president realizes that for too long the consular service has been the refuge, in many instances, of politicians who were not fitted in any way to represent the United States abroad, and he determined some time ago to make the service the best in the world. In this endeavor he will be assisted by Secretary of State Knox, who is equally anxious that this branch of the public service has only capable men.

For a long time nations wondered at the general character of consuls the United States sent to represent it in foreign countries. On this account the foreign trade of the country has suffered. Business interests claim that American consuls should be especially trained for their posts; that there should be some system of promotion, and that the positions should be permanent. It is known that Germany, Great Britain, France, and, in fact, nearly every country of consequence, has a system of this kind. The efficiency of the German consular system is largely responsible for the immense trade that country enjoys in South America, every dollar's worth being taken from American exporters. The German consul is a highly trained specialist—the advance agent of the German exporter.

Not only in South American countries is it necessary to have alert, intelligent and trained consuls, say the manufacturers, but this is especially so in the Orient, where the gigantic trade with China is the prize which will be taken by the nation which is wide-awake enough to take advantage of opportunities which will aid in securing the business. President Taft, therefore, is fully alive to the necessity of reorganizing the consular service, and when he gets around to it a big "shake-up" is sure to take place in the corps.

Dream of Chicago Man Whose Cow Ate a Century Plant.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Ponce de Leon, who sought vainly the fountain of youth, will turn over in his grave when he hears through some spirit A. D. T. about Flossie and Bossie. And Methuselah will bewail that a tardy taking off left him ineligible to defend the longevity championship title. For Flossie and Bossie have put the record in danger, thus:

Floss and Boss are cows. They belong to Attorney P. S. Monroe and they live on the Green Bay road in Highland Park. Yesterday morning they broke their moorings and wandered over to the inclosure of Alderman Fritz Bahr, florist to society. Did they eat common, ordinary verbeans, dahlias and geraniums? Not much. All these voracious and designing beasts did was to devour Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor's century plant. The poor thing was only thirty years old, too, and in its infantile delicacy it had been sent to Mr. Bahr's plant hospital to be nursed through the croup and measles period.

Mr. Bahr witnessed the crime and called the police. Chief Sheehan arrested the cows and impounded them. Then Attorney Monroe rescued them and freely offered to pay all the damage they had caused. He didn't question anything. He even seemed unusually happy as he strolled homeward, figuring on his cuff and cogitating in this fashion:

"I'll advertise them as 'century plant-fed cows.' I'll sell the milk at $10 a pint to college widows and chorus girls. 'Drink it and live 100 years; drink twice and live.' That will sound fine in a street car ad. When they get old I'll sell the meat to Marathon runners. My fortune is made."

He told this to a neighbor. The man was rude and waked him up.

"Suppose," he said, "you do get a barn full of century plants, and then your cows only give milk once in thirty or forty years?"

"You're a cruel, unimaginative and unsympathetic person," said Mr. Monroe.

NO AUTOS IN 100 YEARS.

People Will Use Flying Bicycles, Says French Writer.

Paris, Oct. 1.—M. Jules Bois, the distinguished French writer who has discovered much concerning ancient civilizations, has given his ideas as to the changes likely to take place in Europe in 100 years' time.

The great cities, he predicts, will be practically uninhabited except for business purposes during the daytime. All classes will live in the country or in garden cities at considerable distances from the towns, to which access will be cheap and extremely rapid owing to the enormous development of all methods of conveyance, from pneumatic railways to flying cars.

The motor car will have gone completely out of fashion, but the bicycle, in a new form, will be once more in favor, for a sort of flying bicycle will be invented which will enable the rider to soar in midair.

THE MAYOR'S GOOD SUGGESTION.

The suggestion by Mayor Haven that all manure gathered in the city be hauled to a central dump where it will be available to farmers for fertilizing purposes, while not exactly new, is nevertheless exceedingly good. Street sweepings, also, which make a most valuable fertilizer, should be conserved as jealously as though they were precious—which they are, when put to this use.

It is positively sinful, when efforts are being made to develop the latent richness of the nearby soil, to waste these by-products of the city by dumping them in the bay or anywhere else where they will be wasted. There is wealth in these materials, and the city is deliberately throwing it away.

Incidentally, this is another good argument for municipal collection of garbage. When private contractors are handling the city's garbage it is practically impossible to separate the worthless refuse from that which is valuable, and to conserve the latter. When the city does it all, as it should as soon as it can be arranged, it will be an easy matter to put street sweepings and manure in some place where they will be available for the enrichment of the soil.

MR. TAFT AND THE INSURGENTS.

The attitude of President Taft toward the insurgents in his Winona speech called plainly upon all of them for reply, either of apology of justification. If the president was right, they should have apologized for their actions to the Republican party and the nation. If the president was wrong and they were right, they should have said so, and explained why they thought it was that way.

And some of them have so replied. Senator La Follette says that whether the new tariff law is a reduction or an increase in tariff taxes is not a matter of presidential fiat, but of actual practice; and that so far as he is concerned he does not acknowledge the president's power or right to read him out of the party.

Senator Bristow of Kansas, a real insurgent and a Roosevelt Republican with a mind and a backbone, says that the president must have been misled as to the character of the revision, instancing particularly the cotton, sugar and lead schedules. The president was misled as to the character of the revision, and no wonder; he took Congressman Payne's analysis of the law, apparently without any investigation of his own, and without very much thought.

The Payne analysis purports to measure the importance of the tariff changes by the "consumption value" of the articles affected. Senator La Follette insists that reliable information on which to base such an analysis does not exist, and that to attempt to make a showing of this sort is to "enter the realm of pure speculation." And when this is done by the author of the bill, who was the assistant of Aldrich in making its schedules more oppressive than they were in their original form, and adopted by the president without independent study, it is not surprising that a showing favorable to the bill is made. The author of the bill was hardly to be expected to do his speculating through anything but rose-tinged glasses.

Senator Bristow makes the pertinent suggestion that the only way for the people to secure further tariff legislation along progressive lines is to elect to congress men devoted more to public than to special interests. This broad view is a sharp contrast to the president's ignominious plea for "party solidarity." It is a great deal more important, in the selection of a senator or a congressman, that he shall stand for public rather than for private interests than it is whether he is a Republican or a Democrat. The president can't see that, but Bristow can; and that is one reason why Bristow stands better in the independent West than the president.

Senator Bristow points out that tariff legislation must start in the house, and that no new legislation will be undertaken so long as Cannon, Payne and other standpatters are in control there. The thing to do, then, is to clean out those who keep them in power; and that must be done before there is even a reasonable hope for honest tariff revision. But in that work the country will have no help from the author of that Winona speech. Senator Bristow gives timely warning that unlimited means will be provided next year to keep the stand-patters in office and to beat the progressives; and that warning should not be forgotten for a moment.

THE PERSISTENCE OF THE NEW SPELLING.

Let nobody imagine that because Col. Roosevelt tired of the hobby of simplified spelling, and because it has ceased to be the nine days' wonder that it became by virtue of his ardent though brief championship of it, that it is gone out of existence. Indeed it has not. The Simplified Spelling board, given a considerable lease of life by Mr. Carnegie's generosity, is still working, still producing circulars, still seeking to impress its ideas upon the public.

The public has gone from idle passing interest to indifference, and thence to complete forgetfulness; but the Simplified Spelling board has kept right on laboring, and now and then it manages to get itself noticed in the newspapers by the issuance of a circular.

Circular No. 24, just out, is a letter to teachers. The board admits the reasonableness of the adult objection to changing methods of spelling that have become an automatic process; admits, indeed, the difficulty of inducing an old dog to learn new tricks. So the board proposes to let adults spell as they learned to spell—a kindness that will be appreciated only a little less than it would be if it wasn't so unnecessary, since nearly everybody has kept right on spelling as he had learned to spell. But the circular pleads that the children be taught to spell in the new way in the elementary schools, so that even if this generation is hopelessly abandoned to its sodden preference for the old style spelling, the next generation may gain grace by the use of the newer and simpler way. "The thing to do," says the circular, "is to teach the children that they may spell the new way, and that to do so is right, though not yet fashionable."

Of course this is the way to go about it if the English-speaking peoples are ever to spell simply. There is absolutely no use in wasting time with the present generation. It will continue to spell it "through" instead of "thru," "enough" instead of "enuf," "tough" instead of "tuf." Everybody admits that the old spelling is wrong, confusing and misleading, but those who are trying to teach America to spell naturally and simply instead of unnaturally and as it learned to spell are welcome to the task. It is a hard one, and thankless, because simplified spelling is one of those excellent ideas that nobody bothers about adopting. Not long ago The Herald received a copy of a "reformed calendar." It was another excellent idea, with every reason in favor of it and yet with no hope of adoption, at least for several centuries. It is just as senseless to have months of different length as it is to have silent letters in our words. It would be very much better to have every month the same length and to have the day of the week and the day of the month always correspond. So would it be better to have simpler spelling; but neither the new calendar nor the new spelling have any immediate hope of general adoption.

WATCH THE PRESTIDIGITATOR CLOSELY.

In a statement upon the situation as to financial legislation, issued by the Associated Press without information as to its origin, occurs the following: "In something less than five years the Aldrich-Vreeland financial act will expire by limitation, and unless before that date it is replaced by a wisely-framed measure of broad scope, the country will again be in the perilous situation that is commonly believed to have resulted in the panic of 1907-08." This seems to assume that the panic was due to some particular defect in the currency, when as a matter of fact opinion is divided as to whether it came as the result of over-exploitation and too much gambling or whether it was deliberately brought on by the System to promote its own plans. And yet, of course, if the financial and economic situation were as it should be, it ought not to be possible to have a panic from either of these causes.

The statement adds: "There is a general realization of the necessity of legislation on this subject but a wide difference of opinion as to form. Speaker Cannon believes that a mere extension of the present law, with perhaps a few amendments in details, will suffice; President Taft looks with favor upon the proposition to create a great central bank, and there are all sorts of intermediate schemes." As to this, Cannon so obstinately hates anything new that he would be likely to oppose a new scheme even though Aldrich proposed it; and if President Taft has gone no deeper into the currency than he has into the tariff, his indorsement is negligible.

"Probably that which commands the greatest support," continues this interesting statement, "will be based upon the recommendations of the monetary commission which has been quietly but effectively at work for more than a year gathering the material for the construction of the actual legislation." Here it is necessary to part company sharply with the author of this statement. The monetary commission is headed by Aldrich—is Aldrich, in fact—and nothing that is proposed by Aldrich can be said to have the presumption of popular support. Not only will whatever he proposes be scrutinized with the greatest care and the greatest suspicion, but it will start upon its career with the presumption, based upon the previous history of this infamous character, that it is deliberately framed for the purpose of giving the System of commercial brigandry which Aldrich represents greater power over the people's money and new facilities for skimming the cream from the output of the nation's industry for the benefit of Special Privilege.

A campaign of education is about to begin, the statement further declares, and for this the country is prepared. President Taft in his Boston speech said as much, and after stating that Aldrich would conduct that campaign, he furnished that gentleman with a wholesale letter of recommendation to the American people as a pure-souled statement whose every heart-beat is in tune with the needs and aspirations of the plain people. Not all the eulogy which the president may choose to shower upon this vice-regent of Special Privilege, this Boss of the Republic, can serve to benumb the memory of the people as to the part he has played in fastening upon them the chains of slavery to the cause of greed.

The prestidigitator of high finance is about to perform another trick. Watch him closely!

ENFORCING THE TRAFFIC ORDINANCE.

The news columns report that the police have found another snag, or what appears to them to be a snag, in the enforcement of the street traffic ordinance.

The incident shows again that enforcement of such regulations must be tempered with common sense, and that while on the whole it is undesirable to leave the enforcement or non-enforcement of law to the discretion of police officers, there are cases where it is necessary.

The police have discovered that the postoffice wagons engaged in the collection of mail must in order to get at the mail boxes violate the letter of the ordinance. So a driver has been arrested, and the ordinance will be tested. It is inconceivable that a government servant, engaged in a service that is necessary both to the government and the public, will be punished for doing what is essential to the performance of his duties; so obviously the ordinance is not likely to stand the test. A former incident, in the case where it was discovered that it was inhumane and impracticable to compel teams to stand parallel with the curb on the sloping avenues, is similarly in point.

There are many laws that would work unnecessary hardship and become almost impracticable, in fact, if they were enforced to the letter. What is needed in this case is a regulation of street traffic that will serve the public needs; and it is evident that to do that, and still give the ordinance vitality, discretion must be used in its enforcement. Otherwise court tests and amendments to this ordinance will become uselessly regular occurrences.

The Duluth Commercial club is going after the greatness that belongs to Duluth, and it has behind it the alert and awakened sentiment of 80,000 people.

SUGGESTION TO PARK BOARD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed in The Herald tonight that the park board had finally disposed of the park bond issue of $50,000 and now has that sum at its disposal.

What is going to be done with the money? Is the board to spend it for the improvement of parks owned by the city at present, or are new park sites to be acquired?

Just a suggestion. When the parks are there it is a comparatively easy matter to improve them at any time. When they are not there, they are mighty hard to get.

Real estate is cheaper in Duluth at the present time than it will be at any time in the future. The wise move for the park board now is to put that $50,000 into new park sites. We must look to the future now, or we will regret it when the future comes.

Let the park board go quietly about acquiring playgrounds and breathing spots all over the city. The suburbs should not be neglected. New pieces of property should be secured in the West end, West Duluth, Woodland, Lakeside and the central part of the city. Suburban property is cheap and $50,000 would go a long way.

The park sites can be improved in the future. The thing for the city to do now is to acquire as many of them as possible, for five years from now, they would be difficult of purchase and high of price. Duluth has not nearly enough breathing spots for a city of its size. We cannot get too many of them. We cannot get them too soon. Let's get busy and get the property and the improvement of it will come of itself. Civic beauty will never come if we haven't the property to beautify.

A TAXPAYER.

Duluth, Sept. 30.

THE ORDINANCE IN BRIEF.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In reply to Auto Owner in last evening's Herald, will say that the traffic ordinance as far as it relates to the licensing of the drivers of motor cars and registry of such machines is as follows:

Each and every person who desires to operate an automobile or motor cycle in the city of Duluth must make application to the common council for a license for said purpose, the blanks for which may be procured from the city clerk. After the council has granted such license, the city clerk will issue the same upon presentation of the city treasurer's receipt for $1, and the payment of an additional 25 cents for issuing such license.

In addition to the license required for operating machines each owner of an automobile must register with the city clerk his name, business and home address, state number of machine, factory number and model, and a brief description of the vehicle.

Each chauffeur is required to register his address and number assigned to him by the secretary of state.

All applications for license filed with the city clerk on or before Monday, Oct. 4, can be passed upon by the council Monday night and if passed can be issued on Wednesday, Oct. 6, or as soon thereafter as the mayor approves the resolution granting such licenses.

CITY ATTORNEY'S OFFICE.

Duluth, Sept. 30.

Isn't Worth the Bother.

Life: "Why did you not have a white witness at the pole?"

"Because, after a lifetime of effort, I dearly wanted the honor for myself."

So a newspaper dispatch from Battle Harbor reports Commander Peary as saying.

Poor Peary! He did not understand.

It was as though Roosevelt had left all the other intrepid Rough Riders at the foot of San Juan hill and had gone up alone and licked the Spaniards so as to have all the glory to himself.

He got it all, anyhow, and the good will of the R. R.s besides.

So would Peary have got all the glory of finding the pole (since it was his expedition), no matter how many white men he had with him. And if he had had Marvin or Bartlett along to verify his observations his exploit would have been on a good deal better basis than it is.

Poor Peary! What a mistake he made! Cook comes back and says he reached the pole with a couple of Eskimos. The world says it was a pity he did not have some one along who could corroborate his story. Then comes Peary with his story. The world accepts his assertion, but immediately observes that in so far as competent human witnesses go, Cook's tale is at least as well backed up as Peary's. "He that findeth his life shall lose it," saith the Scripture (in discouragement of self-seekers), and Peary will be lucky if he doesn't find it's so of the pole.

The trouble with finding the pole is that there is nothing to it but glory; nothing to it at all but advertisement. It is not a service to humanity, but a sportsman's stunt; that appeals nowadays chiefly to vanity. The only thing at the North Pole that any one wants is newspaper headlines.

A Woman's Answer.

Do you know you have asked for the costliest thing ever made by the Hand above—
A woman's heart and a woman's life and a woman's wonderful love?
Do you know you have asked for this priceless thing as a child might ask for a toy,
Demanding what others have died to win with the reckless dash of a boy?

You have written my lesson of duty out; man-like you have questioned me;
Now stand at the bar of my woman's soul until I shall question thee.
You require that your mutton shall always be hot, your socks and your shirts be whole;
I require that your heart be as true as God's stars, and as pure as His heaven your soul.

You require a cook for your mutton and beef; I ask a far greater thing;
A seamstress you're wanting for socks and for shirts; I look for a man and a king!
A king for the beautiful realm called "Home," and a man that the Maker God
Shall look upon as He did the first, and say, "It is very good."

I am fair and young, but the rose will fade from my soft, young cheek one day;
Will you love me then, 'mid the falling leaves, as you did 'mid the blooms of May?
Is your heart an ocean so strong and deep I may launch my all in its tide?
A loving woman finds heaven or hell on the day she becomes a bride.

I require all things that are grand and true, all things that a man should be:
If you give me all this I will stake my life to be all you demand of me;
If you cannot be this, a seamstress and cook you can hire, and little to pay,
But a woman's heart and a woman's life are not be won in this way.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The fountain head of feminine lies in birthdays.

Men trust one another; women watch one another.

A girl is awful smart never to know what a man means when she makes him mean it.

There is nothing upon which a man can place so high a value as making a fool of himself over a political row.

A girl would have to be an angel not to do any of the things her mother warns her against, and if she didn't do most of them her mother would be afraid she was very sick.

THE WEATHER.

CLOUDY

Last night was another August delight in a September frame, but the first day of October sees a prediction of partly cloudy weather for tonight and Saturday on the weather man's sheet. Not much change in temperature is expected.

The sun came up this morning at 6:07 and is scheduled to set at 5:48 p. m.

The weather a year ago today was cloudy.

Mr. Richardson says of weather conditions:

"During the past twenty-four hours light rains fell over Oregon, Wsetern Washington, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Montana, Western New York, Vermont and Southern Florida as a result of barometric depressions central over Saskatchewan and off the New England and Florida coasts. Temperatures are also somewhat higher in the Red River valley. Cooler weather prevails in Wyoming and Montana, due to rising pressures there. The barometer is also high over the Mississippi valley and Western lake region. Generally fair weather is indicated for St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

The Way Our Childhood Went.

This-a-way an' that-a-way, an' in an' out an' through,
Through the gate of mornin' an' a lane o' dancin' dew
Through a day o' sunshine an' a day o' weepin' rain,
Through a day o' pleasure an' another day o' pain—
O'er the hills o' summer, through the valley of content,
'Cross the fields o' wonder lay the way our Childhood went.

Don't y' mind the faces of the tired little men
Trampin' on beside us through the orchard lands of then?
Don't y' mind the maidens with their lips o' cherry red
Puckered sweet as blossoms that was bloomin' overhead?
Mind how Nature's music an' the children's voices blent
While we went a-singin' on the way our Childhood went?

Now the world is changin' an' it 'pears t' me t'day
All its golden splendor is a-fadin' plum away!—
An' there's less of music in this gray ol' world o' His—
What there is is sort o' "out of tune" as sayin' is—
Yit we keep on livin' an' contrive t' be smilin'—
Happy—jist a-dreamin' of the way our Childhood went.

TAFT IN MINNESOTA.

Warroad Commonwealth: President Taft's attitude can be looked upon by Minnesota people as adding insult to injury. William Howard Taft is regarded in Minnesota as the willing tool of corporate greed; and so far from his visit tending to palliate the "crime of 1909" in behalf of the party in the eyes of the people in this state, it has had the effect to disgust every person who has heard or read his speeches. It would have been better for the Republican party in Minnesota if Taft had kept out of the state entirely, and the party should have known it. Minnesota voters have given evidence of considerable independence at the last two or three elections, and they can not be kept in line by appeals to party loyalty, nor such fool attempts to reconcile lies with truth as characterized Taft's harangues last week.

Red Wing Republican, (Rep.): The shoulders of President Taft are broad and his courage is good, but he is trying to carry a load too heavy even for his popularity. He is now loaded down with the new tariff act, with his aid to Cannon, with Ballinger and a few others. In addition to these burdens, he has actually told Senator Aldrich to jump aboard and take a ride. He took responsibility, before a public audience, for that arch-representative of the most corrupt and conscienceless interests in the United States. And he is hinting at favor for a central bank of issue, and an amendment of the anti-trust act that will exempt railroads and labor unions from the laws supposed to be good enough for the rest of the people. Any friend of the president could tell him that no man in the country is equal to assuming the burden of all the responsibility. And just why he should make himself the scapegoat of the most objectionable influence in this country is one of those mysteries of personality that nobody can unravel.

Red Lake Falls Gazette (Dem.): According to the president we must be contented with the modicum of relief the Eastern manufacturers and the champions of privileged wealth are satisfied to give us. The producer and the consumer apparently are not to be considered in the rearrangement of tariff schedules.

Le Sueur News: The president talked like a man who fully knows the kind of a tariff bill the country needs and who is also fully resolved that it will not have it while he rules the roost. Well, he is it.

Roseau Times (Rep.): President Taft talks too much. His inconsistent statements do not tend to inspire confidence. He places party allegiance above country, and his promises of what the party will do for the people under Republican policies awakens but little enthusiasm, because the people will judge the future by the past. It took a club to compel congress under its present leadership to amend the interstate commerce law, to pass the free alcohol bill and several other measures demanded by the people, and the special pleas of the president will effect nothing in the Middle West, and only demonstrates that he is capable of shifting from one side to the other. The insurgent congressmen and senators of Minnesota are at least consistent, and that is more than can be said of President Taft.

Northfield News (Rep.): The attitude the president assumes the News believes to be ill-advised, and if persisted in, is bound to result in party disintegration. It is not for the party leaders to dictate to whom the Republican people shall confide their interests, and it does not lie in their mouths to criticise or read out of the party those who have been faithful to their supporters. Rather it is for the people at the next election to discriminate between those who have served faithfully and those who have sought rather such ulterior objects as party solidarity. The less solidarity there is in a party which is not responsive to the popular voice the better it will be for the people. A party properly defined means a number of people united in opinion and aiming to influence the general action. It does not mean a number of people willing, without regard either to their own opinions or to the public welfare, to follow where self-constituted leaders conceive it to be to their interest to lead them.

Worthington Advance-Herald: All the talking Mr. Taft may do from St. Paul to El Paso will not convince Minnesota that it does not want its representatives in congress to break the power of the circle which has been dominating affairs in the national legislative halls far too long for the best good of the people. If Mr. Tawney or any other congressman can not represent the will of the people, it is time for him to get a job as director of Indian affairs in New Mexico; not that Mr. Tawney is not an able man, but the temper of the people is for a season of rule for the people rather than for the large interests.

Not all of the Minnesota insurgents may have insurged because they wanted to, rather than because they didn't want to lose their seats; but Minnesota is proud of them just the same, for it takes courage of a peculiar nature to cast a vote against the leaders of one's own party in any legislative chamber.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Chicago Record-Herald: "I will win yet!" he passionately exclaimed. "I will show that I am worthy of you."

"There," she replied, "that proves what I have always said—that you were a confirmed egotist."

Chicago Nnews: Little Willie—Say, pa, what is a genius?

Pa—A genius, my boy, is a person whom nature lets in on the ground floor, but whom circumstances force to live in an attic."

Punch: Squire—You can't grumble at the market for pigs just now; they're fetching a good price.

Old Tenant Farmer—Well, as far as that do go, I suppose they be, but look what a price they be to buy.

Cleveland Leader: "I'm going to marry Dick."

"Why, you told me you weren't in love with him."

"I'm not, but I've just heard that a girl I hate is."

Louisville Courier-Journal: "So you think you'll go to the mountains next year?"

"Yes; too much breeze at the seashore. Always blowing the cards off the bridge tables."

Pittsburg Post: "It's hard to see a future president in a village yap with cowhide boots and highwater pants."

"Think so? Seems to me that's just as promising material as a city dude with sunset socks and a clam-shell cap."

Sketchy Bits: Dilettante Youth—D'ye know, my tailor chap is worrying me to death over his confounded account.

Practical Fiancee—Well, just write and tell him that if he doesn't stop you'll put the matter in the hands of your solicitors.

Boston Transcript: "Jack sent me a handsome mirror for my birthday."

"Oh, that accounts for it."

"Accounts for what?"

"Yesterday he asked me if a woman ever got too old to be pleased with a looking glass."

Chicago Record-Herald: "I have heard a number of people say," she remonstrated when her father had taken her to task concerning young Mr. Spruceleigh, "that he is a coming man."

"Oh, I don't deny that he's all that, all right. Only I wish he wouldn't come so often nor stay so long."

Buffalo Express: Clarence Stiles, the hotel clerk humorist, a few weeks ago suffered the misfortune of having a car pass over his hand. An ambulance was called, the young surgeon hopped off, and, seeing Stiles' maimed wrist, inquired: "What's the trouble; crushed by a car?"

Stiles couldn't resist.

"Say, young fellow," he replied "does it look very much as though a transfer fell on it?"

Why Truth Goes Naked.

Detroit Free Press: Secretary Meyer, at a Newport luncheon, answered an interesting question.

"Why," a naval cadet asked, "do we always speak of the 'naked' truth?"

Secretary Meyer smiled and answered:

"There is an ancient fable, and one very appropriate to this hot weather, which tells us that on a summer afternoon Truth and Falsehood set out to bathe together. They found a crystal spring, they bathed in the cool, fresh water, and Falsehood, emerging first, clothed herself in the garments of Truth and went her way. But Truth, unwilling to put on the garb of Falsehood, departed naked. And to this day Falsehood wears Truth's fair white robes, so that many persons mistake her for Truth's very self; but poor Truth still goes naked."

CONTEST OF AIRSHIPS

Blackpool Will Have Most Brilliant Aerial Fetes Ever Held.

Leading Aviators of the World Will Participate in Events.

London, Oct. 1.—Seventy-five thousand dollars will be expended by the governmental and local authorities and the Lancashire & Yorkshire Railway company to make the aviation contest at Blackpool, commencing Monday, Oct. 18, and continuing throughout the week, the most brilliant of aerial fetes thus far held anywhere in the world

I have just learned from Mr. Perrin, the secretary of the Aero Club of London, that the site for the forthcoming ascensions has been officially selected. It is at the boundary of the limits of Blackpool, a very broad, open and flat field, which will give a track of three and a half miles.

Two delegates of the association having the big event in charge have returned from France, where they closed contracts for the appearance of the leading aviators of the world through their European managers, the famed flyers being now in the United States to participate in the Hudson-Fulton celebration. Two thousand dollars has been guaranteed each aviator consenting to make a flight at Blackpool.

Stirred to renewed activity by the conquest of the North Pole by the American explorers. Lieutenant Commander Robert E. Peary and Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Englishmen are making haste to fit out the new expedition to th Antarctic, which will seek to locate the South Pole.

It is announced that Lieut. E. R. Evans, of the royal navy, will command the expedition vessel "Discovery." Capt. Robert F. Scott, the organizer of the cruise, has been deluged with money contributions and offers to join the expedition from intrepid young Britishers, $55,000 having been received since first the announcement of the latest expedition was made.

Many of the companions of Capt. Scott upon his previous trip to the Southern polar regions have written to him begging to be recruited for the cruise.

Two hundred thousand dollars is the sum required for the expedition.

One of the surprises of contemporary British politics is the strong party issue which has been made of the development bill now before the national parliament, which seeks to have the agricultural resources of Great Britain brought under the systematic patronage of the government, as is the case in the United States, in France, and in other countries.

In an editorial censure of the policy of the opposition to the parliamentary measure the London Daily Chronicle points to the fact that "Nowhere is agriculture more scientifically and efficiently fostered and helped than in the United States."

Among the provisions of the bill are reforestation, improvement of rural roads and harbors and canals, the development of fisheries and the aiding and development of agriculture.

Public interest in England, and especially that of resident and visiting Americans in the British metropolis, has been attracted by the sale, recently concluded, of Annesley Bank, the country home of Miss Mary Braddon, the novelist, whose works have been much read and admired in the United States.

Not only the house—a low rambling, but very up-to-date structure in the heart of the New Forest—but the furnishings as well have been disposed of by the authoress.

The upper story library, where Miss Braddon has been wont to work, standing at a tall mahogany desk, has proven a veritable Mecca of American devotees of Miss Braddon.

That some of the suffragettes, whose tales of hair-raising escapades at the hands of the English police, whom they seek constantly to defy, are gifted with great imaginative powers and have a special leaning toward limelight martyrdom, is apparent from the results of investigations conducted into certain of the reports of adventure they have lately circulated regarding themselves.

These strenuous advocates of the equal ballot find no obstacle too formidable for their onslaughts, and one of their latest skirmishes was directed at the county seat of Prime Minister Asquith, Lympne castle, in England, where the cabinet chief was spending a quiet holiday with his family.

The advocates of militant woman suffrage gained access to the grounds of the castle by climbing over a fence and surprising the family at dinner, smashing a window in the process, and then escaping under cover of darkness.

In a scrimmage between suffragettes and Premier Asquith and Herbert Gladstone, which followed their surprise of the two government leaders at the Littlestone Golf club, Mr. Gladstone endeavored to release Mr. Asquith from the grasp of several women who had tried to present a petition and, according to one of the suffragettes, "Mr. Gladstone fought like a pugilist. It got more serious; Mr. Gladstone lunged out and we lunged out, for we were determined not to be pushed down the steps by them (Mr. Asquith and Mr. Gladstone)."

A revised version, atested by both the gentlemen and several onlookers, proves that in reality there were no fisticuffs, but that the suffragettes were repulsed as gently as was consistent with effectiveness.

OBERAMMERGAU IS WAKING UP

The "Passion Play" Is Coming to Have Commercial Side.

Paris, Oct. 1.—Preparations are already being made for the performance of the "Passion Play" in Oberammergau next year, and there is every indication that the number of visitors who will journey there will eclipse all previous records. Performances have been given every ten years since 1634, in fulfilment of a vow which the inhabitants made at that time.

One of the influential residents of the small Bavarian town was asked the question recently:

"How will it be with your 'Passion Play' next year?"

The reply was:

"Not as it was in 1810, nor even as it was in 1850, when the world began to come. Nor would it be well that it should be so. The world goes on. When I was a youngster I was willing enough to give up my bed and to sleep on hay in the loft with a Russian grand duke, who, having arrived very late in the pouring rain, was glad to get a roof over him.

"I would not give up my bed now, but I have made ample provision for the accommodation of strangers. Naturally, they must pay for the extra comfort, but it does not follow that the performers will bring less devotion and earnestness to the spectacle. If the people are less simple than they were, it is the fault of the strangers. I have often helped Joseph Thayr to escape interviews. He could not bear to be interviewed, and I admit it is a pity that so much fuss is made about those who are privileged to take the principal parts in this great drama. Still, there is grit in our villagers. They will not let the notoriety or fame spoil them."

There is a train to the village now. The village has electric light, and the villagers have spent much money in making their houses comfortable and in building new ones. Naturally, the villagers hope to recoup themselves for the outlay, but they are still, with a very few exceptions, simple men and women, with little aptitude for business. They have a bureau committee, which has control over a certain number of rooms in each house, and the prices are fixed and cannot be altered.

Presented With Jewel.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 1.—Mrs. Robert O. Bunt, retiring worthy matron of Houghton chapter, Order of Eastern Star, was on Tuesday evening presented with a handsome jewel, the presentation taking place at the installation of the recently elected officers. John A. Doelle, worthy patron of the chapter, made the presentation.

Take Off the Fat Where It Shows

Most women suffer much humiliation because of great quantities of fat, so located that, no matter how they dress, everybody sees that they are abnormal. This is the day of the slender figure, and fat women are simply not tolerated either in business or social affairs. Women may not know it, but men when they see a fat woman pass them on the street or in public places make all manner of sympathetic remarks about her. They do not mean to be unkind or to seem unmanly, but it is natural for a man to dislike fat on a woman. Where fat shows the most there is where it must be removed, and as quickly as possible. This season's dresses seem to be made for the fat woman's misery and the slender woman's delight. They expose all the charms of woman and her ugliness as well. Exercise and diet will not remove fat. This has been proved. The famous Marmola prescription which has met with such phenomenal success and has so many of our society woman as its sponsors, is now being sold in tablet form to meet the demand of the public for this style of treatment. These little tablets go into your system just like food. They stop the stomach and digestive apparatus from producing fat and reduce the fat upon the body at the rate of from 12 to 15 ounces a day. They are harmless and can be carried in your purse and taken even after you have indulged in a hearty meal away from home. They are sold at all drug stores at 75 cents a case, or if you prefer you may write the Marmola Company Dept. 491, Detroit, Mich.

WILL WELCOME THE SOO LINE

Commercial Club Will Give Recognition to Newly Arrived Railroad.

The suggestion of Capt. C. C. Teare to the Commercial club that some fitting recognition be given by Duluth to the Soo road on its arrival in the city will very likely be acted upon by the public affairs committee of the club soon. The suggestion of Capt Teare is indorsed by Maj. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Commercial club.

Mr. Eva says that the public affairs committee will undoubtedly make some arrangements to welcome the Soo line. Some time ago, when it was thought the running of passenger trains over the Brooten extension would be begun about Aug. 15, the club discussed the running of a train over the new line. Later when the date for the institution of passenger service was postponed, the matter was dropped.

Freight service has already been established on the Brooten extension and it is expected a local passenger train will be put on about Oct. 15. It will probably run only as far as Superior for the present and a passenger service into Duluth will not be established until the new depot is completed. Regular freight trains will be crossing the interstate bridge in a few days.

The directors and members of the club are proud of their new quarters, which were designed for them and embody all the modern ideas in club designing. They are commodious, comfortable and well furnished and the club is now conveniently established for years to come.

EQUAL PAY FOR WOMEN.

Appeal Made to Put Stop to Unfair Competition.

London, Oct. 1.—One of the most interesting features of the Trade Union congress at Ipswich was the acceptance of a resolution affirming a belief in the principle of equal wages for equal work for women and men.

It was introduced by Miss MacArthur, the secretary of the Women's Trade Union league, who made an impassioned appeal to the congress and called on women to organize to put a stop to unfair competition.

TAFT FOR SHIP SUBSIDY

Makes Straightforward Declaration That He Will Urge Its Adoption.

President Declares That It Is Necessary to to Build Up Merchant Marine.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 1. — President Taft, in his address in the natural amphitheater at the exposition today, said he would use every means in his power to bring about the restoration of the American merchant marine, and would recommend legislation to that end.

This was the last formal address of President Taft's journey, all the subjects that he had in mind when he set out having been touched upon.

The president spoke of the wonderful development of Alaska in the last few years and the duty of the government to assist further development of its resources. He announced that he was opposed to the territorial form of government, however, because the population was too scattered and too small, compared with the vast area of the country.

Favors Alaska Commission.

In a territorial government, he said, the larger communities—mining camps with a migratory population—would dominate. He declared he would rather see Alaska placed under the supervision of a bureau or department in Washington; that railroads were needed in Alaska, and the government should share in the expense of building them.

On ship subsidy the president said:

"I need not tell you of the inadequacy of the American shipping marine on the Pacific and of the growing commercial progress in this regard of Japan. Japan is one of the most active and generous countries in the matter of subsidies to its merchant marine, and the effect is only too visible in an examination of the statistics.

"For this reason it seems to me that there is no subject to which congress can better devote its attention during the coming session than the bill which should regulate our merchant marine in such a way as to establish American lines between New York and other ports and South American ports, and between our coast ports and the Orient and the Philippines.

Mails Would Support Lines.

"We earn a profit from our foreign mails of from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 a year. The appropriation of that amount would be quite sufficient to put on a satisfactory basis two or three Oriental lines and several lines from the East to South America.

"Of course, we are familiar with the argument that this would be a contribution to private companies out of the treasury of the United States, but we are thus contributing in various ways on similar principles, in effect, both by our protective tariff laws, by our river and harbor bill and by our reclamation service. We are putting money into the pockets of shipowners, but we are giving money with which they can compete for reasonable profit only, with the merchant marine of the world."

The president pointed out the perilous position of the United States in the event of a foreign war, when we should have to buy vessels from other countries to use as colliers for our fleets—a proceeding which, in view of the international neutrality laws, would be exceedingly undesirable, or even problematical.

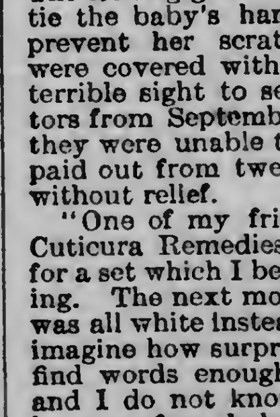
Frightful Fate Averted.

"I would have been a cripple for life, from a terrible cut on my knee cap," writes Frank Disbery, Kelliher, Minn., without Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which soon cured me." Infallible for wounds, cuts and bruises, it soon cures Burns, Scalds, Old Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions. World's best for Piles. 25c at all druggists.

BABY'S ITCHING WAS INTOLERABLE

Girl of Six Months had Fearful Attack of Eczema—Spread All Over Her Face and Eyes Began to Swell—Scratched Till Blood Came—Relieved in a Night and

CURED BY CUTICURA AFTER LONG SUFFERING



"When my little girl was six months old I noticed small red spots on her right cheek. I did not pay any attention to them but finally the spots grew so large that I sent for the doctor who said it was ringworm. He prescribed an ointment which I used for two weeks, but instead of helping the eruption, the ointment seemed to make it worse. Then I went to a second doctor who after examining the baby said it was eczema. He also gave me an ointment which did not help either. The disease in the meantime spread all over the face and the eyes began to swell. I became very anxious. The itching grew intolerable. I had to tie the baby's hands to the cradle to prevent her scratching. The cheeks were covered with blood and it was a terrible sight to see. I consulted doctors from September to December, but they were unable to cure the baby. I paid out from twenty to thirty dollars without relief.

"One of my friends told me of the Cuticura Remedies and I sent at once for a set which I began to use that evening. The next morning the baby's face was all white instead of red and you can imagine how surprised I was. I cannot find words enough to praise Cuticura and I do not know what would have become of my baby only for it. I used the Cuticura Remedies until the eczema entirely disappeared. The child is now three years old and quite well. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap, two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and I never use any other soap. I always recommend them whenever there is a chance for doing so. I will send you one of her pictures which she had taken just after she was healed. Mrs. P. E. Gumbin, Sheldon, Ia., July 13, 1908."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

GIRL DIED OF POISON

Alfred Anderson, Her Fiance, on Trial for Manslaughter.

Contended He Was Responsible for Her Commiting Suicide.

Cambridge, Minn., Oct. 1.—Charged with contributing to the death of his betrothed, Miss Ethel Grant, and indicted for manslaughter in the first degree, Alfred Anderson was brought into district court and pleaded not guilty, his trial being set for Tuesday next.

E. S. Carey, a Minneapolis lawyer, and Godfrey Goodwin of this place will defend him. The county prosecutor, John W. Clover, has been reinforced by Albert F. Pratt, county attorney of Anoka county, in conducting the case for the state.

Anderson and Miss Grant lived in the same neighborhood. In February last Miss Grant went to Minneapolis for the purpose, she said, of getting work. She was taken sick and was absent only about a week. Anderson visited her on Friday immediately after her return, and she died on the following Monday. The coroner's inquest found that she had been poisoned by either eating the heads of matches or soaking them in water and drinking the fluid.

The state contends that Anderson was responsible.

Anderson was indicted on April 17, and was in jail a week before giving a bond for his appearance in court. He is about 25 years of age. Miss Grant was about 20.

IS ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Charles Leinonen Accused of Complicity in Death of Mattson.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 1.—Charles Leinonen, who was held under a tentative charge of murder as a witness in the case against Emil Karvakka, charged with the murder of Herman Mattson in Calumet a few weks ago, has been rearrested on the charge of murder. It is alleged that Leinonen was partially responsible for Mattson's death.

Mattson, it will be remembered, was found on the Pine street road, just outside the west limits of Red Jacket, the early morning of Aug. 22. He was taken to the Calumet public hospital, where it was found he was terribly wounded, having a fractured skull and a broken shoulder blade. Mattson died Aug. 24 and Karvakka, Leinonen and two others were arrested, Karvakka being charged with Mattson's murder. The other three, who were with Karvakka at the time he is claimed to have struck Mattson, were held on charges of murder also, but merely to keep them as witnesses. It was not thought at the time that anything more would develop from the case. Now, however, Leinonen must face a charge of complicity. Karvakka pleaded guilty to manslaughter in circuit court and, it is believed in Calumet, informed against Leinonen.

Sick Headache and Indigestion

The Former Is Very Frequently Caused By the Other.

The pneumo-gastric nerve connects the stomach region directly with the brain, and when the stomach is out of order the head is almost certain to be affected through reflex or sympathetic nervous irritation.

The headache of dyspepsia and indigestion is of every variety from the dullest and least defined to the most acute pain. Sometimes the whole mass of the brain seems racked with anguish; at others, the ache is confined to the back or front part of the head. The first form is usually of a confused character, and is often accompanied by dizziness of vision, and a mild vertigo, or so-called "rush of blood to the head." The victims of this symptom complain of a "swimming" or "lightness" in the head, and dizziness, or a sensation of motion while the body is still, and specks, or flashes of light before the eyes.

Persons subject to indigestion and others forms of stomach trouble are very frequent sufferers from headache, and in numerous cases a sick headache is the only noticeable symptom of indigestion present; in others, there are stomach manifestations as well.

The majority of people regard this headache as a separate disease, instead of a symptom of stomach-disease, which it usually is; and they attempt to treat it separately, and make the mistake of endeavoring to obtain relief through the use of headache powders, tablets, pills and seltzers, the use of which is extremely dangerous, as many of them contain such powerful depressent drugs as acetanilid, phenacetine, antipyrine, caffeine, etc., which depress the heart, brain and nerve centers, and lower arterial pressure; and many a person with a weak heart has become dangerously ill shortly after taking one of these headache remedies. They also interfere with the digestive processes, and actually make the dyspepsia worse than before.

In order to get rid of the headache of indigestion—and most headaches are caused by stomach trouble—one should endeavor to reach and remove the cause, and the headache effect will soon be relieved.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS do not cure the symptoms; they cure the cause of the headache, which permanently removes the symptoms. They digest every atom of food in the stomach, cure all forms of stomach trouble, and the headache, and every other disagreeable symptom and untoward effect is quickly gotten rid of.

Don't make the mistake of trying to cure your dyspeptic or nervous headache through the use of headache powders, tablets, etc. Use common sense, good judgment, and one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and you will be agreeably surprised at the raptdity with which the headache will be relieved and cured simultaneously with the relief and cure of the stomach disturbance.

Purchase a package from your druggist today for 50 cents, and send us your name and address, and we will forward you a trial package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

GREAT TIME IS MADE BY TRAIN

Run From Devils Lake to Williston Proves Very Exciting.

Devils Lake, N. D., Oct. 1.—Engine No. 1703, one of the fastest in the service of the Great Northern, with Engineer Weaver at the throttle, pulled the new Chicago-Seattle fast mail train from there to Williston Monday night. The train reached Devils Lake from St. Paul one hour late, making up fifteen minutes between here and St. Paul. The train, which was composed entirely of mail and express cars, left St. Paul an hour and fifteen minutes late, all of which time had been made up when a delay was occasioned by a hot box on a freight train, which was unable to take a siding until the box was cooled.

Between Devils Lake and Williston thirty-three minutes' time was made up and it was figured that the train would be running on schedule time before it reached the foothills of the Rocky mountain range. The train stopped at Devils Lake only long enough to change engines, which was made in less than four minutes. The way Weaver picked her up and flew out of town was a caution. It is said he is one of the most daring, yet luckiest engineers on the system, his motto being "the quicker you get over rough spots the better." Tuesday the trip was made as an experiment for the purpose of ascertaining just what could be done. The train was given a clear track all the way, even the Oriental Limited being forced to take its turn on a sidetrack. As far as heard from the experiment has proven highly gratifying.

No New Cases in Last Ten Days at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Typhoid fever, which at one time bid fair to become an epidemic, is now under control in Grand Forks, according to the city health officials. In less than two weeks, sixteen cases of the disease were reported to the authorities, and an investigation into the cause showed that they were caused by drinking unfiltered Red river water.

BUY BEER WITH SLUGS.

Brewery Installs Slot Machine to Curtail Free Beer Consumption.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 1.—Drop in a slug, turn a valve and you get a nice big schooner of beer.

That is the kind of a system that the Bechaud Brewing company is installing. The army of the thirsty has grown to such proportions that the company decided to take drastic measures to put a stop to the practice of strangers, loafers and people who hang about the brewery drawing beer on their own hook.

A machine has been installed which prevents any one securing beer unless a slug or check is first dropped into the slot and a valve turned. The valve can not be turned unless a slug has been dropped. The slugs are kept in the office of the brewing company, and a certain number are given the employes daily. In that way strangers and loafers who hang about the brewery will have to go thirsty in the future.

KINDNESS CAUSES DEATH.

Friends' Aid to Injured Harvester Produces Blood Poisoning.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 1.—The kindly meant ministrations of his friends were the direct cause of the death of Valentine Vaaler, a 17-year-old boy, and son of a prosperous farmer near Bowdle. Young Vaaler was severely injured when his arm became entangled in a separator belt in the harvest field, and other harvesters bound up his wounds with their handkerchiefs to stop the flow of blood. The handkerchiefs were soiled and physicians say they were the cause of blood poisoning which resulted in death.

MILWAUKEE MAY GET G. O. P. CONVENTION.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 1.—Wires are quietly being laid for the next national Republican convention, and Milwaukee has at lease an even chance of seeing the big event held in the Auditorium in 1912.

The verdict lies in the hands of the national committee, which will not meet until November or December, 1911. However, it is said that some little correspondence has been carried on with Milwaukeeans, and that three state delegations have been pledged to the Wisconsin metropolis.

Milwaukee already has a great number of points in its favor by reason of ability to better care for the gathering than any of the cities in which nominations have been made heretofore, as well as some claim for political and other reasons.

WAS MURDER ATTEMPTED?

Section Hand With Skull Broken Found Near Railway Track.

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 1.—Three Eau Claire boys who were put off a train at Rosedale for stealing a ride, found Andrew Hanson, aged 24, a section hand, lying with his head near the rail and his skull crushed as by heavy blows. He was brought to a hospital here and is unconscious. The circumstances point to attempted murder.

HILL MADE A TALK.

Frank B. Kellogg Another Speaker at Olmsted County Fair.

Rochester, Minn., Oct. 1.—The big Olmsted county fair has opened. County Superintendent Howard is well pleased with the splendid program arranged, and is confident that Rochester will entertain big crowds this week. The big star of the fair is Hon. James J. Hill of St. Paul, who addressed the farmers and the boys' and girls' clubs of the county yesterday afternoon. An elaborate banquet was being planned for Mr. Hill, but he informed the committee that it would be necessary for him to leave shortly after his speech and the project was abandoned.

Today Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, a former Rochester attorney but now a St. Paul man will speak, and on Saturday Prof. T. M. Snyder of Ames, Iowa, will address the farmers on a farm topic.

GOOD TOURIST SEASON.

Beautiful Scenery Around Washburn, Wis., Draws Many Visitors.

Washburn, Wis., Oct. 1.—The tourist season which has just closed in this region has been one of the most successful in the history of the Chequamegon Bay district. People from all parts of the United States have been here this season to enjoy the exhilirating air and the beautiful scenery. The number by far exceeds that of any other year and the indications are that next year will see a wonderful growth. Those who are coming to this section are erecting summer homes and will hereafter spend their summers here. The crowds are being attracted by the grand secenery of the bay and Apostle islands which cannot be exceeded in the United States. It is also becoming a mecca for hay fever patients.

TWO ELEVATORS BURNED.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 1. — Fire Wednesday destroyed the Osborne-McMillan elevator and the Farmers' elevator at Garrison. The loss was total. The Soo station was on fire several times and the top of the railroad watertank was burned.

There was a large amount of wheat in the elevators, but the loss was entirely covered by insurance. Both houses will be rebuilt this fall.

St. Cloud—Word was received in this city Wednesday to the effect that the request of Supt. Fred Lindt of the Great Northern car shops, asking for the doubling of the capacity of the plant, had been granted and that work would be commenced on the same in the early spring.

Blackduck—Harry Gillham is in the village and states that he expects to move his family to Virginia this week.

Moorhead—Matt O'Neill sold one of his bears to a party at Jamestown, N. D., and while en route the bear got out of the crate and the messenger had to feed him pop and part of his supper to get him back into it. He got to his destination, however.

Cambridge—Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Oswell of Blackhoof, Carlton county, are spending the week in Cambridge as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Norin. Mr. Oswell is a brother-in-law of Mr. Norin, and they formerly lived as neighbors in Blomford.

ACRE LOTS FOR SALE IN SECOND ADDITION TO

HOMECROFT PARK

(THE NEW SUBURB OF DULUTH.)

On account of the many inquiries which we have received for lots in Homecroft Park since we had our very successful sale a month ago, when all of the lots offered were sold out, we have decided to open up and put on the market at once the SECOND ADDITION TO HOMECROFT PARK. The location of Homecroft Park is at Woodland, seven to twelve blocks from the end of the car line, and just outside the city limits. Two fine level county roads run through this beautiful addition and every lot fronts on a road. A large schoolhouse will soon be built. A telephone line and an electric light line are proposed to be built. In fact, there will be many suburban conveniences in Homecroft Park Addition.

The size of one of these lots is about an acre, some more and some less.

THE SOIL is a fortune in itself and consists of from three to six feet of RICH, BLACK LOAM, unsurpassed for garden purposes; no stones and well drained.

$1 CASH

The terms are so easy that there is a chance for everybody to get one of these valuable lots.

Only $1.00 Cash and $2 to $3 Per Week Until Paid For. No Interest at Any Time. No Payment When Sick or Injured. Perfect Title (Torren's Title.)

The prices range from $200 to $375, according to size, location and timber.

We venture to say that these acre tracts are one of the best purchases to be made in the city of Duluth today, especially when you take into consideration the location, which is convenient and close in, the excellent black soil, wholly free from stones; the nice lay of the land with a canal or river running through it, and the very easy terms we offer.

LOOK AHEAD a few years and you will find here, without any doubt, a beautiful suburb of a great city. The homes which will be built upon these excellent tracts of land, with their deep, rich, stoneless soil, will front upon fine grass lawns with a luxuriant growth of flowers; and in the rear of the homes you will find large productive gardens of kitchen vegetables and other produce, which will be used by the family as well as sold for profit. For, remember, the soil here is black garden soil from 3 to 6 feet in depth and free from stones. It will therefore yield all these benefits to the owner with the least possible work. Just think, when from 5,000 to 10,000 quarts of strawberries can be raised easily on one acre with proper care, or other berries or kitchen vegetables in the same proportion, you can readily figure out to what a great extent your living expenses can be met and paid for out of the production of one of these tracts.

Remember, also, that while the land is increasing in value as the time goes on, you can live on it and attend to your work in the city every day.

DO NOT HESITATE. SECURE ONE OF THESE TRACTS NOW.

THE CITY IS GROWING RAPIDLY, the longer you wait the farther out you will have to go, to say nothing of the fact that this is very nearly the last chance to get a piece of land so near the city with such fine productive soil, where you can nearly double your income every year.

Remember, there is sufficient timber on most of the lots for all building purposes. Why not walk a few blocks extra and for the same money or less get twelve times more of what is the foundation of all wealth—LAND. Come out tomorrow afternoon, and make your selection. First come, first served. There is only a limited number of these choice garden tracts. Salesmen will be there to show them to you. If you cannot come tomorrow afternoon, come Sunday.

This is an Opportunity For Independence. Do Not Let it Slip By. Somebody Else Will Surely Take It.

BUFFALO JONES GOING TO AFRICA

Lasso Is to Be the Old Plainsman's Only Weapon.

Garden City, Kan., Oct. 1.—A letter from C. J. ("Buffalo") Jones to the Garden City Telegram announces that he expects to go to Africa on his deferred hunting expedition in March, 1910, and will then carry out his idea of roping the beasts he wants.

Mr. Jones is now lecturing in Boston, and has made arrangements to remain there practically all of the time until he leaves for Africa. The pioneer, frontiersman and "animal Burbank" will probably come West on a hurried trip in November, however, and says he will stop here on his way to New Mexico to look over his ranch here.

Jones is now closing up a successful and profitable engagement at the Star theater in Boston, giving an illustrated lecture.

A representative of a big concern that is on the lookout for noted lecturers last week approached Mr. Jones and told him he would contract with him every day for one year, but on account of other plans he had to decline.

Mr. Jones does not write much about his approaching trip to Africa, which he outlined in the Telegram about a year ago, but sends the Telegram a clipping from a Boston newspaper, profusely illustrated, in which is said:

"There is no four-footed animal under the sun that cannot be captured by the lasso of a cowboy, backed by the intelligence of an American cattle pony, declares Charles J. Jones, better known as 'Buffalo' Jones, ex-warden of the Yellowstone National park, personal friend of Col. Roosevelt and breeder of catalo, the hybrid animal, half cow and half bison, as well as of the hybrid sheep, the goriasin.

"Mr. Jones is at present stopping in this city, and he will remain in Boston until early in March next, when he will sail for Africa and go into the big game country now being hunted by Roosevelt, to show his powers with the rope.

"One of the country's national characters, and one of the few surviving plainsmen who made it possible forty years ago for emigrants to find safe homes among the redskins of the Far West, Jones has a particularly warm spot in his heart for Boston; for the city is the birthplace of his parents, and this is one of the reasons he came here before embarking upon what he considers one of the greatest undertakings of his eventful life."

PUBLICISTS WILL MEET

Sixteenth Yearly Meeting of the National Municipal League.

Will Be Held in Cincinnati in November---Many Expected.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Invitations are being issued to hundreds of publicists and municipal experts of the country for the sixteenth yearly meeting of the National Municipal league. This will be held in Cincinnati, Nov. 15 to 18, in conjunction with the regular convention of the American Civic association.

Owing to the increasing general interest in problems of municipal administration and civic improvement, as well as in the progress noted in many parts of the country, the sessions of the two organizations will form one of the most important conferences of the year. Every state and important city will be represented in the Cincinnati meeting, the 1,600 active members of the league including many public officers and prominent workers in the cause of good government.

Direct nominations, public health, the commission form of municipal administration, municipal budgets and research, immigration and the relation of the liquor question to municipal affairs are some of the themes of the discussions, and, in a general way, the meetings will be a sort of clearing house for an interchange of present day practical ideas.

It is expected that the proceedings will attract even greater interest throughout the country than did those of the Pittsburg meeting last November. This will be the first time the National Municipal league has held its yearly meeting in Cincinnati, and various local organizations are preparing for the appropriate entertainment of the delegates.

The National Municipal league was formed in 1894, the outcome of the Philadelphia conference for good government. Its membership has grown steadily until today the active members number more than 1,600 men and women, drawn from every municipality between the two oceans. There are also 181 local associations affiliated with the national league, the aggregate membership of these being in excess of 164,000. This affords some idea of the National Municipal league's position as a factor in municipal progress.

Bonaparte Is President.

Ex-Attorney General Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore is president of the league. His address in the opening session of the Cincinnati meeting will be an important feature. Clinton Rogers Woodruff is the league's secretary, and his review of the year, "The American Municipal Situation," covering the whole country, will be a concrete report of the work of the last twelve months. Other officers of the league are: First vice president, Charles Richardson of this city; second vice president, Thomas N. Strong of Portland, Or.; third vice president, Ex-Judge Henry L. McCune of Kansas City; fourth vice president, Walter L. Fisher of Chicago; fifth vice president, Ex-Mayor George W. Guthrie of Pittsburg; treasurer, George Burnham, Jr., of this city.

Horace E. Deming of New York city is chairman of the executive committee, which consists of prominent workers of the country, and includes George Haven Putnam, M. N. Baker of the Engineering News and Norman Hapgood of Colliers, of New York; Morton D. Hull of Chicago; Robert Treat Paine, Jr., and Harvey Stuart Chase of Boston; Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard; Former Mayor James Phinney Baxter of Portland, Me.; Charles S. De Forest of New Haven; Frank J. Symmes of the Merchants' association, San Francisco; Charles D. Willard of Los Angeles; Erastus Brainerd of the Post-Intelligencer, Seattle; John A. Butler of Milwaukee; Former Mayor David P. Jones of Minneapolis; J. L. Hudson of Detroit; Elliott Hunt Pendleton of Cincinnati; Ernest C. Kontz of Atlanta; Dwight F. Davis of St. Louis; William P. Bancroft of Wilmington, Del.; Charles H. Ingersoll of Orange, N. J.; H. D. W. English of Pittsburg; Oliver McClintock of Pittsburg; J. Horace McFarland of Harrisburg; Merwin K. Hart of Utica; Frederic Almy of Buffalo; William G. Low of Brooklyn; Clarence L. Harper and Thomas Raeburn White of this city.

Work Non-Partisan.

Adhering strictly to the purposes of advancing the better government of American municipalities, the National Municipal league's work has been wholly educational and non-partisan in every sense. Its policy has been constructive, the finding of the cause and the suggesting of the remedy. The league advocates co-operative action, a combination of the forces of all who realize that only by this means can there be obtained the enactment of good laws and the selection of men of trained ability and proved integrity for municipal positions.

One of the strongest points in evidence of the league's constructive work has been its "Municipal Program," which contains many suggestions incorporated in whole or in part in the charters of various municipalities. So generally is the league recognized as an agency in municipal affairs that its co-operation has been sought by 138 cities within the last two years, these including most of the large cities of the United States.

It was the National Municipal league which first gave wide publicity to the Galveston form of commission government, now being generally discussed. The league has been an earnest advocate of simplicity of system with a concentration of authority and responsibility, toward which there is such a strong tendency. Likewise, it has championed the demand for "municipal home rule."

What has been done in these movements, as well as general progress of communities, will be told in the Cincinnati meeting.

EVERY MAN READ THIS!

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the East, owing to its peculiar propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent, nervous and who have trembling of the limbs, dizziness, heart palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act rationally as others do. Also of vast benefit to writers, professional men, office workers and the victims of society's late hours and over-indulgence in wines, liquors, etc.

By preparing the treatment at home secretly, no one need know of another's trouble, while the ingredients are much used in filling various prescriptions, so that even the purchase of them separately need occasion no timidity.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound, and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at night.

This contains no opiates whatever and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits.

ENGLISH WOMEN WILL PLAY POLO

Ultra Smart Set Is Going in for the Hard Game.

London, Oct. 1.—For ultra smart and wealthy women in this country polo is to be the game of the immediate future.

"It will be our very own," said the young Duchess of Westminster, recently. By this she meant only the very wealthy women in the best set could possibly aspire to play it. Oddly enough, in England at any rate, it is the rich women of the royal set who have all the ideas where sport or fads are concerned. It was the Countess of Warwick who set the craze for cycling. She had twenty bikes each of which was painted to match the costume she wore when riding. Mrs. Wilie and Mrs. Arthur James created the passion for hockey and it was the Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia who set all the smart world of women mad over golf.

When in time these sports became bourgeois the originators said they must think of something else "pour passer le temps." Just now they are crowing with the Duchess of Westminster over the fact that at last a sport has been found which will have to be sacred to themselves. At the very least a woman wants three ponies for polo and no common or garden woman with a few thousand a year can stand this expense.

The season, as far as London is concerned, being over now, the promoters of the feminine game mean to practice at their respective country houses and they anticipate that when the season starts at Ranelagh and Hurlingham next year they will be able to play against the men. A committee is now being formed which includes the names of Lady Constance Stewart Richardson, Mrs. David Beatty, Baroness Erkhardstein and other well known and wealthy women, and they are on the lookout for a suitable clubhouse. Meanwhile, the men have come forward in what the prospective guests regard as a strangely magnanimous mood and offered the hospitality of the clubhouse at Hurlingham until such time as the ladies have acquired suitable premises of their own.

"We are determined to have a real dandy uniform," said an American member of the prospective club. "It will be the jauntiest thing you ever saw in your life. The tunic and divided skirt will be of navy serge. On the perfectly cut semiloose tunic will be epaulettes of gold braid. The cap will be a simple thing with a line of gold. It will be fixed on with an old fashioned elastic, pins being far too dangerous, and strap under the chin, which was suggested by several of our members, far too unbecoming."

It goes without saying that these polo players will ride astride.

"It would be absolutely impossible to play polo in any other position," remarked Lady Castlereagh, the future Marchioness of Londonderry, who was one of the very first to make astride riding acceptable here. She is a beautiful woman with a perfect figure and she made such a ripping picture in the hunting field that scores of women who hunt have imitated her.

AUTHORS OF TARIFF BILLS

Washington, Oct. 1.—Representative Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee, is searching for a life-like portrait of the late William E. Wilson of West Virginia, who was chairman of that committee during the fifty-third congress, and author of the Wilson tariff bill. With the exception of Wilson's picture the walls of the ways and means committee room in the capitol are adorned with handsome portraits of statesmen who in the past twenty-five years have been chairmen of this most important committee of the house.

They include William R. Morrison of Illinois, author of the Morrison horizontal tariff bill, which failed to pass the Democratic house; Samuel J. Randall of Pennsylvania, who led a successful "bolt;" Roger Q. Mills of Texas, author of the Mills bill, which passed the house, but failed in the senate; William McKinley of Ohio, author of the McKinley bill, which was written into the statute books in the Fifty-first or billion-dollar congress; William R. Springer of Illinois, author of popgun tariff bills, and Nelson Dingley of Maine, author of the Dingley tariff act, which was the tariff law for twelve years, being supplanted by the Payne tariff bill. Chairman Payne did have a picture of Mr. Wilson, but it was not regarded as doing justice to the distinguished West Virginian, and was returned to the donors. Mr. Payne expects to have a picture of Mr. Wilson to complete the gallery by next December.

A Democratic member of the committee jocularly remarked that when the next congress meets Chairman Payne's portrait would no doubt adorn the wall, which was a diplomatic way of asserting that the next house of representatives would be controlled by the Democrats.

FRIENDS LAUNCH CULLUM BOOM

Supporters of Former Mayor Will Urge Him to Run.

At a meeting of friends of Marcus B. Cullum, held in the law office of M. H. McMahon last evening, a boom was launched for the nomination of the ex-mayor, as the standard bearer of the Democratic party in the coming city campaign.

Two other names were considered at the meeting last evening. There was some seentiment expressed for Edward R. Ribenack, but those present were positively assured of the fact that Mr. Ribenack would refuse to be a candidate for the office under any consideration. When this information was conveyed, all thought of booming Mr. Ribenack for the office was abandoned.

W. B. Getchel was also suggested as a candidate. However, the Cullum sentiment predominated, and a committee was appointed to inform Dr. Cullum of the sentiment of his friends.

The committee appointed will wait upon the former mayor tomorrow afternoon. At that time a definite answer will be asked for. Dr. Cullum will be informed of the sentiment of the meeting and will be assured by the members of the committee of their unswerving fealty. He will be assured that harmony predominates and that his friends will get out and work for the good of the cause.

Now there are 36,200, and all at work.

Likewise there is a steady growth in the value of the output. In 1905, for instance, the linen goods manufactured amounted to $38,000,000; yarns, $5,940,000; in 1906, linen goods, $45,660,000; yarns, $6,620,000; in 1908, linen goods, $49,520,000; yarns, $7,410,000.

The shipbuilding industry in Belfast has likewise continued to grow and even during the last few years when the demand for ships has fallen off and when other nations have been finding out they can build their own ships, there has been scarcely a silent shipyard in this great shipbuilding port, and the thousands of workmen have been kept steadily employed. There are other industries in this active and thriving center which have similarly prospered, notably the hemp rope making industry. But I have given enough figures for one day.

Belfast, For Example.

Belfast looks the prosperous city she is. Of course, in newness and spick-and-spanness it must not be compared with our newer American cities. But, compared with Old World cities, it is one of the most modern looking, while all the buildings are more substantial as well as more artistic than those seen in America. Its public buildings, office buildings and big factories date back only to the last decade or so, instead of to several centuries, as some of the public buildings in these European towns do.

Generally speaking, wages seem to be a little lower in Ireland than in England. Owing to the former system of rack-rents, the peasant class was increased, and the labor supply being greater in proportion to the demand, a lower scale of wages was established. The labor unions have made little headway in Ireland, and the union men say this is the cause of low wages.

But whatever the cause, wages are comparatively low, though living is a little cheaper than it is even in England, mainly because rent here, under the operation of the present land laws, is cheaper. Girl spinners get from $3 to $3.75 a week; weavers (also girls) get from $4.50 to $5 a week. Men supervising these girls get $7.50 to $8.75 a week. Ordinary unskilled laborers like most of those employed in the shipyards, get about $1 to $1.25 a day.

There is a nice division of labor in Belfast; the men work in the shipyards, where no women are employed, while their wives and daughters often work in the linen mills, where few men are employed. In some of the Irish towns where the mills employ only women, man is a sort of fifth wheel. Some of the women manage to make use of him, however, by having him keep house and mind the children. Then he is called a "pot boiler."

Farms Have Prospered.

As the manufactures of Belfast have prospered, so have the farms of all Northeast Ireland, especially those farms which produce flax for the linen mills. I have just cycled through some of this country, and the farms look well kept and prosperous, the homes attractive and happy. They ought to be especially since rent has been reduced. The average yield of an acre of flax is 31.03 stone (fourteen pounds; they don't know much about pounds in Ireland, except pounds sterling.) The average price seems to be about 7 shillings a stone. That means, in round numbers, $54 for an acre of flax. Rent is about $4 an acre, and the labor, seed and fertilizer cost something like $10, leaving a net profit of $40 an acre. Flax is, however, very exacting of the land, so that it is customary to alternate the crop with potatoes or turnips.

hotel in a taxicab for the pier at the foot of West Forty-second street, where they were to board the Roosevelt.

Members of the Peary Arctic club and close friends of the explorer will discuss with him during his stay in the city the various phases of the North Pole controversy, but Commander Peary said he would not talk about the subject for publication until his formal statement is prepared.

"I appreciate the honor of being in today's naval parade," said the commander just before alighting from the train, "and it is an especial pleasure to be with my crew on board the Roosevelt on such an occasion. There is nothing to be said now about the Cook controversy."

Stay Is Indefinite.

Commander Peary did not know how long he would remain in New York before returning to his home at Eagle Island.

When Commander Peary, Mrs. Peary and Herbert L. Bridgman boarded the Roosevelt for the trip up the Hudson it had not been decided how far up the river Peary would go.

After reaching the pier Mr. Peary walked up and down for several minutes without being recognized by some 200 persons gathered there for a glimpse of the Roosevelt. The little steamer was anchored out in the stream, with the North Pole flag at her mizzen mast, and the flags which, in the international signal code, read "Thank you," flying beneath it.

"How does it feel to be back?" asked some one.

"It does not feel so worse—in the words of Chimmie Fadden," replied Peary.

Praises His Ship.

Then his eyes turned back fondly to the Roosevelt.

"She does not look like a very imposing ship, does she?" he said. "But up in the ice she looks like something, and there were times when she looked mighty good to me. You notice the way she's built. The round of her bow prevents the ice from keeping hold of her when she is squeezed, and she bobs up when the ice crushes together."

The North Pole flag which the steamer bears is the usual American insignia, with a white stripe, bearing the words "North Pole" in black letters running diagonally from the upper corner of the horizontal stripes to a center under the stars. Commander Peary explains its origin as follows:

"I wanted a piece of the silk flag I flew at the pole to bury at that point with my records, so I cut a diagonal strip out of it. Then, to preserve the flag, I sewed a strip of white silk into the cut when I returned to the Roosevelt. The design seemed so appropriate that we lettered this strip and adopted it as the North Pole ensign."

Unrecognized By Crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Peary had stepped on board the tug and were on their way to the Roosevelt before the crowd at the dock realized who they were. Then there was a burst of cheering. Handkerchiefs and hats were waved and the whistles renewed their blasts.

Capt. Bartlett and the crew of nineteen men still were on the Roosevelt in the garments they had chosen for their rough trip to the Arctic; flannel shirts, fur boots and picturesque sea togs.

The Roosevelt lay at anchor answering the salutes of the passing vessels until most of the ships intended to take part in the parade had passed. She then dropped into the line, and brought up the rear of the procession. It was plain that Peary wanted to avoid a demonstration, and one man close to him said this was Peary's principal object in going directly aboard the Roosevelt.

Outside Tributes.

Contributions to the Johnson memorial fund are coming from other states. In sending $1 to The Herald, Rev. Theodore Livingstone of the Swedish Theological seminary at Evanston, Ill., writes: "I indeed gladly send this money, knowing that the man who is to be honored was worthy the same. Do you want my opinion of the governor? Here you have it. Although I never saw or heard him, I always admired him, not on account of his nationality, or because he was governor of the North Star state, or because he was a Democrat, but because of his character, his life, his manly decision, but most because he was a man who gave his best to the people, not because he had to, but because he realized that when he gave his best he became his best. Such was John A. Johnson, and such shall he always remain in my thoughts."

Writing from Thompson, Mich., John P. Peterson says: "Find indorsed check for $1 towards monument to our beloved late governor, John A. Johnson. Being temporarily out of my state, I am greatly pleased to have an opportunity to at least make this small contribution towards a monument of this good man. I mourn with my fellow citizens the great loss to our state and nation."

MINING MEN TURN DOWN DR. COOK

Convention at Goldfield Refuses to Acknowledge His North Pole Claim.

Goldfield, Nev., Oct. 1.—The American mining congress last night received the report of the commission of Alaskan mining laws and adopted resolutions indorsing the Roosevelt conservation of natural resources policy and urging the improvement of waterways.

The congress refused to recognize Dr. Cook as the discoverer of the North Pole, the committee on resolutions declining to act upon a resolution introduced to this effect.

David Ross, harbor commissioner of Illinois spoke on "Industrial Accidents and Employers' Liability Laws."

When the Alaska coal lands and the law applying to them were discussed at length, there was not the slightest reference, direct or indirect, to the Cunningham controversy.

Carrying a resolution adopted by the American mining congress calling upon President Taft to urge the federal recognition of the mining industry in the United States, the San Francisco delegation to the congress started home yesterday to deliver the resolution to the president upon his arrival in San Francisco. It is hoped that President Taft will make a declaration of his position in regard to a growing demand for the establishment of a department of bureau mines at Washington.

Wants Federal Recognition.

As yet congress has taken no action upon the matter, other than contained in the resolution that is being sent to President Taft for "federal recognition of the mining industry."

There is a difference of opinion among the delegates as to whether there should be established a department of mines, similar to the department of agriculture, or only a bureau of mines. That it is hopeless for the present to expect the establishment of a department of mines was the contention of a number of delegates, who urged that the resolution in which the convention will go on record be drawn up to call only for a bureau of mines, as more likely to meet the approval of President Taft and congress.

The convention will come to a close tomorrow. About the only business reserved for tomorrow's session is the report of the resolutions committee. A session of the committee will be held tonight, so that all resolutions may receive consideration.

PERSIAN SAYS ENGLAND MUST FIGHT GERMANY.

New York, Oct. 1.—"War between Germany and England is inevitable, and the sooner it comes the better for England, because if postponed long, Germany will develop such strength that it will be impossible to defeat her," said H. H. Topakayan, Persian consul general here, in an address to the Albany Burgess saciety, the members of which were his guests at a dinner last night.

The new Turkish ambasador, M. Zeia, who was the other speaker, spoke in milder terms, counselling peace for all the nations.

New York, Oct. 1.—Forty-four minutes more were clipped from the trans-Atlantic record by the Cunard liner Mauretania, which arrived yesterday afternoon from Liverpool and Queenstown. The Mauretania, which wrested the time from her sister ship, the Lusitania, on her last previous trip, completed her run of 2,784 knots in 4 days 10 hours and 51 minutes, an average speed of 26.06 knots an hour. Her best previous record was 4 days 11 hours 35 minutes, and the average speed recorded had heretofore stood at 25.87 knots an hour. The Lusitania's best performance is 4 days 11 hours 42 minutes.

Nine counties remain in which no action has been taken.

WILL BE HURRIED HOME.

George Ruhberg of Devils Lake Said to Be Failing Fast.

Devils Lake, N. D., Oct. 1.—A telegram was received from Rochester, Minn., announcing the critical illness of George Ruhberg, a well-known citizen of Devils Lake. Several weeks ago Mr. Ruhberg was taken ill and sent to St. Paul, where he remained some time at St. Luke's hospital. Recovery was not satisfactory and he came home. He continued to fail in health, and a week ago he was taken to Rochester to undergo an operation by the famous Mayo brothers. It seems, however, that the Mayos were unable to do anything for him, and it was decided that an operation would be useless. The telegram stated that Mr. Ruhberg was losing his strength rapidly and will be hurried home.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BIG THINGS LOOKED FOR

Gopher Team Out This Year for Western Championship.

Minnesota Has Hardest Schedule of Any Western College.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Followers of the university team are anxiously waiting for the game Saturday with the strong team from the University of Iowa. If the 'varsity should hold Iowa down and run up a big score it will mean that Minnesota will get the football fever worse than ever. Last year Dr. Williams did not have much to work on. Not much was expected. This year the Gopher squad has as many experienced men as any in the West. The lovers of the game all know this. They know that the Gophers ought to be among the best. No substantial reason appears why this should not be so. The people of the state support the team in a remarkable manner and all that money can do, should be done. Northrup Field is second to none in the country and the boys that try to make the team are not excelled in brawn in any college. Other things being equal certainly Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth are due to get the biggest football fever this year that they ever have had since the memorable game with Michigan in 1903.

The schedule ahead of Minnesota is the hardest and best of any Western university. Oct. 16, comes the game with Nebraska at Omaha. Oct. 30, comes the game with Chicago at Minneapolis. Nov. 13, comes the game with Wisconsin at Madison. Nov. 30, comes the game with Michigan at Minneapolis. No other big school has such a heavy schedule. The Nebraska boys are stronger than ever this year. Coach Cole has a team of Cornhuskers fully 50 per cent stronger than last year and the team last year kept Minnesota guessing most of the time. The close score of last year and the great enthusiasm at Lincoln, make the Nebraska team more than anxious for a victory this year. They confidently expect it. The Minnesota game is the one big contest and to win it, they sacrifice everything else. No other game equals it with them in importance.

Down on the Midway Stagg and his players are pulling hard for the 1909 championship, and the rooters there have an idea they can do the trick without any trouble. The team must be a good one, for Stagg is a calamity howler of a pronounced type, and no one has heard from him up to date. If he has lost Steffens he has gained Page and there are those who say that Page can run circles all around Steffens. Then again Chicago hasn't nearly the schedule that the Gophers have. The only game that the Maroons have in the West, except with Minnesota, that should trouble them, is with Wisconsin. The other games are with Purdue, Indiana and Illinois. These should be easy.

Badgers Are Strong.

Probably the hardest proposition for the Gophers will be the Badgers. The Wisconsin boys this year look better than they did last year and they are being trained to the minute. Every man is a veteran and every player will fight to beat the Gophers. Athletics at Madison are on a better basis than for many years, and with a united university standing for a winning team, they will be dangerous opponents. No other team in the West has a kicker that can equal Moll, and the Gohpers well may fear him. Coach McCarthy is wearing a smile these days and predicting great things for his squad. Added weight and speed will be seen in the whole team. Last year the average weight of the team was kept down by little 130-pound Cunningham. He will be succeeded by Archie Richards, a 200-pound half back with a great record as a high school player. The whole team is on the jump for 1909 championship honors. They are out to win, and from present indications it will be a struggle to keep them from doing it.

From the spectators' standpoint the great game will be the one with Michigan. The interest in this game is already at fever heat. The last game resulted in a tie, and was followed by so much bitterness that all relations between the two institutions were dropped, and finally Michigan was dropped from the Western conference. Every lover of good sport hopes the coming game will be the open door through which the Wolverines will again come into the conference. The management at Ann Arbor submitted the question to the undergraduates some time ago, and they are almost unanimous for the return. It seems that the students at Ann Arbor would rather see games with the leading universities in the West than with Eastern institutions.

Coach Yost wants to quit, if reports are to be credited, but wants a victory over Minnesota before he goes. This he hasn't been able to get as yet, and he has made the game with the Gophers this year the one big contest of the Wolverines.

Season tickets are beinng sold by the management and are being disposed of by the thousands. The grandstand has been strengthened during the summer in expectations of even greater crowds than attended last year. The north side bleachers will be put up for the Chicago game and left for the remainder of the season. From the present list of eligible men the team will be fast and light. Of course Dr. Williams may coax some heavy men out, but unless he does the team will be far below the weight of any team in the Western conference.

Help in Coaching.

Dr. Williams is having all kinds of help in the coaching. The latest recruit to the staff being Tom Shevlin, Jr., who is helping every afternoon. With Heffelfinger in charge of the scrubs there are good stiff practice games every afternoon. Hillman, one of the last year's substitutes and a coming man, passed his examinations yesterday and is now a member of the squad for a certainty. He is an old Hamline player and should be an all-around tower of strength this year.

The Iowa team will leave Iowa City on Friday morning. They are to be accompanied by about 300 rooters and the University bandn.

Alumni of Minnesota all over the state are watching the game with interest. If Minnesota does not win by a large score there will be a distinct loss of prestige to the Gopher team. If she does win and trounces the Hawkeye team to a standstill there will be great rejoicing and the Minnesota boys can have anything they want in the line of coaching or supplies. Loyal graduates will see to that.

DETROIT WINS THE PENNANT

Hughey Jennings' Men Cinch Third Straight American League Flag.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 1.—The fight for the American league pennant is over. Detroit has won again, making it three straight championships and a record for the league. The champions lost their game here yesterday, 9 to 7, but as Philadelphia lost twice to Chicago, the Detroits are sure of the flag.

Yesterday's game was hard fought, both teams using two pitchers. Mullin was batted hard in the first inning and in part of the second. Willet also was hammered hard. Detroit drove Wood from the box, but Hall held the visitors scoreless. Three runs tallied in each of the first two innings by the home team made it look as though Boston was going to win easily. Detroit was not long in getting started, however, and by fast work on the bases and timely hitting, was soon leading by one run. Boston won the game in the eighth inning with two out. With men on second and third, French singled, scoring two runs. Another hit sent in an additional run, giving Boston a total of nine.

The champions this season had to make the hardest kind of a fight to win the flag and up to last week the result of the race was in doubt. Detroit started off well and remained at the top for weeks, mainly through the remarkable work of its pitchers. A setback came toward the middle of the season, however, and at one time the champions dropped as low as third place. They did not stay there long, bracing up considerably and passing Philadelphia and Boston, who were in first and second place respectively. A long series at home again gave the pennant-winners a good lead before they made their second Eastern trip, but on that trip they slumped again and when they went West for their last home series, were about on even terms with Philadelphia and Boston.

Two deals for players, by which Detroit strengthened its infield again put up a winning combination and gave the champions a comfortable lead before they started for their last invasion of the East.

Manager Jennings feels confident of winning the world's championship, and says the experience his players gained in their two series with the Chicago Nationals for that honor will help them greatly.

A feature of the American league race this season was the wonderful fight made by the Philadelphia blue. With an infield composed almost entirely of new players and some new pitchers, the club was always in the race, and but for a poor start might have finished first. Boston also was battling for the pennant up to four weeks ago, but the inexperience of a number of the younger players put the team out of the race.

GLEAMS IN THE SPORTING FOG
BY BRUCE

After the dust of two Western gridiron struggles has settled tomorrow afternoon we will be in a better position to judge somewhat of the strength of at least two of the big Western teams.

Minnesota will battle with the Hawkeyes from Iowa City, while Stagg's Maroons will encounter their old opponents, the University of Purdue Boilermakers from Lafayette, Ind. Both of the larger colleges should come out victorious, but from the score we should be able to gather a line on the strength of the two Western championship possibilities.

Time was when any team awaited the impending struggle with either Iowa or Purdue with exceeding doubt and fear for the outcome. That was in the days when Dr. Knipe held forth at the Iowa institution, and the Purdue Boilermakers were known as the toughest team in the West.

There was a period of over two years during which the Hawkeyes' goal was not crossed. Ed Rogers, the famous Indian end on the University of Minnesota was the man who broke this record by going across the Iowa line at Northrop field for the first touchdown of the Minnesota-Iowa game of 1901.

Dr. Knipe was the famous University of Pennsylvania halfback. With Brooke and Osgood he composed probably the most famous backfield that has ever played back of a college line. In those days Penn swept everything before it. The runs of Knipe and Osgood were famous, and the kicking of the famous Brooke and his reckless, powerful line hitting used to tear the opposing defense to shreds.

At Purdue, some time before the greatest period of efficiency at Iowa, they had great teams. The Purdue team defeated Minnesota in 1897, though that was when Minnesota was going backward in the great college game. Hinckey Harrison led his braves against the Boilermakers at Lafayette, and after a very hard and desperate struggle the Gophers were defeated by the Hoosiers. But since that time Purdue has steadily been going back. Now the big colleges of the West consider the Lafayette game nothing more than a tryout.

But returning to the dope that may be gleaned from the games of tomorrow. The cry goes that Minnesota feels rather nervous over the outcome of tomorrow's struggle with Iowa. Minnesota should have but little trouble in trouncing the Hawkeyes. Unless Iowa brings a better team to Minneapolis than that institution has sent for the past five years, the Old Gold and Maroon should triumph.

The result of the Iowa game will show just how strong the Gophers are at this point of play. With the veterans that Williams has at his disposal, and with the men who were ineligible last year to be counted upon the outlook is very bright. If the Gophers trim the Hawkeyes by a decisive score, we will be positive of the fact that Williams has a very strong team.

On the other hand, if the boys from the Bread and Butter state merely nose out a victory we will know that the development of the Gophers has been slow, which is generally the case with the teams that Williams has under his pinion.

But a victory, however scant the margin, will convince those who have watched the policy at Minnesota for the past few years that the Gophers should rank well up with the other western teams the present year.

Every one in the least acquainted with the relative strength in the past of the teams of Chicago and Purdue are positive that the Maroons will experience little difficulty in drubbing the Boilermakers, and accomplish the trick, too, with a good margin to spare.

Here at home, shut off as we are from college football, unless we journey to Minneapolis, our interest centers on the local high school team. Tomorrow the team encounters the eleven from Brainerd, which last year was accounted one of the best high school teams in the northwestern section of the state.

If reports are true, many of the members of last year's formidable aggregation are members of this year's team. If that be so, the team should be stronger than the one of last season and should at least give the locals a great battle, if it does not take victory home with it.

To tell the truth, the local team is not in the best of shape. The men are not playing the kind of football that wins games. If the opponent be one that knows how to take advantage of mistakes. Unless the Centrals take a great brace they stand in grave danger of losing the game with Brainerd.

In the East no line has been secured on the relative strength of the big four—Yale, Harvard, Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania. As yet, none of the teams have played a game that furnishes any line on its real strength.

Many believe that a new and more effective policy is just making itself felt at John Harvard institution. These critics profess to believe that the days when Yale can lay it all over Harvard, have passed; that from this on Yale will have to be exceedingly wary and proficient in all branches of sports lest Harvard down the boys in blue.

Harvard surely had a wonderful team last season. It was one of the most formidable teams produced in the East since the days of Gordon Brown's great team at Yale, and Campbell's great scoring machine at Harvard.

Whether Harvard will again place a great team in the field, or whether precedent will hold and the Yale bulldog will return to the fray with teeth sharpened by defeat, is a question that students of football are asking.

In the past Harvard has never beaten Yale two successive years. In fact, Harvard's victories over Yale have been but few and separated by a long span of years. Those who bank on precedent and the great Yale spirit, believe that Yale will come into its own again this season and that the Yale bulldog will sink his teeth deep into the quivering shank of John Harvard.

Prospects at the university are bright, if the reports that emanate from Philly are true. The prospects of Princeton are not the brightest in the world, it would seem, but the New Jersey institution can always be depended upon to place a team in the field that will bring glory to old Nassau, and also fight to the last ditch.

Tomorrow will bring a clearer line on the strength of many of the great teams of the country, though it will not be decisive, by any means, and for that reason the day will be an interesting one in football circles.

JEFFRIES IS VERY MODEST

Taking Chances With Johnson Worth About $150,000, Thinks Jim.

Paris, Oct. 1.—James J. Jeffries, the American heavyweight, who has been training here for his proposed fight with Jack Johnson, said yesterday that he had almost completely recovered from the cold which he contracted several days ago while attending the races. He will leave here for London on Tuesday next, and will take a steamer for the United States Oct. 18.

Jeffries says he has been working hard both at Carlsbad and here, and that he is most anxious for a fight with Johnson. He added, however, that nothing has been definitely settled.

Jeffries expresses himself as disappointed at the meager offer of $55,000 for a fight, saying:

"I don't want to fight for a purse of less than $150,000. I believe that I will make a match as soon as I reach New York. I should prefer to fight in America, rather than in Australia."

Continuing, the big heavyweight said that he considered himself in splendid physical condition. "I am quicker than I ever was," he added, "and am confident I can lick Johnson."

To friends with whom he discussed the fight, Jeffries repeatedly said that the only thing he feared was a man with a powerful left.

ELMORE CAR IS THE WINNER

Boy Defeats the Professional Drivers in an Automobile Reliability Run.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The grand sweepstake prize for the greatest record of any car entered in the Frank A. Munsey reliability contest, Washington to Boston and return, was awarded to the Elmore car of Philadelphia, entered by Frank Hardardt of the city, and driven by his son, Frank Hardardt, Jr.

There was not a point registered against the car, and the driving of young Hardardt, pitted as he was against some of the best professionals in the country, has been one of the most remarkable things ever seen in any reliability contest.

ALL OVER BUT THE SHOUTING

Interest Now Centers on Series Between Tigers and Pirates.

It is all over but the shouting in the American league. Detroit has won the rag for the third consecutive time, breaking all records for the American league. In winning the flag, the Tigers have done what many shrewd observers believed they would accomplish.

The strain on Mack's youngsters proved too great. The breaking point came after the crucial series with the Tigers in Philadelphia. The young players on the Athletic team played grand baseball in the series that meant so much to Philadelphia. But the nervous tension proved too great. The Athletics "blowed," and the victories of Chicago were the death knell of the sleepy town hopes.

Mack's team has made a great and game race. But his team was opposed by a team of tried and proved veterans. Cobb and Bush are practically the youngsters of the Detroit team. Both are rich in experience and have great natural ability. Cobb has been through grueling races before, and Bush was a member of the Tiger team last year. Either, in the accepted sense of the word, can be called a green player.

Krause, Eddie Collins, Barry and others of the Philadelphia team are new men to big league baseball. A youngster is liable to blow in the heat of a great struggle like the one that has just been decided. The Athletics let down and the Tigers grew stronger. There you have the story of the third pennant for the Tigers.

All eyes are riveted on the approaching world's championship series. The games start Friday at Pittsburg. Greater interest is being shown in the approaching struggle than the series between the Cubs and Tigers, for the simple reason that every follower of baseball believed that the Cubs had it on the Tigers through the great pitching staff of the world's champions. But every follower of baseball is anxious to see just what Detroit can do against the Pirates. Some have a hunch that Pittsburg is just the kind of a team that the Jennings' bunch can trim.

At least it has been a good thing for the sport that the Cubs did not cop this year, although there were any number of loyal fans in Duluth who would have liked to have seen the Peerless Leader's team make it four straight.

If Cobb falls down in the approaching world's series like he did in the series against the Cubs, there seems little hope for the Tigers. Cobb disappointed his friends in the Chicago series and it is up to him to make good this year. If Cobb and Crawford slam the ball as they have been doing of late the battle should be a hard contested one at least.

It wouldn't have required much more persuasion in your ad. to have brought a hundred more buyers to your store today.

OUTLOOK IS NOT BRIGHT

Central's Followers Worrying Over Outcome of Brainerd Game.

Tackling and Line Work of Local Team Not Promising.

Last evening's practice of the Central high school football squad was discouraging, to say the least, to those who have pinned their hopes on the local team trimming Brainerd in the contest of tomorrow.

In the first place, Coach Colton found that there were not sufficient men on hand to indulge in a scrimmage practice. He had counted on putting his men through a hard, grinding scrimmage, as there are a number of faults of both backfield and linemen he wants to correct.

But the scrimmage had to be abandoned, only the linemen lining up for charging and blocking practice. The practice was not of the kind calculated to encourage the supporters of the team.

In charging and line-blocking, the Central linemen show that they have a lot to learn about football. In the first place, there is no one on the line who uses his hands one-quarter as much as he should. The rules give the man on the defense a wide latitude in the legitimate use of both hands. He can pull, or push, or maul an opposing player generally, if he is at all clever with his fins.

The Central boys are merely tearing through high, tackling softly and with that I love you spirit, that never brings the man with the ball down with a bump. The tackling last night was of the half-hearted clasping style, and the man with the leather frequently escaped the ineffectual embrace of the would-be tackler.

When a man does not leave his feet when the opportunity presents itself for a diving tackle, he is not showing the right spirit. It may be that the candidates have not been given the proper amount of coaching on the tackling dummy, which is hanging neglected over at the side of the field. That dummy actually looks lonesome and cast aside, and this may have something to do with the very raw tackling of the Central boys.

Yesterday afternoon time and time again men coming through the line after the man with the ball missed their man, simply because they did not hit the chap with the leather a resounding bump, and did not hurl themselves at the runner. Half-hearted tackling, where a boy grasps out listlessly with his arms, at the same time being careful to get his head and shoulders out of the way of harm, is not the kind of tackling that will throw a man for a loss.

There must be a brace, and a decided one, if the Centrals hope to defeat Brainerd in tomorrow's game. There are only two or three boys who are playing the game they are capable of. The youngsters need to get wise to themselves and go into it low and hard. Colton has a plucky, sandy bunch of youngsters, light, to be sure, but unless they heed torrid rhetoric more closely and perform some of the stunts that they are nightly told to perform, there may be a sad tale to tell after the game of tomorrow.

The candidates have fallen into a rut, which is bad at this early stage of the season. They are not paying the proper attention to the information given them, and are not heeding the instructions as to low and hard tackling.

The lesson taught by the St. Paul Central game of last year was such a sad one that it should not be easily or quickly forgotten. When men like "Big Bill" Crawford and other linemen of almost equal size, could not stop the gains of the plowing St. Paul backs, because they were higher, figuratively speaking, than the Sellwood building, the small members of the present team can never hope to check a charge by playing high.

There will have to be a brace and it will of necessity have to come this afternoon. It is up to every candidate for the team.

In last night's practice O'Brien was injured and may be out of the game tmorrow. He was one of the large men of the squad and if the injury keeps him out of the game his loss will be keenly felt.

Asher Taylor may get into the game tomorrow, but it is learned from good authority that his leg is in very bad shape. Several other members of the squad are not in any too good shape. Arthur Helmer has only been out two days and he is not in any too good condition. He is being played at tackle.

The lineup for tomorrow's fray is undecided as yet. The lineup as published in The Herald of last evening will be the personnel of the team, as far as Coach Colton and Capt. Stevens can determine at this time. There may be, however, several changes. Neither Colton or Capt. Stevens are sure of the exact makeup of the team.

GAME POSTPONED.

Cloquet High School Cannot Play Superior Normal on Saturday.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — The football game scheduled for Saturday between the Superior normal and the local high school teams has been postponed on account of the withdrawal of the local school. Coach Todd gives as a reason for the postponement that they are not yet in condition to meet the strong Superior team.

Poor Card at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 1.—There was little to be enthusiastic over in the offering of Churchill Downs yesterday afternoon, the card being replete with large fields in which horses of very cheap class were engaged. The closest fight of the day came in the fourth, when Obert, on Youthful, outrode Magee, on E. M. Fry, after the latter horse looked a sure winner 100 yards from the wire. Youthful won by a head.

Kling Still in the Lead.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 1.—"Cowboy Weston," champion pool player, outplayed John Kling here last night by 36 points. This was the second night's play in the championship series, and the score now stands: Kling, 400; Weston, 389. The match is for 800 balls.

HE BELIEVES IN CHILDREN

Chicago Judge Decries "Platonic" Friendships Between Married Couples.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Judge Arthur H. Chetlain of the superior court, set the stamp of his approval on the rearing of families and decried "platonic" friendships between married couples yesterday when he granted to Mrs. Fay Louise Zorn, a divorce from Prof. August R. Zorn, who teaches modern languages in Armour institute.

The jurist upheld Mrs. Zorn's contentions in toto. Bearing and rearing children is not disgraceful, he asserted, but ennobling, and far more important than "higher culture" of the mind. He lost no time, after considering the evidence, in announcing that he would grant the decree.

Mrs. Zorn's only basis for her plea for a divorce was that her linguistic husband didn't desire to become the father of any children. She appeared before the court Monday and told Judge Chetlain that the professor denied her appeals for progeny. He not only denied them, but would give her no assurance that they ever would be fulfilled.

"What has posterity ever done for us?" is the answer Prof. Zorn is said to have given her. "Forget this children business. Let us improve our minds instead. Let us devote our time to the 'new thought.' I want no children. I am too busy with my studies to think about children."

Judge Chetlain said he thought the professor's views were entirely erroneous. He lauded Mrs. Zorn's ambitions and said they were sufficient ground for a divorce. He also announced that the disciple of "new thought" would be compelled to pay his wife $35 a month alimony.

"OASIS" NOT BURNED.

McMinnville, Tenn., Oct. 1.—The "Oasis," the mountain-top saloon here, the only place in the state where liquor can be sold legally, was not burned, as reported early this week.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Yesterday was prize day at the Webster and Madison schools. The several women's clubs of the city this year distributed seeds among the children of the various schools in the spring and shortly after the opening of the fall term, garden exhibits were held and prizes awarded. The Twentieth Century club with Mrs. J. H. Crowley as chairman has conducted this work for many years at the Webster school, but in other parts of the city it was begun for the first time this year.

Yesterday afternoon was a gala day at the Webster school when the two large boxes containing seventy-six gifts for prizes, wrapped in crinkly, festive looking, tissue paper and gay with ribbons were piled upon the table and seventy-six eager little gardeners sat with wide expectant eyes waiting for their names to be called to receive the reward of their labors. Many people in other sections of the city have little idea of the difficulties which the little people on lower Lake and St. Croix avenues, and on Garfield avenue have to contend with in order to bring to the flowering stage a single plant. The planting on St Croix and Lake avenues is done entirely in tomato cans or cigar boxes, and during the summer time there must be pretty constant devotion in order to have a flower to show in September. Seventy-six children at the Webster school were faithful and devoted during the summer and soon after the opening of school there were seventy-six exhibits and yesterday there were distributed seventy-six prizes. The prizes included, knives and handkerchiefs and hair ribbons and work bags, and hair brushes, little shell pins, side combs and one youth of some 6 summers received a nail file. He didn't exactly understand its uses but he went to work with the diligence which probably made him a prize winner, at filing the top of his nails off until a teacher whose teeth were on edge at the process, showed him a better way. He regarded it as an instrument for which only the pampered plutocracy could find a use and he showed it among his fellows with a condescending tolerance and amusement. However the mere strangeness of the gift may induce cleaner and better manicured nails.

A mention of the work at the Webster school would hardly be complete without a word of Miss Murphy's great interest and help and inspiration to the children. And when the committee presented her with a single American beauty rose the children flocked around to watch the unwrapping of her "prize" and there was universal rejoicing while dozens of small noses were thrust forward for a whiff of the fragrant blossom.

There is probably no work among the club which brings greater happiness into so many little lives as the gardening work and it is probable that it will soon grow into as important and stimulating work in other parts of the city as it now is at the Webster school.

YEAR'S WORK AT THE HOME

Annual Reports of Work of Duluth Women's Favorite Charity.

Cared for 844 Children During the Year Just Ended.

The annual meeting of the Children's Home society was held this morning at the home on Fifteenth avenue east and the reports of the officers and committees were presented. Much work has been acomplished this year besides the regular work of caring for the children, as the building was renovated throughout. The members of the board are most anxious that the contributors and supporters of the home and all those interested in the welfare of the little ones intrusted to the care of the society call at the institution and see the improvements wrought the last year and get in more active touch with the work.

President's Report.

The report of the president of the society, Mrs. T. J. Davis, for the year ending Sept. 30, is as follows:

"It is a pleasure to report another year of successful work. During the year we have cared for 844 children in the home, an average of seventy-three per month. There have been only seven deaths, of which two were from scarlet fever. Except during the epidemic of scarlet fever in the city from April to August, we have had comparatively no sickness, which fortunate condition has been due largely to requiring a physician's certificate showing conditions found on a physical examination of each child before receiving it. This is a step in advance; other similar institutions in the state require such an examination. It protects the little ones already in our care from unnecessary exposure to a contagious disease. It relieves the home of all hospital cases, for which we have no suitable accommodations.

"To our efficient matron much credit is due for patience, skill and a devotion to duty in treating sickness among the children, the value of which cannot be measured in mere money. During the school year, the children maintained a higher standard of scholarship than heretofore, and more of them have been promoted to higher grades during the year than in any previous year. Among the nursery children the kindergarten has been a great help, the average attendance on that work being twenty-two. Short talks to the boys each week by a minister, physician or lawyer of the city has been a source of inspiration, and out of it the boys have acquired new ideas, higher aspirations, and many of them, for the first time, been pointed to the gate of hope, opening into the land of fair success. This work for the boys might well be extended, or rather greater certainty of reaching each listener attained, by drawing on the city's abundant resources of this nature among the merchants, manufacturers, masters of transportation and others of the real city builders.

"The work of the finance committee in collecting funds previously subscribed for repair work is entitled to special commendation, having not only kept the sustaining fund intact, but made an addition of $500 to it. The house committee has put the home building in excellent condition, painting dormitories, nurseries, sick ward, halls, dining rooms, play rooms and kitchen, two coats, since the last of the fever cases; replaced the falling plaster with steel ceilings in eight rooms, and given the exterior woodwork two coats of paint. This work constitutes an efficient and invaluable advance guard against disease. It has all been done out of the repair fund, which was contributed for that special purpose by a few generous and thoughtful citizens, to each of whom we owe much now, and will owe much more during our next fiscal year. Respectfully submitted,

MRS. T. J. DAVIS,
"President.

THE EVENING STORY

THE CLIENTS

By Nellie Cravey Gillmore.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

There had been a ceaseless drizzle since early morning, the fine, steady rain sinking with penetrating insistence into every crack and chink. Mrs. Darrington had eschewed cab and car alike, pressing on against the rain with tight lips and unshrinking, pain-dark eyes. Her clothese hung limp and dripping about her ankles and the thin soles of her shoes were soaked through.

She threaded her way carefully through the crowds, reaching the entrance of a great building a little out of breath, but more from excess of emotion than any physical tax. At the elevator she waited a few moments before going in; her task was a difficult one, and she felt the need of all her poise. Finally she pushed the bell and entered.

"Third floor."

Now, for the first time, she became conscious of a miserable sense of chilliness; her damp clothes opppressed her terribly, and she shivered in nervous dread. After all, had she the strength to go through the task she had set herself? The twelve months of isolation and waiting, instead of palliating, had only increased her wretchedness. In all that time she had not heard a word from Darrington; he was still as unrelenting as ever—as he would always be. Then a morbid fancy assailed her; perhaps he was dead!

She was standing in front of Judge Softon's office, her mind in a panic of uncertainty. But suddenly she set her lips and walked in.

"Is Mr. Softon in?" She addressed a clerk who came forward at her entrance.

"Yes, madam; but at present he's engaged. If yo uwill have a seat you can see him in about thirty minutes."

Mrs. Darrington sank into a chair with a sigh of relief. At least she should have time to collect her scattered nerves and induce a little color to her white cheeks.

Almost before she was aware of it she was shaking hands with Archie Softon and he was looking into her face with his kind, genial, penetrating eyes. He had been an old college chum of her husband's, and a lifetime friend of her own. She felt instinctively that she was doing the safest thing in turning to him now.

"Archie," she began, plunging into the subject, "you don't have to ask why I'm here."

"I am not very much surprised, of course, after you letters, but—"

"Well?"

"You are fully resolved upon this course?"

"Fully and finally."

Softon waited a moment before he spoke. Then he said:

"If such is the case, you will have to go over the whole thing with me, Esther, before I can give you a legal opinion."

"All over everything?"

He nodded.

"That is the only thorough, the only right way," he answered.

Mrs. Darrington drew in a deep breath and looked cautiously about her. At last she spoke:

"Of course, if it is necessary, I shall do so. But there are some things that I never wished to tell."

"A lawyer's mind is a pretty safe receptacle."

"It isn't that, Archie. It's the crying bitterness of the whole miserable affair—having to live it over again, even in words. If he had only trusted me!"

Judge Softon looked at her narrowly.

"Did it never occur to you, Esther that Dick Darrington might make use of the same expression?"

Two livid spots of color throbbed in the woman's cheeks.

"His trust was the first to be put to the test—and he failed," she replied, coldly.

"Yours was not worth any more, or you would not have allowed it to be twisted so under a so-called provocation."

"It seems to me that your sympathies are all with him."

"They are most assuredly with you both. And we are all human beings, Esther. Just put yourself in Dick's place. Suppose you should come across such a letter in his possession as he discovered in yours. Would you have been any more—reasonable?"

"I should have believed what he said."

"If he had said anything. From what I glean you refused to speak."

"It was from a sense of honor."

"Honor?"

"Yes to the parties involved. I told him this. He treated my explanation with insulting incredulity."

"He did not question your veracity; I am sure of that. He was bitterly hurt at your unwillingness to take him into your confidence."

"I had given my sacred promise to take no one into it, not even my husband."

"Then you made that mistake in the beginning."

Mrs. Darrington had risen and was standing with her fingers locked hard against the back of her chair. She was trembling from head to foot, and even her lips were pale.

"It appears that you are all against me," she said, quiveringly.

"Not at all. I am merely trying to get at the bottom of things, as I stated before."

"Then you wish me to tell you the truth about that letter?"

"Just that."

"Well, it was written to a girl, Esther Hillsboro, who had been a very dear friend of mine in days gone by. She sent it to me for my—advice. She had been—unfortunate. I could not incriminate her."

"Yet you were willing to let yourself be misconstrued?"

"If my husband had so little faith it is well that I could find it out in time."

"Esther, your husband had all the faith in the world in you—he still has. But your cool dismissal of his claims gave him a mortal hurt. It is your duty to remedy it."

Mrs. Darrington calmed herself by an effort. Her voice was perfectly modulated when she spoke:

"I have come here, as you know, for that very purpose. When can I begin proceedings?"

"Right now, as a matter of fact. However, I want to show you Dick's last letter to me before you take any steps. Will you look at it?"

She hesitated a moment, divided between an aching desire to accept, and a perverse sense of pride that bade her not to. At length she yielded and held out her hand.

Judge Softon had taken the familiar envelope from a drawer of his desk and was turning it over in his fingers.

"My Dear Archie," it ran, "Your answer came this morning. I am replying immediately. Thank you for the intelligence of my wife's welfare. Please keep me advised, and see that she has everything she needs. I am sorry she refuses to touch anything of mine, but of course she has plenty in her own right. I need not tell you again how utterly empty and wretched my life is. I have been thinking a good deal lately about our trouble, and I am afraid that much of it all was my own fault. That I ever for one instant doubted my wife's goodness and purity is out of the question. Her lack of confidence in me is what stung me so. But it seems to me that she could not feel any wound so deeply unless it were very, very vital. I half fear she believes I doubted her own honor. God knows I did not. I do not, and never shall! If she would only relent and let me come to her again! But she never will, after all that's happened. Let me hear from you as often as possible. Dick."

When Mrs. Darrington finished reading her tears were falling fast. The letter fell from her nervless fingers and she covered her face in her hands, not trusting herself to speak.

When she looked up at last, Judge Softon had disappeared. She turned and walked dazedly over to a window, staring with dull eyes at the fast driving rain. She could never have told how long she had been there, when the abrupt clamoring of noonday bells brought her back to reality.

Almost simultaneously the door opened and closed quietly, and some one came into the room. Mrs. Darrington spoke without turning her head:

"I have changed my mind, Archie, I shall not commence proceedings."

He made no answer, but came up to her and laid his arm about her quivering shoulders.

She started, turned and looked into Darrington's pleading eyes. His arm dropped for an instant; they looked long at each other. In silence he held out his hands and she laid hers in them.

WILL FIX TAX LEVY FOR YEAR

School Board Will Dispose of Matter at Regular Meeting.

The board of education will fix the school tax levy for the coming year at the regular meeting to be held at the Central high school this evening.

The fact that the levy will be considerably higher than that of last year has already been stated in The Herald. The cost of new schoolhouses, including one to replace the burned Fairmont in West Duluth, combine with a number of other things to make the need of more money for the board's use urgent.

The school levy to be made by the board this evening will probably be 15.10, which, with the local 1-mill tax, will bring the total education tax up to 16.10.

The levy made by the board a year ago was 10.7 mills, which, with the 1-mill tax, made 11.7 mills.

The matter of taxes is the principal business to come before the board this evening.

You can make some of your store hopes come true this summer—if you advertise as though you wanted to do that.

REV. E. C. CLEMANS HONORED BY CONFERENCE MEMBERS

Retires From Office After Six Years of Service.

Work of Anti-Saloon League and Deaconesses Presented.

REV. E. C. CLEMANS.

Rev. E. C. Clemans, who has been district superintendent for the Duluth district for the past six years, was visibly affected this morning when he was presented with a beuatiful gold watch by the ministers of Duluth in token of their appreciation of his work here.

The presentation took place shortly after the business session of the Northern Minnesota annual Methodist conference opened and the presentation speech was made by Rev. W. E. J. Gratz of Two Harbors. Mr. Gratz said that it would be hard to find a more willing worker than Rev. Clemans had proved himself and he voiced the sentiment of the entire community when he said that it was with keen regret that he was allowed to go. He said that he wished Mr. Clemans to think of his Duluth friends when far away as his friends here will certainly remember him. He said that the watch might run down, but that Rev. Clemans had so wound up the hearts of the people who compose the Duluth district that he will ever be kept in mind associated with the most pleasant of memories.

Rev. Clemans' voice shook as he accepted the gift, and responded briefly, thanking the members of the conference for it, assuring them that they would never be forgotten, and that the time spent here has been the happiest of his life.

The Morning Session.

The early morning session of the conference was given over to devotional meetings, and directly following this the regular daily business meeting was held. The time this morning was taken up mostly with the reading of the reports and the addresses of those prominent in the several branches of Methodist work.

This afternoon the several committees are meeting in different rooms of the First Methodist church building, and the bishop and his cabinet, composed of the district superintendents, are going over the work of the past year, planning the work for the coming year and arranging the several changes in the smaller churches of the state. What these changes will be are not as yet known, and the result of the cabinet meeting will not be known until announced by Bishop McIntyre at the conference meeting Monday morning. It is expected that the changes in the Duluth churches will be very few. The changes in the smaller churches of the state are, however, numerous each year.

The matter of having only four districts in Northern Minnesota, instead of five, has not as yet been decided. It is said, however, that the change is very likely to be made, although it is opposed by many. The decision in regard to the districts will not be known until announced by the bishop at the meeting Monday morning.

The Anti-Saloon League.

C. W. Stark addressed the meeting this morning on the work of the Anti-Saloon league in Minnesota. Mr. Stark is secretary of the league, and gave an interesting talk as to what is being done in this connection in the state.

Mrs. S. H. Knight, founder of the Asbury hospital, and one of the most liberal givers in the state to that institution, will address the conference on the work going on there some time during the present business session.

What was probably the most interesting talk of the morning was given by Mrs. Lucy Rider Meyer of Chicago. Mrs. Meyer is probably one of the most prominent women of the entire country in the matter of the work connected with the deaconess' homes now es- United States. She said that it was up to the men to do the preaching, and that it is not the intention of the deaconesses to interfere with their given right. She said, however, that nursing the ill was just as important as the preaching, and that it is just as effective in the matter of bringing souls to Christ. She told of the struggle of the early days, and also of the great strides in the work of the past few years. Mrs. Meyer told of how the work was helping the entire country. She told a story of how an entire band of anarchists had been broken up by a pretty little nurse girl from the deaconess home in Chicago.

The reports in all lines was very encouraging and showed great progress during the past year.

Lecture By Bishop.

Tonight, in the First Methodist church, Bishop McIntyre will speak on the "Evolution of Abraham Lincoln." There will be a small admission fee charged, and the proceeds will go toward the support of the older ministers of the state who are now unable to work. Bishop McIntyre lived in the vicinity of where Lincoln's boyhood was spent, grew up with the people who knew the martyred president best and will tell many things connected with his life that have up to this time been left untold.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Kreidler, head of the deaconess home in Duluth, will give a reception to the wives of the visiting clergymen. The reception will take place at the home in the Lafayette flats, on East First street.

DECIDES NOT TO HONOR DR. COOK

National Geographic Society Will Withhold Official Recognition.

Washington, Oct. 1.—In view of the polar controversy, the board of directors of the National Geographic society held a special meeting today to determine the attitude the board should assume toward Dr. Frederick A. Cook upon the occasion of his visit here next Sunday, when he will deliver a lecture on his Arctic experiences. The decision was reached that Dr. Cook, under the circumstances, could not be recognized in an official way.

The conclusions of the board were stated in an announcement by Prof. Willis L. Moore, president of the society, who urged that both Commander Peary and Dr. Cook lose no time in submitting their observations, notes and data to a competent scientific commission in the United States.

RAILROADS

GIVES HINTS OF SOO PLANS

Annual Report Indicates Thorough Chicago-to-Coast Train.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 1.—The completion of the Soo yard tracks and freight station at East Seventh and Neill streets, together with the 600-foot tunnel which has been under way since last year, is expected by Jan. 1, according to the annual report of the company. President E. Pennington gives some interesting information regarding the new terminals acquired, new work under way and acquisition of the Wisconsin Central, which shows how great has become the invasion of this subsidiary line of the Canadian Pacific into United States territory.

In connection with the Wisconsin Central road, Mr. Pennington has this to say:

"By virtue of this lease the Soo line secured entrance to the cities of Chicago and Milwaukee, and, in connection with the Canadian Pacific, makes possible through trains from Chicago to Vancouver, Spokane, Seattle and North Pacific coast points." This would seem to indicate that the Soo eventually will be running through trains between Chicago and the Pacific coast.

The Wisconsin Central had under construction a line into Superior and Duluth, and had acquired terminals in both cities. This line will be completed this fall, and will provide the Soo line with the shortest route between Chicago and Duluth.

Construction of a line from Moose Lake, Minn. (a point on the Brooten-Duluth line), to Plummer, Minn., a distance of 200 miles, is under way. This line runs through some of the best timber and farming lands in the northern part of the state, and when completed will provide the shortest route from Winnipeg to Chicago. This may also be eloquent of a proposed plan of the Soo for future consummation.

The gross earnings, while not equal to those of 1907, nevertheless show the substantial increase of $1,160,232.04 over 1908. The gross earnings for the fiscal year ending June 30 last aggregated $12,609,299.17, of which $8,622,167.84 was for freight and $2,947,875.36 for passenger. The freight earnings for 1908 amounted to $7,828,851.60 and the passenger to $2,681,221.84.

The operating expenses were 56.3 per cent of the gross earnings, compared with 63 per cent for the preceding year. An increase of $1,275,820.54 is shown in the net earnings and $532,775.49 in the surplus for the year.

DIRECTORS WILL MEET.

Annual Meeting of the Duluth Union Depot Company.

George T. Slade, general manager of the Northern Pacific Railway company, E. C. Blanchard, general superintendent, and other directors of the Duluth Union Depot company, will reach this city some time tomorrow for the purpose of holding a meeting of the directors of the terminal property.

The meeting will be the annual one of the directors, it is reported here, and outside of routine business, it is not known that any matter of great importance will come before the directors.

While here Mr. Slade and Mr. Blanchard will look over the Northern Pacific terminals in this city. The depot directors will come to the Head of the Lakes in Mr. Slade's private car.

New Passenger Agent.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 1.—C. W. Cooper, general passenger agent of the Canadian Northern railway has resigned and will be succeeded by R. Creelman, the company's commercial agent in St. Paul.

NURSE SAVES FIFTEEN CHILDREN

Takes Them Through Window From Burning Building at Tacoma, Ohio.

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 1.—The Couny Children's home at Tacoma, Belmont county, Ohio, was partly destroyed by fire today and fifteen children narrowly escaped death. Although hemmed in on all sides by flames, all were rescued by Miss Grace Green, a nurse, who succeeded in getting them through a window to safety. The loss is $15,000.

Highest Award at Seattle Exposition to the Kimball Grand and Upright Pianos and Pipe Organs.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 22, 1909. —W. W. Kimball Co., Chicago, Ill. — International Jury of Awards, Seattle Exposition, unanimously gave Kimball Grand and Upright Pianos and Pipe Organs highest awards. Congratulations.
EILER MUSIC HOUSE.

The above telegram was received Wednesday evening, and adds another triumph to the long list already acquired by the W. W. Kimball company.

This great institution has achieved so prominent a position and has so many honors accorded it that it did not need this latest success to give it prestige, but the award is greatly prized because it goes to confirm the many similar expressions that have been handed in by official judges and world-celebrated artists.

The celebrated Kimball piano is sold direct from the factory to the consumer, which means a saving of from $100 to $150 on the purchase price of a strictly high grade piano.

We have also a few slightly shop-worn Kimball pianos which we are offering at a special discount. This is a rare opportunity to purchase a standard piano at a big saving.

STATE SAYS MATTIS WAS KILLED BY MATEL BOYS

Assistant County Attorney Goes Over Evidence Before the Jury.

Says Blow Was Struck With Full Intent to Commit Murder.

THE STATE CLAIMS THE EVIDENCE SHOWS:

That Victor and Adolph Matel had trouble with Adolph Mattis at the wedding at Backinoski's house.

That Adolph went so far as to draw a knife and that Victor told William Derosz that they had to put a bullet into Mattis, who was too strong for them.

That the two Matels were looking for trouble.

That Adolph Matel ran up the street after fighting with Adolph Suchacki and that another crowd followed Victor and beat him up.

That the movements of the Matels are not accounted for by the defense from about 2 o'clock to 3:05 when they arrived home.

That just before the Matels went north on Garfield avenue, Adolph Mattis, Paul Bartosz and Walter Hero went north to go home.

That Mattis, Hero and Bartosz were talking at about 500 Garfield avenue when the Matels were chased.

That the Matels waited in Joe Matel's yard when they saw the three men walking down Garfield avenue.

That they passed up Bartosz and Hero and attacked Mattis, whom they had threatened to "get."

That Paul Bartosz positively identified the two Matels as the murderers.

That Joe Rebak, Frank Rebak and Andrew Rechek were nowhere in the vicinity and had had no quarrel with Mattis, anyway.

That there was no general scrap.

That Victor and Adolph Matel murdered Adolph Mattis, with premeditated design and were not so drunk that they could not realize what they were doing.

WARREN E. GREENE,
Who Is Prosecuting the Matel Case.

The case of Victor Matel, charged with murder in the first degree in the killing of Adolph Mattis, will go to the jury in district court this afternoon. Both the state and defense rested this morning, and Assistant County Attorney Warren E. Greene began his argument. He had not concluded at noon, and court adjourned until 2 o'clock.

The defendant did not take the stand himself, his attorney contenting himself with the evidence put in through other witnesses, guests at the wedding celebration which wound up with the fatal stabbing of Mattis. The evidence introduced this morning was mainly intended to clear up doubtful points in the confused jumble of incidents that attended the all-night revel.

Mr. Greene said that it was evident that there was considerable drinking, and that at least a large part of those present were more or less drunk. It was evident, he said, that Victor Matel had drank some, but he was not very drunk. Mr. Greene explained the effect of drunkenness in law, saying that for a man to be held not responsible for a crime committed while under the influence of liquor he must be so drunk that he is unable to remember anything afterwards—so drunk as to have entirely lost his reason. He pointed out that William Derosz, who had to be piled into a wagon and carted home, could remember being put into the wagon, and could remember other events of the night, and that Victor was certainly not as drunk as Derosz. If Derosz had committed any crime in that condition he would have been held responsible.

The Other Fights.

Mr. Greene reviewed the evidence in regard to the fight between Gregorski and Frank Rebak. He said the evidence showed that it was Andrew Rechek, who chased Gregorski with Frank Rebak and not Joe Rebak, as the defense intimated. The fight was about 12 o'clock, so that Rebak and Rechek returned to Backinoski's about 12:30 and not about 2 o'clock, as Mrs. Alex Matel said. That was the first scrap of the evening and it was all over long before the time Mattis was killed, he said.

He then reviewed the fight between Adolph Matel and Adolph Suchacki, which resulted in Adolph being chased up the street by Frank Rebak and Victor being set upon by another crowd. Rebak could not catch Adolph and returned in a short time. Mr. Greene said that disposed of Rebak. He reviewed the stories told by Mrs. Alex Matel, John Bourak and John Krochenchi and called up other evidence to discredit the assertions that there were other men in the vicinity of the scene of the murder, who might have been implicated in it.

"The last we know of the two Matels they were going up Garfield avenue and the next thing we know they were home at five minutes after 3," said Mr. Greene.

He took up the discrepancies in the testimony of the witnesses and pointed out that no two men can tell the same story in the same manner. The discrepancies were all slight, he said. He urged that Bartosz's identification of the two men is complete and positive, for he knew them both well and the full moon made Garfield avenue almost as bright as day.

Mr. Greene discussed premeditated design, as the law understands it, saying that a momentary decision to strike a fatal blow is enough to make premeditated design.

"We have had testimony to show that there had been trouble between the Matel boys and Mattis in the bar room about 10 o'clock," said Mr. Greene. "Adolph and Victor were calling Mattis vile names and Adolph went so far as to pull out his knife. There were two such altercations during the evening. Derosz says that later in the evening Victor Matel came to him and said that they would have to put a bullet through Mattis' head because he was too strong for them. That shows that at that time Victor Matel had it in his mind to do harm to Mattis."

Defense Rests.

The defense rested in the Victor Matel murder trial yesterday afternoon and the state began putting in its rebuttal evidence.

Joe and Anton Matel, brothers of Adolph Matel and cousins of the man on trial, were put on the stand yesterday afternoon. Joe had subsided into unconsciousness about 9 o'clock on the night of the wedding on account of alcoholic indulgence, so he didn't know very much. Anton testified that he had heard Victor and Adolph talking in their room in his house at about 3:05 on the morning of the killing. The light was burning in the room as though they had just come in.

Arthur Kaufman, who lives at 521 Garfield avenue, told of hearing a yell at about 2 o'clock on the morning of the tragedy. He went out on the avenue in time to see Adolph Mattis' death. Paul Bartosz and Walter Hero were carrying Mattis along, he said, and they told him that Mattis was drunk and sick and they were carrying him back to the house, where the wedding celebration had been held. He said he told them to lay the man on the sidewalk and as soon as they did so, Mattis groaned and died.

Edward E. Moe, a telegraph operator, told of seeing an encounter between a man who is supposed to have been John Gregorski and Joe and Frank Reback. Frank Reback was cut on the hand. The two Rebacks and Gregorski were put on the stand by the state in rebuttal to testify to their whereabouts at the time Mattis is supposed to have been killed.

SALE WILL END TOMORROW NIGHT

Last Opportunity to Buy U. S. Army Goods at Bargain Prices.

Tomorrow and tonight will be the last opportunities afforded the people of this city and vicinity to purchase at extremely low prices the United States army goods which have been on sale under the management of Mr. Kirk at 18 East Superior street for the past few days.

The sale will close at 10 Saturday evening. Mr. Kirk would be glad to continue the sale longer, as it has met with great success, but he is unable to retain the store beyond tomorrow night. It has been astonishing to witness the crowds of people from all walks of life that have attended the sale and carried home various articles, all pleased with their purchases. Whether the purchase was some knick knack for the den or something useful in the way of clothing, blankets, etc., the buyers were given prices far below what they could secure similar articles at the regular stores, in fact, they could not find such goods at the other stores.

The call of the wild is particularly strong to the sportive inclined individuals of this section of the country at this time of the year and the way the army blankets, ponchos, flannel shirts, etc., were taken away yesterday was a caution.

Army cloth of a grade that could not be duplicated anywhere else for double the price was in great demand at $1.50 per yard, for winter coat wear. Four yards of it will make a splendid garment, and the cost, only $6, removes the excuse for anybody to go without a coat.

Besides the cloth there are numerous other goods, including the following: Navy shoes, carbines, rifles, pistols, revolvers, ammunition, trousers, coat shirts, undershirts, white shirts, shirts, abdominal bands, bayonet sets, sconces, sabres, swords, linen canvas bags, leather goods, wool cords, ponchos, rubber sheets, blouses, coats, bugles, hats, caps, gauntlets, jumpers, stockings overshoes, candle sticks, hobbles, haversacks, saddles, buttons, buckles, chevrons, aprons for workmen, combs, and petticoats.

Don't fail to attend the sale before it closes at 10 o'clock tomorrow night. The goods will be packed up Sunday and shipped away.

OLD SYNDICATE GOES TO PIECES

Potash Price War Is Forecasted By Circular Just Issued.

New York, Oct. 1.—Official notification of the disruption of the famous potash syndicate, which for the last twenty years has enjoyed a monopoly of the potash producing industry of the world, was received in this city today by the German Kali works, the agents of the syndicate for the United States.

The break in the syndicate is caused by the elimination of the Sollstedt and Ascherleen mines, controlled by the German interests, and the Einigskeit mine, controlled by the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company, an American concern.

It is charged against the managers of these three properties that a few minutes after midnight of June 20 last at which time the syndicate agreement for 1909 expired, they made a number of sales of their product to American consumers. That this move foreshadows a rate war, and the wholesale cutting of prices was made evident by the issuance today of a circular in which A. Vogel, general manager of the syndicate for the United States, informs the trade that the new syndicate "will offer very low prices for the shipments of 1910."

ARMY OFFICERS OWE UNCLE SAM

Effort to Get Something Extra Leads to Finding Out of Overpay.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Scattered throughout the United States and its insular possessions are a number of officers of the army who are said to be talking just now about the unlucky star under which they were born. It arises from their asking the government to send them longevity pay, which the supreme court of the United States declared recently they were entitled to. Back came a reply from Auditor Harper, for the war department, that they were in debt to the government, and that on account of the condition of the treasury they should pay up right away, or words to that effect.

Upon receipt of the claim of these officers, an examination was made of their accounts. It was found that many of them were in debt to the government, according to another decision of the supreme court rendered in 1907, by reason of overpay, amounting to as much as $400 in some instances, during the Spanish-American war. By this decision it was held that minor officers, who filled the positions of superiors who were absent from their commands to enroll recruits or to perform other duties, were not entitled to the pay of the superior officers, unless they were assigned to organizations other than their own.

Except for the privilege of taking an appeal to the comptroller of the treasury, the only satisfaction these officers are said to have received is that some mighty surprises await other officers of the army.

PIER RIGHTS ARE DEFINED

Judge Cant Files Decision on Oneota Riparian Rights.

An important decision, defining the riparian rights attached to property in the angle formed by Grassy Point with the main shore in the Oneota district, was filed by Judge Cant in district court this morning. The suit, in which the findings were filed, was brought by Luther Mendenhall and Edmund D. Graff against a number of other property owners in the district and the decision of the court is in the nature of a victory for the defendants, or some of them, at least.

Most of the platted land involved in the case is submerged and the question of pier rights on this submerged land was brought up. Under Judge Cant's decision, the platted avenues as shown on land extend to the end of the platted portion and from there, an apportionment is made of the dock line and another line, which is an extension of the main channel of the St. Louis river. The dock line, as established by congress and subsequently changed by the war department is 3,000 feet from the southwest corner of the intersection of Forty-sixth avenue west with Oneota street.

In platting the townsite of Oneota, the owners of the land severed the riparian rights incident to the ownership of the shore lands from the lands themselves, and in platting and conveying the piers, they indicated the intention of vesting in the ownership of the lots bordering on the exterior margin of the piers, all of which lots are below the shore line of St. Louis baay, all the riparian rights formerly incident to the shore line.

If the contention of the plaintiffs had been upheld, some of the improved property of defendants would have been shown to be in the district the riparian rights of which would be owned by others. A rearrangement of several of the docks and piers would have been necessary. If a change were made in the dock line by the war department, which is likely at any time, there would have been still more confusion. The effect of Judge Cant's decision is expressed in his memorandum as follows:

Right of Each Unit.

"Each unit of the shore land has the right to reach navigable water over the intervening submerged land. In this case it has been determined in reference to a line beyond which the dock line can never be removed and if this determination be correct and be hereafter adhered to with reference to the subhmerged area beyond the recent dock line, the right referred to will be permanently presented."

A portion of Judge Cant' memorandum follows:

"The main object of this action is to determine the areas of submerged land, the rights in and to which are appurtenant to certain of the platted parts of Oneota in this county, and to determine the location and direction of the lateral boundary lines of the areas so delimited. It is important that such lateral lines shall be permanently fixed. A dock line is not of a permanent character and an inspection of the particular dock line here involved suggests that changes therein might well be urged and that they may some time be adopted. A change in the location of the angle (meaning the vortex of the angle where the term angle is used in this memorandum) might greatly affect the rights of the parties interested if the rights of shore owners should now be fixed with reference to such dock line and to that only.

Permanent Base Line.

"A more permanent base line has therefore been sought, as a matter of convenience in doing the work here in hand and with reference to which an apportionment of the riparian rights might be made which would be substantially accurate and just, whatever the vicissitudes might be to which in the future the dock line might be subjected. The base line which has been selected is believed to be as satisfactory as any which may be suggested. It is an extension in a direct line of the center line of the main channel of the St. Louis riuer, taking the general course thereof as it rounds Grassy Point toward the east.

"We are not here dealing with a cove between two headlands, but with an elbow or angle in the shore line caused by a long straight line of shore meeting with the headland, Grassy point. In dealing with the situation in hand it is manifestly unfair to go miles away in search for another headland with which in connection with Grassy point, to construct a cove. Manifestly the problem is more simple than that. A cove is not a necessary element or feature in cases like this. Manifestly on the long line of substantially straight shore eastwardly from Grassy point the owners of the shore lands should always have been and should now be allowed to go out to the point of navigability between lines approximately at right angles to the shore. This right and this rule applies to owners of property proceeding westwardly along the shore line until a point is reached where such application would interfere with the apportionment of a just and fair share of the riparian rights, or, as we may say in this memorandum, of the submerged lands and of the line of navigability to other shore lands lying still farther west and in the immediate vicinity of the elbow or angle referred to.

"What a just and fair share of such submerged lands and of such line of navigability would be in any particular case depends upon the particular circumstances thereof. Equal lengths of shore line similarly situated should have equal areas of submerged lands and equal lengths on the line of navigability. But manifestly lands which which are situated at or near a sharp angle in the shore line should not have apportioned thereto the same areas of submerged lands and the same lengths on the line of navigability as if they were situated on a long line of straight shore."

The defendants named in the action are George L. Raymond, George C. S. Southworth, Mase S. Southworth, Thomas S. Southworth, Mary Woodbury Stevens, Alice Harriet Southworth, Harriet A. Southworth, Frederick L. Gedder, St. Louis Investment company, Wisconsin Central Railway company, Wirt H. Cook, William O'Brien, Bertha Walrath, Perry D. Jones Red Cliff Lumber company, Western Land association, Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company, Northern Pacific Railway company and city of Duluth.

The decision is a voluminous document, the possessions and apportionment of riparian rights being minutely defined for each of the parties involved. It is accompanied by a map showing the lines as determined by Judge Cant.

EX-SHAH GOES TO EXILE IN RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 1.—Mohammed Ali Mirza, the deposed shah of Persia, sailed from Anazalia, on the Caspian sea, yesterday on board the chartered steamer Gen. Skobeloff, on the way to exile in Russia. The ex-shah is expected to land at Petrovsk, on the west shore of the Caspian, tomorrow. He will be taken direct to Odessa on a special train. OPEN MARKET IS DISCUSSED

Committee Gets Down to Work on the Produce Problem.

At the meeting today of the committee appointed by the public affairs committee of the Commercial club to investigate thoroughly the open market question, merely a desultory discussion was held of the best way to go about the task assigned the committee members, an adjournment being taken until tomorrow noon, when the subject will be further gone into.

It has been resolved to consolidate the two committees—the committee to investigate the farmers' side of the open market question, and the committee appointed to look into the Duluth produce dealers' side of the problem.

The consolidated committee will be composed of John G. Williams, O. H. Simonds, E. A. Shultze, C. P. Craig and A. E. Hostetter.

Today's session was taken up with the methods pursued in other large open markets. St. Louis, the Twin Cities, Baltimore, and other cities where public markets are maintained, furnished examples.

ARE OVERCOME BY FORCED MARCH

Many Second Infantry Men Fall From the Ranks Exhausted.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 1.—While 500 men of the Second infantry, United States army, were returning to Fort Thomas, Ky., today on a forced march of forty-three miles from Fort Perry, Ohio, many dropped in the ranks from exhaustion.

Lieut. C. W. Dawe, surgeon of the regiment, fainted and fell from his horse while passing New Richmond, Ohio, and was hurried in an ambulance to a Cincinnati hospital. He is said to be suffering from appendicitis.

One army ambulance, overcrowded with disabled men, broke down at the city limits.

The regiment, in command of Col. Mansfield, made the forced march under orders from the war department.

MANY AT FUNERAL OF CLYDE FITCH.

New York, Oct. 1.—Clyde Fitch, the playwright, who died in France, was buried today in Woodlawn cemetery. Funeral services at the Church of the Ascension were attended by one of the largest gatherings of actors, literary and theatrical people that ever met in this city.

WOMEN IN THE RAIN.

More Resourceful Than Men, as They Are Also More Serene.

Women somehow appear to be able to walk in the rain without getting as wet as men do; at least the rain doesn't show as plainly on the folds and furbelows of their apparel as it does on the smoother, flatter surfaced garments of man, and so you say see women walking along seemingly all but untouched through the rain. And while men hurry, women caught out in the rain without an umbrella move along still in their accustomed manner, serenely; and in such case women more seldom than men bring into use makeshift protection coverings, says the New York Sun.

Let a man in a new straw hat get off a subway or an elevated train to find it raining and it would not be remarkable to see him unfold again the newspaper that he had been reading on the train and hold it over his hat, and it would not be very remarkable to see him then start off running, anxious for his hat.

A woman would but rarely protect her hat in this way—possibly because she would be less likely to be provided with a newspaper—and still more rarely would she run. Certainly in her heart she is not less solicitous about her hat and feathers, but her anxiety she does not betray. If it doesn't rain too hard she walks out calmly, as if she thought the rain would spare her, as in considerable measure it really seems to do.

Still, women do sometimes cover their hats, and even with newspapers; and lacking a newspaper for this use they are likely to display a greater resourcefulness than men in providing themselves with a suitable substiute.

So a woman walking from the interior of a store to the street door to find it raining might turn and walk calmly back to buy a large sized sheet of suitable wrapping paper wherewith to cover her hat.

A woman's handkerchief, so much smaller than a man's, might seem to a man of little use in covering her hat but that is only because he doesn't know how to put it to such use. See this woman, for instance, who is about to put her handkerchief over her hat.

It is only a tiny handkerchief and she cannot possibly tie it around back of her neck or under her chin. How will she ever manage it? But it is so simple—to her. She puts the handkerchief down on either side of her face to hold the ends, the corners, between her teeth. And then she gathers up her skirts and moves serenely on.

But occasionally you meet a man who is equal to the emergency. Here, for example, were a man and his wife, with a baby which they had brought in a go-cart, coming out of a store to find it raining. As the weather was warm and fair when they started out they had brought no blanket or lap robe for the baby, and

"What shall we do?" she said, with the emphasis on the "shall."

"Oh, I'll fix that all right," says the husband, and—perhaps he had some time seen a woman buying paper for a hat cover—he disappears within the store to reappear presently with a great sheet of wrapping paper, and with that snugly tucked around the infant in the go-cart they start homeward.

THAT BALD SPOT.

Earlee Midyears Finds More Ways Than One to Treat Hair.

When Earlee Midyears entered the club he could not help observing the lustrous topknot of his friend as it showed above the newspaper in the afternoon light. Somehow it struck him as it had never done before, says the New York Sun.

He could not recall that he had ever paid much attention to the top of his friend's head. He remembered vaguely that it was the usual kind of topknot of the men he knew—already rather thin, perhaps a little dingy looking and not in the least like the shining, healthy brown hair he now saw.

He had thought of treatment for the hair himself and had been advised by his wife to try the woman who massaged her scalp until the hair grew thick and healthy. The sight of his friend's head recalled this to him.

"Hello, old man," he said, coming closer and still having cause to admire the thick growth that covered the top of his friend's head. "Your hair looks fine. Who did it for you?"

The friend repeated an address.

"Mind if I try him, too?" was the question that followed.

"Not in the least. Here's his address," answered he of the new hair.

From a book in his pocket he read an address. Midyears copied it in his notebook and there was no further thought of hair on their minds.

"You certainly ought to do something for your hair, Earlee," his wife said one night later as they were on their way home from the opera. "When you went down in the orchestra tonight to speak to Mrs. Wednesday I could distinctly see a bald spot in the center of your head. The hair's really getting very thin."

"Got just the man," came the sleepy answer from the corner of the motor. "Going to him tomorrow."

He stopped on the way uptown that afternoon at the address he had copied. It rather surprised him to find that the man was not a doctor, but he mentioned the name of the man who had sent him there and said he wanted the same thing that had so much improved the looks of his friend's head.

He took a seat and as he read the evening paper he felt the man rubbing his hands over his head. After an interval that seemed to him unusually short he heard the hair expert tell him to come in at the end of the week, say on Friday.

On that afternoon he called again. He took his seat in front of the mirror. There was no evening newspaper to interest him now, for he had decided to watch the operation.

The hairdresser disappeared, and when he came back out of the workroom he carried in his hand a small tissue paper package. This he opened and out of it came a little brown scratch wig. Admiring the perfect match he held it up to the back hair of his astonished patron.

"But what in the world is that thing?" Midyears asked.

"Why, a toupee, the same that I made for your friend," replied the wigmaker, who thought he had turned out something uncommonly fine in its way. "That's what you said you wanted."

He paid for it, but he didn't want it. It's in his bureau drawer now. His wife says she is going to exchange it for puffs unless he finds a purchaser at a very much reduced price for a chestnut brown toupee, guaranteed to look like the real thing.

RETURNS FROM ROCK ISLAND

Rev. J. A. Krantz Tells of Plans for Semi-Centennial of Synod.

Rev. J. A. Krantz, pastor of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church and president of the conference of Swedish Lutherans of Minnesota, has just returned from Rock Island, Ill., where he attended a meeting of the board of directors of Augustana college and theological seminary. The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of that institution and of the Augustana synod will be held next June.

"This synod," says Dr. Krantz, "represents one of the largest Lutheran organizations in the country, numbering over 1,000 congregations, 620 pastors, ten institutions of learning, besides numerous hospitals, orphanages, homes for the aged and deaconesses' institutes.

"A number of prominent men will be present at this jubilee meeting. The king of Sweden has appointed Bishop K. H. G. Von Scheele as a representative of the church of Sweden. Baron Lazercrantz, the minister of Sweden to the United States, will also be present, besides a number of prominent educators from Sweden and this country."

Rev. Mr. Krantz says that the new $150,000 memorial library building donated by the Denkmans of Rock Island to the college is now under construction and will most likely be ready for the celebration next June.

The evening was very pleasantly spent. Those present were: Mrs. Leo La Bonte and the Misses Ella Brassard, Zella Morrow, Martha Onsgard, Jean Drewett, Anna Peterson, Kate Sullivan, Helen Jackson, Loretta Shannon and Mayme Shannon.

Poverty Social.

A "poverty social" will be given tonight at the Westminster Presbyterian church parlors. A prize will be given to the member of the Christian Endeavor society who is the most poorly dressed. The affair will be in charge of the young ladies of the society.

On Sunday evening the members of the Christian Endeavor society will hold services with the society at Smithville and there will be no services in the evening at the local church.

Put Out Small Fire.

Firemen from the West Duluth fire hall were called out yesterday afternoon to put out a small blaze which had gained some headway in a large pile of shavings at the Duluth Box Manufacturing company's plant at Fifty-fourth avenue west and Polk street. The flames were extinguished before any damage was done.

Fall Festivals.

West Duluth church societies are now beginning to give their fall festivals.

The first affair of this kind will be given this evening at the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street. The entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Dorcas society of the church and a special program of literary and musical numbers will be given in the church parlors.

GROCERY STORE IS SCORCHED

A fire of unknown origin broke out about 2 o'clock this morning in the rear of a grocery conducted by Frank Parchem at 3120 West Third street, and damage to the extent of $400 was done before the blaze was discovered and put out.

An alarm was turned in by some one who noticed the fire, and the firemen from No. 2 hall responded. The blaze was put out without much trouble, and the building was saved, the principal damage being done to the stock in the rear end of the building.

A gasoline tank exploded when the fire caught, but the firemen kept the flames from spreading.

Important Meeting.

Of special importance will be the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening, because of the agitation which is constantly growing in West Duluth against the entrance of the Canadian Northern through the residence district of the western end of the city.

The committee which drafted resolution and presented them to the council will report back to the club to right. Besides this, it is also expected that the matter of obtaining crossing gates at dangerous railroad crossings in West Duluth will be taken up for consideration.

Pikkaranien Feneral.

Funeral services for Peter Pikkaranien were held this afternoon from the W. H. Richter undertaking parlors, at 432 Central avenue, with burial at Oneota cemetery.

To mourn his loss, he leaves his widow and seven small children, who reside at 6004 Grand avenue. Mr. Pikkaranien was the man who was struck by the Northern Pacific motor car, and died two weeks later at the Duluth hospital.

All But Three Escape When Lights Are Extinguished.

The police raided a gambling game on Lake avenue last night, landing three men in the drag net. Two others got away, the lights being doused as soon as the officers broke into the room. The men were playing in a basement and jumped through a window opening upon the alley. The others, giving their names as Charles Hill, Adam Banta and John Kamila, entered pleas of not guilty in police court and were scheduled for trial this afternoon.

THE SHINN JURY FAILED TO AGREE

Grand Larceny Case at Bemidji Ends Without Result.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury in the case of N. J. Shinn, charged with grand larceny in the second degree, could not agree and were discharged by Judge Wright, who recognized that they were hopelessly apart. The jury retired at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and when court opened this morning asked further instructions from the judge. They retired and an hour later reported they could not agree.

Attorney General Simpson, before leaving last night, stated that, if the jury could not agree, he would consent to the case being continued over the term and Shinn allowed to go on his own cognizance. Judge Wright allowed this.

CAMPAIGN OPENED

By Prohibition Men in Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Newberry, Mich., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Prohibition campaign to "make Michigan dry November, 1910," was opened Wednesday night in the upper peninsula by Hon. C. W. Corbett, who spoke here to a good audience. The leaders of the campaign are confident of state-wide prohibition by another year. One plan of the campaign is to secure a pledge of 100,000 voters who will support inly the party that comes out against the liquor traffic. This, they claim, will either draw the old parties into line or make way for success of the Prohibition party.

They are organizing "water wagon clubs" also. The committee plans to make extensive advertising in the state press with the slogan, "Make Michigan Dry November, 1910."

Mr. Corbett is talked of in some quarters as the probable candidate for governor next year.

FARMER TAKES LIFE BY HANGING

Clearwater County Man Is Suicide for Some Unknown Cause.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Worried from some unknown cause, Eric Hedeen, a bachelor living in the northern corner of Winsor township, Clearwater county, committed suicide by hanging last night. His body was discovered by his brother, in a barn on the premises.

No plausible reason is given for the act, as Hedeen was very well-to-do, having money on deposit in a bank at Bagley, a farm unincumbered, a large herd of stock and a granary well filled with wheat. He was on the best of terms with all his neighbors.

SYMPTOMS.

Chicago News: "Good morning," said the doctor, cheerily, when the attendant ushered in from the waiting room a stout, red-faced young man. "I hope I didn't keep you waiting long!"

"Oh, no, not very long," said the visitor. "Besides, I'm in no hurry, doc. I ain't workin' today."

"I see," said the physician, blandly, "and you thought you'd take advantage of your spare time to run over and have a chat with me, eh? Well, let's see what's the matter here. You're not looking quite yourself, that's a fact."

"Do I look bad, doc?" asked the young man, blandly. "What do you think is the matter with me?"

"We'll find out in a few minutes," said the doctor. "Let's see your tongue."

The visitor thrust it out for inspection.

"Aha!" said the doctor, with all the enthusiasm of an angler who has landed a three-pound bass. "Now we're getting at it. Your stomach's all out of fix, isn't it? Don't enjoy your meals, do you?"

"Well, I ain't been findin' any fault with 'em," said the visitor. "Do you think my stomach's wrong, on the square, doc?"

"No doubt of it," declared the physician, getting up and going to a drawer, from which he extracted a gleaming disk with two long rubber pendants.

"What's that thing?" demanded the red-faced young man, jumping to his feet and backing away in alarm. "I ain't goin' to have no operation performed on me!"

"Don't be frightened," said the doctor, soothingly. "This is only a stethoscope. I won't hurt you. I just want to see how your heart and lungs are working."

"I don't think there's anything the matter with my heart and lungs, doc," protested the caller.

"You never can tell without a careful examination," explained the medical man, deftly applying the disk of the stethoscope upon the bosom of the young man's blue flannel shirt. "I've known people to go along for years with a bad heart and then suddenly pop like a soap bubble."

Perspiration began to ooze out upon the forehead of the red-faced young man, as the doctor put the tubes of the instrument into his ears and listened intently.

"Well, doc, how is the old pump?" he demanded, when the physician ended.

"The heart seems to be all right," admitted the doctor, rather grudgingly.

"Gee! I'm glad to hear that!" exclaimed the caller, mopping his brow with a handkerchief. "I never thought there was anything the matter with my heart. I didn't know my stomach was foolin' me, either, until you told me. I thought my health was pretty good," he added.

"Everybody should have a thorough examination every so often," said the physician, severely. "The layman never can tell when he is developing some organic trouble that does not show on the surface, but may be slowly sapping his constitution. Now, in your case, for instance, this stomach trouble we have discovered is slight and can easily be corrected. But I can tell at a glance that there is something far more serious the matter with you."

"Is that right, doc?" demanded the visitor, growing almost pale.

"Your nervous system is all gone to pieces," announced the physician. "That shows plainly. You've noticed that, haven't you? Gradual lessening of your nerve power—weakness in the face of danger and all that?"

"Well, maybe it's there, if you say so," admitted the visitor, "but, on the level, I never noticed it, doc."

"I'll just give you a tonic for your nerves—something you can take about three times a day. You can take medicine, can't you? By the way, what is your business?" he asked.

"I'm an iron worker," explained the young man. "Structural, you know. I work on these high buildings downtown—riding up on them big steel beams mostly."

The doctor paused in some embarrassment.

"Ah, yes—I see," he said, putting away the nerve tonic rather hastily, "and you called to see me about—er—what?"

"Why, it's about my wife," explained the red-faced young man, fishing a bottle out of his pocket. "She wanted me to stop in and ask you if she was to get this filled again."

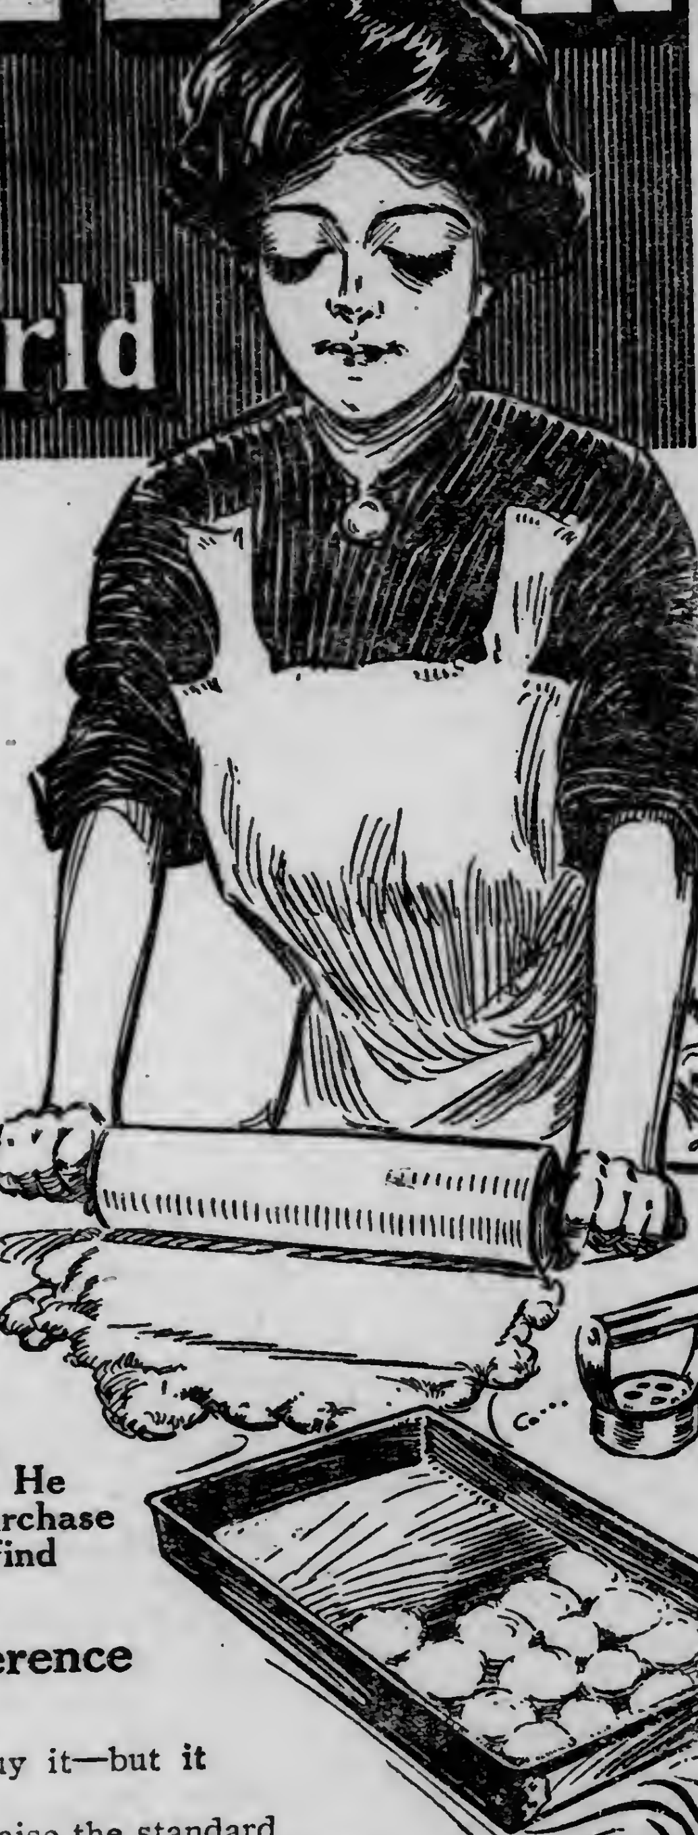
OCCIDENT FLOUR

Guaranteed the Best in the World



That doesn't mean much when you read it in an advertisement.

But use one sack. It will mean everything to you then.

There is only one reason why Occident Flour is not used by every woman in her baking:

Because there are some who don't realize the vast difference between Occident and ordinary flour. They think they are all about alike—that the one you get used to is the one you like best.

That proves they have never used Occident. The difference shows in the baking.

No matter what kind of flour you are using now—give Occident a chance to show what it can do. You'll be nothing out if you don't like it.

Read This Fair Offer:

Go to your grocer's and get a sack of Occident Flour. Use as much of it as you please.

Before the sack is gone, you will be convinced that Occident is better in every way than any flour you ever used—gives better and surer results with bread, biscuit, muffins, pastry—all your baking.

If you are not—then, go back to your grocer. He is authorized to refund without argument the full purchase price of any package of Occident which you do not find satisfactory.

There's a Logical Reason for this Difference

You pay a few cents more per sack for Occident.

You don't think much about that when you buy it—but it means everything to the millers.

That "few cents extra" in price enables them to raise the standard of Occident Flour to "highest grade in the world"—from wheat to package.

Better wheat—better mills—better processes—better millers—more rigid and more frequent tests—even better sacks for protection in shipping and handling. Occident Flour sacks alone cost $25,000 a year more than ordinary flour sacks.

Occident Flour is worth the difference in price many times over—the millers prove that before it leaves the mills. You prove it in the results of your baking.

A trial sack for next baking day means less work—better baked stuff.

Why not call up the grocer now?

HIS HARD LOT.

Chicago News: "Where did you move to on May 1?" asked Schockery of his friend Burns, as they met on the downtown corner.

"I haven't moved yet," replied Burns. "I've got to go somewhere soon, for the owner of the building where I live is only waiting to get rid of me before pulling it down."

"It ought to be easy to find another place to live," said Schockery. "You have a husky salary, so you don't mind the price."

"I also have a husky bunch of kids," said Burns, "and on that account I can't get a flat at any price. My wife and I have been all over the city in the last two months and not a place can we find fit to live in with our family."

"It's a pity the place you're in is going to be pulled down," said Schockery. "You've lived there a long time."

"Fifteen years," answered Burns. "The landlord let us come there because we had only one child. He hasn't had the moral courage to drive us out since, but I think that he's tearing the house down on purpose to get rid of us.

"We've considered every scheme of living that suggested itself. I can't live in the country and hold my position. My work keeps me right here. We haven't saved any money to make a first payment on a home of our own. We can't get used to the idea of living in the slums, where children are tolerated, and the city government will not permit us to live permanently in a police station."

"It's a stiff proposition."

"Yes," said Burns, gloomily, "neither my wife nor I like the notion of putting the children into an orphans' home while we can provide for them. Some of our relations might take the two youngest, but that would not help much. It's against the law to drown them, but I don't see what else we are to do."

"I wouldn't go to that extreme yet awhile," said Schockery. "Maybe something will turn up."

"It's got to do it quick, then," said Burns. "I'm getting desperate. I've thought of buying a balloon and living among the clouds, but no one would let me fasten the guy ropes to his property. People say we would be dropping cooking utensils every once in a while and messing up their lawns.

"Airships are not reliable, besides being expensive and hard to manage with a large family of children on board, and I don't believe they'd be comfortable in winter."

"Why don't you lease a vacant lot and live in a tent?" asked Schockery. "Lots of good people do that."

"I would if I could get a doctor to prescribe it," said Burns. "Otherwise I don't believe it would be either comfortable or healthful."

LIGHTNING'S ANTICS IN A CHURCH.

Journal des Debats: Lightning struck the steeple of the little village church of Gassin, near Toulon, the other day. The electrical fluid, it is stated, followed the iron cable which is used to ring the church bell and set the bell ringing. Then it tore the door off a cupboard containing a number of candlesticks, and lit all the candles as though by enchantment.

It completed its antics by ripping up the floor of the sacristy, but, so it is said, previously rolled up the carpet with perfect symetry.

DECLINES AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Weakens During the Last Hour of the Session.

Flax Is Unchanged After Active Trading in Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 1.—Wheat was higher than yesterday during most of the session in the American markets today, but showed weakness toward the close, which was fractionally lower than the previous day.

The Modern Miller's summary of Southwestern conditions was a little bearish. It follows:

"Seeding of winter wheat is progressing steadily and will be finished shortly except where lack of moisture is holding back this work. Texas farmers are awaiting rains before they begin seeding. A renewal of old wheat deliveries expected when fall work finished. Where weevil and other bin and stacks threaten damage, farmers will sell."

Argentine shipments of wheat showed an increase over last week, being 216,000 bu, against 160,000 bu last week and 1,324,000 bu a year ago.

Liverpool closed ½d to ⅝d higher. Berlin 1¼c higher and Budapest 1⅛c higher.

The December option closed ⅛c lower in Duluth, Chicago and Kansas City, ¼c lower in Minneapolis, ⅜c higher in New York, ⅛c higher in St. Louis and ⅜c lower in Winnipeg.

December corn closed 1c lower, and oats ¼c higher in Chicago.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat was steady at the start, with values unchanged. At the opening the market was dull. During the early morning firmness developed as offerings became light and support good, and values advanced ⅜@½d. Buying was stimulated by the light Argentine shipments, with no shipments from Argentina to the United Kingdom, and decreasing stocks there. Liverpool monthly stocks showed a small decrease, where a heavy increase was expected, this being accounted for by a heavy consumption during the month. From all sources, estimates regarding the world's import requirements are being increased, and this, together with fears of lighter supplies, later on caused shorts to cover. At mid-day the undertone was firm, with prices ⅜@½d higher than yesterday. May at the opening was quoted at 7s 6½d and remained featureless during the morning.

"Corn was steady at the start and unchanged. Later prices advanced ⅛d on the disappointing shipments from Argentina, particularly to the United Kingdom."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 563 against 495 last year, and at Minneapolis 403 against 616 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 966 against 1,111 last year. Chicago received 52 against 42 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 1,637,000 bu, last year, 1,733,000 bu. Shipments, 978,000 bu, last year, 1,518,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 517,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 624,-bu, last year 1,733,000 bu. Shipments, 381,000 bu, last year, 280,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 165 bu.

Wheat trading was active in the Duluth market. December wheat opened ¼c higher at 98c, advanced to 99c, declined to 97½c and closed at 97⅝c, a loss of ⅛c from yesterday. May wheat opened ¾c higher at $1.01⅝, advanced to $1.02⅜ and closed at $1.01¼, unchanged from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ½c lower.

Flax was firm. October flax opened unchanged, advanced to $1.37½ and closed at $1.36½. November flax opened, advanced to $1.37⅝ and closed at $1.36½, unchanged from yesterday. December flax opened ¼c higher at $1.34, advanced to $1.35 and closed at $1.34, a gain of ¼c over yesterday.

Oats closed ⅛c higher and barley 1c off for the best grade.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Continues Strong With the Shorts Active Bidders.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—The wheat market was still strong today, despite the elimination of the September delivery, trading in which had a whirlwind finish yesterday with a 14c advance. Shorts today were fairly active bidders for the December option. For a time offerings were light. A good cash demand here and an advance of ⅜d to ½d in the price of wheat at Liverpool inspired the buying.

Prices for wheat at the opening were ¼@⅜c to ⅜@⅞c higher. December opened at $1.00⅜ to $1.00½. Later the price advanced to $1.00¾1.00⅞.

The market lost some of its advance during the final hour, owing to selling based on a slump in corn and on a liberal estimate on the world's shipments for the week. December sold from $1.01⅛ to 99½@99⅝c. The close was weak with December off ⅛c at 99⅝@99¾c.

Renewed profit-taking caused heaviness in the corn market early. Trading was light, owing to absence of demand. Favorable weather for the new crop was the chief depressing influence. December opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 57⅞ to 58c, advanced to 58¼c and sold off again to 57¾c.

Weakness prevailed throughout the day. December declined to 56⅞c. The close was weak at almost the bottom with December o: 1c at 56⅞@57c.

In oats, notwithstanding larger receipts than had been expected, sentiment was somewhat bullish, owing to buying by cash interests. December opened unchanged to a shade higher at 38½@38⅝c to 38⅝c, and sold up to 38⅞@39c.

Provisions were strong, owing to buying of lard by a local packer. Prices at the start were a shade to 15c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Strong at First, But Breaks Under Liquidation.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 1.—Liquidation made a break in the wheat market today. During the early session, however, the market was strong and December advanced 1c above the opening. There was a decline in the near option of 1¾c from the high point and it closed ½@⅝c below the opening. May was correspondingly weak. Local elevator stocks of wheat increased 150,000 bu for the week. Yesterday there was an accumulation of 175,000 bu in stocks for five days, therefore for the last day of the week there was a decrease of 25,000 bu. Minneapolis today received 403 cars of wheat against 616 a year ago; Duluth 563 cars against 495 and Winnipeg 811 against 538. December opened 98⅛c; high, 99⅛c; low, 97⅜c; close, 97½@97⅝c. May opened, $1.02; high, $1.02½@1.02⅝; low, $1.01; close, $1.01⅛.

Cash wheat was easier today on account of the continued lack of inquiry from country mills. No. 1 northern sold for 3c above the December option and No.2 northern for 2c above. Local millers were fair buyers and offerings were much lighter than a year ago. Closing price on track No. 1 northern spot, $1.00¼; to arrive, 99¾c; No. 2 northern spot, 98¼c; to arrive, 97¾c; No. 3 wheat, 96¼@97¼c; No. 3 yellow corn, 58½@59c; No. 3 white oats, 36⅝c; No. 2 rye, 67@67½c.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 1,171 tons. The market was steady. Demand continued in excess of the supply, shipments heavy and prices firm. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $19.50.

Flour — Shipments continued heavy, and the total for the week promises to be the heaviest in several years. Domestic demand was strong, and foreign inquiry slightly firmer. Prices were unchanged. Shipments, 80,396 barrels. First patents, $5.20@5.30; second patents, $5.00@5.10; first clears, $4.35@4.55; second clears, $3.10@3.30.

Flax—Receipts, 30 cars; year ago, 46 cars; shipments, 8 cars. Demand was good and offerings were lighter than a year ago. Spot prices were the same as the Duluth October option, and to arrive was quoted ½c below the near option. Closing price, $1.36¾.

GOOD WORD FOR THE RAT.

Kansas City Journal: Had it not been for a wire roll used in dressing the hair, Gertrude Brown, the 14-year-old daughter of P. S. Brown, would undoubtedly have lost her life when she was thrown from her horse yesterday afternoon.

It so happened that Miss Brown had rolled her hair higher than usual yesterday afternoon, and so the wire rat received the brunt of the fall. The injury was directly under the roll, and was a jagged, three-cornered hole. The girl fell on the back of her head upon a loose stone in the street, and the wire roll covered with hair kept the stone from fracturing the skull.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Market Opened Narrow, But Soon Started on the Upward Grade.

Prices Fell Back With Rise in the Call Money Rate.

New York, Oct. 1.—The opening stock market today was irregular within a narrow compass, although the dealings were active. Atchison was a feature with a rise of a point and Pacific Mail advanced 1⅝ and Canadian Pacific 2. Chespeake & Ohio declined to ¾.

Active stocks moved within a narrow circle, but showed a tendency to heaviness, most of the leaders ruling fractionally below yesterday's closing during the first hour.

There was a good inquiry for many of the minor specialities. Pacific Telephone & Telegraph which was dealt in for the first time on the board, jumped from 48 to 54½. Lackawanna gained 5 points, Pacific, 3; American Car preferred 1⅝, Reading and Interborough-Metropolitan preferred 1⅜ and People's Gas, International Paper preferred, International Harvest and Mercantile Marine preferred, 1. Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha declined 4 points, Chicago & Alton, 1¾, and Pennsylvania and Consolidated Gas, 1.

There was a brisk rally before the end of the hour.

The coalers became notably strong, Reading rising, Delaware & Hudson 1½ and Lackawanna 13. Atchison's gain was stretched to 1⅝. Amalgamated Copper advanced 1⅜ and Sloss-Sheffield Steel 1½. United States Steel touched 89⅞. Illinois Central declined 1. Bonds were irregular.

Speculative operations were congested in United States Steel for a time. Large blocks of the stock were bought at steadily rising prices until it touched 91⅛, a gain of 2 points. The railroad list did not respond, selling orders coming out, which drove Reading back a point and the Pacifics large fractions. American Smelting, after long neglect by the bulls, was pushed up 2 points. Texas & Pacific advanced 1 point.

The market closed rather irregular. Canadian Pacific rose 3, American Beet Sugar 2¾ and Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic preferred and American Car and Pittsburg Coal and Interborough-Metropolitan. Prices fell back with a rise in the call money rate. Union Pacific fell a point below yesterday's last prices. Lake Erie & Western preferred jumped 4½. United States Steel was pushed up to 92⅛. Interborough-Metropolitan rose 2⅜ and some recovery in the general list ensued.

Our own wires to the Copper country. Also connections to Eastern Markets.

FRIDAY, OCT. 1, 1909.

Brokers are getting excited for the way the people are now buying the good curbs is something that makes us all sit up and take notice. Personally I did not know there was so much money in the world. You see things have been rather quiet for some time and this probably accounts for it as far as I am concerned. It now looks like the good old days again and if you do not get in before the big boom that will come this fall and winter you will lose a chance of making a lot of easy money. I am not telling you to buy dead ones for there are enough good stocks on the board without touching these at all.

We are bullish on the Scotts and have done everything in our power to get you interested in this, the greatest new proposition on Butte Hill. The shaft will soon be on its way to the 1,400 and then you will find that you have not been misled by me. Do not be ashamed of your Butte-Alex Scott stock; stand up for your own proposition, for none of the others can show you anything better, and all you need to do is to go down into the mine and you will then understand. The Leonard was good enough to show to the president of the U. S. A., and as you know these two adjoin each other and the veins are the same, and as the Leonard was used to show what the West could show in the way of a mine we certainly can feel proud of the Butte-Alex Scott for we should develop one of the richest mines in Butte, Montana. The shares are advancing fast. Pittsburg is now buying and heavy interests are fast getting this stock away from you. I know of one man now in Butte and has been there for a week who represents the Eastern people of this proposition. He is going to stay another week at the mine and we know what to expect from his visit there. He is from Washington, D. C., and represents some of the strongest people in that city, also represents the Pittsburg crowd. part paid should this time easily advance to $15 a share, and full paid to $20 or higher. Part paid sold at $4⅝ after the close today, and full paid at $8.

We strongly advise the purchase of St. Mary's. Don't be asleep, for you will find this stock one of the big money makers very soon.

THE ROADS OF MOROCCO.

National Review: There are two roads from Tangier to Fez, the one passing through Alcazar and the other following the seashore via Larache. The former is the more direct, and except during the rainy season is usually chosen by the traveler, but the beach road to Larache possesses many attractions, and you are able to spend a night at the old Portuguese settlement of Arzila, which is a model of the fortresses of two centuries ago.

No one has ever yet measured accurately the exact distance which separates Tangier from Fez, and I hope the next person to make the journey will take a bicycle wheel with a cyclometer attached to settle the vexed question once and for all. Roughly, I put the distance at 185 to 190 miles, and it is usual to take from six to eight days on the road, thus limiting the daily march to twenty-five miles, which is quite sufficient if you want to shoot on arriving in camp.

The journey can be done comfortably in six days if your animals are not too heavily loaded, and I have ridden from Fez to Larache in three days during the heat of August, but it is an experiment not to be recommended.

Except during the months of July, August and September, the climate of Morocco is temperate and pleasant. The early spring is, however, the best season for a journey, as the tropical rains which are likely to overwhelm you in the late autumn and early winter have ceased. The rivers are serious obstacles during the rainy season, as there are no bridges and no ferries except close to the coast, and consequently if the fords are impracticable you are likely to be hung up on the banks of a river for a very considerable time. The rivers are wide and shallow, but are liable to rise and fall six to eight feet in twenty-four hours. Your baggage must be carried on mules or horses.

There are no regular roads in Morocco, and the tracks are often very difficult to trace and vary constantly, because the tribes have the curious custom of plowing right over them and sowing their grain thereon. Thus in the summer when the corn is ripe the old road has sometimes entirely disappeared and it is necessary to strike a new trail. As there are no roads, cars are unknown in the interior. The only wheeled vehicles which ever found their way to Fez were brought there by the late Sultan Abdul Aziz, who succeeded in adding considerably to his unpopularity by the innovation.

Atchison Globe: After a woman has been married to a man six months she begins to feel a romantic interest in the man she didn't marry.

A CARP HAUL IN ENGLAND.

Pall Mall Gazette: There was quite a carp haul on Thursday last at Stoneham pond, which is close to the high road between Lewes and Uckfield. It is a muddy, uninteresting bit of water, but holds some big fish, and the Ouse Angling Preservation society, wanting to replenish their river with carp, set about dragging it.

The owner of the pond, R. Bannister, and others threw a leaded cork-topped net across the pond on one side. The weighted net stuck several times in the mud at the bottom of the pond. The waders released it, but at last it got so firmly embedded and its weight so increased by the fish it inclosed that it was impossible to move it, and like the Biblical fishers of old the net, or rather the pulling rope, broke.

Another was soon fastened on, but the net was so heavily laden with mud and a seething mass of fish in the middle that nothing moved it, so the big fish had to be captured and brought to the bank by the men wading. Then, somewhat lightened, it was finally, amid a scene of much excitement and noise, drawn to the bank, filled with carp, small and big, old veterans and young fry.

Between two and three hundred of the finest from about four to six pounds in weight were picked out, placed in a wagon, the bottom of which was thickly layered with wet straw, and driven off to Barcombe, here they were emptied into the Ouse. Plenty of carp were put back in the pond for a reserve.

WORK ON A PLANTATION.

Memphis Commercial Appeal: The day begins on a plantation when it is yet night. The big bell rings between 4 and 5 o'clock for the "hands" to go to the fields. Mammy starts her small sable assistants around at the "big house" with early coffee about 6.

Without this tiny cup of cafe noir your true creole gets up on the wrong side of the bed. He has no appetite for breakfast after a ride through the fields, and still less for his generous noonday dinner. Supper is served at night, and the dishes are typically Southern, the corn and batter breads, fried chickens and waffles and fig preserves, with "syllabub," that moonbeam mixture that makes modern ices and confections heavy by comparison for dessert.

Life on a plantation is not dull. There are visits to town and a constant stream of visitors from town. There are "sugar house" parties and hog killings, Christmas doings and Thanksgiving dinners, to say nothing of house parties and hunts.

The merchant who was sure that he had something important to say to you used enough space today in which to say it.

MINNESOTA WINS CUP

The Battenburg International Trophy Again Taken By Yankee Oarsmen.

Louisiana's Crew Finishes Second and Britons Are Left Way Behind.

New York, Oct. 2.—The cutter crew of the United States battleship Minnesota won the race for the Battenburg cup today. The crew of the Louisiana was second, and that of the British cruiser Drake third.

The race, which is an international contest, was rowed for three miles along a course parallel with the line of the international fleet anchored in the Hudson for the Hudson-Fulton celebration. It was a close struggle between the American crews, the tars of the Minnesota beating the crew of the Louisiana by a bare half length. The Drake's crew finished nine lengths behind. These three were the only contestants.

At the start, upstream, the twelve oarsmen of the Drake shot ahead, but they did not keep their lead for more than the first eighth of a mile. First the Lousiana's cutter and then Minnesota's overtook the Britons.

Won By Steady Pulling.

The Minnesota's boat gradually overhauled the Lousiana's and passed it at the end of the second mile. In the last 100 yards the Louisiana oarsmen

GIRL IS SEIZED BY AN OCTOPUS

Bather on California Coast Has Adventure With Sea Monster.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 2.—Miss Mary Seymour is recovering today from shock and injury inflicted by a big devil fish which nearly drowned her in the surf at Long Beach yesterday.

Miss Seymour, who is an expert swimmer was out beyond the life line near the pier, when the tentacles of the octupus grasped her. Screaming in horror, she struck for one of the pilings of the pier, while the monster wound itself around her lower limbs. She managed to lay hold of the pile and her shrieks brought lifesavers to her aid. When rescued she had swooned.

JILTED MAN IS GIRL'S SLAYER

Fifty-Year-Old Lover Murders Cashier and Then Kills Himself.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Refusal by Miss Phoebe Armstrong, 28 years old, to marry Charles L. Miller, a stationary engineer, aged 50 years, terminated early today in a double tragedy in their boarding house, 519 Rush street. Miller is believed to have shot Miss Armstrong and then committed suicide.

Miss Armstrong, employed as a cashier for a business firm, roomed on the first floor. Her admirer, who had been attentive for two years, had a room on the second. Miss Armstrong slept with her window open, and it is said by detectives that Miller, having stolen down a back stairway, entered the room by this means at about 3 a. m.

The position of Miss Armstrong's body seemed to indicate that she was shot while she slept, her body being in a natural sleeping position when discovered. Miller was fully clothed.

BREWERY AGENT RUINED BY LID

Prohibition Law Destroys His Business and He Commits Suicide.

Washington, Ind., Oct. 2. — George Killion, agent of a Terre Haute brewing company at Loogoote, a town which went "dry" in the Martin county option election, killed himself last night because his business had dropped away and a mortgage had been foreclosed yesterday on his horses and his wagons. Killion, who was 34 years old, drank carbolic acid. His wife found him dying.

EX-POLICE JUDGE IN THE MAYBRAY MIXUP.

Streator, Ill., Oct. 2.—John C. Smith, formerly a police magistrate, was arrested yesterday by a deputy United States marshal. He was later released on $5,000 bail. It is asserted that Smith was a lieutenant of James Maybray, recently indicted at Council Bluffs, Iowa, on charges of swindling by means of fake sporting events.

GROWTH IS GRATIFYING

Governor Johnson Memorial Fund in Duluth Shows Good Increase.

Board of Trade Building Occupants Come to the Front.

The movement to erect a memorial to the late Governor Johnson is meeting with steady success, and it is believed that when all the returns are received there will be a good-sized fund, with enough money in hand to protect the movement against unwise economies. It is the opinion of those who have backed the movement and are working for it, that while it is being done, it ought to be done right, and no consideration of sparing expense ought to enter into any part of the plan. It is probable that the Governor Johnson Memorial commission appointed by Governor Eberhart will set a figure very soon, and when that

BOAT SEIZED BY MEXICANS

Pensacola Schooner's Crew of Eight Cast Into Prison.

Charge of Piracy Is Made Against the Florida Craft.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 2.—Fishing schooner Caldwell H. Colt of this port, has been seized by a Mexican gunboat off Progresso and her crew of eight men thrown into prison. The schooner left here fifteen days ago supposedly for the Campeachy fishing banks and today came the first news known of her seizure, evidently upon the charge of poaching on Mexican fishing preserves.

Owing to the seizure three years ago of one of the schooners belonging to the same firm, the master of the Colt was warned not to enter the Mexican fisching grounds, and if driven in by stress of weather to place all fishing tackle below.

Says She Is Pirate.

Merida, Mex., Oct. 2.—The pilot boat Colt, suspected of being engaged in actual piracy, is lying at the docks in durance and its captain, George Schloss, and crew are being held pending an investigation.

The Colt was captured in Mexican waters by the gunboat Bravo and brought to this port. The Colt is equipped with several rapid fire guns. The suspicious conduct of the vessel caused the Bravo to run her down and take her into port.

The capture of the vessel has created a sensation at this port. For some time Mexican gunboats have been convinced that piracy was being practiced on a small scale in the gulf, although they had been heretofore unable to capture any of the supposed pirates.

GRAND MARAIS, LONG ISOLATED FROM OUTSIDE WORLD, TO HAVE WIRELESS

PRINCE TOO LATE TO SEE THE STORK

Series of Accidents Keeps German Heir From Home When Son Is Born.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—Crown Prince Frederick, whose wife gave birth to a son the night of Sept. 30, was prevented by a series of mishaps from reaching her in time for the event.

The crown prince had been hunting in the forests of Pomerania. A courier sent out to bring him in reached his side just after he had brought down a stag. The crown prince hastened to the hunting lodge, and at nightfall started in an automobile for home.

Then the mishaps began. The machine refused to run, and several hours were lost in effecting repairs. The crown prince then became lost on the forest roads in a fog. At 1 o'clock he found a forester who put him on the right way.

The prince reached home at 4 a. m. of Oct. 1, and was greeted at his door with the news that a son had been born five hours before.

Little North Shore Village Becomes M[illegible]

Wir[illegible] r[illegible]

For years and years, little old Grand Marais has been nestling on the north shore of Lake Superior, in Cook county, without the boon of railroads, the telephone, the telegraph or other modern improvements

Now Grand Marais is to become modern all at once—more modern than hundreds and hundreds of villages in the United States can hope to be for years to come.

The isolation of Grand Marais is to end this fall, within a few weeks, for before winter, a wireless telegraph station will have been installed and the county seat of Cook county will be in instantaneous communication with the rest of the world for the first time in its long career as a recluse.

Ore Shipments Are Main Factor in Making Up the New Total.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The largest monthly total of shipments ever made from the Great Lake ports developed in August, according to a bulletin just issued by the bureau of statistics. While it is true that the domestic commerce was the greatest ever reported, the unusually large shipments of iron raised the total to the record just established. Grain and flaxseed and the combined hard and soft coal shipments for August fell below the average for the same month in 1908.

During August the domestic shipments of all kinds of merchandise on the lakes amounted to 12,543,057 net

TAFT TAKING THINGS EASY

President Spends Day of Comparative Quiet in Portland.

Review of 20,000 School Children Is Big Spectacle of Program.

Portland, Or., Oct. 2.—President Taft is spending today in Portland. The program arranged for his entertainment was arranged with a view to the comfort and convenience of the chief executive.

The president will have a portion of this afternoon to himself and practically all Sunday, the only public demand upon his generosity for tomorrow being his attendance at the laying of the cornerstone of the First Universalist church in the afternoon. There will be no public reception, it being desired to eliminate the handshaking feature.

At the conclusion of a public address by the president at the Armory tonight, he will become the guest of United States Senator Jonathan Bourne until departing for San Francisco Sunday evening. Senator Bourne has engaged an entire floor at the Portland hotel. No set program of the entertainment has been arranged, it being preferred to leave the president to follow his own bent.

Met By Early Crowd.

The president arrived from Tacoma at 7 o'clock this morning, and as he rode through the streets an early morning crowd greeted him. He was escorted by the mayor and governor. Breakfast was served in the main grill room. Among the forty-five guests were Mayor Simon, Governor Benson, Senator Chamberlain, Senator Bourne, ex-Senator Fulton and Representatives Hawley and Ellis.

At 10:30 o'clock, escorted by regular troops and companies of the National Guard, the president started for Multnomah field for what promised to be the most spectacular event of the day. There, from a specially constructed stand, the president viewed the parade and exercises of 20,000 school children.

At the conclusion of the exercises the president returned to his hotel for lunch.

SAYS REPORT IS UNTRUE

Rumored Purchase of Logging Road By Canadian Northern Denied.

Officers State That Line to Port Arthur Is a Myth.

A story appearing in a St. Paul newspaper of yesterday, declaring that the Canadian Northern Railway company had secured a controlling interest in the Duluth & Northern Minnesota railway, the property of the Alger-Smith interests, was today emphatically denied by R. N. Marble, secretary and general manager of the road here, and also scouted as an absurdity by Wirt H. Cook, president of the Duluth & Rainy Lake railroad.

Mr. Marble stated that there was no truth whatever in the story, and that the man who was reported as being a representative of the Alger-Smith interests was not in the employ of the company.

Mr. Cook, while not in a position to deny the report positively, stated that to the best of his knowledge the story was simply without any foundation whatever, and that as far as he was aware, the Canadian Northern has secured no interest in the Alger-Smith road.

Mr. Marble gave out the information that the Alger-Smith road was being

IS VICTORY FOR CUT RATE MEN

Drug Store Case Is Decided Against Restriction on Sale of Goods.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 2.—"Cut rate" druggists won a victory today through a decision handed down by Judge Hoffheimer of the local common pleas court.

W. D. Freeman, manufacturer of face powder, sued R. W. Miller, one of his agents, for $21,000 alleged damages. Freeman alleged a contract with Miller by which the latter was bound not to sell any of the Freeman product to any druggist who would sell at less than the retail price specified by the manufacturer. He sold a quantity of the Freeman powder to Miss McDow, a Cincinnati "cut rate" druggist. Miller demurred to the suit alleging the contract with Freeman was in violation of the Valentine anti-trust law. Judge Hoffheimer sustained the demurrer, declaring the contract was in restraint of trade, against public policy and a clear violation of the law.

Also Considering Affiliation With North Dakota State University.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following closely upon the heels of the affiliation of the North Dakota Baptists with the state university comes the announcement that the United Lutheran church is making investigations to the same end. The movement by the Lutheran is national in its scope, but the investigations in this state have reached the point where it has been decided to call upon the various congregations scattered over the entire state for an expression on the subject.

HOT FLASHES ALMOST GONE

Womun in Aurora Gets Relief From Troubles by Taking Cardui, the Woman's Tonic.

Aurora, Ind.—"I was suffering from the change and had those hot flashes and severe backache all the time. At times I could hardly straighten up.

"I read about Cardui and got a bottle from our druggist and it helped me at once. Now the hot flashes have almost gone and I feel much better.

"I have recommended Cardui to several lady friends."

You need not be afraid to take Cardui when ever you feel that you need a tonic. Its use will not interfere with that of any other medicine you may be taking. Its action is very gentle and without any bad aftereffects. Being purely vegetable and non-intoxicating, Cardui can safely be taken by young and old, and can do nothing but good.

Cardui acts on woman's constitution, building up womanly strength, toning up womanly nerves, regulating womanly organs. Half a century of success, with thousands of cures, similar to the one described above, amply prove its real, scientific medicinal merit.

You are urged to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. It will help you.

FERGUS FALLS GETS NEXT METHODIST CONFERENCE

Renville Puts Up Hard Fight But Loses Out.

Rev. E. K. Copper May Succeed Clemans as Presiding Elder.

The next annual meeting of the Northern Minnesota Methodist conference will be held at Fergus Falls. This was decided at the business meeting of the conference this morning.

Renville, Minn., was hot after the convention for 1910 and a rather heated discussion took place as to which was the better city in which to meet. The delegates who live in the vicinity of Renville rallied loyally to the support of their part of the state. In view of the fact that the conference met in Fergus Falls some years ago and had never met in Renville, the supporters of that town thought that they should be given a show. The vote was close, but Fergus Falls finally won out.

The work of the conference is rapidly drawing to a close and this was the most important piece of business transacted during the business session.

Six young men who are to be ordained at special services Sunday afternoon, this morning answered the disciplinary questions previous to that ceremony. Bishop McIntyre will have charge of the ordination services. Deacons and elders will be ordained at the same meeting.

Dr. Forbes Speaks.

Dr. Forbes this morning addressed the conference to some length on "Home Missions." He told of the work in the past, what is being done at the present time, and the plans for the future. He said that he expected to be in the harness until he was 95 years old. He said that he would quit that time, however, and rest up for five years, as he didn't care to go to heaven all tired out.

Mrs. Kreidler spoke of the work being accomplished by the Deaconess home in Duluth. She told how the home was started a year ago, without a cent; the hard struggle that followed, and urged all to rally to the support of the movement.

Upon a vote of the conference it was decided to publish the minutes of the 1909 meeting in the annual year book.

The business this morning was given over mostly to the reading of reports and the transacting of routine business affairs. The regular early morning devotional service was held preceding the morning session.

The Anti-Saloon League.

This afternoon Rev. E. W. Stark of the Anti-Saloon leage delivered an address on the work of the league in Minnesota. He told many things that are very encouraging in connection with the work.

Later in the afternoon Mrs. Kreidler, who is at the head of the Duluth Deaconess' home, entertained the visiting clergymen and their wives at a reception held at the home in the Lafayette flats.

Tonight the anniversary of the board of education will be celebrated, and President R. Watson Cooper, Lit. D., of Upper Iowa university will make the principal address.

The conference love feast will be held at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Rev. Noah Lathrop will lead the meeting. Bishop McIntyre will be in charge of the morning services at the First Methodist church.

Monday the conference closes its work for the year. The announcement will be made at the business session Monday morning as to whether or not the number of districts will be cut down. This seems to be the chief item of interest to a number of delegates, who seem to be equally divided as to opinion, and the decision is awaited with impatience. With this announcement the appointment of the district superintendents and the reading of the list of appointments, the work will come to a close. There are no important changes expected in the Duluth churches. Rev. E. C. Clemans will retire as presiding elder of this district, and Rev. E. K. Copper is mentioned as his probable successor.

Some of the pastors who could not be away from their churches over the Sabbath returned to their homes today.

A number of the visiting Methodist clergymen who are in the city to attend the sessions of the Northern Minnesota Methodist conference will speak at the several Duluth churches at the Sunday services.

W. E. J. Gratz of Two Harbors will fill the pulpit at the First Congregational church in the evening; Rev. T. S. Oadams of St. Cloud will speak at the Pilgrim Congregational church at the regular morning service; Rev. E. H. Nicholson of Minneapolis will talk at the Lester Park Methodist church in the morning; Rev. L. S. Koch of Melrose will speak in the morning at the German Evangelical church and at the German Methodist Episcopal church in the evening; Watson Cooper of Upper Iowa university will speak at the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. in the afternoon; Rev. J. J. Parish of Mora will speak at the morning service at the Bethel.

Last night Bishop McIntyre addressed a large audience in the auditorium of the First Methodist church on "The Evolution of Abraham Lincoln." He told some interesting stories of Lincoln's early boyhood and recited some incidents that had not before been related.

Mrs. Robert Meyers Frantically Searched for Husband Two Days.

Was Then Informed He Was Dead at Poor Farm.

The death of Robert Myers at the poor farm, where he was sent from the police station to be treated for pneumonia while a fractured skull was slowly killing him, has revealed a sadder story in the suffering and sorrow of his wife.

Meyers had been away from home two days and two nights, and dead nearly twenty-four hours before she learned his whereabouts. The news came to her last evening, after it had been published in The Herald.

During the many years of their married life her husband had never before been absent over night without telling her where he was going. When he failed to come home Wednesday night she worried greatly. The next morning her anxiety increased with the passing of each hour and by night she was almost frantic.

She knew that her husband was not a drinking man, although he occasionally took a drink, but she looked for him in Butler's saloon, where he was injured, but was told he had not been there, she says. None of the neighbors had seen him, and search as she would she was unsuccessful in every effort to locate him.

Wednesday night Meyers was picked up in the street prostrate and unconscious. The policeman thought that he was just "dead drunk." The next morning he was unable to appear in police court. A physician was summoned. He said that the man was sick and ordered him sent to the poor farm, where he was taken Thursday afternoon.

There he was carefully examined and the fracture in his head discovered. But he was beyond all mortal help and died shortly after 10 o'clock. Mrs. Meyers learned of his death Friday.

She is prostrate with grief. She told her story this morning with tears streaming from her eyes. The unexpected end of her husband came to her as a terrible shock and in a manner of which she had never dreamed.

Meyers broke his leg about a year and a half ago and since that time has been unable to do much at his trade. The accident which caused his death was probably due to this fact. Mrs. Meyers has earned the money to keep their household together, while he helped as much as possible. She says they were very happy and had no quarrels or misunderstandings.

Mrs. Meyers explained that their home was but two blocks from D. Butler's saloon, 2332 West Superior street, where Meyers had the fall which caused his death. He tumbled down a flight of stairs and struck his head against an iron pipe.

The wife says both Butler and his bartender knew Meyers well and knew the location of his home. She is greatly grieved that he was not sent to his home, either by them or the police, so that she might have been with him during his last hours on earth. Instead he was left lying in a heap on the street to be picked up and taken to jail and then to the poor farm.

Meyers was a member of the Iron Workers' union. He stood high in the esteem of his fellow workers, and also had a host of friends in the city.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of Durkan & Crawford, where the body was removed after his death at the poor farm.

BOYS' BRIGADE PARADE IS FEATURE OF DAY.

Pittsburg, Oct. 2.—Delegates attending the sixteenth annual convention of the United Boys' Brigades of America, now in session here held a brief business meeting this forenoon and then prepared for the street parade, the banner event scheduled for today.

Forming in the downtown district, the young soldiers marched to the oval in Schenley park, a distance of three miles. There the officials of the organization reviewed them.

The convention is pronounced as one of the most successful ever held.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally, in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Today he left for St. Paul, where he will conduct services tomorrow at the church, which is considered to be one of the largest and most fashionable Swedish Episcipal churches in the country. The offer is very flattering, but he has not decided yet as to whether he will accept or not.

There will be no services tomorrow morning at St. Peter's Swedish Episcopal church. At St. Luke's church the services for tomorrow are announced as follows: Sunday school at 10 a. m., and evening prayer and sermon, "The Power of Faith." Rev. Robert Forbes, D. D., of Philadelphia, will deliver a sermon tomorrow morning at the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, at 10:30 o'clock. Sunday school will be held at 11:45 o'clock.

The announcement that Dr. Forbes will appear at the Grace M. E. church is of special interest to many people living in the western end of the city, who knew him a few years ago when he was the pastor of the Asbury M. E. church at West Duluth and also as presiding elder of the local district.

It is expected that many will attend the morning service, as Dr. Forbes is considered to be one of the foremost pulpit orators in Methodism. Owing to the fact that there will be special services at the First Episcopal church in the evening, there will be no services tomorrow night at the West end church.

MAY BUILD ROUNDHOUSE.

Soo Road Buys Additional Property in the West End.

Through a real estate deal, which was closed yesterday, the Soo line becomes the owner of a lot, 50 by 140, on the southeast corner of Michigan street and Twenty-first avenue west, now occupied by a frame house. The consideration was $10,000.

No official announcement as to the intention of the company in buying the property has been made. The lot adjoins a block which has been acquired by the company. There is a rumor that a roundhouse may go up here, but this report lacks confirmation.

THE HERMANTOWN CUT-OFF.

Property Owners Affected Will Have Hearing Monday.

Property owners along the newly surveyed Hermantown cutoff will be given a hearing Monday morning at 10 o'clock before the board of public works. The survey has been completed and the new rout will be somewhat longer than the old one, but of a lower grade.

The road runs in a southwesterly direction from Millers' creek and Piedmont avenue. It then cuts through below the Mork slaughter house and runs parallel with the Hermantown road, with which it connects a short distance beyond.

A final inspection of the proposed route will be made by the board of public works after the hearing of the property owners and before condemnation proceedings are started. It is hardly possible that actual work on the building of the new cutoff will begin until next spring.

JURY IN MATEL MURDER CASE FAILS TO AGREE

Twelve Men Discharged After Session of Over Twenty Hours.

Ten Stand For Acquittal and Two For Third Degree Murder.

Hopelessly divided, with ten standing for acquittal and two for conviction of murder in the third degree, the jury in the case of Victor Matel reported the deadlock to Judge Cant in district court shortly after noon today and was discharged.

One lone man really prevented a verdict of acquittal. When the first ballot was taken after the jury retired about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, they stood eleven for acquittal and one for conviction in the third degree. The one man held out all night. Another, who stood with him at the finish, swung back and forth on the different ballots during the morning, but the one man was as unswerving in his conviction as the ten men were in theirs, and there was no hope of an agreement with a prolonged session.

Judge Cant was evidently not pleased with the outcome. He said it was a regrettable incident, one that should not have occurred. When he asked the jurors if they were divided on the question of guilt or innocence or on the question of degree of guilty, he expressed surprise that the question of guilt or innocence should have been responsible for the deadlock. The case was a simple one, he said. It was one that, to his mind, should offer few obstacles to twelve men agreeing. What their verdict would be he did not venture to say, but that they should agree he said he had no doubt. Apparently, he said, holding the jury longer would bring no result, so he discharged them.

The session was an exceptional one in a way. From the first ballot the deadlock was on. At 11:40 last night the jury asked that the testimony of Paul Bartosz be read, as the entire question evidently hinged on the story of the one man. The ten apparently did not believe Bartosz, when his story was compared with the other stories told.

The reading of the testimony took fifty-five minutes last night, and the jury did not retire again until nearly 1 o'clock. Judge Cant and the court officers remained at the courthouse until about 2 o'clock, but there was no result and they went home. Some of the jurors took a few hours' sleep last night, but others puzzled over the case. This morning the lone man swung one of the others his way. The ten were settled in their view, and at least one of the two would not change his. About noon they decided that they could not reach a verdict.

Four degrees, in which a verdict of conviction might be returned under the circumstances, were given in the charge. They were three degrees of murder and manslaughter in the first degree.

The case went to the jury about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after M. C. Brzonkala, the attorney for the defense, had concluded his plea. Mr. Brzonkala urged upon the jury that there were so many fights, so much confusion and so much drunken brawling at the wedding celebration which was followed by the killing, that Adolph Mattis might have been the victim of any one of a dozen men.

He said he believed that Paul Bartosz and Walter Hero were both lying, for their stories showed marked discrepancies. They were in his opinion trying to shield themselves or some of their friends, he said, and placing the murder on the Matel boys for their purpose. He took up the discrepancies in the stories of the different witnesses, pointed out the confusion that attended the last few hours of the celebration and urged on the jury that there was a reasonable doubt, or more than a reasonable doubt, that Victor Matel was not implicated in the killing of Adolph Mattis.

Adolph Mattis was killed by a knife thrust given on Garfield avenue at about 2 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 1, following a wedding celebration at the home of William Backinoski, 715 Garfield avenue. Walter Hero and Paul Bartosz, who claimed to have been with Mattis when he was killed, said that Victor and Adolph Matel did the killing, jumping out from a gate near the home of Joe Matel, 512 Garfield avenue, and attacking Mattis, who was walking down the street a few feet behind them. Mattis died in a few minutes and the Matels were arrested the next morning at their home, 1202 West Fifth street. They denied any connection with the crime.

The defense was that there was a drunken brawl in which Mattis received his death blow from somebody unknown.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW DISSOLVING PROCESS will cure you and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified, so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up. The nerves become strong so that all nervousness, despondency and bashfulness disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body and the patient is morally, mentally and physically invigorated; all drains cease, no more vital waste from the system. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure.

WILLIAM C. EVANS of this city writes as follows:

"I want to let you know what your treatment has done for me.

"For years I was troubled with acute Nervous Debility, due to indiscretions and excesses in youth. I became so despondent that I did not care whether I worked or not. I imagined that everybody that looked at me guessed my secret. My back ached, I had pains in the back of my head, my hands and feet were cold, I was tired in the morning, poor appetite, hands shaky, eyes blurred, memory poor, hair loose, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and my doctor told me that he feared paralysis. I took many kinds of medicine and tried several first-class physicians. I wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was finally induced by a friend to lay my case before the Progressive Medical Specialists which I did, although I had completely lost faith in doctors. I commenced the Disease-dissolving Process and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic. I could feel new vigor rushing through my system. In a short time I was cured mentally and physically. Since then I have been continually sending others afflicted as I was to these specialists and I shall continue to do so, as I know I owe them my life."

LOST $200

The man who neglected to buy his ten acres of land for a grove on the Isle of Pines last year has lost just $200 by waiting. To wait another year will prove still more expensive. With the great number of people going to the island, and making improvements, and with the hundreds of acres of groves now just coming into bearing, and beginning to ship their fruit, land values cannot stand still. $50 an acre is dirt cheap.

SAYS TRUST IS FORMING

Pinchot Declares Congress Must Take Action on Water Rights.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Asserting that a monopoly is being formed whose object is to obtain control of the water power sites of the country. Gifford Pinchot, chief of the bureau of forestry, declares that remedial legislation must be enacted at the coming session of congress if this great natural resource is to be preserved to the people.

Looming up as another big problem which will confront congress will be the question of the disposition of vast areas of coal lands in the West, but principally in Alaska. It is important that congress should take prompt action on this important matter. Mr. Pinchot says for the purpose of protection of the country's feul supply and also to prevent a monopoly in that product.

"In my judgment," Mr. Pinchot said "the tendency to consolidation which is now running through all industrial enterprises, will necessarily in the end lead to the consolidation of the water power interests, exastly as it has to consolidation of steel and oil interests.

Question of Power Sites.

"President Taft has indicated his intention of asking congress for legislation governing, as I understand it, the disposal of water power sites on the public domain so that the whole water power question will naturally be taken up before congress. The question is, are we going to give these power sites in perpetuity? That is a question with which congress will have to deal."

"Is it possible to head off this so-called trust?" Mr. Pinchot was asked.

"The government probably cannot prevent the consolidation of such a monopoly," he replied, "but it can control it."

He declared that he had never seen the forests in a more satisfactory condition. The personnel of the service was at a higher standard and the district plan of organization, which was put into operation in December last, was in admirable shape, he said.

Public Favors Conservation.

Mr. Pinchot declared that the recent trip of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson through the West had a most admirable effect in fostering the conservation sentiment.

"In fact, public sentiment is very rapidly getting to be unanimous in favor of the forest service work," said Mr. Pinchot. "Our receipts from the sale of lumber and from grazing are increasing; there have been fewer fires this year than ever before and we now have them under better control than formerly."

Mr. Pinchot will remain here for about a week, when he will go to St. Louis to meet President Taft and accompauny him on his trip down the Mississippi river to New Orleans.

Now that the football season has opened West Duluth youngsters are organizing into teams. One of the latest is the Gopher aggregation, comprising many of the members of the champion Homestake baseball club.

A challenge is out to any 130-pound team in the city. Arrangements for games may be made by calling E. M. Brooks on the Duluth 'phone 3079-L. The line-up of the Gophers is as follows:

This will be the first game of the season for the Fairmonts.

Another game in which West Duluth fans are interested is the game between the West Duluth Irving Tigers and the Grand Rapids team. Today the members of the team left for Grand Rapids, accompanied by a few fans, where the contest will be pulled off tomorrow. The Tigers defeated a team from Superior last Sunday.

HAD BLIND PIG NEAR A PARK

West Duluth Confectionery Dealer Given Limit By Court.

Joe Uscenski, who runs a candy store at Seventy-first avenue west and Grand avenue, near the entrance to Fairmont park, was given the limit, $100 and costs or ninety days in the county jail, when he pleaded guilty in police court his morning to running a blind pig. Two officers in plain clothes visited the place last evening and after getting acquainted bought two quarts of beer and two drinks of whisky.

SOME DETAILS OF ROAD'S PLANS

Committee Reports on Canadian Northern Right-of-Way.

A glimpse into the proposed plans of the Canadian Northern in entering Duluth through the main residence section of West Duluth was given last evening, when the special committee reported back to the club some of the plans that, it is said, the officials of the road entertain.

It was stated that the company now proposes to lay two tracks, but that the first one will be a surface track and later it is intended to put in an ore track, which will be partly elevated on trestle works.

It is understood that members of the Commercial club committee who called upon an official of the road were told that the city council would be asked to require the street car company to elevate its tracks at the two places where the proposed right-of-way would cross them. This would be at Grand avenue and at Fifty-seventh avenue west.

The railroad matter was the all-absorbing topic at the meeting last evening. It is the intention of the club or the majority of its members, to bring pressure to bear to influence the officials of the road to change their plans.

When asked why the road did not plan to run its right-of-way from Grand avenue and Sixty-fifth avenues down between the Northern Pacific tracks and Grand avenue, an official of the company is said to have stated that this route was too expensive on account of the property in the district being held for higher prices. For this reason the other way is said to have been chosen.

TRAFFIC TIED UP.

West Third Street Car Derailed—Double Track Work Progressing.

The derailing of a west bound car on the Fifty-seventh avenue west car line shortly before 11 o'clock this morning tied up traffic on West Third street a few minutes before the car was put back on the tracks. The accident was caused by a bad switch connection at Forty-sixth avenue west.

Work on the West Third street double track extension is progressing. All of the steel has been laid now, but the connections with the switch at Fifty-seventh avenue west has not been made.

The ravine at Forty-ninth avenue west is also nearly filled in.

Street car men say that the double truck cars will not be placed on this line until Dec. 1. It is also understood that the Thirty-ninth avenue switch will be taken out and the schedule of cars on this line will be rearranged in many respects.

Milch Cows Scarce.

West Duluth dairymen say that unless milch cows get more plentiful this fall that there may be a shortage of milk before winter. Good cows have been selling at a premium for some time past. It is said that it is almost an impossibility to secure an ordinary cow for the same price that was paid last season for the best milch cows.

Boarder Arrested.

Because William Boyd, 47 years old, refused to pay a week's board bill at the Phillips hotel and was making himself a nuisance about the place, he was taken to the West Duluth police station last evening by D. A. Fitzpatrick, the proprietor. Boyd was marked up on the tab as a drunk.

GERMANS MEET AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 2.—With 200 delegates representing eighteen states present, the biennial convention of the National German-American alliance opened in the North Cincinnati Turner hall today.

One of the principal slogans of the organization, anti-prohibition, will be immediately sounded by the president, C. J. Hexamer of Philadelphia, in his annual address. He believes that the alliance, with its 2,500 members, scattered over thirty-four states, should make itself felt more than ever in the fight against prohibition. He cited as an example the defeat of Governor Harris in Ohio as being due to the German-American voters.

President Hexamer said that two other main objects of the Alliance are to secure the teaching of German in the public schools and to work for the universal peace of the world.

"While the German children are in an English-speaking country, yet we want them to know they are of German descent, and we want them to be able to speak German," said Mr. Hexamer.

Governor Harmon and Mayor Galvin will welcome the delegates tomorrow.

Nothing else is as safe and certain in results. Sold by all druggists.

Nicoles, for the past three years trainmaster here, was appointed assistant superintendent of the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific, and also superintendent of the Duluth Union depot.

The appointment of Mr. Nicoles comes through the promotion of C. E. McMullen from the position of assistant superintendent of the Lake Superior division, and also in charge of the union depot, to the position of superintendent of the Seattle Terminal division. Mr. McMullen will leave for his new field of duties Monday.

Mr. McMullen has been at the Head of the Lakes for the past six years and is well and favorably known to every railroad man employed upon the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific. His departure for Seattle will be a cause for regret to many of the railroad men at the Head of the Lakes, all of whom were his warm personal friends.

Aside from the business that the three directors of the union depot transacted this morning, there was little of special interest that attracted their attention. After the meeting this morning, the officials went to Superior, accompanied by Superintendent of the Lake Division George Ross.

Both Mr. Slade and Mr. Blanchard stated that the business of the Northern Pacific was very heavy at the present time, and that the terminals at the Head of the Lakes were in good shape to handle the heavy volume of traffic that is being diverted to the Head of the Lakes.

Both officials stated that though there was a very heavy tax upon the equipment of the company, due to the immense volume of wheat that is moving from the wheat-growing sections of the West, and increased immeasurably by the heavy shipments of general commodities, there was no immediate fear of a serious car shortage.

They pointed out that the Northern Pacific, as well as other railroads, had added to its rolling stock, and was in a very good position to handle an immense amount of traffic.

OMAHA CHIEFS VISIT DULUTH

R. H. Ashton, general manager of the Omaha railroad; W. A. Gardner, president of the same company; James T. Clark, vice president of the company; A. W. Trenholm, general manager with headquarters at St. Paul; F. R. Peachin, general superintendent with headquarters at St. Paul, and T. W. Kennedy, superintendent of the Eau Claire division of the system, came to Duluth yesterday in two private cars. The officials spent the afternoon in looking over the terminals and docks of this company here, later leaving for St. Paul.

Mr. Clarke stated that the trip here was of no special significance, but that the officials came to the Head of the Lakes to inspect the terminals and also to get into closer touch with the traffic situation at the Head of the Lakes.

Mr. Clarke stated that never was the general railroad business more bright, that the Omaha was doing a very heavy business at the present time, and that generally speaking, none of the western railroads had just cause to complain over the traffic situation.

RUMOR OF FAST TRAIN

From Duluth to Staples in Three and One-Half Hours.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Is there to be a fast passenger service put on between Duluth and Staples? Such is the rumor among railroad men. The rumor is denied in official circles, but is persistent among train men. The rumor is coupled with a statement that the second section of train No. 3 on the main line, which has been run with as much regularity as the first section, will be made a card train and that the Duluth train will be put on to connect with that. The rumor has it that the new train will make the run from Duluth to Staples in three and one-half hours, leaving Duluth at about 8 o'clock in the evening and stopping only at Superior, Carlton, Aitkin and Brainerd.

OSTEOPATHS IN SESSION

Annual State Convention Is Being Held in Duluth.

Papers Read on Various Diseases—Auto Ride for Delegates.

Prominent osteopathic physicians and surgeons from all parts of the state are today holding the eleventh annual meeting of the Minnesota State Osteopathic association. There are over fifty delegates in attendance, showing the rapid growth of osteopathy in this state, and today's meeting promises to be the most successful ever held by the association in Minnesota.

This morning's session, which is being held in Flaaten's hall, was opened by an address of welcome by Dr. William A. McClaran. In his address Dr. McClaran pointed out the progress the association has made, the growth of the practice of osteopathy and the better understanding of its principles.

Dr. McClaran's address extended the hospitality of the city to the delegates and also gave them cordial welcome. Dr. E. C. Pickler of Minneapolis, president of the national association and one of the most prominent osteopathic physicians in this country, delivered the president's address, and the morning session also included a paper on "Epilepsy," by Dr. William H. Eskley of St. Paul, and a paper on "Infantile Paralysis," by Dr. Clara T. Gerrish of Minneapolis. In view of the fact that there has been such a persistent spread of the latter disease within the past few weeks, the paper was listened to with a great deal of interest, not only by the delegates, but also by a number of laymen who were present at this morning's session.

The reading of the papers closed the morning session.

This afternoon there was a demonstration of technic by Dr. F. A. Turfler of Indianapolis, one of the most prominent osteopathic surgeons in this country. Dr. Turfler comes to the Minnesota state convention at the urgent request of the members of the state association, and his demonstration this afternoon attracted close attention from the large audience. Dr. Turfler made a demonstration with a live subject.

The open parliament followed the demonstration. There were discussions by Dr. J. W. Hawkinson and Dr. K. Janie Manuel. A variety of diseases were discussed by the delegates under the leadership of the two doctors.

The election of officers took up part of the afternoon's session. The report of the different committees was also part of the program. The closing of the business of the session was followed by a ride over the boulevard in automobiles. The ride was given through the courtesy of Duluth doctors of osteopathy.

This evening a banquet will be held at the Spalding hotel. There will be informal speeches at the banquet, which will be followed by a program. Following is the program that will be carried out this evening:

THOUSANDS SEE CLEVER SIGN

Unique Advertising Device at Fourth Avenue West and Superior Street.

Thousands of people on Superior street of an evening have been attracted and interested by the clever advertising device of Maricopy Rye over the building at the southwest corner of Fourth avenue west and Superior street.

The electric sign, which is undoubtedly one of the most unique used in advertising Maricopa Rye, represents a huge bottle tilted so that the contents fall into a tumbler below. The electrical effect is very striking and realistic. The bottle is outlined with incandescents, while the current is made to run down through colored bulbs and fill the tumbler, with the effect of Maricopa Rye filling a glass.

There are only three of these electric signs in this country. One is located on Broadway in New York city and the second occupies a prominent place in Denver, Colo.

TO FURNISH WATER POWER TO TWIN CITY INDUSTRIES

The Cokefairs Expect to Develop 100,000 Horse-Power.

Coon Creek Project Announced Friday But One of Several.

That C. C. Cokefair and his son, F. A. Cokefair, of the Great Northern Development company have been quietly at work for the past two years securing lands on the Mississippi river above Minneapolis for the purpose of harnessing the water power for Minneapolis and St. Paul, has just come to light and is admitted by the elder Cokefair.

Through the filing of the last of the deeds in the deal in Hennepin and Anoka counties yesterday the Minneapolis newspapers learned of the plans, but they published only part of the transactions, which in the aggregate comprise one of the largest water power development propositions which has ever been undertaken in this part of the country and which is designed to supply the ever-increasing demand in the Twin Cities for power cheaper than steam, the natural water power of St. Anthony Falls and the Taylor's Falls power being utilized now to the fullest extent and supplemented by many thousands horse power of steam power.

Dispatches from The Herald's Minneapolis correspondent describe the deal as follows:

"Comparison of deeds filed in the offices of the registers of deeds of Anoka and Hennepin counties yesterday revealed the fact that the Great Northern Development Company of Duluth has purchased all the land on both sides of the Mississippi river between Anoka and Coon Creek Junction.

"Charles C. Cokefair, president of the company, said over the long distance telephone from Duluth that the company would build a $1,000,000 power plant at Coon Creek Junction and would apply shortly to congress for permission to build a dam and locks which will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000 more.

"What the land already purchased has cost, Mr. Cokefair refused to say.

"Mr. Cokefair believes congress will give the company authority to build this dam. The power plant will have a capacity of 15,000 hydro-electric horse power.

"For two years the company has quietly been purchasing land along the river banks. Only recently did it acquire the last parcels necessary to its plans. The point at which the power house is to be erected is at one of the narrowest portions of the river, and the current is not only swift, but there are rapids known as Coon Creek rapids."

Dispatches Correct.

When seen today by a Herald reporter, Mr. Cokefair admitted that the Minneapolis dispatches stated the truth, but had only given a part of the facts.

"The Coon Creek deal," said Mr. Cokefair, "is only one of several hydro-electric power propositions that the Great Northern Development company has quietly acquired in the last three years, and has worked up engineering plans for their successful consummation. All of them are located on the Mississippi river and all of them above Minneapolis and Coon Creek.

"The capacity of all these plants will be more than 100,000-horse power, and all the power will be disposed of in the Twin Cities. Prominent Eastern capitalists have been interested in these various holdings, and they will all be developed as soon as the necessary rights for the dams can be secured from congress.

"At the present time there is no other hydro-electric power available in the Twin Cities, and we already know right where we can dispose of all our power.

"All the St. Anthony Falls power at Minneapolis is utilized by the big flour mills and the Twin City Rapid Transit company. In addition, the Twin City Rapid Transit company is using steam to secure 30,000-horse power. The Minneapolis General Electric company gets 12,000-horse power from the hydro-electric plant at Taylors Falls. All this power is in use, too, so that there is an evident shortage of power in the Twin Cities, which makes a large amount of steam power necessary. Coal is $1 a ton higher in Minneapolis than here and steam power is very expensive. So the possibilities of our properties may be clearly seen."

There are some prominent Eastern capitalists interested in the Mississippi river proposition which the Cokefairs have promoted. The Coon Creek project, which is the one nearest Minneapolis, is held by the Cokefairs themselves but the others nave been disposed to the Easterners.

GRAND JURY FOR OCTOBER

The October term of district court will open next Wednesday, when the calendar will be called by Judge Cant. The grand jury will convene Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, and will immediately begin its work.

There are 142 cases on the civil calendar for the October term and the criminal list is also expected to be heavy, as there are five murder trials pending.

The grand jury for the October term is as follows: A. W. Hartman, John B. Adams, D. W. Scott, Robert G. Borland, Thomas Gibson, Edwin H. Eddy, Burr Porter, Jacob Stein, Julius D. Howard, John B. Erd, Alexander Anderson, Albert Graham, H. D. Final, L. H. Manley, Stephen H. Jones, Chris Sanders, Alvin G. Bonsfield, Duluth; Charles Grabowski, Ely; William Carmichael, Biwabik; M. S. Hawkins, Mountain Iron; R. L. Giffin, Hibbing.

Farmer Hanged Himself.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 2.—Herman Clemens, a prosperous farmer, was found yesterday hanging from a rafter in a barn on his farm five miles east of Jamestown, N. D. Mystery surrounds the entire affair. The man owned nearly a thousand acres of land. No reason can be assigned for rash act.

MAN MYSTERY IN RANGE TOWN

A man of mystery is "Richard Roe," an unknown man, who will be brought from Ely to the county jail to be examined in probate court for insanity. He was picked up on the street in Ely and is held in the city jail there until he can be brought to Duluth.

The man's mind is a blank. He doesn't know his own name, his home, the names of his relatives or friends and apparently his queer actions caused him to be locked up by the police. To every question his answer is "I don't know." He acts bewildered, apparently attempts to call up something to memory, but fails to do so.

It is believed he wandered away from somewhere and his condition was not noticed until he arrived in Ely. Nobody knows him up there.

IGNORANCE PROVED A BAR

Three avowed Socialists were up before the district court last night as applicants for naturalization papers. Two of them proved that their Socialism would not interfere with their citizenship, for they did not believe in the red flag. They believed the laws were for the good of mankind and should be obeyed, and they were ready to recognize the government of the United States as their own in preference to that of Russia.

Matt Raski of Eveleth slipped up. He didn't know what the laws were. He was a Socialist and proud of it. He didn't believe in the red flag, he said, and he thought that he would obey the laws, but he didn't know very much about the laws. When asked why he was a Socialist he drew himself behind the cloak of "just because." Judge Dibell decided that Raski didn't know enough of the laws of be a citizen of the United States, so he was turned down.

Twenty applicants were heard last night and this morning. Sixteen applicantions were granted, two were continued and two were denied. August Leskinen hadn't lived in the state of Minnesota for a year before making his application, so he couldn't qualify as a citizen just yet. He may make another application when his year's residence is up.

Peter Wilko Waananen of Bassett appeared before the court with a witness who was called by Judge Dibell as an undesirable citizen and one who could not very well be qualified to vouch for the good character of Waananen. The man in question has been mixed up with the police several times and his reputation isn't all good. So Waananen's case was continued for ninety days, and he will post another witness.

FOURTH DEATH IN FAMILY IN YEAR

Mrs. Christine Anna Lillyman, 84 years old, for thirty-eight years a resident of Duluth, died at 11 o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gustav Lillyman of 1923 West Superior street.

Her death will mark the fourth in the Lillyman family during the past year. Only last Monday, a sister, Mrs. Paulson of Rush City, passed away and death also took another sister, Mrs. Geschwind, at her home in Sweden about two months ago. Gust Lillyman of the West end, a son, has been dead about a year.

Mrs. Lillyman came to Duluth with her husband in 1871 and has lived here ever since. She leaves to mourn her loss, a brother residing in Rush City and five grandchildren, besides her daughter-in-law at the West end.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon from the residence with burial at Lutheran cemetery.

LOCATED IN MARQUETTE

Missing Husband of Mrs. Shirts Found By Herald Correspondent.

Ura Shirts, the missing husband, who is claimed to have been impersonated by Frank Carlson, has been located by a Herald correspondent in Marquette, Mich.

Mr. Shirts has been living in Marquette for the last two years. He secured a divorce from his wife, from Judge Stone of Marquette, last May. He was married again in July, and is now employed as a bookkeeper for the Sambrook Lumber company. He did not know where his wife was, and nearly fainted when shown The Herald articles in a Marquette barber shop by a Herald correspondent last night. He denies his wife's statements about himself, and says that she left him because he would not accompany her to Duluth.

Shirts has a distinguishing scar on his upper lip, according to The Herald correspondent, by which he says his former wife should have known he was not Carlson. He says he will come to Duluth as a witness if wanted.

Carlson was arrested on the charge of impersonating Shirts, and passing as Mrs. Shirts' missing husband. He was bound over to the grand jury and is now out on bonds. The offense is a serious one, and if the statement regarding the scar on Shirts' upper lip is verified, it may result in his acquittal. It will at least prove an important piece of evidence for his attorneys in the fight for his release.

DIVORCE FOR THE LARSONS

Judge W. A. Cant in district court at noon today granted a divorce to Daniel Larson from his wife, Mildred Larson. They are the West Duluth people, who have been in the public eye on account of a sensational suit brought by Larson against Carl Thiel, a Hibbing photographer, for alienation of his wife's affections. The case was tried at Hibbing at the July term of the range court but the jury disagreed.

The testimony in the divorce case was taken last evening. Mrs. Larson brought the suit for divorce, alleging desertion. Larson answered with a plea for a decree on the grounds of desertion and misconduct.

In rendering his decision this morning, Judge Cant said that it didn't make much difference which party was given the divorce, but he considered that Larson's claim was the better substantiated and he would grant the decree to him. He said that, for the present at least, Mrs. Larson may have the custody of the girl, who has been with her since the separation, and Mr. Larson may have the custody of the two boys, both parents having the privilege of visiting the children in the custody of the other.

In disposing of the children, Judge Cant held out the hope to Mrs. Larson that she might ultimately have the custody of one of the boys if she showed herself qualified to care for him properly. He said that if she would live properly, show that she had not been guilty of misconduct, would endeavor to live down the past and would show an honest desire to lead a good life, he would entertain an application on her part for the custody of one of the boys. He said he would not promise that the application would be granted, but it would at least be considered by him if presented in the proper spirit.

TRUE BILL FOR DETROIT MAN

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 2. — The Broome county grand jury today returned three indictments in connection with the recent Knapp bank failures—one against Charles P. Knapp of Detroit and two against Charles P. Knapp and Charles J. Knapp of Binghamton, jointly. All of the indictments charge criminally receiving deposits in an institution known to be insolvent.

The indictments follow a series of failures last April, when the deposit and Calicoon branches of Knapp Bros., private bankers, closed their doors, the Outing Publishing company of Deposit went into the hands of a receiver and the Binghamton Trust company was placed in the hands of the state banking department.

The body was not recovered for two hours after the accident. The boy was playing in the pit when the accident occurred.

BOTH MINES SHOW UP WELL

Lucien Merritt Inspected Red Warrior and St. Mary's Mines.

Lucien Merritt returned yesterday from an inspection of the Red Warrior and St. Mary's properties. The mines are in Beaver county, Utah, a famous mining district. Mr. Merritt says every mine in the district is showing a very bright prospect, this being especially true of the Red Warrior and St. Mary's properties.

Development on the St. Mary's property is going ahead very rapidly at the present time, according to the statement of Mr. Merritt. At the level upon which operations are being pushed at the present time, rich pay ore is being encountered. A heavy vein has been struck which gives promise of furnishing the most valuable ore that has yet been mined from the property.

Work is being pushed very rapidly on the St. Mary's location, according to the statement of Mr. Merritt, and those who are acquainted with the property expect that some very rich veins will be developed within a short time.

Work on the Red Warrior property is progressing very steadily, says Mr. Merritt, and at the fourth level of the operations a rich vein has been struck.

Mining operations throughout the district look promising.

ONE PUMP AS GOOD AS TWO

The board of water and light commissioners and Fairbanks, Morse & Co. have discovered that two centrifugal pumps, each with a capacity of 2,000 gallons a minute working alone, have a combined capacity of but 2,000 gallons a minute when working together on the same pipe and pumping through the same outlet. Now the company, which has failed to execute its contract, wants the board to pay $500 less than the contract price, $4,223. The board offers to pay $3,000. The matter will probably be settled at a future meeting of the board.

When the booster plant at West Duluth was installed, the board desired to provide for the future, so it decided to secure a pumping capacity of double what will be needed for the next four or five years. There was a slip in mechanical engineering. Fairbanks, Morse & Co. agreed to furnish two centrifugal pumps, each with a capacity of 2,000 gallons a minute, which, pumping together, would pump 4,000 gallons a minute.

The plans of men "gang agley" in a surprising manner. When the two pumps were put in operation together, they registered 2,000 gallons a minute. When they were put in operation singly they registered 2,000 gallons a minute. Two thousand gallons a minute was the capacity of the plant under any method of running the pumps, so the board came to the conclusion that the company had failed to fulfill its contract. Now there is a hitch over the price. An attorney and a representative of the company appeared before the board at the meeting Thursday and made the proposition calling for the payment of $500 less than the contract price. The representative was not authorized to accept the board's offer of $3,000, so he said he would report to the company and report later to the board.

At the meeting Thursday J. S. Matteson, assistant secretary of the department, tendered his resignation on account of his having accepted another position. He offered, however, to put in three hours a day in the service of the department until his place could be filled. Manager L. N. Case recommended that the offer be accepted and the resignation was laid on the table while the arrangement is in force.

ARMED MAN EAGER TO GET NEAR TAFT

Portland, Or., Oct. 2.—Capt. Bailey and two local detectives arrested a heavily armed man in front of the Portland hotel just as the president was entering an automobile to participate in the military parade. The prisoner refused to give his name, but said he was from Boston.

Capt. Bailey was attracted by peculiar actions of the man. The stranger had a camera in his hand and was trying desperately to reach a point of vantage close to the president. Summoning two detectives, Capt. Bailey placed the suspected man under arrest. When the prisoner was searched a six-shooter was found upon him, together with a quantity of extra amunition.

MAY SETTLE BIG SUGAR TRUST SUIT

Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—Brief proceedings before Judge Wilson in common pleas court here today in the $30,000,000 suit of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company against the American Sugar Refining company, indicate that there will be an amicable settlement of the case by the acceptance of the terms offered by the so-called "trust" when the case was on trial in New York several months ago.

At that time the American Sugar Refining company offered to pay to George H. Earle, receiver of the Pennsylvania company, $750,000 and to surrender a note given for a loan of $1,250,000 by Adolph Segal, promoter ofthe local concern.

Counsel for Mr. Earle told Judge Wilson today that at a conference of attorneys representing all interests it was decided to ask the court to postpone further proceedings in the matter for two weeks, and that it was thought the litigation would be settled in the interim.

Learning of a plan to visit Braidwood, the officers lay in wait in a granary next door and the intruders were allowed to begin drilling on a small safe, when a shot was fired. The burglars fled, but one man ran into the officers' arms. The other crashed through a window, turned a somersault and escaped in the fog.

"THE LITTLE FATHER OF THE POOR" AND HIS CREED

Dr. Ridder, Author, Physician and Hobo, Reaches Duluth.

Happy With Twenty-Five Cents Between Him and Starvation.

Dr. Ben Ridder, physician, author, Socialist, lecturer and administrator generally to the needs of the poor, received his callers in bed this morning. He is quartered at the Lenox hotel. A telephone inquiry brought the husky summons to step up. The room was half-dark. A deep-toned voice gave you assuring welcome, and then a large and sinewy hand was thrust out of the bed clothes in greeting.

Dr. Ridder is not the ordinary kind of a chap that bums around the country. He has a breadth of forehead between the eyes, that strongly denotes intelligence of a superior kind. He is a graduate of the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, and before casting himself on the troubled waters of hoboism, he was a practicing physician in New York city.

One day he read a book on the misery of the submerged classes. He started out to investigate for himself the things he had read of. He found the bread line. There men and women were standing in the snow and biting cold of winter for hours to get a half a loaf of bread and a pint of coffee. The condition made a deep impression on the mind of the doctor. That was nearly eleven years ago. Since that time he has been "bumming" around the country, investigating conditions.

The "No-Good" Tramps.

Dr. Ridder freely admits that there are "no-good" tramps. You see there are degrees and marked distinctions in the world of trampdom. When a hobo is no good, he is driven away from the "Mulligan kettle." That is the last hard blow.

The "Mulligan kettle" is the big kettle where the morsels of food that have been gathered by the many individual foragers are stowed. Anything goes into the "Mulligan kettle." Then the members of the leisure class gather around and dip eagerly into the depths of the kettle. But if you happen to be a "no good" kind of a tramp, you are driven away from the kettle

The author-tramp says he has been arrested 601 times and that he has served sentence eighty-two times. He says that he has been beaten up by the officers of the law upon innumerable occasions. In Oregon he says that he was tied to a wooden cross by the police and a fire hose with a pressure of seventy-five pounds turned upon his naked body. He became unconscious from the terrible agony, he asserts, but after regaining consciousness was subjected to further torture.

Dr. Ridder says he travels about, first because he loves to travel, and because it gives him an opportunity to meet and talk with the poorer people. He only recently addressed a large gathering in Milwaukee, and gave one of his famous banquets there.

Rode The "Cushions."

Until he rode from Washburn to Duluth on the "cushions," the doctor asserts he has not for the past eleven years spent more than $1.29 on car fare. But he says that his health is run down at the present time and he will have to pay until he feels equal to battling with the bumpers.

"They said that I talked to a good crowd of 'bums' in Ashland, "said the genial doctor, with a smile creeping around the corners of his mouth. "Well some of those 'bums' were Senators La Follette of Wisconsin, and Clapp from your own state. There were other prominent men there. Now don't you think that these people are very prominent 'bums,' eh?"

Dr. Ridder is a Socialist, but not painfully so. He is, rather, a Bohemian, a royal good fellow, cheerfully giving his last cent away, and trusting to luck to get more money. Maybe this shouldn't be told for the hotel people may worry, but Dr. Ridder has only 25 cents between him and starvation. He says he will get more, some place, and he is not worrying. And in the meantime, with but two bits in his kicker, he receives his callers in bed, with a dignity that few men can assume in a cotton "nighty," and says you must take things as they come.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The lecture of Charles W. Seymour, "Marie Antionette," delivered before the pupils of the high school last Wednesday morning was one of the most interesting talks ever given in the school. The audience was very attentive during the entire speech, and at the close Mr. Seymour received a very liberal applause.

The girls' gymnasium classes will begin next Monday. The freshman and sophomore girls have been divided into groups and a schedule arranged. The classes will be held from 3:40 to 4:30 on Mondays and from 2:20 to 3 on Wednesdays.

The directors of the boys' department of Y. M. C. A. have appointed an athletic committee in the high school, which will look after the relations existing in athletics between the school and the Y. M. C. A. The committee will meet for the first time next week to become more familiar with the work they must do, and before long an interclass basket ball schedule will be arranged.

The mass meeting held in the auditorium Friday afternoon for the purpose of stirring up football enthusiasm was one of the most interesting events of this sort ever held in the school. The old football songs and yells were practiced and speeches made by Asher Taylor and Principal Buck.

Mr. Custance composed a new song to the tune of "Cuddle Up a Little Closer," and hereafter it will be used at the games. The words of the new song are as follows:

"Where's the team so brave and gritty,
D. H. S.
Pride of all the Zenith City,
D. H. S.
Hope to see you win each game boys,
Hope you'll reach the champion's fame boys;
Win or lose, we'll cheer the same boys,

The next class meeting to be held will be the sophmores' Wednesday afternoon. The members of the class say they will be careful to have a leader this year until the end of school. Their last year's president quit school before the end of the year, and around the time of the closing school exercises the class was in a rather embarrassing position.

Mr. Buck, the new principal, certainly has made a hit with the boys. He is a firm believer in school athletics, and the way in which he boosts this branch of school life has made a decided hit with the boys and also with the girls, who are athletically inclined.

* * *

Many old faces have disappeared from the ranks of the choir, but judging from the way thsi year's choir performs during the chapel exercises, Mr. Custance is obtaining wonderful results from the new members.

NORMAL NOTES

The rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

The freshmen held a class meeting Thursday at which time they organized a dancing club, which will meet on Fridays.

Charles W. Seymour gave two lectures the past week. On Tuesday, his subject was, "Father Marquette, the French explorer."

"Sweep away the iron web of railroads," he said. "Cover up the roads; destroy all the buildings; banish the people; replace the rocks, replant the trees, and let out the wild, untamed continent and view it again in the silence of primeval sleep; replace the Indians and look on the country as it was when the great explorer set out to seek and explore its great lakes and mighty rivers. The French were the first nation which endeavored to teach the Indians, the natives of this vast doman. It was France who tried to mold them in her character and worked to polish them into a mirror resembling herself. At the beginning France called on the church for help in her effort to develop these ignorant savages and nowhere did the Jesuit Fathers show more courage and bravery than in exploring, teaching and preaching on this great continent. One of these Jesuit Fathers was Marquette, whose earliest ambition and prayer was that he might spend his life among these outcasts of humanity and die in the wilderness with his Maker. To this end he worked, entering schools and Jesuit colleges, that he might be fitted to do this great work. So we find him coming to America and laboring among the early colonists, but all the while longing to go farther into the wilderness that he might search out the great river, of which he had heard so many terrible tales from the Indians. After begging and beseeching the men of authority in the colonies to allow him to search out this river, he was at last granted permission. Marquette with the aid of Joliet made known to France the Mississippi river, which has borne such a part in our history."

The subject of Mr. Seymour's lecture on Thursday was "Christopher Columbus."

ACRE LOTS FOR SALE IN SECOND ADDITION TO

HOMECROFT PARK

(THE NEW SUBURB OF DULUTH.)

On account of the many inquiries which we have received for lots in Homecroft Park since we had our very successful sale a month ago, when all of the lots offered were sold out, we have decided to open up and put on the market at once, the SECOND ADDITION TO HOMECROFT PARK. The location of Homecroft Park is at Woodland, seven to twelve blocks from the end of the car line, and just outside the city limits. Two fine level county roads run through this beautiful addition and every lot fronts on a road. A large schoolhouse will soon be built. A telephone line and an electric light line are proposed to be built. In fact, there will be many suburban conveniences in Homecroft Park Addition.

The size of one of these lots is about an acre, some more and some less. THE SOIL is a fortune in itself and consists of from three to six feet of RICH, BLACK LOAM, unsurpassed for garden purposes; no stones and well drained.

$1 CASH

The terms are so easy that there is a chance for everybody to get one of these valuable lots.

Only $1.00 Cash and $2 to $3 Per Week Until Paid For. No Interest at Any Time. No Payment When Sick or Injured. Perfect Title (Torren's Title.)

The pr[illegible] range from $200 to $375, according to size, location and timber.

We ve[illegible] to say that these acre tracts are one of the best purchases to be made in the city [illegible] uluth today, especially when you take into consideration the location, which is convenient and close in, the excellent black soil, wholly free from stones; the nice lay of the land with a canal or river running through it, and the very easy terms we offer.

LOOK AHEAD a few years, and you will find here, without any doubt, a beautiful suburb of a great city. The homes which will be built upon these excellent tracts of land, with their deep, rich stoneless soil, will front upon fine grass lawns with a luxuriant growth of flowers; and in the rear of the homes you will find large productive gardens of kitchen vegetables and other produce, which will be used by the family as well as sold for profit. For, remember, the soil here is black garden soil from 3 to 6 feet in depth and free from stones. It will therefore yield all these benefits to the owner with the least possible work. Just think, when from 5,000 to 10,000 quarts of strawberries can be raised easily on one acre with proper care, or other berries or kitchen vegetables in the same proportion, you can readily figure out to what a great extent your living expenses can be met and paid out of the production of one of these tracts.

Remember, also, that while the land is increasing in value as the time goes on, you can live on it and attend to your work in the city every day.

Do Not Hesitate—Secure one of These Tracts Now.

THE CITY IS GROWING RAPIDLY, the longer you wait the farther out you will have to go, to say nothing of the fact that this is very nearly the last chance to get a piece of land so near the city with such fine productive soil, where you can nearly double your income every year.

REMEMBER, THERE IS SUFFICIENT TIMBER ON MOST OF THE LOTS FOR ALL BUILDING PURPOSES

Why not walk a few blocks extra and for the same money or less get twelve times more of what is the foundation of all wealth—LAND. Come out tomorrow and make your selection. First come, first served. There is only a limited number of these choice garden tracts. Salesmen will be there to show them to you.

This is an Opportunity For Independence. Do Not Let it Slip By. Somebody Else Will Surely Take It.

ANXIOUS TO SEE THE WORLD

St. Paul Lads Don't Like Range and Leave for the West.

Clarence Olson and Howard Jordan, two St. Paul boys, are having a great time seeing the country. It is true that they have not as yet covered as much territory as they expect to, but they have made a good beginning, and look at the future in the most optimistic manner possible.

Each boy is 17 years old. They left their homes in the Twin Cities about three weeks ago and have crowded more adventures into three weeks than most people have in a life time.

They left last night for a point in Montana. They were shipped by a local employment agent. They don't expect to stay long in the alfalfa state, however, and will work their way on to San Francisco.

The boys started on their sightseeing tour about three weeks ago via a side-door Pullman route for Duluth. There wasn't much doing here in their line, and they got a job on the range. Everything was going well up there and things looked rosy for a stake when a man who had fits kept them awake for about a week in addition to scaring them nearly to death. The strain was too great and one of the boys fell asleep while on duty at the switch at the opening of the mine. He was promptly discharged and after a conference they decided that they did not care for the range anyway.

Deciding to go to the coast, they returned and shipped to Montana by way of the employment agency route.

Both boys are strong, large for their age and out for all the fun that can be gotten out of "tourist travel." They say they are going across the ocean before returning to their homes and settling down.

COOK EAGER FOR PROBE

Offers to Help Investigation of His Mount McKinley Work.

Danes to Have First Chance to Pass on His North Pole Data.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 2.—Dr. F. A. Cook, the explorer, was interviewed by the Times, while passing through this city yerterday en route to Boston. Among other things he said that he had preserved the records of his climb to the apex of Mount McKinley, and that he is willing to turn them over to the investigating committee of the Explorers' club, which is now invesigating his claim of having made the ascent. He said:

"I think the investigation of the Explorers' club will be a good thing for me. It will clear up the whole matter and will set at rest any doubt as the truth of my claim. My records are at their disposal, and whatever else I have that will be of use to them."

Cheered By Big Crowd.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—When Dr. F. A. Cook arrived from New York a crowd, which filled the approaches to the South station, cheered as he made his way, under police escort, to a waiting automobile.

May Not Meet Request.

New York, Oct. 2.—The request of the National Geographic society to Commander Peary and Dr. Cook to submit all their observations, notes and data speedily to a competent scientific commission in the United States, will, in all probabili[illegible] not be fulfilled.

Dr. Cook [illegible] repeatedly expressed his determi[illegible] to lay all his records and i[illegible]nts primarily before the Universi[illegible] Copenhagen, which was the first [illegible] recognize him officially as the discoverer of the North Pole. The delay caused by the detention of some of Dr. Cook's instruments at Etah, where they were left in charge of Harry Whitney, may induce him to alter the decision. Up to the present, however, Dr. Cook has not changed his original intentions.

Needs Other Instruments.

Dr. Cook has with him the entire record of his journey, and also the chronometer watches he took with him to the Pole. The chronometer watches will be sent at once to the proper authorities in America for correction. The other instruments, comprising the sextant, the artificial horizon and the compasses, are still at Etah, and Dr. Cook rays their presence here and the scientific certification of their accuracy are absolutely necessary before he can submit his data to a proper organization of scientists for approval.

Dr. Cook maintains the correctness of his obesrvations, declaring that his instruments were the best obtainable and perhaps superior to those used on former expeditions. When asked why he will not submit his data first to an American body of scientists, his reply was that he had hitherto not been asked to do so, and that he felt he owed it to the Danes, who had honored him before all others.

WEAKENED WHEN SISTER WEPT

Duluth Girl Kept Brave Front Until Cell Door Opened.

Not until she saw the jail bars staring her in the face would Katie Armstrong, 16 years old, consent to go home last night and promise to accompany her parents to California today. She is the daughter of B. W. Armstrong of 123 Ninth avenue east.

Yesterday morning she went to friends at Woodland. Her father did not learn her whereabouts until night and tried in vain to persuade her to come back.

When the police department was notified, Detective Toewe gave her the choice of going with her father or being locked up. She nonchalantly accepted the latter. It was only when her sister started to cry and preparations were being made to place her in the women's department that she changed her mind. Family troubles are said to have been the cause of her refusal to go to California.

FIRST MASS MEETING FOR MEN

President R. Watson Cooper Will Open the Y. M. C. A. Series.

The first of the fall and winter series of Sunday afternoon men's meetings at the Y. M. C. A. will be held next Sunday afternoon with R. Watson Cooper, president of Upper Iowa university as the speaker. President Cooper will speak on "The Education of Manual Labor." The Dixie Jubilee singers will appear in the musical part of the program to render several sacred selections.

President Cooper is one of the best known Methodist educators in Iowa and is a speaker of ability. He comes to Duluth primarily to speak before the conference of Northern Minnesota Methodists at the First M. E. church and he has been secured to deliver the Sunday afternoon address at the Y. M. C. A. He is said to be an excellent speaker and a deep thinker, and J. A. McGaughey, religious secretary of the association, says the address will be a fitting opening number of the series.

Mr. McGaughey says the series of Sunday afternoon meetings this year will be on the same high standard as last season. The best speakers available will be secured and the meetings will be made still more attractive by Duluth's best musical talent.

OLD SAWMILL IS DESTROYED

Becklinger Sawmill at New Duluth Burned to the Ground.

New Duluth, Minn., Oct. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sawmill belonging to the Becklinger Furniture company burned to the ground yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. The fire was of unknown origin and had gained great headway before it was noticed. The building was old and dry, and had not been used for a number of years.

A carload of lumber had been piled in the mill the day before and that was burned also, making a total loss of about $3,000, with no insurance.

The volunteer fire company turned out and the factory fire pumps were used, and they succeeded in checking the flames so that the fire was kept from spreading. A number of piles of wood, belonging to the company, were saved. Several boats belonging to private parties were burned.

A Skin Healer and Beautifier.

A scratch or a small cut is only one of the small ills of life, and a pimple or blackhead is but a trifling disfigurement; yet every one at times has occasion to wish for a quick and simple treatment for these minor annoyances. The prompt results achieved in such cases by Dr. T. Felix Gouraud's Oriental Cream will prove to the most skeptical the healing and purifying virtues of this preparation, and go far toward establishing faith and confidence in its claims to be an unrivaled skin purifier and beautifier for use, not only in emergencies, but as an article of the daily toilet. SAYS SOUTH DAKOTA SENATORS OPPOSE HIM.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Declaring that the two South Dakota senators have been working for his official decapitation for political reasons, and that he has decided to relieve the president from further embarrassment, Robert S. Person, auditor for the interior department, has tendered his resignation, to take effect Dec. 1.

"I have tendered my resignation to take effect Dec. 1, 1909," said Mr. Person last night. "For several months past the president has been greatly embarrassed by a political situation, in which I am a factor. Since his inauguration the two senators from South Dakota have persistently demanded my official decapitation for political reasons—although all of us profess to be Republicans. I have decided to relieve the president from further embarrassment incident to the industry of the senators from my home state in demanding my separation from the service."

"It is needless to say," he continued, "that hereafter I shall enjoy a freedom of expression and action in public and political affairs, which are denied me in my present position."

Lieutenant Governor Howard C. Shober of Highmore, S. D., has been appointed Mr. Person's successor.

REVIVE THAW CASE NEXT WEDNESDAY.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2.—When the court of appeals resumes sessions next week, following the summer vacation, it will be asked to pass upon the question of the legality of the commitment of Harry K. Thaw to the Matteawan state hospital, and also whether oral betting is a violation of the anti-race track gambling law.

Wednesday the court will hear Thaw's appeal from an order of the appellate division, which upheld the decision of Justice Mills at White Plains, dismissing a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Thaw on the ground that his commitment to an insane asylum by Justice Dowling of New York was illegal. Counsel for Thaw contend that he should have been given a jury trial to determine his sanity after his acquittal by a jury on a charge of murdering Stanford White.

MAY ORDER CUT IN RATES ON FREIGHT TO SPOKANE.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 2.—Commissioner Charles A. That these rates will be in proportion to the rates to Seattle and coast cities is believed by local jobbers. Commissioner Prouty called on the railroads repeatedly for explanation of the excess in rates to Spokane over coast points.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MILITANT PASTOR OF THE WESTERN MESABA RANGE

Has One of Most Novel Church Buildings in Minnesota.

Edifice Costing Over $15,000 in Town Only Three Years Old.

REV. F. W. HILL.

Coleraine, Minn., Oct. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. F. W. Hill, the militant pastor of the Western Mesaba, is attending the sessions of the Northern Minnesota conference now being held at First Methodist Episcopal church, Duluth. For the past two years he has been stationed at Coleraine and Taconite. During that time he has been instrumental in leading in the construction of one of the largest, and in some respects, one of the most novel church buildings in the Northern Minnesota conference. In a new mining town that is located in what was a wilderness three years ago, there is now a stone church edifice costing over $15,000, and which would cost double that amount if built in one of the large cities, at least this is the opinion of visiting ministers from Duluth and Minneapolis.

Rev. Hill has incurred the displeasure of the saloon keepers in a neighboring town. During the construction of the Great Northern railroad and the extra force of men employed by the American Bridge company at the new washing plant, the saloon keepers expected to reap a rich harvest. They were running "wide open," nights, Sundays, and many of the places were running slot machines. After conferring with the business men of Bovey and Coleraine, the militant pastor decided to lead a raid on the joints. The reason the business interests interfered was that they were unable to collect bills from many of their customers, and upon investigation they found that the money which should have been spent in payment of accounts in keeping their families went into the tills of the lawbreakers. The saloon interests bitterly resented the interference of the minister, whom they thought should preach the Gospel to the good and let the bad go unmolested. The result is that there are several cases to come before the coming term of the district court, in which both the invaders and the invaded will be the principals.

Rev. Hill is a graduate of Hamline university and of the Boston Theological seminary. He came from Canada to the United States to prepare for the ministry. He has the fighting blood of the English race, yet is a courteous and kindly gentleman.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE AT TOWER

Main Street Rapidly Assuming a Much Better Appearance.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Max Shapiro is here from Duluth looking after repairs which are being made on his building at the corner of Main and Spruce streets. A new cement walk was put in this week, and now the building is receiving a new coat of paint.

A marked improvement is noted in the appearance of Main street, most of the business places being put in good shape and receiving needed coats of paint. The Grube building, east of the Hotel Sheridan, has been completely torn down, and one or two other old buildings will soon be subjected to the same treatment.

Claus Damberg contemplates the erection of a new building where the City Livery buildings now stand, it being necessary to remove the present structures, which are gradually falling to decay. Several residence properties are also being repaired and painted, and the city in general has taken on a much improved appearance.

A quantity of machinery for the new hotel has gone astray in transportation and is delaying work. It is hoped that the tracers will prove effective and that the boilers, etc., will soon arrive, as the management will be ready to cater to the public as soon as the delayed machinery is installed and in working order.

This avenue is being paved with tar macadam and is in the nature of a trial to see if it will withstand the winter weather. If it proves satisfactory it is probable that other streets and avenues in this city will be treated by the same process, as this kind of pavement is considered the cheapest.

VIRGINIA TO HAVE A NEW THEATER

To Be Located on Chestnut Street, West of Fay Hotel.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Excavation has already begun for the building of a new opera house to be located on lots just west of the Fay hotel on Chestnut street. The promoters of the new play house are: O. H. Griggs, John A. Kennedy and H. J. Sigel, all local people and in the venture will be assisted by Eastern capital.

Plans for the new structure show that it will be a handsome edifice, 75 by 120 feet, two stories and basement, and will be replete with all modern improvements throughout. The new building will adjoin the fine new office building to be erected by the Virginia Electric Power & Water company.

The building of an opera house here has long been a scheme of the promoters of this new venture and the announcement that they have at last decided to build will be received with a great deal of pleasure by the citizens of Virginia and the surrounding towns, as upon completion of this playhouse it is expected that the Duluth managemetn can join the Duluth theatrical circuit and thereby secure some of the very best shows for Virginia.

It is estimated that the new structure will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.

pushed in the direction of Gunflint Lake, the point to which the Canadian Northern reaches out from Port Arthur. The Canadian Northern extends to township 65-4, and the Alger-Smith logging road runs up to 58-6. Whether the two roads will be joined in the near future is a question that Mr. Marble stated he was unable to answer.

Mr. Cook stated that at the present time the Canadian Northern road from Port Arthur to Gunflint Lake was not in good repair, and that it would require a great deal of work to put the line in good condition.

Following is the story which has brought forth a denial from the Alger-Smith people:

Announcement was made yesterday that the Canadian Northern railroad has secured the controlling interest in the Duluth & Northern Minnesota road and that its northern line will be extended to connect with the Canadian Northern at Gunflint in Cook county, thus giving the Canadian Northern a through line over its own trackage between Port Arthur, Ont., the Canadian head of the lakes, and Duluth.

"The Duluth & Northern Minnesota was built by the Alger-Smith company of Detroit, Mich., to enable it to haul its timber products from the northern Minnesota pineries to the port of shipment at Knife River. O. T. Parlin, a representative of the Alger-Smith interests, who was in St. Paul yesterday, is authority for the statement that the Canadian Northern has taken over the controlling interest in the property.

"It has been known for some time that the Canadian Northern is anxious to connect its eastern terminus at Port Arthur with Duluth direct. The country between Gunflint and the present terminus of the Alger-Smith road is rough and presents many obstacles to railroad construction. Mr. Parlin was not informed as to the immediate plans of the Canadian Northern in regard to connecting the lines, but said that it is being surveyed and will no doubt be done at once.

"As Knife River is but twenty miles from Duluth it will be comparatively easy to build into the latter city. This will make the Canadian Northern a bidder for the freight traffic from the American Head of the Lakes to points in Cook, Lake and St. Louis counties.

"By traffic agreement the Canadian Northern now enters Duluth over the lines of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg, and Duluth, Missabe & Northern from Fort Frances, but it hauls only through and bonded freight. When its new line is completed and the Canadian Northern enters Duluth over its own tracks it will be a formidable bidder for the hauling of local freight."

made a desperate spurt, but the Minnesota's crew, pulling evenly, crossed the finish line well ahead.

Cutters from many of the warships escorted the racers to the start and followed them in the race until their crews were left behind. Thousands of spectators watched the contest from the bank along Riverside drive.

This was the fifth contest for the Battenburg cup since it was presented to the enlisted men of the American Atlantic fleet by the enlisted men of the British cruisers Drake, Cornwall, Berwick, Essex, Bedford and Cumberland, which comprised the squadron commanded by Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenburg, on a visit to the United States in 1905. The cup was won twice by the battleship Illinois, once by the British cruiser Argyll and once by the Louisiana.

tons, as compared with 10,065,449 tons for the same period for 1908 and 12,125,459 net tons for the corresponding month of 1907.

The domestic shipments of iron ore during August, 1909, showed 6,947,506 gross tons, an increase of 45 per cent over those for a like period of 1908. Up to Aug. 31 the total season shipments amounted to double those reported for the same period of 1908, being 22,228,003 gross tons.

Wheat shipments showed exceptionally small totals. Although the shipments of coal and lumber were rather heavy during August, they fell below the average for the same month of 1908.

The movement of lake vessels in domestic trade, computed by the number and tonnage of vessels departing from the lake ports, was also the largest ever reported. During the month vessels departing numbered 11,274, of 15,881,680 net tons register.

figure has been reached, decide whether to increase the cost of the memorial or devote the excess to some other purpose in line with the general idea. President O'Brien has called a meeting of the commission for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Minnesota club in St. Paul, and at that time organization will be effected, a secretary and treasurer will be appointed and a definite policy will be outlined. All the suggestions as to site and character of the memorial will go before the commission, and it is probable that immediate action will be taken so as to give architects plenty of time to submit drawings.

Board of Trade to the Front.

The Duluth Board of Trade building came nobly to the front this morning, Secretary Macdonald collecting $1 from sixty-three occupants of the building, which has been turned over to The Herald. The names of these contributors are the last sixty-three in the list published today. This is a good example to the occupants of other business blocks.

The children in Duluth are also taking an interest in the memorial fund. Yesterday afternoon little Frankie and Stanley Staiger, aged about 5 and 7 years, came into The Herald office and contributed 10 cents each to the fund. It was as much appreciated as if it had been $50. tI shows how even the children loved Governor Johnson.

As Viewed Outside.

The movement to erect a statue of Governor Johnson at the capitol has attracted attention in other states and many favorable comments have been made. The Houghton Mining Gazette, for instance, says: "Minnesota is going to have a suitable statue of the late John A. Johnson and the people of the state are to pay for it in contributions not exceeding $1 from any one person. The movement was started by the newspapers and it is a most creditable proposal and the public shows its interest in the success of the movement by the contributions which are pouring in. The late Governor Johnson did more for the credit of political Minnesota than any other man in the present decade and Minnesota does well to recognize the fact in a suitable manner."

A Washington Appreciation.

In sending a contribution to the fund, F. W. Fitzpatrick, the well-known architect at Washington, D. C., and a former Duluthian, writes to The Herald as follows:

"Governor Johnson's death was one of the hardest blows Minnesota has had for a long time. Not only was he her first native-born governor, but he was the only Minnesotan of our generation who had attained national caliber. We have a lot of brainy fellows and good fellows and prominent ones, some even 'near great' ones, but the governor had gotten national esteem and had held it, and the possibilities for the future were roseate indeed—from every point of view, sentimental and selfish—a very great loss. You have seen what most of the papers have said, but it was touching to note the expressions of sorrow from the people here in Washington and throughout the South, wherever I have been. Our friend Chris O'Brien's suggestion for a monument is excellent. Subscriptions ought to be limited to $1, so that it would not be the gift of a few friends or wealthy individuals, but the expression of heartfelt sympathy and admiration of every man in the state or of the state. It would be too bad, however, and savor too much of charity, an insult to Mrs. Johnson, to launch a subscription in her behalf. Surely the country is rich enough to pension the wives of its presidents, and the states not so parsimonious as to begrudge a pension to the widows of their governors, and a handsome pension."

settlements in the northern part of the state. For years, people have lived there, waiting for the boats to come in, during the summer, and the stage during the winter to bring them word from the outside world.

The Grand Marais folk have waited for improvements, too. They have talked for years of a railroad to their town, they have talked of telegraph lines and they have talked of the telephone.

Grand Marais may have waited in vain for the railroad, the Morse telegraph and the telephone, but it is to be rewarded for its calm endurance not by any of these but by the United Wireless Telegraph company.

This company, through its local representative, E. G. Moe, has completed all arrangements for the installation of a wireless station at Grand Marais. The apparatus is here now and as soon as the steel for the tower comes, the equipment will be taken to the north shore point and set up.

The wireless people will have to generate their own power there, as Grand Marais is in the kerosene belt, and a gas engine will be used for this purpose. A two-kilowat wireless apparatus will be put in and Mr. Moe confidently expects to have it in operation before winter.

Grand Marais, though denied little aids to happiness and convenient comfort like railroads, telephones, moving picture shows, trolley cars and grand opera, is quite a lively community of 1,450 people.

All the county business of Cook county is transacted there and it is a busy trading center for the settlers all the way back to the Canadian border.

The people are of a livelier and more energetic nature than the history of their town would indicate, and they will gladly welcome the wireless, as they can communicate with Duluth without waiting a week or so to get an answer.

Sweden Beats United States

Former Government Shows Official Approval of Salubrin, for Lung Trouble, Coughs and Cold, by Removing Tax On It.

In one particular at least Sweden leads the United States. That is in having taken a step for the public good never even contemplated or suggested in this country.

Because Salubrin, the remarkable discovery of P. Hakansson, Ph. D., for all forms of lung trouble, catarrh, throat trouble and coughs and colds, is considered one of such inestimable value to humanity and the public health, to aid in the manufacture of the remedy the Swedish government has removed certain taxes which otherwise would be imposed.

This is declared one of the strongest evidences of what Salubrin will do for all such sufferers. The strong endorsements of Sweden's most renowned physicians and scientists, such as Prof. Seved Ribbing and Henrik Berg, Ph. D., M. D., were the direct cause of the royal decree.

Call at your druggists' for a free Salubrin Booklet or write Salubrin Laboratory, 13 Salubrin Bldg., Grand Crossing, Chicago.

STREMMEL IS LEADER

Was Most Successful Pitcher in Minnesota Wisconsin League.

Dauss and Marion Are Close to Top of List.

Pitching averages for the Minnesota-Wisconsin league for the season past, giving the averages of twirlers who have participated in more than five games, show that Phil Stremmel, the blonde hurling hero of the Superior team, was the leading slab merchant of the Minny league.

The table manufactured in the Elliott office, unfortunately, only gives the percentage of games won and lost. It does not give the base hits per game nor the number of bases on balls that were issued by the various pitchers in each game of the season.

It is necessary to know the number of hits gained off a pitcher in the games in which he worked, for often a losing pitcher, in the matter of winning percentage, is a fellow who has held his opponents to a low average of hits per game.

Stremmel won twenty-two games and lost but nine, giving him an average of .729. Stremmel participated in thirty-three games and is the real leader of the pitching brigade. Schardt of La Crosse stands next to the Superior man, having taken part in twenty-eight games, and having won sixteen of the contests.

Claus, our own George, participated in exactly the same number of games as Stremmel of the city across the bay. He won nineteen of the games, being charged with losing only ten.

Marion worked in thirty-nine games, showing that he is moose for work and is given credit for winning nineteen of his contests. He is only credited with losing twelve games, leaving eight games that are charged to some other twirler.

Cummings stands at .565 and Schmirler at the higher figure of .591. Thorson is down with the cellar dwellers, only having won eight games out of twenty-four he is charged with participating in. Murray, a lad who worked but indifferently while with the Sox, stands at an even .500. He won five and lost five games. However, while with the Sox, Murray proved of little value.

Some of the other twirlers who worked in a game or two with the champions, are not given a place in the table, for the reason that they did not work in the five required games.

On the standing of the pitchers, as given in the following table, Stremmel stands as the leading pitcher of the league.

OPENING GAME IN WINDY CITY

University of Chicago Meets Purdue University at Football.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Football teams of the University of Chicago and Purdue university clash at Marshall field in the opening game of the season of 1909. Capt. Orville Page will command the attack of the Chicago players.

Coach Stagg expressed satisfaction in the Chicago line-up, despite the absence of Crawley, the star halfback, who will be out of the game because of injuries. The Purdue players arrived last night in charge of Coach Speik. Twenty-two men were in the squad from the Indiana school. The line-up announced was as follows:

Chicago.	Position.	Purdue.
Kassalker	l. e.	Goebel
Hoffman	l. t.	Eggeman
Ehrhorn	l. g.	Beck
Badenoch	c.	McFarland
Hirschl	r. g.	Fauber
Killey	r. t.	Mitchell
Young	r. e.	Prees
Page	q. b.	Gueper
Rogers	l. h.	Hanna
Worthwine	f. b.	Kassalbaum
Sauer	r. h.	Urwitz

The officials will be Connet, Virginia, referee; Capt. King, West Point, umpire; Siler, Illinois, field judge; A. B. Flaeger, Northwestern, linesman.

Favorites the Winners.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Darkey Hal, Lady Stately and Maconda, winners in yesterday's grand circuit closing racing, were first choices. Their events were decided in straight heats. Maj. Mallow made what feature there was by close contention with Darkey Hal. In the last heat of the afternoon the only spill of the meeting occurred. Hal Porry, Laura W. and Dillon Queen were in the pile, out of which both horses and drivers came with but minor injuries. The judges placed the victims of the accident and Dillon was saved third money.

Wants Case Reopened.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago National league baseball team, who was recently fined $500 for alleged tampering with a Toronto pitcher, yesterday entered a demand that the national commission reopen the case. He declares that he was given no chance to defend himself when the charge was made against him.

RANDALL HOME FOR WINTER

Says "Toughey" Breen Is Looked Upon as a Find.

Newt Randall, the former Duluth Northern league player, who has just completed one of the best years of his career with the Milwaukee team, reached Duluth yesterday and will make his home here this winter.

Randall pasted the pellet right merrily the past summer. In twenty-three consecutive games he did not fail to get a hit. In the twenty-fourth game he failed to break into the "H" column, but in the twenty-fifth game he got two hits. If he could have only spread these two hits out over two games he might have been swatting safely in every game to the close of the season.

As it was, Randell broke the league record for consecutive hitting. His fielding featured many a game this year, and with young Strunk, one of the finds of the year, Newt starred on the Brewery bunch.

Randall thinks well of "Toughey" Breen. Yesterday he said that the youngster handled himself like a ball player and had all the earmarks of a find.

"Kelly and the rest of the St. Paul bunch think that Breen is one of the most likely looking youngsters that has broken into the league for some time," said Newt. "In the games Breen played against us he was responsible for two defeats for Milwaukee. His fielding was classy, while he hit in the runs that beat us. He has been playing good baseball, and if he keeps up his gait next season he will be assured of a permanent place on Kelly's team."

Kling Playing Great Pool.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 2.—If "Cowboy" Weston retains his title of pool champion of the world, he will have to pocket 220 balls tonight before John Kling gets 198. At the close of last night's play the score stood: Kling, 602; Weston, 580. Weston is suffering with a form of paralysis in his right leg and is playing at a great disadvantage.

Kid Carter Knocked Out.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 2.—With less than a minute to go in what was scheduled to be a ten-round bout, Kid Carter of Brooklyn was knocked out by Cleve Hawkins, the Boston negro moddleweight, last night.

SCHELL'S NEW MOTOR BOAT THE "DINGLE CAPITOL" CAN MAKE ABOUT TWENTY-SIX MILES PER HOUR

THE DINGLE-CAPITOL AT FULL SPEED.

Riding in "Dick" Schell's fast motor boat, the Dingle-Capitol, is an experience to remember.

One wonders what might happen if a good stout snag that had held a certain spot in the lake for some time, and was sort of jealous of its position, persisted in getting in the way.

For go you surely do, and objects on shore melt by through a mist.

Nobody knows just how fast the Dingle-Capitol does go. Dick says that he does not know himself. An ordinary person used to paddling a canoe would ordinarily guess, after taking a ride, about sixty miles an hour. She probably makes in the neighborhood of twenty-six miles an hour.

The Dingle certainly dingles right along, and there seems to be nobody in Duluth, or out, who wants any of Schell's game. Mr. Schell certainly is the most enthusiastic motor bug ever developed in these parts. He is at it all the time, and any pleasant day he may be seen throwing spray back on the waters of the harbor.

THAT PARK PROJECT

Plan for Athletic Field on Park Point Is Popular.

Meeting of the Promoters Will Be Held Next Week.

That Duluth needs a playground located near the center of the city is the opinion of many Duluth business men who are talking up the matter. The White City was not a success because, after it had been once visited, there was little use of going again. There was no amusement that drew people to the park and held their attention.

What is wanted more than anything else is a big athletic ground where both football and baseball might be played and the field so near the center of the city that it would be within easy reach of all.

Numerous attempts have been made from time to time to get people interested in building such a park in such a location, but up to this time nothing has been done further than talk.

M. A. Thompson, one of the pioneer members of the Duluth Boat club and one of those to pull an oar back when the club was first started, is one of those who state that Jack Desmond's plan to build a general purpose field on Park Point is a splendid idea if it can be properly worked out.

New York has its Coney island, Chicago has its White City and nearly every city in the country has a great playground where the people gather to amuse themselves. The business men all agree that the time is now ripe and the park should be built at once. They are all falling in heartily with Mr. Desmond's idea and they all seem to be anxious that the deal go through.

The lots were this week transferred from the agents to the owner, and things are rounding into shape. So sure are a number of the business men of the success of the plan that many are asking that they be given an interest in the enterprise.

At this time plans for the park are working out well and everything looks rosy for the success of the venture.

A meeting of those interested will be held the early part of the week and a definite announcement of whether or not the work will be started this fall, will be made.

TRAINING FOR THE BIG BOUT

Ketchel Is Confident---Johnson Says Stanley Is "a Nice Boy."

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 2.—Ketchel and Johnson have begun hard training for their much-talked-of fight at Colma on Oct. 12. Ketchel got on the scales recently at his quarters and weighed 182 pounds. He said that he intended to "build up" and hoped to weigh a trifle under 190 when he enters the ring. He seemed to be very confident of success and in answer to questions declared that nothing was the matter with his hands. Ketchel's friends believe that he will make a rousing fight from the start as he believes that he will be the stronger and can hit with sufficient power to beat down Johnson's defense and inflict severe punishment. When somebody called Ketchel's attention to Kaufmann's poor showing with Johnson the other day he declared that Kaufman was not only a "third rater" but also a "Dutch quitter." "If Kaufmann had been a fearless man," continued Ketchel, "he would have mixed so fiercely that Johnson would have backed up under fire. When I tackle the negro there'll be a different kind of a game and you'll see him driven to the ropes on the defensive. All I want is one punch. I can knock his head off if I land on the jaw, and I can double him up helpless with a smash in the stomach. Johnson cannot hurt me and I'll get at him beyond a doubt in the first three or four rounds."

Johnson laughed when he heard of Ketchel's remarks and said: "Stanley is a nice little fellow with a swelled head It's a shame to put him out, but I need his $5,000 side bet and the long end of the purse. You can bet your money that he will be stopped in less than twelve rounds"

JIM JEFFRIES WILL SAIL ON OCT. 16.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 2. — Sam Berger, who has been looking after the interests of James J. Jeffries in the negotiations with Jack Johnson for a prize fight in this country, received today the following cablegram from Jeffries, dated Paris:

"Leave for America Oct. 16. Meet me in New York."

Berger will leave for New York within a week

Berger says Jeffries is anxious to meet Johnson and the latter's manager to make arrangements at once for a meeting to sign articles. Johnson desires a fight as soon as it can be arranged, and as to the place he prefers Galveston, Tex.

THE COACH IS HOPEFUL

Colton Plugs Up Some Holes in the Central's Line.

Boys Did Not Let Up on Practice Friday Evening.

Central.	Position.	Brainerd.
Mars	l. e.	Brooks
Olsen	l. t.	McCree
Helmer	l. g.	Entriken
Nelson	c.	Mahood
Freimuth	r. g.	Brooks
Johnson	r. t.	O'Connor
Taylor	r. e.	Alderman
Kelly	q. b.	Sheffle
Waldron	l. h.	White
Boyle	r. h.	Trent
Stevens	f. b.	Manlum

After a hard and long practice held last evening at Athletic park, Coach Colton announced last night that he was hopeful of his charges winning the Brainerd game this afternoon. The Central coach does not expect to win out by a large score, but will be satisfied if his team noses out a victory over the strong team from the northwestern part of the state.

Despite the fact that Asher Taylor has a very bad leg, he will be started in the game this afternoon. It is very probable that Jeronimus will get into the game. This lad has been playing a great game, and if Colton could get him to pay more attention to signals and general instruction, he would be one of the strongest players on the team.

After having been shifted to various parts of the line, Mars will start this afternoon's game at left end. Colton is experimenting more or less with his material, and as Mars has the earmarks of a good high school player, he will be given a good tryout at the left end of the line.

Arthur Helmer has been shifted from tackle to guard position. He will be played at guard this afternoon and is expected to plug up a hole that has been apparent in the center of the first line of defense.

The work yesterday afternoon was devoted to impressing upon the candidates the prime importance of playing low. If the boys do not play low in today's game, it will not be because they have not had the importance of this style of play forcibly impressed upon them.

The Brainerd boys will reach Duluth this morning. Reports from Brainerd say that the Brainerd boys are confident of winning the game. Brainerd has nearly all of last year's players, and the team comes here prepared to give Central the best game they are capable of.

THE IRVING TIGERS ARE IN THE FIELD AGAIN THIS YEAR WITH A FAST AND AGGRESSIVE ELEVEN

POISANT,
Guard.

ROY DRAKE,
End.

BULLY,
Guard.

FIELDMAN,
Tackle.

SAM ABRAHAMSON,
Half Back.

GEORGE ROSS,
Full Back.

BRIGGS,
End.

MURIAN,
Quarter.

WINTON,
Center.

BLANCHARD,
Tackle.

RYAN,
Left Half.

The Irving Tigers will leave tonight for Grand Rapids, where Sunday afternoon they line up against the fast city team representing that place.

As was the case last year, the Tigers this year expect to be the champions in their class. It will be remembered that they held the fast and heavy Spalding team to a 0 to 0 score and came close to playing the members of the heavier eleven off their feet.

The boys have played together for a number of years, and each year they put into the field one of the fastest teams in the city. They have a number of hard games arranged, some of which will be played in Duluth. Later in the season they expect to bring the Grand Rapids team here for a Sunday afternoon game.

The Tigers are all residents of West Duluth, who play football each year for the sport they get out of it. Their pluck and determination, together with their grit and ability to dig in and win a game that is practically lost, have won for them the esteem of the football-loving public.

In West Duluth, where the majority of their games are played, the boys have many friends.

This team is particularly anxious for a game with the Adams team and also with the Spalding aggregation. They have been hard at work for a couple of weeks past, and they expect to get away with the Grand Rapids contest in good shape.

Neil Buckley is this year coaching the boys.

GLEAMS IN THE SPORTING FOG

BY

BRUCE

"And now comes the winter of our discontent."

Who do you think is here? Our old college chum Fra Elbertus, you know, Elbert Hubbard, has broken loose on a tirade against football that would make one of Auntie Carrie Nation's oratorical flights against demon rum sound like a fond mamma's tootsie wootsie talk to a babbling infant.

Fra Elbertus doesn't like football. You don't have to go very far with Fra to become thoroughly convinced of that fact. A treatise, "Or How To Play Football," by Walter Camp, a perfectly respectable citizen, by the way, will find no place in the establishment where they make bookcases and wicker baskets. Not if Fra gets hipped to the intrusion of such red blood literature.

Elbertus begins by stating that Lucretius, a gink who wrote stuff when they were pulling off the gladiatorial contests, when there was no Sherif Carlson to stop the fights, back in the red hot days and nights of old Rome, apologized for these contests. Lucie thought the fights were too rough.

Then Fra skips a page or two of Gibbons' "Roman Empire" and lights on the days of Marcus Aurelius. Mark was a pretty good sport. He liked to see the boys get out and have a little fun, according to Brother Hubbard, but he had the Sheriff Carlson of that period issue an ukase that the boys should fight sans weapons. They had to square off and fight with the cestus, which will only cut an eye or two out if your opponent hits you fair.

Then Fra gets hot on the trail of his theme. He gets his subject into a corner and has it groggy. He comes down the bare knuckle fight of England, the early London prize ring, where the old marquis of Queensbury and other boys used to have "business men's excursions" week-ends. Fra says this form of lambasting was bad enough, but at the best the men were generally evenly matched. Elby, old chap, dips his pen into red ink and sets hot on the trail of football. Here are some of the things he says:

"However, brutality is not dead, and the thirst for blood is still among us. And to minister to this thirst, we have introduced a sport more brutal than ever Claudius countenanced.

"And in the new regime 'fair play' is utterly lost sight of, and eleven men may fall upon one and grind him into the mire until he is no longer recognizable as a human being. At sight of these things, the winning side breaks into exultant yells of delight, just a sthe dames of Rome howled themselves hoarse when their favorite gladiator had won and stood victor with his foot upon the neck of a prostrate victim."

Elbertus says a lot more, but why go on? You have a little peep at the opinion that the long-haired ruler of the book workers holds of our leading college game.

One naturally wonders what kind of a team Fra Elbertus saw play the agony game. When eleven men get a chance to put the boots to one player, you naturally think that that poor guy is playing upon an awfully bum team. That kind of a team could not have much team work; now, could it?

The fellow that coached that team—the kind of a team that would permit the entire other team to hammer some unprotected member of its side—should be gently, but firmly, taken into the private exercise room and shown the error of his vocation.

You have never seen eleven guys pick onto one lone and unprotected fellow, have you? Nor anyone else who ever really saw a football game. There have been instances when some player, with a brutish instinct that has no place in the modern and clean game of football, has rudely, and with malice aforethought, trampled upon some opponent. But these instances are few—they are simply exceptions—exceptions that prove the truth of the fact that football is a rough, but not brutal, game.

No man with red blood in his veins could witness football as played under the present day rules, and say that it was a brutal game. It is not—the man who says so has some fundamental weakness in his makeup.

No player can get away with that rough stuff under the eagle eye of such referees as Phil Allen of Chicago, the Wrenn brothers, Paul Dashiell of Lehigh, or in fact, any competent man who has charge of the field. This stuff, for stuff it is, about eleven men tramping one man into the mire, only serves to prejudice people who know nothing whatever about the game. Any man, woman, or child, who does know anything about the game, would laugh at the statement.

Football has come in for entirely too much unjust criticism. It is time that some one told the truth. It is far better for a boy to be injured playing football than to be injured in a greater and deeper way, in a moral manner. A boy who plays football for all he is worth generally has a great deal of respect for physical manhood. He is generally not a coward or a poltroon. A boy will generally find out some outlet for physical energy. If he doesnt' you want to watch that boy. Football is a rough game, but it is a manly and clean game, and for every boy that has been injured playing the game there have been 100 boys and young men benefited.

This eleven men against one, stuff, and this tramping into the mire statement, don't make a hit with people conversant with the game. Was the game that Elbertus witnessed played in some swamp?

It was not so long ago that this column commented upon football, in its relation to manly instincts. It was stated at that time that ex-President Theodore Roosevelt and the late John A. Johnson, two great and manly Americans, were great admirers of the American college game of football. Particularly was Governor Johnson a student and close observer of the game. When two such men, who have set a high ideal for young Americans, set their seal of approval on the game, enough has been said, and no further answer need be given to the sensational attack made by Mr. Hubbard.

Now that we are assured, by foreign cable, that James J. Jeffries has benefited greatly by the "cure" of the nobility-attended Carlsbad water resort, we may sit with complacent smile and await the outcome of the fight between those two eminent mittmen, Messrs. Johnson and Ketchel, secure in the belief that even if the white brother is worsted by the black, the honor of the Caucasian will be vindicated by big Jeff.

Black worsted goods. Would that it will be big Jack that will play the role of the black worsted. But if Stanley is bested by the big citizen of Galveston, we hope and trust that the California grizzly will decide to take up the white man's burden without undue delay and shy his castor into the arena.

As yet no great stir has been created by the coming of the foreign wrestlers. No word has been heard from Mr. Gotch of late. The winter months are coming, and with their coming the wrestling game should again be in full swing.

How much will Hugh McIntosh bid for a match that will bring together Messrs. Cook and Peary with big weight gloves? Even a megaphone duel between these two eminent gentlemen should bring out the promoters.

It is said, upon some highly paid authority, that it's the trials of life that give us strength. Messrs. Whitehead and Gunther should be in prime shape to go forth and seek matches, if ever they shake the Carlson hoodoo.

The Colored Men's Club of Superior is planning a banquet. Sheriff Carlson will be the principal speaker of the evening.

Earn Football

I Will Give Every Boy a Full Size Football Covered With Strong Leather and Containing Guaranteed Rubber Bladder.

This football is a dandy. It is covered with tough, strong leather. The bladder is tested and guaranteed. I will send you another bladder if the one you receive is in any way defective. The ball is the regulation size and every boy who gets one is well pleased. You can have more fun with a football than with anything else you can think of and you can have this one for a little work. I am going to give away 2,000 of them this year and I want you to have one. Remember this is not a little cheap ball like those given by most premium houses. It will stand good hard playing and you will be well pleased with it.

POOL PLAYERS, ATTENTION!

A chance to get your cigars and one-hour pool playing for nothing. Mr. Brown, proprietor of the Central Billiard Hall, will play 100 balls each game at 3 p. m. and 8 p. m., during the week of Oct. 4, against all comers, and if defeated he will forfeit $1.00 worth of cigars.

Mike David, one of the best pool players in Duluth, will try his luck Monday afternoon, and Charles Tracy Monday evening.

GOTHAM MIGHT HAVE HAD HUGHEY

It is not generally known that when Jennings was manager of the Baltimores in 1906, President Farrell of the Highlanders was urged to purchase his release. "Sir" Timothy Hurst was foremost in suggesting this move to Owner Farrell, for Hurst, with keen perception, was convinced that Jennings would develop into one of the greatest baseball managers. At that time Clark Griffith was manager of the New York Americans, and was so loyally supported by Owner Farrell that the Jennings suggestion was promptly turned down. The remarkable success of Jennings since then, however, has caused many baseball men to believe that if the Highlanders had been turned over to him, a pennant or two would have been brought to the Hilltop.

But just now Owner Farrell thinks that Stallings will provide a winner, and in this opinion he is supported by numerous baseball critics, who have watched the work of reorganizing the Highlanders with much interest. Stallings has had a free rein, the same that was granted to Griffith; and he has slowly but surely laid the foundation for what appears to be a formidable combination. There is nothing like experience, according to Stallings, and next year he predicts that his young players, Engle, Demmitt, Cree, Gardner, Austin, Knight, Sweeney, Brockett, Warhop, Quinn and others, will show a pronounced improvement. If Stallings is successful, therefore, the failure to secure Jennings in 1906 will be forgotten by President Farrell and his friends, while the whole American league will rejoice, inasmuch as it has already been demonstrated that winning ball by the Highlanders means big money in gate receipts.

IRISH WIT A BUSY BOY

"Darby" O'Brien Is Already Signing Up Men for Next Year.

Duluth Club Has Long List of Players Under Reserve.

Al Kuehnow is in receipt of a letter from Darby O'Brien, in which the Irish wit states that he has already signed several promising players for the 1910 White Sox. According to the information received from Darby, he has signed up Lidington, a third baseman whom he believes will be fully the equal of Breen.

The player in question is a man well known to Don Marion, who is making his home here. Yesterday Marion stated that he honestly believed Lidington, the third sacker from Cleveland, to be one of the fastest young ball players in the country today. Marion has played with the youngster in Cleveland and believes he will be a wonder.

The players under reserve to the Duluth management are Tom Taylor, Richard Thorsen, A. C. McCrone, Peter Neelon, George Dauss, Zackert, Al Cummings, all of last year's team, and Robert Lidington, William Shenley, a catcher; Louis Nelson, an outfielder; R. E. Young, the young pitcher who was tried out with the Sox last year; R. Stanley, an infielder from Cleveland; Edward Alwood, a shortstop from Toledo; Eugene Grady, a pitcher from Cass Lake; Klingebeil, from the Superior team, who is the property of the Duluth management, and J. H. Guthrie, an outfielder.

All these players are under reserve to the local management, and they will report here for the spring practice. O'Brien states that he has other promising players in view, and the prospects are bright for a strong team next year.

It is likely that Dauss will play here next season, unless he is sold between now and next spring.

MYSTERY OF A BALL STAR.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 2.—Fred Winchell, the San Antonio pitcher, whose right name is Fred R. Cook, who won his first game with Cleveland at Boston, is shrouded in mystery. He has played ball under an assumed name so long that he still keeps it, although he says he will no longer have need or desire to keep his identity concealed. Winchell's home is in Boston. His father is dead and there was quite a fortune left. Fred went to Princeton, where he developed into a corking good pitcher. There was some sort of a quarrel. Winchell was thrown on his own resources and he chose baseball as the best means of providing a livelihood. His friends say there is to be a reconciliation, but that it won't take Winchell out of the game.

WILL PLAY IN MINNEAPOLIS

Adams Athletic Association Has Game With Flour City Eleven.

Manager Geistman of the Adams team has arranged a date for the Adams eleven to play one of the Minneapolis city teams on Nov. 21. The Adams Athletic association will charter a special car and all the members of the association will attend the game in a body.

The Adams team will clash with the Fairmonts Sunday at Athletic park. Both teams are in the best of form and a good game is looked for. The Adams played a tie game with the Spaldings last Sunday before 482 paid admissions, and the Fairmonts claim to be as strong as the Spaldings, so a big crowd is looked for Sunday's game with the Fairmonts. The teams will line up as follows:

Adams.		Fairmonts.
Hanson	c.	Johnson
Kennedy	l. g.	Wickland
Peterson	r. g.	Baeulo
Anderson	l. t.	Berg
Nelson	r. t.	Connelly

Foster	f. b.	Horman
Grenner, A.	r. h.	Carey

HARVARD MEN RANGY AND FAST

Eastern Charging Machine Is Much Lighter Than Usual.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 2.—Harvard has one of the fastest and rangiest lines this season that she has had for fifteen years. It is nowhere nearly as heavy as that of most of the big colleges against which she will go, but there is sufficient beef, when coupled with speed, strength and knowledge of the game, to make it the most formidable charging machine of the year.

The average weight from end to end is 185 pounds. McKay, who tips the beam at 210 pounds, is the heaviest man on the team, and the only one who passes the 200 figure. He is a tackle and a mine of strength to the eleven. The ends, R. C. Brown and Houston, weigh each about 170 pounds, a little light when compared with the standard set by Tommy Shevlin of Yale some years ago. Withington and Fish each weigh 190 pounds. They handle themselves with the speed of 120-pound boys. Fish is especially noteworthy as being one of the few men who can charge like a bull and keep his eyes open all the time. The rest of the linemen weigh from 180 to 186 pounds respectively. The possibilities of such a line, if it has the necessary strength and knowledge of the game, to go with its speed are limitless.

O'Flaherty, who has been making such a name for himself in the tryouts for quarter, is a little heavier than usual for his position, weighing 176. He has shown, however, that he has excellent judgment, that his weight does not force him to sacrifice any speed and that he has that power, so eagerly sought after, of imparting snap and ginger to the whole team.

Corbett, the fast left half, is very light for his position, but he is one of the hardest men to stop in a broken field that any of the big colleges possess. He keeps his feet in much the same way as Ted Coy, the Yale captain. Morrison, the fullback, makes the scales register 180 pounds, and Perkins, the other half, is rated at 186 pounds.

BRESNAHAN IS IN BAD WITH FANS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 2.—A story is published here that the Cardinals laid down on Roger Bresnahan, their manager. Bresnahan has found this town too small to live in. He has abused his players, becoming exceedingly unpopular, and the fans will make St. Louis too hot for him if the Cardinals fail to finish in the first division next season. According to the story, Bresnahan has hardly a friend among the city's baseball writers. It is claimed Bresnahan has snubbed persons right and left and bawled out his players on the field for no fault of their own; and that the limit was reached recently when Barbeau, after trying to go from first to third on a long single to center, and missing connections, was called down hard as he walked to the bench, although Bresnahan had recommended that the time was right for some hard base-running.

YOST WAXES SARCASTIC.

Coach Yost of Michigan occasionally gets sarcastic when his players fail to follow principles of the game of which they are supposed to be conversant.

In a recent practice session, Wasmund had just received the ball from the center, and in pass-the ball to Bertrand a slip occurred and the ball went spinning yards away. Bertrand trotted leisurely after the oval.

"Fall on it!" exclaimed Yost. "In the name of high heaven fall on it. Where do you think Scarlett would have been while you were loafing after that ball? Looking around to see if the sun had gone down. Not much—he'd have grabbed it, and with a gentle 'ding ding,' cherries are ripe; I'll pick 'em, you know, he would have been off down the field with eleven awakening Michigan players in vain pursuit."

Mr. F. G. Fritz, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is mild, pleasant and effective, and cures habitual constipation. Sold by all druggists.

READY FOR HAWKEYES

Gophers Determined to Win the Game Against Iowa.

Visitors Have Advantage in Weight and May Prove Dangerous.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last practice of the Gophers before the Iowa game occurred yesterday afternoon. The men had a heavy scrimmage yesterday and went into the work for all they are worth, knowing that they must win the Iowa game in order to get anywhere in the race for the championship. Coach Williams is well pleased with his men, and it is the opinion of those who know such things that the team is far ahead of last year at this time. A large number of old players are out helping Dr. Williams, and if the team fails to make good it will not be because they have not received all kinds of assistance. About every old player in the Twin Cities has been called into requisition and is out every night trying to whip the Minnesota team into the best possible shape. The last few nights the plays have gone with a snap and a vim that is hard to beat, and indicates that the squad is rapidly rounding into shape.

The Iowa team arrived in town yesterday morning and went immediately to Lake Minnetonka where they had light signal practice all through the day. They stayed at one of the lake hotels last night and this morning came to Minneapolis just in time to reach the gridiron before the game. The team is here with the intention of winning. If they do it will mean much to them for of recent years they have lost standing in football circles. A victory over the Gophers would mean much to them and they are straining every nerve to accomplish this. So far as weight is concerned the Iowa boys are a little better fixed than is Minnesota. Neither Coach Williams nor Coach Griffith would give out the weights of the team, but an inspection shows about ten pounds to the man in favor of the Hawkeye team. The back field is supposed to be very speedy and may give the Gophers a lot of trouble. Iowa newspapers say that the team is trained to the minute in the forward pass and this will beat Minnesota. However, those who remember the Carlisle game last year realize that Dr. Williams knows a few things about the forward pass himself.

Interest in football this year is already at fever heat. More than 30 per cent more tickets have been sold already this year than were sold in advance all of last season. In fact considerable discontent has been shown around the Twin Cities because the students at the university get all the good seats just as early as the management will put them on sale. The students reply that they have got just as much right to buy good seats as anyone else.

Every precaution has been taken to keep any of the men from being injured and all of the squad are in excellent condition. The Iowa boys have been in training much longer than the Minnesota team and possibly are in better shape for a hard struggle. However this may be the result cannot be foretold and a hard fight will undoubtedly occur. The Iowa boys are here to win and regain their lost place in Western football. The Minnesota team is out to win with a big score and show the critics that they are still in the running.

NO MAN CAN WHIP JIM JEFFRIES

Scientist Declares No Living Human Can Put Big Fellow Away.

London, Oct. 2.—Jim Jeffries, undefeated champion of champions, is ready to battle Jack Johnson, holder of the heavyweight pugilistic title. The California grizzy is on his way home from Carlsbad, where he has been taking the waters, as they call it, which in plain English means, he has been taking off fat and getting his vital organs in condition to stand the rigor of training.

He has announced his intention to start active training shortly after returning to this country. Jeffries has been examined by medical men and physical culture experts and has been pronounced in perfect health.

Prof. Gilman Low, the so-called "Modern Hercules," who is an anatomist of renown, declares no living man can conquer Jeffries, the most wonderful human specimen he ever inspected.

Jeffries has greater length, in proportion, from his shoulders to his elbows, from his hips to his knees and from his ankles to his toes than most men of his weight and height, Low says. These are three speed motive stations of the human body.

Speed is subject to the ratio which the length of these three bodily sections bears to the length of the lower measurements, namely: From the elbows to the wrists and from the knees to the ankles. In other words, Jeffries has greater length from his hips to his knees than from his knees to his ankles.

The second reason is the size and solidity of his muscles, not, however, forgetting their flexibility. Their qualities might be summed up as follows: Solidity and mobility, resulting in activity, and supple bearing or carriage, and this backed by phenomenal strength. Lastly:

Jeffries' upper arm is one inch longer than Johnson's, which gives a far greater ratio of speed. Also the breadth of his shoulders, compared with Johnson's, gives him greater power, especially when reimbursed by the depth of the chest, as is Jeffries. It also affords quicker and more expansive action of the lungs, as the greater number of air cells are nearer to the place where the oxygen enters.

MISS GRACE HAZARD IN "THE PARISIAN MODEL"

"The Parisian Model."

"The Parisian Model," headed by the little star, Miss Grace Hazard, will be presented at the Lyceum for two nights, Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 4 and 5. Besides Miss Hazard, Robert Lett, one of America's genuinely funny comedians, will appear in the role of Silas Goldfinch. A well-known prima donna, Emelie Gardner, will make her first appearance with the company here in Duluth. She will be remembered by local theater-goers for her various appearances here in musical comedy. She is the possessor of a rich lyric soprano voice, which will do justice to the numbers assigned to her, principal among these being "On San Francisco Bay" and the "Whistling Yankee Girl."

Two delightful interpolated numbers are introduced during the action of the commedy. One of these, Cobb & Edwards' "I Would Like to See a Little More of You," always calls forth numerous encores, and "The Bell" number is a sensation. Twelve young women gorgeously garbed and with bells attached to every conceivable part of their apparel, play several difficult selections in difficult and unusual positions. This number always calls forth great applause. Miss Hazard's well-known specialty, "Five Feet of Comic Opera," is introduced, and she also sings "How Delightful to be Married," with Mr. Naughton. This is one of the daintiest numbers of the opera, and goes as well as the sensational specialties do. There is a well-defined plot in the piece, which is written by the well-known author, Harry B. Smith, while Baron Max Hoffman wrote the music. With its entrancing music and delightful dialogue, "The Parisian Model" will undoubtedly prove a strong drawing card for the two days. The role of Anna exactly fits the glowing personality of Miss Hazard. She is a wonderful dancer, besides being the possessor of a most beautiful and cultivated voice. She has steadily grown in popularity during the past few seasons, and has won a position at the top solely through talent and industry, until today she is recognized as one of America's foremost musical artists. The entire production was staged by the pastmaster of stagecraft, Julian Mitchell.

"A Doll House."

Miss Hortense Nielsen, who comes to the Lyceum theater for one night, Oct. 6, presenting Ibsen's "A Doll's House," is the most successful actress in the world today interpreting Ibsen's heroines. Other famous actresses have attempted the role of Nora Helmer, but have been obliged to give it up, Miss Nielsen has devoted a lifetime to the study of Ibsen, and her remarkable performance of Nora once seen is never forgotten.

Miss Nielsen's support includes Norval MacGregor, an actor of classic fame and national reputation. The remainder of her cast is excellent, being the same which appeared with her in the Studebaker theater in Chicago and Davidson's theater in Milwaukee last season. Reports indicate that a dramatic treat is in store.

"The Talk of New York."

Victor Moore, who scored a tremendous success in George M. Cohan's musical play "The Talk of New York," is announced to appear in this brilliant musical comedy at the Lyceum for three nights and a matinee commencing Thursday, Oct. 7.

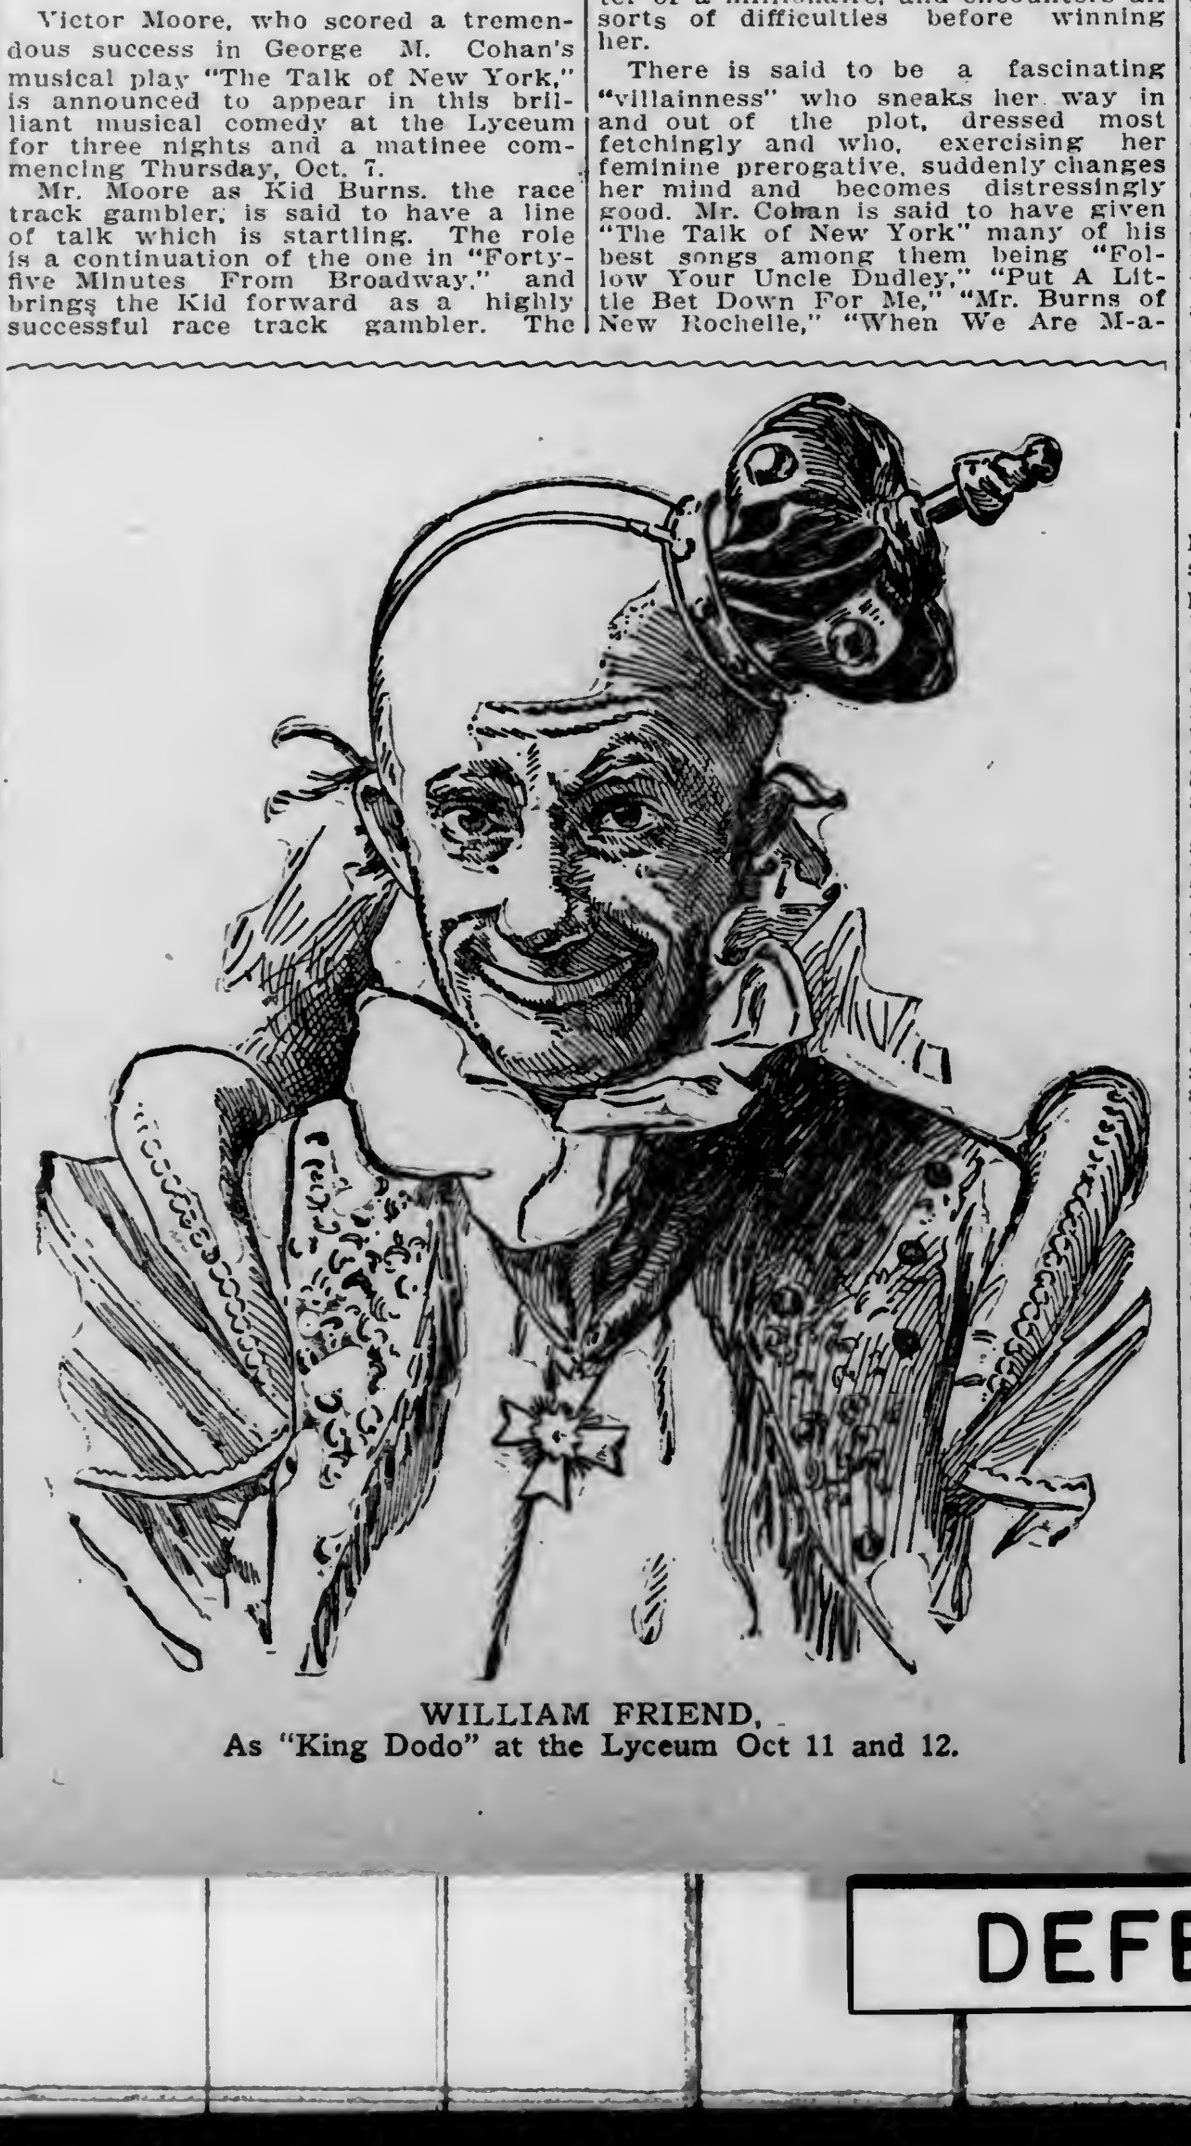
Mr. Moore as Kid Burns, the race track gambler, is said to have a line of talk which is startling. The role is a continuation of the one in "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," and brings the Kid forward as a highly successful race track gambler. The story, briefly told, is this: The Kid has "parleyed" a $5 bill, and, by pyramiding his bets, has run it into a fortune. He falls in love with the daughter of a millionaire, and encounters all sorts of difficulties before winning her.

There is said to be a fascinating "villainness" who sneaks her way in and out of the plot, dressed most fetchingly and who, exercising her feminine prerogative, suddenly changes her mind and becomes distressingly good. Mr. Cohan is said to have given "The Talk of New York" many of his best songs among them being "Follow Your Uncle Dudley," "Put A Little Bet Down For Me," "Mr. Burns of New Rochelle," "When We Are M-a-double r-i-e-d," "Burning Up the Boulevard," "Busy Little Broadway," "When A Fellow's On the Level With a Girl That's On the Square," "That's Some Love," "Claremont," "Drink With Me," "Under Any Old Flag At All," and "Gee Aint I Glad to Be Home Again."

In the big company supporting Mr. Moore are the following: Emma Littlefield, May Phelps, Charlotte Lambert, Louise Brackett, Charlotte Gray, Dell Irish, Marion Finlay, Marie Land, George O'Donnell, John Conroy, William Williams, John Smith Marba, Maurice Elliott, Arthur V. Gibson, Al McGary, Arthur J. Thornton, Edward Yeager, Charles Mack, George Thomas, and a perfect Cohan chorus of sixty.

Miss Littlefield will appear in her famous dances.

The electric effects and the scenic investitures are said to be wonderful. There will be a matinee Saturday.



WILLIAM FRIEND,
As "King Dodo" at the Lyceum Oct 11 and 12.

At the Bijou.

Patrons of the Bijou next week are promised one of the best vaudeville shows that has ever appeared at that popular theater. Manager Maitland is trying to give Duluth the best that is going in the vaudeville line, and the shows presented so far this season are of the highest order. The bill commencing Monday will include some of the best features in the country, among them being such well-known actors as Sydney Deane and a trio of capable artists who have helped Mr. Deane to have what is termed the most novel sketch in vaudeville, entitled "Christmas on Blackwell's Island." The act is a big singing sketch, which was originally arranged by Clay M. Green for the Lambs' club of New York and was such a success that it was engaged for a run over the Keith vaudeville circuit, where it was the talk of many Eastern papers in their amusement columns. The act is presented with special scenery and electrical effects, and costumed to suit the characters played.

Every one who has frequented vaudeville theaters in different cities has seen or heard of George X. Wilson and Camille De Monville, as there is not a team in vaudeville that is any better known then this clever pair. They are presenting a German comedy playlet entitled "A Thanksgiving Eve." The following is a recent notice from the New York Clipper:

"George X. Wilson and Camille De Monville in 'A Thanksgiving Eve' need no introduction. In fact, they are so well known that their names beneath their pictures are scarcely necessary. The name of George X. Wilson is one of the strongest drawing cards that has ever appeared in the popular-priced and vaudeville theaters. And he and his wife have been welcomed from Maine to California. Wilson retains his trademark song, 'I Didn't Expect It So Soon,' and the discharge by the manager which seldom fails to deceive an audience. George X. Wilson is considered one of the best Dutch comedians in the profession."

A novelty in the musical line will be given by Leon Rogee, an imitator who comes direct from Gay Paree, and is now playing his first tour of American vaudeville. "Rogee imitates every kind of a musical instrument and does it so well that one could not believe that he does not use the instrument he is imitating," says the Winnipeg Free Press this week.

Every one enjoys hearing a talented comedienne, more so if they have a foreign accent, such as Vesta Victoria, Alice Lloyd, Vesta Till, Gertie Everett, Lucy Weston and other comediennes who have won a big success in this country. Miss Gertie Everett will appear on the bill with an original lot of songs and stories, told in her own peculiar style.

Another big feature will be one of the biggest and best gymnastic acts that has ever been seen in Duluth, and which will appear as a special added feature. The Nat Nazzare trio of European gymnasts was engaged as the principle vaudeville feature at the Minnesota state fair last month, and their wonderful and astounding feats were the talk of all who witnessed their exhibition. There are two members of the troupe who are in appearance mere boys, but in reality are close to the age of majority. This act first appeared at the New York Hippodrome. By special arrangement they were secured to play the S. & C. circuit, which extends from New York to the Pacific coast ,under the direction of Sullivan & Considine, who are at the head of the biggest vaudeville tour in America.

Earl Morse, who made his first appearance last week at the Bijou, singing the illustrated songs, and who made a big hit with his very excellent voice, will sing for his second week the beautiful ballad, "Moonlight, Good-Night," a new song hit illustrated with beautiful colored views.

The motion pictures will be up to the usual standard of classy subjects.

Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and night performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either telephone. A special school children's matinee will be given Saturday at 2:30. All scholars under 14 years of age are admitted for 5 cents. Performances are given on Sunday afternoon and night.

"Commencement Day."

"Commencement Days," the new comedy of girl college life, which John Cort's admirable company presented at the Walker theater during the first half of the present week, is one of those breezy theatrical entertainments that carries the spectator along in perfect happiness for two hours and a half," says Winnipeg Town Topics.

"In its original form, it was a straight comedy drama, with too much of the melodramatic element in it, but now that it has been revised, and music of the snappy college song type has been judiciously introduced, it is just right.

"Virginia Frame and Margaret Mayo, the authors, evidently know girl college life well, for there is no mistaking the naturalness of the atmosphere and incidents, even though some of the latter for stage purposes have a slightly exaggerated form. There is just enough of the dramatic and real heart interest left in the revised edition of the play to satisfy the most romantic girl or chap, and the comedy is of the purest and most infectious kind.

"Frederick V. Bowers is well entitled to the featuring he is given by Mr. Cort, for a more gentlemanly, pleasing, clever and all-round satisfactory comedian it would be difficult to find. He is good looking, a fine dresser, agile and graceful and has a way with him that wins every auditor in the theater. He actually appears to enjoy his work without conveying the idea that he thinks he is 'it.'

"Next to Mr. Bowers in ability comes William Louis, the stoutishly inclined young man who plays 'Brick' Harding, who is in love with 'Emmy Lou,' but unfortunately is never able to distinguish her from her twin sister, 'Teddy.' The complications which arise from the remarkable resemblance of the 'twins afford many moments of hearty laughter."

"Commencement Days" will be seen in Duluth Nov. 5 and 6.

Lyceum Notes.

"King Dodo," described as a "feast of musical fancies which is considered by thousands of show-shoppers to be the greatest of all comedy operas," will be the attraction at the Lyceum Oct. 11 and 12.

"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," presented by Cohan & Harris' company of comedians, headed by the inimitable Charley Brown, in his famous character of "Kid Burns," the slangy prize fighter, and Miss Elizabeth Drew as "Mary," together with the original cast and production, will be offered at the Lyceum early this season.

Recently, while playing a series of concerts in Madison, Wis., the management of d'Urbano's band had a bad ten minutes. It was time for the afternoon concert to start, but Signor d'Urbano was nowhere to be found. Word was sent to his hotel and to every imaginable place, but it was not until one of the members happened to look into a back yard, where a lot of children were at play, that he was discovered. There he was, as contented as any of them, playing "Ring around a Rosy," with never a thought of his concert. When asked about it, he simply said, in his funny broken English: "Me no think I hava granda time; like children so mucha."

D'Urbano's band will be the attraction at the Lyceum the week of Oct. 17.

No city could be more loyal to an old friend than is Hamburg to the great contralto, Mme. Schumann-Heink. Her recent concerts in the city where she first achieved fame have ended in wild scenes of tumultous applause and enthusiasm, and the audiences adjourned only to crowd upon the stage in a body in order to shake the hand of the gracious prima donna. Mme. Schumann-Heink will be heard at the Lyceum this season.

The press agent for Bailey & Austin, who are starring in "The Top o' the World," is utilizing the Cook-Peary polar controversy to good effect. He claims Bailey & Austin discovered "The Top o' the World." This attraction is underlined for a visit to Duluth.

It is a well-known fact that the plays that have lived are those where the sentiment was pure, and the lesson taught uplifting. No others outside of the work of such masters as Shakespeare have outlived their "fitful hour." To give plays that are elevating and wholesome has been the endeavor of Beulah Poynter, who will be seen here soon in "Lena Rivers" and "Molly Bawn."

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

ROBERT EDESON IN "THE NOBLE SPANIARD" WELL RECEIVED—MARGARET ANGLIN SCORES A SUCCESS IN "THE AWAKENING OF HELENA RICHIE"—JOHN DREW VERY DROLL IN "INCONSTANT GEORGE."

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The new productions last week here were: "The Noble Spaniard," at the Criterion, in which Robert Edeson plays the leading part; "The Awakening of Helena Richie," at the Savoy, in which Margaret Anglin returns to us after a year's absence in Australia, and "Inconstant George," at the Empire, in which John Drew is fitted with a typical role written for him by the authors of "Love Watches" and "My Wife," the rollicking comedy in which Mr. Drew appeared several years ago. It was in "My Wife" that Billie Burke attracted general attention and earned her right to appear in "Love Watches."

"The Noble Spaniard" is a three-act farce by W. Somerset Maugham from the French of Grenot-Dancourt. Edeson played the noble Spaniard, and looked as swarthy as he did in the part of Strongheart. The piece is unequivocally farcical, for it turns upon the general misunderstanding produced by the infatuation of the duke of Hermanos for Marion Nairee, who is an interesting young widow. She leads her adorer to believe that she is married in order to get rid of his attentions. The duke sets out on a steeplechase hunt for the conquest of the adored one. Her alleged marriage is no obstacle to him. He proposes to kill the husband in a duel, and by mistake gets hold of Justice Proudfoot, a peaceful old man who is shackled to a dragon of a wife. He can't understand why any one should fall in love with Lady Proudfoot and why he should be forced into a duel; but before there is any blood spilled, the duke challenges Capt. Chatford to mortal combat, believing him to be his rival in the affections of the widow. Before the three acts are over the Spaniard is engaged in a brawl with all the male characters in the farce, and there is a misunderstanding all around, that is only solved when Marion at last is moved by the duke's devotion to accept him as her second husband.

It is a lively piece and thoroughly French, with some excellent character drawings on the part of the author, and admirably played. Edeson was well received in the part, but the artistic hit was made by Rose Coghlan in the part of Lady Proudfoot.

The piece is dressed in the style of the early '60s, the hoop and panier period, and in one scene both Proudfoot and his spouse appear in naked feet and legs after a wading experience. Miss Coghlan's manipulation of her voluminous hoop made the display ludicrous in the extreme. But it was her finished comedy, her complete mastery of its details, that made people remark the superiority of the school from which Miss Coghlan graduated. Her Lady Proudfoot is one of the best hits of character acting we have seen since Dodson first appeared in "The House Next Door" at the Gaiety.

Gertrude Coghlan, her niece, is also in the cast. She played the role of Marion Naires, the widow, and her work was extremely interesting. The whole company is unusually competent, though, and well rehearsed. I will not say that the piece will make a great hit, but it has a chance to grow popular.

I shall await a later opportunity before committing myself wholly to a judgment on Miss Anglin's success in "The Awakening of Helena Richie," for a success it undeniably proved to be, and her work in this play must rank among the best efforts this accomplished artist has put forth.

The play is a dramatization of Margaret Deland's novel by Charlotte Thompson, and is rather clever as such things go. It preserves the spirit of the novel and it escapes the charge of distorting the characters too much. It leaves Helena Richie in possession of all the attributes of the heroine of the book. Miss Anglin does pretty nearly everything in this play at which she is admittedly best, and her trip to Australia has apparently ripened her art as shown in this characterization. It was full of emotional expressiveness and sincerity and she scored a substantial hit before a house crowded with the leading first-nighters in town. Whether she has a successor to "The Great Divide" in the new play, time alone will decide.

John Drew is very droll in "Inconstant George," by Messrs. De Flors and Caillavet. He does not have to be serious in this comedy a single moment until the very last, when his heart is kindled in behalf of the persevering, childish and truly sincere little Micheline, and he folds the cloak over the dainty little sleeper on the lounge while he steals out of the room on tiptoe. Up to this moment he has been the weather-vane, peacock or butterfly that is part of every large social circle; never wicked nor underhanded, but a good-hearted simpleton, with an awful frailty for womankind and an utter lack of will power. So he is like Buridan's ass that was starving to death between a stack of hay on one side and a bucket of water on the other, because he could not make up his mind which of the two he should begin with.

This part of George Bullin is a typical Drew part. He plays high comedy in all of the three acts—and Drew is open to suspicion only when he attempts pathos—and he is delightful in this role. There is a prodigiously good comedy scene in the second act between George and his best friend, Lucien de Versannes. George has just gone to bed, much after midnight, when Lucien comes, and in the most engaging manner and without the least display of temper confronts the inconstant one with his love letters to Lucien's wife and Lucien's cousin, and tells him to make up his mind which of the two he wishes to marry. With Drew's nervous leapings out of bed and donning his superb dressing gown and leaping into bed again at Lucien's calm advice and other natural little marks of agitation, this scene was a real triumph for the star, and he played it with wonderful spirit and enthusiasm. Besides, the piece is written in the better form of French comedy. It is a cheerful piece and it is distinguished by Drew's absorbing impersonation. It gave Mary Boland the chance of her life. As Micheline, a wayward, stubborn young thing, who is the only one that loves George sincerely, and climbs into his bedroom at 4:30 in the morning to take him fishing, she was a signal success. The comedy had a brilliant opening and promises to be one of the most popular in the Drew repertoire.

"Arsene Lupin," the French detective play, is one of the attractions of the season that is making a strong appeal to the public. It is simply a complication of ingenious moves, counter moves and escapes, with the scene laid in an aristocratic household. The Duke of Chamerace reminds you forcibly of the Spider in "The Silver King," who, it will be remembered, was a gentleman by day and a burglar by night. Chamerce is a bogus nobleman with an engaging outward polish and sense of humor. He is a connoisseur of pictures and jewels, and strips a residence of its rich furnishings in a night with the aid of a trained band of thieves. And, with a delightful sense of self-appreciation, he writes his name on the walls in different places to prevent any other thief from appropriating the glory of his triumph. Guerchard, the detective, is an inverted view of Sherlock Holmes. He is, perhaps, more likely to suggest Sergeant Cuff, Wilkie Collins's great detective in "The Moon Stone." He lacks the superhuman faculty of Mr. Holmes, and Lupin, in one scene in which he defies him to his teeth, calls him a policeman with a bitterness that grinds the very soul of the sleuth. And in the end he plays a shabby trick on Guerchard by holding him and his minions at bay with a supposed bomb, which turns out to be a rubber ball, and makes his escape by a trick elevator, vide "Raffles," if you remember the clock scene.

To me the piece has all the characteristics of a subtle satire on the detective plays, and I am not sure that the authors are not laughing at the critics who judge the piece seriously. There is an obvious flavor of levity in the treatment of some of the most serious scenes that smacks substantially of cynical humor. Sidney Herbert, as Guerchard, carries off the honors. William Courtenay's duke is little better than a stock performance, without color and without contrasts, but he has what every actor calls a "fat" part, one in which Kyrle Bellew would sparkle like a kohinoor.

Edward Abeles, after making a great hit in "Brewster's Millions," has taken a fling in vaudeville and is appearing this week at the Colonial in a dramatic sketch, "Self Defense." Which leads me to recall that Cecilia Loftus is with us again, after a long absence in London, and is imitating a number of well-known actors this week at the American music hall.

An unknown author and an unknown playwright—both in one—Robert B. Keggeries of name, has made an unexpected hit in a one-act play, itself an anomaly, at Daly's. It is a dramatization of Edgar Allan Poe's gruesome story, "The Tell-Tale Heart," and was put on as a curtain raiser to "Billy," the comedy by George Cameron (Mrs. Sidney Drew) in which Mr. Drew has been playing for some time at this playhouse. The piece begins after the servant has murdered and buried his master. The actor portrays with startling realism the operation of a guilty conscience. The police enter to search the house. The servant receives them. He is confident that his secret is well kept. They notice that he evades one part of the room, for under the planks lies the body of his murdered master. Gradually his expression changes, he becomes conscience-stricken. The heart beats sap his courage, and he can keep up the delusion no longer. With a shriek he admits the murder. The piece is little more than a monolgue for Mr. Keggereis, but he plays with great feeling and dramatic power, and the success is due largely to the actor's art.

Elsie Ferguson, who is helping to keep up the popularity of Channing Pollock's poetic play, "Such a Little Queen," in the title role, in an interview this week called attention to an interesting fact, namely, that comparatively few New Yorkers enter the theatrical profession, though New York is the producing center of the country. Miss Ferguson is herself a native of New York city.

"I was born in New York," she said, "and it is a singular thing, but I don't believe I know three other people on the stage who were born here. They all seem to come from somewhere else."

Anything but this might be expected from a place where sixty-odd theaters of first and second rank are open practically the season round, yet Miss Ferguson's observation is supported by that of other students of theatrical conditions.

"The Rose of Algeria," which was presented at the Herald Square theater for only a brief engagement, turns out to be a revision of last year's offering at the Broadway. "Algeria," music by Victor Herbert. "Algeria," was one of the most ambitious musical undertakings on Broadway last season. It was sumptuously staged, splendidly sung, with William Pruette and Ida Brooks Hunt, both of "The Chocolate Soldier," now playing at the Lyric, and the melodies were in Herbert's best vein. But for some reason it was withdrawn after a run of some weeks. It has now been rewritten and fitted with many new lines. Eugene Cowles is singing Pruette's role, and William Herlein, whom Lew Fields brought over from Europe especially for the title role, is singing it in place of Miss Hunt, and the piece made a strong impression on its readvent. Victor Herbert was himself at the conductor's desk the opening night, and was greeted with every mark of hearty cordiality by the large audience. Herbert is in himself an attraction, and his name as conductor in the announcements always adds something to the receipts.

Ethel Barrymore will not begin her season until January, when she will be seen in the American production of Pinero's new play, "Mid-Channel." The reason for starring Miss Barrymore's season so late is an interesting domestic one. Her marriage in Boston last year will be recalled by those who follow the stage. It is a strange coincidence that the theme of "MidChannel" concerns a married couple who have had no children to bless their union and whose unhappiness results therefrom.

The spectacular injunction suit which Florence Ziegfeld obtained after Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth parted company with him, to forbid the pair appearing under any other management, has been upheld by the New York courts, and the offending couple will have to attempt a new arrangement or give up a very profitable vaudeville tour.

The playwright has very appropriately christned the forthcoming drama "The Rib of the Man."

Fannie Ward will open the season in America in a play by Forrest Halsey and Lee Arthur entitled "Van Allen's Wife." E. Reeves Smith has been engaged as her leading man. "Van Allen's Wife" is a modern play. Its scenes are laid in New York city and on Long Island. The characters depicted are those of men and women of good breeding into whose circle circumstances force a young woman of the best instincts and sterling worth, but a toy of the fates. Her life falls in pleasant paths and happiness comes to her. In the midst of her contentment she again becomes a plaything of the unforeseen and is forced out of the warmth of her husband's home and her child's heart to take up the life of paying the penalty for the misdeeds of others. The company will be carefully selected and the play staged with taste and discretion.

Robert B. Keggerel's one-act play, "The Telltale Heart," a dramatization of Poe's weird and thrilling story, was put on at Daly's, with great success as a curtain raiser to the comedy, "Billy." It was simply told. The murderer meets and talks to the police, telling and retelling his story until he is interrupted by the beating on the floor beneath his feet of the heart of the woman he has there buried. Finally giving away to the hallucination of the increasing sounds, which to his ears become as so many thumps, he falls beneath the strain and tries to tear the boards from the floor.

Ethel Levey, well known to American audiences, made her London debut on Monday night and carried her audience by storm. Her vivacity, stage presence, graceful dancing and good voice were a revelation to these Londoners, and she was recalled again and again.

"The Golden Butterfly," in which Miss Grace Van Studdiford again is starring this season, does not express the glitter that comes into the eyes of that noted prima donna when the matter of her divorce suits against her husband, Charles Van Studdiford, is mentioned. When action for divorce was filed by Miss Studdiford, alleging neglect, failure to support and kindred matters, it was thought that there would be easy sailing. But now comes hubby with an answer to the suit in which he says that he did not desert her, and that he was not lacking when it came to supplying the necessities of life. He hints that there is a coldness on the part of the prima donna which is responsible for her action, and he has thrown his gauntlet into the ring and intends to fight the action. Van Studdiford is the scion of a former wealthy St. Louis family. Said wealth—or a goodly portion of it—having taken unto itself wings, Van Studdiford now is in the somewhat plebian, though none the less lucrative, business of coaxing customers to purchase certain coffees, for the sale of which he has the exclusive privilege in certain territories.

Nance O'Neil goes into vaudeville Nov. 23 in a new one-act play which she brought over from Europe.

Lina Abarbanell arrived last week from abroad and from present indications will head her own company this season in a new light opera.

William Faversham will present "Herod" in but twenty-eight performances in New York and owing to the magnitude of the production will, while on tour, only use it at such cities as he is engaged for one or more weeks.

Charlotte Walker has progressed so well after her recent operation that she has been discharged from the hospital and in another week will begin studying her role in the play which her husband, Eugene Valter, has written for her and which Belasco will produce.

Owing to the fact that he has purchased property in the region of Dunoon, Harry Lauder is a Scottish laird. It is his intention to retire to the new acquisition when his stageland days have passed, which, considering that he is but 39 years of age, are not likely to end so soon. Lauder comes to New York early in October for a season of vaudeville appearances in this country.

"Madame X," the Parisian sensation opened last week at the Lyceum theater, Rochester, under the management of Henry Savage. It is calculated to be one of the biggest things of the season.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw will at last yield to the inevitable. Repeated vaudeville offers have been refused by her in the past, but from latest reports she has agreed to appear in vaudeville during the coming winter.

Carrie Reynolds has been engaged for the role of the actress in McIntyre and Heath's new production, "In Hayti," and began last week at the Circle theater, in New York, where the piece is running. She is credited with a pleasing personal success in the part.

Mary Mannering will star this season in "The Watchers," by Cora Maynard.

Stuart Robson, son of the late Stuart Robson, made his first public appearance as a professional actor in "Billy" at Daly's theater.

Hamilton Revelle has arrived in New York and will begin rehearsals in "The Coast of Chance," in which he is to play the leading male role.

In addition to his Paris office Henry W. Savage will have quarters in Berlin. Herman Fellner, his Paris representative, will be in charge of the American manager's interests, while another of his lieutenants will be assigned to Paris.

Nazimova is to appear in two new plays this coming season, both of which will be given on the road previous to her New York run, which will begin early in the new year, when she will open one of the new theaters the Shuberts are building in the metropolis. One of these plays is called "The Passion Flower," the work of Brandon Tynan, who was a member of her cast last season. She has temporarily laid aside her Ibsen repertoire, though she expects to add another production of the great Norwegian master to her list before the season is over. Eugene Walter is also said to be at work on a play intended for her use.

Norman Hackett has taken up Mansfield's former success, "Beau Brummel." His characterization of the "Beau" is said to be original and artistic. This is Mr. Hackett's second season as a star, last year playing "Classmates." Jules Murray, who is presenting Mr. Hackett, has arranged a season of forty weeks, and may possibly present him in New York in the spring.

James E. Sullivan, formerly with Fritzi Scheff, goes in vaudeville with Ella and Vina Snyder in a skit entitled "In Your Hat," the use of which title has been protested against by Oscar Hammerstein.

"Buster Brown" is to have a new play in which a number of new characters, besides Buster, Tige and Mary Jane, will be seen. George Totten Smith is working on the piece, and R. F. Outcalt expects to have his little star before the public in his new vehicle before long.

Augustus Thomas is accused of being the author of the new De Wolf Hopper musical comedy, "The Matinee Idol." Mr. Hopper denies it, but Mr. Thomas has not yet been heard on the subject.

FROM THE MINES AND THE SMELTERS

THE GIROUX CONSOLIDATED

Officials Considering Options Obtained by "Tex" Rickard That Would Add Much Territory to Giroux---Work on Smelter Starts Soon.

Ely, Nev., Oct. 2.—The Cole-Ryan syndicate is very active in its efforts to secure all available undeveloped acreage lying to the south and west of the Giroux estate. "Tex" Rickard is at Duluth with options on several properties for the consideration of the Cole-Ryan people. If these options are exercised by the Duluth people, they will have fully 1,000 acres outside of the Giroux. If these deals are consummated, the natural result will be the erection of a smelter in the Ely district to handle the ores of this outlying acreage, which covers the great limestone belt adjoining the Giroux estate on the south and west. The Cole-Ryan crowd is promoting the International smelter, near Salt Lake, but as the ores of the newly-acquired territory are a direct smelting product, it will be found cheaper to have a smelting plant on the ground.

The new shaft on the Alpha claim of the Giroux estate is now up between 590 and 600 feet above the 100-foot level, where it was started. Good progress is being made, and on the surface all is bustle and work in the construction of the spur track to connect the new shaft with the Nevada Consolidated railroad. Chief Engineer A. J. Sale is working on a theory which, should it be verified, will prove of great benefit to Giroux Consolidated. It is the belief of Mr. Sale that the rhyolite in which the old Alpha shaft was sunk carries commercial values, and to determine this question he is now making tests from the surface to the 100-foot level of the shaft. If this theory is verified, it means that a big body of rhyolite ore will be opened up independently of that in which the Giroux has been working, and that the ore will without doubt be of very high grade. The result of Mr. Sale's investigations will be made known in a few days. This news will be of great interest, not only to the Giroux people, but to every company owning mines in the rhyolite.

EL TEMBLOR MINE IS SOLD

Fifty Thousand Dollars Paid for Property Six Miles South of El Tigre---Henry C. Carr Also Secures Three Other Mines.

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 2.—El Temblor mine, which was optioned about three months ago by L. Van Dusen and Tim Lambertson of Douglas, has been sold by these well known mining men to Henry C. Carr of New York, representing D. M. and J. J. Steindler of that city. The price paid for the mine was $50,000

El Temblor mine was the property of James Taylor, Walter Hewitt, M. D. Shippy, all of El Tigre. The mine very early in its development showed great promise that the silver and gold ore taken out was of a very high grade. The mine has been shipping regularly, the last carload of ore having averaged twenty ounces of gold and 3,000 ounces of silver to the ton. The ores have been smelted at the Copper Queen smelter in this city. Work has been carried on for a year and a half, and during this time a tunnel has been driven and a winze sunk, from which the high grade ores have been taken so far. Shipments made last month were valued at $1,900 per ton. The mine is located only six miles south of El Tigre, in a district rapidly coming to the front as one of the richest mining sections of the hemisphere.

A deal has also been practically completed by Mr. Carr for the purchase of three important mining properties in Sonora, marking another step of big capital into the Tabatacochi district east of Montezuma. The well known Antigua mine is included in the deal. The other mines involved in the transaction are the Texas and the Last Chance. The Antigua mine is owned by C. N. Lindley of New York and Frank Watts of Nacozari, who is about to take up his residence in Douglas. The Texas and Last Chance are owned by Charles Suggs, W. R. Bartlett, William Loy, H. H. Ritchey and Lindley and Watts. Watts and Lindley accepted for the Antigua the figure offered by Carr, who is here in Douglas, after a trip down to the district to inspect the mines, and this deal is practicaly confirmed. The Antigua is an old mine and has been worked for years. The Texas and Last Chance have been developed only to a slight extent. But they are valuable because they give an admirable outlet to the Antigua, and Carr has been anxious to get these two properties on this account, aside from their intrinsic value, or present prospects. Suggs, Bartlett, Loy and Ritchey, with Watts and Lindley, bonded the Texas and Last Chance about two years and a half ago.

This group of mining properties is located about thirty-six miles east of Nacozari, near the Bavispe river, and close to the proposed main line of the Southern Pacific railroad running from Cochise to Guaymas.

BIG COMPANY IS ORGANIZED

Will Develop Forty-Seven Claims in the Turquoise District Between Courtland and Pearce in Arizona---Has 940Acres.

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 2.—The first big corporation arising out of the prominence given the Turquoise district because of the rich strikes of the ore at Courtland, the heart of this district, has been organized to be floated in New York and other cities.

The new corporation is the Courtland Copper company, capitalized at $5,000,000, 1,000,000 shares at the par value of $5 per share. The original directors are Joseph U. Bignon, Ellen Bignon, both of Pearce, and Frank J. Nichols, who has acted as agent for the company. Nichols and Bignon have returned from New York, where they have been for two months formulating the plans of the new corporation.

W. H. Ellis of New York, who has large interests in Mexico, and especially in Africa, where he is promoting a new railway and a big rubber plantation, will promote the company. Offices will be established, it is said, in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago. There will be no offices in Douglas, but the office headquarters will be Pearce, Ariz.

The company has 940 acres in mineral land in the Turquoise district. This embraces forty-seven claims, of which twelve are located within ten miles of Pearce, and two from the main line of the Southern Pacific railroad. The other claims are located just north of the Calumet & Arizona claims in the Courtland field. On one group of the claims $50,000 worth of development work has already been done.

The work so far done has been done by lease to other persons. It is stated that the company will put to work on the claims from fifty to 100 men within the next two months, and that the shipments will be sent to Douglas for smelting. The properties have showings for gold, silver, copper and lead. They are located not far from the famous Commonwealth gold mine of Pearce, which has produced millions of dollars for its owners. The ores are self fluxing.

BONDED BY SALT LAKE MEN

Schulze Claims in the Globe District Under Option for $250,000---Development Company to Be Organized and Exploration Begun.

Globe, Ariz., Oct. 2.—The entrance of another strong group of mine operators into Globe district was made public by the announcement of H. E. Bierce of this city that the Schulze claims, held by him under an option for some time past, has been taken over by several prominent capitalists and mining men of Salt Lake City.

The men chiefly instrumental in the securing of the sixteen claims comprisnig the Schulze group are Samuel Newhouse, president of the Boston Consolidated Mining company, whose property adjoins that of the Utah Copper company, and John Dern, president of the Consolidated Mercur Gold Mines company of Utah.

The sum for which the claims are bonded is $250,000, and the payment of this amount is due July 31, 1911. The Schulze group was owned by the Schulze family, well known in the Globe district. The claims are located about nine miles west of Globe and about three-quarters of a mile west of the Live Oak property. Adjoining the properties are the Rose Consolidated, the Montezuma, and the Needles group, owned by Dan Williamson of this city. The men who have taken over the Schulze group will put a force of men at work sinking a shaft this week.

The purchasers of the Schulze claims will organize into a development company and will begin to explore the property. Two Star churn drills are now on the way to Globe from Kansas, and other machinery, such as boilers and hositing apparatus has also been shipped. This week the sinking of a vertical two-compartment shaft on the Augustus claim will be begun. At present a windlass will be used in lifting the waste taken out in sinking, and this will be replaced with the hoist as soon as it arrives. The new development company will be a close corporation. No stock will be offered for sale.

The Schulze group is one of the best properties in the Globe district if surface indications count for anything. In the course of previous development a number of pits, shallow cuts and tunnels have been made on the property with excellent results in the way of favorable showings. A good grade of chalcocite ore carrying copper in paying quantities has been found in several different workings on the property, and some of these workings have also yielded handsome specimens of copper glance. In addition to these ores there is much silicate ore one the surface.

AT THE LAKE COPPER MINES

Strike Made by New Baltic Company Arcadian-Edwards Tract—Situation at Seneca Property Remains Rather Discouraging—All Exploratory Work Has Ceased at the Victoria.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The New Baltic Exploration company has made a genuine strike in the disclosure of copper ground in the property generally known as the Arcadian-Edwards tract lying north of Portage lake. The copper deposits encountered has not been positively identified as the Baltic lode, but presumably is the west bed of that formation. The discovery was made at a depth of 333 feet in the No. 3 drill hole, from which a two-foot core of rich copper rock was taken, the mineral running almost entirely to nuggets of heavy copper. Several feet more of core obtained below that depth show the same mineralization alternating with somewhat leaner ground, though nowhere barren. It is a noteworthy fact that the trap rock immediately overlying this lode carried a small amount of copper, a rather unusual condition, and an indication that the vein material below will be found to carry exceptional values. The drill hole has attained a depth of about 400 feet and will be sunk to around 800 feet within which depth it is expected the main bed of this formation will be encountered. The discovery of copper ground in this territory indicates great possibilities in this generally discredited strip of land and is of particular importance to the Arcadian company, upon whose propertly lying next south diamond drilling was recently begun.

Seneca.

The situation at the Seneca property remains rather discouraging, and although the lode recently opened at the second level, 450 feet from surface, shows a less disturbed condition than was found at the first level and is also somewhat wider, nothing in the way of copper ground is being disclosed. All work at this point has been done at comparatively shallow depth and above that from which drill borings said to have been well charged with copper were taken. The single working shaft attained a depth of about 500 feet.

Victoria.

At the Victoria all exploratory work of every description has ceased and all attention transferred to the development of the lode upon which the mine is opened. The exploratory campaign just closed extended over a period of more than one year, in which time the property was extensively diamond drilled and otherwise tested for values without resulting in the disclosure of commercially valuable copper ground other than that opened in the mine in which development work has progressed without interruption and resulted in the blocking out of upwards of 750,000 tons of copper rock ready for stoping. It is estimated that this ground will yield between twelve and fifteen pounds fine copper per ton of rock, a rather low yield for even a low grade

NORTH BUTTE'S NEW ORE FIND

Body of Ore Encountered on 2,000-Foot Level is Thirty Feet Wide and Averages 5 Per Cent Copper—Remarkable Continuity of Ore Bodies in the Butte Coalition.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The management of the North Butte company has refused all information to the public about the condition of the property since the raids on the stock of that company and the misrepresentations that were started about a year ago. However, according to news that is brought from the mine by miners, the company is coming into its own again and will in a short time be a greater property than ever. For some time developments on the 2,000 and 2,200-foot levels were not up to expectations, owing to the fact that the vein was badly faulted. However, the drifts have gone through the fault and the vein on both levels is strong and well mineralized, though on the 2,200 the ore is still of a low grade. On the 2,000, however, the westerly drift is about 100 feet ahead of the 2,200 level drift and during the past week has come into a body of ore that fills the entire vein for its width of thirty feet, the ore giving an average assay of 5 per cent. As this ore body is about 300 feet from the west end line of the claim, there are good prospects of opening a very extensive deposit, and that it will become richer with progress of the work. It is not unlikely that the same body of ore will be found on the [illegible],200. It is needless to say that [illegible] management and the stockohlders [illegible] Butte are very much pleased over the developments. General Manager Carson never doubted the ultimate results of the work on the new levels, and at the time of the brokers and newspaper attacks on North Butte, Thomas F. Cole gave a warning to stockholders not to become influenced by the stories, saying stockholders who sold their stock on the stories circulated, derogatory to the property, would live to regret it. After the Anaconda company made its rich finds on the 2,800 level of the High Ore mine and at a depth of 2,900 feet in the Diamond mine, and the North Butte had passed through the fault on the new levels, mining men familiar with conditions in the Butte district no longer doubted that the North Butte would again find great copper wealth in its lower levels. Although the North Butte and the High Ore are on different vein series, they are, nevertheless, of the same character and undoubtedly of the same period of formation, and therefore there is every rearon why they should not be different in value and permanency.

Butte Coalition.

Without a single disappointment or interruption since the Heinze properties in Butte passed to the Butte Coalition company, the mines, under the management and direction of Arthur C. Carson and George Moulthrop have experienced a wonderful development, and if the reports from the Minnie Healey, Tramway and Rarus mines are only partially true, they are in the lead of the big and important mines of the Butte district. New ore bodies are encountered in most unexpected places, and every level and drift made into the old veins discloses a wonderful and remarkable continuity of the ore bodies, generally increasing in size and richness with depth. All the levels of the Rarus and Minnie Healey are being connected with the big Tramway shaft. The lowest level is the seventeenth, which has just been opened into the Minnie Healey ground, where a drift is now being

CORDOVA TAKES UP OPTIONS

Mining Company to Abandon Only About 10 Per Cent of Ground Under Bond---Live Oak Daily Getting More Ore---Increase in Shipments From the Black Warrior.

Globe, Ariz., Oct. 2.—Within the next few days the Cordova Mining company will complete the taking over of practically 90 per cent of the mining property now held under option by it in this district. The work of taking over the many bonded properties has been in progress for the past several days. The work is not completed as yet, and Hoval A. Smith is unable to announce just which groups had been bought. He stated, however, that options on only about 10 per cent of the present holdings would be allowed to lapse. The company is apparently grouping its holdings with the intention of acquiring permanently what they consider the best copper groups.

The Sullivan shaft of the Cordova is now down to a depth of 435 feet, and sinking is going on steadily. In the past few days a slight change in the appearance of the material being removed from the shaft was encountered. The present rock removed in development is gray schist of the same silicious nature as that found at the Miami and Inspiration mines, but is a little lighter in color than that which has been coming of late from the Sullivan shaft.

The small sinking pump, which was secured some time ago for installation in the Sullivan shaft, is now in place, but so far it has not been found necessary to use it, as the quantity of water found there can easily be handled by bailing and is too small to make pumping, even on a small scale, advisable.

At the present rate of sinking the Sullivan shaft will be down to the 500 level by Oct. 15, and at that depth crosscutting will be done to explore the ground around the vertical shaft. The ground in which the shaft is now going down continues to carry copper, but not in commercial quantities.

Live Oak.

The entrance of another "sure enough" producer into the Globe district list is what the development work at the Live Oak mine is daily impressing upon the public. The results so far prove that, in addition to the body of sulphide ore opened by the long tunnel, an ore body more than 300 feet long and 120 feet deep has been proven to exist in the vicinity of the vertical shaft. This ore body has been opened north of the shaft by a crosscut 251 feet long, south of the shaft by the sulphide tunnel, which is in ore there for a distance of fifty feet, and vertically, by the shaft itself, which struck ore at a depth of 200 feet and continued in it until sinking was stopped at the bottom of the present sump, 120 feet below the 200 level.

The facts above give some idea of the present proven ore body. If the crosscuts north and west of the shaft continue in ores of good commercial value to the property line, lying 600 and 1,000 feet distant respectively from the shaft, the ore body at the Live Oak mine will then have acquired proportions that will make it compare favorably with that of any other property in the Globe district.

Black Warrior.

At the Blacak Warrior mine, the production of ore in the course of development work is going steadily forward under the supervision of General Manager E. M. White. Recently there has been an increase in the amount of ore shipped. The quantity of ore shipped daily now is 110 tons as compared with 100 tons, the amount being shipped a week ago. The ore is sent to the El Paso smelters, and its average percentage in copper is between 10 and 11.

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

Cambria Steel Company Orders Increased Output From Its Mines—Cleveland-Cliffs Company Has Much Development in Swanzy District—Electrical Plant for the Hiawatha Mine.

Because of enlarged requisitions made by its furnaces, the Cambria Steel company will ship more ore from its Lake Superior mines this season than was intended. Instructions to increase outputs have been issued, and among other properties they apply to the Republic mine, a Marquette range property. The production at the Republic last year amounted to only 70,000 tons. This season fully 175,000 tons will be forwarded, which will rank with the biggest annual outputs in the long history of the property. The last of the stockpile is now being shipped, and there is assurance that mining operations will be prosecuted with a full force of men all winter. The Republic has already produced more than 6,000,000 tons of ore since its opening many years ago, and its deposits are still very large.

As is the case on other ranges of the region, and has been the case for a number of weeks past, the movement of ore from the Marquette district continues at an unprecedented rate. Practically all the steam shovels on the range are kept in almost constant commission, and such ore as remains in stock is being sent out rapidly. A shortage of cars occasionally hampers shipments, still from 1,300 to 1,500 carloads of ore are being forwarded to the docks daily. This tonnage is shared by the Chicago & Northwestern, South Shore & Atlantic and Lake Superior & Ishpeming railroads. Recently the South Shore broke all its past records by transporting 575 carloads in one day, a particularly good performance considering the comparatively small number of mines served; the daily average is 350 to 400 cars.

The Swanzy District.

The Cleveland-Cliffs company has much development work in progress in the Swanzy district, where it is opening a number of new mines. The shaft at the Smith property has reached a depth in excess of 700 feet. It will be connected by drifts with the adjoining Kidder mine. On this latter property a concrete shaft sunk through quicksand to solid rock at a depth of 114 feet was completed some time ago. When the drift from the third level of the Smith reaches the Kidder, a raise will be made to the present bottom of the latter, and the shaft will then be increased to full size. Aside from the Smith and the Kidder, a prospective mine of the Cleveland-Cliffs company in the same field is the Northwestern. Development work had been started there, and a concrete shaft had been put down forty feet, when, because of litigation between the owners of the fee, operations were suspended and probably will not be resumed until the ownership of the land itself is decided in the courts. It is about a mile from these shafts that the model town of Gwinn is being established. The site of the future metropolis comprises 118 acres, all of which has been improved by the construction of streets and the installation of water and sewers; a considerable number of business blocks, public buildings and residences have already been erected, and the town is increasing in population and importance rapidly. A fine hospital has been erected for the accommodation of the employes of the company, and a clubhouse is in process of construction. A mile west of the townsite the Austin, Princeton and Stephen-

STRIKE OF RICH OXIDE MADE

Encountered at Depth of 1,250 Feet in Oliver Shaft of Calumet & Arizona---Several Officers of Company Visit the Mines.

Bisbee, Ariz., Oct. 2.—One of the richest bodies of oxide ore ever encountered in this district, was rumored to have been found at the depth of 1,250 feet at the Oliver shaft of the Calumet & Arizona company a few days ago. It was stated that specimen samples showed the grade of ore to be the richest of any oxide encountered in this camp for a number of years. The extent of the body cannot of course, be ascertained at this time, but the face of the drift in which it was found is said to be entirely in it. Work of developing the body will be prosecuted with vigor in order to ascertain this detail. The finding of oxide ores at so great a depth, several hundred feet lower than any other like body in the camp, is considered very important by mining men. This would tend to show that the Oliver is one of the few deep mining propositions carrying rich ore at depth.

Here for the purpose of examining the properties of the Calumet & Arizona interests in this portion of the country, are several officers and stockholders in the company. Besides visiting Bisbee mines of the company the party will also go to Courtland and to Cananea to inspect the mines.

The party is composed of Capt. Thomas Hoatson, second vice president; Peter Ruppe, treasurer; Gordon R. Campbell, secretary, all of Calumet, Mich; R. B. Caneld of Ann Arbor, Mich., Dr. W. P. Harlow of Boulder, Colo. The latter two, while large stockholders are not officers in the company.

"Our visit is merely of routine nature and does not portend any changes in manner of development of the Calumet & Arizona properties," said Mr. Campbell. "It is necessary that the directors should visit the properties at least twice a year in order to be familiar with the work underway. Of course on these trips we always find something which needs attention at our regular meetings. Some method of handling ores or of developing a mine may not be entirely incidental details. So far as I am aware of at present there are no probable changes in any way which I could detail at present."

Leaving here it is the intention of the party to go direct to Los Angeles to spend a short time before returning to their respective homes. They will not visit the newly acquired Giroux property at Ely, at this time. The members of the party intend spending about a week in Bisbee and surrounding districts, with this city as their headquarters.

COST OF EAST BUTTE METAL

Claim by Officers That August Cost Was 10 Cents a Pound, Landed in New York---Company Now Showing a Profit.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 2.—It is claimed by officers of the company that in the month of August the East Butte Copper company produced its copper at a cost of 10 cents a pound, landed in New York, exclusive of expenses of development, which, if included, would make the cost less than 10½ cents. Shipments last month amounted to 565,000 pounds of copper, 20,000 ounces of silver and 125 ounces of gold.

President Robert H. Gross says:

"In the past two months the East Butte Copper company has shown no 'red ink' figures in its monthly earning statements and from now on only 'black figures' are to be expected, as we now have reduced the cost of our copper to the 10-cent mark and a further reduction is possible.

"Up to last July the company was called upon to draw from its treasury to meet construction and development expenses, but since then our operations have shown a profit. There are no extraordinary expenses now ahead to be met, so that profits from operations from now on will find their way into the treasury for the benefit of stockholders.

"It has taken less than a year for the management to get the property into its present shape, where it can produce 7,000,000 pounds of copper per annum at a cost of 10 cents a pound, and the end is not yet, as we can very materially increase our output on short notice with any improvement in the price of the metal. With copper at its present low level, it is regarded better judgment to limit the production and place the property in shape to make a larger output when the metal market is better.

"The present management has directed its attention mainly during the past year to reducing the costs of production to the lowest possible point rather than to crowding output irrespective of costs. In the month of August, for instance, we were able to cut our smelting costs 80 cents a ton by effecting a change in the former conditions, and a further reduction will be made in this item during the current month.

"Our second furnace is ready to blow in and will be placed in operation at the first sign of any improvement in the price of copper. With this new furnace in operation, the capacity of the plant will be doubled and the copper output largely increased.

"Work has not been abandoned on the old East Butte property, as reported, although some work planned to have been done has been deferred until certain other work has been accomplished at the Pittsmount property, which will reduce the cost very materially. As a matter of fact, we shipped seven cars of ore from the old East Butte property last month which ran 7.6 per cent copper and 2.6 ounces of silver, which certainly does not indicate that this portion of the East Butte property has little value."

IN THE PARADISE DISTRICT

Report That Development Operations Will Start on Sullivan---Patents to Four Claims of the Group Received by the Company.

Paradise, Ariz., Oct. 2.—There is talk of commencement of development operations on the Sullivan in the near future, according to J. G. Sweeney, who was recently in Duluth, Minn., the home of the owners of the property. Patents to four claims of the group—applied for nearly four years ago—were received by the company last month, after having been delayed by litigation.

A full face of lead ore at a vertical depth of about ninety feet is the fine showing now to be seen on the G. I. Gardner property, adjoining the Sullivan group. The working is a tunnel, which is in at present about 285 feet, in gray lime. The tunnel is being driven to reach a point vertically under the 90-foot inclined shaft, which had more or less ore for the entire distance; and it is calculated that this point will be reached in ten feet more of work. The tunnel has been in mineralized lime for the entire distance, and for some time the lime has been looking sufficiently better to be styled lead ore. Until recently assays were not deemed worth while, for the reason that much better values in the near future were practically certain. However, tests are now to be made soon.

It was not because the ore pinched out that the 90-foot shaft was abandoned—for the ore was followed all the way, and there are still good values in the bottom. It was on account of the waste of time and money further hoisting would have meant. For twenty feet or so the shaft is vertical, then, for the remainder of the distance, inclined. So, further sinking—especially when the work was being done by one man—was plainly out of the question. Hence the tunnel.

More than 700 feet of work has been done on this group, and practically every foot of it is either in ore or in mineralized ground.

On his group on Harris mountain Rube Hadden is taking out some good ore carrying values in copper, silver and lead. Some of the ore is believed to run high in copper. Samples have been sent away to be assayed, with a view to making a shipment.

One of the principal showings at present is in a 15-foot tunnel, in which there is about three feet of ore that is thought to be high grade.

BIG STAMPEDE TO IDITAROD

Thousands Flock To Diggings 150 Miles From Fairbanks---Driest Season at Nome---Future of Gold Fields Is In Dredging.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 2.—A cable dispatch from Fairbanks says the biggest gold stampede in Alaska since the Tanana rush of 1903 is now on to the Iditarod, a tributary of the Innoke. The new diggings are 150 miles from Fairbanks. The Innoke is a tributary of the Yukon. The steamer Tanana left Fairbanks on Sept. 15 with 150 passengers, 200 tons of freight, fifty dogs and much machinery. Thousands of persons have gone to the Iditarod during the summer, and Fairbanks is feeling the effects of the stampede in a scarcity of labor. Nowhere are the new goldfields deeper than twenty feet, and every man has a chance to make a stake, there benig a wide extent of gold bearing country.

The season of 1909 will be remembered in the Nome district as the driest one within its history of ten years. While the spring shipments of placer gold to the States, as evidenced by the Nome custom house records, very nearly equal those of 1908, a deficit of fully 30 per cent is expected for the balance of the season, owing to the scarcity of water in the ditches and streams.

A systematic study and measurement of the water supply of this country has been under way for three years, especially of the streams and water courses leading to the tundra and beach deposit back of Nome. This proves that Nome's many ditch and hydraulic failures are directly traceable to insufficient water supply. Costly,

HAD AWFUL EXPERIENCE

Young Farmer Clung to Half-Inch Rope Nearly Two Hours.

Was Hundred Feet Down in Well in Ice Cold Water.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 2.—Over one hundred feet underground and with his lower limbs partly immersed in fifteen feet of ice cold water, Marshal Crump, a young married man, for nearly two hours, last Friday afternoon, clung desperately to a half-inch rope until rescued from his perilous position by some of the neighbors.

The scene of Crump's mishap was the well on his father's homestead, about four miles northwest of town. A rope and pulley apparatus is used for drawing water from the well, which is 120 feet deep and contains about sixteen feet of water. In some manner the bucket used for drawing the water became fastened near the bottom of the well, and Marshal slid down the rope intending to loosen it, and then having Carl Kilgore, who was present, pull him to the surface by means of the pulley.

When Marshal reached the water he found he was unable to loosen the bucket without a diving suit, and to make matters worse, that the only visible way to get out of the well was by climbing the half-inch rope for over a hundred feet.

He quickly explained the circumstances to Mr. Kilgore, who hopped into his auto and started in search of another rope, but had to come clear into town before he could get one. Mrs. W. J. Martin, Marshal'r sister, also started out for a rope and succeeded in finding one at Mrs. Wharton's, about a mile distant. Fortunately a couple of the men folks were home, and they, carrying the rope, hurried to the Crump homestead.

In the meantime Marshal was hanging to his slender support with his hands and feet, but in spite of all he could do, was slowly slipping downward, and when the rescuing party from Wharton's arrived, the water had reached nearly to his hips.

It was but the work of a moment to make a loop in the rope and drop it down to Marshal, who managed to slip his head and one arm through it, and in this manner was drawn to the surface, just as Mr. Kilgore arrived from town with another rope.

With the exception of a few blisters on his hands and a general tired feeling, Marshal suffered no other injury, but he says it is an experience he is not anxious to repeat.

GIRL SAYS SHE WAS KIDNAPED

Kanabec County Man Arrested and Taken to Pine City.

Pine City, Minn., Oct. 2.—Some excitement was occasioned Tuesday morning by the announcement of a kidnaping case, which it is alleged took place on Monday night. The man in the case is Erick Pierson, 28 or 30 years old, residing near Rice Creek, Kanabec county. The young lady is Theresa Pranghofer, who resides with her parents in the town of Royalton, Pine county.

The girl gives a seeming straight forward account of the alleged abduction. She claims to have been walking along the road from her home to a neighboring place, when she was accosted by the man, whom she asserts is Pierson. It is alleged that he invited her to ride with him to her destination, but they had not gone far before he, it is alleged, overpowered her and held a bottle containing some drug to her nose until she lost consciousness.

The girl was returned to her parents Tuesday, and it is stated that she is quite ill from the effects of the drug. Pierson was brought to Pine City yesterday, and during a brief hearing in the afternoon before Judge Atkinson he waived the reading of the warrant and pleaded not guilty. He was released on $500 bonds, and his examination before justice court was set for this afternoon.

The charge against Pierson is a very serious one, the maximum penalty upon conviction for the same in this state being forty years in the penitentiary

Parts of the shoe had been carried into the foot by the shot and it is considered that the young fellow stands in great danger from blood poison or lockjaw. Doheny is at present in the general hospital where he will remain until all chance of infection of the wound is removed.

This is the fifth application presented to Judge Burke since the new law giving the district judges jurisdiction of the granting of permits, and the case indicates that the attitude of Judge Burke is unfavorable to the granting of druggists' permits, and was watched with interest by the other druggists in other counties of this district. Attorney R. S. W. Blackwell appeared for the applicant at the hearing, and George P. Jones, state's attorney for La Moure county, appeared for the people.

BELTRAMI CASES ARE DISMISSED

Indictments Nolled on Motion of the Attorney General.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 2.—On the motion of Attorney General Simpson, which was concurred in by County Attorney Chester McKusick, Judge Wright nolled the indictments which had been returned by a grand jury last June against County Auditor John Wilmann and Commissioners Wes Wright, F. O. Sibley and A. W. Danaher.

The indictments returned against County Auditor Wilmann were for not reporting certain fees received by him and for failing to follow the lawful directions of the public examiner. County Commissioners Wright, Sibley and Danaher were indicted for allowing a bill, which had not been fully itemized. The bill showed that work had been done by a team, indicating the number of days' work; but because it failed to state the kind of work done the grand jury saw fit to return true bills.

"If I were county attorney," said Mr. Simpson, "I would move to annul these indictments. Now, as attorney general, I do move that they be annulled. As to the county commissioners being indicted for failing to itemize the bill, I am free to say that if these held good, the members of every town board and city or village council of the state would be subject to indictments."

Mr. Simpson said that as a matter of public economy, owing to the condition of the county, these indictments should be annulled. Furthermore, he believed it was impossible to secure convictions.

Mr. Simpson stated that there was another indictment which had been returned at the same time to which he wished to call the attention of the court. If the allegations in that indictment were true, he said, they might constitute a crime.

Mr. Simpson then called for the arraignment of Wes Wright, who appeared and asked that the matter be laid over a day.

The indictment against Mr. Wright charges that as county commissioner he was interested in a road contract entered into between the county of Beltrami and John W. Olson.

FROST HURT CRANBERRIES.

Many Marshes Near Berlin, Wis., Report Practically No Crop.

Berlin, Wis., Oct. 2—Manager Laing states that the crop of cranberries so far harvested on the Sacket, Carey and Fitch marshes owned by Mrs. Stanley, the three old-time big bogs, amounts to about 7,000 bushels. They are still picking. Had there been no frost Aug. 31 or later, the Fitch marsh would have yielded a larger crop. The smaller growers have little to report. That one frost changed pospects mightily and turned the best crop for many years into no crop for many marshes. Mr. Laing reports about 400 barrels of good apples on the Stanley trees and $200 worth of windfalls. And it is an off year for apples, too.

DULUTH TO COME INTO ITS OWN.

Nothing in all the history of Duluth speaks fairer promise for the future of the city than the present accumulation of evidences that the community has awakened to the need of positive effort to make it what it ought to be.

Never was a city planned upon a site that gave greater surety of greatness than Duluth; but the very strength of its situation has been a cause of weakness. Duluth's position was so strong that it was hard to see how it could escape greatness; so its people sat contentedly waiting for greatness. Such growth came as would have come in spite of everything; but the growth that should have come went elsewhere. Other communities, with far less important natural advantages, but aware of their strategical weakness, made up for it by aggressive public spirit. They went out and got what they wanted, and they got many of the things that belonged to Duluth. This is a day of fierce competition, and as the individual with natural capacity who does not exert it is passed in the race by those of lesser powers but greater activity, so is the city with natural advantages which does not use them passed by the community with smaller advantages, but greater energy.

It is not too late. There has been no time when work for the making of a Greater Duluth could be better done than now. If the railroad situation is bad, it can be remedied; and the coming of important railroad competition, with the shifting of traffic that the manufacture of steel in Duluth is going to bring about, will work wonders when coupled with the direct aggressiveness of the city and its people.

The Duluth Commercial club, as outlined in an article in The Herald last night, is imbibing this new spirit of aggressive determination, and is taking hold of the important projects now on foot for the improvement of conditions in Duluth This is a powerful organization, and backed as it will be by the united and public-spirited determination of all the people of Duluth, it will become a tremendous factor in the work that is to be done.

But there will be work for everybody. Whether it be a large part or a small part, every citizen will have his share of the responsibility and the labor. Soon we shall know just what needs to be done; and then everybody will take hold and do it. In the awakening of this new energy and public spirit, Duluth has advanced more in a few months than it has in years past.

DAS DEUTSCHE TAG.

From Colonial days, the Germans in America have been a sound, firm, enduring factor in American life, standing for industry, liberty and democracy. While they have not figured so largely as some nationalities in the public prints, they have figured more largely than most in every forward movement taken by the republic, and they have been dependable, frugal, industrious, staunch and unafraid. The Teutonic races as a whole—which includes much of the English stock as well as the Germans and Scandinavians—have perhaps contributed more to the making of America than all others put together.

On Oct. 6, 1683, thirteen families of Quaker and Mennonite Germans, the Puritans of the Fatherland, led by Franz Daniel Pastorius, landed on American soil, the first organized movement from Germany to the United States, and began the large German settlement that bade fair at one time to make Pennsylvania a German state. Germans had come before that time, but this was the first colony.

When the first census was taken in 1790 there were found to be about 180,000 Germans in the United States, more than 110,000 of whom lived in Pennsylvania. The second great influx of German immigration followed the revolution of 1848, and it brought to this country the flower of German patriotism and independence, contributing to American life some of its most progressive stock. From 1821 to 1902 the German strain in the stream of immigration was the largest, forming almost 25 per cent of the total. In all 5,098,005 Germans came to the United States during that time. Of late, owing to improved conditions in the Fatherland and the lessening of opportunities in this country, the stream has shrunken, and its proportion is now very small compared with other far less desirable strains.

In 1911 there were in this country over 3,000,000 of German birth, besides millions more of pure German ancestry. In 1903 it was estimated by a German-American authority that there were about 25,500,000 people of German birth or blood in this country.

American history will never forget the part taken by such men as Steuben, de Kalb, Herkheimer and Muehlenberg in the winning of American independence. The army lists of the Civil war include nearly 200,000 Germans, with Franz Siegel, Peter Osterhaus and Willich conspicuous among the generals. The German "Turner" soldiers saved Missouri to the Union at the beginning of the conflict, when that state hung in the balance between disunion and loyalty. Carl Schurz in statesmanship, Mergenthaler in invention, Jakob Astor in industry, stand for a brilliant galaxy of German contributions to American development and prosperity.

It is not alone that these men whose names are historic have added glory to the nation, but the most important thing is that the masses of the German people have joined heartily and to good purpose in the building of the republic. There has been no "German problem" associated with immigration; but the German immigrants have always been welcomed, and their sturdy industry has contributed very largely to the development of the nation's resources and liberties.

Most of the first settlers who came to the Head of the Lakes in the early '50s of the last century were Germans. Directed here by the Breckenridges of Kentucky, who were interested in the townsite of Old Superior, they came to that place from Detroit by boat, and later many of them moved over to help form the beginnings of Duluth. The first president of the German society in 1854 was August Zachau, a patriarch who will be on the stage at tomorrow's celebration of German day at the Armory. Fred Bischoff, Jr., was the first white man born at the Head of the Lakes. Twenty years ago Duluth boasted of one of the largest German Turner societies in the country, and it was one of the first societies to have its own home, Turner Hall, now the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. The lapse of this society is a distinct loss to Duluth, and especially to its Germans, with their love of their own kind, their desire for the Gemuetlichkeit, and their spirit which Goethe embodied in these words: "Saure wochen, frohe feste" (hard weeks, merry holidays). It is probable—and desirable—that tomorrow's celebration will mark the beginning of a new "verein" that will be a factor in the social and industrial life of the future Duluth. It would help give the coming influx of new population a strain of Teutonic stability, and that would be a good thing for Duluth.

TAFT AND SHIP SUBSIDIES.

Further occasion for the growing suspicion that President Taft has gone but superficially into some of the most important questions of the day was furnished by his Seattle speech on ship subsidies, in which he announced that he would recommend in his forthcoming message to congress the passage of a ship subsidy law, and gave his reasons for favoring that method of restoring the American merchant marine to its long lost supremacy.

"Of course we are familiar," he said, "with the argument that this would be a contribution to private companies out of the treasury of the United States, but we are thus contributing in various ways on similar principles in effect, both by our protective tariff laws, by our river and harbor bill and by our reclamation service."

Please note, first of all, the president's naive admission that the protective tariff is in effect the same as paying money out of the public treasury for the benefit of private interests. Not, as it once was, in the interests of "infant industries" that needed encouragement, but in the interests of swollen, overgrown and highly pampered industries whose enormous direct profits are multiplied by the tariff bounty. That is exactly what is done by the tariff bill which the president signed and for which he is now acting as apologist; it takes money out of the pockets of the people and gives it to the few powerful interests that are able to influence the government to give it to them. This admission is highly important, and we are grateful to the president for making it, though he clearly didn't realize its importance. To offset it we might as well admit that the president's paralleling of ship subsidies and tariff bounties is logical and correct; and ship subsidies and tariff bounties, or any other method of despoiling the people for the benefit of Special Privilege, are unlawful, dishonest and out of place in a government by, for and of the people.

The president's superficial judgment is clearly betrayed when he attempts to point out a parallel between ship subsidies and river and harbor work and the reclamation service. There is no parallel. Public moneys wisely spent in improving rivers and harbors and in reclaiming barren government land are moneys judiciously invested for the common good. They return rich profits—not to a few, but to all. The investments in the improvement of the Great Lakes alone have been returned to the people, through cheaper freight rates, ten times over. The investment of public money in land which isn't worth a penny as it stands, but which is richly valuable when it is reclaimed, is wisdom and sound business judgment.

But the investment of the people's money in tariff bounties produces a crop of idle rich, of bloated and arrogant purseproud tinsel aristocrats, of fattened Special Privilege, at the expense of hardship and suffering and misery among the people. The ship subsidy proposal simply contemplates adding a new Special Privilege to a list that is already overgrown and menacing, and at the expense of a people already overburdened.

There is no parallel where the president sees one; but there is a sharp and significant contrast—very much like that between decent business investment and a squandering of public money for the benefit of the favorites of a government drunken with the pleasure of generosity with dollars hard-wrung from the toil and sweat of the millions.

BOOKS AS FURNITURE.

The floods of modern novels, torrents of mediocre, stupid or worse books which perennially flood the land, seem to indicate a deterioration in popular taste amounting almost to depravity, and it has created much pessimism about the people's literary taste. It almost seems, nowadays, as though nobody reads books worth while, and as though the well-defined purpose of readers were to eliminate everything containing the possibilities of profit and culture.

That is a very superficial observation, however. The flood of profitless literature is not created by a popular demand, but by the fact that so many people are engaged in writing books who have no literary capacity, and by the ease of securing publication for work unfit by talent. A few thousands is the average circulation of the greater proportion of these commonplace books; and while some poor books have had tremendous sales, as a rule there has been some spark of worth, even though it were all but drowned in inefficiency, to account for it. Some really good books are being written nowadays, and they are selling, too.

But there is another factor that receives too little consideration. That is the tremendous sale of the classics, ancient and modern, that makes their publication quite as profitable as the publication of new novels, if not more profitable. It may be true that a certain percentage of these sales is due to the attitude toward books which looks upon them as furniture. Many people buy good books because it looks well to have them on the library shelves; and in too many cases the reason for their purchase is betrayed by unsoiled and even uncut leaves. But there isn't a great deal of this; not so much as many think. Here is proof of it:

Less than four years ago a London publisher began issuing cheap reprints of standard authors, clearly printed, tastefully bound, and selling for a shilling a volume. On the recent addition of the four hundredth volume to the list it was announced that more than 5,000,000 separate volumes had been sold—and that a great part of them were bought in the United States, where an American publisher handled them. This is five times the number of books in the Library of Congress, and more than double the number of volumes in the world's largest library—the Bibliotheque Nationale of Paris. Now while these volumes are issued in handy and readable editions, they are not of a style to make them desirable merely as library furniture. As a rule the class that buys books as furniture is composed of people that are able to afford rich bindings. More books for furniture are bought at $5 a volume than at 25 or 50 cents a volume.

The popular library referred to includes the world's classics—the best literature the genius of mankind has ever produced. There isn't a volume of trash in it; and those coming nearest to trash are those that are sold less. These books are bought by people that can't afford to have books merely as furniture, but that buy them to get out of them the entertainment and culture there is in them.

This is an excellent sign, but there are others quite as good. The author of the latest "best seller," which will be forgotten in a year, is drawing royalties on many thousands of volumes; but he isn't beginning to sell as well as Dickens and Thackeray and Shakespeare. He isn't selling so well, even, as Bunyan and Marcus Aurelius and Carlyle and Isaac Walton. The public library has many calls for current fiction, but it has more calls for standard works. The people are not to be judged by those who makes a steady diet either of literary caviare or of literary cream puffs.

DR. ELIOT'S NEW RELIGION.

The publication of the full text of the address in which Dr. Charles W. Eliot outlined his theory of the religion of the future makes possible a fairer judgment of its merits, and lessens the occasion for the too-hasty attacks that were based upon the fragmentary report of its more startling features.

In brief, the New York World thus digests it: "It will be a religion based on love of God and service to man, in which there will be no dogma of eternal torment, nothing 'gloomy, ascetic or maledictory,' no 'metaphysical complexities or magical rites.' It eliminates Satan and other malign powers, rejects the doctrine that man is predestined to wickedness, regards physical pain not as punishment for sin or a means of mortal growth but as an evil to be relieved by the promptest measures. It accepts no authority, spiritual or temporal, and omits consideration of the justice of God as above human comprehension."

Dr. Eliot recognizes as a function of the new religion the cure of disease: "The religion of the future will approach the whole subject of evil from the side of resistance and prevention. The Breton sailor who had his arm poisoned by a dirty fish-hook which had entered his finger made a votive offering at the shrine of the Virgin Mary and prayed for a cure. The workman today who gets cut or bruised by a rough or dirty instrument goes to a surgeon, who applies an antiseptic dressing to the wound. * * * That surgeon is one of the ministers of the new religion."

While there is much in this statement of creed that will offend devout and earnest adherents of older creeds, there is also much of wisdom and promise. The religion that attracts most and does most is not a religion of gloom, but of hope and cheerfulness; and surely there can be no piety more acceptable in the sight of God than that which takes the form of service to mankind. Love of God and service to mankind in His name is itself a pretty broad creed, wide enough to contain a great many people and to furnish the basis for a great deal of splendid work.

The fundamental doctrines of the Christian religion are simple enough and definite enough, it would seem, to make it possible that one day all Christian men and women may stand together upon a common creed. To abandon hope of such a development is to lose faith in the ultimate triumph of the religion, for the house divided against itself cannot stand. The world is not yet ready for Dr. Eliot's creed; indeed it is presumptuous for any man to attempt to formulate the creed upon which, one day, the world will stand; and doubtless he does not mean to be so presumptuous. A good deal more public service is needed in religion, and doubtless a good deal more religion is needed in public service; and it would seem probable that by combining the two, instead of keeping them so rigidly separate, a great stride would be made toward what is surely a desirable consummation—the consolidation of all religious efforts upon the basis of a common purpose and a common hope.

AN ADMIRABLE INSTITUTION.

If wide interest was not taken in the annual report of the Children's Home society, published in The Herald last night, it should have been; for this is an institution in which the city may well take pride. Seeing an opportunity to do great good by providing a means of taking care of the pitiful waifs of babyhood, the offspring of a city's poverty and sin, this society was formed some years ago. So well has it done its splendid work, and so generously have the openhearted citizens of Duluth supported it, that it now has a handsome and comfortable home, well equipped and in most excellent hands, in which, last year, 844 babies were tenderly cared for—an average of seventy-three per month. This is a great work that graces the name of the gentle Savior who said "Suffer little children to come unto me." The Children's Home society has done and is doing well; it is entitled to the warmest sympathy and the fullest support.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

WHAT A DENVER MAN THINKS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was much interested in reading an article in your paper this evening stating that Duluth is at last waking up to the importance of a public spirit and tackling problems that must be solved if the city is to grow and prosper. I am a visitor in your city, my home being in Denver. My home city is one of the best examples of what can be done by concerted boosting that is offered in the West. I doubt if there is a city in the country which has a more pronounced public spirit than Denver. They have a gang of boosters out there who will make anything they take hold of go, and they are constantly taking hold of things. If Duluth develops that spirit, Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane will not long continue to outstrip this city in growth, for in my opinion you have greater natural advantages than they have. A city is just like any business. The business man who sits down and waits for business never prospers very much, and the city that sits down and waits for the railroads to throw things its way, and for other blessings to be showered on it, will find itself buried off on a sidetrack behind a boxcar. The Commercial club has the right idea, and I hope the citizens will fall into line and get the Western spirit. If they do, nothing can stop Duluth.

A POOR BUYER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Either the writer of the article in your paper Thursday, signed "A Commission Man," is not telling the truth or he should get out of the commission business, being a very incompetent buyer if he paid 45 cents for potatoes when they were selling for 25 cents at the following potato markets: Park Rapids, Menagha, Perham, Henning, and Parker's Prairie, and I presume at all other stations. Yours truly,

C. M. BORTZ.
Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 1.

(In the communication referred to, the commission man stated that he had bought potatoes last week for 45 cents a bushel and sold them at 50 cents. He complained that the margin was too small.—Editor.)

THAT HOCKEY RINK.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Why can't the people in old Duluth get enthused over building a hockey rink? You seem to be enthusiastic enough over other lines of sport, but when it comes to hockey you are slow—most awfully slow. Maybe I am a bit over enthusiastic being a Canadian and coming from a Canadian city. I do keep in close touch with the sporting events, however, and I know that there are enough Canadians in Duluth alone to support the game. The idea talked of in The Herald from time to time about the erecting of a structure on Park Point is a good one. The rink should be built and the work can not be started too soon. There are a number of men interested in Duluth, but they are just a little timid about putting up real money. Duluth is a good sporting town. Your last baseball season I watched very closely and I find that the people want good teams, good grounds, and if given both would rally grandly to the support of both teams and the institutions. The Zenith City is the connecting link and if we could only get you people to see what a grand idea a league composed of Winnipeg, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Calumet, Houghton, Duluth and some other Copper country towns would be, I think the rink would be built in no time. It would pay the promoters and give the Duluth sport-loving public something to amuse, think and talk about.

An Inspiring Example.

Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser: Now that the silent tomb has closed over all that was mortal of Governor John A. Johnson, it is not amiss to ruminate somewhat on the lessons taught by the life, character and achievements of the man himself. It may be said without reservation, that no finer or more inspiring example has ever been placed before the youths of America than is afforded by a study of the less than fifty years of this really great man's existence.

His life story should be written out in full and read by every American boy. It would be an inspiration to them, and an example for them to imitate; an example of what courage and determination and true manhood can accomplish in this country. It has fallen to the lot of few American boys to begin life under such discouraging conditions and drawbacks, and it has been granted but few to attain higher positions and accomplish greater results than he did. To rise from squalid poverty and most disheartening positions in life during a period of less than fifty years is something that comes to few, even in this country and age of opportunity.

His death at the comparatively early age of 48 years, puts an end to all surmises or predictions as to what he might have attained. Our object was only to point out in brief terms how he triumphed over the most adverse obstacles and by his own powers became one of the truly great men of the country. His life is a bright lesson for American boys to study and to imitate. What he accomplished is within the reach of many another youth, and any of them should gain inspiration and determination by studying his life history. He was an honor to his country and a credit to the American character.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The easy things to believe are those that are unbelievable.

A son knows more than anybody in the family until he gets to have a son of his own.

One of the nicest things about a pretty girl is the way she will like you for telling her so.

A woman can lengthen her hair in the telling of it about as much as she can shorten her years.

What makes a man lose his temper is for his wife to look astonished when he says he always keeps it.

When Paradise Quit.

Adam and Eve they hod no Tariff
In the days of long ago;
He and She, they didn't care if
Cotton goods were high or low.
Naught knew they of speeches witty
Touching lumber, hides and rice
From a Ways and Means Committee—
Wasn't it a Paradise!

In that primal vale of beauty
He was rich who owned a tree;
No one gave a fig for Duty,
(Figs were entered duty-free.)
Eating, sleeping at his humor,
Taking no one's bad advice,
Sat the Ultimate Consumer—
Wasn't it a Paradise!

Joined as one, their minds worked singly;
Toiling not for others' gain;
Adam never heard of Dingley,
He was stranger yet to Payne.
Knowing not Revision's loathing—
Having never paid the price—
What could Adam fear, if clothing
Was not worn in Paradise?

Singing some Arcadian ballad,
Laughing in the face of life,
Forth they fared arrayed in salad,
Father Adam and his Wife.
Even the Fruit which she selected,
Simple Adam to entice,
That, alas! was unprotected
By the laws of Paradise.

Ah, how brief is Earth's perfection!
Adam bit (his first mistake),
And the Gospel of Protection
Entered, doubtless with the Snake.
Soon an Angel, with a saber,
Made a Tariff, fixed the price;
Adam took no sweat-shop labor,
And the Trusts ran Paradise.

THE WEATHER.

Ideal football weather. There was a distinct chill in the breezes last evening and this morning, the 1st of October having brought on a regular fall temperature. Fair weather is anticipated for this evening and tomorrow, with not much change in temperature.

The weather a year ago was fair.

The sun came up this morning at 6:08, and will set this evening at 5:46.

Mr. Richardson says of weather conditions:

"Fair weather prevailed generally during Friday and last night, except that light rains fell over California, Nevada and Western Texas, due to a disturbance that has developed over Utah and adjacent districts. Other depressions central over Western Canada and off the New England coast caused light rain in Northern Saskatchewan and Vermont, respectively. Temperatures are cool to moderate generally. The barometer is high over the lake region and the Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys. Partly cloudy weather is indicated for St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

THE MAGAZINES ON JOHNSON.

A National Figure.

Outlook: Irrespective of party, the people of the United States regard as a national affliction the death of Governor Johnson of Minnesota. Of few men can be said what is true of him, that, although his political activities were confined to a single state, he was a national figure. His career illustrates the truth that whether a man is to be accounted a servant of the nation or not depends less upon the largeness of his field than upon the largeness of his spirit. No man could ask for a greater measure of public confidence than that which Governor Johnson received * * * What was it that won him this extraordinary and continued confidence? In the first place, his temperament, his manner, his bearing—all that is included under the vague term personality—was winning. Everybody who met him saw that in this unassuming man there was strength, and felt the charm of combined ruggedness of character with fineness of fiber. Then his typically American career was stimulating. As Governor Hughes of New York has said, his life "was one of the finest illustrations of American opportunity well used." * * * Besides his personality and his success against obstacles, certain qualities of mind and character made the people of his state trust him. As a legislator he had shown himself honest, brave and independent. He was a Democrat, not by inheritance, but by conviction, and therefore he was ready to act independently of his party if his party urged a course of action which traversed his convictions. In both legislature and governor's chair he proved his hold on high political ideals. His disregard of the spoils system was particularly admirable because the circumstances of his election brought him into power when spoilsmen were particularly hungry. In not only special crises—as in the case of the miners' strike of 1907 in Northern Minnesota—but in the less dramatic though not less important daily work of the governor, he showed marked efficiency. Finally, although Governor Johnson was not counted in the radical wing of the Democratic party, he was so earnest a defender of popular rights when opposed by private interests that some of his conservative associates regarded him at times as a radical. By the people at large, however, to whom factional labels mean little, he was accepted as a spokesman. He had that wholesome spirit of the West which not only values men over property, but believes that money in the end cannot conquer human rights.

His Life Was a Service.

Puck: The other states of the Union share with Minnesota the sense of loss occasioned by the death of Governor Johnson. While men of the Conners-Murphy type pass unchallenged as Democrats, the Democratic party cannot have too many of the opposite sort. Governor Johnson was conspicuously opposite. His life was a service, and wherever Democracy stands for more than cheap pre-election platitudes, the news of his death was heard with real regret.

"Antonio, Tell Us a Story."

H. P. Gault in Puck: A newspaper reporter went to interview the magnate about some railways which he was reported to have bought. He approached the magnate and asked him point-blank about it.

"Did you hear the story about Mr. Lincoln and the preacher?" asked the magnate instead of making a reply. The reporter had never heard it.

"A preacher approached Mr. Lincoln on a subject he did not care to discuss, and Lincoln said: 'Sir, you remind me of the story of the negro preacher and the negro chicken thief. Did you ever hear the story?'

"The preacher had never heard the story.

"'Well, an old negro was caught with a chicken under his arm. Said the parson: "Brudder Johnson, what you got dar?" And Brudder Johnson said: "Yo' remind me of de story 'bout de 'possum an' de light braid. Ever hear dat story, parson?"'

"The parson never had.

"'"Well, one day a 'possum was a-lookin' through de do' whar dere was a hunk o' light braid on de table, and de 'possum say: '"Light braid, I certainly would like to have yo'!"'

"'"'An' de light braid say: "'"'Mr. 'Possum, yo' reminds me o' de story o' de sassy gal an' de grandma. Ever hear dat, Mr. 'Possum?"'"

"No, the 'possum never had.

"'"'"Well, de grandma said: "Come an' kiss me, Eberlizer."

"'"'An' de sassy gal 'lows to de grandma: "Grandma, ain't yo' never hearn de story 'bout—"'"'"' (Really and truly we hate to stop at this exciting point., but we're actually running out of quotation marks.)

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Things Versus the Soul.

Is there any necessary antagonism between material things and the life of the spirit? Sometimes theology has created such an opposition and men have thought they could build up character and obtain a high seat in heaven by starving the body and knifing all the innocent longings of the heart for pleasure. But Jesus came eating and drinking and once after he was raised from the dead he stood one morning on the shore of a lake watching his disciples a little way from land, in their fishing boat. What was his first remark to them? Did he send across the water some wonderful word about the new and transcendent life on which he had entered? No, he simply called out: "Children, have you had your breakfast?"

The body, the palate and the aesthetic sensibilities have their proper recognition in any large interpretation of the Christian gospel, but two points ought to be made just now when the country seems to be entering on a period of the greatest prosperity it has ever known.

The first point is that material good often smothers the life of the spirit. For proof you only have to live a few days in a fashionable and expensive summer or winter hotel or watch your rich neighbors and acquaintances who have plenty of money. Noble exceptions there are, but most people acquire money faster than they are able to use it in the interests of the mind or the soul. They can't stand being rich. They grow proud, vain, arrogant, tyrannical. Their money has mastered them. One of the worst fates that can befall a man is to earn or inherit money before he has learned what it can do for one and was never intended to do. It takes a very good person to be a millionaire. There ought to be a school for preparing millionaires for behaving properly. When they have learned how to handle money aright, how to give it away, how to utilize what they keep for themselves so that they will be finer and purer men—then, and not till then, ought they to come into possession of their fortunes.

The other point in this double-barreled little sermon is that the things of the spirit outlast those of the flesh. To the great railway king, as well as to the humblest brakeman, or any of his line comes the summons sooner or later: "This night is thy soul required of thee." Worthless, then, is the splendid mansion in which he had planned to eat and drink and take his ease. At such a summons one wants to be able to give back to his Creator something besides a record for daring and phenomenally successful railway development. If he can render again to his Maker a soul enlarged by prosperity, sweetened by adversity, his piled-up millions will not mock him. But if he has nothing but a starved and stunted little soul to present to the God who gave him a chance to develop all his latent spiritual capacities, then his riches are his ruin, his fame, his infamy.

I will judge no man harshly and without knowledge of the nature of his personal relations to God. But I fear no contradiction when I say that multitudes of persons in this country—the poor no less than the rich—have apparently forgotten that they have souls to save, not only to fit them for the skies, as the old hymn says, but to make them large and beautiful for the life that now is. In your case which is triumphing, the soul or things? —THE PARSON.

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

The Marine bank, which began business in May last with a paid in capital of $100,000, has increased its capital by 150 per cent, a quarter growth more than made by any other Duluth financial institution. Its capital will be $250,000. The business of the bank is closely connected with the American Loan & Trust company. About Jan. 1 both these concerns will move to the Palladio building.

W. P. Hurlburt, cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, has resigned and Elmer W. Matter, assistant cashier, has succeeded him. George Mackenzie, late teller of the Merchants National, becomes teller of the Bank of Commerce, which will move about March 1 into the Chamber of Commerce building.

JOHN MARSHALL

BY SAVOYARD.

John T. Morse, Jr., in his preface to his edition of "Magruder's Life of John Marshall," says this: "It may be an interesting matter of speculation as to what would have been the result if Marshall had held Jeffersonian views, if, among other things, he had declared Hamilton's financial policy to be unconstitutional. In that case what would have become of the great doctrine of protection? What possibility of national solvency would have survived such a decision?"

Well, we might not have had as strong a Federal government; but it would have been more honest. We might not have made as much money, but it would have been more equitably distributed. We would not have had so many millionaires, but we would have had fewer paupers. We would not have so many people, but they would have composed a better citizenship. And as for the national "solvency," Jeffersonian was as good to purvey that as Hamiltonism, and better.

More than any other individual, John Marshall was the founder of our government. Virginia, with aid from the foreigner Hamilton of New York, Oliver Ellsworth of New England and that John C. Calhoun-states' rights-pro-slavery statesman, Roger Sherman of Connecticut, made the Constitution as it was adopted; but the thing would never have been ratified if John Marshall, representing a constituency opposed to the instrument, had not been a member of the Virginia convention. He did not deceive the people of Henrico county, but such faith did they have in him that they made him a delegate, though they were in no sense in accord with his view of a federal establishment. Was ever greater compliment paid to character?

Madison and he were agreed as to the ratification; with them was George Washington, and opposed were Patrick Henry, George Mason and William Grayson, "a union of eloquence, learning and ability unsurpassed and rarely equaled." It was during a sitting of that convention that the matchless Henry made a speech, while from the elements descended a storm of thunder and lightning with a wind that shook the edifice, and so torrential was his fervid eloquence that the body adjourned as he closed without a formal motion. So far as I am advised no such tribute has been extended any other modern orator, unless it was Sheridan.

But Marshall was a forceful character and the one man who could have defeated him in that convention was absent—Thomas Jefferson. These were the two absolutely sane intellects of the Revolutionary period. By the slenderest of majorities, Marshall, Madison, Pendleton, Randolph, Innes, Henry Lee — "Light Horse Harry," father of Robert E. Lee—carried the Constitution, and thus made the Union, but not until George Mason and Patrick Henry had put the first ten amendments into the thing.

And in after years John Marshall was to take this house of cards and lay it over again in the concrete of his giant understanding, and make a nation of a government our fathers intended for a confederation, a league, an alliance. The thing si yet an experiment, and nobody knows where it is headed.

September 24, 1755, John Marshall was born the eldest of a family of fifteen children, in Westmoreland county, Va., and there were born Washington, the Lees, the Masons, the Talliaferros, the Madisons, the Monroes, the Graysons, the Roans, the Beverleys, the Bankheads, the Balls, the McCleatys, the Blands, and last, but by no means the least, the Carters. It is a fact that Thomas Jefferson, John Marshall, John Randolph of Roanoke, and Robert E. Lee were all sprung from a common ancestor of the post middle of the seventeenth century.

It is disputed whether the Marshalls are of English, Welsh, Scotch or Irish ancestry. Doubtless, all those bloods were in them commingled. The father of the great jurist was Col. Thomas Marshall, a companion-in-arms of Washington, who fought valiantly in the regiment of Col. Woodford in the Revolutionary war, and who had done his devoir with Washington in the earlier French and Indian war. In 1780, when a prisoner on parole, he went to Kentucky, and there established the county of Woodford, so famous in the history of that commonwealth. His wife was Mary Isham Keith, a Scotch woman of the blood of that grim old soldier, Marshall Keith, who saved a dozen times the crown for Frederick the Great.

When a youth of 19 Marshall joined the Continental army. Here is how he looked, according to his biographer:

"He was about six feet, straight and slender, of dark complexion, * * * with eyes dark as blackness, strong and penetrating, beaming with intelligence and good nature; an upright forehead, rather low, was terminated in a horizontal line by a mass of raven hair of unusual thickness and strength."

And thus he was of that citizen soldiery of whom his kinsman and subsequent political enemy, John Randolph of Roanoke, said: "They were raised in a minute, armed in a minute, marched in a minute, fought in a minute, and vanquished in a minute." Marshall was with Washington at Monmouth, with Wayne at Stony Point, and with "Light Horse Harry" at Powles Hook.

In 1880, at the age of 25, John Marshall was admitted to the bar, and of all the children of Adam and Eve, no one was ever endowed by nature with qualities that better fitted him for the legal profession than John Marshall. He was a natural born lawyer, just as Shakespeare was a born poet and Napoleon a soldier. He served no initiate, but went to the front at once. I believe it is Wirt who tells of his strolling into a hotel in Richmond one morning eating cherries from his hat. He had been recommended to a guest of that hotel who had an important suit before the supreme court. The old fellow refused to employ so undignified and careless a young man, and went off and gave the retainer to a solemn old lawyer in powdered wig and black coat. The first case on the docket was one in which Marshall and the old lawyer were the opposing counsel, and the young man showed such superiority to his dignified adversary that our old litigant went to him, frankly stated the case, and saying that he had but $5 left after paying the old lawyer $100, asked if he would undertake the case. Marshall laughed, accepted the $5 and won the case.

That may or may not be a true story, but it was eminently characteristic of the man.

When 27 years of age, Marshall was of counsel in one of the greatest legal contests an American court ever adjudicated. Associated with him were Patrick Henry, Alexander Campbell and James Innes, and on the other side was the great John Wickham, aided by Roland, Stark and Baker, giants of the Virginia bar. It was from that litigation that grew our colloquium, "old British debts." The act of the Virginia legislture during the Revolutionary war worked a repudiation of every debt owed by a Virginian to an Englishman, but by the treaty of peace recognizing our independence, debts owing by a colonist to an Englishman were to be recognized in the courts of both countries. It was the construction of that clause of the treaty that was before the court presided over by Chief Justice John Jay, Justice Iredell of the United States circuit court, and United States District Judge Griffin.

Marshall's speech in the case is a marvel of judicial logic. I have never found anything like it except in some pleas of Jeremiah S. Black, some decisions of George Robertson of the Kentucky court of appeals, and his speeches in the legislature when the "old court" and "new court" were rife; some of the speeches in the senate of the United States by Robert Toombs, and other speeches in the two houses of congress by Ben Mill. Marshall contended that Virginia was a sovereign nation when the legislature repudiated those debts, as a war measure, and that the moment the legislature so acted the debts no longer existed, and consequently they were not in contemplation in the fourth article of the treaty of peace.

But the court held differently, and the Virginians were made to pay for what they had bought, and the court was precisely right. Every man should be made to pay for what he buys. But if one will read Marshall's speech he will be much struck with its wonderful ingenuity.

Here is a passage from Kennedy's Life of William Wirt:

"From what I have heard of Campbell, I believe that for mere eloquence his equal has never been seen in the United States. He and the future chief justice went to Philadelphia to argue a cause. They were opposed by Hamilton, Lewis, and others, great luminaries of the Northern bar. Campbell played off his Apollonian airs. * * * Marshall spoke, as he always did, to the judgment only."

In 1797, Marshall was nominated with Coatesworth Pinckney and Elbridge Gerry, a commission to compose our quarrel with France, with which nation we were at actual, but not declared, war. There they found at the head of foreign affairs Talleyrand, without exception the most adroit and consummate scoundrel, preserved in letters, since Lucifer and his crowd were hurled from the battlements of heaven. For months this miscreant besought the American to bribe him; but they would not, and it was not until Maj. Gen. Andy Jackson got to be president that France was bullied into being a gentleman and paying its debts.

In 1809, Marshall was for Burr for president against his kinsman, Jefferson, but a letter from Hamilton warning him that Burr was the most dangerous man in the country reconciled him to the election of Jefferson, which he looked upon as a calamity like unto that Ben Tillman viewed in the election of Theodore Roosevelt 104 years ago.

At the personal solicitation of George Washington, a politically adverse constituency returned Marshall to congress in 1798. Patrick Henry supported him, and that elected him. During the existence of that congress, Washington died. "Light Horse Harry"" Lee, a member, introduced the resolutions of eulogy, closing with "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," and Marshall supported them in a speech that I wish every American schoolboy would read, ponder, digest. It would make of him a better citizen and a better man.

In congress, Marshall clashed with that gigantic Democrat, Albert Gallatin—whom, by the way, my friend, Joe Bailey, in his assault on the Democratic idea of the tariff, this session of congress just closed, elected to fight as an anonymous—and Gallatin, as Webster with Calhoun, frankly admitted, "I will not answer him, because I cannot answer him." It is notable that in this congress Marshall voted to repeal the most offensive section of the "Alien and Sedition laws."

Adams chose Marshall for secretary of state, and later nominated him for chief justice of the supreme bench, and he got much of the odium for "the midnight judges." In this connection I shall defer until I write something about John Randolph of Roanoke, a discussion of that matter.

In 1801 Marshall became chief justice, and the next day he set about his life work to turn the republic into a nation, and that is what he did. As a judge, holding the scale between citizen and citizen in matter of "meum et tuum," he was not nearly as great as Taney, for he was not nearly so learned a lawyer as Taney; but when it came to the principle of the thing, he was unequaled and unrivaled. He would give his dictum, and smilingly turn to his senior asociate justice, and blandly say, "That is the law;" Brother Story will give you the precedent." and yet he found Story a Jeffersonian, and had to hold up the decision in the Dartmouth college case more than a year to convert him and a majority of the court to his opinion. But I intend to talk about that in a paper on John Randolph of Roanoke.

When Chief Justice Marshall presided over the trial of Aaron Burr, charged with treason, Luther Martin was chief counsel for the defense, and to show his contempt for Jefferson he asked for a subpoena duces tecum to issue against the president. Marshall granted it, and the reception of it by Jefferson is the only account of a time when that great man was angry. He answered: "John Marshall is one of the posse comitatus of Henrico county, Virgnlia. Would he leave the supreme court at the summon of the sheriff of that county to quell a riot?" Jefferson wrote the district attorney to commit Luther Martin as particeps criminis with Burr, and he called the great old lawyer an unprincipled and impudent federal bulldog.

I wish I had the ability and the space to pursue this very great man's public career further. I wil now relate some anecdotes, more or less true, of which he was the hero. We have all heard of his carrying the turkey home for the dude; the same is told of Stephen Girard, then the richest man in all America. Marshall was a boy in heart all his eighty years, and when he was chief justice he was a member of a "quoit club," and had been a formidable player of that sport for many years before. When he died, to honor his memory, the vacancy thus made in the club was never filled.

One day after court adjourned, a little boy of 8, afterwards a leading member of the American bar, carried some papers from his father, a great lawyer, to the home of the chief justice. Marshall saw at a glance how much the child was in awe of him, and proposed, "Harry, come into the back yard and I'l beat you playing marbles." And so they went, and in two minutes that boy was as frolicsome as was the then greatest jurist of the world, with whom he was playing marbles.

Did you ever hear of "school butter?" When I was a shaver of 7 one day a fellow named Hardy, weighing 200 pounds, passed our schoolhouse and hallowed "school butter!" Our old teacher turned us all loose with orders to duck him. That some fifty of us did. Nobody knew what it was all about, but al lof us knew "school butter" was a mortal affront. It is related that it was smiply impossible for Marshall to pass a schoolhouse without crying "school butter," and many was the fine he paid in hard cash to escape ducking.

One more. One day in April when the supreme court was in session two eminent practitioners at that bar were walking along Pennsylvania avenue, near where the Peace monument now stands. They were rivals and necessarily enemies, and now they were in heated discussion, when a sudden heavy shower came up and they took refuge in a tailor shop conducted by an old and eccentric Irishman named Brock. There the quarrel continued and they came to blows, after which both were arrested and carried before the police court.

Old Brock was the sole witness, and he deposed: "I was sitting on my bench, sewing on a garment, entertaining an idea and cogitating a thought, when I heard a voice say, 'An' ye's a —— rascal!' and another voice answered, 'An ye's a —— rascal!' An' then it wint, 'An ye's a —— rascal!' 'An' ye's a — rascal! 'An ye's a ——rascal!' 'An' ye's a —— rascal!' An' faith, I got to think my shop was full of —— rascals, but whin I looked round, lo, there was but two!"

That was as far as the trial ever got. Everybody burst out laughing, and for thirty years it was the stock anecdote of John Marshall, who laughed a thousand times over it.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD.

MAN-SONG. By John G. Neihardt, author of "A Bundle of Myrrh." New York: Mitchell Kennerley. $1 net.

Be it confessed, in the beginning, that volumes of modern poetry are not hailed, from this review table, with flawless delight and satisfaction. Dreary experience, on the contrary, has bred a spontaneous shudder at the necessity of wading through pages of drivel, well-meant enough, no doubt—the road to literary perdition is paved with good intents—but still melancholy to contemplate and more melancholy still to read. Hence, all the more delightful was the unexpected pleasure derived from the lucky find, in this volume, of real poetry. There is a striking note of originality and power; the strong, firm voice of a poetic personality. There is virility, an occasional touch of artistic obscurity; there are "picture phases" proving that the author has the poet's power to concentrate pages of prose in single flashlight sentences; boldness is a dominant note, and the lines are instinct with freshness and buoyancy and passion. There is naked strength that is distinctly Whitmanesque, though in no sense imitative; and Whitmanesque, too, is the brave contempt for convention. It is real poetry, pulsing with life and passion deep and broad as humanity. It is a volume of achievement big with promise. It is tuneful rhyme and rhythm, yet it is much more than that, for it is grown from the seeds of life itself. Fragmentary quotation is an unsatisfactory method of exposition, yet the temptation to cull a few lines is irresistible.

From "Woman-Wine":

"Burden-Bearer, Beauty-Maker,
Sacred Fountain of my life;
Mighty Giver, Meager Taker—
Mother, sister, wife!"

From "Nuptial Song":

"Sweeter than all other
Songs of lip or lyre—
Every maid a mother, every man a [illegible];
Joy beneath the pain warm,
God amidst the plan;
Field unto the rain storm,
Maid unto a man."

From "April Theology":

"What! House me my God? Take me in where no blossoms are blowing?
No riot of green and no bird-song, no growing?
Parcel out what is already mine, like a vender of staples?
See! Yonder my God lives, revealed in the sap-drunken maples!"

From "The Fugitive Glory," a splendid epic of nature:

"Nature a jester? Only men are so.
The sense of humor is a human thing.
The ragged weed beneath the haughty oak
Lifts its pathetic bloom with sober trust.
Birds mate and build and rear a transient brood,
Announcing to a waiting universe
With serious song the wonders they have wrought.
In mountains, seas and rivers, trees and stars,
Wherever something yearns or soars or swings,
Lifts out of gloom or fights for space to be—
A sad, far-seeing seriousness is there,
The sober vision of an epic dream."

The spring promise hidden beneath the repelling garb of winter's bleakness has seldom been more vividly sketched than in these lines from "The Fugitive Glory":

"Gaunt limbs, winter-scarred, tragic,
Blind seeds under the mold,
Planning new wonders of magic
In scarlet and green and gold!"

HALF A CHANCE. By Frederic S. Isham, author of "The Lady of the Mount," etc. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.50.

One of the inmates of a British prison ship, bound for a penal colony, is a young American prize fighter who has discovered, to his undoing, that rum hits harder than any human opponent, and who, because of a drunken helplessness, has been "lagged" for a murder which he did not commit, bad and brutal and besotted as he was. The prison deck is visited by a party of "toffs," and a golden-haired young girl takes pity on him and gives him a gold piece — incidentally setting aflame a surviving spark of manhood in his breast. Then the vessel strikes an uncharted reef in a storm, and the passengers get off in boats. When the convicts are let loose by the captain, who goes down with his ship, this man finds the little girl, who has come back for her pet bird and has been left behind. He plunges into the sea with her, makes one of the boats and puts her aboard, and is beaten off by a gentlemanly villain who has some mysterious association with the crime for which the "Frisco Pet" has been sentenced. Luck is with the pugilist, however, for he drifts on a bit of wreckage—with the bird for sole companion—to a coral island, followed by a case of rum and a case of books. He consumes the rum, and then, after a period of mad rage when he finds out the contests of the other box, he consumes the books, too, which happen to include a complete course in the law and the classics. Rescued several years later, he turns up in London as a cultured and brilliant lawyer. Talk about your five-foot shelves of books that will provide a liberal education! Well, he meets the little girl, now grown up, and loves her; also he meets the villainous gentleman, who presently spots him and puts the hounds of the law on his track. The penalty for his return to British soil is death, so he has to fly for his life, meanwhile seeking proof of his innocence. This creates a series of thrilling situations that cause the reader to follow breathlessly to the happy finish the career of John Steele, lawyer, alias "the Frisco Pet," pugilist and convict. The tale is tensely dramatic, and while not quite up to the author's former excellent work in the "Lady of the Mount," and though there are a few weak spots in the probabilities—would that heavy box of books have floated ashore, we wonder?—it is very readable, and satisfactorily entertaining.

THE GARDEN WEEK BY WEEK THROUGHOUT THE YEAR. An illustrated handbook to gardening operations and the culture of all important plants. By Walter P. Wright, author of "The Perfect Garden." New York: Doubleday, Page & Co. $2.

Here is a vast deal of practical information for the gardener, whether for pleasure or for profit or for both. Whether he works in a few square feet of city back yard or on a farm, the cultivator of the soil will find here information that he needs, and its arrangement of dividing the proper things to do in conformity with the calendar makes it unusually practical and helpful. It seems to cover a field wide enough to suit all purposes. We are told how to plant and cultivate potatoes as well as petunias, spinach as well as shrubs, onions and orchids, tomatoes and trees, vegetables and vines, fruits and flowers—and when to buy seeds, when to plant them, when to trim, thin, transplant, etc. The whole beautiful and interesting array of domestic flora is covered well. Our duties by our gardens are detailed week by week, from seed-chosing time in the winter to cleaning-up time in the late fall. To make the volume practical for this climate, it will be necessary to change its dates a couple of weeks, but that is easily done. All this is contained in a large and handsome volume with nearly forty pictures, six in colors, and it will prove a welcome addition to the libraries of those who find pleasure and profit in courting the willing generosity of the soil.

THE ART, SCIENCE AND SENTIMENT OF HOME-BUILDING. By Arthur C. Clausen. Minneapolis: The Brooks Press. $1.

About the only thing wrong with this book is its title. It should have been named "The Practical Side of Home-Building," because there is nothing more practical than making the home artistic, so as to satisfy the longing for beautiful homes, than building it on scientific lines, to insure sanitary conditions and warmth, or than making it suit the sentimental desire for a home in keeping with one's taste and station—for without these things the home will be unsatisfactory, and therefore not practical. However, practicality, though omitted from the title, is not omitted from the book. The author in his preface says: "This book is not a substitute for an architect. It is a book of ideas. It is for the man who contemplates the erection of a home. Since it has not been prepared as a text book for students of architecture, the author has avoided technical analysis and the use of trade expressions as much as possible." In short, the author aims to give the intending home-builder practical advice on such subjects as buying the lot, planning the home, letting the contract, chosing materials, etc. Problems about front doors, windows, stairways, fireplaces, porches, exteriors, finishings, etc., are taken up in detail and treated with sound common sense. Nearly all questions that could be anticipated are answered, and the book should prove a great help to those who are about to plan homes.

SUMMING IT UP. By Henry Lewis Hubbard. New York: J. S. Ogilvie Publishing company. 50 cents.

The title page describes this book as "a treatise on economical, moral and religious conditions of the present time, showing how they have been evolved through the centuries, with suggestions as to how the mistakes can be rectified and universal happiness and equality assured." This is surely a worthy and most ambitious enterprise—to sum up the world's progress, ascertain its present status, and point the way to work out successfully all that a mysterious Providence is planning to do with it, without taking us into its confidence as to ways and means. The ninety-six pages of this book are none too few for such a task. Withal, the pages are well filled with many wise and clear-headed observations, and the advice to the world is based to a considerable extent upon sound and humanitarian philosophy. The author perhaps goes too far in condemning "lodgism" and "churchism," since probably both these are important instruments in the hands of the Providence whose workings are here briefly sketched and whose further proceedings are suggested.

MISS SELINA LUE AND THE SOAP-BOX BABIES. By Maria Thompson Daviess. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.

This is a bright, sunshiny story, and if you are susceptible to the charm of genuine, homely fun, of free and natural emotion, of characters rich in simple reality, of wit and kindliness in unison, of wholesomeness and optimism and infectious laughter, "Miss Selina Lue will put you in love with the world. Spinster, storekeeper of the River Bluff, and general neighborhood manager, she is a very real, very energetic, very magnetic and delightfully funny character. Her tongue is both sweet and spicy; her heart is as big as all outdoors, and her laugh is as big as her heart. Miss Selina Lue plays the part of Providence-with-a-sense-of-Humor in all the comedies and tragedies of the Bluff. Her specialty is a row of soap boxes in which she keeps a free day nursery. The pages are running over with children, always in comical trouble. Not less lively than the character of Miss Selina Lue, nor less piquant than her philosophy are the "doings" recounted. Each incident is at once natural and surprising,—a combination hard to surpass. Interwoven with the quaint sayings and doings of Miss Selina Lue is the charming love story of Cynthia, from the white-pillared house on the hill, and Alan Kent, the artist, whom Miss Selina Lue adopted as a "near soap-boxer," entertaining thereby a millionaire unaware. The romance itself is tinctured with humor.

Of Books and Writers.

The unusual title of Rex Beach's new novel, "The Silver Horde," which is forecasted as one of the Harper big-sellers for the coming season, is attracting inquiry. The novel itself is a romance of the Alaska salmon fisheries, of the gigantic catch of the salmon by the waiting fishermen, of the financing of the canneries by the relentless Western magnates, and the determined struggle of a young independent who ventures, in the hope of winning a fortune for the girl he loves, to "buck the trust." Mr. Beach took his title, "The Silver Horde," from the salmon themselves, which every four years, driven by the homing instinct, swarm back at spawning time to the shores of their native streams—billions of them, a thick, quivering mass of living silver—a "silver horde."

The literary autumn will be the brighter for a novel by Henry James. The Harpers are planning to have Mr. James' story ready for publication in the latter part of this month.

Will N. Harben, author of "Gilbert Neal," "Ann Boyd," "Mam Linda," and other novels of Georgia, since his return to New York from the South has been busy upon the final proofs of a new novel which the Harpers are bringing out this month. Another edition of Mr. Harben's novel "Ann Boyd" has been announced since the news of its coming production on the stage.

"The Inner Shrine" stands at the head of the month's "best sellers." "Katrina," "The Bride of the Mistletoe," "Mr. Opp," "The White Mice" and "The White Sister" complete the list of favorites. Atlanta, Cincinnati, Louisville and Milwaukee place "The Bride of the Mistletoe" first on the list. Boston gives it second place; New York is reading it, but "The Inner Shrine" still holds first place.

When in quest of a story to present to young hopefuls, it is the habit of aunts and uncles and benevolent elders in general to procure a copy of Elizabeth Stuart Phelps's "Gypsy Breynton," which is now accessible in a new and comely edition published by Sturgis & Walton company. That breezy and charming story, so full of juvenile humanity, in which we read of the mischievous, careless, happy, amiable miss who gives the story its name, and who—she and her brothers into the bargain—has such a talent for getting into hot (and cold) water, such a genius for untidiness, such a merry, irresistible way with her, and such a heart of gold. The present edition of the book is in the Familiar Friends series.

Among the Magazines.

So many alluring books are brought out in the autumn that magazine publishers—wise ones—make extra efforts to improve their fall numbers in order to keep their share of the attention of the reading public. One of the October magazines gotten out by wise publishers is Lippincott's, which is sufficiently meritorious to hold its own with the most fascinating of the best sellers. The complete novel is "Melissy," a tale of Cowboyland as it is today. The author is William MacLeod Raine, who also wrote "Ridgway of Montana." Any one who reads one of Mr. Raine's Western tales can have no doubt that he has actually lived in that country and acquired his local color at first hand. "Melissy" is the pretty daughter of a crusty but really good-hearted Arkansan who has moved Westward. Through carelessness he loses a mine, which becomes the property of an ex-city man who has incurred the enmity of the cattlemen by daring to bring sheep into what they have considered their territory. Some dramatic scenes take place ere the charming little heroine and her manly lover are so placed that one can safely prophesy that "they lived happily ever afterwards."

The Popular Science Monthly for October contains the following articles: "The Hudson-Fulton Celebration of 1909," by Dr. George Frederick Kunz; "The Service of Zoology to Intelleotual Progress," by Prof. William A. Parker; "The Emanuel Movement from a Medical Viewpoint," by Dr. Homer Gage; "The Atlantic Forest Region of North America," by Spencer Trotter; "Latin vs. German," by Prof. Ralph H. McKee; "The Last Census and Its Bearing on Crime," by the Rev. August Drahms; "Simple Lessons from Common Things," by Prof. Frances E. Nipher; "The Winnipeg Meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science." "Science and Adventure," and "The Maximum Population of the United States."

Among the special articles in Hampton's Magazine for October are: "The Story of Sugar," by Judson C. Welliver; "Water Power and the Pork Barrel," by John L. Mathews; "Beating Men to Make Them Good," by Charles Edward Russell; "Exit the Black Man," by Harris Dickson; "What Eight Million Women Want," by Rheta Childe Dorr. There are several bright short stories, for which Hampton's is noted, and a continuation of Rex Beach's serial story, "The Silver Horde."

A great project which has for a year attracted the widest attention is begun in Scribner's Magazine for October. Theodore Roosevelt's first article on his African trip more than carries out the promise of unusual entertainment and interest. It pictures a wild and semi-savage region as it strikes Mr. Roosevelt's unusually receptive and acute mind. He is having a wonderful experience and enjoying every minute of it; and in this article the reader is carried with him through the joy of new sensations and the perception of wild and grotesque animal life as it appears from time to time during his journey. The article combines the zest of the born hunter and naturalist with the wide experience of a man of great affairs. He pictures the pioneers of this region and contrasts them with those he knew in his Western days. He sees the whole region, from the cowcatcher of a locomotive, moving by him like a zoological park. This first article of the series, which is to run a year, is the best possible foretaste of what is sure to be one of the greatest narratives of adventure ever published. The illustrations by Kermit Roosevelt and other members of the expedition follow very closely the text and add picturesque realism to Mr. Roosevelt's graphic description. It is announced that the next article in the series will have to do with a lion hunt at Kapita. The posthumous poem by George Meredith reveals him in his lighter mood. A volume of the later uncollected poems by Mr. Meredith will, it is announced, be published. Mrs. Wharton adds to the "Tales of Men," a story of the literary life—the contrast between ambition achieved and failure.

Either by design or chance, the fiction in the Housekeeper for October is written by women, and the special articles by men. Among the capital short stories are "Mrs Rossiter's Awakening," by Nellie Cravey Yillmore; "The Heart of the Junior Interne," by Mary Minor Lewis, and "The Writer Man," by Jessie Knight Hart. "Some Popular Notions Exploded" takes up common fallacies and is by Warwick James Price. No department devoted to the home is neglected, and all the pages are bright and attractively illustrated, some in colors.

It is possible to get a most amazing amount of interest out of practical articles, when they are handled like those, which appear in Woman's Home Companion for October. Such an article is that containing William Armstrong's advice to the ambitious music student who wants to study abroad. Mr. Armstrong has made a careful special investigation, and his advice is to study at home first. In "Short Cuts to Health," Dr. Woods Hutchinson waves a danger flag over many popular old-fashioned remedies. "Why I Left the Ministry" is a startling confession by a country parson, who is anonymous for obvious reasons. Far from the country parson lies the theater of action of Kellogg Durland's story of Queen Elena. Marion Harland at Chinon has written her big-hearted woman's story of Joan of Arc. Besides these, there are eleven special articles in this issue, every one of which ought to be read and preserved.

The North American Review for October presents a varied table of contents. The Rev. Dr. Philip S. Moxom contributes a learned article on "Christ in Modern Thought." Salvotore Cortesi writes in an illuminating manner on "Why America has not Six Cardinals." "The Startling Growth of State Power" is the title of an interesting article by Dr. Hannis Taylor. H. T. Newcomb contributes a timely article on "The Conflicting Duties of the Interstate Commerce Commission." Paul S. Reinsch, in "The Declaration of London," writes upon the code of international law recently formulated by the powers. Sidney Whitman, in "The Social Hegemony of England," gives credit for a wide international influence as to manners and customs.

The October number of the Wide World magazine presents a number of highly interesting articles and entertaining narratives of adventure, travel and exploration. Frederick W. Emett contributes a second installment of "With Pen and Camera in Nigeria." "A Himalayan Arcada" describes the valley of the Kulu and some quaint customs and peculiar superstitions of the natives. "A Wanderer in Asia Minor" tells of a motorcycle trip into the strange and out-of-the-way sections in the East. "In the Far Northwest" describes an extended journey along the coast line of British Columbia and into the regions of the great Canadian Northwest. "Twelve Hundred Miles in a Paper Boat" describes a wonderful trip from Florida to New York in a "shell" made almost wholly of newspapers.

Opening with an absorbingly thrilling account of the recent discovery of the North Pole, the exploits of both Cook and Peary being compactly presented, the October number of Current Literature sustains the interest still further by a distinctly brilliant survey of the great aviation week at Rheims and the preparations for the approaching Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York. "Harriman's Latest Fight," a study of Gifford Pinchot," "A Millionaire With a Mission," and personal sketches of "The Crown Prince of Abyssinia," and "Gen. Bernardo Reyes, the Disturber of Mexico," complete the department of "Persons in the Foreground."

The October number of the Strand Magazine is exceptionally rich in material. A prominent feature is Sir Thomas Lipton's Reminiscences. The story of his life, as told by himself, reads like a romance and shows what energy and pluck can accomplish in a comparatively short space of time. Conan Doyle writes about "Some Recollections of Sport"—he is an acknowledged authority on many sports and games. Percy Burton, a prominent actor, writes about "Some Actor-Managers I Have Known." In a wonderful article entitled "A Hole in the Earth," Camille Flammarion, the eminent scientist and astronomer, tells us that if we will go down a few miles into the earth we will find inexhaustible sources of heat and power, and mines of great wealth.

Among the notable articles in The World's Work for October are "The Call of the West," by the late Governor Johnson of Minnesota; "Can the Black Man Stand Alone?" by Edgar Allen Forbes; "Tolstoy in the Twilight," by Henry George, Jr.; the second installment of B. L. Putnam Weale's "The Conflict of Color" and "The Yellow Man of Eastern Asia." Augustus Post writes on "The Wrights—Yesterday and Today," while under the same general heading "Admirals of the Air," Owen Wilson writes on "The Navigators of Europe." "How I Got Well" is an anonymous account of a remarkable consumption cure. Alexander Irvine contributes the fourth installment of his dramatic autobiography, describing the Gordon Relief Expedition; C. M. Keys writes on "Banks For All the People."

The special feature of the October number of the Review of Reviews is a notable group of illustrated articles relating to the discovery of the North Pole, including (1) a popular-scientific discussion by the geographical expert, Cyrus C. Adams; (2) a character sketch of Commander Peary, and (3) an exclusive interview with Dr. Cook by W. T. Stead, incorporating details of his polar journey not elsewhere published and giving a strikingly vivid pen-portrait of the man. "Harriman the Absolute" is the title of a searching analysis of the late railroad magnate's career and methods by Robert S. Lanier. There is a comprehensive article on the late railroad magnate's career and methods by Robert S. Lanier. There is a comprehensive article on the leather industry by L. F. Van Norman, and other subjects of current interest treated in this number are "Taking Boston in the War Game" (an interview with Gen. Wood); "Celebrating the Hudson-Fulton Anniversaries;" "Advances in Applied Chemistry," by Charles Baskerville; "A Mine in the Making," by Charles R. Keyes, and "The Development of a Novelist" (H. G. Wells), by G. W. Harris.

What do you know of Robert Fulton's title to greatness as an inventor? Read "Busting the First Trust" in Success Magazine for October and see what John L. Mathews' research has led him to say. Did you ever read a story which kept your fingers itching to turn over the next page and which left you breathless and thoughtful at the end? "Caught in the Current" is the first installmen of such a story by Leroy Scott. It is called "The Shears of Destiny." Other good articles and stories are "The Big Show at Pittsburg," by Eugene Wood, in which the author tells in his best vein how steel is made; "Straight Talk to Stage-Struck Girls," by Paul Armstrong, the playwright, which will open the eyes of girls who think they would like to act.

Although appearing almost at the end of the number, the feature of the October Atlantic which will attract widespread attention is Congressman Samuel W. McCall's paper on "The Payne Tariff Law." In seven magazine pages Mr. McCall gives a trenchant and illuminating analysis of the bill as finally passed, and calls it "the best tariff bill since our first revenue law was signed by George Washington." The paper contains many shrewd observations and is illumined by flashes of genuine humor. The number opens with an article on "American Ships and the Way to Get Them," by Winthrop L. Marvin. This is a spirited reply to the observations of "A British Marine Officer," which appeared in the July issue. This issue contains the first of a new series of Pratt portraits by Anna Fuller, and the opening story, "Old Lady Pratt's Spectacles," has all the charm and vivacity of the famous earlier series.

The issue of Harper's Weekly for Sept. 25 is commemorative of the Hudson-Fulton celebration. Many other articles relating to this is one by Thomas A. Janvier, containing some new data which have been secured by him relative to the last voyage of Henry Hudson. Henry Paradyne discourses upon the personal side of Dr. Cook and his achievements, notably his successful ascent of Mount McKinley in 1906. In "The Steamboat of Today" Edward Hungerford furnishes an interesting account of the development and mechanism of our modern sea vessels. Gen. Homer Lea continues his remarkable series of articles entitled "The Valor of Ignorance," showing the vulnerability of our shores to armed invasion. Mary Austin contributes a pathetic story entitled "The Woman at Eighteen-Mile," and Catherine Groth explains "Why Do Men Wait on Women."

Immediately after eating, the Chinese rinses his mouth out with hot water and the hands and face are wiped with a hot, wet napkin. Everybody in China can cook well, and inexpensively, too, although the proper cooks in the family are the women. Steam bread is preferred to baked.

SOCIETY

ONE of the most interesting affairs of the week was the luncheon today, at which Miss Gladys Heimbach and Miss Roella Lovett entertained at the home of the latter, 1730 East Third street. The affair was chosen for the announcement of the engagements of the hostesses. Miss Heimbach, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Heimbach of 1123 East First street, made known her betrothal to Henry Carl Damkroeger of Deerwood, and Miss Lovett's engagement to Hugh Robert Burgo of this city was announced. Pink and white were the colors chosen for the decorations and covers were laid for sixteen.

The informal affairs of the summer season are gradually being discontinued with the departure of the college people, and the regular autumn interests are seriously taken hold of. There will, however, be one more dance at the main house of the boat club. The affair will be given next Wednesday evening, and will be a subscription affair arranged by the members. Tuesday evening of next week, the last dinner for the season will be served at the Spirit Lake branch of the club, and the event will be made the excuse for a special celebration.

FORMAL AFFAIRS OF THE WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. John Whyte were hosts at the bridal dinner Monday evening at the Kitchi Gammi club, in compliment to Miss Elizabeth Morris and their son, Elmer N. Whyte, whose wedding took place Tuesday evening. The decorations were of bride's roses, and covers were laid for sixteen.

* * *

Mrs. Nettleton, who was the guest of friends in the city, left Tuesday for Minneapolis, to visit friends there before returning to her home in Seattle. Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Paine entertained at an old fashioned supper at their home, in compliment to Mrs. Nettleton and Mrs. MacLeod of Grand Rapids, Mich. The guests, about forty in number, were all from among Duluth's earliest settlers, and a delightful evening was enjoyed. Miss Bradshaw, accompanied by Miss Simonds, sang a number of the old songs.

Mrs. Nettleton was the guest of honor at an informal afternoon Saturday, at which Mrs. Clinton Markell was hostess.

THE WEEK'S WEDDINGS

The most beautiful wedding service of several months took place Tuesday evening at Trinity pro-cathedral, when Miss Elizabeth Morris, the youngest daughter of Judge and Mrs. Page Morris, became the bride of Elmer Norman Whyte of this city. Both Mr. Whyte and his bride are prominent socially, and several hundred guests were invited for the wedding. The church was beautifully decorated for the event with palms and ferns and Southern smilax. White chrysanthemums were the flowers chosen.

While the guests were assembling, Mrs. Henry K. Brearley played a program of wedding music, and at 8 o'clock the wedding march from "Lohengrin" sounded and the wedding party entered the church.

The ushers, Messrs. Charles Morris, Chester Whyte, Paul Welch, C. J. McBride and Harvey Clapp, entered first, followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Helen Ostrom, Miss Frances Swift, Miss Mary Paine and Miss Rachel St. Clair. The maid of honor, Miss Whidden of Boston, immediately preceded the bride, who entered with her father. Mr. Whyte and his groomsman, Charles D. Brewer, awaited them at the altar, and Bishop J. D. Morrison read the service.

The bride wore a beautiful imported gown of ivory white satin, trimmed in rose point lace. She wore a long tulle veil and orange blossoms and wore a diamond pendant, the gift of Mr. Whyte. The maid of honor wore a gown of yellow chiffon and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were gowned in white chiffon, embroidered in yellow, and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

A reception followed at the home of Judge and Mrs. Morris at 2232 East First street. The rooms were decorated in chrysanthemums and American beauty roses and heliotrope, and the assisting hostesses were Mrs. J. D. Morrison, Mrs. A. D. Thomson, Mrs. George D. Swift, Mrs. Howard T. Abbott, Mrs. Warren E. Greene, Mrs. Daniel Andrews and Mrs. Carroll Graff. About 100 guests called during the receiving hours.

It is up to Duluth.

The coming week will decide whether there shall be symphony concerts in Duluth during the winter. The arrangements have been completed, the directors have provided a guarantee fund which they will be increased if the Duluth public shows by its interest that the concerts are really desired. Every arrangement is made, but the directors feel most wisely that if the Duluth public is not enough interested in the proposed series of concerts to send in their subscriptions that the time is not yet come when the proposition will do the great good that is possible.

No one is asked to pay out his money on the promise of concerts to come. Every one is invited to send in his written promise for one or more tickets for the series of concerts and no money is to be paid until the tickets are issued. But the promise of this support must be had before any further arrangements are made. One week more is given the public to subscribe and if at the end of those seven days there is not a wide and popular response, the matter will be dropped for another interval of years, probably. That the preparations for the concerts have been most thorough is shown in the prospectus issued by the directors in which the detailed program for the concerts is given. Every individual must do his share if the result is to be a success.

The written promise of a subscription for a serial ticket for the concerts should be sent to Emil Kaselowsky, P. O. Box 205, city.

Bloated Stomach And Belching

Of Gas Is Prevented By Using Charcoal, Which Absorbs and Removes Stomach Gases.

The accumulation of gas in the stomach is caused in the following ways: 1. It may be swallowed in large quantities during certain abnormal conditions of the stomach and food-tract. 2. It may be produced by decomposition of food in the alimentary system. 3. It is often evolved from changes of the mucous secretions themselves. 4. Transuded from the blood. 5. Regurgitated from the duodenum or first portion of the small intestines, and in some cases from a fistulous communication with the large intestine. 6. Gas of an extremely offensive kind is produced by the decomposition of a morbid growth in the stomach, such as cancer, ulcer, tumor, etc. 7. Some forms of food are more prone than others to cause stomach gas, including sugar, starch, beans, peas, etc.

To relieve the distressing symptoms of gaseous distension of the stomach, no matter what the cause may be, it has been found by numerous experiments that the most reliable and valuable remedy is charcoal, which directly absorbs all gaseous substances in the alimentary system, besides oxidizing and destroying foul odors, and antiseptically cleaning the stomach and intestinal system from one end to the other as thoroughly as soap and water cleanses the skin.

The late Dr. Leared of England strongly advocated the use of willow charcoal in the form of lozenges for the alleviation of such stomach symptoms as indigestion, fermentation, decomposition and bloating. It has also been found extremely serviceable in relieving secondary fermentative changes in the large intestine, when administered in the form of an enema.

In Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges we have the very best form in which this great gas absorbent and purifier can be administered. They are composed of the finest willow wood, treated by a special carbonizing process, and after being combined with pure honey to render them palatable, they are compressed into a lozenge, which is as agreeable to the palate as candy, and no one could possibly object to their taste.

Go to your druggist and purchase a package of these powerful little absorbents, which are capable of absorbing 100 times their own volume in gases, but be sure to ask for Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, as there are numerous cheap and inferior substitutes and imitations on the market, and it may be that you have given one of these minor brands a trial, and found that it did not give satisfaction; if so, don't fail to try Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, as their superiority and the vast difference between them and the others will be so strongly marked and so striking, that you will ever afterward decline all substitutes and insist on having this pre-eminently superior brand.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges at all druggists, 25 cents a box.

Send us your name and address, and we will send a free trial package to you by return mail. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Building, Marshall, Michigan.

Lakeside Brand

Pork and Peas

The Newest Food Product

Pork and Peas, like all Lakeside goods, leaves nothing to be wished for in quality. The peas are Lakeside Peas. None better possible—grown in Wisconsin, where soil, climate and moisture are perfect for their growing.

The pork is Wisconsin Little-Pig Pork, tender and sweet—no better on earth—the peas and pork are cooked together in the wonderful Lakeside steam ovens, cooked through and through, each flavoring the other, but preserving the flavor of each.

Only by actual test can you prove how delicious, how toothsome this mouth-watering, pure, wholesome, healthful dish is. Only by actual trial can you appreciate its delicacy, its "taste-like-more" goodness.

Serve Cold or Hot

Lakeside Pork and Peas are perfectly cooked. They are good warmed by placing the can in hot water for a few minutes. That's the way to prepare them if you wish them hot, they are good just as they come from the can. Hot or cold. No more dainty or nourishing dish for luncheons, midnight suppers or "hurry up" dinners is possible than Lakeside Pork and Peas. Once you try them you will always eat them.

Lakeside Pork and Peas are most nutritious—contain more real food value than the best pork and beans you can buy or cook—4½ per cent more protein—½ per cent more fat—they are nutritious, wholesome and delicious.

Remember this is the first time Pork and Peas were ever placed on sale, and you are cordially invited to come and take home a trial can, enough for six big helpings.

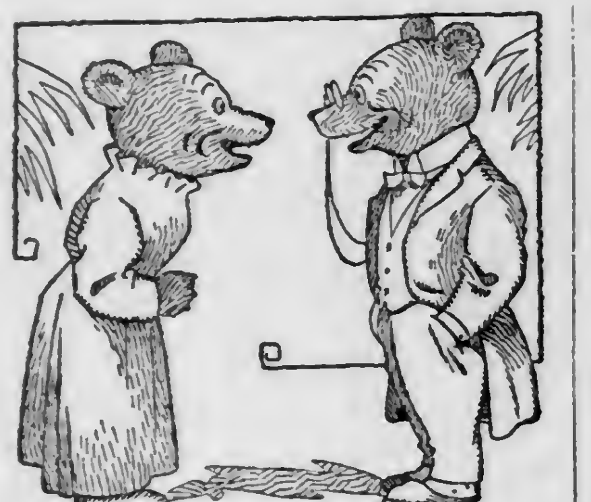
OUR YOUNG FOLKS PAGE

The Penalty of a Bad Memory.

A JOLLY bear a-courting went
In the mellow month, September,
But where his chosen lady lived
He could not well remember.

All through the woods he hunted her;
He had met her at a ball;
And when he very gallantly
Asked her if he might call,



She bowed and blushed quite prettily,
And said: "Oh, yes, my friend;
You'll find my home is in a cave
At the Woods' extreme East End."

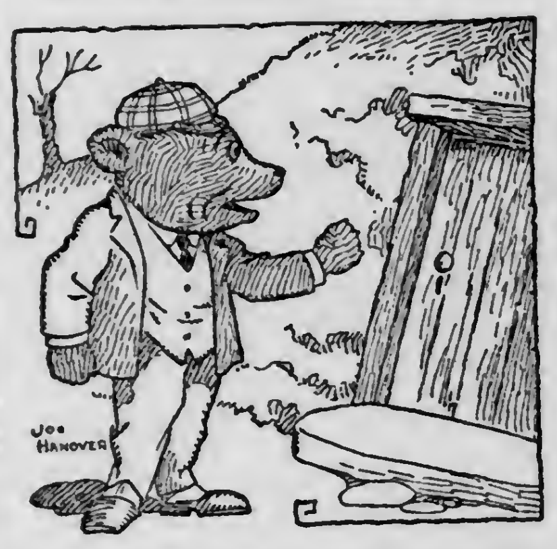
But as the days went gliding by
The bear forgot her address;
And when he went to call on her
He made of it a mess.

All through the North and West and South
He knocked at every door,
To be responded to by bears
He'd never seen before.

And so the months and months rolled by;
And he gave up in despair;
He thought he'd never see her more,
For he'd searched most everywhere.

But at a ball one winter's night
A bride and groom were there,
Our bear was grieved to see the bride
Was his dear lady fair.

His faulty mind had caused his loss,
And it served him right, you see,
For a bear that can't remember well
Won't a good husband be.



A Plucky Little Engineer.

By William Wallace, Jr.

PIONEER CITY, a small Western town, rested on a long, wind-swept plain, which was covered with wild grass during the summer and drifting snows during the winter. And during the spring months winds and drenching rains had little mercy on the prairie, while the autumn usually brought heat and drouth. So it might be truthfully said that the inhabitants of Pioneer City had little to be thankful for in the way of climate, and less in the way of comfort. But they were a sturdy, hopeful, honest people, satisfied to earn a bare living by keeping little shops in which the country people—cattlemen and wheat-raisers—came to "trade" at the end of each week.

The town boasted of a "branch" railroad, one which connected Pioneer City with a town of some pretentions 50 miles to the eastward. To the westward great plains stretched on and on for a hundred miles or more, and here the cattlemen grazed their herds. To the eastward were the farms where grain and vegetables were grown and where Nature seemed to smile oftener than she did to the westward. But if Nature did not smile on the prairies through frequent rains and mild winds the good cattlemen were sunny enough to make up for her shortcoming, for they were a jovial and cheerful lot, and on Saturday of each week, when they filled the streets of Pioneer City, the town echoed with their laughter and innocent hilarity.

One bright Saturday in the autumn the cattlemen began arriving in town very early, and by 10 o'clock the streets were thronged with human life. There was the postoffice, always a place for social gatherings. And the "Big General Store" was another place of meeting for the country folk. Here the stockmen's wives held weekly gatherings, exchanging neighborhood gossip and recipes for making some favorite dish. Here the children sat and ate candy and listened to their elders' conversation or wandered about the three or four sparsely built streets to peep into the houses of the town folks.

About 11 o'clock the wind raised, coming from the southwest. One old "cowpuncher," standing on the steps of the postoffice, raised his head and sniffed the air, a look of anxiety coming into his face. "Say, I believe I git smoke on that wind," he said, turning to a bystander. "Sure as I'm knee high to a grasshopper, there's smoke in that wind!" And he hurried into the middle of the street, where he might scent the air better.

Within a few minutes a dozen men had assembled about the door of the postoffice, and all wore anxious faces, for the air was now heavy with smoke, and that meant a prairie fire somewhere on the plains—not far away.

"Say, but we are a lazy lot not to have made fire brakes about the town before this," spoke up one of the town merchants. "If a big fire should come down the river bottom—where the grass is heaviest—there would be no saving the town. We've been sleeping all fall like so many idiots." And the wrathful merchant strode off toward his store.

"Well, I say we'd better be getting homeward," declared one cattle man "We've got our own property to look after."

But hardly had he said this when a horseman was seen coming in the distance enveloped in a cloud of dust. He was riding like mad, and the anxious people who watched his approach knew what errand brought him so hurriedly to town.

"Prairie fire eating up the whole prairie!" called out the horseman, as he reined his horse to where the group of silent men awaited him. "Everything west of Granger Creek is gone—cattle and houses. The few people that haven't already come to town are on their way here—riding as fast as they can. I only fear the fire will outrun 'em."

The men held a hurried consultation in the street. All hands must turn out to fight the coming enemy. Fire breaks should be started at once. No one waited for orders, but all threw themselves into the work of saving the town.

The smoke came thicker and thicker, filling the heavy wind which was helping to bring the fire more rapidly. The women and children had crowded into the street and excitement and fear prevailed.

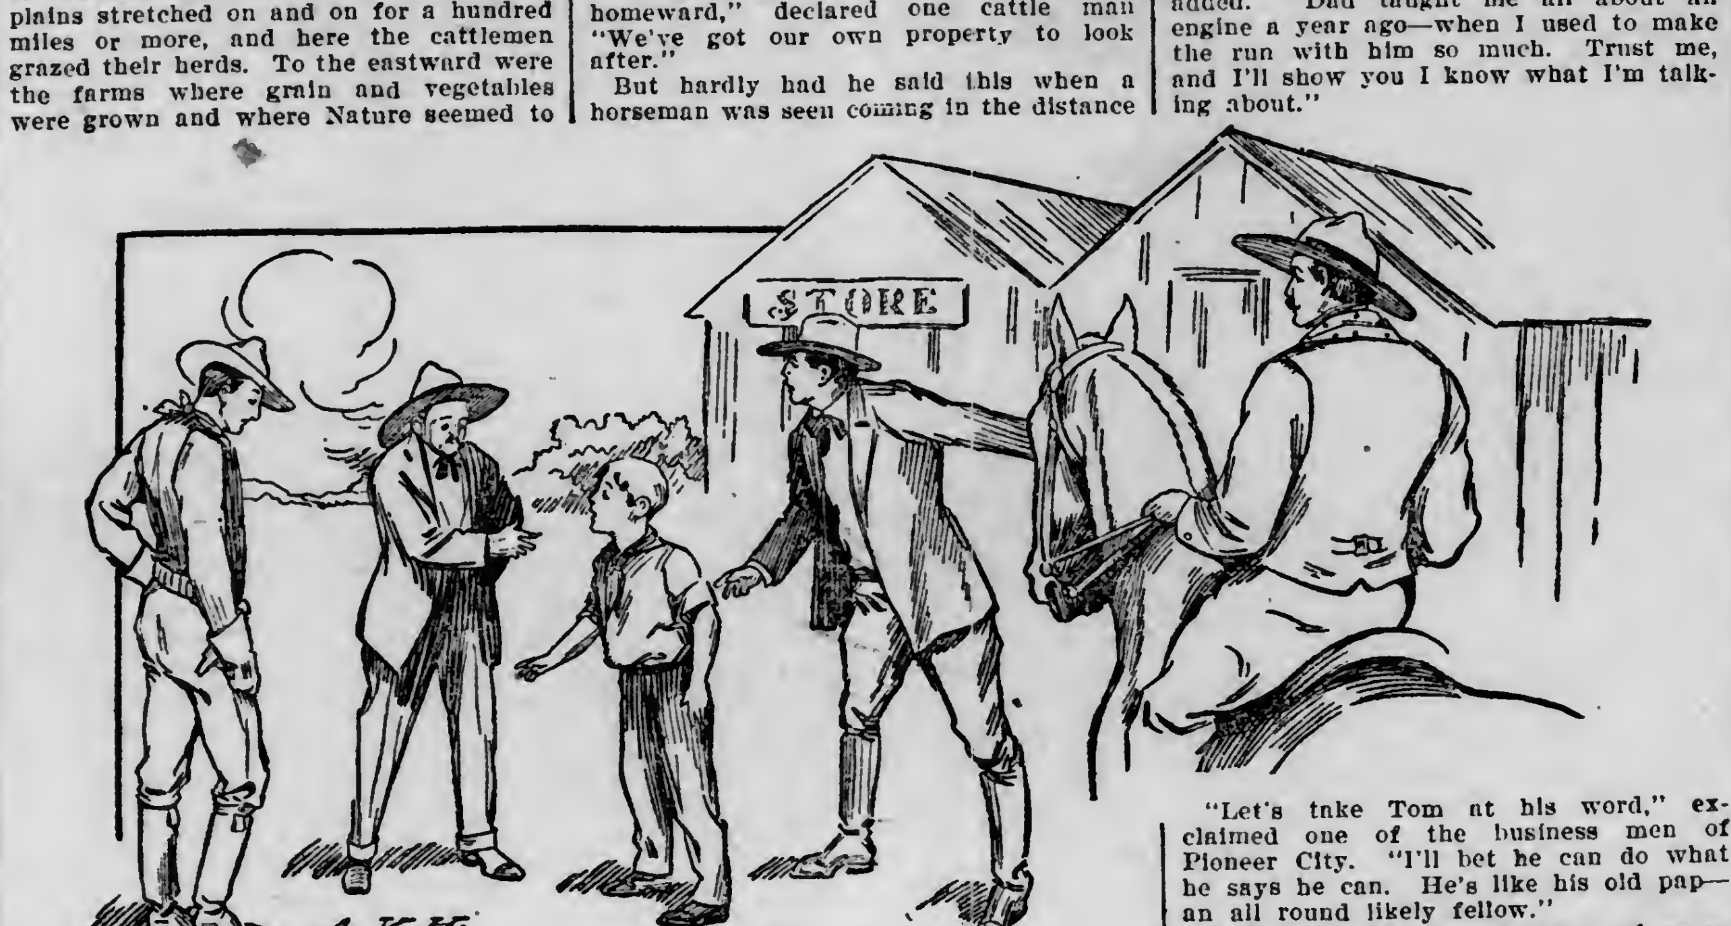
"If it was train time," called out one burly fellow, who was providing himself with old canvas bags with which to handle the "backfire" "I would advise sending the women and youngsters east on a special train. But it's six hours before the train comes in from the East."

"Why not send out a train from here?" asked one of the town men. "There's an extra engine on a switch down at the depot. And there are a lot of box cars we could use."

"Yes, and we might pack our valuables into one of the cars," suggested a woman who was a listener.

"Your lives are your valuables just now," replied the first speaker. "But, say, how can you send out a train without an engineer? You've got to wait till Bill Perkins comes in with his train before you can do anything."

"I can run a train," said a youth who had joined the group of excited men. The men looked about to see who spoke so reassuringly and beheld Tommy Perkins, son of "Bill" Perkins, the engineer who made the run between Pioneer City and the town 50 miles to the eastward. "I can run a train. Sure I can," the boy added. "Dad taught me all about an engine a year ago—when I used to make the run with him so much. Trust me, and I'll show you I know what I'm talking about."



"I can run a train," said a youth who had joined the group of excited men.

"Let's take Tom at his word," exclaimed one of the business men of Pioneer City. "I'll bet he can do what he says he can. He's like his old pap—an all round likely fellow."

"All right. Let half a dozen of us go to the depot and help the kid fix out a train. Somebody get the women and children together and march them to the depot. We'll have to do some tall work, boys, for that fire's no little one. Gee! it smarts my eyes—this smoke! But we'll have to get the women and youngsters out first. Then, if we see we can't save the town we'll make a wild run on horses for the river and swim across. The fire may not leap the stream down here—it's so wide."

"Yes, but it's already jumped the stream above," declared the lately arrived horseman. "It's coming like a red devil down both sides of the river."

"Well, we'll get the women and children off on the train," declared the business man. Then talking was hushed and all worked with a will. Most of the men were sent to the firing line, where they "back fired" against the coming enemy. But the town covered a good space of ground, and it required time to get around it on the west and south—the direction of the wind. And the fire was coming at a terrific rate, making the men fear that it would be upon them before they were ready for it.

Tommy Perkins took charge of the engine, and a man who had once served a short term as fireman assisted him. Pretty soon Tommy showed the men who were watching him that he knew what he was about, for soon he had the engine off the switch and upon the main track. Then several empty freight cars were coupled to the tender and the emergency train was ready for its human freight.

The women and children were huddled together in the cars, many of them carrying their little valuables, which they refused to part from. And just as one of the townsmen was about to give Tommy the signal to start several horsemen came galloping from the westward. They verified the news that the first horseman had brought, that everything was being swept away by the fire—the worst they had ever seen coming across the prairies. They advised that every person, men as well as women and children, board the train, for they declared that no human efforts could possibly save the town.

This news changed the aspect of things somewhat, for the men dropped their work and hurried to the emergency train, and just as the fire was seen coming over a nearby range of hills every living creature, including horses, cats, dogs and canaries, was aboard the train, and Tommy, in the engineer's cab, was carrying them along at the rate of 40 miles an hour. He felt no fear of a collision, for the first train due in Pioneer City would not leave Burdenburg, 50 miles distant, for three hours. And in less than an hour's time Tommy would have his train at a little station where safety would be assured, for the farm lands were so well plowed that the fire would be thwarted as soon as it reached them.

Soon after the emergency train, with the brave youth in charge of the engine, had pulled out of Pioneer City the prairie fire entered and laid all in ashes. And on the following day, when the property-holders returned to look over the ground, where lay nothing but black cinders, they offered up thanks that not one living creature had perished. And Tommy Perkins, the little engineer, was called the hero who had saved so many precious lives. Had it not been for him the people would have remained in the town, hoping against hope that they could battle against the enemy and come out victorious.

Birthplace of Thomas Carlyle.

ECCLEFECHAN, in Scotland, has the distinction of being the place where Thomas Carlyle first opened his eyes on this world. It was described by Burns as "an unfortunate, wicked little village." And in the days when the bonnie poetic Scot visited the place it must have been less attractive than now, for then the burn flowed through the open street, bordered by a double row of tall beech trees. But now the burn is mostly closed over and the beech trees are no more, though what ruthless hands dared to remove them cannot be ascertained. At all events, age has not beautified the birthplace of Thomas Carlyle.

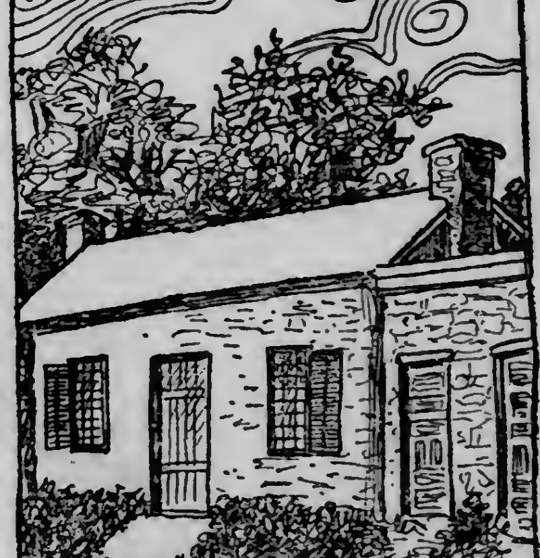
The house in which Carlyle was born still stands in as good condition as during the life of its owner, though it was built over 100 years ago. James Carlyle, the father of Thomas, built the house, and it is most substantial, though of inartistic architecture.

The tiny room in which Carlyle was born—it is at the top of the house, in the rear—is devoted now to the housing of some interesting momentoes of the infant who first drew breath there on December 4, 1795. In one corner an unpretentious bookcase holds a copy of the familiar brown-covered "People's Edition" of his writings; a recess nearby is filled with bits of old china from the house in Cheyne Row; on the mantelpiece are two turned wooden candlesticks, a gift of John Sterling, sent from Rome; a table in the corner provides a resting-place for the philosopher's reading lamp and tea caddy, and above a framed letter on the wall two of his hats are hung. More attention is paid to these hats than to any of the other relics. What higher happiness can the hero-worshiper wish than the being able to say he has had his head inside Carlyle's hat? Inside it goes, in a quite literal sense. Up to the time of my visit only 29 heads had been able to fit that hat. I regret to add that mine did not make the thirtieth. All this applies especially to one hat—a black, wide-brimmed, soft felt, perhaps the identical hat which prompted the immortal dialogue between the passenger and the bus driver: "Queer 'at that old fellow 'ad who just got in."

"Queer 'at! Ay, he may wear a queer 'at, but what would you give to own the 'edpiece that's inside it?"

In another part of the village stands the house where Thomas Carlyle first attended school. Although the building remains exactly now as then, it is no longer used as a schoolhouse, but as a family dwelling. In going over Ecclefechan making inquiries concerning the great philosopher who had lived the first years of his life there, and whose father had been one of the best-known men of the village, I found that the inhabitants knew little or nothing of the man whose name had placed their town in the page of history. Indeed, old inhabitants would shake their heads and say: "What Carlyle do you ask for? There was James and Sandy and—and——" And when I would say it was of the great writer, Thomas Carlyle, that I was seeking information, they would look a bit dazed. One old man said: "Ah, yes; you ask about Tam. We don't know muckle guid of him. His father was an honest man, though."

And so it proved all over the village. Truly, "the prophet had no honor in his own country." The name of Carlyle stands for little in the decaying old village of Ecclefechan, and those who visit the shrine of him who once was there come not from his own Scotland, but from lands more distant, some from across the seas.



Schoolhouse in which Carlyle first went to school.

How a Boy Made Extra Money for Himself.

IT is the nature of boys to be industrious. They like to feel a bit independent of their parents when it comes to money. Almost every boy one meets is desirous of earning a little "spending money" and will welcome any suggestion by which he may be enabled to do so. And these boys want the money for good purposes, too, sometimes helping to defray their own educational expenses.

A boy once known to the writer was a real money-maker. He attended high school regularly, and never missed a day, nor did he ever miss in his exams. And yet this same boy earned about $25 each winter—during the school term. He was more than clever at carving on wood, and his evenings and Saturdays (after his lessons for the morrow had been learned) he spent in carving photograph frames from pine wood. Sometimes these frames were unique in shape—being oval or heart-shaped. But he usually clung to the more conventional square. On these bits of plain wood he would carve the most exquisite designs, flowers, quaint Dutch designs, and fairy boats bearing cupids. Again he would carve conventional designs, but they were always original. After the carving was finished and the frame put together, it would be treated to a coating of gilt, bronze or ebony. The latter effect was obtained by using a highly-refined black paint and soft varnish.

Just before the holidays the boy would put his hand-carved frames on sale at some store and his friends would gladly avail themselves of possessing them. The highest-priced frame would bring but a dollar and a half, while some of the less pretentious would sell for 75 cents. The cost of the frames—not counting the workmanship, of course—averaged about 20 cents apiece, or thereabouts.

When the summer vacation rolled around the boy woodcarver had a neat sum to spend on a trip to the seashore, to the mountains, or to defray a camping expedition on the river near to his home.

Naughty Minnie and Her Poor Dolly.

A Story for Wee Girlies by Maud Walker.

ON Minnie's sixth birthday her dear old grandpapa gave her a beautiful doll. In fact, it was the very nicest doll that was to be found in the toy store of the city in which Minnie lived. Grandpapa whispered to Minnie's mamma that he paid—now listen!—that he paid $5 for the doll! So you all know it must have been a very beautiful doll and very stylishly dressed.

The day that Minnie received the lovely doll for a present she was very proud of her and handled her very carefully so as not to soil her lovely grey silk dress which was trimmed in pink ribbon bows and white lace frills. And on her head dolly wore a most becoming hat trimmed with pink roses. And dolly's hair was soft and brown and curly, real hair that one could comb, you know. And Minnie, for the time being, very proud of dolly, decided to give her a very nice, aristocratic name. She called her Pearline. Of course, grandpapa laughed when Minnie told him her doll's name, and her mamma said: "Oh, you don't want to call her that, dear. I guess you were thinking of the name Pauline, weren't you?"

"No, mamma, I wasn't thinking of Pauline at all. I named her Pearline because it is such a pretty name. And I want her name to stay Pearline, too."

So Minnie's mamma only laughed, just as Minnie's grandpapa had done, and dolly's name remained Pearline. And for days and days Minnie never went anywhere without Pearline, carrying her tenderly and proudly in her arms. And everyone whom Minnie met—that she knew—she would tell about Pearline, and like a loving mother would uncover the doll's face so that the chance acquaintance might have a look at her.

But after the first week the novelty of Pearline wore away, and Minnie began to grow tired of her. She would go to play with her little friends, forgetting Pearline altogether until some girl would ask: "Where is Pearline? I haven't seen her for ever so long." Then Minnie would tip her nose in the air and say: "Oh, Pearline is such a bad child! I just leave her at home as punishment, you see."

And all the time that Minnie was saying these naughty things about Pearline she knew she was misrepresenting her dolly, for never a better dolly lived than Pearline. And she was such a neat little lady, too, was Pearline. She had a way of staying clean and tidy even when tossed about by the careless Minnie.

But one day Minnie decided to take Pearline for a walk in the park. She dressed her up in her best frock and hat and put her in a pretty doll cab that her papa had bought purposely for Pearline to ride in. After having traversed several of the shady walks in the park Minnie decided to rest awhile beside the fountain. She sought out a bench and sat down. She drew her dolly close to her side and began scolding her in a very cross voice. "Now, Pearline," she said, "if I hadn't brought you out here with me I should run and romp on the commons. But here you are—always in the way, and I have to remain here to watch you. You certainly are a very naughty child and I shall have to give you away."

As Minnie talked so crossly to Pearline a stray puppy came along and listened a bit. He seemed to know just what Minnie was saying, for he looked pityingly on Pearline. The poor dolly had really drooped her beautiful head. so miserable did she feel at being treated so unkindly by her little girl mamma.

Minnie was too busy watching some children on the commons to notice that the stray doggie had walked slyly up beside Pearline's cab and was watching her intently. He seemed to say: "Never mind, Dolly, I know how badly you feel about being treated so cruelly. And if you wish it I will carry you off. I have two dear little mistresses, and they would be glad to take you to their hearts and love you. They are too poor to have fine dolls like you—unless I should find one for them. And I am sure you would like to go to them, for you seem so unhappy."

And while the doggie seemed to say all this the dolly seemed to be listening to him, and to agree to all that he said. Presently Minnie decided to take a run about the commons. Turning to Pearline she said: "Now, you naughty doll, I am going to leave you here by yourself while I go for a run through the green grass. Will you behave while I am away? If not—well, you'll be punished when I return."

Thus admonishing Pearline, Minnie ran off to the commons, for she had recognized some of her friends there romping. She soon forgot all about Pearline in her cab beside the fountain, and stayed for an hour, playing with her friends.

A few minutes after Minnie's departure from the bench the little doggie went softly up to the dolly and took hold of the back of her waist by his teeth. He lifted her from the cab and ran away into the woods with her. Soon he was far from the fountain, and still going on. He left the park at an unfrequented spot, crawling through a hedge. Strange to say, not a soul had noticed the doggie running with a great doll held in his teeth. And Pearline was very happy, even though she was terribly uncomfortable and her pretty dress badly crumpled. She felt that she had found a true friend in the doggie.

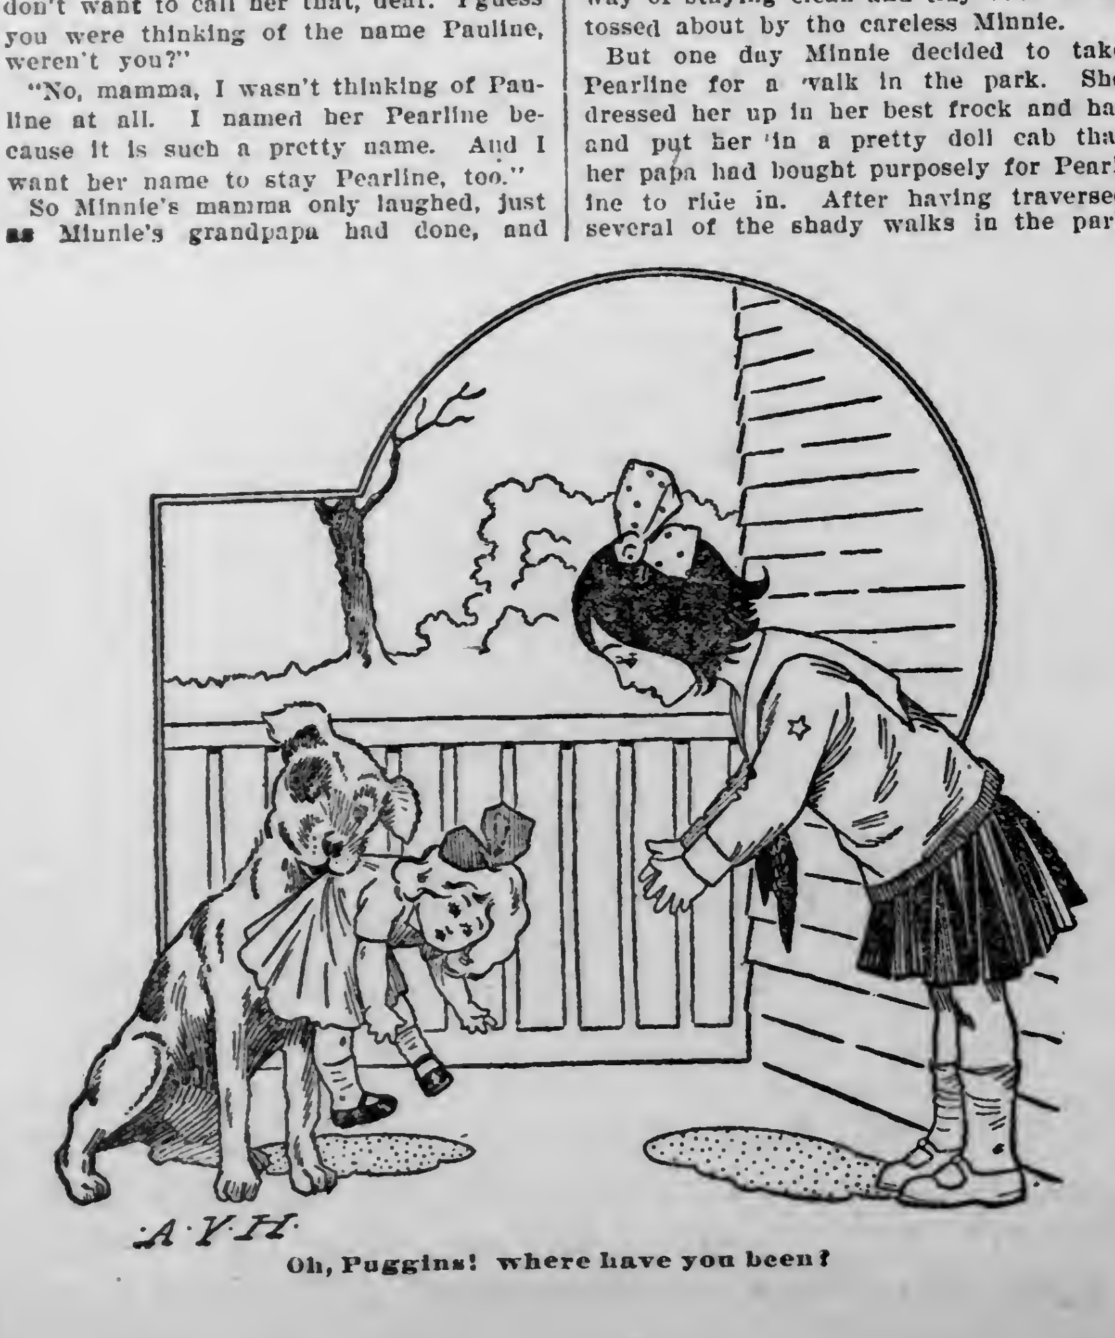
After some traveling the doggie turned into a pretty wooded lane which led to a small suburb of the city. Entering the town the doggie soon sought out a little cottage with a green yard and trees about it. He ran up the porch and scratched at the door with his paw. The door was instantly opened by a little girl, who cried out: "Oh, Puggins, where have you been? We've been so uneasy about you. And where did you get that lovely doll? Oh, sister, come and see what Puggins has found somewhere. And the dear doggie has brought it to us."

Another little girl, as pretty and sweet as the first, came running to the door, and was overjoyed to see Puggins—the doggie's name—there. Also, she was overjoyed to behold the beautiful present he had fetched in his mouth.

"Someone has either thrown the doll away or lost it," said the mother of the little girls when she saw Pearline and Puggins. "We'll advertise the doll, and if no one replies she'll belong to you, my dears."

And so in the next day's paper an advertisement in the lost and found column was inserted which described the doll, Pearline. But the days went by and no one came to the cottage to claim the beautiful doll that had been picked up by a dog somewhere. And as Puggins nor Pearline could neither of them tell tales, the mystery of the doggie's taking the doll was never explained. And in vain did Minnie look for her doll on returning to the commons, she could not find a trace of her anywhere. "She's a bad, bad doll to go and get stolen," declared naughty Minnie. "And I'll just let her go and get another doll prettier." And she went home, very indignant at Pearline, the helpless dollie whom she had so sadly neglected and at times had treated so unkindly.

And away out in a pretty suburb, in a clean, little cottage, Pearline—who was now called Fairy—lived in contentment and happiness, for she had not only the dutiful Puggins to look after her wants, but two devoted little mistresses who adored her and who never used her unkindly for a moment. And the two little girls always wondered if a fairy had not sent this beautiful dolly to them, seeing that they were too poor to buy one so fine.



Oh, Puggins! where have you been?

Living Over Tombs.

MANY districts of Paris are built over tombs and catacombs, and these vast subterranean chambers and galleries produce that peculiar cavernous sound when heavy carts pass rapidly over the coarsely metalled roads. In some sections of Paris the streets are like great drums beating the funeral marches over that vast common grave with its million of skeleton dead.

THEODORE HUFFMAN, THE FAMOUS HAY STATISTICIAN.

Written for The Herald by E. J. Edwards ("Holland")

(Copyright 1909, by E. J. Edwards.)

WHEN frosts come, and the railways bgein to be occupied in transporting the products of the American farmers tu the markets, so that the eight billions in cash which is presumed to be the value of these products is realized, then we begin to have proof of the accuracy and judgment of some of the big, but to the public unknown, men who are occupied for six months or more every year in forecasting the crops and their markets.

Every one of America's staple products, whether of farm, forest or mine—and also those foreign products which are intensely interwoven with American life—is made a study by men whose special business it is to get information concerning them. In the spring and early summer these men travel all over the United States, and some of them go across the sea, in their exhaustive search of data. They have thousands of correspondents. They glean all possible information. And when they have obtained it they report, some of them to James J. Hill, others to those who are managing the Harriman railroads, others to the great flour manufacturers, still others to those who are preparing to sell the 800,000,000 pounds of coffee that Americans buy each year; to the smelters of copper ores; to the great manufactories of copper apparatus, and so on.

In each one of these great activities there stands one central, commanding figure, known the world over to all who are engaged in making or marketing these products. All over the world where coffee is raised for foreign marketing no American, excepting Col. Roosevelt, is so well known by name as is Herman Sielcken. In the great smelting works and in all the copper mining districts of the United States and South America, the name and personality of John Robert Stanton is as familiar as is the name and personality of J. Pierpont Morgan in Wall street. All over the United States and Canada where wheat is raised the farmers pay to Egbert N. Fairchild greater heed than they do to any politician or railway magnate, because he is presumed to know more about the quality and quantity of the world's wheat crop than any other man. And the humble hay crop, which brings to the farmers of the United States each year about half a billion dollars, has its high authority in Theodore P. Huffman. Just so the planting, growing and marketing of cotton is watched over by Theodore L. Price, while the great foreign exchange market, which makes it possible to convert these products instantly into cash, has as one of its great authorities—an authority unsurpassed in his line—a modest young banker of the name of Fred I. Kent.

Herman Sielcken a Boy Soldier.

When the late Carl Schurz and the other brilliant young revolutionists were attempting to do great things in what is now the German empire, there was a little boy, who, on the streets of Hamburg, was greatly impressed with the spectacle of the German army pursuing the revolutionists. It seemed to him as though nothing could be finer than to wear a uniform, have epaulettes, carry a sword, be a soldier. But in due course of time he learned from experience that it isn't all feathers and gilt to serve as a soldier lad, for when he was in his late teens, Herman Sielcken became a soldier in the German army.

That occurred at about the height of our own Civil war. The boy was old enough and soldier enough to listen with keen interest to the stories that reached Germany of the battles in the United States, and of the great generals like Grant and Sherman on the Union side, and Lee and Johnston upon the Confederate. Listening to these war tales, he made up his mind that the army was no career for him, and that Germany offered no opportunities to be compared with those which he would be sure to find upon the American continent. So, in some way—the history of which is his own private affair—young Sielcken got out of the army, and out of Germany. But instead of beginning a career in the United States, he found his first New World experience in Costa Rica.

Revolutions and funny little parodies of Republican government were constantly in progress there, but these did not interest young Sielcken. He had had enough of soldiering, and his eyes were all on the coffee plantations of the country.

He was a handsome young man, of short stature, thick-set, powerfully built, indifferent to the heat of that very hot Central American country, and his big black eyes were constantly occupied with the study of the coffee fields and the various statistics and reports that told of the export of coffee—how many pounds the United States was taking each year, what was paid for it, etc. And when he was told that in the United States the people consumed every year several hundred million pounds of coffee, the young man said to himself: "Herman Sielcken, here is your chance to make a name and a fortune for yourself." At that time he had neither. His only possessions were good health, tremendous earnestness and energy, and very good habits.

After a year in Costa Rica young Sielcken departed for San Francisco. He still had coffee in his mind, but he had got to do something which would either bring him capital or put him in touch with capital, so that he would be able to work out his plans, which, if he were successful, would make him the great captain of the coffee producing industry. He went up into Oregon on a business trip, for he was something of a commercial traveler at that time, and a very successful one in a small way. Then, one day, while patronizing one of the not very well built Oregon railways of that period, there came a sudden crash, and a moment later he found himself all mixed up in a wreck. But fate was in his favor, and although passengers all about him were injured, some fatally, yet he, as he has always thought almost miraculously, escaped any serious injury.

After a year or two upon the Pacific coast young Sielcken found his way to New York and got employment with a mercantile and banking house which already had established considerable trade relations with South America, and was, in fact, importing a good deal of coffee. Here, at last, was the opportunity he had been looking for, and he lost no time in cultivating it.

He studied geography, so that he could know exactly the lay of the land in all those countries where coffee is grown. For some months he made a special study of various kinds of transportation—the railroad, the steamboat, the flat boat, the mule. Then he visited the great coffee plantations of the world. He went all over Brazil, and mapped out thoroughly every coffee plantation, so that at last he knew the number of acres each planter had, the number of laborers he employed, what kind of coffee he produced, what kind of soil was necessary for the production of the best coffee.

Then he wert again to Central America, and there was not a single coffee plantation in the whole length and breadth of the Central American states of which he did not learn every detail; the majority of them he visited. For he was laying the foundations for absolute information respecting the coffee cultivation of the entire world. He knew that if he was to be the master of this business, he must first of all learn absolutely everything about the production end of it. Last of all, he went to the East where coffee is produced.

Well, in a short time, the black laborers of South America, the brown laborers who work bare-headed, bare-armed and bare-legged in the coffee plantations of Java, and the half-breeds, who are very listless and lazy workers on the Central American plantations, and, of course, the planters themselves, became very familiar with this curly-haired, black-eyed, swarthy complexioned young man, who seemed to them to be really the owner of all the plantations. He made himself as well known in Arabia personally as he was afterwards in the coffee exchanges of America. When employers and employes saw him coming to the plantations of Costa Rica they wanted to make a fete day of it.

Now, when you remember that statistics show that in the United States there are consumed every year 800,000,000 pounds of coffee, and that this coffee costs almost one-third as much as it does to carry on the entire government of the United States for a single year, then you will get some idea of the magnitude of the operations of Herman Sielcken. He is no monopolist excepting that, by his method of training himself and obtaining information, he has obtained a monopoly on information respecting the entire coffee product of the world each year. For example, he can tell you three months before Brazil harvests its coffee exactly how much of the berry the Brazilian planters will harvest. He knows, too, all about the consumption of coffee in the United States and in every other nation. Therefore, it is possible for him to get a good idea of what the market price of coffee is to be. For this reason he is a great authority in the world's coffee exchange.

For the same reason coffee planters the world over accept his word as authoritative and final. When Brazil attempts by certain taxes, or rather peculiar political methods, to control the coffee market, Herman Sielcken watches this politics for a while, and when he thinks it has gone far enough, he holds up his finger, or conveys a delicate hint to Brazil, and that is enough. The planters there know that it is in his power to shift to Costa Rica, Central America, and Northern South America much of the American market for the cheaper grades of coffee, and that he will do it if Brazil is too obstinate.

Sielcken Outwits the Country's Bankers.

So great a power has Mr. Sielcken become—the one really great power in the coffee industry of the world—that he is now regarded in something of the light of a supreme arbiter. He has nothing to do with the retail coffee business—roasting and grinding and packaging coffee for the consumer. His whole vocation is that of a merchant who commands the great coffee markets of the world and who puts the raw material upon the market. The business of his house aggregates nearly $50,000,000 a year, and its head has become one of the multi-millionaires of the United States.

How quick Mr. Sielcken is, and how ready to assert himself, is illustrated by the following incident: The government at Washington had made an arrangement with a syndicate of bankers to sell government bonds to the bank, and to receive in pay for the bonds about $60,000,000 in gold. As a part of the bargain, the bankers agreed that they would prevent the exportation of gold for six months. They were going to do this by selling foreign exchange with all the exchange dealers parties to their agreement.

But, suddenly, it was announced that there had been an export of gold from the United States to London of $1,000,000 in all, and there was very lively stepping around in Wall street when the announcement was made. Who had done it, and why? Had anybody broken faith? These were questions that were asked and speedily answered, for it was discovered that the firm of bankers with which Mr. Sielcken was associated had secured the gold and exported it.

At once the syndicate went to Mr. Sielcken and complained.

"But we are not in your syndicate," was the reply. "We are not bound by any promises."

"But we will take you into the syndicate now."

"Oh, no," answered Mr. Sielcken; "you have cut and carved the turkey and taken all the meat, and we don't care to come in to feast on the bones."

Then it was represented that it would be a grievous embarrassment to the government if there were further exports of gold, and there was none. Herman Sielcken had simply shown his power and independence, and that was enough for him.

Mr. Sielcken is practically a citizen of the world. Kansas City—New York—he has lived and worked in both cities. He has spent years of his life on the great coffee plantations, although nowadays he does not travel to them every year, as was formerly his custom. But the spot that is probably dearest to him—his real home—is a wonderfully beautiful place which he calls Maria hall. It lies in the outskirts of Baden-Baden; on it he has spent a great deal of money; and there, with his family, he spends three or four months of the year, which include the summer season. And he is one of the few men of whom it may truthfully be said that there is no photograph of him in existence.

The Master of Wheat Production.

The United States does not grow any coffee and never will, unless the men of agricultural science in Washington discover some way in which it can be done, as they did discover that tea could be profitably grown in South Carolina. But the United States is the great wheat country of the world, and from some points of view E. M. Fairchild of Minneapolis bears the same relation to wheat production and marketing that Mr. Sielcken does to that of coffee.

There was a time when the state of Iowa was expected to become a great wheat state. Many of the farmers in the middle of that state plowed up the immense prairies, expecting to garner magnificent wheat harvests. But Mr. Fairchild went down there, and his quick eye speedily discerned that the soil of Iowa is corn soil, and he went back to the Northwest firm in the conviction that the great wheat fields of the United States were to be along the lines of the newly opened railways stretching from the Great Lakes northwesterly, as well as upon some parts of the Pacific coast.

Mr. Fairchild had mastered every detail affecting the production and marketing of wheat even before he became the great executive manager of the largest flouring mills in the world. He knew some years ago that the time was coming when the American farmers would be demanding a tariff for wheat, because they would discover that their Canadian neighbors were raising wheat in such quantity as seriously to affect the markets. With the actual details of manufacture of wheat into flour, his familiarity is said to be not so great as it is with the wheat fields of the world—how much wheat they are producing in any year: where the new wheat fields lie; how many emigrants will be tempted from the old farms to these newer regions.

Mr. Fairchild was the first man to prophecy that farmers would be raising wheat almost as far north as the Arctic circle, in the western half of British North America. He predicted the vast emigration from the United States to those virgin wheat fields. He was one of the first to announce that the American people were increasing more rapidly than their wheat production. And he feels certain that, if not in his own generation, yet probably in the next one, when transportation to the uplands of interior South America have been completed, all of those magnificent millions of square miles back of Peru and Chili that have never been cultivated since the days of the Incas will be open to wheat cultivation.

Mr. Fairchild is known personally to every one of the great wheat farmers fo the United States. They accept his statements as to the probable harvest of wheat in any year as even more reliable than those of the governmental statisticians. And it is his information and generalship that enable the great flouring mills of Minneapolis to prepare abundantly for meeting the world's demansd for American flour.

Hay, Cotton, Copper.

Sielcken in coffee, Fairchild in wheat, Theodore Huffman in hay, an humble crop, which anually yields as much to the farmers of this country as the king of the South—cotton.

Mr. Huffman, who declares that this year's hay crop will probably reach a value of about $600,000,000, is recognized the world over as the leading American expert on hay harvest. Born in the state of New Jersey, as a boy he was especially interested in the meadows which in June and early July in that state used to yield bounteous harvests of hay. So, when he came to mature years, it was natural enough that he should take up a business which permitted him to follow this early inclination.

He demonstrated his great authority at the time of the Boer war. The British commissary department was complaining that it could not get hay enough to feed the horses. Telegrams and agents were sent to the United States, and Mr. Huffman found himself busy as he had never been before, in meeting the enormous demands of the British commissaries. He knew exactly where to go in the United States and in Canada for hay. He insisted that it be so baled that if a lighted match were applied to it it would not burn. He showed how, by packing in this way, thousands of tons of hay could be sent in one steamer to South Africa.

If you were with Mr. Huffman in the early spring, you would find him making personal investigation of the great hay fields of New York, Michigan and Canada, "getting a line," as the saying is, on the prospective crop. By mid June he is able to tell any one, who has the right to ask, where the droughts or the excessive rains are doing damage, and where the promise of crops is abundant. Thus, even before the scythe or the mowing machine has been put to the crop, Mr. Huffman is able to furnish what is regarded as the best estimate of the number of tons of hay that will be harvested; and he also is the first to discover what the demand in other parts of the world for American or Canadian hay is.

As is pretty generally known, the Huffman of cotton production is Theodore H. Price, who became interested in cotton production when he was still a young man and at a time when he was passing through North Carolina. His great hobby is the perfecting of an organization—not a corporation, but a voluntary association—by means of which the planters of the cotton belt will be able vastly to increase their product, to produce the higher quality of cotton, and perfectly to command the markets.

In copper the great authority is the son of the man who in his day was the great authority in this specialty.

A good many years ago John Stanton made a curiosity excursion to a little town in Northern Connecticut, Granby by name. He was anxious to see the first important copper mine worked in the American colonies. Much of the copper used in the Revolutionary war was mined there. The mines had dug great subterranean caverns, and, afterwards, when mining proper was abandoned, these caverns became the dungeon which served Connecticut for a state prison for many years.

John Stanton died about a year ago. He was known the world over as the greatest authority, not merely upon the production and marketing of copper, but upon the copper fields of the world. He was himself a miner and producer of copper, and gained a great fortune in that vocation. But he was better known to the world as an authority on copper production. His mantle has passed to his son, John Robert Stanton, who learned all that his father knew about copper fields and copper production, and, who, in addition has become an officer and operator in eight copper mining companies.

But copper isn't the only thing with which John Robert Stanton is identified. The famous Seventh regiment of New York look upon him as one of its most popular officers. He is a strong supporter of the greatest of American foresters, Gifford Pinchot, and he is particularly fond of yachting. These, however, are merely incidental to his persistent zealous work in locating the various copper fields of the world, and discovering what the future markets for copper are to be.

The American who knows more than any other of his countrymen about the mines of the world which yield precious stones is George F. Kunz. In fact, among the gem experts of the world he is held to be without a peer. No spurious gem ever deceived him; and he is the custodian of the largest diamond ever brought to the United States. Show him almost any kind of gem and he will be able to tell you instantly where it was mined, and probably he will add the name of the very mine from which it came. Some years ago there was placed before him specimens of a beautiful colored mineral and without hesitation he replied: "That is turquoise from the mines of New Mexico." A graduate of famous Cooper Union, a self-made man, Mr. Kunz is the authority upon whom not only those who mine, but also those who market precious stones, rely for accurate information as to the output and the prospective market for these jewels.

Fred I. Kent, Foreign Exchange Expert.

Not the least interesting or important of those who are handling the leading American agricultural products, and who are recognized as expert authorities upon them, is Fred I. Kent. His relation to this production is that of facilitating the world's exchanges.

Every farmer wants to turn his product into cash, not so much at the earliest possible moment as at the moment when he can get the best prices. But in order that this exchange of products for cash may be facilitated, it is necessary that there be ready purchasers at all times for foreign exchange. When a farmer sells wheat, or a planter coffee or cotton, he may draw a draft against the purchaser. Drafts of this kind are regarded as the very best security, because the product itself stands behind them. These drafts are then discounted or sold at the bankers. The farmers get their money, and the banker in due time collects it from the purchaser.

Fred I. Kent, while still a very young man, gained an enviable reputation as a master of the very difficult science of foreign exchange. There are only three or four very great masters of this deparment of international finance, and Fred I. Kent is one of them. J. Pierpont Margan is another.

A few years ago, while Mr. Kent was trading with one of the greatest of Chicago banks, some of the express companies of the United States began to sell their own drafts upon banking institutions the world over. The business grew to enormous proportions. In one year it is said that one company sold 50,000,000 of this exchange.

The American Bankers' association began to complain. Its members looked upon this as an advent into the proper field of banking. Therefore, they determined to begin true competition with the express companies, and not to give battle to them through the interstate commerce commission. In order to do this it was necessary that there be sent to the great financial centers the world over a man competent to make arrangements involving the yearly disbursements of as much as a hundred million dollars if that were necessary.

Mr. Kent was delegated to undertake this important commission. He has recently returned from this work. In banking circles he is said to receive the largest salary paid to any banker in the United States, with three or four exceptions. The common report is that his salary equals that received by the president of the United States before the recent increase.

With the great masters of information respecting the leading agricultural products are to their vocation, Mr. Kent is to the ultimate financing which makes it possible for American farmers and the coffee planters of the world to exchange their products at any time for cash.

TREE FROM A STAKE.

Topeka Capital: In an article concerning a large old cottonwood tree which stands near the east wing of the state house, D. O. McCray claimed that the tree sprung up from a seed, and that after withstanding many battles with both the elements of nature and with man, it had survived until it had grown into an exceedingly large and magnificent shade tree.

W. H. Fernald of 521 Tyler street, who has lived in Topeka for forty-eight years, said there seems to be a mistake about the real origin of this product of the forest. At the time when the east wing of the state house was built Mr. Fernald was a small boy, and yet he says he remembers distinctly about the tree. At that time he earned his first money carrying water for the stonecutters who were working on the building. During that time he claims that the tree had its origin.

In speaking of the cottonwood he said: "I remember distinctly the day I went to work for the first time in my life for wages. During the day the foreman cut down a cottonwood tree almost twelve or fourteen inches in diameter, and from it he obtained a post about fifteen feet long. This post was set in the ground about five or six feet below the surface, and it was used to hold a guy rope from a large wooden derrick which hoisted the stone for the building.

"It was wet weather at the time, and within a week or so the post had started to grow. It kept on growing, and as no one hindered it, it soon took the form which was most natural for it and grew into a good-sized tree. The peculiar shape it has since assumed is due to the way in which it started. Probably one reason why the tree was not removed while it was still in the form of a post is that the stones which had been piled around it while the building was being built were not removed until several years after the post was set in the ground."

BUSINESS IS BACK TO NORMAL

New York, Oct. 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says:

The industrial and commercial situation, as a whole, at the beginning of the last quarter of the year, is that of a full return to normal conditions. The Southern trade, it is reported, is better than for several seasons past. The chief flaw in the situation is to be found in the high prices which serve to check operations in some directions and are a conservative influence.

Business in steel rails is expanding and such activity is expected in this division next year as the railroads are covering future requirements freely.

In addition to the demand from domestic consumption, the leading producers have received contracts for 12,000 tons for export to Mexico. The rapid advance in pig iron prices has caused many buyers to restrict their purchases, although a heavy business continues in some districts, notably at Pittsburg and New York.

Sharp advances were made in cotton goods and yarns during the week and while trading in wholesale dry goods markets was limited in the metropolitan district by the celebration, the reports from other centers indicate the maintenance of a seasonable distribution. Some large interests are moving to order their early spring needs in staple fabrics. A careful canvas of conditions in mens' wear mills, foreign revisions and cancellations of orders, disclosed that production was being curtailed, although an early revival in demand for duplicate winter wear is expected to provide idle looms with work. Encouragement is being given to promoters of a curtailment movement among cotton mills in order to avoid the trade complications that must follow extended speculation in cotton.

The footwear market is very slow. Further activity has developed in the hide market and sales by Western packers aggregate fully 200,000 hides the past week at full prices and most varieties and advances on others.

PINCHOT MEANS TO STAND PAT

Will Make No Change in Policy of Conservation of Forests.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Gifford Pinchot, chief forester of the government, has returned here with a full determination to return without the slightest modification of his policies regarding the conservation of the nation's natural resources in the national forests. Mr. Pinchot has just completed a two months' inspection of practically all of the forest reserves.

In speaking of the conservation question, Mr. Pinchot declared that the people of the country, especially the West, were now awake as never before to that problem. President Taft had defined his position regarding conservation, and there could now be no possible doubt that he is strongly committed to that policy, he said.

Mr. Pinchot stated most emphatically that he had come back here to pursue his conservation and forestry policies "as he had carried them on in the past."

"There will be no change in either policy," said Mr. Pinchot.

A TWELVE-HUNDRED-DOLLAR HOUSE

An Architectural Possibility That Eliminates the Servant Girl, Makes Housework a Pleasure and Converts All the Trials of Housekeeping Into Positive Joys. ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴ ∴

BY CONSTANCE D. LEUPP.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

It begins to look as though the housing millennium were upon us and numbered the days of Shylock, the landlord.

Those whose opposition to Socialism is based on the fear that it will increase the servant problem, need no longer hesitate to come out openly and embrace the system. For Milton Dana Morrill, a young architect in Washington, has designed a $1,200 house in which all the work is play, and servants would be more underfoot than useful. Being built of concrete it is indestructible, so it needs no insurance and no repairs; it is germicide to such a degree that its inhabitants are practically doctor-proof, insulated so they are temperature-proof. Sweeping (whcih is done with a hose) becomes a pleasure, coaling a festival, and the garbage man a myth.

The house can, moreover, be extremely pretty. it was awarded the first prize at the international tuberculosis congress in 1908 because of its sanitary character, and its many other merits would entitle it to a round dozen more medals.

Mr. Morrill is much interested in the proper housing of wage earners, and, as he points out, their problem has changed entirely within the last few years. Not very long ago, the working man had to live near his work. Today increased transportation facilities and lower car fare combined with the rising value of land in the factory districts has increased the residence zone to many miles around our large cities, and Mr. Morrill comes opportunely with his designs for separate houses for working people.

The remarkable feature of his house is the large number of new and excellen devices it contains, not only for the convenience, but for the luxury of living—and these are so simple that one wonders they have never been thought out before. The secret of the low cost which is claimed for it is that it is built of reinforced concrete from sectional molds of a standard size, which are to be used over and over again. Heretofore, the great expense of concrete construction has been due not to the expense of the material but to that of the molds, which are made for each building. Mr. Morrill's plan is to have not less than twenty-five houses constructed in each locality from the same set of molds; since the molds are made in sections, however, one set admits of a limited variety in design.

Window and door frames are cast in steel. The walls of the rooms within have no plaster or wall paper, but are finished with a smooth concrete, which may be tinted, or on which a wall paper design may be stencilled. The flooring may be of concrete or of a composite terra cotta colored material, warm to the touch, light and porus in appearance but impervious and durable. There is a slight slope to the floor of each room towards a plugged tile spout, which drains if skilfully built, into window boxes below.

All corners are rounded to give no harbor to dirt, and all fixtures are bracketted from the wall, so that sweeping consists merely in removing the furniture, attaching the hose and flushing ceiling, walls and floor of each room.

There is no furnace in the cellar of the house. ("Did you know that one-third of your heat is wasted to warm the cellar you wish to keep cool?" the architect pertinently asks). Heat for the whole house and for cooking is provided by the range in the kitchen. A cement jacket prevents the kitchen from being overheated and provides the space for the hot air chamber. Flues from the fire places throughout the house are arranged about the smokestack, forming natural ventilation.

The garbage is disposed of in a very simple bu novel manner. A cast iron chamber is built into the chimney, and in this the garbage remains thoroughly dry, when it is dropped into the fire box by means of a damper. The ice box, built into the wall and opening both into the kitchen and outdors, can be flushed with the hose.

In winter, a screen on the outside is all the protection needed, and no ice is required.

The coal hole is on the roof and is filled by means of a chain block from the ground. (Note how much cleaner this process is than the ordinary method). It will hold two tons of coal, which is distributed by an automatic self-feeder connecting with the range, controlled in the kitchen by dampers.

The walls of the house may be hollow admitting of a free passage of air about the house, which is thus practically insulated like a thermos bottle, only by a blanket of air instead of by a vacuum. Theoretically, this increases an even temperature throughout the year. Practically, however, it has been demonstrated that the concrete itself is such a poor conductor that the air blanket is not necessary.

Instead of a piazza, darkening the rooms on the ground floor, and useless in winter, the house has on the roof a solarium—a glassed-in room, furnace heated, itself surrounded by a veranda roof in the shape of awnings, and with a tile and concrete railing surrounding the whole. The roof can be partitioned and used for sleeping, the solarium providing a quick retreat in case of rain.

The concrete house has equal possibilities for the city or the suburbs.

Count out the items of repairs and insurance and estimate at what figure a real estate company could build and rent such houses and get a fair 6 per cent return on its money. Already the Charity Organization Society of Youngstown, Ohio, is capitalizing an enterprise for the building of these houses, and the same is the case with an enterprising newspaper in Nebraska. Mr. Morrill is now at work designing a simple house, a mere concrete box of one story, which shall rent for $4 or $5 a month.

I have attempted to describe the main good and novel features of the house—there are others, less important that have not been mentioned. The architect has been guided in his plans by a genius singularly free from the tradition of convention. He has built at Chevy Chase (a suburb of Washington), a house incorporating many of his novel features; he has not as yet built a set of them at the low cost which he claims is possible. He is, of course, by no means the only experimenter along the line of inexpensive concrete construction. When he does complete his project, however, better even than the rediscovery of concrete as a cheap building material, will be the stimulus he gives the imagination to discover even greater adaptabilities along the same line.

In the Old World generations of life and work amid definite peculiar conditions of temperature, and altitude and angles of the compass have in themselves evolved an architecture of the people which has given us such gems as the Swiss Chalet. In America, when we build our towns overnight, here is a challenge to our national genius of adaptability. No one who has traveled through those sections of America where the natural resources of the country are the greatest, can have failed to note the deplorable way these mushroom towns develop.

The growth of Telluride, Colo., is an excellent example of what can be done by our national pioneer spirit combined with our equally characteristic desire to get rich quick at any cost.

The Esperantists have cut loose from traditions of philogy and have given us a universal language; the reform spelling cranks have simplified English for us. This business of building and living in dwellings is a venerable habit of the race of man, probably ante-dating even his speech (though authorities differ) and has naturally gathered about it from its many traditions, conventionalities and artificialities dear to the heart of the architectural profession and invaluable, many of them, to the landlord, which do not, however, make for the comfort and health of the tenants.

Mr. Morrill has pointed the way. Why do we not have a model city, Esperanto-like, bound by no traditions of architectural custom, regulated only by that of common sense, hygiene, comfort and genuine beauty?

COW-TESTING ASSOCIATIONS

From Notes Furnished By the Minnesota Farmers' Institutes.

The first co-operative cow testing association was organized Jan. 23, 1895, in Denmark for the purpose of investigating and recording the feeding, as well as the milk and butter fat yields, of the individual cows in the herds.

This association has been so successful that today, instead of a few associations with a few cows, there are more than 450 associations with over 170,000 cows. The average yield per cow has been increased from 5,451 pounds of milk, averaging 3.3 per cent butter fat, to 7,776 pounds of milk, averaging 3.52 per cent butter fat.

Minnesota dairymen need not be ashamed to imitate in so good a cause. The average yield of the Minnesota cow is approximately 4,000 pounds milk and 156 pound butter fat, while the writer has records of several cows whose milk yield for the past year was below 2,000 pounds and several that exceeded 7,000 pounds. If a dairyman wishes to improve the productiveness of his herd, there is only one way of doing it, provided they are properly fed and cared for, namely; to weed out poor producers and replace them with profitable ones. Such cows, however, are rarely found on the market, except at very high prcies, and the average dairyman will find that, if he wants good cows, he must raise them himself. The most economical method he can adopt then is to purchase a sire of pronounced qualities and raise the calves from his best cows and with them replace the cows that prove unprofitable.

But in order to do this, he must be able to tell the good cows from the poor ones. He must know three things about each individual. First, how much milk she will give in a year; not in a month, because she must be fed a year. Second, he must know the richness of the milk. Third, he must know how much it costs to keep the cow a year.

The simplest method of obtaining these facts is for a few farmers in a community with a sufficient number of cows to organize and hire a competent man to do the testing. The expense to be paid pro rata by each man in proportion to the number of cows he owns. It is desirable to have a sufficient number of cows in the association so that the expense will not exceed $1.00 to $1.50 per cow per year. The tester visits one herd a day. He arrives in the afternoon, sees the cows milked, weighs the milk and takes the sample from each cow. This is repeated next morning. He tests the milk from each cow and figures out the value of the butter fat and a suitable ration and leaves these with the farmer. This farmer then takes the tester and his outfit to the next farmer. He gets to each farm every month, so that the farmer has monthly records. At the end of the year, the tester figures up the yeild of milk and butter fat and the value of the same, the cost of feed to maintain a cow each year and the profit or loss on each individual in the herd, and furnishes every patron with this record.

One of the greatest values of testing cows for the first year at least is that it gives the facts needed to feed intelligently. Only when cows are in good condition and properly fed can they do work up to their capacity. When they have been in good condition and well fed for a year, their records as shown by the test will enable one to cull out the unprofitable cows.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Ama Queen Property in Custer Park District to Again Undergo Development---Echo Property Near Deadwood To Resume Work Soon.

Deadwood, S. D., Oct. 2.—The property of the Ama Queen, in the Custer Peak district, is again to undergo development. The Sherman brothers, Frank and Charles, are preparing to unwater it. The shaft is ninety feet deep and when unwatered the ledge, which was tapped over a year ago, will be followed. The Ama Queen has rich surface showings. The ore was orignially encountered at a depth of thirty-two feet, but a fault was struck, and again at the 90-foot depth it was found and crosscut. It is the intention to secure machinery for deeper mining.

In the Rochford district the owners of the Montezuma property are planning systematic work with the diamond drill in the lower workings.

The Echo property, near Deadwood, owned by New Hampshire people, is soon to resume work. The Echo made a strike some months ago that attracted considerable attention, as the shaft was sunk to the quartzite formation, which was found at a depth of about 200 feet, and a large body of milling ore uncovered, but it is still undeveloped.

Prof. Fulton of the state school of mines has been examining the property of the Hercules Mining company in the Galena district, and it is declared that the Chicago owners are satisfied with his report sufficiently to insure further work on the ground. Some promising ledges have been discovered.

Paul Danckwardt is still making tests of smelting ores in the Galena district from a number of old properties, and several deals are awaiting the result of his work. It has been his aim to secure enough of the smelting ore to open up a smelter.

A deal has just been made whereby the Gold Dollar Mining company, a new concern, has bought the milling plant of the Eleventh Hour Gold Mining company on Iron creek. This mill was erected three years ago. It is one of the best equipped mills of 200 tons daily capacity in the Black Hills and has scarcely been used. The Eleventh Hour company only operated it a short time and ran out of ore. The mill is electrically equipped and cost over $65,000. The mill and accompanying sawmill and other plants and offices will be moved to the property of the Gold Dollar company on Squaw creek. The Gold Dollar company held its annual meeting here and chose F. W. Bower president, Aleck Aronson of Chicago, vice president and secretary, and P. N. Hanson of Deadwood, treasurer and general manager. The directors elected were F. W. Bower, P. N. Hanson, Henry D. Kranzky and William Bader of Chicago and Samuel Weller of Peoria, Ill. They have opened up a god sized body of rich ore and are in a position to begin milling operations just as soon as the plant is set up.

E. Berg and A. Johnson have just purchased 320 acres of mining ground on Beaver creek in the Rawlins mining district from W. Arlington and E. Seiger. Considerable work has been done. The ground shows iron, tin, gold and silver and the new owners will develop the most promising ledges.

E. H. Danielson has just struck two good shoots of ore on his property in the Bear lodge country. The ore is richer than heretofore found there.

Less than a mile from this city, at a point between the Homestake and Pluma ground, a body of ore of milling grade promises to be an important discovery. It was found by old timers who own the ground. While the ledge resembles in character the Homestake veins it is a separate and distinct body being cut off by several porphyry dikes. Frequently during the many years the ground has lain idle, samples have been taken, but until the last two weeks the ledge was never found. The samples from this ledge, which has a width of 250 feet, show values from $6 per ton gold up into high figures with about 60 per cent of the ore free milling.

of high grade smelting ore that is known to exist in the big limestone zone that has been penetrated by the Alpha shaft and developed in the lateral workings, the Giroux has demonstrated, in the territory lying immediately east of the old Giroux shaft, one of the largest and richest steam shovel propositions in the country. This enormous deposit of sulphide ore, which lies at an average depth of only seventy feet below the surface, has been proved by churn drill operations for a length of nearly 2,000 feet and for a width of from 450 to 500 feet. The ore of commercial grade varies fom 90 to 100 feet in depth and averages close to 3 per cent copper and 60 cents a ton in gold. The best-informed mining men in the Ely district predict that when this great deposit of sulphides is opened up, the Giroux will be able to produce from 10,000 to 15,000 tons of ore per day at a mining cost of less than 25 cents a ton. This, in respect to cost, will place it ahead of any copper mine in the world, including its great neighbor, the Nevada Consolidated, which is now mining its ore at Copper Flat for a trifle over 26 cents a ton. In order to handle this enormous deposit of porphyry ore, the Giroux Consolidated will erect a concentrator and smelter at some point near the mine, probably in White river valley, where an amply supply of water can be developed at a point within six or seven miles of the Alpha shaft. From an authentic source, it is learned that the work of construction on this big plant will be started not later than the first of the year.

that John Hays Hammond, the eminent mining engineer, was in Kingman last week and went out to Arizona Mines company's camp to examine the property in the interest of the Venture Company of America. It said: The Bi-Metal mine, which Mr. Hammond is to pass on, is one of the greatest veins or deposits of ore in the territory, showing an outcrop of more than 500 feet in width. Throughout this great outcropping samples of ore have been taken and milling tests made showing it to run well above $5 to the ton. For testing purposes a 10-stamp mill was put in some time ago and runs have been made from ores taken from all parts of the great mass. The property lies under the escarpment of the Kingman lava fields about 1,000 feet in length being covered by erosion. The cliffs, columner and perpendicular rise hundreds of feet above the vein outcrop, making a majestic and spectacular scenic setting for the mining and milling operations that are carried on there. The Santa Fe railroad crosses the vein, and a spur track has been run to the doors of the mill ending only at the portal to the great drift that has been run under the massive outcrop. The vein mass is a geological curiosity, being composed of a decomposed granite-porphyry, showing ribs and bands of gold bearing rock heavily charged with iron oxide. Some of these bands carry gold values far into the hundreds of dollars, but in the main the ore runs low. Shafts have been sunk to a depth of about 100 feet, with no change either in value or character of the ore, although some pyrite is showing in the seams.

but useless, machinery and ditches are to be seen everywhere in this section to the amount of over $1,000,000. Ditches are impracticable before July, owing to the frozen condition of the ground. The estimated cost of a ditch carrying 1,000 to 2,000 inches of water, including first three years' maintenance, or $5,000 to $8,000 a mile, is conceded to be too expensive for profitable hydraulic mining where a steady flow of water can be maintained generally only seventy to ninety days. The sources of water supply on Seward peninsula are accumulated snow, summer rains and ground water, originating from melting ice and glaciers. The rainfall data show that out of seven years four were exceedingly warm and dry, with tundra fires common. With recurrence of tundra fires rain becomes scarcer.

Thus the general concensus is in favor of dredging or some form of elevating in which suction plays no important part. The present season will witness the completion of at least three new mammoth dredging machines on Bourbon Dry and Wonder creeks. Three are already in operation on Solomon river and at least two new ones are being installed at Council and Ophir. West creek and the Casadelaga are progressing and returning prospectors report great activity on Willow creek and the upper tributaries of that stream, with drills and machinery in preparation for the installation of more dredging apparatus. Nearly every operator of prominence has in contemplation the installation of a dredge.

The scarcity and high price of fuel make steam power very expensive, and although crude oil is an improvement the future of placer mining along the tundra back of Nome depends on cheap power possibilities. The feasibility of electrical dredging by water power generated at Salmon lake and Nugget divide is being studied, and experts hope that Nome is on the verge of a new era of placer development.

district such as the Lake Superior copper region is.

Adventure.

Adventure has reached the so-called New Mass lode in both crosscuts driven from the workings of the old abandoned Adventure mine and a very fair showing of copper is disclosed. Drifting within the lode at both points is now in progress. The new vertical shaft which is sinking to intersect the three so-called Adventure lodes has attained a depth of 265 feet and sinking at the rate of about 100 feet monthly is expected to tap the first of the lodes in late spring of the next year.

Isle Royale.

With the suspension of all dead work in the Isle Royale mine and the centering of all activity in productive ground, a material increase in the average copper content of the rock milled is noted, the present yield of seventeen pounds fine copper per ton of rock comparing with thirteen to fourteen pounds recorded during the first eight months of the present year and an actual average of but 13.8 pounds during the entire twelve months of 1908. The situation at "A" shaft on the Baltic lode is practically unchanged. A little copper has been in evidence during the last 400 feet of sinking, but nowhere has anything more than a mere showing developed. A crosscut driven entirely across the formation at the 500-foot level discloses nothing of commercial value. The shaft is sinking just below the 600-foot mark.

Laurium.

The shaft of the Laurium property has reached a depth of about thirty-five feet and reveals a state of mineralization that is rather unusual for such shallow depth, the ground being literally studded with heavy shot copper.

Indiana.

Indiana has succeeded in pushing a sand pipe through the overburden to the ledge preliminary to diamond drilling, and the first of a series of drill holes that will be put down on this property in a test for values is expected to be underway this week. A complete cross section of the property will be made by diamond drilling and should result in the disclosure of the Lake lode.

Copper Range.

The Copper Range Consolidated company has ceased all exploratory work on the Canal lands, so called, lying next north of its Trimountain and Baltic mines, the results obtained by diamond drilling not warranting further attention at this time.

Oneco.

Oneco has attained a depth of 700 feet in the No. 1 drill hole and it is calculated is within 100 or 200 feet of reaching the so-called New Baltic lode, from which a very rich core of copper rock was recently taken on the property under option to the New Baltic Exploration company, lying next south. The No. 2 drill hole has reached a depth of 250 feet. A complete cross section of the property is being taken.

Keweenaw.

Keweenaw's operations are now confined to shaft sinking in the Kearsarge lode, this step being induced by the results obtained in the diamond drill explorations in that horizon recently completed, and the uniformly good results attained by the several companies operating in the formation to the southward. The ill success of the Keweenaw in its operations on the Medora lode has somewhat shaken the faith of the Keweenaw enthusiasts, and the results of its operations on the Kearsarge lode, which has yet to record a failure, is being anxiously awaited. The mineral indications in both shafts are most favorable, and it is quite possible that depth may bring commercial values indicated in the drill borings obtained during the past summer.

Warrior mine, the water is being pumped out preparatory to further sinking and to drifting west on the 250 level. The present drift is nearly 500 feet long and is in ore along practically the entire length.

Arizona-Michigan.

The work of extending the crosscuts north and south of the vertical shaft on the 500-foot level of the Arizona-Michigan mine is being pushed under the immediate charge of Supt. N. A. Nelson. The length of the north crosscut is now 123 feet. The south crosscut is 103 feet long.

The ground encountered by both crosscuts has been extremely hard from the beginning, but recently the south crosscut has been in slightly softer material. For the most part, diorite prevails. About twenty men are employed in development work. There is every reason to believe that an important strike may be made at the Arizona-Michigan at any time now, as the crosscuts have entered the region through wihch the veins are thought to run.

Superior & Boston.

In the past few weeks a great change in the appearance of the Superior & Boston mine plant has taken place with the installation of the new machinery and the erection of several buildings to accommodate it. The surface plant at the mine is now practically complete with the exception of the dry house and ore bins, and it is expected that these, also, will be finished by Oct. 15. Ore shipping will probably begin within two months and it is desired to have the entire plant working smoothly before production begins.

At the McGraw shaft sinking is going on steadily and the shaft is now down 525 feet. The sixth level will be reached early in October at the present rate of sinking, and then the Eureka shaft of the Arizona Commercial Copper company and the McGraw shaft of the Superior & Boston will be connected on the sixth level for ventilating purposes. This connection will probably be effected by the intersection of a crosscut from the McGaw with a drift along the Black Hawk vein from the Eureka shaft.

At the Gardner shaft of the Superior & Boston mine, drifting on the vein is under way on the fourth level. This drift was begun a little over a week ago, and has a general westerly direction. Previous to the running of this winze on the Black Oxide vein, and a crosscut running south had been made to intersect the vein at a distance of 700 feet from the Gardner shaft. The ground in these workings, where recently opened up, is highly mineralized, with managanese and iron. The west drift from the Gardner shaft is being run to strike the ore body which is known to be above, as it was developed in driving the Black Oxide tunnel.

In sinking the McGaw, which is to be the main working shaft of the Superior & Boston mine, diabase was encountered down as far as the fourth level, and at that depth limestone was struck. Sinking on the McGaw shaft will not be discontinued at the sixth level, but will go on indefinitely. At the sixth level, the Great Eastern shaft and the McGaw shaft will be connected by a crosscut from the McGaw. The Great Eastern shaft was put down simply for development purposes. When production begins, most of the ore will come from the stopes on the Great Eastern vein, which is the same one known as the Black Hawk ledge on the Arizona Commercial property. This vein is now opened by a long drift running east and west on the 450-foot level. Both the McGaw and the Gardner shafts have three compartments.

Arizona Commercial

With a force of 300 men, Assistant Manager John E. Pemberthy of the Arizona Commercial Copper company is rushing to completion the construction of the smelter and the preparing of the mine for production.

It is now practically certain that the smelter will be ready to blow in next week, and all the different branches of work on the Arizona Commercial property are being directed with that end in view. The finishing touches are being put on the new smelter building. The machinery included in the smelter power plant has been in place for about two weeks, and since its installation, try-outs of the different machines have been made. Everything has been found in excellent working order, so that no delays from this source will be encountered when the smelter begins treating ores.

Old Dominion.

At Globe's greatest center of industry, the Old Dominion Copper Mining & Smelting company, prosperity reigns. The big plant of the company is singing a song of energy and thrift that is music to the ear of the local business man who has pinned his faith to the future of the Globe district and of the Old Dominion, the district's greatest producing mine and smelter.

Supt. R. B. Hegardt is giving his attention to the conducting of the affairs of the mine and smelter, and everything about the plant has the appearance of animated industry. Four furnaces are running in the smelter and the daily output of fine copper is about 90,000 pounds of which fully nine-tenths comes from the company's mines. Just at present there is no great amount of custom ore being received, owing largely to the fact that few of Globe's great mines have reached the producing stage and to the additional reason that some which have produced in the past have ceased producing temporarily, partly because of the low price of copper and partly on account of the necessity of doing extensive development work preparatory to shipping ore on a large scale. The supply of coke that is always kept on hand at the smelter is now being cleared out of the bins and used, as coke deteriorates after being kept on hand for a certain period. As soon as the bins are emptied, a new supply, which is now on the way to the plant, will be laid in. At the power plant of the smelter, several carloads of economizers have been received and are now being put in. When this work is finished, it will result in a considerable saving of expense in the running of the power plant.

In the Old Dominion mine a force of between 700 and 800 men is employed underground and large quanties of ore are being taken out. This ore is coming from the different levels from the second to the sixteenth, but more than half of it is being taken from the levels below the ninth, as the workings at greater depth are most productive of copper.

son mines of the company are making regular shipments.

There are very large deposits of ore in the Swanzy district, the great bulk of which is controlled by the Cleveland-Cliffs company, and the field will be an extensive producer for a great many years to come. Another new district which the Cleveland-Cliffs company is developing, and one which is equally as promising, is that at North Lake, a few miles west of Ishpeming. The company is also active in the Negaunee basin, where it has the Jackson, Negaunee and Mass mines, the last two of which are among the most valuable properties on the Michigan ranges; it has big mines and big deposits in the Ishpeming field, and it has important holdings at the western end of the Marquette district. The Cleveland-Cliffs people have entered the western portion of the Menominee range the past summer, having taken up a considerable acreage which they are now exploring; they have important interests on the Gogebic range, of which their Ashland mine is one of the very largest producers, and they have the Crosby mine on the Mesaba. So extensive are the company's mineral possessions that it has been stated that two generations hence will see the Cleveland-Cliffs still one of the biggest concerns of its kind in the country.

Iron River District.

An electrical plant is being installed at the Buffalo & Susquehanna company's Hiawatha mine, in the Iron River district of the Menominee range. It will furnish both illumination for the mine buildings and for haulage purposes underground, where tramming by manual labor will give way to a motor system. Development and exploratory work has shown the deposit at the Hiawatha to be of large dimensions, and the many improvements which the company is making will result in the mine being one of the best equipped properties on the range. A new company to enter the Iron River field is the New York State Steel company, which until this time has confined its operations to the Mesaba range. This concern has taken options on the Goodman and Ziskofsky properties, in sections 14 and 23, 43-35, which have already been tested by the Gleason Exploring company and with the result that considrable ore has been proved up. The new interests will proceed with the development of the Goodman and will continue the drilling operations on the other property. With the entry of the New York State Steel company, there are now twelve mining corporations actively interested in the Iron River-Stambaugh district, in addition to a considerable number of individual explorers. Most of these twelve companies have become interested in the field the past few years, during which time the developments have been of great importance. Extensive bodies of ore have been found in various portions of the field, and there is no question now of the great value of the district.

Although unexpectedly made, a recent find of ore at the edge of the village of Iron River gives indication of proving of much importance. A man engaged in sinking a well in the Business Men's Association addition to the townsite encountered ore a few feet beneath the surface, and when it appeared that the deposit was something more than a mere pocket an option on the property was procured by G. W. Youngs of Iron River, E W. Cottrell of Detroit and James Blake of Escanaba, the well-digger being given a tenth interest in the company. The fee is owned by the Detroit, Mackinac & Marquette Railroad company. Drilling is now in progress, and as ore has been encountered at other points in the tract there appears to be excellent prospects of the opening of still another mine. A discovery which apparently is of even greater importance has recently been made in the Pewabic company's Walpole mine at Iron Mountain, Menominee range. Blue ore running high in metallic iron has been cut into. The probable dimensions of the deposit can only be surmised at present, but there is reason to believe that the find will prove of considerable extent. The ore is reported to be the richest ever found in the Walpole and to closely resemble that in the best portion of the adjoining Millie property.

North Armenia.

The MacDonald or North Armenia property at Crystal Falls, Menominee range is to be given a permanent equipment of machinery and provided with the necessary mine buildings during the fall and winter. The property is being developed by Ohio furnace interests, represented in the Lake Superior region by G. W. Youngs of Iron River, and so satisfactory has proved the showing that it has been determined to put the mine in condition to produce extensively. A new battery of three boilers will be installed, as will a hoisting plant and an air compressor, and shops, office, warehouse and "dry" will be erected. Water, which, it is believed percolates from the adjoining Armenia mine, which is idle, continues to hamper the development of the MacDonald property, but it is expected that with greater steam power available the workings can be kept sufficiently dry to permit of conducting operations without interruption. It has been necessary at times latterly to utilize the skip for bailing purposes. The force of men will be increased to 100 as soon as the water problem has been solved, and every effort will be made to get the mine in condition to make a good-sized production next season. Little more than a sample cargo is being sent out this fall. The MacDonald people also have the Groveland mine, in the Felch Mountain district of the Menominee. Search for ore is being made there by a diamond drill, stationed in the bottom of the old workings, in the hope that something will be found which will take the place of the deposit which has been mined for the past year or more and which is now well nigh exhausted.

Pickands, Mather & Co., have started the work of opening the so-called Virginia mine on the Mesaba range. The property is in Section 30, 58-17, two miles northwest of Eveleth. The mine will be an open-pit proposition, and it is understood that the entire "forty" will be stripped. Two steam shovels are now engaged in removing the overburden and this work will be continued throughout the winter. The work of constructing the Great Northern's Nashwauk-Grand Rapids extension, at the western end of the Mesaba, has practically been completed, and the line is about to go into commission. The new branch will serve a number of mines which the United States Steel corporation is developing in the so-called Hill ore lands, and in time it will be called upon to handle a very large tonnage. A big force of men is employed at the site of the Steel corporation's mammoth concentrating plant on the shore of Trout lake, at Coleraine, and rapid progress is being made with the construction work. The plant, which will be of ten units, will not be fully completed for probably two years yet, but it is expected that two units will be in service by early next summer.

run on the Minnie Healey vein. The width of the vein has not yet been determined, but the indications are that it is wider than on the next level above, and the ore in the face of the drift is of a general higher average in copper than above, the ore assaying 6 per cent copper and about six ounces in silver to the ton. The most remarkable discovery on the seventeenth level is in one of the two new veins, the apices of which were discovered on the fourteenth level. The second of these veins, about 165 feet from the Tramway shaft, is partly in the Tramway claim and partly in the Minnie Healey. Drifting is being done on this vein. It varies much in size, running from one to twelve feet, but the ore to the full width of the vein is of remarkably high grade, the average assaying being 36 per cent. Much of it is higher, a large part of the vein assaying 54 per cent. It is possible that this vein is an off-shoot or branch of the Minnie Healey, but that has not yet been determined. The opinion of miners seems to be that it is an independent vein with a blind apex. It is very unusual to find the top of a vein so far below the surface of the ground, and is the deepest apex ever known in the Butte district. The tops of veins have been found from fifty to 100 feet, and one, in the Raven mine, has been found about 600 feet under the surface, but such instances are very rare. The property of the Butte Coalition, as well as its treasury, are being brought into such excellent condition that they indicate the best assurance in the world that dividends at a good rate can be maintained when once resumed.

North Butte Extension.

A call has been issued by some of the directors of the North Butte Extension company for an informal meeting of stockholders to be held in New York, the purpose stated being to investigate and discuss the affairs of the company. A self-appointed committee of Eastern stockholders made an independent investigation a few months ago and made some kind of a report in New York, but it is not understood that any important disclosures were made or that any recommendations were offered. The company, it is understood in Butte, has lost its options on fractional, undivided interests, in the Occidental, Overman and Free Trade claims, in which the company owns some interests itself. The company also owns the Black Crow, a small fraction on which the shaft is situated, and two small mill sites, called the Clipper and Assay. A majority of the stock of the company is still in the treasury and the company has no indebtedness. Past management of the company brought the company into ill-repute with the public, and through it many stockholders in the original company lost a great deal of money.

September Output.

The copper production of the Butte mines in September is estimated at 26,584,180 pounds, against 26,070,130 pounds in August, allowing twenty-eight days of actual work in September. The different companies contributed to the totals as follows:

BIG ACREAGE DEALS ARE COMING TO LIGHT

Syndicates of Duluth Men Buy Big Tracts of Suburban Property---One Tract of Eighty Acres Brings $30,000 ---Many Contracts for Apartment Houses Being Let--- Demand for Suburban Building Lots Continues.

Those acreage deals, the existence of which in the air was mentioned some weeks ago are beginning to come to earth. Two big deals were announced this week by Richardson, Day & Harrison, who put them through. A syndicate of Duluth men has purchased the east half of the northeast quarter of section 22-50-14 for $30,000. Another deal involves the east half of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 14-50-14, the purchase price being $18,000.

The first tract consists of eighty acres, extending on both sides of the boulevard, which runs through the north half of the tract for a third of a mile. The southern extremity is at Tenth street and Seventh avenue east and all the land south of the boulevard is already platted.

The syndicate expects to make improvements yet this fall in the way of grading streets and getting the land in shape for the market. When the work is competed the lots will go on sale through Richardson, Day & Harrison.

The purchaser or purchasers of the second named tract are not announced. The tract consists of twenty acres lying to the north of Willard's addition, and the Woodland car line runs driectly through it. The plans of the new owners have not been announced.

The end of the acreage deals has not come. There are more of them in the air and they are expected to come out shortly. Men who bought land within the city limits, or near it, a few years ago, are taking big profits and leaving the future profits to purchasers who have had an eye to the results that are to attend the growth of the city.

Most of the acreage within the city limits is held closely for the future, when every foot of land inside of Duluth's boundaries will be part of a buiding lot or a street. That time is coming. There are few men, who have watched the strides of Duluth during the past few years and have looked into the future to see the developments that are coming up over the horizon, will contradict the statement. Most of the owners of acreage are content to hold their land until such time as the growth of the city demands it for building lots. Others are taking the profits and leaving the future deals for others.

The real estate market is looking up as the cold weather comes on. The big deals are not numerous, but there are scores of smaller deals being made deals which mean the building of substantial homes and the taking of property out of the market, perhaps for all time.

The dealers in suburban property are proving that the trend is toward the suburbs. Most of the purchases made in the main part of the city are for investment or for apartment house building. By the main part of the city, of course, is meant that district which is now essentially a business district or can in the ordinary sequence of things be expected to develop into a business district or the great districts similar to those of larger cities, which are given over almost entirely to apartment houses for the accommodation of the cliff dwellers of the twentieth century.

The man who wants a home—a house with real home features—a little piece of ground to beautify and to turn over to the children to unbeautify, a furnace to fuss around with, a porch on which to sit on the cool summer evenings, is not buying property in the main part of the city. He is going up on the hill, to West Duluth, the West end, Park Point, Lakeside, Woodland, or some place where he is away from the busy whirl of the city. He is buying his own little lot and putting up his own little house.

The man of means—and men af means are far in the minority in any city—are buying and building in the East end. There the residences, costing from $5,000 to $50,000, are springing up with surprising rapidity and in surprising number. There is but one Knob Hill and its limits are restricted. The boundaries of the fine residence district are extending east and north. Fifth and Sixth street are being selected for fine residences because First, Second, Third and Fourth streets are being lined with them and there will soon be room for no more.

All through the city, extension is the rule. West Duluth is being extended west; Lester Park's built-up district is moving east and north; Woodland is growing with rapid strides; and the day is not many years distant when building lots will be none too numerous below the boulevard.

Each little deal that is made by the real estate men does not make a very big ripple on the waters, but hundreds of little deals thrown into the pond together must be noticed. Duluth is not going back. Neither is it standing still. It is going ahead—perhaps not with such strides as it should—but slowly and surely it is going forward, becoming greater and better. There can be no city without many houses, and home building is really the criterion by which to judge of numerical growth. There is no semblance of a boom, no false values placed on property, no hysterical speculation, but a sure steady growth that can not be taken for anything but healthy, normal growth.

This apartment house building has taken the form of an epidemic, but it is an epidemic which is far from destroying in its effect. Architects report that their forces are taxed preparing sketches and plans for apartment houses. Men owning property in the main part of the city, within a few minutes' walk or ride from the business center, are putting money into apartment houses and establishing their homes elsewhere. They realize that in the modern city there is no better method of investment. In Duluth, where rents are high, a man with a few thousand dollars can get better interest on his money from an apartment house than from any other sure form of investment. For an apartment house is an investment that cannot fail.

Richardson, Day & Harrison this week closed a deal whereby the old J. R. Carey homestead at Fifth avenue east and Second street was conveyed to H. E. Jones of New York for $7,000. The property is on the southwest corner of the intersection. The same firm this week also sold fourteen lots in Oneota for $9,000.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN SECOND FLOOR PLAN

The above illustration shows an interesting design for an inexpensive house to build. The plan shows a thorough utilization of space in its arrangement. The exterior gives the house an attractive appearance by its good proportions and simplicity of detail.

Entrance from the vestibule directly into the living room at once gives an impression of roominess hardly looked for in so small a house. Locating the stairway in front is an unusual arrangement, not unattractive in appearance, and adds greatly to the compactness of the plan. The dining room is of convenient size and the kitchen entry and basement stairway is a space-saving feature of the plan.

In the second story, the bedrooms are well located and the bathroom, situated over the kitchen, simplifies the plumbing. Ample closet spaces are provided and all rooms are convenient of access.

The estimated cost of a house as above illustrated and described, including heating plant and plumbing, is $2,700.

The report of Building Inspector S. M. Kielley for the month of September shows that Duluth's strides in building are continuing. The report shows a substantial increase for September over September a year ago and for the period from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1 over the corresponding period in 1908. The inspector's figures published in The Herald last evening were incorrect, Mr. Kielley having overlooked some permits in his report.

During September, 1909, 128 permits were issued for work estimated to cost $304,395 against 129 permits for work costing $294,922 in 1908. From Jan. 1 to Oct. 1, 1908, the permits issued represent work costing $2,477,592 against $2,041,466 in 1908.

BOARD OF EDUCATION FIXES SCHOOL TAX LEVY

City Must Raise $561,900 for Its Schools Next Year.

Will Advertise for Bids for Building New Fairmont School.

With not one dissenting vote, the board of education, at the regular monthly meeting held last evening at the Central high school, decided upon a tax levy of 15.4 mills to raise money to pay the expenses of the Duluth public school system during the coming year.

This levy, with the arbitrary local 1 mill tax, with which the board has nothing to do, will bring the school levy for the year up to 16.4 mills. The board's levy a year ago, together with the local mill tax, made the total educational levy in 1908, 11.7 mills.

Citizens pretty generally understand the reasons for the increase in the levy over that of a year ago. The Herald has published several articles explaining the situation and forecasting the levy which the school directors made last evening.

Last evening the board looked into and discussed every item of expense which the school system will have to stand next year and pruning here and economizing there, it was impossible to put the levy any lower than 15.4 mills. Every cent of the revenue to be derived by this assessment will be needed during the coming twelve months.

There is still an indebtedness on the new Salter and Ensign schools, which were just opened last fall; there is the burned Fairmont building in West Duluth which must be replaced at once, at a cost of nearly $70,000 (which sum includes the cost of additional ground needed); there is the cost of the site and building part of the new grade and manual training building at Lake avenue and Fourth street to meet, and there are heavier expenses in other directions, notably maintainance, the teaching force, caretakers and other items of the general fund.

The levy was made exactly as recommended by the clerk of the board and the committee on administration and finance, with the exception of the addition of .3 of a mill, a matter of $10,750 to the building fund. This item is to defray the board's share of the cost of paving Lake avenue north and First avenue east in the blocks occupied by the Central high school. Some time ago the board agreed to do this, but the matter was overlooked in the original estimates.

On a total valuation of the city of $36,500,000, the board expects to secure, with a levy of 15.4 mills, the sum of $561,900. This sum is divided up as follows: General fund, $279,225; building fund, $200,550; sinking fund, $82,125. The total levy is divided as follows: General fund, 7.65 mills; building fund, 5.5 mills; sinking fund, 2.25 mills.

There was some talk among the directors of cutting a mill off the sinking fund and adding it to the buidling fund, but this was not done. One mill of the sinking fund represents the carrying out of the board's policy, established two years ago, to set aside that much every year in the sinking fund to care for the school bonds which mature during the next ten or twelve years. As there is a bond issue of $50,000 maturing in 1913, it was deemed advisable to adhere to the board's policy.

W. A. Hunt, the architect who has drawn the plans for the new Fairmont school, presented them for the board's consideration last evening, and, after looking them over, the directors authorized him to complete the specifications.

It is planned to have all the specifications ready within a few days, advertise for bids immediately thereafter for the building of the school and open the bids at noon Oct. 14.

This action shows that it is the unmistakable intention of the board to replace the burned Fairmont school with a handsome new structure just as soon as it is possible to do so, and at the same time put up a good building.

Mr. Hunt's plans are for a modern, ten-room building. The laws regulating the construction of school buildings are now so strict that there are no great opportunities for architectural display, but the new school will be a tasty-straight front affair and is expected to meet with the general approval of the citizens in the neighborhood to be served by it.

A number of residents of the Fairmont districts were at the meeting last evening, upon another matter, and after looking at the plans, announced themselves pleased with it.

If the bids for erecting the new Fairmount are opened Oct. 14, the contract will be let at that time and work will start immediately. Director Brewer told the West Duluth delegation last evening that the new schoolhouse will be ready for occupancy by the first of February, or the first of March, at the latest.

Out of the features of the new building will be a large assembly room for school entertainments and neighborhood programs. This is pursuant to a feeling held by Supt. Denfeld and shared by most of the board members that the schoolhouses should be utilized as much as possible and under the proper auspices as an educational institution for whole neighborhoods. Night schools, lectures and entertainment of a literary, musical or educational nature should be held in the school buildings, said Mr. Denfeld in his monthly report, for young and old.

A new style of cloak room in the Fairmont will be a sever of space, and by the ventilation facilities will dry the pupil's wet clothing on wet days, while they are at their studies.

The delegation of citizens from the Fairmont district, already spoken of, did not come before the board to find fault with the new school plans, but to ask if the eighth grade class of the Fairmont district, now distributed between the Longfellow and Irving buildings, could not be reassembled under its own teacher, in a West Duluth business block. Twenty-five citizens signed a petition asking this and four or five citizens appeared in person to speak about it.

The West Duluthians declared their children in the Longfellow and Irving buildings were treated as enemies by the pupils and slighted by the teachers. They also said the Fairmont class wanted to be by itself and maintain its class organization.

The committee on schools and Supt. Denfeld will look into the charges of slights. The petition was turned down, however, as the board felt that the Fairmont folk should make the best of things until the new school is completed, which will be in time to permit the Fairmont eighth graders to graduate with their own "bunch." The board felt that it could not afford the cost of maintaining a schoolroom in the business block, and that, besides, it would be dangerous.

Supt. Denfeld reported that the total attendance in the public schools of the city at the end of the first two weeks was 11,700, and expressed the opinion that before the holidays the total enrollment will reach 13,000. He expects the total attendance this year to exceed that of a year ago by 800.

The resignation of Mrs. Henry S. Ely as a member of the teachers' examining board was received and Mrs. A. F. Smith, formerly principal of the Endion school, was appointed in her place.

The committee on schools was instructed to purchase a piano for the new Salter building.

Speaking of conditions in the various schools, Supt. Denfeld in his report said that the Jefferson building seemed to be most crowded, with a great number of the pupils coming from above Sixth and Seventh streets. He suggested that a new school would have to be erected within the course of a year or two in the neighborhood of Twelfth avenue east and Tenth street.

The board decided to continue as a member of the Minnesota Educational association and one or two members of the board will probably attend the meeting of the organization in Minneapolis Oct. 28 to 30. In the past, the meetings have been held during the holidays, but other states have tried the plan of holding them in the fall with better results than at New Year's, so the Minnesota association has followed suit.

Upon the motion of Director Campbell, the insurance carried on the Central high school building was increased from $202,000 to $250,000. The committee on administration and finance was instructed to place the insurance.

The committee on schools and teachers did not have a report upon the progress of the medical inspection of the schools. The committee will wait until the experiments are completed before making a report.

An offer from the manufacturers of a safety hammock fire escape to demonstrate their wares was turned down, none of the members of the board being willing to participate in the experiment.

F. G. German, the architect who is to draw the plans for the combination grade and manual training school on Lake avenue, was present last evening and conferred with the directors as to the style and arrangements of the new structure.

NEW ADDITION TO PROCTOR SOLD

L. Hammel & Co. of Duluth Are to Erect Five Cottages.

Proctor, Minn., Oct. 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. Hammel & Co. of Duluth have bought the new addition recently platted by L. A. Barnes and have started the erection of five six-room cottages. The houses are expected to be ready for occupancy before cold weather, and they will be sold on the monthly payment plan. The new addition is located to the north of the east side of the village and the location is desirable in every way. Every house in town is rented, so these new cottages will no doubt be snapped up as soon as completed.

The Proctor junior baseball team left this morning for Grand Rapids, Minn., where they will cross bats with the Grand Rapids juniors this afternoon. They will return in the evening to Coleraine, where they will play the junior team on Sunday morning.

Mrs. John Fitzgerald gave a farewell party in honor of her niece, Miss Nellie Austin, last Tuesday evening.

The epidemic of infantile paralysis which has been prevalent the past two weeks is gradually being checked. There were twenty-three cases of the disease and up to 2 o'clock yesterday three new cases had been reported to Dr. Speck for the day. The disease is not considered dangerous if checked as soon as one becomes ill, but without medical attention immediately it invariably results in paralysis or death.

The funeral of Ferris, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Buchner, who was accidentally strangled to death while at play, will be held from the Proctor M. E. church on Monday afternoon. Rev. Ramshaw will officiate.

American Singer Scores.

Paris, Oct. 2.—The feature of a gala performance of La Traviata at the opera last night was the singing of May Scheider of New York, who achieved a triumph in the role of Violetta.

WHEAT HAS AN UPTURN

Market Shows Strength During Last Hour of the Session.

Flax Is Fractionally Higher After Quiet Day in Duluth.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 2.—Wheat was inclined to be weak during the early part of the session today, but a buying movement developed toward the close and the prices at the end of the day showed fractional increases over yesterday.

Liverpool closed ⅛d lower to ⅛d higher, and Budapest ½c higher.

Crop news from Germany is of a bullish nature, it being estimated that from present indications it will be necessary for Germany to import 96,000,000 bu this year. Last year Germany imported 76,000,000 bu.

The December option closed ¼c higher in Duluth, ⅝c higher in Chicago, ⅜c higher in Minneapolis, unchanged in New York, ⅜@½c higher in St. Louis and Kansas City and 1c higher in Winnipeg. The May option closed ⅜c higher in Duluth, ½@⅝c higher in Chicago, ⅝c higher in Minneapolis, unchanged in New York, ⅜@½c higher in St. Louis, ¼@⅜c higher in Kansas City and 1c higher in Winnipeg.

December corn closed ⅜@½c higher in Chicago, and oats ⅞@1c higher.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"At the opening the wheat market was steady, although values were ⅜c lower. Pressure at this time was attributed to the weakness in American cables yesterday and expectation of heavy world's shipments this week. Following the opening and during the morning the undertone developed steadiness and prices recovered the opening decline and more, too, December being ⅛d higher than yesterday. Shorts were nervous over the expected small shipments to Liverpool and this in connection with the light Liverpool stocks stimulated small offerings. At the close the market was steady and ⅛d higher to ⅛d lower than yesterday.

"Corn at the start was unchanged and later declined ¼d on the disappointing American cables and the easiness in parcels as offered."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 836 against 582 last year and at Minneapolis 482 against 813 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 1,318 against 1,395 last year. Chicago received 34 against 46 last year. Winnipeg received 721 against 424 last year.

Wheat was rather quiet during most of the session in Duluth. December wheat opened ⅛c lower at 97½c, declined to 97⅛c, rallied to 97⅞c and closed there, a gain of ¼c over yesterday. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Selling Based on Receipts and Weather News Weakens Wheat.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Enormous receipts of wheat in the Northwest today and favorable weather for seeding in the Southwest prompted selling, which was headed by cash interests. In consequence, the market weakened after a moderately firm opening. Prices at the start were unchanged to ¼c higher, compared with yesterday's final figures. The December delivery opened at 99⅝@99¾c to 99¾@99⅞c, and sold off to 99½@99⅝c. The volume of trading was rather small.

The market was strong in the final hour, owing to the buying by influential houses. December advanced to $1.00⅜. The close was strong with December up ⅝c at $1.00¼@1.00⅜.

Despite generally bearish news the corn market was much steadier today than for some time past, although prices at the opening were a shade to ⅜c below the previous close. There was more or less buying on the theory that prices had declined far enough for the present. December opened at 56½@⅝ to 56⅞c and, for a time, held within that range. The market gained in strength as trading advanced, December selling up to 57⅜@57½c. The close was strong with December ⅜@½c higher at 57⅜c.

Oats were easy in sympathy with the heaviness of wheat. Trade was light early in the day. December opened a shade to ⅛c lower at 38¾@38⅞ to 38⅞c, sold off to 38⅝c and then rallied to 38¾@38⅞c.

Provisions opened firm owing to the light stocks in store here as indicated in the monthly statement. The market weakened somewhat on profit-taking. Prices at the opening were 25c lower to 7½c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 2.—The country movement during the last few days has been more deliberate. The wheat market today was a nervous trading affair. December wheat opened ⅛@¼c below the close yesterday, and during the early session there was a narrow range. Near the close a slightly oversold condition made the market firm and the near option closed ½@⅝c above the opening and ⅜c above yesterday. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 10,000 bu for one day. There was little, if any, speculative interests, trading being confined almost wholly to the professionals. Minneapolis today received 482 cars of wheat as compared with 813 cars a year ago; Duluth, 36 cars against 582, and Winnipeg, 721 cars against 424. December opened, 97⅜c; high, 98c; low, 97c; close, 97⅞@98c. May opened at $1.01; high, $1.01¾; low, $1.00¾; close, $1.01¾.

Cash wheat was easy today. The continued lack of inquiry from country millers, who are supposed to have been good buyers of the September wheat, made the weakness. Local millers were only fair buyers. No. 1 northern sold for 2½@3c above the December contract, and No. 2 northern for half a cent above. The lower premiums were quite general at the close. Closing price on track: No. 1 northern spot, $1.00⅛, to arrive, $1.00⅛; No. 2 northern spot and to arrive, 98⅜c; No. 3 wheat, 96⅛@97⅛c; No. 3 corn, 58¼@59¼c; No. 3 white oats, 37⅝c; No. 2 rye, 66¾@67¼c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,800 tons. There was no change today. Demand continued in excess of supply. Shipments fairly heavy and prices firm. Bran, in 100-lb sacks, $19.50.

Flour—Receipts, although lighter than any day this week, were still heavy. Domestic demand was strong and active and foreign inquiry was slightly improved. Prices held firm. Shipments, 59,477 barrels. First patents, $5.20@5.30; second patents, $5.00@5.10; first clears, $4.35@4.55; second clears, $3.10@3.50.

Flax—Receipts, 63 cars; year ago, 65 cars; shipments, 6 cars. Demand was good and offerings were quite liberal. Spot and to arrive prices were quoted the same as the Duluth October option. Closing price, $1.36¾.

Barley—Receipts, 141 cars; year ago, 115 cars; shipments, 85 cars. Offerings continued in excess of a year ago. Demand was good and not limited to any special grade. Prices were unchanged. Closing range, 45@59c.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 2.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Big drafters for the logging woods met with increased demand, and a number of good orders were filled. One company from Ashland, Wis., purchased a big bunch of mules, which they will use in the woods this winter. Delivery horses were less active. Agricultural classes are in much better request than a few weeks ago, especially mares. Receipts were light, but heavy shipments are billed to arrive over Sunday. On the whole, trade for the week was satisfactory but considerable lighter than the week previous.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Opened Active and Lower, But Declines Were Made Up.

Weakness in Coalers Unsettled Tone, But Close Was Firm.

New York, Oct. 2.—Opening dealings in stocks were active and the price changes were very irregular. There were sales of 8,000 shares of United States Steel at 92¼ and 92, compared with 92 on the last sale last night and 92⅛ as yesterday's record price. Pacific Coast gained 3 points and Mercantile Marine preferred ¾. Union Pacific and Southern Pacific declined ⅝ and Utah Copper ¾.

Opening declines were made up, Union Pacific rallying a point. United States Steel reached 92⅝ before the realizing checked its progress. Fresh selling of Reading and the Pacific stocks forced prices later, Union Pacific receding to its low point. Pacific Coast Telephone made a further jump, making its rise 6 points. Pennsylvania, Louisville & Nashville and St. Louis Southwestern also gained 1 and Mackay companies 1½. New Haven fell 2½ and Laeakawanna 5 points.

The market closed firm. Atchison sold as high as 125⅜, but weakness in the coalers unsettled the tone. Central Railroad of New Jersey dropped 18, Erie and the first preferred 1, Illinois Central 2, and Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Ontario & Western 1. Louisville & Nashville advanced 2¾, Atlantic Coast Line 1½ and St. Paul 1. In the final dealings United States Steel mounted again to 92⅞.

The Butte-Alex Scott mine has opened up rich bodies of ore on the 1,000-foot level and the developments on the 1,200 could not be better. One vein in this mine is over sixty feet wide and carries some Boromite ore in the drift on the 1,000-foot level. It is expected that on the 1,200 and 1,400-foot level this vein will carry large quantities of high-grade ore and that the mine can then ship at the rate of 400 to 500 tons a day. This will be a third as much as the North Butte is now shipping. The machinery on the Scott is new and was only a short time ago put in by the Norberg people. With this plant they can pull ore from a depth of 3,000 feet. Compare the Alex Scott, with only 100,000 shares, with the Tuolumne, which has 800,000 shares issued, and which is today selling for $3.00 a share, making the value of the mine $2,400,000, while the Scott is only selling today for $600,000. It is true that the Tuolumne is a big mine; so is the Ballaklava. You cannot find one blank on Butte Hill, for in thirty-five years this has not been done. Every place on the hill, where a shaft goes down, you get a mine.

The ledges on the Scott could not be stronger. They carry copper from the surface down. Thousands and thousands of tons of copper ore is now shown up in the Scott workings and they are shipping to the Butte smelters ore taken out in the development stages of the mine. If the Scotts were not the best purchases in the country from present levels we would not advise the purchase, but we can see none on which so much money should be made. One round of holes may blow open one of the greatest deposits of high-grade ore in the camp, and you can expect this to happen almost any day. They are sinking a winze on a chute of copper glance right now and this may be heard from very soon. Scott closed $7.95 bid for full paid, and $4.43 for part paid. These prices are a mere nothing for a mine such as this.

Ballaklava also very strong and hard to buy. We advise the purchase for real big money this fall. It is one of the best new mines in Butte.

St. Mary stock around this level is a heavy trader. You will see these shares command a price about three times what they are bringing today. St. Mary stock is a big favorite among the traders and the market can easily advance 15 cents in one day. Remember this, for one of these days this very thing is going to happen.

Our market never looked better. A lot of buying is going on from all directions and it looks like one of the best winters we have ever had in the copper share line.

BRAINERD TEAM ARRIVES IN CITY

The Brainerd boys, who are this afternoon opposing the Duluth Central high school football team on the gridiron, arrived in the city this morning.

They will easily outweigh the Duluth team many pounds to the man, and several members of the squad look like university material.

They are confident of winning the game in spite of their 28 to 0 defeat at the hands of the St. Cloud normal bunch last Saturday. They claim the St. Cloud boys have it on anything in the state this year.

They were accompanied to the city by about fifty enthusiastic rooters.

OVATION FOR THE TIGERS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 2.—The home-coming this afternoon of the victorious Detroit team, winners of the American league pennant for the third time, was seized upon by the baseball enthusiasts of the city as an opportunity to tender the Detroit and Chicago clubs a public ovation. Chicago shared in the tribute, for it was their defeat of the Philadelphia club which decided the pennant race in favor of Detroit.

By order of the common council, an elaborate program of reception was arranged by City Clerk Nichols. Automobiles will meet the two clubs as they leave the train at the Michigan Central station this afternoon and, headed by a band of music, with hundreds of enthusiasts on foot behind, the players will be driven from the depot to Bennett park, where the last local game in the American league season will be played.

Huge floral pieces have been prepared to be presented to both teams.

PENNSY GOLFERS GO ON.

Meet New York Men in Contest For Lesley Cup.

Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—Having easily disposed of the Massachusetts players in the contest for the Lesley cup, the Pennsylvania Golf team today met a team of ten representatives of the Metropolitan Golf asociation on the course of the Huntington Valley Country club at Noble, near here. The New York organization is the present holder of the trophy, and by defeating Massachusetts the Pennsylvania's earned the right to play the New York team for the cup.

BADGERS WIN AGAIN.

Wisconsin Baseball Team Defeats Waseda Nine 7 to 5.

Tokio, Oct. 2.—The University of Wisconsin baseball team defeated Waseda university here today 7 to 5. Neither team did any heavy hitting, Wisconsin being credited with five singles and Waseda four. Five errors were chalked up against the American players, while only four misplays were made by the Japanese.

This was not the first time that a team representing the local university had met an American college nine, as several years ago the local university made a tour of the Pacific coast of the Unitde States, when a series of games was played with the leading educational institutions of that section.

EAST AND WEST MEET.

Women Golfers Play Off Thomas Cup Match.

Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—As a preliminary to the opening of the women's national golf championship on Monday, Eastern women today met their Western sisters on the links of the Marion Cricket club for the Ransom H. Thomas cup. There were six players on each side. As the East has won two legs on the cup, a victory today will give this section the trophy.

Nebraska Has Opener.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 2.—Nebraska plays her first football game today, and although the team was badly disorganized there was no doubt among the men that they would win over South Dakota. The line-up:

Nebraska.	Position.	S. Dakota.
Johnson	l. e.	Grist
Elliott	l. t.	Keeling, Capt.
Shonka	l. g.	Sanders
Imbs	c.	Swanson

Port of Batum Closed.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 2.—The Port of Batum, on the Black sea, has been abolished by imperial order. The closure of Batum in 1886 constituted one of the earliest violations of the treaty of Berlin and resulted in grave international complications.

Gompers Starts Home.

Paris, Oct. 2.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, accompanied by his wife and daughter, left Havre today on the steamer La Savoie for New York. Mr. Gompers has been attending a series of labor meetings in Europe.

OCTOBER 2, 1909.

Today's market was a slight indication of what may be expected some time in the very near future. Stocks were scarce, with buying orders coming from all quarters. The country at large is becoming interested in a better class of these curb stocks, with the result that they are being gradually absorbed for investment account.

An order for 500 shares of full paid Scott advanced the market to 7⅞, with only 100 shares offered at 8⅜. Part paid Scott in sympathy, advanced to 4 7-16 bid, with very little stock offered under 4¾. While these prices are only a joke, it gives an indication of what happens to the market as soon as a little buying movement is started. Full paid Scott should be selling at not less than $12 per share, and the part paid stock should be selling at around $7 or $8 per share. Bids of 9¼ failed to locate any Butte-Ballaklava, and there was only 100 shares traded in on the local exchange at 9⅜, and everything points to this issue selling up to its intrinsic value of $25 or $30 per share. When one stops to consider that this property has over 3,600 feet of vein matter, lays up against the North Butte, and the Boston-Montana has a shaft down over 1,400 feet, has ore opened up on seven different levels and the full face of the drifts in high-grade ore, well equipped with modern machinery; has steel ore bins complted; over $300,000 in the treasury, and with a man like P. H. Nelson in active charge of the property, and devoting his personal time to it, with shipments to be started in the immediate future, one cannot understand why the stock should not be bought for 300 per cent profit.

The tactics on Calumet & Montana confirm us in our belief that there is something big brewing in this issue. Every indication points to the fact that some of the big ones are trying to absorb this stock at the the lowest figure possible. If you sacrifice Calumet & Motnana at the present price, it is our opinion that you will live to regret it. If you should wish to sell, remember that this office is well equipped to handle your orders, and will get you the highest market price.

St. Mary's is another mighty good proposition. All the news is ahead on this one, and when the news comes you can look for a 100 per cent advance. We also consider Copper Queen a splendid buy, and advise the purchase of Calumet & Sonora, Red Warrior near present prices. Zenith Lead & Zinc has paid two quarterly dividends, of 10 cents per share, and the dividend for the next quarter has already been earned and will be delcared and paid the same as the last quarter. As soon as the new shaft is complted this company will undoubtedly increase its dividends. Now paying 40 per cent on par, with years of ore reserve in sight, what better could you ask?

A FEW YEARS SPENT IN THE NAVY are years of valuable experience. Habits of regularity are formed. Healthy exercise, regular drills and growing responsibility develop quickness and self reliance. Many large employers prefer men who have had naval training because more capable and efficient. Young men with mechanical knowledge have greater opportunities. They master their trade instead of being mere helpers. Go to a recruiting office and learn about the fine chances in the different branches of the service to save money, the hours of duty, cruises, sports, promotion, etc. You are not urged to enlist. Individuality will be developed, not suppressed, in the navy. Ask any one in the service about it. The navy hanger in postoffice and navy posters will give you an idea of the appearance of a bluejacket. Apply at Navy Recruiting office, Postoffice building, Minneapolis, Minn.

TWENTY-SEVENTH YEAR. LAST EDITION MONDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1909. TWO CENTS.

REV. E. K. COPPER IS SUCCESSOR TO REV. E. C. CLEMANS

Appointed District Superintendent of Duluth District of M. E. Church.

List of Appointments for Conference Is Read By Bishop.

Number of Districts in the Conference Reduced to Four.

WILL SUCCEED
REV. E. C. CLEMANS

REV. E. K. COPPER.
The New District Superintendent of the Duluth District.

E. K. Copper will be the next district superintendent for the Duluth district. The appointment was made at the business meeting of the Northern Methodist conference this morning at the First Methodist church by Bishop McIntyre. The selection will be popular with the people of the Duluth district, as Mr. Copper is well known here. He takes the place of Rev. E. C. Clemans, who will be district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league with headquarters in Duluth. This announcement was greeted with applause as it was feared Mr. Clemans was to be removed from the vicinity.

There was only one change in the Duluth churches, Rev. Thomas Grice going to Detroit, and being succeeded by Rev. W. G. Boyle.

The number of districts in the conference was reduced to four. The Crookston district and the Brainerd district were combined to make the Fergus Falls district, some of the territory also going to the Duluth district. Rev. E. K. Copper, who was at the head of the Brainerd district comes to Duluth. Rev. A. H. McKee is appointed head of the new Fergus Falls district. Rev. E. H. Nicholson remains in charge of the Litchfield district, and Rev. M. P. Burns of the Minneapolis district.

In closing the conference this morning, Bishop McIntyre spoke briefly, saying that the conference was one of

STREET RAILWAYS OPPOSED TO TAX

Also Regard Laws Meant to Regulate Lines as Source of Annoyance.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 4.—Interviews with officials of the big street railway and interurban lines of the country, represented at the convention of the American Street Railway & Interurban Railway association, which opened here today, indicate that a vigorous assault upon the corporation tax proposed by President Taft as an amendment to the Payne tariff bill will be a feature of the resolutions offered at the meeting.

This is perhaps the strongest aggregation of corporate wealth in the country, and its members will feel keenly the tax to be imposed on corporations. The income tax will also come in for its share of discussion.

Calls Laws Annoyance.

Another important subject of discussion will be the tendency of city fathers and state legislators to legislate against street railway companies. A prominent delegate, president of one of the largest companies of its kind, declared that boards of control and regulating laws do not regulate, but are a source of annoyance to the corporations.

Six thousand delegates are attending the convention. They represent $5,000,000,000 in capital invested in street railway enterprises.

BIG RUSH FOR LAND BEGINS

Wabasha Woman Is First to Register at Office in Aberdeen.

Agents Have Prepared to Handle 100,000 People in That City.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 4.—Registration for the government lands in the Cheyenne river and Standing Rock reservations began with a rush at midnight, and within an hour thereafter 1,800 persons had registered at the six registration centers. Land seekers are here from all over the United States, from New York to California.

Mrs. Josephine Reed of Wabasha, Minn., was the first of the 561 to register in Aberdeen.

Judge Witten, who is in charge of the registration, has complete arrangements for handling fully 100,000 persons in Aberdeen alone.

Crowd Is Orderly.

Le Beau, S. D., Oct. 4.—At least 200 persons camped in front of the registration building all night to be among the first to take advantage of the opening of government lands in the Indian reservations.

A slight accident near Hoven delayed trains yesterday, but later crowds came in. The town is well filled, there is no trouble in the matter of accommodation, and order prevails.

GET CANNON OF GERMANS

Moorish Government Is Said to Be Receiving Arms and Ammunition.

Spain Is Hampered By Deadlock in Her High Council.

Madrid, Oct. 4.—Dispatches to the Madrid newspapers from Gibraltar say that German steamers are disembarking cannon and large quantities of guns and ammunition at Moroccan ports, destined for the government. Great Britain and France, it is said, have been informed of the situation, and while they have regarded neutrality, they have sent diplomats to prevent a collision.

The extension of the field operations in Africa, to which the government is now committed by the dispatch of reinforcements to Gen. Marina, the Spanish commander, is further complicated by the possibility of a regular declaration of war between Morocco and Spain.

Deadlock in Council.

MORE SHIPS BUILT IN UNITED STATES

Small Increase Shown in Sailing and Steam Vessels Constructed.

Washington, Oct. 4.—There was a small increase shown in the number of steam and sail vessels built in the United States and officially numbered during the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1909, over the same period of 1908, according to a report of the bureau of navigation.

Steam and sail vessels to the number of 347 vessels with a gross tonnage of 48,914, were constructed in the United States and officially numbered during the quarter ending Sept. 20, 1909, against 319, with a gross tonnage of 20,877 for the same period of 1908.

The shipbuilding report of the bureau of navigation for September shows that 118 steam and sail vessels with a gross tonnage of 5,930 were built during the month. This number consisted of 22 sail and 88 steam vessels of wood construction and eight steam vessels built of steel.

COURT STOPS 'PHONE MERGER

Injunction Is Issued Against the Bell People in Iowa Deal.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 4.—Minority stockholders of the Mutual Telephone Company of Des Moines, an independent concern, obtained an injunction today preventing the Bell interests from taking over the independent line. Recently the Iowa Bell Telephone company purchased the majority stock of the independent company, expecting to effect a merger. The petition declares that the proposed merger is for the purpose of creating a monopoly.

NO POSSUM FOR TAFT

New Orleans Will Feed Him on Grand Opera Instead.

President Spends Strenuous Day Following Entrance Into California.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 4.—Greatly disappointed and chagrined at the "corned beef and cabbage edict," which has placed a ban on the rich Creole dishes which were served to President-elect Taft last February, New Orleans has decided to fill up President Taft with music when he visits this city the latter part of the present month.

The haughty Creole chefs have been eliminated from the running, and the French opera season, which usually opens late in November, will start the latter part of October, and will form the piece de resistance during the president's stay and throughout the entire time the Lakes-to-the-Gulf deep waterways convention is in session.

Boxes of honor will be reserved in the old French opera house in Bourbon street for President Taft, Vice President Sherman, Speaker Cannon and other distinguished visitors.

HUNGRY ESKIMO TURNS CANNIBAL

Returning Vessel Brings Story and Also One of Disaster in the Ice.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 4.—Tragedy in the Far North formed the burden of news brought to port by the Hudson Bay company's steamer Adventure, which has arrived with the crew of the lost Dundee whaler Paradox and the story of an Eskimo who, driven to cannibalism by starvation, ate his children, and shooting several neighbors who attempted summary punishment, fled into the trackless wilderness.

The Hudson Bay mounted police report through dispatches brought by the Adventure the cannibalism of the starving Eskimo. The man's fishing and hunting season had been a failure, and driven mad by hunger, he cut the throats of three of his children and then ate the little victims.

When the man's neighbors learned of the horrible crime they attacked him, according to the primitive law of their race. The outcast beat off all assailants, shot down several of the attacking party and escaped into the wilderness. His fate is unknown.

The Paradox, one of the fleet of whalers, met the fate of her companion ship Snowdrop when she was crushed by the ice floes off Baffinland early in August a year ago. The crew, with scanty provisions, made their way over the broken ice towards the mainland and were picked up by the steamer this fall.

WILBUR WRIGHT IN SPLENDID FLIGHT OVER THE HARBOR

Aviator Sails Over Ships and Flies Up River to Grant's Tomb.

Shows Perfect Control of Aeroplane Even When Bucking the Wind.

New York, Oct. 4.—Wilbur Wright, the aeroplanist, defied the air, the water and the land, in a marvelous flight today over the numberless craft in New York harbor and the North river. Starting at 9:56 the aviator headed into the wind and flew over ferry boats, yachts, steamers and other craft in the harbor.

Flying high, Mr. Wright went up the North river, over the fleet of battleships and on past Grant's tomb, encircling the British cruiser Argylie. Returning at faster speed with the wind, he came back over the water and landed at his starting point in the most matter-of-fact way possible. He had been gone for 33 minutes and 33 seconds, making one of the most perilous trips ever attempted. The distance of the flight was estimated at fifteen miles.

Got Excellent Start.

The aviator got an excellent start, leaving the rail after a run of barely thirty feet. As the machine left the ground, the tip of the right wing lightly touched the new-made ground, and threw up a cloud of sand. After a half circle over Governor's island at an

LAY PLANS FOR CHINESE NAVY

Imperial Commissioners Have Elaborate Scheme to Make Big Changes.

Washington, Oct. 4.—As a humble beginning in the equipping of China with a modern naval equipment, Tsai Hsun and Admiral Sah, naval commissioners entrusted with this gigantic task, according to advices just received in Washington, have taken steps to "ascertain the number of existing men-o'-war and vessels." This done they will inaugurate a policy, it is said, of raising the necessary funds to enlarge the navy of fostering naval education and of inspecting the existing naval basis.

An elaborate plan for the better education of Chinese officers of the navy is said to have been agreed upon. A movement has been inaugurated to convert the school in the Whampoa dock yard in Canton into a marine engineering college, and the naval college in Chefoo into an imperial navigation college, with an increase in the number of students.

It is reported that the prince regent contemplates the appointment of Prince Su to take forty students from the imperial clan abroad to receive naval education in the United States, England, France and Germany.

MAYORS TALK OF THEIR JOBS

Conference on Commission Plan Is Held at Meeting in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 4.—Outside the balloon races, today's program of the St. Louis centennial celebration, centered about the 300 mayors of American cities, who have accepted invitations to be guests of the municipality during the week. The mayors were welcomed at the city hall by Governor Hadley and Mayor Frederick Kreisma of St. Louis. Then the visiting magistrates marched in a body through the centennial court of honor to the Hotel Jefferson, where luncheon was served.

Following the lunch, the city executives held an informal conference on the commission plan of government. The speakers included Mayors A. J. Mathis, Des Moines, and U. S. Guyer, Kansas City, Kan.; Prof. Isadore M. Loeb, University of Missouri and Frederick W. Lehmann of St. Louis.

The mayors were then taken to the Aero club grounds in special cars to watch the balloon ascensions.

SUICIDE OF MURDERER

William Coija Shot Jacob Leinonen at Tower During a Quarrel.

Then Fired Bullet Into His Own Head, Dying Instantly.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A double tragedy occurred here this morning. William Coija shooting Jacob Leinonen and then committing suicide. Leinonen is not expected to live.

The two men quarreled about a bill which Coija owed for board at Leinonen's boardinghouse. They were on their way to the sawmill where both worked at 7 o'clock this morning, when the dispute began. Suddenly, when they were near the depot, Coija drew a revolver and fired twice, shooting Leinonen in the stomach and arm.

Several persons heard the noise of the shots and rushed to the scene. Coija at once ran towards the river, where he shot himself in the left temple, dying instantly.

Leinonen, who kept a boarding house, has lived here for eight or nine years and has a wife and two children. He was hurriedly removed to the Soudan hospital, where an operation will be performed to remove the bullet in his stomach, but it is not believed that he can survive his injuries. Little is known of Coija, who has resided here only about a week.

ALBERT PULITZER COMMITS SUICIDE

Founder of New York Journal Kills Himself During Nervous Breakdown.

Vienna, Oct. 4.—Albert Pulitzer, a brother of Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the New World, committed suicide in this city yesterday. It was evident that he made doubly sure of death, for all the indications pointed to the fact that he had first swallowed poison and then, standing in front of a mirror, had sent a bullet from a revolver through his right temple. An empty poison bottle lay on the table in Mr. Pulitzer's room.

Early yesterday evening Mr. Pulitzer dismissed his attendants and asked to be left alone. Some time later Dr. Pollak, who has been attending Mr. Pulitzer, called to make his usual visit, and found him lying dead on the floor in front of his dressing table.

Mr. Pulitzer, who had suffered a nervous breakdown, was greatly depressed over the failure of his physicians to benefit him.

Started Morning Journal.

New York, Oct. 4.—Albert Pulitzer, who was a brother of Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the New York World, was the founder of the New York Morning Journal. He had spent most of his time in Europe since 1895 until two years ago, when he came to New York and announced his intention of starting a newspaper in this city. The project was not put into effect and Mr. Pulitzer returned to Europe.

C. Adams, statistician for the interstate commerce commission.

GERMANS WANT WORLD PEACE

Plan for International Agreement Is Outlined at Meeting in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 4.—The National German-American alliance, in biennial convention, today discussed reports of various committees.

The peace committee, in setting forth the principles of the world, declares in favor of a federation of all nations, based on a mutual guarantee of their independence and possessions against the attacks of the members; favors the furtherance of all international agreements, treaties and conventions, which will establish uniform legislation tending to the welfare of the working classes and improvement of social and industrial conditions in general, and the substitution of legal proceedings in place of bloodshed in settling dissensions between nations and between employers and employes.

BOOM FOR F. W. JOHNSON

Rumor Starts Late Governor's Brother on Road to Statehouse.

Democratic Leaders Are Said to Favor Him as Next Governor.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 4.—The Journal says: That Fred W. Johnson, younger brother of the late governor, is the man picked by Frank A. Day and other Democratic leaders as the man upon whom will be placed the burden of repeating the successes of John A. Johnson, was a rumor general among politicians in the Twin Cities last night. The rumor is absolutely unauthenticated by any public statement, but the very daring of the plan caused it to attract keen interest.

Mr. Day, in Fairmont, showed no surprise when asked whether Fred W. Johnson is being seriously considered as a successor to John Albert Johnson.

"I cannot talk politics at this time," he said.

"Do you consider Fred W. Johnson as a man of exceptional ability?"

An Excellent Campaigner.

"Fred Johnson is one of the best campaigners in the state," said Mr. Day. "He is a brilliant speaker and a fine gentleman. I think he has no personal wish to enter politics actively."

Not a few Democrats despite the newness of the plan, last night privately expressed the opinion that if Fred W. Johnson will consent, he will be launched on a political career by the leading Democrats of Minnesota, his destination, the governor's office in the state capitol, an office occupied for five years by John A. Johnson.

Protege of Lind.

Ten years younger than Governor Johnson, born in poverty, self-educated, editor of a country newspaper at the age of 18, protege of Governor Lind, and state librarian during Mr. Lind's administration, favorite of his older brother—those whom the story reached last night said the "kitchen cabinet" has made a spectacular move in turning to Fred W. Johnson as the standard bearer for Minnesota Democracy.

SCHREIBER STILL WAITS

Alleged Murderer Has Been in County Jail a Year and a Half.

Does Not Yet Know What His Fate Will Be.

"Bill" Schreiber, convicted by a jury in district court last November of the murder of Frank Massapust on a claim in the north woods, near Cook, is still sitting in the county jail, waiting. He has been waiting for nearly a year and a half, and though the strain would wear on an ordinary man, he doesn't seem to notice it. He is anxious, of course, but hopeful and smiling, despite the confinement of prison bars and that greater confinement of uncertainty.

Schreiber was arrested April 28, 1908. He waited for over four months for the grand jury to take up his case; he waited three more months before he was put on trial; he waited forty-seven hours before a jury returned a verdict of guilty; he waited three months for the court to decide that he was not entitled to a new trial; he waited three more months before his attorneys made another motion for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence; he has now waited four months for Judge Dibell's decision on that motion, and the decision has not yet come.

Within the coming month Schreiber will know his fate. Tomorrow it will be four months since the motion for a new trial was made. Under the statutes, the judge has five months in which to reach a decision. By Nov. 5, Judge Dibell will say whether or not Schreiber has grounds for a new trial, and if he decides favorably to the man, there will be more weary waiting. If the decision is unfavorable to Schreiber, sentence will probably be passed, and in an appeal to the supreme court will lie his only hope.

Schreiber's wife returned yesterday from Underhill, Wis., where she has been staying for the past two months with her father-in-law. She has consistently stayed by her husband during his troubles, and says she will stay by him to the end. She is at the Bethel for the present, but intends to secure work to support herself and her little daughter, who is at Underhill with Schreiber's father.

Frightful Fate Averted.

THE POLICE COURT GRIST

A Few Celebrated German Day Not Wisely, But Too Well.

The police court grist this morning had a slight German cast, the result of too strenuously celebrating German day. Most of the faces were rubicund and rosy, but the smiles were sheepish. All admitted that they had been a bit too patriotic and had imbibed "the only drink on earth," a bit too freely. The court was good natured about it and passed out suspended sentences to the unfortunate few who were carried away by their patriotism.

RAILROADS

HAUL WHEAT TO DULUTH

Soo Road Will Have Freight Service This Week.

Through Passenger Service to Chicago Expected By Jan. 1.

According to the present plans of the Soo officials, wheat will be hauled to this side of the bay some time during the present week. The only obstacle to the bringing of wheat hauled from North Dakota points to elevators on this side of the bay, is the fact that the interstate bridge is not in repair to admit of the passing of trains.

The Great Northern people are at the present time repairing the bridge. The points where the draw span swings unto the two end sections of the bridge were in place, but were found defective. The bridge swung into place and snapped the points that hold the bridge. Additional apparatus has been sent for, and it is expected that it will be installed some time this week. As soon as the bridge is ready for the passage of trains, local Soo officials state that wheat trains will be sent to the elevators on this side of the bay.

It is now believed that through service between Duluth and Chicago will be inaugurated by the first of the year. The only obstacle to prevent the placing of Duluth in through passenger connection with Chicago is the completion of the depot here. This will be done before the first of the year, according to the plans of the contractors.

The Chicago division of the Soo, formerly the Wisconsin Central railway, is operating mixed and local service to Chicago at the present time. With the completion of the Duluth passenger depot, it is announced today that through fast passenger service will be inaugurated.

THE REPORT IS AGAIN DENIED

Associated Press Also Told of Purchase of Logging Road.

Despite the fact that there is an Associated Press dispatch from Winnipeg, stating that the Canadian Northern Railway company has acquired control of the Northern Minnesota railway property, known as the Alger-Smith logging road, R. N. Marble, secretary of the company, today emphatically denied that there was the least foundation for the statement contained in the dispatch.

"I am the secretary of the company," said Mr. Marble, when shown the Winnipeg dispatch, and asked for a confirmation or denial of the statement, "and would naturally know if this company's property had been acquired by the Canadian Northern interests, or by any other corporation. There is not the slightest truth in the report that the Northern Minnesota railway has been acquired by the Canadian Northern."

Mr. Marble further stated that he was at a loss to understand where the reports, most persistent in their nature, originated. He was informed that the statement crediting the Canadian Northern with the acquirement of the Alger-Smith property, had been semi-officially given out both in St. Paul and Winnipeg. Mr. Marble, however, denied positively that there was any foundation in fact.

The dispatch in question states that the Canadian Northern people have secured control of the Northern Minnesota railway, and that the intention of extending the road will form a connection with the Canadian Northern road from Port Arthur.

It has long been the belief here that some day this scheme would be carried into effect. The Northern Minnesota railway, though only utilized for logging purposes, has a road bed that could be used by any of the heavier trains. It has generally been believed that the permanency of the construction of the logging road was with the purpose of eventually utilizing the railroad for heavier transportation.

COOK GIVEN RECOGNITION

Explorer Is Warmly Welcomed By the Officials of Washington.

President of District of Columbia Makes Address at Reception.

Washington, Oct. 4.—"This is the home of the American flag which you carried to the North Pole," was the hearty expression of recognition given Dr. F. A. Cook by H. B. F. MacFarland, president of the district board of commissioners, in officially welcoming the explorer at the municipal building this morning in the presence of a crowd that taxed its capacity.

"President Taft, Admiral Dewey, Gen. Greeley and Admiral Schley and other distinguished residents of Washington have individually expressed their appreciation of your great achievement," said the commissioner. "It is fitting that the entire national capital, through its government, should give you a hearty welcome and cordial congratulations. This is the home of the American flag which you carried to the North Pole. It is the national city where every American registers his greatest attainments and expects his greatest rewards.

"First honored in a foreign capital, you have come none too soon to receive honors in your own capital.

Example of Courage.

"The American people, idealists and realists, feel more than most peoples the appeal of such success as yours. Whether or not it has practical results, whether or not it will add to the moral wealth of the world; that it raises the courage of every man and makes it more possible for him to reach his goal.

"In conquering the Arctic difficulties and enlarging the map of the world, you have not only won the prize of exploration, but have borne yourself throughout with the modesty and courtesy as well as courage and intelligence of the true American."

Dr. Cook was given an ovation when he arrived at the municipal building, and when he arose to respond to the commissioner's words of tribute he was greeted with prolonged cheering.

Greeted By Thousands.

"I fail to find words to suit my appreciation of your kindness," Dr. Cook said. "I am a man of few words and I can only say I thank you."

The explorer then stood in the center of the room, beside Commissioners MacFarland and Judson, and was given a hearty handclasp by thousands who passed in line. Not more than half the crowd got near Dr. Cook, as he was compelled to depart hurriedly for Baltimore, where he is scheduled to lecture tonight.

Dr. Cook, accompanied by his manager and secretary, walked from his hotel, just across the street, to the municipal building. He first was ushered into the private office af Mr. MacFarland. Before he entered he met and chatted a few minutes with Mrs. E. S. Danehower, mother of Lieut. W. W. Danehower, one of the survivors of the Jeanette expedition.

The morning hours were very busy for the explorer. He rose early, and after breakfast disposed of a mass of correspondence. He was taken for an automobile ride about the city and was shown points of historic interest.

"I am deeply gratified over the treatment accorded me in Washington," Dr. Cook said just before his train left the union station.

Hundreds Meet Train.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 4.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook reached this city at noon today, coming from Washington for his lecture here tonight. He was greeted at the railroad station by several hundred persons. After a brief stop at the Hotel Belvedere, Dr. Cook was taken to the city hall, where, in the course of an informal reception, he was introduced by Mayor B. Jerry Mahool to about 1,000 men, women and children of all classes.

He then returned to luncheon at his hotel and spent the remainder of the afternoon quietly.

MANTLES RETURN.

Old-Time Wraps Will Again Be Popular.

The mantle, as another generation used to call it, is to be very much in evidence this autmun and winter. It is quite a glorified garment.

The popularity of the long, loose topcoat last winter for all the hours made the designers thrash about for something to wear in the evenings, and for all formal occasions that was different, more elaborate.

They and their customers argued that there was no distinction between the two garments—the one for informal and the other for formal hours. So there came into being the Cape d'Espagnole, as the French call it, the Arabian burnous and the Roman toga.

All these had been more or less suggested during last season; each had its followers, but each had only a tentative hold on the public. The fur coat, the cloth or velvet coats on motor wrap lines, were the ones most in the public eye.

Women found them comfortable. The sleeves were easy to get into, and the fronts covered the chest on cold nights in a very satisfactory way. But style is style, and this season the loose, classic wraps that do not always keep one warm will be in first style.

These are distinctively unwieldy for the street. If an attempt is to be made to bring them back into first fashion it is not well settled as to how it will succeed.

Some years ago the golf cape had the enthusiasm of the hour. Many of you must remember it. It was in a plain, sombre color on the outside, and plaid, more or less Scotch, on the inside.

This had a wide, high, rolling collar, and fastened with two large tabs and buttons over the chest.

They were abandoned for two reasons: One, because something else became more fashionable, and, secondly, because they were heavy.

The designers have no idea of making these new and stylish Spanish capes of thick Scottish cloth; many will be of satin, of white corduroy and velvet, and of liberty velvet in all the enchanting new-found tones of green, blue, violet and brown.

These will be ornately adorned. Some will have applied bands of silver or gold lace; others will be almost covered with cord and lace braiding "ton sur ton."

FRENCH TENDENCIES

Marked in the Modes of the Hour.

The new coats are long, decidedly, and narrower in every way than they were last year. The French tailors are making a great effort to give the back a small, contracted look. The chest is broad and well rounded, the armholes are small and rather low, the shoulder seams come well toward the back. It is a style that came in with the second empire, when cashmere shawls were in the hey-day of their glory, and broad shoulders and a wide back would have been accounted almost a deformity, writes Mrs. Simcox in the October Delineator.

Among evening gowns the bayadere or Oriental style of sashing the skirt just above the knees is one of the most notable and daring innovations of the season. It is borrowed from the Anglo-Indians, I believe. At any rate, it is popularly supposed abroad that Paquin took the idea from the costume of a Nautch girl. It is variously called the Indian drapery, the sash, a la Maharanee, or the bayadere scarf. I saw one lovely dress in which the tunic body of closely flowered chiffon hung almost straight from the bust to the knees, falling into a very natural and graceful drapery at the waist line. The Indian scarf of a deep rose-colored satin appeared at the lower edge of the over-dress, and tied in an immense chou over the left knee. The lower part of the dress was soft white chiffon, rather full, but, being absolutely bodiless, it fell in around the feet in the usual slinky fashion of the present day.

So far as the new trimmings are concerned, we have been promised or rather threatened with a return of the puffings and flutings and frillings of the '70's. Handled properly they are really not half bad. I saw a very attractive evening gown of silk tulle in which the soft gathered skirt was joined to a princess body under a four-inch puffing corded at each edge. The cuirass upper part of the dress stopped just above the bust, under a second row of puffing that ran straight across the figure and was continued in the sleeves. The guimpe or chemisette of the dress was of tulle and net— a pretty combination of a flat yoke and a tucker or modestie. The whole dress was effective—a medieval looking thing that had a decided style of its own.

Tulle is worn not only as the foundation material of many dresses, but as the trimming and decoration of many others. Lace tulle, armure tulle, beaded tulle and a silk tulle of irregular mesh with small gold and silver beads and crystal bugles scattered over it are used for guimpes and sleeves and trimming bands. In short, there is every indication that the styles of the coming year will be much richer as to materials, more ornate as to trimmings and more complicated in regard to their design, cut and construction than they have been during the last twenty or thirty years.

CLASSIFY THE GIRL.

Then Make Love Accordingly to Exact Rule.

"Cupid, the Surgeon," or what might more definitely be entitled "Practical Lovemaking," is a book on the mysteries of the tender passion recently published by an American author.

He says love is no longer a game of chance, but an exact science. You need not be handsome, rich or fascinating to win. All that is required is to assimilate the rules as you would so many pills.

Be it known, in the first place, that all women fall into four classes—the conceited, the sentimental, the mercenary and the blase. The immediate thing for one to do is to decide in which category to place his beloved.

"Give flattery to the conceited woman," says the author, "promises of eternal fidelity to the sentimental one, precious gifts to the mercenary and sensational thrills to her who is tormented with ennui.

"If I were allowed to give but two words of advice, they would be patience and perseverance.

"The man who never parleys over cab fare, who never scans the prices on a wine list or a menu, and who hibernates when his finances are at a low ebb carries an infallible amulet against feminine criticism.

"Supplement an erect carriage with an athletic swing to your walk, and a discreet amount of bluster about your prowess, and the woman will soon have a gladiator on a pedestal.

"Flattery is that refinement of polite speech that enables a beautiful woman to realize her charms, and an ugly one to imagine hers.

"Flattery is like morphine—the more you have the more you want, and must have. So be liberal."

HOME MANNERS

Must Be Company Manners Also, to Succeed.

Why it is people have both company manners and home manners? The same set should certainly serve on all occasions, unless one wishes to be disliked at home and laughed at abroad. There are few so expert that they may be rude part of the time and polite the rest. Manners may not be put on and taken off like a garment. They have a quality of their own, and the most casual observer soon discovers whether they are natural or assumed. A gentleman is always a gentleman, and a lady is always a lady. A girl may not be disrespectful to her mother, rude to her sister and brother, and still expect to conciliate society by her beautiful manners. Her home character is sure to appear, even in some infinitesimal way, to show her up as she really is.

I am not preaching, however, to rude girls and selfish boys alone, says a writer in the Pittsburg Dispatch. It is no more their fault than it is their parents'. Politeness and consideration should be the rule of every household. If parents wish to point with pride to the pleasant manners of their offspring they should give them examples to follow. They should make it a point to be polite to each other at home, and never criticise each other in public. They should remember all the little emenities of life—"please" and "thank you" and "I am sorry." Up to a certain age, which varies in individuals, a child looks upon his parents as perfection. It is, therefore, most important that they should strive to maintain this standard in the child's eyes.

If John is disagreeable and inconsiderate at home six days in the week, he may never expect to be thought jolly and kindly on the seventh when he dines out. He has certainly had more practice in being unpleasant than pleasant. Can he, then, in a moment expect to change?

If Susa neats with her fingers when only the family are present, will she remember to use her fork when there are visitors? Certainly not. Habit so deeply seated will catch her napping and surely humiliate her.

Why not always, then, endeavor to be polite? You may be familiar with your family without being rudely familiar. You may say to your sister: "How well you look." That is familiar; it is a more personal remark than you would make to a stranger. Yet you need never say, "How bad you look." This is no more familiar than the other, but it is rude. No one can afford to be at one and at the same time both familiar and impolite.

Fads of the Moment.

The new sweaters for women's wear are smart and come in such a variety of colorings and designs that every one will surely be suited. The latest model is a seamless sweater knitted with Andalusian wool and shaped to the figure in the weave.

These garments are seen in all lengths from that just covering the hips to a sweater reaching the hem of the dress. The half-length, however, is most in demand, and plain colors are preferred to those trimmed with bands in contrasting colors. The sleeves are coat-shaped, gathered in at the wrists, and the buttons are pure white, regardless of the color of the sweater.

Made cording is much used as a trimming for coats and gowns this year. The cord is quite thick, and is usually applied in a zigzag design or for connecting the edges of slashed seams.

A novel use for this cording was seen recently on a long coat of dull cadet blue broadcloth. The coat closed a little to the left side, and the cording (of the cloth) was arranged in a slanting zigzag down the front edge, the loops coming beyond the edge, the same serving as buttonholes corresponding with large enamel buttons that were sewed on the left edge.

THE EVENING STORY

CUTTING THE HORNS OF THE DILEMMA

By Stanley B. Houck.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

His name was John, despite the fact that he was called Jack; and he was a junior in college. Her name was Marjory, and she was a senior. The "girls" had all agreed that he wasn't handsome; that he was inclined to be saucy, but that he was, nevertheless, "awfully nice and very much worth while." None of the boys disputed the fact that she was the prettiest thing on the campus.

Jack was sitting on the library steps wondering how much longer it would take Marjory to get to the library steps, where he was waiting for her—she having rounded the corner a half block away at least fifteen minutes before. Her progress was slow, and the crowd about her was increasing in size and delight. He wanted to be with her alone, or he would have added himself to the gathering. He was scheming a means to relieve himself from a self-imposed dilemma of which he was one horn and Marjory the other.

She had started it three years before at a reception where they had met. He was a freshman and she a sophomore then, and she had opened the conversation by telling him, in the patronizing tone sophomores use toward freshmen, that she had decided to make use of her sophomore prerogative and place him "on her string." He being very bold and saucy, for a freshman, had accepted the gage by retorting that his one ambition was to fall head over heels in love with some girl, and if she didn't mind he would practice on her. Since then neither had lost any opportunity of assuring the other of his undying affection in many varied and amusing ways.

Now he wanted seriously to tell her of his love for her, but he had told her of it so often in fun that he couldn't quite see any way of making her take his declaration as being made seriously in earnest and not made seriously in fun.

"A penny for your thoughts, Jack," she said, brightly, when at last she reached him.

"Thinking about you, Marjory," he replied.

"You don't say, and what were you thinking about me?"

"Refuse to be interviewed."

"Why, Jack," she said, in a tone of mock injury, "do you mean to tell me, after we have been in love all these years, that you have secrets from me?"

He assumed a tone of dignified authority. "Marjory, as you love me, I must insist that you don't let your feminine curiosity get the better of you."

"My curiosity? You stimulated it on purpose, consequently you are responsible for it. If you don't tell me right away, I'll cut you dead."

"The trouble is that I'm afraid you'll cut me dead if I tell you."

"No, I won't."

"All right. Let's take a walk down the river and I'll think it over," he decided, making a sudden resolution.

They left the library and walked off toward the river. When they reached the well-beaten path they turned their backs to the college buildings and strolled leisurely along, following closely the edge of the high, bluff-like bank of the river. Neither spoke for a time.

As they went along he began to wonder what the outcome of it all would be. The more he thought the weaker his resolution became—there was Marjory, the prettiest and most perfect girl in the world, and, on the other hand, here was he, just an ordinary, average sort of a fellow. When he looked back and tried to analyze her conduct toward him and towards others, he could not see that she had treated him any different than any of the others. Indeed, when it all came back to him, with a rush, he wondered at his self-conceit in thinking that Marjory, of all girls, would find anything in him to love. Still, he thought he wouldn't have had things other than they had been those last three years while they had been playing their little farce, for he felt that only circumstances could have brought them together as they had been. So he blessed the lucky day of the start, though he cowered before a doubtful finish.

At last they passed below the last city bridge, and were alone by the river, far away from the noise and activity of the busy city.

"Are you going to tell me now?" she asked.

"No, not yet," he answered, sparring for time, "but if you will tell me what you were thinking about while we were coming here, maybe I'll begin to lead up to it."

"I was wondering whether this would be the last time I would ever take this walk, and you don't know how sad it makes me feel to think how soon my school days will be over forever."

"That's just what I was thinking, Marjory, and I was wondering how it would seem next year to take this walk without you. Do you know, I've never taken this walk with any other girl but you? and when I think of you not being here next year, it makes me feel as though I'll never go down this way enjoying it the way I have."

"We have had some mighty good times together, haven't we, Jack?"

"So good that I'll never forget them." He paused a little and then began again: "Do you remember the first night we met and became acquainted?"

"Do I? Well, I should say I did. I don't believe two people ever became so 'chummy' in so short a time as we did; and you were just as impudent as you could be, too."

"Do you realize that this is the first really serious talk we've ever had?" he said.

"I do believe you're right, Jack; I know I couldn't crack a joke today if my life depended upon it."

"Let's sit down on this tree trunk awhile before we go back," he said, without replying.

For awhile neither spoke. Then he said: "Marjory."

"Yes, Jack."

"Shall I tell you now what I was thinking of when you found me at the library steps?"

"Of course, that's what we came way out here for, wasn't it? It must be something important, or you would not have come so far."

He turned his eyes upon hers and they so spoke in anticipation of his words that she instinctively felt what he was about to say and a slow flush crept up over her cheeks and her eyes dropped from his. He noticed it, and it gave him an inexplicable thrill of strength to say:

"I was wondering whether you loved me, Marjory, dear; I was wondering whether I could come back here again next year and be happy with you gone. I was thinking how much I needed you. Why, I've loved you ever since I first saw you, and every word I've ever said to you in all our joking, I've meant, and more, with all my heart and soul. Why, I've got so used to thinking I belonged to you that I haven't done a thing all these years without asking myself what you'd say to it if you knew. I can't say any more, dear, just I love you, love you, all the time. Will you tell me, now, what you are going to do with me?"

Then she raised her eyes to his again, and they were glistening with joy.

"Oh, Jack, you dear, dear, big, blind goose—you're worse than Cupid himself." Then she was swallowed up in a hungry embrace.

PAYING PATTI.

Adeline Patti never suffered from the financial timidity of a Jenny Lind. Not only was she a supreme vocalist but, as Col. Mapleson remarked, "no one ever approached her in obtaining from a manager the greatest possible sum he could by any possibility contrive to pay."

The musical miracle was the spoiled darling of her day, says the Bookman, and she never failed to obtain exactly what she wanted. She was first engaged in London in 1861 by Mapleson to sing four nights "on approval" and in case of success to obtain £40 a week.

This contract was not fulfilled, however, for being hard pressed financially she had borrowed £50 from a rival manager and her receipt proved practically a contract. This was the beginning of a career so dazzling that its successive steps are simply a series of increasing bank notes.

In 1872 she obtained in London 200 guineas a night, since she insisted on having more than Christine Nilsson, who was receiving £200. She sang twice a week. Ten years later she got $5,000 a night!

Her famous contract to sing in America provided that the money should be paid her at 2 o'clock on the day she sang, also a drawing room and sleeping car was to be especially built for her with conservatory, fernery, etc. Further, there was to be deposited to her credit $50,000 for payment of the last ten performances—Patti's favorite device. She thus received about twenty times what Mario and Grisi got.

Her private car, incidentally, cost $60,000 and contained a silver bath, and gold keys to the doors—to say nothing of a $2,000 piano. Patti only gave to the manager her voice and her costumes. Her drawing capacity justified this. "Lucia," as an example, was sung to an average of $14,000. "Traviata" drew more, since she sang more notes; it was a frequent occurrence among the poorer music lovers to buy a club ticket and each take turns at hearing her for twenty minutes; if one of them overstayed his time he paid for the entire ticket.

Some mathematicians computed, by dividing number of notes sung by sum paid, that in "Semirande" Patti received 42⅝ cents for each note; this was found to be just 7 1-10 a note more than Rossin got for writing the whole opera.

ELEPHANT'S STRANGE DEATH.

London Standard: An Agra correspondent sends a remarkable story concerning what is declared to be the deliberate suicide of an elephant.

The great annual mela or fair at Batesar in the Northwest provinces is held on the bank of the Jumma, which is there crossed by a bridge of boats. At the side of the river opposite the fair there is a slope down which the elephants bringing visitors to the bridge slide into the river and swim across. A young elephant, making the trip for the first time, trumpeted angrily when his trappings were stripped from him preparatory to his swim, but seeing other elephants crossing the stream ahead of him he plunged in and followed.

When he reached the oposite bank, however, he swerved around and swam back again. The mahout sought to force him around again, but without result, and when within a yard of two of the bank the elephant, after trumpeting again, plunged down into the river. Just in the nick of time the mahout was rescued by means of a long bamboo, but the elephant was drowned, to all appearance by his own deliberate act.

A GREAT EXHIBIT OF FINE FURS
TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

We've come to the days when, for comfort's sake, Furs are essential, so this timely fur event will be welcome to those thinking of buying Furs. Few stores, indeed, are so favored in their search for fine Furs as this. With the experience of nigh a half century, it has establisht a connection amongst the great fur markets of the world by its large purchases of high grade furs and by that greatest of all influences, ready cash. Small wonder, then, that The S. & B. Co. receives the choicest furs of two continents. The selections for this season constitute the finest display in the Northwest, and never were buying inducements so prominent a feature as those quoted for these three days.

McCALL FASHIONS For November Are Ready at the Pattern Counter.

Fur Pieces, Muffs and Sets
In Sable, Eastern Mink, Fox, Lynx, Etc.

The present exhibit will be the best we have ever offered, consequently the best in the entire Northwest. Therefore, we recommend that those interested in fine furs make it a point to be present, if only for the comparison this event offers. See what "The Best Furs" look like, the prices, etc., because there are so many poor and undesirable lines on the market that fur buyers cannot be too careful.

Choose the Best
In making purchases for fall and winter—that's the advice we have given for many, many years, and that's the counsel this store helps you to obey. There can be but one "best." Ask any of Duluth's progressive women.

ICE COMPANY IS FIGHTING HARD

Motions to Stop Trials as Monopoly Under State Law Are Denied.

New York, Oct. 4.—The American Ice company through its counsel, today filed pleas of not guilty to four indictments charging the company with operating a monopoly in restraint of trade. The arraignment was before Judge Wheeler of the state supreme court. It is charged that the ice company made contracts with ice harvesting companies along the Hudson river either to permit the American Ice company to control their output or to withhold ice from the market.

Represented by a formidable array of counsel, the corporation today made a determined fight to prevent the trial of these indictments. John B. Stanchfield, chief counsel for the company, contended that the state attorney general had no right to appear in the matter, and that the case should be prosecuted through the district attorney's office. The court denied Mr. Stanchfield's motion and also another motion for the ice company that the criminal action be adjourned pending the settlement of civil actions now being instituted against the company by the attorney general.

The company's attorneys took the statutory two days in which to make any further motions.

FAREWELL FOR GRICE

Asbury Church Members Regret Departure of Popular Pastor.

Rev. W. G. Boyle of Deer River Will Succeed Him.

Rev. Thomas Grice, for four years the pastor of the Asbury M. E. church at Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street was not returned to the church for the coming year by the annual conference, which closed its sessions in Duluth today. He has been appointed to a pastorate in Detroit, Minn.

Rev. W. G. Boyle of Deer River, Minn. will be the new pastor of the West Duluth church. Rev. Boyle is well known to many of the congregation having preached here at various times. The last time he supplied the pulpit at the Asbury church was during the vacation of Rev. Grice this summer.

REV. THOMAS GRICE.

This departure of Mr. Grice will be regretted among the church workers of the Asbury church. At the last meeting of the church board he was asked to remain for another year and the resolutions were sent to the conference asking that he be reappointed to the West Duluth church.

It is understood that he will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday. The ladies' aid society is planning on giving a farewell reception for him next Thursday evening at the church parlors. A special meeting of the ladies has been called for Tuesday afternoon at the church when the final arrangements for the affair will be made.

At the Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Rev. E. F. Stidd will remain as pastor. M. O. Stockland was also returned to the Grace M. E. church at the West end. The church boards of both of these churches asked that their pastors be returned and the request was granted in each case by the conference.

OPEN MEETING.

Members of St. James Court, C. O. F., Entertain at Smoker.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of St. James' court, No. 614, C. O. F., was held last evening in Gilley's hall. The meeting was called to order by State Trustee J. Bellmeur, who explained the object of the meeting, and he introduced State Auditor and Organizer Peter Loskiel. Mr. Loskiel spoke at length on the order from the date it was first organized and the good work it has accomplished for the families of deceased members. He compared the cost of the order to that of other fraternal societies. Rev. D. W. Lynch gave an interesting address on the good of the order and urged all who are eligible for membership to join.

State Chief Ranger P. H. Martin was present, and he reviewed the work that has been done by the Catholic Order of Foresters in this state, and especially throughout the country, for widows and orphans. P. Sommers and J. Keough, two members, sang songs, after which cigars were passed around. The meeting was in the nature of a smoker and social for the men of St. James' parish. As a result of the work being done by Mr. Loskiel, aided by the members, about twenty-five applications for membership have been received so far. The state auditor and organizer will remain in this city for about five weeks, working with the other courts to increase their membership. He has been very successful in other parts of the state which he visited, and feels confident of being able to organize a large class for initiation here this month. All the courts of the order are enthusiastic over the work and will give State Auditor Loskiel all the help they can in the work in which he is engaged in Duluth in building up the local courts of the Catholic Order of Foresters.

TIGERS LOSE OUT.

West Duluth Boys Fought Well Against Grand Rapids Team.

The Tigers lost to the Grand Rapids football team Sunday at Grand Rapids by the score of 10 to 0. Although the result of the game might have been more gratifying the West Duluthians say that they are satisfied, when it is taken into consideration that the Grand Rapids aggregation averaged twenty pounds to the man heavier than the Tigers.

The Tigers put up a creditable fight at all stages, but were unable to make any material advances because they were handicapped by the superior weight of the opposing team. The Tigers are still on the trail of the Grand Rapids bunch and arrangements are being made for another game to be played in West Duluth in the near future.

Next Sunday the Tigers will arrange a game with some Superior team. One of the players, Roy Drake, was badly crippled up in the Sunday contest, but it is thought that he will be able to get into the game next Sunday. Among the fans who went with the West Duluth boys to Grand Rapids were Neil Buckley, manager of the Tigers, Albert Laureeman, George Spinard, Bert Talbott, George Woods, Tony Nelson and George McClellan.

Yesterday Rev. Collier invited all of the young ladies of the church who are interested in the organizing of a Young Ladies' Guild to meet in the rectory Wednesday.

SCHELL IS VICTORIOUS.

Duluth Man Won From Fast Boats at Port Arthur.

After defeating everything in sight at the Port Arthur races Saturday, Richard Schell returned yesterday to West Duluth. Mr. Schell won from the fastest boat owned in Buffalo over a fifty-mile course, and finished in the lead with one minute and fifteen seconds to spare.

The Hoosier Boy from Buffalo finished second, Scripps from Detroit came in third, while Arab the Third and the Courier, both from Buffalo, never finished, according to the story brought back. Mr. Schell says that he easily outclassed everything at the Canadian port.

The rivalry between the Dingle Capital, owned by Mr. Schell, and the Dingle Doman is still unsettled. A race between the two boats may be pulled off either Thursday or Friday of this week. A side bet of $50 is up on the outcome.

Definite action will be taken in regard to the proposed improvement to the rink this year at the meeting of the stockholders tomorrow night. With the growth in membership it has become urgent that the rink be enlarged. Two or three more curling spaces may be put in and an addition may be built.

MINERS FIGHT FOR BLIND TIGER

Mob House of Man Who "Squealed" and Also Take Booze From Officers.

Sullivan, Ind., Oct. 4.—A mob of coal miners at Star City today attacked the house of Joseph Smith, a fellow miner, who made an affidavit against alleged keepers of a "blind tiger." The windows of the house were broken by stones and shots were fired through the walls.

Smith was not hurt. He came to this city this morning and was himself arrested, charged with being drunk and having sold liquor illegally. Rufus Fowler and Frank Irvin, keepers of the alleged blind tiger," fled to the woods at the approach of a raiding party yesterday. Fowler was shot in the head, but both he and his partner escaped.

The deputy sheriff piled kegs of beer and bottles of whisky on a wagon and started to the city, but a party of miners descended upon the officers and carried off about half the goods.

The county authorities are now to make a determined campaign for law and order in the community, they say. This (Sullivan) county is "dry" by local option.

MAN OF MYSTERY TALKS A LITTLE

Finally Admits His Home Is at West Duluth.

The Ely man of mystery, who was picked up by the police while wandering aimlessly about the town, was brought to the county jail last evening and was induced to momentarily open his sealed lips. He said his name is Emil Peterson and his home is at West Duluth. When he had imparted that information, he withdrew into his shell again and no amount of persuasion would make him talk.

Peterson is undoubtedly insane. He sits in his cell at the jail and stares vacantly into space. His cellmates have tried different languages in the hope that he will talk, but he doesn't appear to notice them. His mind has gone far away. He is harmless in his mystery and hasn't made any trouble so far. He will be examined in probate court tomorrow.

ROAD RULES FOR MOTORISTS.

One of the best sets of rules that has ever been prepared for the guidance of drivers of motor vehicles has recently been compiled by Gratiot Cabanne of St. Louis, says the New York Sun. Mr. Cabanne has been a motorist for many years and has driven his Oldsmobile many thousands of miles both in his home city and over the highways of various states. His rules are especially valuable for novice drivers who wish to use their car in the streets of cities and towns, and are as follows:

1. When passing a street car which has come to a standstill from behind it is well to go slow, as it is dangerous to pass on either side, unless your car is under perfect control, so you can stop it in its length.

2. In passing street cars which have stopped moving in the opposite direction always drive slowly, as a pedestrian may step out from behind the street car, and unless your car is under control so it can be stopped in less than its length, there is danger.

3. In passing a street car from behind on the right go slow, as passengers are apt to step off front platform with their backs to you.

4. In passing all covered delivery wagons going in either direction, go slow, as the driver of the wagon may jump out to deliver a bundle before his wagon has come to a stop.

5. In turning corners to the left always keep to your right. Do not cut across the short way, as it is against the law and in case of accident you are liable for damages.

6. Slow down at the intersection of all cross streets.

7. Blow your horn at the intersection of all streets.

8. Pass all vehicles going in same direction in which you are going on their left, provided you do not have to go to the left of the middle of the street. If you have not room to pass on their left without going to the middle of the street, slow down; stay behind them until you have room, as you are violating the law if you pass them on their right.

9. Always slow down and use horn when you see one or more children playing either on the sidewalk, in yards or lots, as they are apt to run in front of your car without looking.

10. Always slow down when you are following wagons or street cars on which children are stealing a ride; also when you se apassengers going to get off, as they do not always wait to get off at street crossings.

11. Always slow down and use horn when children are on bicycles or skates in the street or on the sidewalk, as they are apt to fall in front of the car.

PRAGMATISM.

The New Philosophy Popular, But Not Easily Defined.

Of late the world has heard much of pragmatism. Two years ago the name was hardly known; then it was heralded abroad by Prof. James of Harvard in his popular lectures on philosophy, and now pragmatism is in philosophic halls and philosophic heads are puzzling over pragmatic doctrines.

Who are the Pragmatists? What is pragmatism? What new doctrines does pragmatism offer? To number the Pragmatists is an easy task, says the Catholic Quarterly Review; to define pragmatism is not so easy, and still less easy is it to follow pragmatic doctrines. Pragmatism ought to be a good thing; it is the new philosophy, and newness and goodness are nowadays almost synonymous.

Then it takes its name from the Greek word pragma, which, according to James, means practical and insists on practicaal results. This looks well, for the world today is essentially practical and demands even a practical philosophy.

But then the new philosophy forms a basis for the new theology, and this, at least for Catholics, marks it as an object of suspicion. What is more, pragmatism, its supporters declare, is grossly misunderstood. That looks bad, for a practical philosopny ought to be clear and easily intelligible to all.

Despite this difficulty, however, perhaps because of it, pragmatism has spread rapidly. It has taken root in France, Italy, England and in our own country. In France the movement is identified with modernism in theology, and its leaders are Le Roy, Bergson and Poincare.

In Italy a young band of avowed Pragmatists is led by Signor Giovanni Papini, who is editor of their militant organ, the Leonardo. The English exponent of the new doctrines is F. C. S. Schiller, whose "Studies in Humanism," a comparatively recent work, is a strong plea for pragmatism. In America James of Harvard and Dewey of Columbia are leaders of the movement. A list of other eminent scientists more or less sympathetic with pragmatism may be found in the preface to "Studies in Humanism."

Here are Pragmatists enough, but, strange to say, from the mass of their writings it is difficult to gather a clear idea of just what pragmatism is. "The Pragmatist," says Bakewell of Yale, "is an illusive person. Just when you think you have caught his meaning you find him saying something that takes it all back. He brings back through the window what he has previously turned out of the door."

PALMS MOVED 500 MILES.

A difficult undertaking and one which required the work of six men for nearly two weeks was recently accomplished in Califonia, when two thirty-foot palms were moved from the abandoned residence of H. E. Huntington, on the top of Nob Hill, San Francisco, and transported a distance of 500 miles to his new residence at Los Robles, near San Gabriel, Cal.

Palm moving is a common occurrence in California, says Horticulture, but it is not likely that any have ever been moved so great a distance with so much success. Each palm when boxed weighed eighteen tons, and a string of ten horses was required in order to transport the palms to the railway station, a distance of two miles, through some of the busiest streets in San Francisco.

The palms figured were also of more than ordinary interest to the citizens of San Francisco, having stood there for more than twenty years. In addition to this fact, they might be classed as most interesting relics of the earthquake-fire of 1906, at which time Mr. Huntington's magnificent residence was destroyed, along with everything in that district.

The fire stripped the palms completely of their foliage, leaving only the bare and blackened stems. Since that time in the course of three years fresh growth has been made by them, new well developed crowns have appeared and they bid fair to become two of the most interesting objects on the Huntington estate.

"Waking up" to the importance of the ads. is often the beginning of a new era in one's life.

STOMACH MISERY JUST VANISHES

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

CANADIAN KILLED BY FALL IN ENGLAND.

Margate, Eng., Oct. 4.—Charles A. Duff Miller, agent general of New Brunswick in London since 1896, fell from a window here yesterday and was killed. Mr. Miller was born in Ontario in 1854. It is assumed that he jumped from the window.

PRIVILEGE ABUSED

Postmaster Eaton Considering Identification Cards for General Delivery.

Would Discourage Use of Window By Boys and Girls.

On account of the abuse of the privilege of receiving mail at the general delivery window of the postoffice, Postmaster Guy A. Eaton is considering the advisability of adopting the system which has recently been tried in Chicago. This consists in requiring persons who habitually call for mail at the postoffice to sign identification cards, which are placed in indexes for reference at each recurring application for mail.

Although Duluth has less to complain of in this respect than a majority of cities, it has long been evident to the general delivery clerks and their superior officers that a large percentage of the mail claimed at the general delivery window goes to persons who are residents claiming correspondence under fictitious names.

The purpose of the general delivery system is to provide a means for transients to obtain mail; it is not to assist residents of a city in carrying on clandestine correspondence, and on this ground, if no other, the authorities expect to bring about a reform in this department of the postal service.

There has not been so much attention paid to adults who apply at the postoffice for mail as to boys and girls, especially girls. Particular care has been taken to discourage the latter from receiving letters at the general delivery window, as it is assumed that communications for them should be delivered at their homes, where their parents or guardians may exercise surveillance.

Many of the women who frequent the postoffice receive their mail under assumed names, and the natural inference is that the correspondence is of a clandestine nature. Carriers and clerks in the course of years of service in a city of the size of Duluth become familiar with the names of its residents, and many an amusing story is told at the postoffice of women who call for letters addressed in names that do not correspond with those they rightfully bear. On the other hand, there are many reputable women and men who find it convenient to get their mail at the general delivery window. But these persons are as well known as the other class.

It is not uncommon for a woman to approach the general delivery window and demand mail in several different names.

CHILD WAS KIDNAPED

Dakota Woman Claims Husband Ran Away With Their Baby.

Asks the Police to Assist Her in Locating Them.

Claiming that her husban kidnaped their 1-year-old child from her mother's home at Jamestown, N. D., Mrs. O. E. Brown came to the police station this morning to ask the aid of the local officials in locating them.

She says she is certain that he is in the city, as he left her because she wouldn't come here to live. They have not been living together all summer, she says, and she placed the baby with her mother in order that it might get better care than she could give her at that time.

The woman was in tears when she told her story at police headquarters. She thinks that if Brown learns she is in the city he will come to her. The police have asked the Children's home and similar institutions if the child has been placed with them, but have been unable to get any trace of her.

COTTON MARKETS SET FAST PACE

Government Report Sends Trading to Booming But Realizing Follows.

New York, Oct. 4.—The government reports of importance to the cotton trade issued from Washington today caused a very active and exciting market and great irregularity in prices. The report of the census bureau showing 2,562,888 bales of cotton ginned to Sept. 25, against 2,590,639 for the same period last year was under expectations in view of claims, as a result of drought, and accounted for the firmness of the market during the morning, when December cotton sold at 13.51 and March at 13.60, or 16 to 20 points above Saturday's closing prices. The crop condition figures of 58.5 as published at midday was just about what traders looked for, but were followed by tremendous realizing, under which the market lost most of its previous advance.

Unload in New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 4.—Quick to take advantage of a decidedly bullish cotton crop condition report, New Orleans longs unloaded and sent the market down 20 points. The report was within two-tenths of a point of the lowest on record, and the first tendency of the market was to advance.

TELL STORY OF FEUDIST

Postoffice Inspectors Reveal Romantic Chapters in "Old Hatcher's" Life.

Once Famous Character Dies While in Prison for Wife's Murder.

Washington, Oct. 4.—A story, tragic in its intensity and romantic in its sentiment, has been disclosed by postoffice inspectors regarding Harrison Hatfield of the family of feudists of that name, who died recently at the penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va.

The narrative is of the loss by Hatfield of $2,854, of the recovery of a part of the amount, of the murder of Mrs. Hatfield by her husband in a fit of insanity caused by the loss of his money, and of the circumstances which finally brought to an end the career of one of the most remarkable feudists in the history of the country.

Harrison Hatfield lived near Horsepen, in the mountains of West Virginia. He was widely known as "Old Hatcher," and was one of the leaders of the Hatfields in the famous McCoy-Hatfield feud, which amounted almost to a civil war and disrupted several counties on the borders of West Virginia and Kentucky. One of his eyes was shot out during a raid which the Hatfields made into Kentucky several years ago. The Hatfields owned large areas of land in West Virginia, from which they realized considerable money.

Money "Lost in Fire."

"Old Hatcher" deposited $2,854 in the Cuyan Valley bank at Dogan, W. Va. Subsequently, having need of the money, he authorized Alexander H. Trent, postmaster at Horsepen, to direct the bank to forward to him the money by registered mail. Hatfield called at the postoffice repeatedly for the registered letter, but when it arrived on April 24, 1907, he had left the office only a short time before to assist an intoxicated friend who could not sit astride his mule alone. Hatfield directed Postmaster Trent to take special care of the letter, lest it be destroyed by fire in the postoffice.

Early on the following morning the postoffice was destroyed by fire, the contents of the safe alone being saved. Hatfield's letter was not in the safe. Postmaster Trent declared he had placed the letter in the ordinary mail, all of which was burned.

An investigation of the fire was made by postoffice inspectors. It was discovered that Postmaster Trent had obtained a typewriter from a Chicago concern by fraudulent representations, to which he confessed.

Stolen by Postmaster.

Later, Postmaster Trent and his father were indicted for having stolen the registered letter. Postmaster Trent finally confessed to the theft and made propositions looking to the refunding of the money. He produced from a jar hidden under his barn the sum of $1,280, which, with $500 obtained from his bondsmen, was eventually turned over to Hatfield. Trent was convicted of the crime, but escaped from jail and is now a fugitive from justice.

Driven insane from worry over the loss of his money and the sudden elation at the recovery of a considerable part of it, Haarrison Hatfield poisoned his wife, who was an Indian woman. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for life and there he died only a few days ago.

It was not until his death that the postoffice inspectors felt justified in revealing all the facts respecting the case.

THE BATHER.

Mark Twain was censuring the extravagance of the American multimillionaire.

"Just consider," he said, "these new traveling bath tubs. I understand they're getting as common in Fifth avenue as electric elevators.

"A reporter was telling me about them. He called on a cotton millionaire one Sunday morning. The millionaire received him in his dressing-room, and after their business talk was over, the wonders of the house were taken up.

"The millionaire boasted about his Raphaels and hardwood floors, his light plant and French furniture, his gold-plated plumbing and Gobelins; but he boasted above all about his traveling bath tub.

"'It's onyx,' he said, 'a lovely golden shade. It runs by electricty, on tiny pneumatic tires, smooth and silent. Whenever I don't feel disposed to leave this room, it comes in here to me, filled just as I like it, with genuine Atlantic Ocean, brought up from Coney and warnem to 80 degs. It comes in any time I push this button.

"'Push it now,' said the reporter curiously.

"The button was pushed, the doors slid magically open, and the great onyx bath glided in stately silence into the room. But in it sat the millionaire's horrified wife."

EXCUSABLE.

Washington Star: "That girl is afraid of her shadow," said the young woman.

"Well," answered the young man, "if it's a shadow cast while she is wearing one of these new-fashioned hats I don't blame her."

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, Oct. 4.—September was a great month in the iron industry. Preliminary reports indicate that all previous records of production of iron and steel have been eclipsed and the prospects are for even greater achievements in October. Sales of pig iron have never been so great in a single month. It is estimated that over 1,000,000 tons have been put under contract and what is more remarkable, 600,000 tons have been other than steel-making iron.

Sales of standard Bessemer have aggregated 220,000 tons. Standard Bessemer has advanced to $18.50 at the furnace and basci to $17.50 at Buffalo.

It is also reported that one lot of 10,000 tons of basic was sold to go into Eastern Pennsylvania from the Central West at $16.50 at the furnace, which means $19.15 delivered, but one sale of 5,000 tons of Eastern Pennsylvania basic has been sold at a lower delivery price, that is between $18.75 and $19. Sales of foundry iron in the eastern section, while large, have been much smaller than during the preceding week, aggregating about 75,000 tons.

Some Buffalo furnaces, one in Virginia and most furnaces in Alabama again advanced prices 50 cents a ton.

The sharp and rapid advances have checked precipitate buying but there are still numerous small consumers in the market and pipe works have again bought liberally, especially fo rshipment to Western plants. All the lower grade iron offered is quickly taken up.

Stocks of all kinds of pig iron at furnaces are in excess of 1,000,000 tons, but this is a reduction of 400,000 tons in the month. Contracts for rails this month have aggregated 700,000 tons of which over 300,000 tons were placed during the last week. The Pennsylvania order exceeds 200,000 tons.

Car shops have placed additional orders for 20,000 tons of structural shapes and plates have been heavy. The American Sheet & Tin Plate company, has advanced prices of black and galvanized sheets $2 per ton and tin plates 10 cents per box. The National Tube company has advanced prices of wrought pipe and boiler tubes one point or $2 per ton.

The September output of pig iron by the Steel corporation has been approximately 1,142,000 tons and of steel ingots 1,310,000 tons, the heaviest monthly production in the history of the corporation. Structutral contracts for the month have aggregated about 75,000 tons, 12,000 tons having been placed during the last week.

FOR THE PUBLIC

New Formula Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Hoarseness in Five Hours.

Much is being done in these days to stop the ravages of consumption, but probably nothing has been so effective as teaching the public how to break up a cold and cure coughs, bronchitis, tonsilitis, etc., with syrup mome-mixed medicine free from opium, poisons, etc. A laxative cough syrup, free from whisky and poisons is the prime need. A cough indicates inflammation and congestion and these in turn are due to an excess of waste and poisons in the system. A tonic laxative cough syrup rids the system of congestion while relieving the painful coughing. Get the following and mix at home: One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. Cut this out and save it for some friend.

GERMAN DAY CELEBRATED

Duluth and Superior German-Americans Gather at the Armory.

"Star Spangled Banner" and "Die Wacht Am Rhein" Divide Honors.

Fifteen hundred men, women and children of German descent, some Americans by birth, others Americans by adoption, crowded the Armory yesterday afternoon for the celebration of German day. They came from Superior and other nearby towns to join Duluth Germans in the reviving of the old memories of the Vaterland and they entered into the spirit of the day with that enthusiasm which the Germans ever display when they are called upon to give expression to their love for the home across the sea.

They listened to the stirring speeches on the greatness of the kaiser's dominion and the achievements of the men of German birth in the Old World and the New; they heard the folk songs of their own land sung by trained voices. "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" took equal place in the program with "Die Wacht am Rhine" and "Erinnerung ans Vaterland," and while declaring love for the land of their birth or descent they did not forget the country in which they make their home.

The red, white and black of Dtutschland was mingled with the red, white and blue of the starry banner in the decorations. German and English were mingled in the songs and speeches. While doing honor to Bismarck, Kaiser Wilhelm and the heroes who have inscribed their names in German history through their achievements on the battlefield and in the fields of politics, literature and art, they also called the memory of those men of German birth and descent who have written their names into the history of the great land of the free by similar achievements.

After selections by Flaaten's Third Regiment band and the Duluth German quartet and an address by Rev. Hermann Drews, the chairman, Rev. J. C. Weber, the German speaker of the day, delivered his address in the German tongue. He dealt mostly with the history of the German empire, the vicissitudes and triumphs through which the government and the men who held the reins of government have passed, and delivered an eloquent tribute to the empire as it stands today, its ruler, its soldiers, statesmen, writers and artists.

Warren E. Greene was the English speaker of the day and his also was a stirring address. He dealt principally with the history of the Germans in America from the time of the founding of their first settlement in Germantown, Pa., in 1869 down to the present day. He lauded them as bulwarks of the republic, good citizens who do their duty and render valiant service to the country of their adoption while retaining an undying love for the Vaterland. He spoke for more than an hour and held the close attention of his auditors.

In the evening the Deutsche-Americanischer National Zweig Verein of Duluth entertained at the Eagles' hall with a musical and literary program. The hall was crowded for that event also.

HUNTING FROM BOATS.

New Ruling By North Dakota Board of Game Control.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The game board of control, which was in session Friday and Saturday, adjourned to hold its next meeting in Valley City in November.

A ruling was made by the board to the effect that hunting from boats in open water shall not be allowed, but that boats may be used when shoved into the rushes and anchored as a blind. There has been a great deal of discussion over the entire state on this subject and the board's ruling clears the situation.

HOLD UP BLIND PIG.

North Dakota Toughs Get Away With $50 in Cash.

Bottineau, N. D., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bottineau county has been infested by a tough band of hoboes this fall. Their last depredation was at Russell, where four of them entered a blind pig and, with drawn revolvers, held up the proprietor and those in the place, securing about $50.

At Newberg two members of the gang became involved in a fierce scrap, but the row was broken up by Marshal O'Brien, who landed one of the men in jail. His companions attempted to break the jail open and release him, but were prevented.

TWO MEN KILLED AND ONE BADLY INJURED.

Baudette, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two freight trains collided neor Banning, Ont., in a ten-foot cut and the two engines and eight cars were piled up. Fireman Woodcock and Brakeman Lockhart were killed and Engineer Hauser was badly injured.

LAUNCH CAPSIZED AND ONE MAN WAS DROWNED.

Red Wing, Minn., Oct. 4.—John Kreitt lost his life in Lake Pepin, and three others, Winnie and Grace Evans and George Beatty, all of Lake City, narrowly escaped a similar fate when a small pleasure boat in which the party was seated capsized in midlake. The party was returning home from a trip to Pepin, Wis., when George Beatty stood up in the craft to make some minor repairs to the engine when it suddenly capsized. All were thrown into the lake and John Kreitt went down in fifty feet of water.

Were Married Before 2,000.

Minot, N. D., Oct. 4.—The first Ward county fair came to a close after a most successful run of three days, with large crowds present from all sections of the county. The attractions on the last day consisted of a public wedding, in which K. Witham and Miss Esther Hermanson were the participants. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Murray of Minot, in the presence of 2,000 people.

Shock Killed Her.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 4.—Told by a physician that her 7-year-old son was dying of diphtheria, Mrs. Margaret Ebert, of 3 East Twenty-sixth street, fell back unconscious Thursday night, died two hours before the burial of the child, and was herself buried at 3 o'clock p. m. yesterday. Physicians say she died of apoplexy, the stroke superinduced by the shock that her child was dying.

Comes Far to Plead.

Sparta, Wis., Oct. 4.—Coming all the way from California to plead guilty to burglary was what Fred Howell, one of the boy burglars who operated in Sparta last winter, did. After being arrested last fall together with two other youths and released on bonds, he went to California with his mother. He was sentenced to the industrial school at Waukesha. He is 17 years old

Wilson Is Improving.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Huntington Wilson, assistant secretary of state, who was operated on last Friday for appendicitis, continues to improve. No disturbing complications have appeared.

S.S.S. HEALS SORES AND ULCERS

S. S. S. heals Sores and Ulcers in the very simplest way. It just goes right down into the blood and removes the cause and the place is bound to heal because the impurities and morbid matters which have been the means of keeping the ulcer open are no longer absorbed from the blood. External applications of salves, lotions, plasters, etc., can never produce a cure because they do not reach the source of the trouble. At best they can only allay pain or reduce inflammation; such treatment is working on symptoms and not reaching the cause. Every nutritive corpuscle in the blood is weakened or infected, they cannot nourish the fibrous tissue around the place, but instead they constantly discharge into the flesh around the sore a quantity of impure, germ-laden matter which gradually eats into the surrounding healthy tissue and causes the ulcer to enlarge. Since impure blood is responsible for Sores and Ulcers, a medicine that can purify the blood is the only hope of a cure. S. S. S. has long been recognized as the greatest of all blood purifiers, possessing the qualities necessary to remove every impurity from the blood. While curing the sore or ulcer S. S. S. brings about a healthy condition of the flesh by supplying it with rich, healthy blood, and thus makes the cure permanent and lasting. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

WIRELESS ON GOPHER

Apparatus Tested as Naval Militia Men Drill With Big Guns.

Despite Cannonade, the Messages Received Are Clear and Intelligent.

Although the members of the Minnesota naval militia, on their training ship, the U. S. S. Gopher, were engaged in target practice off Encampment Island, away out on Lake Superior yesterday, accounts of the drill were instantaneously flashed to Duluth by wireless telegraph, the Gopher having just been equipped with the apparatus.

Beside being general drill for the militiamen, particularly the gunners, yesterday's trip of the Gopher was also the first test of the wireless since the machines were placed aboard the ship.

Although during most of the time the messages were being flashed to the United Wireless company's local station, at Fifteenth street and Lake avenue north, one or more of the Gopher's biggest guns were booming, the currents were not in any way affected and all of the messages which came were clear and intelligent.

Message To Mayor.

The Gopher is the first naval militia training ship on the Great Lakes to be equipped with the wireless apparatus and one of the first messages sent after the Gopher was out to sea, was the following from Commander Guy A. Eaton of the militia, to Mayor Haven:

"R. D. Haven, mayor of Duluth: Officers and men of Minnesota naval militia present their compliments by wireless, the first naval vessel on the Great Lakes to be so equipped. Duluth is always to the front.

"GUY A. EATON,
"Commanding."

To this greeting, his honor, the mayor, had the following reply flashed to the Gopher:

"G. A. Eaton, commanding United States steamship Gopher, en route: Minnesota's naval militia achieved the distinguished honor of being the first naval vessel to report by wireless to the Zenith City. Accept Duluth's congratulations for officers and men.

"R. D. HAVEN."

Commander Eaton also sent several wireless messages to The Herald, telling of the progress being made at target practice. This is the first time a local newspaper has received a news report by wireless from a ship on the Great Lakes.

Throughout the exchange of messages, the wireless apparatus worked perfectly and the officials of the wireless company as well as the officers and members of the naval militia were much pleased with the test.

Following is the principal message sent by Commander Eaton:

"By United Wireless News Service, U. S. S. Gopher on Lake Superior.

"Crew of U. S. S. Gopher at big gun target practice off Encampment island, Lake Superior, W. J. Munro, Jr., and J. A. Ryan tied for high score, making 90 out of a possible 100. David Perry next with 85. Boys making excellent scores. Three targets destroyed. Firing does not interfere with wireless.

"Gopher has two enlisted men learning to be wireless operators in preparation for next year's cruise. Expect to excel in the new branch of the service and all others.

"Lieut. R. T. Hugo, in charge of great gun target practice, and Ensign Carhart made high scores for officers. The acting executive officer, Lieut. Kelly, and myself, are much pleased with the scores made.

"GUY A. EATON,
"Commanding."

ST. PAUL MAN KILLED BY GAS IN NEW YORK.

New York, Oct. 4.—The first tragedy to mar the visit of thousands of United States sailors here during the last week occurred yesterday. Two "jackies" from the U. S. S. Montana were found asphyxiated in a gas-filled room in an East side hotel. One of the sailors was dead and the other was unconscious. Their caps bore the names of H. Daniels and M. Germaine. Another, Samuel F. Herman, fell overboard from the gunboat Castine at Poughkeepsie yesterday and was drowned.

One of the Montana's crew went to the morgue last night and identified the body of the dead sailor as that of Napoleon Germaine, 25 years of age, of 290 Williams street, St. Paul, Minn. In the hospital he identified the unconscious sailor as Leonard Hixson, 24 years old, of Paterson, Mo.

SEPTEMBER WAS CLEAR AND DRY

The Weather Bureau's Report Shows the Month Was Very Pleasant.

Taken as a whole, September was a very satisfactory month. The rainfall was below the September average and the number of clear days was greatly in excess of those of the cloudy ones.

The total precipitation for the month, recorded by the local weather bureau, was 3.28 inches, whereas the average for this month for the past thirty-nine years is 3.74 inches. The wettest September in the history of the local bureau was in 1881, when the total precipitation was 11.52 inches.

In September, there were fourteen clear days, six partly cloudy ones and ten cloudy ones. Rain fell only on eight days. The mean temperature for the month was 55 degs., whereas the average for the month for the past thirty-nine years is 56.6 inches. The highest temperature was 75 degs. on Sept. 21, and the lowest 37 degs. on Sept. 24.

OLD PIONEER PASSES AWAY

First St. Paul School Teacher Dies at Daughter's Home.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 4.—Judge D. A. J. Baker, 87 years old, died Saturday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carolina Hollinshead. He had been ill about a month.

He was a pioneer settler in Minnesota, coming to this state in 1849, from Maine, where he was born, and received his education, fitting himself for the profession af a lawyer. In Minnesota he found the legal field occupied, and he turned his attention to educating the youth in St. Paul. He became the successor of Harriet Bishop who opened the first school in St. Paul in 1849.

Children of Indian, French and English parents were his pupils. After a short experience as a teacher, he resumed the legal profession, and practiced in the territorial courts for three years. The land boom in Old Superior, Wis., drew him to that part of the country in the early fifties, and he cleared a fortune from the sale of his interests. He had been appointed judge by the governor of Wisconsin, and ever since bore the title.

He was a member of the committee that framed the Constitution of Minnesota, and was supervisor and county superintendent of schools in Ramsey county. In politics he was a Democrat.

His wife, whose maiden name was Miss C. C. Kneeland, died in 1875. Years ago he lived in the center of the Merriam Park district. Then for a time on the Hapgood place, two miles north of his old home.

No old settlers' reunion was complete without him, and he was regular in his attendance at such gatherings.

He was a man of commanding presence.

CABLE COMPANY WILL ASK INTERVENTION.

St. Johns, Nfld., Oct. 4.—The Commercial Cable company has decided to ask the American government to intervene, because of the authorities here having stopped the putting in of underground conduits in the streets to connect the company's city offices with the cable landing place. As a result the company has to operate its cables in a hut on a wild and desolate seashore, reached only by a difficult and dangerous road.

MRS. STETSON NOT FIRED FROM THE EDDY SECT.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson of New York has not been "expelled" or "dismissed" from the Christian Science church, according to a statement last night from Alfred Harlow, chairman of the mother church committee on publication, but has had her license as a practitioner revoked. Mrs. Stetson still retains her membership in the church.

The move is the result of a long inquiry into the methods employed by Mrs. Stetson in teaching. The board of directors, in its report, finds that Mrs. Stetson teaches her students that the New York branch of the church, with which she is connected, is the only legitimate Christian Science church in that city; that she has been teaching an erroneous sense of the doctrines; that Mrs. Stetson has so far strayed from the right way as to be unfit fo rthe work of a Christian Science teacher.

Mrs. Stetson has sometimes been referred to as the probable successor of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy as head of the organization.

ORVILLE WRIGHT RISES 1,600 FEET

Also Makes Short Flight With Kaiser's Heir as His Companion.

Potsdam, Oct., 4.—Orville Wright Saturday broke his own and all other records for high flying. He reached the unprecedented height of more than 1,600 feet, although an official measurement was not taken.

He had a red letter day in a double sense in his experience as an aviator, taking up Crown Prince Frederick William as a passenger and more than doubling the altitude record which he made recently over the same field.

The crown prince had been constantly urging Wright, since he first saw the American fly, to take him up as a passenger. Wright evaded this responsibility while making flights at the Templehof field, owing to the unfavorable winds, but since the beginning of the flights at Bernstedted field, near Potsdam, the prince had been telephoning the aviator every morning, asking him if he was ready to gratify his request.

Prince Is Enthusiastic.

Wright finally consented Saturday. After drawing on his overcoat at Wright's suggestion, to save his uniform from being bespattered with oil, the prince took his seat alongside the aviator and the machine rose in the air.

Wright kept it at a height of about twenty feet for a brief period, but the crown prince exclaimed: "Higher, higher."

Finally the aviator went up about sixty feet and the crowds heartily cheered the prince who waved back his acknowledgments. The aeroplane glided back to the starting point ten minutes later.

The crown prince congratulated Mr. Wright on the easy and safe motion of the aeroplane and presented him with a souvenir of the occasion, a diamond and ruby pin, composing the letter "W" and a crown. He watched the daring aviator make his high flight which also was viewed by a large multitude.

THE UNSEEN MACHINERY OF A GREAT MODERN HOTEL

The St. Regis Hotel, New York, Equipped With Mechanical Marvels.

The casual observer pays slight attention to the "machinery" of an enterprise. He scans the face of his watch for the time of day, but gives no thought to its intricate mechanism, He enjoys his ride upon a Pullman or a palatial steamship, but the locomotive or the engine room do not occur to his mind. This situation is exactly paralleled in the great modern hotels. The Hotel St. Regis, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, New York city, is a fine example of what is required in these respects, and is a model of what can be accomplished when ability and experience combine their efforts. The power plant of this hotel contains all the latest and most approved mechanical devices that can add to the comfort of guests or aid in the details of management; with the added feature that the personnel is of the highest grade. The hotel itself is recognized as America's finest, and yet, a large part of this perfection is admittedly due to the perfection of its "unseen machinery." The rates at this hotel are not excessive. Its restaurant charges are the same as other first-class hotels, and rooms may be had as low as $3 and $4 a day for a large, handsomely furnished single bedroom; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); or $12 a day and up for an elegant suite, consisting of parlor, bedroom and private bath.

HAMMERSTEIN PUTS OPENING DATE AHEAD.

New York, Oct. 4.—The Manhattan opera house will open for the regular opera season on Monday evening, Nov. 8, instead of Nov. 15, according to an announcement made by Oscar Hammerstein last night. This date is earlier than that of the Metropolitan opera house, and indicates that Mr. Hammerstein is taking every action possible to checkmate his rival. He has also decided to abandon the proposed road tour of the company now participating in the preliminary season, in order to have the largest possible force in New York.

WIFE TELLS A TALE OF ABUSE

Files Sensational Answer to Her Husband's Divorce Suit.

The suit of K. L. Haataja for divorce from his wife, Anna Sophia Haataja, met with a warm answer from his wife in district court. Haataja alleges desertion as his grounds for divorce. His wife, in asking that his petition be denied and that she be granted separate maintenance, tells a story of cruelty and abuse extending over several years, with the scenes laid in two continents.

Haataja's complaint sets forth that they were married at Helsingfors, Finland, in November, 1903, and that his wife deserted him in 1905. He says he is 37 years old and she is 38.

Mrs. Haataja's answer is by far the more sensational of the two papers. After setting forth that both she and her husband are 36 years old and that they were married at Helsingfors Oct. 11, 1903, she launches forth into a story of abuse. During the first year of her married life, she says, she was subjected to cruel and inhuman treatment by her husband. Feb. 2, 1904, she gave birth to a girl baby, whose eyes were defective. Oct. 28, 1904, she says her husband left for the United States, after promising to send for her when he had established himself. She found that she would not be admitted to this country on account of the condition of the baby's eyes. The child lived four years, and after her death, Mrs. Haataja says, she wrote her husband asking that he send her a ticket, but he refused, she says. Finally she came on her own resources and went to Calumet, Mich., and her husband refused to receive her. She asks $15 a month for maintenance and $50 attorney's fees.

SCHWITTAY LOSES POINT.

Judge Holds Disbarment Proceedings Have Been Properly Brought.

Marinette, Wis., Oct. 4.—Judge E. Ray Stevens of Madison filed a decision in which he held that the disbarment proceedings brought against District Attorney A. E. Schwittay of Marinette were properly brought, and that the defendant could not interpose a demurrer.

The judge still has under advisement the supplementary charges which the bar association wished to add to the first charges made.

The briefs in the case must be filed before Oct. 9, and the judge will then decide the motion and set a date for the hearing.

Army Lieutenant Is Suicide.

North Adams, Mass., Oct. 4.—Lieut. O. W. Baird, 28 years old, a recruiting officer in the United States army, committed suicide last night by taking poison. The suicide left a note, closing with the words:

THE MONUMENT FUND.

While the Duluth contributions to the Johnson monument fund are daily increasing, it is unpleasant to realize that Duluth is yet far behind other communities in this state; particularly unpleasant in view of the fact that if there is a community in the state that should have responded quickly to this splendid movement it is Duluth.

The slowness is not, clearly, from lack of good will. Good words for the monument plan are heard on every side—and very often from people who have not yet contributed. Yet several towns very much smaller than Duluth have already raised sums much larger in proportion, and the St. Paul fund now amounts to more than $5,000—though this includes some small amounts from other towns.

One reason the St. Paul fund has grown so rapidly is that the business houses have taken it up, and without solicitation or coercion have given their employes a chance to contribute by opening lists. For instance, the Hamm Brewing company employes contributed $170.85 and the employes of the Golden Rule, a St. Paul department store, raised $163.78. In both instances the average contribution was about 30 or 40 cents per contributor, showing that each had given according to his ability—which is the way it should be. It isn't necessary to give a dollar; that amount is simply the maximum—nobody can give more, but anybody can give less. Only a few Duluth business houses have adopted this plan, and there is yet room for many more to do so.

The amount raised is not so important as the number contributing to it. The pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters are just as welcome as the dollars. In many communities the public schools have taken it up, and opened funds to which the pupils contribute what they pleased; and the late Governor Johnson so loved the children and was so loved and honored by them that this is particularly appropriate.

THE AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE.

There will be no dissension anywhere in the regret that the once proud merchant marine of this country has fallen so low, nor in the desire that it be enabled to regain its old-time pre-eminence upon the waters of the globe. In the early days of the nation this country's merchant marine was the proudest in the world, and James Buchanan, when president, was able to say that "our commerce now covers every ocean, our merchant marine is the largest in the world." Our commerce still covers every ocean, but our merchant marine has shrunken to almost nothing, except on the Great Lakes, and foreign flags fly over the holds that carry our cargoes.

Regret for the past and shame for the present will be shared by everybody. Hope for a greater future, too, will fill every patriotic breast. But when it comes to ways and means, there is a sharp and irreconcilable division.

The present movement to restore the American flag to its proper place in the world's ocean traffic is directed almost entirely by those who seek to do it by government subsidies. They argue that if the people may be taxed to support manufacturing industries, they may also be taxed to support a shipping industry—and there is more logic than good business sense in their argument.

For one, The Herald does not believe in subsidies of any kind. It believes that the business which cannot stand on its own bottom should not be encouraged, because encouragement must be at a cost to the American people so great as to outweigh any advantage that may result. The Herald does not believe in taxing the many for the benefit of the few; and its view of tariff subsidies is exactly its view of ship subsidies.

It is curious that the very interests that object most strenuously to anything so "paternalistic" as the government regulation of big business or measures designed to insure steady employment, fair pay and honest cost of living to workingmen, are most enthusiastic in support of far more objectionably paternalistic measures which seek to tax the many for the benefit of the few. Their view seems to be that the country must not be taxed for the benefit of the weak, but that it must be taxed for the benefit of the strong; that it is proper to tax all for a few, but not to tax all for the benefit of all. This reasoning The Herald has never been able to master. It has always thought it better to divide the benefits of government and of taxation as widely as possible; it has always believed that the power of government is better directed in the service of the many than in the service of the few; that it is more wisely used when it protects the weak than when it fortifies the strong: hence The Herald has not been able to muster proper enthusiasm about tariff subsidies and ship subsidies.

If American shipping has disappeared, it must be because it was not profitable; if it is not profitable, it is absurd to make it profitable by lavish subsidies to shipowners, whereby the people are made to pay profits to these persons which they could not earn, as other people earn their profits, in open competition. It would be quite as sensible, if the grocery business were not profitable in Duluth, to levy a tax upon all the people of Duluth to provide profits for the grocers which their business did not yield.

American shipping has been throttled by tariff bounties upon ship-making materials, by tariff discriminations against American ships and in favor of foreign ships. The way to build it up is to remove these handicaps. Building it up by subsidies is taxing the many for the benefit of a few. It is like lifting one's self by his bootstraps.

LIBERALITY.

Yesterday President Taft attended services at a Unitarian church, spoke to the pupils of a Roman Catholic school, and assisted in laying the cornerstone of a Universalist church. Last Sunday he spoke in a Mormon tabernacle. If the president would become as liberal in his partisanship as he is in his religion, much would be forgiven him.

GET YOUR HOME SITE NOW.

On many occasions, during the past year or two particularly, The Herald has sought to impress upon those citizens of this city who are contemplating the building of homes for themselves, either now or in the future, the need of taking action before the prices of real estate increases as they are certain to do very shortly. Lest this advice be forgotten, it is reiterated now with new emphasis borrowed from the imminence of events that are going to make Duluth greater, and that therefore will certainly make home sites more costly.

There will never be a time in the history of Duluth when lots for home-building can be bought as cheaply as they can now. Already there have been marked advances in many sections but still there are lots to be had that are cheap indeed, in view of the prices of similar property in other cities, and in view of the approaching bigness of the city's development.

The building of the new steel plant in Duluth will bring to this city a large number of families that are home-owners, not renters. This one big new plant means, beyond any question, that others will follow it; and each will bring its quota of home-buyers. The price of building lots is the creature of supply and demand; and the demand that will certainly follow the coming increases in the city's population will not allow prices to remain where they are.

Nearly every family, in all probability, looks forward to owning its own home. Renting is a wearisome business at the best. It is costly, too; and all the receipts for rent that you can accumulate will not buy a mouthful of food. The average renter, rental agents tell us, moves about once a year; and every move is a large expense and a terrible drain upon patience, strength and peace of mind. The renter is a nomad of the city, wandering from place to place, never satisfied, never thoroughly happy, ever seeking something better and ever going from the frying pan into the fire.

So every renting family indulges in the hope that some day it will live in its own home, and it is deprived of that joy only by the force of habit, the lack of aggressive initiation, and an unwarranted awe of the formidability of financing the home-owning project. It isn't nearly so hard to get a home as those seem to think who haven't investigated it. One needn't have in hand the full amount required to buy the lot and build the home. One needn't, either, wait until he is able to buy a palace. It is better to live in a cot that is your own than in a palace that belongs to somebody else.

Buy your lot, anyway; you must have that to start with. If you can't pay for it, pay something down and get a "stand-off" for the rest. Having given this hostage to fortune, you will have something to work for, and an incentive to saving; which isn't so hard as it seems, as you will find when you have got to save. The lot paid for, your home isn't far away; for you have learned the lesson of thrift, and homes are made of that material.

And, remember, too, that you will never be able to buy that building site so cheaply as you can today. Don't put it off until the lot you want costs too much, or until you have to go too far away from the center of town to get a lot that is within your reach. Buy now.

MUST WORK TOGETHER.

In the important work of regaining for the Head of the Lakes the natural advantages that has been partially destroyed by railroad discriminations, there is labor enough and gain enough in sight to make it worth while to join the two cities of Duluth and Superior in the effort to accomplish what so sorely needs to be accomplished.

The railroad interests of Duluth and Superior are, in a very large measure, identical. Indeed, it is impossible to separate the two communities, and to parcel out between them the work and the benefits of work. Both must work, and they can do better work together. It is too bad that it isn't all one town; but while that is impracticable, geographically speaking, it is not only possible but profitable and necessary, in the commercial sense.

The Superior Commercial club already has a railroad expert at work looking into the situation. Duluth will shortly have one, also. To find out what to do, it is first necessary to find out what is lacking. This will be the duty of these experts. The two clubs can do better work if they co-operate, and the two cities will have more force united than they will separately. It will be necessary, perhaps, to appeal to the federal authorities, and by the association of the two communities the power of two states will be joined.

Says the Superior Telegram: "The next step should be the formation of a joint committee representing the two commercial clubs to act together in all such traffic matters as concern both cities alike. Perhaps it would be better still to include in the membership of the joint committee the West Duluth Commercial club and the Superior chamber of commerce of the East end in our own city. This would make a joint committee thoroughly representative of the Head of the Great Lakes, and backed up by the 125,000 people who live here and the 250,000 people who will probably live here in the not distant future."

The suggestion seems good. There are few traffic matters that do not concern both cities alike. The question of terminals, which will also have an important bearing upon the coming fight, is local, it is true; but the main issues of discriminations in rates and service are common to both cities.

Duluth is in this fight to win, and it cannot afford to overlook any chance of increasing the leverage it will presently bring to bear upon the situation. Duluth and Superior working together will be stronger than Duluth and Superior working separately, and since both are seeking the same ends, and are trying to throw off the same handicaps, there seems to be no reason whatever why the work should not be conducted jointly.

In a few days the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club, at what promises to be the most important meeting in its history, will take up the several projects now pending which look to the vanquishing of disadvantages which are now holding back the growth of this city. The suggestion that Superior be invited to co-operate in those projects that concern both cities is tendered to that committee in the hope that it will be duly considered.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

SHOULD TEACH KINDNESS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Having noticed in The Herald "The Humane Corner," I am sending you a clipping from a country paper. If you could have the same rules adopted in Duluth thirty minutes a week to teaching kindness to animals, how beautiful it would be! With hope, I am respectfully yours, A. LAWRENCE.

Duluth, Oct. 2.

The clipping follows:

By humane education we seek to make heart culture co-ordinate with brain culture in the educational system of our country, believing it to be equally, if not more essential, for the foundation of the best national character. Education of the heart is necessary for personal righteousness, and this function is not by any means limited to religious teachings. It is a duty of the state and necessary for its own protection.

The only organization that can reach all the children regularly by systematic effort is the public school. Kindness to animals is as necessary to children as to the animals themselves.

Nothing is more demoralizing in its reaction than the mistreatment of dumb animals. A child can be alarmingly demoralized by hectoring a dog or cat. A child who forms a habit of hectoring dumb animals is sure to develop the habit of bullying small children.

A bully in childhood almost invariably becomes an undesirable citizen with a wrong point of view of the privileges of superiority.

Whoever prevents a child from becoming used to hectoring dumb animals or restores a child with such a habit to a normal disposition is doing a great service to that child and to his inferior associates in childhood and manhood days.

The legislature of Illinois has recently made a law requiring that every public school teacher in the state, from the kindergarten through the high school, shall devote not less than thirty minutes a week to teaching kindness to birds and animals and the importance of the part they fulfill in the economy of nature.

Who can estimate the possible effect of such noble legislation? Every state will probably have a kindred law and this will reach every public school pupil every week for about eight years.

AN INVITATION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

That facetious person who signs himself "Lakesider," and who has been heard from on two momentous occasions in the Open Court column, on which occasions he has seen fit to take gratuitous slams at the sylvan dells of Woodland, is invited to pay this suburb a visit at this time of year, when the autnumn foliage is at its best. If we could get him away from the fog out there at Lakeside long eiough for him to get his head cleared out, I believe we could sell him a town lot in Woodland and induce him to settle there. To quote our immortal J. Adam, "let us love one another." No Woodlander has any inserent antipathy to a Lakesider, beyond the fact that he is a Lakesider, and we would welcome them with open arms if they would see light and move to Woodland. From the Holy City, as our friends calls the normal school district, eastward and northward, is the coming residence district for the every-day citizens of Duluth, and I would like to have our facetious friend come out and see how we have grown.

A WOODLANDER.

Duluth, Oct. 4.

President Taft and the Tariff.

American Review of Reviews for October: Mr. Taft, in his Winona speech, argues as if it were a question of high rates or low rates or the protection principle. But when one gets deep into the tariff question, as the "insurgent" senators did, the actual issues are quite different. As one of them puts it privately, however much may be said for having the tariff "revised by its friends," there now seems to be a good deal against having it "revised by its too intimate friends. Enormous pressure was, in fact, put by private interests upon some of these so-called insurgent senators to get them to fall in with the prevailing majority. It would seem hardly likely that Mr. Taft really intended in his indorsement of the tariff work of the extra session to call upon the Republicans of the Middle West to repudiate such Republican letters as cannot conscientiously praise that piece of legislation. Just what the low tariff bill really is our readers had an opportunity to know through the expert analysis of the bill published in this magazine last month. That analysis has been widely reproduced by the daily press and much commented upon; and, so far as we have seen, no one has arisen to deny the accuracy of its statements or to refute the method by which the writer of our article proved that the Payne-Aldrich law is "revision upward" and not "revision downward." Just why Mr. Taft should appear as a more unqualified advocate and supporter of the new law than any of the men who drafted it or any of the attorneys for special interests who secured what they were after is a little hard to understand.

It is one thing to explain and defend one's acceptance of a compromise measure like a tariff bill, and it is quite a different thing to hold it up for laudation as the "best ever." Mr. Taft says that this bill is the best tariff that the Republicans ever made and, therefore, the best that the country has ever had. But this kind of characterization of a tariff must always have reference to the conditions existing in the trade and commerce of the country at the time when the bill was enacted. It does not seem to us that the Payne-Aldrich bill, when tested by its responsiveness to conditions existing in the year 1909, can compare favorably with the Dingley tariff or the McKinley tariff when those enactments are studied in the light of the conditions that produced them in their respective years. In other words, the tariff tailor made Uncle Sam a better-fitting suit in 1890 and again in 1897 than he has just made in 1909.

The Parted Ways.

I used to know a little lad,
A youngster of thirteen,
Who wasn't very good or bad,
But somewhere in between.
He had such freckles on his nose
As your nose seems to bear;
Indeed, I'd almost think that those
Were some he used to wear.

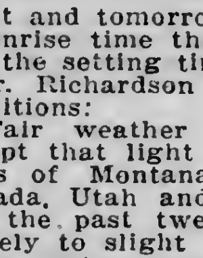
He used to have an old straw hat
All frazzled at the brim,
Indeed, I'd almost think that that
Came down to you from him.
And he had such a dog as now
Barks joyfully along
With you—it makes me wonder how
It could have lived so long.

And in his heart he held such song
As fell upon my ear,
And echoed through the shadows long
When you came whistling near;
So when at twilight, dawn or noon
This overture you bring,
It seems to be the very tune
This other lad would sing.

And he had pockets bulged with things
By which he set much store,
With knives and marbles, tops and strings,
And half a hundred more;
I see your pockets emptied now,
Your things cast up with care,
Until they seem to be, somehow,
His treasures you have there.

I know not where it was or when,
But with his heart of song
He went and came not back again,
And took his dreams along;
So some day in a little while
He'll wave a sunbrowned hand,
And leave you with his cheery smile—
And you will understand.
—J. W. Foley in Saturday Evening Post.

THE WEATHER.



Yesterday was a beautiful day and the streets and parks were thronged with people taking in the fresh, warm air. In the evening, a fog settled down over the city and it was still on duty this morning. The weather man says it will be fair tonight and tomorrow.

Sunrise time this morning was 6:11 and the setting time is 5:42 p. m.

Mr. Richardson says of weather conditions:

"Fair weather prevails generally except that light rains fell over portions of Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Nevada, Utah and New Mexico during the past twenty-four hours, due largely to slight barometric depressions central over Eastern Alberta and Western Mexico. The barometer is high over the lake region and off the North Pacific coast. Temperatures are rising in the Northwest. Conditions indicate a continuance of fine weather at the Head of the Lakes tonight and Tuesday."

Plaint of the Pessimist.

The poet sings "The world is fair"—
it is not fair to me.
It's quite monotonous, at best it lacks variety.
For instance: What relief to find a blue nasturtium bloom
Next time I take the garden path!
'Twould lighten much my gloom.

To find a tiger pussy willow purring to the spring!
A tortoise one, a darky one, would help like anything.
Alas, the sky is ever blue, the grass is always green!
A pale pink sky and purple grass
were tastier, I ween.

The pussy willows are maltese, they never change from that—
And I have always doted on a
"watermelon" cat!
I wake each day to find this earth
just the same old print—
And, mostly, nastysturtiums stay that tiresome tawney tint.

A blue one or a lavender would fill my life with glee.
How sad, how hopeless, is my lot since that can never be!
—Grace Stone Field in Puck.

Before and After.

Life: "Mr. Hudson?"

"At your service, sir."

The questioner was a tall and dignified Iroquois chief. He stood on the bank of the Hudson river.

"My tribe, as you may have heard, is not noted for loquacity," he said. "I am the single exception to the rule. You have come, as I understand, to discover this region and pave the way?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you realize what you are doing?"

"I am no prophet."

The Indian chief swung his graceful arm half way around the horizon.

"I am," he replied, "and I should like to make a prediction. In the course of time this island, that you see stretching toward the south, will be swarming with inhabitants. All these trees will be supplanted by vast structures, and on the ground will be miles of stone flooring. Millions of beings will make their way back and forth, hurrying with all their strength. Terrible engines, freighted with these beings, will traverse this land and on both sides vast bridges will span these bodies of water. Underneath there will be long subterranean tubes."

"And you?" said Henry Hudson.

"I shall go—I and my people. We shall be no more upon the face of the earth."

"And these people that are to come—will they be happy or miserable?"

The Indian paused before replying. Then he said slowly:

"One-fifth of them will be wretched beings, struggling to keep themselves barely alive, with no hope and no pleasure in life. Disease and want will harass them constantly. Two-fifths will be slightly better off, but these will be constantly haunted by the fear of poverty, and in the midst of luxury, which they constantly see before them, will be unable to do anything more than barely to maintain themselves. One-fifth of the remainder will be adventurers, trading on the turn of a coin, rushing hither and thither like madmen, up today, down tomorrow, gamblers with every form of chance, sating themselves with fiery liquids, and shrieking with the laughter of desperation and open defiance of decency. The remaining fifth will possess the land. All the others will be working for them, catering to their wants, satisfying all their fleeting vanities, cultivating their intelligences, administering to their comfort."

"And will this fifth be happy?"

"They will possess power, superiority over others and the multiple satisfactions of all the material things to be had. They will have a certain amount of leisure, the cultivation of some beauty and of some intellect. But they will not be so happy as you and I have been, because their imaginations will be dwarfed, while their capacity for plasure will be constantly tormented with the thought that they may be missing something—that, for the moment, they may have made a wrong choice."

For some moments Hudson did not reply. Then he turned to his companion.

"You're a liar!" he said simply.

Tempora Mutantur.

Puck: A certain young man, wishing to be very thrifty, quit eating meat. "Franklin abstained from meat," quoth he, "and so will I."

But he didn't stop to consider how prices have gone up since Franklin's day, and especially within the last few years. The result was that when he hadn't eaten meat for about six months he was so much money to the good that he lost his head and became one of the gilded youth.

The outworn ideals of yesterday should be taken up very guardedly, if at all.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

Tower is not to be outdone by any other section of the country in the matter of weather, and yesterday snow fell there to the depth of an inch. Hermantown and Rice Lake also had about one inch of snow and Duluth had several short squalls of "the beautiful." There was snow 100 miles out on the lake two weeks ago.

The Isle Royale Land company has decided to erect a summer resort hotel and W. W. Stockley, its civil engineer, has selected Rock Harbor, on the south side of the island, as the most desirable site. The company has not relaxed its mining operations, and exploration will be resumed in the spring.

Rev. Mr. Bronson, the pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at West Duluth, has arrived and is living at the Phillips hotel.

C. Mickelson, a Manistee, Mich., merchant, has rented a large storeroom in the Pastoret-Stenson building and will occupy it as a dry goods store. The business will be in operation by Oct. 20.

The Lakeside Land company has planned improvements to that beautiful suburb of Duluth that will necessitate the expenditure of over $250,000 next season. Under the superintendence of Prof. Chester of Chicago, the eminent landscape engineer, a survey will be made of 500 acres of land on the east side of Lester river, with the idea of drawing plans for a park.

Mrs. John Sheley, wife of the former state grain inspector here, has joined her husband in Minneapolis, their future home, where Mr. Sheley now grades wheat.

John L. Dodge of Great Barrington, Mass., is making one of his periodical visits to Duluth, and is with his cousin, James D. Ray. Mr. Dodge is well known to many Duluth people, especially the older residents.

TAFT IN MINNESOTA.

Hibbing Tribune (Rep.): Reduced to plain United States, Taft's Winona defense of the tariff is that congressmen had either to vote for their constituents or for the Republican party. Seven Republican congressmen in Minnesota chose to vote for the people of Minnesota, and even President Taft will find it difficult to persuade Minnesota that they did wrong.

Anoka Union (Rep.): The voters of the West favor a low tariff and forty-seven Tafts can't change their opinion, and it ill becomes the president to endeavor so to do.

North Branch Review (Rep.): The stalwart politicians are very indignant because the newspapers comment independently on the remarks of the president, not being able to understand that conditions are constantly changing, and nowhere are the changes more pronounced than in the refusal of the press to take their opinions from the machine politicians who are a decade behind the times in methods. The party lash no longer has the terror it used to have.

Cannon Falls Beacon: It is obvious now that the people assumed overmuch in accepting Mr. Taft as a reformer and as a logical and fitting successor to Mr. Roosevelt. It is also obvious that for what he considers party expediency Mr. Taft will surrender the meat of any principle if perchance he may retain the shell for exhibition purposes; and that before starting West he definitely allied himself with the Aldrich element of the party there is no doubt. What he can consistently do for honest commerce, clean politics and the general welfare while consorting with the representatives of "big business" he will do; unless, perchance, he should experience such further change of heart as overtook his attitude toward "conservation" and "revision downward." And that is the worst feature of the entire matter; the people of the great West who have been deceived in his alignments on these two issues will be constantly assailed by doubts of his sincerity or stability on any important issue.

Waverly Star and Tribune (Dem.): President Taft has commenced his tour through the country by eulogizing Senator Aldrich and attempting to place a halo about that corporation-owned senator's head. In criticising the insurgents the president certainly has struck an unpopular chord, while his explanation on tariff matters, to say the least, are very unsatisfactory. The people expected a great deal from Taft just after he was inaugurated, but from his recent utterances they need not do so in the future. His actions measure up with his words. His words are in praise of Aldrich and the tariff bill.

Warren Register (standpat Rep.): Taft may be right or he may be wrong about the Payne tariff bill, but he is no dodger. His Winona speech shows that he has the courage of his convictions and that when he does what he believes to be right nobody is going to bluff him out of saying so.

Wabasha Herald (Dem.): President Taft's Winona tariff speech was a disappointment. It failed to make the proper impression because it added no new information on the action of congress; it did not demonstrate that it was the best bill obtainable at this time, and it failed to explain the president's stand when he admitted that the bill was not what it should be and yet signed it. The present tariff bill is objectionable, it interprets neither the needs nor the desires of the people, and they have a right to be recognized instead of being hypnotized.

As for cementing the ties that make for party solidarity, it appears that the president met with execrable failure. instead of beckoning on to harmony the executive's utterances have widened the breach that separated the factions. The president may stand by Aldrich, Cannon and Tawney, but the public will stand by those who defended the common interests, and the arraignment of the insurgents because of the faith to their constituents can but have the opposite effect of that intended by President Taft.

The College Spirit.

October Lippincott's: In the course of a recent dinner of college men, at which the "college spirit" had been extolled this story followed an unusually impassioned speech dealing with the manner in which the alumni stick together and help one another out:

Smith, a graduate of Yale, was middle-aged and hard up, so, in his distress, he determined to appeal to the generosity of Jones, his old-time classmate, now a prosperous business man. Going to Jones' office, he sent in his card to the great man, and was promptly admitted.

He found his old friend Jones seated at a fine, big mahogany desk. The furniture and rugs were of the most expensive sort, and the caller experienced a feeling somewhat akin to awe as he contemplated all these evidences of prosperity. The great man first pressed one of a long row of mother of pearl buttons that occupied one side of his desk, dismissed the clerk who responded, with a few whispered instructions, then turned to Smith.

"Hello, old man! I'm real glad to see you. Why, I haven't laid eyes on you since class day. How are you, anyway?"

"Prosperity hasn't spoiled my old classmate," said Smith to himself. Then he opened his heart, telling Jones all his troubles: how he had had a wife and three children, a happy home and a good paying business, but the childred died, one after another, his wife became an invalid and also died; his partner swindled him; he first mortgaged his home, then lost it; now he was "down and out."

As Smith talked he was carried away by the recital of his woes, and the tears ran down his face. Jones was similarly affected, and when he pushed one of the mother of pearl buttons his caller was sure that help was at hand.

In answer to the ring, a darky of imposing size appeared and stood at attention. To him Jones said, his voice choked with emotion:

"George, put this ——— ——— ——— out." (More sobs.) "He's breaking my heart."

Had the Habit.

Puck: Head Librarian—Our patrons have reported several cases of discourtesy from the new clerk. They say that she has absolutely refused to show them the books, excusing herself by saying that she does not know where they are.

Assistant—I was afraid that her training would spoil her for the job. You know she used to work for a trust company in New York during the investigation.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Puck: Stranger in Their Midst—This home-coming celebration isn't very much of a success, is it?

Citizen—Well, ye see, we got a pretty cold deal—the only feller who come was old Bill Skinner, an' most of us was hopin' he'd gone for good.

Boston Herald: "Is that your mother-in-law over there, smiling at you?"

"No. If she is smiling at me, it isn't my mother-in-law."

Judge: He—And what did you think of "Consul," the monkey who is almost a man?"

She (terribly bored)—Quite a pleasant diversion to the almost monkey—he can't talk.

Philadelphia Record: Wigg—Scribler's stories all have such sad endings.

Wagg—Yes, they generally find their way into the wast basket.

New York Sun: Knicker—What becomes of the chauffeur's friends?

Bocker—They are generally killed with kindness.

Fliegende Blaetter: Noncom, (to recruit)—I don't suppose you have smelt powder, have you?

Recruit—Oh, yes; I was in a drug store before I enlisted.

Puck: Knicker—It is said that you can be well educated with a five-foot shelf.

Flatter—What would you get out of a folding bed that looked like a bookcase?

Cleveland Leader: "Hurrah!"

"What's the matter?"

"Here's a magazine with an article in it about something that the other magazines haven't any article about!"

Philadelpha Record: Cynicus—It is impossible for a woman to keep a secret.

Henpekke—I don't know about that; my wife and I were engaged for several weeks before she said anything to me about it.

Chicago Tribune: "So Miss de Breeze, you're writing a story, and went to that summer resort to get what you call local color. Did you get it?"

"Did I? You ought to see my arms from the elbows down!"

Chicago News: "Charlie, dear," queried the fair maid at the ball park, "why does that man behind the hitter wear such a big bib?"

"That," explained Charlie, "is to keep his shirt front from getting mussed when the ball knocks his teeth out."

New York Press: "Why is it," asked the blind man of his neighbor, "that the women with the sweetest voices are always so ugly?"

"How do you know they are ugly?"

"My wife describes them to me."

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: What makes a girl pretty is the way she can look when you tell her she is.

A young widow is awful smart to look so sad when a lot of old cats are around.

You can't help being nice to a man who is a bigger fool than you are and admits it.

Back to the Home Roost.

Saturday Evening Post: A traveler in Arkansas came to a cabin and heard a terrifying series of groans and yells. It sounded as if murder was being committed.

He rushed in and found a gigantic negro woman beating a wizened little old man with a club, while he cried for mercy.

"Here, woman!" shouted the traveler, "what do you mean by beating that man?"

"He's mah husban', an' I'll beat him all I likes," she replied, giving the man a few more cracks by way of emphasis.

"No matter if he is your husband, you have no right to murder him."

"Go, 'long, white man, and luf me alone. I'll suah beat him some moah."

"What has he done?"

"Wha's he done? Why, this triflin' no-'count nigger done lef de door of my chicken house open and all mah chickens done gone out."

"Pshaw, that's nothing. They will come back."

"Come back? No, suh, they'll go back."

Efforts to fill Pit in Rice Lake Road Are Unavailing.

Two Surfaces Have Rolled Under and Planks Will Be Used.

The sink hole, which made its appearance on the Rice Lake road about two weeks ago, is proving more troublesome for Commissioner John Tischer than he expected. All efforts to fill it up and make a solid roadway have thus far proved futile and steps will not be taken to plank the place so as to give a solid footing.

The formation of the hole, which is several feet wide, effectively barring all traffic, is queer. It consists of mud and water and developments have made Commissioner Tischer believe that it is an unfathomable pit.

The ordinary course employed in filling holes of the kind have proved unavailing. Brush was first spread over the hole and then gravel placed over that to make a roadway. When the work was next inspected, the sides had heaved, the surface had rolled over and a new surface of black, oozy mud was presented to view.

What should have been more effective measures were then used. Trunks of trees were spread across the surface, sand and gravel used in quantities and what appeared to be a solid surfac was again formed, but that rolled over like the other and the same black, oozy mud was once more offered as an obstacle to vehicles passing along the road.

Now the planking system will be used. Stringers will be stretched across the hole, so that they will have a firm setting in the ground on the edge of the mud basin. The planks will be nailed on them and as they will have no direct contact with the contents of the hole, the mud may roll over as it will and the surface will not be disturbed.

The road is much traveled and the existence of the hole has been a source of trouble to all those passing that way. They have been forced to make wide detours through the brush at considerable inconvenience. The planking will be an effective remedy, it is expected, and there will be no further trouble.

LOST $200

The man who neglected to buy his ten acres of land for a grove on the Isle of Pines last year has lost just $200 by waiting. To wait another year will prove still more expensive. With the great number of people going to the island, and making improvements, and with the hundreds of acres of groves now just coming into bearing, and beginning to ship their fruit, land values cannot stand still. $50 an acre is dirt cheap.

Walker's copper letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial said:

"Copper is a little weaker and prices are a shade lower than a week ago. Lake is 13¼@13½c, and electrolytic 13@13¼c per pound. As yet there is very little gain in the export movement, but purchases by domestic consumers seem to be on the increase. This better buying is due to the actual growth of consumption, as consumers are showing no disposition at present to stock up or accumulate supplies of copper for future account.

"Sentiment in the trade is inclined to be bearish. Consumers believe they will be able to buy all the copper they want throughout the remaining months of the year at 13@13½c per pound. They like to believe that there is an accumulation of 400,000,000 pounds, though the actual surplus is less than 300,000,000. It is not to be expected that they will again purchase heavily for future account until after the European syndicates who occasionally enter the market and clean up the cheap copper have done so again.

"European manufacturers have bought their copper at a lower average price than American consumers for generations past. When American consumers reach the stage of dejection in which they are now found, the Europeans come in and buy tens to hundreds of millions of pounds, usually at rock bottom prices. Then the Americans always become excited, bid up the market against one another, and buy far in excess of their needs at advances of one or two cents, putting themselves in a position where they cannot compete with the Europeans in the foreign market for manufactures.

"Notwithstanding the tremendous improvement in general business, and the advance in the prices of practically all commodities, copper is now selling very near its low point for the year. This year opened with lake copper selling between 14½@14¾c. By the end of January it had declined to 14c. In the middle of February it was down to 13½c, and it continued to decline quite steadily until about March 15, when sales were reported at 12½c. By the first of April it was back to 13c again, where it remained until the middle of May. By June 1 it was selling around 13½c, the result of large foreign purchases having been made around 12½@13c in March and April, and in June domestic consumers bought considerable in excess of their current requirements, causing lake copper to sell as high as 13¾c. There was a marked falling off in the buying during July and August, and the price gradually sagged down to about 13⅛c early last month.

"We are now approaching the period of the year when a general increase in industrial activity should be expected. There is quite sure to be a larger volume of buying and a steadily increasing consumption both in this country and Europe for eight or ten months to come. I believe the business outlook is good enough to warrant the belief that copper consumption may increase rapidly for three or four years to come. It is likely to grow more rapidly than consumption, and there is a good prospect that copper will sell as high as 17@18c some time next year."

MURDERS MAN WHO TRIED TO MURDER HIM.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Patrick McCabe, 25 years old, of Pittsburg, was shot and killed here Sunday by Frank Mee, 60 years old. Mee, whose hands and face are badly lacerated, told the police that he followed McCabe here to revenge himself.

NO ANSWER FROM CULLUM

Believed That Former Mayor Will Again Be a Candidate.

Marcus B. Cullum has given to the members of the committee who waited upon him Saturday afternoon no definite answer as to his becoming a candidate for the nomination of mayor upon the Democratic ticket.

Today he stated that he would not become a candidate unless the city Democratic party was united solidly for his support. As yet, though, he has announced no definite intention of becoming a candidate for the nomination.

From a close friend of the ex-mayor, a man largely instrumental in arranging the "harmony" meeting of last Thursday evening, comes the statement that Mr. Cullum will be the candidate of the party. The man giving this piece of information, spoke with an authority that smacked of an inside knowledge of the situation.

ELECT OFFICERS FOR ALLIANCE

German-Americans Also Decide to Meet Next in Milwaukee.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 4.—The convention of the German-American alliance today voted down a resolution condemning Gen. Fred Grant for marching in his uniform at the head of a temperance parade in Chicago. Prevailing arguments were that Gen. Grant marched in his personal capacity only, and that "he is not a fanatic, as he advocates the usefulness of the canteen for the army."

A resolution asking the government not to pass legislation curtailing well-meaning immigration was adopted. It was held the government should better distribute immigrants over the country.

A resolution calling on the alliance to contribute to the support of German private schools was defeated on the ground that the organization members do enough for the cause of education by paying taxes for public schools, and that the alliance will use its influence to maintain the teaching of the German language in the public schools.

Meet in Milwaukee Next

The convention voted unanimously to invite the German Protestant association of the United States to join the alliance.

The following officers were re-elected:

President, D. C. Hexamer, Philadelphia; vice presidents, Joseph Keller, Indianapolis; John T. Jarks, Baltimore; Col. E. C. Stahl, Trenton, N. J., and John D. Campelman, Charleston, S. C.; treasurer, H. Weineger, Philadelphia; recording secretary, Adolph Timm.

Herman Weder of Philadelphia was elected financial secretary.

Milwaukee was chosen as the next meeting place.

A MORAL LESSON.

Mike Powers, the Athletic's catcher, said at a recent baseball banquet in Philadelphia:

"All the talk there has been in New York about crooked foot races and crooked umpires and crooked fights—all this vague, formless talk about crookedness makes me think of a South Carolina meeting I once attended.

"At the end of this meeting it was decided to take up a collection for charity. The chairman passed the hat himself. He dropped a dime in it for a nest egg.

"Well, gentlemen, every right hand there entered that hat—every right hand—and yet, at the end, when the chairman turned the hat over and shook it, not so much as his own contribution dropped out.

"'Fo' de lan's sake!' he cried. 'Ah's eben los' de dime Ah started wiv!'

"All the rows of faces looked puzzled. Who was the lucky man? That was the question which tormented all. Finally the venerable Calhoun White summed up the situation.

"'Breddern,' he said solemnly, rising from his seat, 'dar 'pears to be a great moral lesson roun' heah somewhar.'"

It is figured that it will take $112,000,000 to build the subways necessary to take care of the street traffic in the city of Chicago.

A BIG CITY'S LITTLE WANTS.

Odd Ways in Which Some Men Make a Living.

Anybody can be a clerk or a clergyman or a bank president or a teamster. It takes more individuality to strike out in a career like that of the man who works but one week in the year.

This man is Santa Claus. He was once a civil engineer and then he became an architect and finally he deserted both callings and became Santa Claus, says the New York Sun.

His head is covered with a great mass of snow white hair. It falls down over his venerable shoulders and mingles with his equally white beard. The latter falls far down his chest and the old gentleman looks for all the world like the pictures of Santa Claus. Every holiday season he can be found working in some store, posing as the holiday saint, rattling shiny toys before the fascinated gaze of New York's million children.

Fifty-one weeks in the year he works not at all, and how he subsists and has enough money to buy his little red drinks no man can tell.

There is another peculiar calling. In a downtown office a man sits day after day writing obituary notices. He has developed the knack of writing pretty nothings about men who are still living, and an industrious salesman sees that these eulogies are set up in type and shown to the flattered subject, who is usually persuaded to pay in return for the promise that every newspaper of importance will receive a proof sheet of his life's happenings. Often these obituaries are published before the subject dies, as for instance on the occasion of his wife's suing him for divorce.

The lineup man is a product of New York and of nowhere else. He belongs to a clan of agile, sinewy legged brethren who infest back yards and his business is to shin up the poles from which are suspended innumerable clothes lines to fix up frayed out lines, tie on new ropes and get the courtyard rigging into ship shape condition against the Monday wash. He will climb the highest pole in Harlem without the aid of a net and fix your ropes for 25 cents.

"Lady, it is decidedly unsafe to trundle your baby about in that rickety carriage," is the greeting of the vender of rubber tires for perambulators.

After convincing a startled mother that she has been carelessly subjecting her child to terrible danger from capsizing, the crafty salesman swoops down upon the craft, tacks on a set of new tires, tinkers up a ricket spoke, slaps a cracked hub together and hies him on his way with a merry quarter in his jeans. It's another odd job.

Take the industrious sellers of keys They come up to your tenement home, knock at the door and ask whether you need a new key to the chateau, If you have just lost your last key the keyhole genius stoops down, twiddles around with a blank key and some beeswax, files a couple of notches in the blank and presto—you have a shining new key all for 10 cents. A locksmith would take two days and charge you 25 cents.

Every regular New Yorker has met up with the tribe of lads who haunt the exits of elevated and subway stations laden to the guard rails with umbrellas. Their big days are the weepy days, when the clouds gather at noon and it begins to pour at 5:30, when the homeward bound find themselves sans rainstick.

These merchants will do three things for a small consideration. They will escort you to your home under the friendly shelter of an umbrella, they will rent you the said umbrella, or they will sell it to you outright, to be yours forever and aye—only in case you purchase it the bally thing crumples up like tissue paper in the next rainstorm.

On the streets of New York you can find one-man band. He is a distinct outgrowth of East side necessity, because, jammed in amid its condensed civilization, a regular full-sized band couldn't do business at all and a cop would speedily silence the stoutest hearted crew. But the one-man band can thread his way through the East side's tortuous channels, playing the drum, the fife, the cornet, the cymbals the—well, everything that belongs in a real band, and charitable folk, who want to help the good work along, may drop their coins into the little tin cup suspended from the top of the drum.

Street acrobats in New York acrobat while the nearest policeman is furthest away. They usually roam about in twos, tumbling like circus clowns, high jumping, hoop rolling, leapfrogging and loop the loop until a suitable crowd has gathered. Then they collect the coins quickly and amble along to the next block, where a similar performance is given, with a similar collection.

On the haughty West side you will rarely meet the bewhiskered individual with the butcher's scale, squeaking his way along with an appealing and ingratiating smile for all. He belongs to the crowded and children filled marts of the East side, and for a cent he will weigh any child, large or small, promising absolute truth in the matter of weight, s'elp him. If there happen to be six little waifs in the crowd, all tingling with anxiety about their weights, the scale pusher can be lured into accepting a nickel for the weighing of the crowd.

Precisely speaking, the man with the camera cannot be included in this list of people who make a living out of curious jobs. Most folks have seen him anchored on a bright corner of a Sunday afternoon taking the pictures of one and all for the small sum of 10 cents.

When you have on your best bib and tucker you strike a dignized pose, with your smallest sister leaning against you, and in two jerks of a lamb's tail your likeness is slipped upon the postcard, which is kept forever after in the family album, where in years to come you gaze upon it and wonder how two such spindly legs supported such a large child.

The man with the telescope doesn't make a handsome income, and he usually looks unhappy and ill at ease, but for a nickel he will show you the ridges in the moon and the canals in Mars, and if the bulbous top piece of the Metropolitan tower gets in the way it's your own fault, and your nickel is lost.

Next comes what is really a woman's calling, but strangely enough it is followed by a large man with an extremely red face and a stubby mustache. Children must like him, because his business is checking them while bargain-seeking mammas thread their ways through the aisles of stores. He stands at the head of a line of baby carriages, soothing his round-faced charges and waving a tinkling strapful of ragged-edged checks. Upon delivery to him of the check which he gave you when you entered the store, you may receive again your baby. No check, no baby, just as in the Chink's place.

You mightn't think that a man could eke out an existence selling catnip. One does, though. He stands at an uptown corner with a basketful of cat's delight, selling it for 2 cents a bunch, and the old maids in the vicinity make daily pilgrimages to his corner. When you're inclined to growl about your present salary, think of the man selling catnip for 2 cents a bunch.

Being a dog undertaker might be classified as a curious occupation in New York. It is declared that there isn't a dog undertaker anywhere else in the world, but the one here mentioned makes a fine living out of it. He takes charge of the departed dog, slicks him up, chucks him into a proper coffin and buries him with pomp, the quality anl volume of said pomp being largely determined by what you have to spend upon the interment of your four-legged pal.

Here's another funny occupation. A man goes around through the sweatshop district mending shoes. If you are a sweatshop employe you generally have one pair of shoes, and of necessity they are on your feet. You can't leave them with the cobbler when the roof springs a leak or the uppers secede from the lowers. You haven't time to sit around the shop in your stockings.

So this itinerant cobbler hunts you up at your shop, takes off your shoes while you sew and caulks up the seams, tacks on soles and heels and you pay him with a cheerful smile and some small change.

Steeplejacks are peculiar in a way, but they have found another occupation in addition to crawling up flagstaffs. They tinker the roofs of downtown skyscrapers. Ordinary janitors and helpers refuse to slide around on a roof that's half way up to heaven, because they say it makes them dizzy and they would probably fall off and be mussed. So the regular steeplejack is called upon, and when the sixty-ninth story roof needs a shingle he is the man to put it on.

Speaking of roofs recalls another curious occupation. Only in our best circles can it be found, and it consists of a man standing upon a roof watching twenty clotheslines to see that some hard working maid doesn't go south with my lady's lingerie. The big apartment houses have special roof watchmen and they work the year round, guarding all the clothes that can be hung upon ever so many lines. These men are highly unpopular with the Maids' association, local No. 9.

Now comes an occupation that deserves nothing but hard words and the righteous denunciation of all honest folk. Boys have their own dovecots with homing pigeons in occupancy. The homing pigeons, which haven't a shred of probity about them, fly gayly into the streets and consort with strange pigeons, passing the time of day and insidiously working into the good graces of the unsuspecting strange pigeons.

It is notorious that pigeons love company. Put a pigeon by itself and in time it dies of loneliness. So when the trained and reprehensible homing pigeon suggests a little visit up at the cote, with a sly reference to a bit of choice fodder, out they start, the homing pigeon followed by one or several unsuspecting fellows.

They hike into the bad boys' cote, which is equipped with trap doors. The next day the poor little pigeons are hanging in the butcher's window, tastefully dressed, the wicked boys are jingling new coins and the despicable homing pigeons are sneaking about the streets for other victims.

Another curious occupation is that of the office shylock. He is usually a foreigner who makes $10 a week and he carries a roll of bills large enough to burn a wet dog. When he lends $10 on Monday morning you pay him back $12 Saturday night. You always pay it. You have a distrust of foreigners and they may dislike you if you don't pay your obligations. The office shylock generally masquerades as a shoe shiner.

People who go downtown at night rarely miss seeing the man who advertises various things through an electric sign on his chest. He presses a button at intervals and a light flashes, urging you to buy a cigar or a stick of gum, or something else. The right thing to say, because every one says it upon passing this individual, is "That's a fine thing, for a grown man to be doing!"

Down the bay there is another industry most people never hear of. Enterprising venders owning their boats meet incoming tramp freighters and sell the crews everything from a pair of mittens to a cough drop. They load their craft with most things you find in a department store and they drive fine bargains with the sailors.

Then come the lobster cruisers. A flotilla of swift mottor boats race into port every morning about 4 o'clock laden to the top floor with fresh lobsters. These boats are powerful and speedy because their owners must scoot around all night far down the Sound, buying lobsters from the fishermen.

They cover a long route and they work every night except Saturday, in storm, and blizzard, fearing nothing but a warm rain, which is bad for their cargo. Each boat has a crew of three men, and when the load of lobsters is piled into the bottom the race begins. They tear up the Sound, and the man with the speediest boat gets the best prices upon reaching port.

Down among the newly arrived immigrants a number of men manage to scrape a living by selling first lessons in English to the strangers struggling with our tongue. These lessons are in the form of simple English sentences, followed by the translation in the tongue of the foreigner. Five cents will buy enough assorted conversation to last a new immigrant several weeks.

"Ground squirrel" is the name applied to men who work for bookmakers at the race tracks. They blossomed forth after Governor Hughes laid an iron hand over the betting field, and their work was to sneak around, watching big bettors, gathering bits of information and whispering it to the man who made the book.

LOBSTERS THAT KICK.

When They Find Other Lobsters Walking and Clawing Over Them.

It will probably be news to most people that lobsters can kick; at least the spiny lobster from Bermuda can, anyway. Not of the familiar dark green in color, but very strikingly tinted with various hues, yellow being its most conspicuous color, says the New York Sun.

It has no big claws, the spiny lobster, but its legs are extraordinarily long and slender, as are also its antennae or feelers, of which it has two pairs, the longer pair being as long as its body. These longer feelers are shell encased, rather thick at the butt, where they are attached to the body, but tapering out through their great length, to very slender tips, and these feelers are covered with tiny but needle pointed spines, liable to warn off any creature that touches them.

The spiny lobster's other pair of feelers are shorter and slenderer and more flexible, and midway of their length these feelers are each divided into two parts, extending outward from this point in two straight but very slender and flexible twiglike prongs. These shorter feelers have each in the single part near the body a number of joints, so that the lobster can readily twist them in any direction.

A striking feature of this spiny lobster is its eyes, which are carried at the end of two little fleshy cylinders that project three-quarters of an inch or more from its body. This extraordinary species is now to be seen at the aquarium in one tank, eight specimens, the largest one of which would probably measure from the tip of its longest feelers to the tip of its tail three feet.

They are always or almost always on the move; slowly, to be sure, deliberately, but always moving. Sometimes the whole bunch will get together in one corner of the tank in what seems to be an inextricable tangle. Then you see their red and yellow bodies in a confused bunch, with feelers and legs sticking out of the mass everywhere in all directions.

And then maybe three or four of them are lined up along the floor of the tank in front, right at the glass, and as likely as not the biggest lobster of the lot will start to walk along over this line, walking on those other lobsters' backs.

As the big lobster on top comes thus clawing its way along the line it may come to a lobster that doesn't like being walked over, and when the big lobster sets its feet down on its back and continues to set them so this lobster rears up at it, as a horse might rear without throwing out its feet. With its tail folded under its body it rears up vigorously, once, twice, three times, at the lobster on top, as much as to say, "Get out of that, you lobster! What do you mean walking around on me like that?"

And the kicker brings the big lobster to a standstill for a moment. But then the big lobster raises itself up higher still on its tall legs and then it starts on again, clambering on over everything.

THE NEW GERMANY.

Berlin Called "a Parvenu City, a Mere Triumph of Mechanics."

"There is no European nation that has altered within a single generation in so many essential qualities as Germany," says a writer in the North American Review. "That there has been a change and a deep change the very stones of Berlin cry aloud. The great city on the banks of the Spree, a generation ago little more than a placid village, is today a strident metropolis whose style of existence marks the vastness of the distance that Germany has travelled in the last forty years.

"There may be plenty of high thinking done in the capital—done by men whose salaries, worldliness and activities make the old type of German professor seem an impossible anachronism—but it is certainly no longer a city of conspicuously plain living. The rents are such as to open even a Londoner's eyes, household expenses are proportionately severe and the clubs, the theaters and above all the hotels and restaurants point in a direction that does not lead by any means to economy.

"There are hotels today in Berlin that are little if at all behind the best of those in New York. True, they are not greatly patronized by the Berliners themselves, to whom the cafe is still the chief, and not the public, resort, but the mere presence suggests an emphatic change in the scale of things. Berlin is as much an affair of our own time as Chicago. It is [illegible] by the raucous and insistent present. It is a triumph of mechanics and more.

"True, the labor of building it has been far more dexterously hidden than is the case with most American cities. It escapes the deadly uniformity, the prosaic rectangular precision, the dreadful air of having been [illegible] a straight [illegible] and dumped down by contract that characterize New York. The streets are curves, are spacious, shaded with avenues of trees, faultlessly asphalted and clean with a cleanliness surpassing even that of Paris.

"The white buildings, the crystalline air, the uniform and the eternal salute are overwhelming intimations of a planned, ordered, thorough [illegible] and the combination is not unpleasing. But I cannot understand [illegible] that Berlin is [illegible] to be [illegible]. The architecture [illegible] florid, [illegible] Unter den Linden to Charlottenburg will [illegible] finer, or at any rate more imposing, houses than either London or New York can show in such profusion.

"Yet it fails to convey the London or the Parisian effect of cosmopolitanism. Berlin court officialdom only put a little glitter on a life [illegible] crude [illegible]. It is furiously, spitefully national.

"But if not cosmopolitan itself Berlin [illegible] whirl [illegible]. It flaunts a coarseness of depravity that [illegible]. In no European capital do the standards in matters of the senses fall so low, or [illegible] over [illegible] vagaries [illegible]."

FISHING SCHOONER'S PROVISIONS.

Boston Herald: How much food do you suppose twenty-three men will consume in one week aboard a fishing schooner? About 150 pounds. How much [illegible]? A bushel basket twice full of two pound packages. How much meat? Half a steer for roasts, steaks, stews and corned beef. Potatoes? About three bushels. [illegible] find a place aboard the vessels in large quantities. [illegible] for fish chowders and fried fish, for crews of fishing craft are notoriously fond of sea food.

The vessels are kept stocked with provisions for at least a week or ten days longer than the time generally required to make a trip to the grounds and return. The [illegible] water [illegible] which [illegible] rate of one-half cent a gallon.

LIVESTOCK ARE KILLED BY CARS

Train Plows Through Herd Near Chisholm With Fatal Results.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nineteen head of cattle that were grazing along the Great Northern tracks near here a few nights ago were killed as a passenger train plowed through the herd. Some were not killed outright, but were dispatched to prevent their suffering further as they were hopelessly maimed.

The twisted and torn fragments of the dead and dying animals were strewn along the track for nearly half a mile.

As the right-of-way of the road was not fenced it is expected suits against the company will result unless settlement is made with the owners of the stock.

IRVING TIGERS LOSE THE GAME

West Duluth Eleven Defeated By the Grand Rapids Boys.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Rapids city team played its first game of football this season yesterday and won by defeating the Irving Tigers of West Duluth in one of the hardest fought battles ever waged on the local gridiron by a score of 10 to 0. Although.

Although the teams appeared to be evenly matched the locals won on being in better condition. But two touchdowns were made, one in each half, and both by Meyers. The forward pass was attempted several times by both teams but in every instance resulted in penalties.

Next Sunday the Grand Rapids team will play its old rivals at Bemidji and a hot game is looked for.

The Grand Rapids high school defeated the Bemidji high team by a score of 17 to 11 in a close contest in the game played Saturday for the championship of Northern Minnesota.

Although the visitors outweighed the locals the latter proved the speedier and used the forward pass to good advantage. Brandon of Grand Rapids received a forward pass of twenty yards and ran thirty yards for a touchdown, Puel kicking goal, this being the only score in the first half.

In the second half Bemidji secured the ball on a fumble by Grand Rapids and scored on straight football, but failed to kick goal, making the score 6 to 5 in favor of Grand Rapids. Bemidji again scored on mass plays, Lycan going over the line and goal was kicked, making the score 11 to 6 in favor of Bemidji.

Grand Rapids kicked off to Bemidji, who attempted a forward pass on the third down and Grand Rapids secured the ball on a fumble and made a touchdown on a long run, but failed on goal, tying the score.

With five minutes to play, Grand Rapids again worked the forward pass for touchdoown and kicked goal, making the final score 17 to 11.

Huson cottage, from which point it is expected the township or the village will finish it to the paper mill spur track, where the paving commences. It's Absolutely True

That coffee drinking gets on the nerves of some persons, upsets the stomach and causes headaches in others.

Quitting coffee and using well-made for ten days tells the tale.

POSTUM

"There's a Reason"

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in every third pkg.

CRIED EASILY

Nervous Woman Stopped Coffee and Quit Other Things.

No better practical proof that coffee is a drug can be required than to note how the nerves become unstrung in persons who habitually drink it.

The stomach, too, rebels at being continually drugged with coffee and tea—they both contain the drug—caffeine. Ask your doctor.

An Iowa woman tells the old story thus:

"I had used coffee for six years and was troubled with headaches, nervousness and dizziness. In the morning upon rising I used to belch up a sour fluid regularly.

"Often I go so nervous and miserable I would cry without the least reason, and I noticed my eyesight was getting poor.

"After using Postum a while, I observed the headaches left me and soon the belching stopped (water brash from dyspepsia). I feel decidedly different now, and I am convinced that it is because I stopped coffee and began to use Postum. I can see better now, my eyes are stronger.

"A friend of mine did not like Postum but when I told her to make it according to directions on the package, she liked it all right."

Always boil Postum well and it will surprise you.

Hibbing Man Landed for the Way He Handled Fair Exhibit.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The splendid manner in which O. W. Randall handled the Hibbing portion of the St. Louis county exhibit at the state fair called forth encomiums from the members of the Commercial club.

Mr. Randall took full charge of the exhibit, spent a whole week at the fair and devoted his entire time to entertaining the visitors to the exhibit, and refused to accept any compensation for his work and time. The members of the Commercial club expressed the sentiment that Mr. Randall has rendered Hibbing and St. Louis county a most valuable service.

PIONEER OF HIBBING PASSED AWAY SUNDAY.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Death Sunday claimed one of the pioneers of Hibbing in John Meehan, aged 49, who is survived by a widow and two children. Mr. Meehan was one of the early settlers of Hibbing and he owned much property here and in this vicinity. He came to Hibbing in the early days of the village from Michigan.

average height of fifteen feet, Wright turned up his elevating planes, and floated up to forty feet.

Reaching the sea wall he found himself confronted by the big passenger steamer Seaberg, but he easily mounted over the obstacle, and kept on rising until he was 100 feet above the water. As his bi-plane appeared against the sky, the craft in the harbor turned loose their whistles.

Rose to About 300 Feet.

"The machine responded in fine shape," said Mr. Wright, as he clambered through the network of wires of his machine, after he landed at the aerodrome on oGvernors Island. "The motor worked fine. I started flying about seventy-five feet above the water, but kept climbing higher, until I was about 200 to 300 feet high. The air currents sent up by the funnels of the ferry boats interfered somewhat, and I came down nearer to the water.

"I could hear the cheers of the sailors on the warships," continued Mr. Wright, as the enthusiastic group of army officers and newspaper men who had awaited his return with keen anticipation grasped his hands to congratulate him. "The wind was blowing about ten miles an hour, and I had to head in a little toward the east instead of pointing the machine straight up the river.

Fulfills His Contract.

"This flight fills every condition of my contract," added the aviator, in response to inquiries as to further demonstrations of his prowess in the air, "but if the favorable weather continues this afternoon I may make another flight, which can be announced by the Hudson-Fulton aviation committee. I will leave for Washington to train the army officers as soon as possible."

As the aeroplane approached the city, flying steadily but bucking the wind, the roofs of all the buildings became crowded, and pleasure craft started up the river in an effort to keep up with the remarkable craft that flew above them. They were soon compelled to give up the chase, for Wright outstripped the fastest of them.

Distanced Water Craft.

As the machine flew high above the water craft, the little maroon-colored canoe which Wright had previously attached to his aeroplane in the event that he should become compelled to alight in the water, was plainly visible.

As the machine pushed into the breeze, dipping slightly occasionally as though caught by a downward trend of the air, and then again was lifted suddenly, apparently striking a disturbing air current, the absolute mastery of the aviator was strongly impressed on the spectators.

to the left Mount Shasta was seen gleaming through the early morning mists, its snowy clad summit rosy with promise of a perfect day. Even in the early morning hours the whole countrysied was focused on the president's train and every station platform was crowded with farmers and their families.

The first stop of importance was at Redding, where three minutes was given to attach the special car bearing Governor Gillett and the committee of twenty business men from the Bay cities, who joined the president while he was addressing the school children and citizens of Redding, who filled the streets surrounding the station. A company of National Guardsmen wos drawn up on the platform to do honor to the nation's executive.

Strenuous Day Planned.

When the train was again in motion the president received Governor Gillett and the members of the committee, whose program was to be given in detail. This includes a stop at Sacramento, where a reception will be held in the state capitol.

Leaving Sacramento the president ararrived in Oakland before 8 o'clock, to begin one of the most strenuous days of his journey, which included receptions and speeches at Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco. The day's program concludes with a banquet at the Fairmount hetel, where 600 San Franciscans will sit at tables with the president. bvDdemOlid.gn.. otyDoh

King Alfonso is disposed to sympathize with the claim of the militarists but an obstacle has arisen in the council, where the four Liberals who have been opposing the campaign in Morocco as a military adventure have been joined by another Liberal, creating a tie in the council.

Natives Are Repulsed.

Melilla, Morocco, Oct. 4.—Fifteen hundred Moors appeared yesterday on the heights of Mount Menier Lixa, but they were dispersed by the Spanish artillery. The Moors also made a feeble attack on the Spanish position at Nador, but were repulsed.

No further information has been received here of the outcome of the offensive movements undertaken Saturday by Gen. Marina, commander of the Spanish forces.

Natives coming to Melilla report that the capture by the Spaniards of Zeluan, the sacred city of the Riffs, has aroused the tribes in the Hinterland, who are flocking to join Harka, the Riff leader.

tions in Duluth was the receipt of a check for $5 from the employs of the N. H. Witt company, representing fifteen contributions. It is expected that this example will be followed by collections in other Duluth business houses. If this be done, St. Louis county will make a creditable showing in comparison with the other counties in testifying to their affection for the late governor, especially in view of the great services which he performed for this section of the state.

From the Mesaba Range.

On Saturday evening The Herald received $6 from residents of Coleraine, who are anxious to see a handsome monument to Governor Johnson erected at the state capitol.

Sending $1 to the memorial fund, T. M. Madden of Virginia writes to The Herald as follows: "I am a strong advocate of a 'Johnson day,' as it is very deserving and applicable in this instance. An annual holiday in memory of John A. Johnson is something that should be urged by every Minnesotan. Let its object be the arousing and calling to the memory of this and future generations the accomplishment of a poor boy with the right spirit, where otherwise this and the future generations may forget the example set for us by a great and honest man. You are certainly to be congratulated for your enthusiastic work in this important matter."

What St. Paul Is Doing.

The Business League of St. Paul has collected a total of $158.60, and the members of the St. Paul Commercial club have given $465, and it is expected to increase this to $500. The business houses there are taking an active interest in the fund and are circulating lists among their employes. The attaches of the Hamm brewery gave $170.85, and the Golden Rule employes sent in a total of $163.70. The Pioneer Press notes the receipt of a long list of pennies and nickels, and says: "People who evidently have as little of this world's goods as they need send pennies and nickels, and cases are known of actual deprivation on the part of enthusiastic citizens who forego pleasures to be represented on the list of those who help to erect the memorial. With the pennies, also, are found signatures of many children, which can be traced to the announcement made by school principals of the popular movement to honor the state's illustrious dead."

COTTAGE BURNS TO THE GROUND

Fire Destroys O. C. Hartman's Summer Home on Park Point.

The cottage of O. C. Hartman on Minnesota Point was totally destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. The loss was about $3,500, covered by $2,500 insurance. The blaze is supposed to have started from the pipe of one of the workmen who was helping remodel the place. The house was built by W. C. Sargeant nine years ago, being one of the first summer homes built across the canal.

Sick Headache and Indigestion

The Former Is Very Frequently Caused By the Other.

The pneumo-gastric nerve connects the stomach region directly with the brain, and when the stomach is out of order the head is almost certain to be affected through reflex or sympathetic nervous irritation.

The headache of dyspepsia and indigestion is of every variety from the dullest and least defined to the most acute pain. Sometimes the whole mass of the brain seems racked with anguish; at others, the ache is confined to the back or front part of the head. The first form is usually of a confused character, and is often accompanied by dizziness of vision, and a mild vertigo, or so-called "rush of blood to the head." The victims of this symptom complain of a "swimming" or "lightness" in the head, and dizziness, or a sensation of motion while the body is still, and specks, or flashes of light before the eyes.

Persons subject to indigestion and others forms of stomach trouble are very frequent sufferers from headache, and in numerous cases a sick headache is the only noticeable symptom of indigestion present; in others, there are stomach manifestations as well.

The majority of people regard this headache as a separate disease, instead of a symptom of stomach-disease, which it usually is; and they attempt to treat it separately, and make the mistake of endeavoring to obtain relief through the use of headache powders, tablets, pills and seltzers, the use of which is extremely dangerous, as many of them contain such powerful depressent drugs as acetanilid, phenacetine, antipyrine, caffeine, etc., which depress the heart, brain and nerve centers, and lower arterial pressure; and many a person with a weak heart has become dangerously ill shortly after taking one of these headache remedies. They also interfere with the digestive processes, and actually make the dyspepsia worse than before.

In order to get rid of the headache of indigestion—and most headaches are caused by stomach trouble—one should endeavor to reach and remove the cause, and the headache effect will soon be relieved.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS do not cure the symptoms; they cure the cause of the headache, which permanently removes the symptoms. They digest every atom of food in the stomach, cure all forms of stomach trouble, and the headache, and every other disagreeable symptom and untoward effect is quickly gotten rid of.

Don't make the mistake of trying to cure your dyspeptic or nervous headache through the use of headache powders, tablets, etc. Use common sense, good judgment, and one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and you will be agreeably surprised at the rapidity with which the headache will be relieved and cured simultaneously with the relief and cure of the stomach disturbance.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

HELD UP BY ENGINEERS

Improvement of Red Lake River Was Prevented This Season.

Congressman Steenerson to Appear Before the War Department.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Halvor Sttenerson appeared today before the war department at Washington to make arguments favoring the expenditure of $50,000, which was appropriated by the late congress for the improvement of the Red Lake river between this coty and the Red lakes, but which sum was held up at the suggestion of the federal engineers, pending the further investigation of the claims of the rivers as to its navigability. This delay has prevented the improvement of the river this season, and the boatmen and farmers living along the river for fifty miles and the business people of Thief River Falls and the smaller towns along its course have been forced to a great deal of delay in the shipment of goods and to a loss in the moving of the products of the farms in the territory through which the stream runs.

The reasons given by the federal engineers for their refusal to concur in the proposed improvement is that there is not sufficient traffic on the river to warrant the expenditure. This argument is not a tenable one, inasmuch as there are at the present time three steamboats, all using barges in connection with the boats, as well as nine gasoline boats engaged in the transportation of freight and passengers. One of these boats is owned and operated by a farmers' club some forty miles up the river from this city. These boats make a fairly prompt schedule, but cannot carry on the business which naturally comes to them by reason of the shallows which are found at times in the widest parts of the river. All that the people ask is the dredging of these broad, shallow stretches of water, and the removal of some sand bars near the outlet of Red lake, which is the real source and beginning of the Red Lake river. If these few shallow places were cared for, the business of carrying grain and other farm products, not to mention the passenger business, would increase beyond the belief of the most sanguine believers in the rich, well-settled country on both sides of this river for eighty miles above Thief River Falls.

Capt. Eberhardt, who has operated boats on this river and the Red lakes for twenty years, claims that he has always found that the business was more than he could care for when the stage of water was such as to permit of easy navigation of the stream, thus proving beyond a shadow of a doubt that were the river but slightly improved, the business would be steady and sure. To add to the inconvenience of the matter, several creameries have been constructed within the last eighteen months on the banks of the river or near them, and as the prairie roads are always bad in the fall and spring, these creameries are sometimes unable to market their product unless they can ship by water. There are stores, postoffices, schools, churches and small towns all along the river almost to the lakes, a distance of 100 miles and the people feel that a great injustice is done them in the failure of the authorities to expend the money appropriated by congress for this specific purpose. The feeling is that Congressman Steenerson will succeed in securing the approval of the war department for the proposed improvements.

GAD SMITH DEAD FROM APOPLEXY

Collector of Customs at Marquette Passes Away Suddenly.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 4.—Gad North Smith collector of customs for the Superior district, with headquarters here, died at 10 o'clock last night as the result of a stroke of apoplexy which he suffered a few days ago. He was 67 years old and a veteran of the Civil war.

Mr. Smith's district included the port of Superior, Wis., and he was well known both in Superior and in Duluth. Mr. Smith was in Duluth only a few weeks when he visited Collector of Customs L. M. Willcuts, the two collectors having been warm personal friends for many years. His health has been poor for the past two years.

Mr. Smith, for a number of years, was one of the most influential members of the Republican party in the upper peninsula of Michigan, and his loss will be keenly felt in the party, as well as by a large circle of friends.

PLENTY MONEY TO MOVE CROPS

Time Is Coming When North Dakota Will Have Enough.

Minot, N. D., Oct. 4.—That the time is fast approaching when North Dakota will be able to handle its crops each fall without having to call on the East for a cent of money is the opinion of Minot bankers. Each year they have to ask for less, and with the biggest crop of recent years throughout the West this year very little money has been received from the East.

"This is just one more indication of the remarkable financial progress of the Northwest in general and North Dakota in particular," said a prominent banker of the city this morning. "A few years ago the farms of the state were heavily mortgaged with Eastern money. Notes and interest were due each fall, and the farmer was compelled to rush his crop to market in order to meet this paper.

"Bountiful crops and good prices during the past few years have done much to relieve this. Although there is still a lot of Eastern money invested in farm mortgages in this state, they are fast being paid off, and hundreds of farms which were mortgaged heavily a few years ago are now free from debt.

"The money which formerly went East to pay interest and principal on mortgages is now being kept in local banks or used to purchase more land or invested in the growing industries of the state. This means that the state is fast approaching the time when it will have plenty to carry on its work and development.

"In the past few years, and even up to last year, a certain tightening of the money market has been apparent, but this year there will be no shortage of money and no scarcity even of the small bills of ordinary use during the crop moving period.

"Up to this time the crop has been harvested so slowly that the demand of country banks for money has been hardly up to the usual figure."

TRANSPORTATION IS THE PROBLEM

Two Million Bushels of Grain and No Railroad Near.

Schaffer, N. D., Oct. 4.—With 2,000,000 bushels of grain harvested and no place to store most of it, with no railroad or any way of reaching a railroad except over long stretches of half-broken prairie trails and across one of the three rivers, the Missouri, the Little Missouri or the Yellowstone, is the situation in McKenzie county this fall.

Last year but very little grain was raised, but this spring an area of about 90,000 acres was sown, largely to wheat and flax. The season has been favorable and it is estimated that the farmers of the county have over 2,000,000 bushels of grain to sell with no market available.

There are no elevators or warehouses in which to store the grain, and with lumber at $40 per thousand few of the settlers have been able to build granaries.

Efforts have been made to secure relief by engaging steamboats.

Most of the grain thrashed has been piled up in great heaps on the ground until transportation can be provided for. The county is almost as large as the state of Connecticut and the majority of the farmers will of necessity have to put their grain to the Missouri river and thence to railroad points fifteen to twenty miles distant beyond the borders of the county.

DONATION TO COLLEGE.

Minneapolis Woman Gives $1,000 to Gustavus Adolphus College.

St. Peter, Minn., Oct. 4.—One entire floor of the new Carnegie dormitory for women, which is being erected at Gustavus Adolphus college, is to be furnished by Mrs. C. A. Smith of Minneapolis. In a letter to Dr. J. P. Uhler, acting president of the institution, Mrs. Smith promises to subscribe $1,000 toward furnishing the rooms on the first floor of the structure.

About a year ago Gustavus Adolphus college secured $32,500 from Andrew Carnegie. Some $15,000 which had been raised by subscription was added to the fund, and it was set aside for the construction of two dormitories. The first of these, intended for the use of young women, is now in process of construction and Mrs. Smith's gift will greatly simplify the task of equipping it. Her donation is made as a memorial to her niece, Miss Hannah Nelson, who graduated from the Gustavus Adolphus college with the class of 1895. Other members of that class were Governor A. O. Eberhart and Prof. A. A. Stromberg, professor of Scandinavian language and literature at the University of Minnesota.

SUPPOSED TO BE DEAD, WAS RESCUED ALIVE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 4.—While Coroner Gilbert Seashore and John Shaffer, morguekeeper, stood ready Saturday to take the supposedly lifeless body of Peter Carlson from a sewer in which he was buried when one of the sides caved in, Carlson was alive and uninjured, though six feet under the earth.

After a half hour of unceasing labor by neighbors living near 1125 Lyndale avenue north, the scene of the accident, and members of Engine company No. 4, Carlson was rescued from death, and five minutes after being brought to the surface picked up his shovel and went back to work.

ARRESTED FOR KILLING FARMER

Sargent County Case Reaches Court—Lad Says Accident.

Cogswell, N. D., Oct. 4.—F. Wallock lies in the Oakes hospital with a load of bird shot in his shoulder in a precarious condition. The shot was fired by John Seeman, son of Fred Seeman, and the story told by the young man is substantially as follows:

At night about 9:30, while walking along the road north of the house where F. Walloch lives, he thought he saw ahead of him in the weeds at one side of the road, a dog. He whistled and there was no movement or answer in response. He then took a shot at the object with a shotgun. He still received no response, and walked up to the object. He found the unfortunate man, and ran up to Fred Anderws' house, where he was working. Together they carried Wallock into the house. Dr. Maercklein of Oakes was immediately called and later Wallock was removed to Oakes.

It seems that Seeman, who is about 22 years old, had been down to his father's place and was out hunting ducks with his brothers. At about 8:30 in the evening he started for the home of Fred Andrews, where he has been working all summer. He rode as far as Klinkammer's with them and started to walk the rest of the way. The accident happened about sixty rods north of the house occupied by Wallock.

Mrs. Wallock went to Forman and swore out a complain against Seeman before Judge Malthy, and Sheriff Mason arrested the young man, taking him to Forman.

DULUTH WINS SECOND GAME

Brainerd Team Proves Easy for Central Gridiron Warriors.

Zenith City Boys Show Great Improvement Over a Week Ago.

Duluth, 45; Brainerd, 0.

Either the Brainerd team was greatly overrated or the powers of the Duluth team were under-estimated, for in the football game played at Athletic park Saturday afternoon the Zenith City boys played all around their opponents from up state and won out by one of the largest scores made by a Duluth team in recent years.

The Brainerd team looked formidable enough as they trotted out on the field, and they knew it. They went through their preliminary practice in great shape, and the Duluth rooters were very quiet.

Every Duluth man played the game for all there was in it, and the improvement shown over the play of a week ago, when the boys lined up against the Two Harbors team, is considered little less than wonderful. The line was a stone wall. The ends were not to be fooled. They had spirit, determination, grit and that never-give-up spirit that is so important a factor in the success of any team. They all played together, and the whole eleven starred, satisfied to share the honors evenly. The work of the line men, except in a few instances, was of the best, and the back field played like veterans. There was no mixing of the signals, no misunderstanding of the plays, very little fumbling, and the work was fast—at times the fastest ever seen on the Duluth field. There was some ragged playing, it is true, but when it is taken into consideration that the boys have been out about only three weeks and that the game Saturday was only the second of the season, it must be admitted that the team showed wonderful form.

LARRY BOYLE.

Taylor's Tackling.

The tackling of Asher Taylor was a feature of the game. He went at the man in such a way that his intentions were unmistakable; he hit low and hard, and the man usually went down with a thud.

Kelly showed up in great form. His forward passes were a feature of the game. He was accurate, used good judgment in the selecting of the plays, kept his team on the move all the time and showed field judgment that cannot be criticised. He has a lot to learn about getting into the line plays with the man who carries the ball, but he is young, willing to learn, and a comer.

Waldron at right half played a fine game. His interference was great and he carried the ball around the end for some long gains.

Boyle a Star.

To Larry Boyle, however, must be given some additional credit for his work at half. "Heston" was certainly there. He had everything. Only once during the whole game did he fumble and that sin is pardonable when his brilliant work as a whole is taken into consideration. He was slippery, fast, always went a few yards after he was tackled, and was in the thick of the mix at all times. Sometimes he carried the entire Brainerd team on his back while he staggered two or more yards for the remaining distance needed on the third down. Boyle is rightly nicknamed when he was dubbed "Heston" by his teammates, as he plays with exactly the same style and the same bulldog spirit that characterized the old Michigan star.

All the rest of the team did good work and while the work of the line never shows up and dazzles the spectator as does that of a brilliant backfield, they must all be given due credit for their work.

Capt. "Bill" Stevens was a sure gainer all the time and he carried the ball over the Brainerd goal line four times.

The scoring was begun early in the game. Just five minutes after the whistle blew Stevens took the ball over for the first score. Brainerd received on her own 15-yard line and failed to advance the ball. Boyle made a great run to their five-yard line, Stevens took it over and Boyle kicked the goal. Score: Duluth, 6; Brainerd, 0.

Brainerd kicked to Duluth and the ball went to the visitors in the center of the field. Brainerd worked two beautiful forward passes and tried to gain through the line. This method of bucking the Duluth linemen failed to work and the ball went to Duluth. Central failed to gain and the ball went to Brainerd on her 30-yard line. A forward pass netted them twenty-five yards. A fumble followed and Nelson fell on the ball. Boyle took the ball down twenty-five yards in the direction of the Brainerd goal. Kelly's forward pass failed and Brainerd got the ball on her own 10-yard line. They failed to make their downs and Stevens took the ball over for the second touchdown of the game. Boyle kicked the goal and the score was: Duluth, 12; Brainerd, 0.

Duluth scored again in five minutes. Boyle kicked the goal. Score: Duluth, 17; Brainerd, 0. The score was made on a forward pass.

In the second half Brainerd at the outset braced up wonderfully and for a time it looked as though the scoring was all over. The line held well and her backs made several long gains through the Duluth line, but Waldron finally got away for a long run on a forward pass for a touchdown. Score: Duluth, 23; Brainerd, 0.

After this the Duluth men ran around and through their opponents at will. The final score was, Duluth, 45; Brainerd, 0. Boyle kicked five goals out of eight attempts.

During the latter part of the game a number of substitutes were hurried into the game so that nearly every man on the field in uniform was given a chance.

SAYS TIGERS WILL WIN

Noted Chicago Sport Writer Picks Detroit In World's Series.

Says American League Pitchers Will Be Leading Factor.

Hugh S. Fullerton, one of this country's very best baseball critics, writing in the Chicago Examiner, voices the belief that the Tigers will down the Pirates in the forthcoming series between the two teams.

While stating that the Pittsburgers have a better team than the aggregation from the Michigan city, Fullerton believes that the Tigers are just the team to defeat the Buccaneers, and that the defeat of the winners of the bunting in the older league will result through the pitchers of the Tigers.

He believes that Willets and Summers will prove hard pitchers for the Pirates. He also states that if "Wild Bill" Donovan is in form he will prove a very hard man for the Pirates to beat. Figuring that the Pittsburg batters are weak on certain kinds of pitching, Fullerton says the Detroit club has these pitchers, and if right they may surprise the heavy sluggers of the Smoky City crew.

The series will open Friday at Pittsburg. Each day greater interest is being manifested in the outcome of the series. There is a growing belief that the Tigers stand a fair show of defeating the Pirates. The odds will naturally favor the chances of the National league team. But on all sides it is figured that the Tigers will stand a much better chance of defeating the Pirates than they ever had of defeating the Cubs, because of the great hurling staff possessed by the Chicago team.

When a baseball student of the ability of Fullerton gives the Detroit team the preference, the Tigers must surely be credited with a chance. Fullerton points out that the very fact that the Tigers have been through two world's series will be of great benefit to them.

The battle should be a slugfest, as both teams are hard-hitting aggregations. Jennings will make a desperate effort to win this, his third world's series, and some great baseball should be shown.

In Fullerton's review of the two teams, he gives the Pirates the best of the catchers, an even break at first, the best of second base and shortstop, and an even break at third base. In the outfield he says the Pirates will outclass the Tigers in two of the three positions, Clarke and Leach being more valuable men than McIntyre or Jones or Crawford, while Cobb in right for Detroit outclasses Wilson of the Buccaneers.

He gives the Pirates the better of about seven of the nine positions, and, paradoxical as it may seem, believes despite this handicap the Tigers will sink the Pirate ship.

In a short series the pitchers invariably determine the result. Look at the world's series between the Cubs and White Sox for confirmation of this statement. On this basis, Fullerton believe the Tigers will prove the victors.

BARNUM TROPHY WON BY FERGUSON

Was Closely Pressed By Horace Johnson and D. C. Sprague.

By making the course in 82, James A. Ferguson yesterday won the George Barnum cup on the links of the Northland Country club. Mr. Ferguson played in great form notwithstanding the fact that a strong wind blew over the course and interfered greatly with the drives.

Mr. Ferguson was closely pressed by D. C. Sprague and Howard Johnson. These men took second and third place respectively. Mr. Sprague finished the course in 83 strokes and Mr. Johnson in 84.

The cup won this year by Mr. Ferguson is a handsome piece, standing over two feet in height. The cup is the property of the club, but the winner's name is each year engraved upon it.

Today A. M. Miller, Jr., and Ward Ames will play off in the semi-finals for the fall championship. The winner will play George Crosby, who reached the finals last week. The winner will meet M. B. Cullum for the 1909 championship. Dr. Cullum won the spring championship event.

FAST GAME AT CLOQUET IS TIE

High School and Superior Normal Teams Each Get Touchdown.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the opening game of the season here, Saturday afternoon, the Cloquet high school and Superior Normal teams played a football game to a tie, 6 to 6. The game was featured by strenuous work on both sides, especially on that of the locals, who were handicapped in weight, the Superior boys weighing about fourteen pounds to a man heavier than Cloquet.

In the first half, Superior made steady progress through the line, finally resulting in a touchdown, made on a line buck. In the second half, Skemp of the local team made a run of forty yards, dodging six Superior tacklers, and scoring a touchdown.

The forward pass was worked effectively by both sides, but showed signs of lack of practice in the other departments of the game. The game came to a very exciting close. With one yard to make and ten seconds to play, Superior attempted to make the touchdown on a line play, but failed, and the game resulted in a tie.

Next Saturday the Cloquet team will play the Grand Rapids high school team on the local field, and with a week of hard practice the Cloquet boys should put themselves in a condition to make the Grand Rapids team work hard for a victory.

GLEAMS IN THE SPORTING FOG
BY BRUCE

A decided improvement in the work of the members of the Central high school football team, was shown in the game of Saturday against the much overrated team from the Northwestern part of the state.

For a bunch of listless, unenthusiastic and ignorant playres, the Brainerd team is about the worst that has played at Athletic park for the past two years. While commendation is due the players of the high school for the great improvement they have shown and for the dash and pluck they put into their work, let it be understood that the team Central so badly defeated was about the worst for a high school team that has come to these parts for some time.

The Brainerd boys have never known the first rudiments of football, or else the members of the team have forgotten the A, B, C's of the game. The Brainerd line played high and holes large enough for a moving van were found in the straggling line. The Brainerd men tackled like a near-sighted professor of etomology on the trail of a butterfly; the team had no interference at all, and what attack they exhibited was confined to a few old-fashioned line smashes straight through the center.

That Brainerd was able to rip up the Central line upon more than two or three occasions with these plays, only goes to prove that the Central linemen forgot themselves for a spell Saturday.

We have stated what Brainerd did not possess. This is not taking any of the credit away from Central. Brainerd came here with a team touted to be about as flossy as a new bunch of mining stock. There wasn't a lad on the visiting team that played hard, fighting football. You have to fight to win football games, and that kind of spirit was not in the bunch from Brainerd.

But let us turn to Central. There was not a man upon the team who did not show the kind of spirit that it was believed the team members possessed. Central has shown willingness and pluck all season, and these two qualities predominated Saturday.

Central's interference was not as compact and as hard to penetrate Saturday as it will probably be later in the season. Had the Brainerd ends and backs shown a willingness to dive through at the man with the ball, many of the Central gains would have never been made.

But the team showed dash and that is what you want on a high school team. When you possess the kind of spirit that Central showed in Saturday's game, your team will generally learn the rest of the game. The team is young as yet, and if the improvement progresses during the rest of the season as it has between the game with Two Harbors and the game of last Saturday, the team should be a winner before the middle of the season.

Even Saturday the line men played too high at times. Art Helmer went through the line low and hard, in contrast to some of the other linemen, and in Saturday's game he invariably stopped his man behind the line because of the very fact of his playing low. Helmer played an excellent game, stopping many a play behind the Brainerd line of scrimmage.

Mention must be given to Larry Boyle, the Heston of Northern Minnesota football. This lad is one of the very best backs that has been uncovered in this section of the great common wealth of Minnesota for some time. He is the kind of a lad who never knows when he is down, and as a consequence, he often makes his gain after he has been hit by a tackler and two or three men are clutching his anatomy.

His playing Saturday was far above the average of a high school back, and he showed an ability to shake off tackles, to plunge yards ahead after he had been tackled, to pick quick openings, and to dodge through a broken field, that was up to the standard, if not above that of any of the backs that played on the Colton squad last season.

Waldron at the other halfback position must be given credit for aiding in the gains of Boyle, as well as carrying the ball for excellent gains himself. Waldron has a slashing, smashing, angling, awkward way of running through a line. He is an effective, if clumsy dodger, and keeps his feet well. Like Boyle, he stumbles ahead when hit by the opposing tackler. He provides a very effective interference and Saturday bowled men out of the path of the runner time and time again.

Capt. Stevens played a hard, consistent game all the way through. He hit the line hard and with good effect. He kept his men going at top speed all the way, which is a very commendable quality in a captain.

Mention should be made of young Taylor at right end. He played a strong game, time after time getting the Brainerd runner before he had got to the line. On the forward pass, too, he was most useful to his team. Mars on the other wing got into every play. Nelson at center recovered the ball on two or three occasions, and was in the midst of every scrimmage. He played a very strong game.

Young Kelly at quarterback played a clean, fast game, got the ball to the runner quickly and cleanly, and often helped the runner ahead. He also played well on the defensive.

For every member of the team it may be stated without exaggeration that, they played a much improved game, and but for a few moments in the second half, the line men showed that they have taken to heart the caution of the coaches regarding the glaring fault of playing high. The few gains of Brainerd were made when the Central line men were shoved aside because they were high in the air. When Central's line crouched and charged low and hard, the Brainerd runner was generally thrown for a loss. Why, then, not play low?

The boys are all right, but they will do well to remember that they were opposed by a very weak and ineffective team, and that harder games are in store. That is a thing the team members of last season neglected to do.

Two sections of our great and justly glorious country are awaiting with equal interest two great events. East of the murky Missouri river we are awaiting with but faint show of patience the beginning of the world's championship baseball series. We are all wondering if the Tigers can trim the Pirates. The games begin Friday at Pittsburg, and interest is increasing.

West of the same sluggish stream they are speculating upon the outcome of the Johnson-Ketchel fight. The fight is just a week from Tuesday. The training of the two fighters on the coast is attracting no end of interest. The way in which Ketchel is showing up is convincing some of the wise depesters that he really stands a chance with the dinge. Saturday he knocked out three training companions, and then, like Oliver Twist, asked for more.

These two events will attract a great deal of interest for the next week or more. All eyes are turned toward these two silver cup events, and there will be a lot of money that will change hands on the result in both contests.

Saturday's football games were productive of a definite line on at least two Western teams—Minnesota and Chicago. Minnesota showed clearly that the state university has a strong team this season, one that will be a strong contender for the Western championship, and by the overwhelming defeat of Purdue, Chicago also showed championship possibilities.

Minnesota has a team composed of veterans and men who have thoroughly learned the Minnesota style of attack. With this material, Williams should turn out a great team.

With any kind of material, Stagg may be depended upon to develop a strong scoring machine.

In the East, Harvard showed by its easy defeat of the usually strong Bowdoin team that it will be in the championship running the present season. Both Princeton and the U of Pennsylvania showed up weaker than Harvard. Even at this early stage of the season's play it looks as though Harvard and Yale will be the contenders for the Eastern Collegiate championship.

WIN A HARD FOUGHT GAME

Adams Team Noses Out a Victory Over the Fairmonts.

Hendricks, halfback of the Adams football team, scored the only touchdown of the game yesterday between that team and the team of the Fairmont club. No goal was kicked, the score of the game remaining 5 to 0 in favor of the Adams.

When time was called the Fairmonts had the ball within three yards of their opponents' goal. Both sides played hard football, in which the forward pass figured for many gains. The ball see-sawed back and forth, but what advantage there was in ground gaining belonged to the Adams.

The Adams will play the Minneapolis Adams team on Nov. 21, the game being played in the Mill City. Arrangements are being made to take a large crowd of rooters.

Arrangements are being made for a game next Sunday with the Broadways of Superior. The game, if arranged, will probably be played in this city.

Yesterday's lineup:

"CURLEY" BACK FROM THE WEST

Found Fame and Real Money While in the Cattle Country.

"Curley, the Chemist," or the "Oil of Mustard Kid," is with we'uns again. After fighting through the cattle ranch country of Montana, Curley returns to Superior with stories of conquest. He claims to have made a bigger hit with the fight fans of the Western country than a trim little chorus lady makes with the stage door rubes of a one-night stand.

Curley claims to have had the best of Maurice Thompson, who on Dec. 29, 1904, fought a ten-round draw with Stanley Ketchel. Had it not been for the fact that big gloves were used by the fighters, Curley claims he would have laid low the Thompson party.

Ulrich has been offered a bout with young Donohue, an Eastern welter weight. Curley may accept the offer. A club at Glendive is endeavoring to get James Ebenezer Potts into the ring with Ulrich, but Curley reports that all such endeavors have proved futile in the past. The famous oil of mustard incident seems to have made a lasting impression upon the active mind of Potts. Curley claims that 1,000 large sized simoleons will be placed that he can place a smudge on the Potts' escutcheon.

Curley likes the West and will probably return there in search of greater glory and more money. He is accompanied by his manager, Mart Timlin.

FRENCH RUNNER FAILS TO FINISH

Montreal, Can., Oct. 4.—Henri St. Yves, the famous French long distance runner, collapsed in the twenty-third mile of a race here yesterday. Physicians declared that his heart was affected and that he probably would be unable to run again.

His opponent, Hans Holmer of Quebec, finished strong, covering the Marathon distance in 2:32:40, a new record, if the track is found to measure correctly.

Yesterday's win gave Holmer his sixth straight virctoy since June. St. Yves was leading by a few yards when he went down.

DEFEATS HAYWARD TEAM.

Blaine Eleven Defeats Visitors Saturday by Score of 22 to 0.

Blaine defeated Hayward on the gridiron Saturday, 22 to 0. The Superior men played a good individual game, but their team work was weak, the only redeeming feature being the work on the defense. Bengston, an ex-Dewey star, played a particularly good game for Blaine. The two Bradleys also showed up in fine form.

The score stood 11 to 0 in the first half. The line-up was:

Blaine.		Hayward.
Burns	r.e.	O. Johnson
Clark'	r.t.	Quall
Hoehle	r.g.	Amidon
Smith	c.	Summers
Hanson	l.g.	C. Wilson

Swiss Cyclist Wins.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—Henry Guinard, the Swiss cyclist, won the cycling championship of Europe yesterday at St. Legitz.

He covered 62.1 miles in 1 hour 18 minutes 41 2-5 seconds. Schipke was second and Robl third. Guignard's time is said to be a world's record.

GOPHERS ARE VERY FAST

Williams Seems to Have a Great Scoring Machine This Year.

The Team Shows Wonderful Speed and Head Work Against Iowa.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota defeated Iowa Saturday by the decisive score of 41 to 0. Iowa has the strongest team it has had for years, but the Gophers are wonders. Time after time during the game the rooters were carried away by the daring and successful plays put in operation by the Minnesota men. The modern game of football was used to the limit and every play was a success. The Hawkeye boys were not in it for one moment. Within five minutes after the opening whistle had sounded the Gophers had a touchdown and the rest came in rapid succession. Had the regulars played during the second half the score would have been much larger in favor of Minnesota. In the second half five of the first team went out and the places were filled by new men. Everything went with a vim and dash that augurs well for Minnesota. Capt. McGovern had his men well in hand and the team work was fine. He was the bright star, but good work was done by every one.

Iowa came to win. They brought their band and about 500 rooters. They used every device a cunning coach had taught them, but the Gopher line, especially during the first half, was inpregnable. During the first half the Hawkeye boys only made their distance twice and held Minnesota for downs but once. The Gophers played the game to the limit. Forward passes, quarterback kicks and runs and triple passes came so fast that the Iowa boys didn't know what to make of it.

Weak in Punting.

The only weak point for Minnesota was in punting. In kicking the ball the Iowa boys had the better of the argument, but it didn't do them any good. They couldn't hold Dr. Williams' men and they could not get through them or around them. McGovern is fair at punting, but among the big Western teams it is not enough to be fair. A man must be a topnotcher or he is out of the running. Every other team of the big Western institutions has a good man with the toe.

The team work of both elevens was excellent. The Iowa boys probably would have done better with a weaker team against them, but even as it was they played with a remarkable unity. When they had an opportunity to show what they could do they showed up splendidly, but they were pitted against a team too fast and too clever for them.

It was really the inauguration of the season on behalf of Minnesota. The game of the Gophers with Lawrence last Saturday was the veriest joke and didn't have the dignity of a high school contest. Saturday however the regular season was started and followers of the Maroon and Gold are happy at the outcome. Dr. Williams can have everything he wants. All criticism of him as a coach has passed away at least for the time being. Not only that but the impression prevails among the players that they are due to win the championship this season. This of course is invaluable and will prove a big factor in every contest. The idea of being on a winning team is the one big idea the coaches all to try to instil into the men just before every game. The weather was too warm for any fast work, but both teams were equally handicapped in this regard. In the beginning of the game the Iowa boys showed signs of stage fright, but they quickly got over this and settled down to good steady work. Next to Capt. McGovern of the Gopher team the best work was done by Johnston, the plucky left halfback of the Minnesota team. Although light for his position, he plays like a demon. He always breaks through the line and gets his man. Time after time Saturday he made great gains around the ends and when he did he was a hard man to stop. With added weight he would easily be the best halfback on any Western team. Pickering, a new man to Minnesota was put in at full back. He too is very light for his position, but he plays it well. At the beginning of the game he showed a good deal of nervousness, but he soon settled down to hard work and played well for the balance of the day. He will never be a spectacular player, but before the season ends should be heard from.

The result of the game was the more pleasing to Gopher adherents because it was so unexpected. Followers of Minnesota had looked for a victory, but expected a close score. Advance information regarding the Iowa team was to the effect that they were a veteran squad of strong, heavy and swift players. In fact all over Iowa the feeling was that this year the Hawkeyes were destined to win this one big game, the one with Minnesota. This served to put the Gophers on edge and even the most enthusiastic never ventured to say that McGovern's men would make more than four touchdowns. It was never thought that Iowa would not score and close followers of the game thought the Gopher team would just nose out a victory. When Iowa appeared on the field this feeling was strengthened. They are big men and heavier than the Gophers. In practice they appeared very fast. The lines were about evenly balanced, but the back field was far and away heavier than Minnesota. With all the early predictions made about the Iowa team the Gopher adherents were very nervous just before the game started. But the Minnesota rooters got an agreeable jolt. Within five minutes after the game started a touchdown was credited to the Gophers and it was apparent that Dr. Williams had another scoring machine. Whether it is the equal of the machines turned out in past years cannot be estimated yet, but it looks the part. Every man on the team is playing his full part. The improvement one week has made in the team is amazing. There was a snap and a dash that was refreshing. When the team started to pound the Iowa line by using mass plays it reminded the rooters that in this sort of thing the Gophers have never been excelled in the West. In close formation tactics there is no superior in the United States to Dr. Williams.

Their One Chance.

Only once in the early part of the contest did the Iowa boys have a look in. Just after Minnesota made her first touchdown through a fumble and a bad punt the Hawkeye boys got the ball on the Gopher 10-yard line. Things loked a little ominous but the Minnesota line was adamant and held for downs and the danger was passed. Never again did the Iowa boys get within striking distance of the Gopher goal.

The Gopher ends played great football, Rodamache got into every scrimmage and was particularly strong on the defensive. He is a whirlwind and keeps his eye on the ball first, last and all the time. Pettijohn didn't appear to be in the best of physical condition but he played a strong game nevetheless. McCree was in at the right tackle position and he is up to first team standard. Walker at left tackle played his good strong game and used his head to the best possible advantage. Molstad at left guard made many brilliant plays. Powers at right guard hardly equaled Molstad, but he lacks the long experience of his brother guard. Farnum at center showed a big improvement in passing the ball and in all around efficiency. His opponent O'Brien, was far heavier and had a disposition to interfere with the passing of the ball every time the officials were not looking. Farnum, however, soon fathomed his tactics and the trouble was over. Stevens at right half is another coming man. As yet he hasn't the speed or the knowledge of the game that his brother half Johnston has, but this will come by experience. In the second half a continuous stream of substitutes was sent in. McGovern alone remained throughout the game. All of them acquitted themselves in splendid fashion and it shows that Dr. Williams has a fine bunch to pick from.

Fighting For Places.

The Gopher team is not picked, by any means, and that fact alone will keep practice work at full steam ahead. There are several men among those who went in as substitutes who are going to make a hot fight for a place on the first team, and they still have ample chance to make good and secure the coveted position. The men who have been playing in the first team are all anxiety to keep there, and some real rivalry is looked for. This comes when guards are on duty and blankets cover the gates.

Sure it is that the Gopher squad is about the brainiest lot of players that have represented Minnesota since new football came into vogue. None of the team wants to shine at the expense of the whole team. It is a pull together. They play altogether and keep their eye on the ball in a way that is fine to see. They all take pride in the work and every coach has their full confidence. There are no personal animosities, in spite of the keen rivalry for positions, and every member of the squad wants a winning team before everyhting else. They are a keen, quick-witted lot of boys, with all sorts of grit and determination. Not a member of the squad uses tobacco, which is a condition not to be found in any other Western team. If the team will keep its head and continue with the great team work so well begun, they will be mighty near the top at the close of the season. They have the coaches, they are taught the plays, they have the best of grounds to use, they have a sympathetic following, and they ought to win.

The weather Saturday was ideal for the rooters but too warm for the players. There were no unpleasant features about the game. It was a hard-fought contest, but clean all the way through. The work of the officials was satisfactory to every one. The present method of having the conference send approved men is working better than anticipated. When that method was adopted it was thought to be unfair, but it has worked out in a manner that pleases every one. The eyes of all the Minnesota boys are now on Nebraska. Tha Cornhuskers have a powerful team this year, and are determined to beat Minnesota. With the game two weeks away at Omaha, the Billy Bryan boys are already in secret practice. It will be a contest worth going a long way to see. All of the railroads will run special trains, and fully 5,000 will journey from the Twin Cities alone. All the seats sent here by the Nebraska management will be spoken for. The Gophers go determined to give a good account of themselves.

WOMEN BEGIN GOLF TOURNEY

Philadelphia, Oct. 4.—The annual contest for the women's golf championship of the United States opened today on the links of the Marion Cricket club at Haverford with more than sixty entries, including practically all the first-rank feminine players in this country and four experts of the game from across the Atlantic.

Of the visitors from abroad Miss Dorothy Campbell of North Berwick, Scotland, has the best record. Miss Katherine Harley of Boston, who won out over a strong field last year, was on hand to defend her title, while the Misses Harriet and Margaret Curtis of Boston, former champions, and Miss Frances Griscom of the Marion club, who also held that proud position for one year, were entered to regain their lost honors.

Mrs. Charles T. Stout, also a former champion, and Miss Georgiana Bishop of Bridgeport, Conn., former metropolitan and national champion, were among those present.

The whole of today will be given up to medal play.

Jeffries-Johnson Date Set.

Paris, Oct. 4.—According to Auto, a sporting newspaper, James J. Jeffries has made the announcement that he would probably fight Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship on April 10 or 11 at San Francisco.

ASSESSMENTS ARE GIVEN INCREASE

Valuation of Iron Ore Properties Raised Nearly $25,000,000.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 4.—Public service corporations of the state were hard hit in the personal property assessment recently made by the state board of tax commissioners.

In the case of the street railways of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, an increase of nearly $1,000,000 was made. Of this amount over $500,000 was credited to the Minneapolis system, $206,000 to the St. Paul lines and nearly $250,000 to the Duluth company. They are all a part of the Lowry system.

Another big interest to suffer was the ore properties on the iron range. On a return of a little better than $176,000,000 they were swelled nearly $25,000,000.

How the various corporations of the state fared in the equalization made by the state board is shown in the following table:

	1908.	1909.
Minneapolis Street Railway	$7,049,560	$7,555,255
St. Paul Street Railway	4,793,037	5,000,000
Duluth Street Railway	673,412	909,106
Minneapolis Gas Light Co.	1,467,392	1,825,000
St. Paul Gas Light Co	1,060,489	1,200,000
Minneapolis General Electric Co.	1,194,410	1,398,170
St. Paul Edison Co.	74,280	100,000
Duluth Edison Co.	136,200	157,965
Pullman Co.	235,000	264,906

The Western Union and North American Telegraph company's returns of $1,000,000 and $100,000 respectively were left untouched.

TALKS TWELVE HOURS.

"Theocratic" Candidate for Governor Makes Long Speech.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 4.—Boston common, for many years the scene of the efforts of exponents of many and varied creeds and beliefs, probably never saw a more extraordinary feat than Sunday, when for twelve hours, with but one intermission of twenty-five minutes for luncheon, Judge Henry P. Dewey, who has announced himself as the "theocratic" candidate for governor, talked continuously upon "The Established Religion of the State."

Judge Dewey attracted much attention on the bench of the municipal court some years ago by original interpretations of the laws. Four years ago he ran for mayor of Boston and caused comment by appearing on the platform attired in evening dress. He sued the Good Government association for $76,000,000 for alleged slander regarding his intentions during the campaign, but lost the verdict.

Started at 6 O'clock.

At 6 o'clock yesterday morning Judge Dewey took his stand on the slope at the west of the Soldiers' monument. The audience consisted of his brother and one newspaper man. Shortly afterward a policeman arrived. The audience was small up to 8:45, when the speaker took a 25-minute recess and had luncheon.

Returning to the common at 9:10, Judge Dewey again took up his argument with a larger audience and talked without a break until 6 p. m. The audience gradually increased until some 300 to 600 people were present.

At the close, Judge Dewey declared he felt no inconvenience from having talked continuously for twelve hours, with the possible exception of being a little stiff from having stood so long in one spot.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER.

Louis Aseline Found Guilty of Killing William Schofield.

Rhinelander, Wis., Oct. 4.—The jury in the case of Louis Aseline, charged with the murder of William Scofield on the night of Sept. 4, brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree, after staying out two hours. The evidence was entirely circumstantial.

Scofield, the murdered man, was night foreman for the Wisconsin Veneer company. Aseline was employed on the night shift at the factory. He reported for work on Sept. 4 intoxicated and was ordered home by the superintendent.

When the fireman entered the basement of the factory to oil some shafting shortly after 8 o'clock he stumbled over Schofield's dead body, death having resulted from blows on the head. A blood-stained wagon stake near by was the weapon.

Aseline has a prison record, having served fifteen years in the Marquette, Mich., prison for shooting a man twenty years ago in Escanaba.

"CASE CONTINUED."

Jamestown Girl, Who Had Trouble in Fargo, Is Dismissed.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 4.—"And now, Lucile, your future is in your own hands. I am giving you in charge of Miss Topping of the Crittenton home, and have marked on the docket 'case continued.' If your conduct is such as I believe you intend it to be the case against you will never be called up again. But, on the other hand, if you do not obey the rules of the institution and do not try your best to do what is right, I shall send for you and you will either go to the penitentiary or the reform school."

This was the concluding remarks of Judge Charles A. Pollock in the district court, when he was talking to Lucile Larson, the 16-year-old girl who confessed to the larceny of $22 in money and $16 worth of clothing from a girl at the Waldorf hotel.

TERMS OF SALE.

This sale is made pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 204, of the General Laws of Minnesota for 1905, and of Chapter 342 of the General Laws for 1909.

All purchasers of timber at this sale will be required to pay 25 per cent cash at the time of sale, based on the appraised value of timber. Bidders will be required to deposit certified checks or cash. The amount required to be paid down must be paid before the close of the sale in every case. If any purchaser fails to pay the amount required before the close of the sale, the timber on the tract in question will be re-offered and sold to the highest bidder. I wish to call particular attention of all prospective bidders to these requirements so there will be no misunderstanding.

Permits will be issued for only two logging seasons, and the timber must be cut and removed within that time, unless the timber board unanimously agree to extend the permit one logging season. In no event can more than one extension be granted.

Permit holders must furnish a bond with at least two sureties, who can justify in double the amount of the sale price of the timber covered by the permit. Purchasers must also record bark marks in the office of the surveyor general of the district in which the land covered by permit is situated; said marks must be in the name of the State of Minnesota, and no other bark marks may be used for timber covered by the permit than those so recorded. In addition all logs cut on the State land must bear the State stamp mark, MIN.

The right to withdraw any tract of timber from sale is reserved.

Dated at St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13, 1909.

S. G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

WHEAT HAS A DECLINE

Bearish Influences Cause Fractional Break in the American Markets.

Flax Is Active and Closing Prices Show an Advance.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 4.—Wheat held fairly firm during most of the session in the American markets today, despite bearish news. Receipts in the Northwest were very large and the weather continues very favorable for the movement of the crop. Snow was out with a bearish crop summary. He estimates that the yield of spring wheat averaged 16.3 bu to the acre.

In the face of this information the market closed somewhat easier, all the options showing fractional losses from Saturday.

Liverpool closed ⅝@¾d higher, Budapest ⅞c lower and Antwerp unchanged.

The December option closed ⅜c lower in Duluth, Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City, ⅜@½c lower in Minneapolis, unchanged in New York, and ⅝c lower in Winnipeg. May wheat closed ½c lower in Duluth, ¼@⅜c lower in Chicago, ⅜c lower in Minneapolis and St. Louis, unchanged in New York, ¼c lower in Kansas City and ¾c lower in Winnipeg.

December corn closed ¼@⅜c lower in Chicago and oats ⅝@¾c lower.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Becomes Easier After Firmness at the Opening.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—After momentary firmness, the wheat market here became easy here today. December started ⅛@¼ to ¼@⅜c higher at $1.00½@1.00⅝ on covering by shorts who, already nervous over short local stocks were further impressed by an advance at Liverpool in the face of heavy world's shipments. These shipments, according to the board's estimate were 13,792,000 bu, but Liverpool could afford to ignore them as only a small number were headed for the English market. In sympathy December was soon selling off to ⅛c here. The board's on passage statement for the week showed an increase of 1,400,000 bu. Later December touched 99⅝c, but rallied on the cables and closed easy, ¼c lower at 99⅞c@$1.00.

The corn market opened barely steady, responding faintly to the initial wheat strength, but failed to held. Opening quotations on December, 57⅛@57¼c were a shade to ⅛@¼c under Saturday's figures. Perfect weather counted against the price. Early sales sent the market down to 56⅞c.

The close was easy and featureless, December ¼c down at 57@57⅛c.

Sentiment in the oats pit, which was about all there was to guide the market, was bearish, and a show of firmness at the start was soon dissipated. December opened unchanged to ¼c higher on covering at 40c to 39¾c and sold off to 39⅜c.

The provisions market was dull and featureless, quotations tending slightly lower. January pork opened 5c lower at $18.55; January lard, 2½@5c higher at $10.95 to $10.92½, and January ribs, 2½c down at $9.75.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 4.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Normal fall conditions prevail with the demand centering on big young draft horses for work in the lumbering woods. Receipts were heavy, being mostly big draft horses with a scattering of delivery chunks. Mules not plentiful on the market owing to the large orders filled the past week, but fresh consignments are expected. Drivers and saddlers are stationary. The better classes rule slightly higher.

SEPTEMBER BIG MONTH

One of Heaviest in History of Board of Trade.

Wheat Receipts Exceeded Those of Same Time in 1908.

September was one of the biggest months in the history of the local grain business.

Heavy receipts began a little later than last September, but when they did start the movement was heavier. three separate new records for a single day's receipts having been made during the month.

While receipts of wheat exceeded the wheat receipts of last September, the total receipts of all grains for the month were not as large as for September, 1908, unless one chooses to count the bonded wheat (imported from Canada), in which case last month's total was larger than for the same time last year.

As far as receipts went, September, 1908, had been the largest month in the history of the Duluth board of trade.

Not considering the bonded wheat, receipts of domestic grains of all kinds came precious near equaling the record of September, 1908, there being a difference of but a few thousand bushels. Had the movement in other grains been as large as the wheat movement, last month would have eclipsed all others by a good margin.

Total receipts of all grains, excluding the bonded grain, last month were 21,989,442 bushels, and for September, 1908, were 22,002,601 bushels.

Exclusive of that held in bond, receipts of wheat last month were 16,170,240 bushels, as compared with 15,059,000 bushels for September, 1908.

The following table, the figures being furnished by the secretary of the board of trade, show the total receipts for September, 1909, and the same month a year ago:

	Sept. 1909. Bushels.	Sept. 1908. Bushels.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

News Is Bearish, But Wheat Keeps Stubborn Tone.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 4.—News today was in favor of the bears. Big world's shipments, a material increase in the visible supply, lower cash wheat premiums and a big movement were all developments discouraging to the bulls. However, in spite of this news favoring lower prices, the market showed a stubborn tone. December wheat opened ¼@⅜c lower than Saturday and fluctuated in a range of ¾c from high to low and closed ⅛c below the opening. May was in a correspondingly narrow range. Stocks of wheat in regular local elevators decreased 30,000 bu for two days. Minneapolis today received 854 cars of wheat against 1,139 a year ago, Duluth 1.413 cars against 842 cars and Winnipeg 1,442 cars against 828. December opened at 97⅝c; high, 98c; low, 97¼@97⅜c; close, 97½c. May opened at $1.01⅝; high, $1.01⅞; low, $1.01⅛; close, $1.01⅜.

Cash wheat was easier today. Lack of demand from the country millers forced premiums down to 2c above the December option for No. 1 northern. The local mills were the leading buyers, but they showed no eagerness in seeking the offerings. Elevator interests bought a little in the decline. No. 2 northern sold for the even near option. Closing prices on track: No. 1 northern spot and to arrive, 99¼c; No. 2 northern spot and to arrive, 97¼c; No. 3 wheat, 95¼@96¼c; No. 3 yellow corn, 56¼@57¾c; No. 3 white oats, 35⅝@36⅞c; No. 2 rye, 66¾@67¾c.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 2,101 tons. There was no change in the situation today. Demand continued in excess of the supply, shipments were heavy and prices firm. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $19.50.

The flour market was steady. Domestic demand continued strong and foreign inquiry was slightly more active. Shipments were heavy and prices held firm. Shipments, 79,532 barrels. First patents, $5.20@5.30; second patents, $5.00@5.10; first clears, $4.30@4.40; second clears, $3.10@3.30.

Flax—Receipts, 87 cars; year ago, 115 cars; shipments, 12 cars. There was a good general demand for choice seed today. Both spot and to arrive prices were the same as the Duluth October option. Closing price, $1.38.

Barley—Receipts, 305 cars; year ago, 105 cars; shipments, 78 cars. Continued heavy receipts made the market easier. Prices were 1@2c lower than Saturday. Demand was strong for the choice malting barley. Closing range, 43@58c.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Oct. 4.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 11 points, with active months selling 9 to 11 points net higher on covering and bull support inspired by the report of the census bureau showing 2,562,000 bales ginned to Sept. 25, a total rather less than expected. Liverpool cables were disappointing, however, and the market under realizing eased off to within 5 or 6 points of Saturday during the middle of the morning.

New high records for the season were established in the advance which immediately followed the condition figures.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands 13.60; middling gulf, 13.85; sales, 793 bales. Futures closed steady; closing bids: October, 13.25; November, 13.24; December, 13.35; January, 13.32; February, 13.34; March, 13.41; April, 13.42; June, 13.40; July, 13.39.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 4.—Cattle—Receipts, 10,800; market steady; sters, $4.00@7.50; cows and heifers, $2.50@5.25; calves, $2.90@7.00; stockers and feeders, $2.50@6.00. Hogs—Receipts, 3,200; market steady; range, $7.60@8.10; bulk, $7.80@7.90. Sheep—Receipts, 7,500; market weak at $2.50@5.25; lambs, 15c lowevr at $3.00@6.50.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

United States Steel the Exception, Reaching New High Record.

Market Opened Lower, Had an Advance But Fell Off Again.

New York, Oct. 4.—Opening prices of stocks showed sharp declines from last week's closing, running to 1½ in Pressed Steel Car, 1 in Union Pacific, Erie and United States Steel and large fractions in Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern preferred, Amalgamated Copper and Utah Copper. Pacific Coast Telephone rose 1. The market was active and broad.

Large buying orders for some of the representative railroad stocks and support of United States Steel soon stopped the decline and sent prices upwards.

United States Steel rallied from 91⅝ to 93⅝, making another high record. St. Paul advanced 1 above Saturday's closing, New York Central 1¾ and Reading 2⅛. Central Leather and Wabash preferred also gained 1 and St. Paul preferred and Vulcan Detinning 2. Pacific Telephone made another sensational rise of six points, touching 64½. Prices weakened very sharply again, Reading falling back 1⅜ and the other leaders a large fraction. Central Railroad of New Jersey fell 2, Missouri Pacific 1¾ and Union Pacific preferred and United States Rubber. The tone was steady at 11 o'clock.

United States Steel rose again to 94⅞, a gain of 2. New York Central advanced 3, Wabash preferred 2, American Telephone 1⅜, Denver & Rio Grande 1¼ and American Sugar and Pullman 1. Railway Steel Spring preferred sold at an advance of 3½. Prices generally did not rise to the earlier high level. St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred declined 1. Bonds were irregular.

A spell of dullness was followed by a continuance of the advance along new lines, the previous leaders, outside of United States Steel, being let alone for the time being. The Hill and Morgan railroad stocks were the chief features. Northern Pacific jumped 2 points and Erie was run up 1¼ to 33⅞. Union Pacific also was considerably more active and gained 1½. Cleveland, C., C. & St. Louis rose 2, Sloss-Sheffield Steel 1¼ and Corn Products 1. Distillers' securities yielded 1.

Trading became quiet again and there was a slight reaction. Central Leather was marked up 2 points in the face of general tendency. St. Louis Southwestern preferred declined 1.

The market closed unsettled and rather weak. The sag in prices placed Atchison, Southern Pacific, American Cotton Oil, General Electric and Pacific Mail a point lower than Saturday, and American Smelting and Interborough-Metropolitan preferred 1½. United States Steel's recovery to within a shade of 95 did not affect the list and prices declined again. In the final dealings there were some abrupt reactions.

New York stock quotations furnished The Herald by Piper, Johnson & Case.

OCTOBER 4, 1909.

In Saturday night's Herald you read about the great vein system passing from the High Ore on the Butte Hill down into the Leanord mine. The North Butte people contend that their veins will also carry copper to as great a depth. The High Ore now has big deposits at the 2,900-foot level and the Leanord is also one of the wonders in the mining world. Now then, what I am going to say, is that the Butte-Alex Scott is located directly between the High Ore and the Leanord, and the same great vein system that passes through their ground also passes right through the Scott.

I honestly believe that Butte-Alex Scott will be worth $50 a share. This mine is no plaything, but one with over 2,500 feet of the richest vein matter on Butte hill, and if you have read Mr. Hugo's report you will find that he tells you about the big Bonanza vein sixty feet wide, say nothing of the other vein or veins that apex or may apex in the Scott mine under present workings. I tell you, this is one of the greatest propositions ever brought to the Northwest and you do not find any Scott stock offered from Butte, Mont. The miners are buying the old Butte-Montana stock at 45 cents because some of them do know of the change that has been made. This price make the full paid $9 a share. The part paid is being heavily bought by the insiders who know of rich strikes that have been made lately in this property. We can use over 2,700 shares of part paid at 4½ and several hundred at a higher price. Full paid would advance to $15 now on a market buying order of less than 2,000 shares, when you stop to consider that Scott has only 1,030,000 shares issued and that it can when further developed earn the amount shares are bringing today in a very short time then it looks reasonable that the shares should be bought right now. One share of Butte-Alex Scott stock looks pretty much like one share of North Butte for they have four times the number of shares issued.

St. Mary's never looked better. The demand for this one is great from every section of the country and orders are coming to Duluth. Any news from the mine will cause a big advance in these shares. Do not overlook this one, for 75 cents a share will look small for the stock very soon.

Calumet & Montana never looked better. These men mean business and every share offered finds a ready market. It is one of the swiftest on the board.

Watch Ballaklava very soon. It will soon begin shipping ore to the smelters. Tuloume has shown us something. The Scotts and Ballaklava are the next two big producers. These three are the last ones on Butte Hill. You could not get an acre on this hill for $10,000,000. Buy stock in mines on Butte Hill, for it is the richest hill in the world, and they have not yet drawn a blank in thirty-five years of mining.

AMERICANS BURNED OUT IN ALBERTA FIRE.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 4.—Hans Yagerson was burned to death, his niece, Mary Segelstad, is dying in the hospital at Calgary, and property valued at $2,000,000 has been destroyed by the prairie fire which swept the Hutton, Alta., district during last week.

The fire is still burning fiercely. A large number of new settlers, mostly from the United States, lost all their property.

GIVE THE CHILDREN SUGAR.

Children may eat too much sugar and they may also stay too long in their bath tub, or in the creek when they go in swimming, or get tanned or a headache from playing too long in the sun, or chilled by staying too long in the open air; but is that any sound reason why they should be deprived of sweets, sunlight, baths and fresh air, or discouraged from indulging in them? All that is needed, says Dr. Woods Hutchinson in Success Magazine, is a little common sense regulation and judicious supervision, not prohibition, or denunciation. Most of the extraordinary craving for pure sugar and candy, which is supposed to lead the average child to inevitably "founder himself" if left to his own sweet will and a box of candy, is due to a state of artificial and abnormal sugar starvation, produced by an insufficient amount of this invaluable food in its regular diet. Children who are given plenty of sugar on their mush, bread and butter, and puddings, a regular allowance of cake and plenty of sweet fruits, are almost free from this craze for candy, this tendency to gorge themselves to surfeit, and can usually be trusted with both the candy box and the sugar bowl.

COTTON CROP IS BELOW NORMAL

Condition on Sept. 25 Is Reported as Being Only 58.5 Per Cent.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The crop reporting board of the bureau of statistics of the United States department of agriculture states from the reports of the correspondents and agents of the bureau that the average condition of the cotton crop Sept. 25 was 58.5 per cent of normal, as compared with 63.7 on Aug. 25, 1909; 69.7 on Sept. 25, 1908, and 67 of the average of the last ten years.

The report of the census bureau today showed that to Sept. 25 there had been ginned from the cotton growth of 1909, 2,562,888 bales, counting round as half bales, compared with 2,590,639 for 1908.

Worst Report in Years.

Financial and weather conditions combined produced today the most unfavorable report from the department of agriculture on the condition of the cotton crop that has been made at this season of the year for many years.

After the announcement by the department of agricultutre, Dr. S. A. Knapp, chief of co-operative demonstration work in the South, said that the serious falling off, especially for Louisiana and Mississippi, were due to two conditions. One was the excessive rainfall in the early part of the cotton crop season, followed by a serious drouth, and the second was the failure of cotton planters to obtain advances on their crops from bankers. The later reason forced the planters to dismiss a considerable part of their labor at a time when the boll weevil was a most serious pest.

CROOKSTON RESORT RAIDED.

Four Men Gathered in Along With the Soiled Doves.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Considerable of a sensation was caused about 12 o'clock Saturday night, when the police swooped down upon a place operated by Stella Hamilton, in the red light district, arrested all the inmates of the place and four local men. The entire bunch was taken to the county jail, the city jail not being used at the present time, pending repairs, where they remained the balance of the night, being released Sunday morning on a cash bail of $25 each.

It is doubtful if any of the men will appear in court before Municipal Judge Gossman, preferring to forfeit their bail. The resorts have all been closed since early last spring, but during the past four days they had reopened, or, at least, one resort had. The Civic league took action at once, and the raid resulted.

OHIO PROSECUTOR TURNS GUN ON HIMSELF.

McConnellsville, Ohio, Oct. 4.—Prosecuting Attorney Frank Parsons commited suicide last night by shooting himself through the head. The tragedy took place in his office when he was alone. It is said worry over his duties caused him to become temporarily insane.

THREATENS SUICIDE BEFORE SHE DECAMPS.

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Leaving a note of warning to her husband, threatening that if he attempted to follow her she would poison herself, Mrs. J. W. Shanahan is said to have deserted him and their two children here. No trace of her has been found. The family had lived in Dickinson only about two weeks, Shanahan coming here as the agent for an insurance company. The children will be cared for by the father's parents.

Paralytic Stroke Fatal.

Elkhorn, Wis., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Anna Moody Flack died at her home here on Friday as the result of a paralytic stroke. She was born in South Hadley, Mass., in 1830, and was a graduate of Mount Holyoke seminary. From 1859 to 1882 she was prominently identified with the schools of Wisconsin, her last office being that of preceptress of the state normal school at Oshkosh, which position she occupied for eleven years. The funeral will be held today.

Neither Side Could Score.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school football team played the Crookston high team on the grounds of the latter Saturday afternoon and at the close of a hotly contested game the score stood 5 to 5, neither side being able to score on the other after the result above was secured. This is the first game played by either team this season.

May Face Murder Charge.

Fort Atkinson, Wis., Oct. 4.—Bert Heth was attacked by a man with a butcher knife at the door of his home, a few miles south of this city, and so badly cut that his life is despaired of. Earlier in the day Heth and John Hadrick had quarreled at the farm of Thomas Tesson. Hadrick has been arrested and is being held in $2,000 bail to await his preliminary examination and the result of Heth's wounds.

Church Convention.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 4—The seventy-second annual state convention of the Wisconsin Congregational association opened today and will continue until Thursday night. From 450 to 500 delegates are in attendance. Men of international repute will appear on the program. Practically every Congregational church in Wisconsin is represented at the convention.

Former Brainerd Woman Dead.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A telegram has been received here telling of the death of Mrs. J. C. Atherton at Spokane. Mrs. Atherton was for many years a prominent teacher of vocal music in Brainerd. Nothing is known here as to the particulars of her illness.

Chicago Boy Plays.

London, Oct. 4.—The first Sunday concert of the season at Albert hall yesterday was made noteworthy by the appearance of Eddy Brown, a 14-year-old Chicago violinist. Master Brown played several selections and was applauded warmly by a critical audience.

To Sell Dead Timber.

Cass Lake, Minn., Oct. 4.—The forestry officials have announced a sale of the dead and down timber on Star island in Cass lake, to take place Nov. 2. The estimates give the amount of white pine at 70,000 feet, and red pine at 583,000 feet.

WILL BE READY TO RUSH WORK WHEN THE ORDER COMES

Preliminaries to Steel Plant Construction Now Being Completed.

Bridge Across the St. Louis River Is Now Being Built.

Transfer Road Will Be Ready When Bridge Is Finished.

Will actual construction work on the plant to be built by the United States Steel corporation at Spirit lake be begun this winter, or not until next spring?

That is the question which nearly every business man in Duluth is asking himself, and from information that is at hand, one man's guess is as good as another's. The local officers of the Steel corporation do not know just what moment the order to begin construction work will be issued. That lies with the officers of the company in the East. The local officials are ready to begin when instructed to do so, but they state that they have no information as to when the actual construction work will be commenced.

Meanwhile the preliminary work is being completed, and good progress is being made on all the preparations for actual construction.

The appropriation for the bridge across the St. Louis river has all been made by the company, and the money is available for construction work. The American Bridge company has the contract for erecting the bridge, and the work will be pushed this winter. The foundations are now being put in and in the spring the superstructure will be added. It is believed that the bridge will be all ready for trains to cross it by June 1, 1910.

The Transfer Road.

The construction of the Interstate Transfer road is being pushed. The contract for the grading has been let to John Runquist, the railroad contractor, and he has a large force of men at work on the roadbed. The Steel corporation always lays its own

REVIEWS WORK FOR THE DUMB BRUTES

WILLIAM O. STILLMAN, President of the American Humane Association Now Meeting in St. Paul.

KINDNESS IS THEIR THEME

Humane Society Delegates Open Three-Day Session in St. Paul.

Animal Protection Is the Subject of First Day's Discussions.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Delegates from 450 humane societies in the United States are in St. Paul today attending the first of a three days' session of the American Humane association meeting. The meetings are being held in the old capitol building.

The program will include addresses by notable persons interested in humanitarian work and many of them are men and women of international reputation. The meeting today was called to order by William O. Stillman of Albany, N. Y. Governor Eberhart briefly welcomed the delegates and in doing so kept a promise made by the late Governor Johnson, who long ago said he would deliver a welcoming address as the official head of the state. Mayor Lawler also welcomed the delegates, on behalf of the city.

Is "Animal Day."

President Stillman's annual address was devoted to a review of the good

SAYS NEPHEW STOLE HIS WIFE

Cleveland Man Has Relative and Erring Spouse Arrested in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 5.—Charged with stealing his uncle's wife, Edward Simpson was arrested here last night by the police on a state warrant issued from Justice James B. Shoemaker's court.

Mrs. Mary Simpson, his aunt, the wife of a Cleveland wholesale merchant, was arrested also. Hine Simpson, the husband, who caused their arrest, is in Kansas City and says he will prosecute both his wife and nephew.

Simpson, the nephew, is married and 37 years old. Mrs. Simpson is 43 years old.

LIFE ROMANCE OF DULUTH BABY

Father Who Deserted Her in Childhood May Have Left Fortune.

After Nineteen Years Young Woman May Be an Heiress.

A story that reads like a work of modern fiction, of which the last chapter remains unwritten, is woven around Nina V. Mack, the pretty 19-year-old foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli L. Mack of Sand Point, Idaho. Those who are on the inside of the affair are now wondering if the last chapters of the story, which must certainly soon be produced, will show the heroine entangled in a chaos of shattered hopes or rolling in riches left to her by a father who made reparation after many years for a wrong of his youth.

There is a deep, dark mystery in the case, and P. Swan of Portland, Or., is believed to hold the key. Would he but give it up, the material for the last chapters of the story would be ready for the writing, and the expectant readers might know whether to rejoice with the girl or join with her in a denunciation of the man who had raised her hopes, only to dash them to the ground again, leaving her in the misery of heart-rending and unrecompensed knowledge—far worse than the complacent ignorance in which she formerly lived.

P. Swan is to say whether Nina Mack is the heir to a fortune of a magnitude that may only be guessed, or whether she is merely the illegitimate child of unworthy parents, adopted legally by kindly but poor people, and dependent on them now, as ever since her adop-

Boys of California University Help Welcome Executive to Berkeley.

President Has Busy Day Among Bay Cities on the Pacific Coast.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 5.—With the arrival of the president's private car Mayflower at the Sixteenth street station in Oakland at 7:20 o'clock this morning, President Taft began one of the most strenuous days of his whirl about the country.

After breakfast Mayor Beverly L. Hodghead of Berkeley, accompanied by a reception committee of twenty citizens of the college town, boarded the Mayflower and extended a formal welcome to the president. The Mayflower was then switched to the Berkeley line, and at 8 o'clock the party left the train for automobiles and carriages which were waiting at Center street station, Berkeley.

Through streets rendered almost impassable by a surging crowd of

IS BOTHERED ABOUT SPAIN

All Europe Is Apprehensive Over War, Says Paper in Paris.

Alfonso's Government Likely to Have Serious Trouble at Home.

Paris, Oct. 5.—The preparations for the extension of Spain's operations in Morocco, involving the sending of heavy reinforcements, are creating increasing uneasiness in Paris. The Petit Parisian, a journal owned by Minister of Commerce Dupuy, in what is believed to be an inspired article, says today that Spain's progress seems to go beyond the object originally communicated to the powers, and provokes apprehension in Europe, especially in London and Paris.

The colonial authorities of Algeria, the article says, have notified Paris of the existence of a fanatical excitement in the interior, and speaks of danger along the Algerian frontier if Gen.

Thirty Teachers, Priests and Other People Sentenced for High Treason.

Agram, Austria, Oct. 5.—After a trial lasting five months, sentences were handed down today in the cases of fifty school teachers, priests and other persons, charged with connection with what is known as the "Greater Servian conspiracy."

The prisoners were accused of high treason in participating in a movement for the union of Croatia, Slavonia and Bosnia to Servia, even carrying the propaganda among the troops of the Austro-Hungarian army. Thirty of the accused are condemned to terms of rigorous imprisonment varying from four to twelve years, and twenty-two were acquitted. The persons condemned have given notification of appeal.

In view of the possibility of an outbreak on the part of the supporters of the "greater Servia" idea, the garrison here has been strengthened and the judges and the public prosecutor are being guarded.

RIGHT TO CROSS STATE LANDS IS SOUGHT BY ROAD

Canadian Northern Evidently Getting Ready to Build Extension.

Files Plat in St. Paul Showing Tentative Right-of-Way.

Believed That Construction Work Will Begin Next Spring.

Coming at the same time as the rumored activities of agents of the Canadian Northern Railway company in the purchasing of options on property in West Duluth for the entrance of the road into the city, the filing with the secretary of state at St. Paul yesterday of an application for a right-of-way across state lands lying between Duluth and Virginia indicates that the Canadian Northern intends to begin construction work not later than next spring for the completion of its line between Duluth and Winnipeg.

The application filed at St. Paul yesterday sets out certain tracts of land lying between the city limits of Duluth and Rainy Junction, where the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg road now joins the Duluth, Missabe & Northern a few miles out of Virginia. The company asks that it be given a right to cross those lands and a plat is submitted showing a tentative right-of-way.

Local attorneys for the Canadian Northern say that the right-of-way shown on the plat as crossing the state lines is not final or binding on the company, but the filing of the applica-

JOHN R. WALSH LOSES HIS APPEAL FROM SENTENCE OF FIVE YEARS IN PRISON

FINANCIER'S APPEAL DENIED BY COURT

JOHN R. WALSH.

Circuit Court Hands Down Brief Decision Against Financier.

Dismisses Juror Palmer's Attitude With But Little Attention.

Banker's Attorneys Have Thirty Days to Appeal to the Supreme Court.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—John R. Walsh, convicted of misapplication of the funds of the Chicago National bank, must serve the sentence of five years' imprisonment imposed upon him by the trial jury, unless the supreme court upsets the affirmation of a verdict of guilty handed down today by the United States circuit court of appeals here.

Counsel for Mr. Walsh in their appeal laid the greatest stress on what they alleged was a lack of criminal intent on the part of the defendant. In the very lengthy brief which they filed, much law was quoted to show that the convicted banker used the funds of the bank in what he considered a legitimate manner.

The opinion of the court of appeals, written by Judge Humphrey and handed down by Judge Grosscup, is brief, and is confined almost wholly to the question of criminal intention. Allegations that Juror Palmer was unduly influenced were dismissed with a word, and but little more is said in eliminating allegations of inconsistency and repugnancy.

No Inconsistency Found.

"So long as there is no inconsistency in the verdict as to the substance of the matter charged in the various counts," says the opinion, "the verdict will not be disturbed. If the gravamen of the charge in each count, on which there has been a verdict of guilty, is the same, there is no inconsistency in the verdict."

As to Juror Palmer, the opinion reads:

"The record does not show that any improper influence worked upon the jury. The return made to the court

Paris, Oct. 5.—A more optimistic feeling prevails in government circles today regarding the amicable adjustment of Franco-American tariff relations under the new law, as a result of the explanations furnished by Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island during his talks last week with a number of the French ministers and other high government officials.

In the first place, Mr. Aldrich disabused the minds of the Frenchmen of the idea, entertained here, that the termination of the existing commercial agreement with the United States months in advance of the agreements

START WITH 3-CENT FARE

Cleveland Railway Settlement Terms Are Considered at Conference.

City Reserves Right to Buy Lines or Name Other Purchaser.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 5.—A conference was held today to arrange final details for an absolute settlement of the local street railway situation, which has been bitterly agitated for eight years.

The basis of the strife has been Mayor Tom Johnson's contention for a 3-cent fare. The proposed settlement will be on this rate of fare, and will eliminate the street car question from the fall campaign. All of the main points have been settled.

It is agreed that the city shall give the Cleveland Railway company, owner of the lines, a 25-year franchise, revocable whenever any of the provisions of the contract with the city are violated. The city reserves the right to purchase the lines at any time municipal ownership is made lawful. The city also reserves the right to name a purchaser of the lines after eight years.

REPORT ON THE COST OF LIVING IN DULUTH

Real Estate Exchange Hears Statement Prepared By Committee.

Interesting Comparison Between Expenses in Duluth and Minneapolis.

At the meeting of the Duluth Real Estate exchange held this noon at the Commercial club, the report of the committee appointed some time ago to investigate the cost of living was made. The cost of living was compared to that of living in the city of Minneapolis, only 150 miles away.

In view of the fact that the committee appointed some time ago by the Commercial club will report tomorrow night, action was not taken until after the facts contained in the other report are known.

The whole matter was discussed and referred to the next meeting for further consideration. In the meantime the committee will look further into the matter.

The report in full follows:

At the September meeting of the members of the exchange a discussion arose relative to the problems confronting Duluth and what ought to be done about them, and that subject was made a special order of business for the October meeting.

The undersigned were appointed a committee to consider the subject and present such report thereon as might commend itself to their judgment as the basis of a fuller consideration of the subject in open meeting. Your committee have taken the matter into serious consideration and beg to present their views herewith:

Most villages and cities in the earlier years of their history derive their support mainly from the surrounding country. They have been commonly brought into existence by the necessity which an agricultural community feels for a commercial center at which it can secure the supplies necessary for its comfort, and which, in turn, will constitute a demand for the products of the soil.

Such was not the manner in which the inception of the city of Duluth took place. It sprang into existence in response to the demands of an agricultural development hundreds of miles to the westward, whose products at that time, mainly wheat, were desired by the more densely settled regions a thousand or more miles to the eastward. Its location at the west end of Lake Superior was determined solely by the commercial considerations created by the conditions mentioned. This location was the nearest point at which the farmers of the West could reach the chain of Great Lakes in the transportation of their products to their Eastern customers. The site of the new city thus called into being was upon the shores of Lake Superior, which were then covered with dense forests for miles in every direction.

Draw From Outside.

"It, therefore, became necessary for Duluth to secure the food products necessary for the use of its inhabitants from outlying districts so far removed as to necessitate the transportation of these products by railroad. This situation offered an opportunity in a commercial way for enterprising men to engage in the business of procuring forthe growing young city its provisions and supplies of all kinds and making a profit in so doing. The rapid growth of Duluth, owing to the activities centered here and the demands of many surrounding towns and villages similarly situated, has led to the enlargement of this business into very considerable proportions and it has been taken possession of and is carried on in a systematic way by a body of commission merchants located principally upon Michigan street, adjoining railway facilities, and the whole country hereabouts has become dependent upon these commission merchants for their supply of food and provisions. The magnitude of the business may be seen, in part at least, by considering for a moment the quantities of farm products required to meet the demands of this city and of St. Louis county, much of which as yet must be imported by rail. Your committee have been unable within the short time at their disposal to gather reliable statistics in relation to such products as potatoes, onions, rutabagas, turnips, carrots, beets, cabbages, cauliflower, lettuce, parsnips, cucumbers, tomatoes, celery, green peas, string beans and the many other articles that will occur to the mind of every head of a family, but we have been able to learn what amount of butter is used by the people of St. Louis county and the cost thereof, and if every member of this exchange will but calculate for himself the proportionate cost of butter and other supplies used in his household, he will be able to form some approximate idea of the tremendous amount in the aggregate paid by the people of this county for this class of provisions.

The butter consumed in this county each year amounts to at least 7,200,000 pounds, worth not less than $1,800,000.

The natural deductions made from the facts above given are sufficient to show that the amount of material which passes through this city for its inhabitants and those of the surrounding country reaches into millions annually; and the consideration of problems involved in its production and sale is not beneath the attention of any thoughtful man. On the contrary, the people of this community owe it to themselves to give the matter of supplying the provisions required for their sustenance such intelligent thought and attention as will make the cost of living in Duluth and St. Louis county correspond closely to that of other cities and towns in this and adjoining states. If the prices put upon this class of products are higher than in Superior, St. Paul, Minneapolis or other similar towns, it is unfair to the community, and upon careful investigation remedies can be found therefor.

Development Slow.

The agricultural development of this region has been slow. Most of our people come from locations farther south to engage, not in agriculture, but to devote themselves to other forms of business, and many have brought with them doubts as to whether Duluth and its vicinity could ever become an agricultural region that would supply the city and the surrounding country with the necessities of everyday life. Many circumstances have arisen to retard agricultural development. The first local business which engaged the attention of our people, aside from the transactions necessarily involved in the commercial business, which led to the location of the town, was that of manufacturing lumber from the extensive pine forests which surrounded us. This became a large and prosperous business, and for many years has given employment to a large number of men at good wages, payable in cash, and has been to a great extent a strong competitor in the labor market to any one who might desire to employ assistance upon his farm. This business is still being conducted in a large way, but the time is approaching when it must wane with the exhaustion of the timber.

About 1890 the discovery of iron ore in large quantities and the continued mining of the same ever since, has introduced a new competitive demand for labor, which has not only made it difficult for farmers to secure suitable help upon their farms, but has engaged the services, in the many ramifications of the mining business, of many who might otherwise have employed themselves in clearing up our agricultural lands and establishing farms and homes thereon.

Notwithstanding the conditions above recited, considerable headway in the development of our agricultural resources has been made, but not to keep pace with the growth of the population of the city and county. Enough has been done, however, to make it clear, through the intelligent efforts of a considerable number of our people, that Duluth is in the midst of a region possessing a soil of unusual richness, capable of easy and successful cultivation, and that the natural adaptability of the country for dairying, gardening and the raising of most of the supplies required by a town like Duluth, is not exceeded elsewhere. This whole country, however, has been covered by pine or other timber, and after the removal of the timber crop, it has become necessary, at considerable expense, to clear up the land in order to make it fit for cultivation. This has involved an expense not required in the prairies of the western part of Minnesota or Dakota, and has attracted less farmers than those portions of the country.

Our local agriculturists, however, have shown that the revenues to be derived from the dairying, gardening and farming adapted to this location warrant a much greater expense of clearing and freeing the land from stumps than is actually involved, and that any man of intelligence can locate himself on a farm in this vicinity and secure handsome returns for all expenses involved in making his farm, including that of clearing and removing stumps, and also for his services in raising and marketing his produce. So that the pursuit of agriculture has become a profitable one under circumstances surrounding this location, and no apprehension may hereafter be felt by anyone that the country immediately surrounding the city of Duluth cannot be made to produce, at a profit to the farmer, most of the provisions required by the people for daily use. This is a later demonstration to which public attention has not as yet been fully called. It is a subject which demands the attention of the commercial interests of this city, and whatever steps, in the way of promoting immigration or in the clearing and stumping and opening up of farms, are required to make this a great food producing county must be fostered and undertaken by the business interests here.

Prices Compared.

Most business which has had so clear a field without opposition or serious competition as that of the commission men of Duluth is likely to arrogate to itself liberal profits and place a burden of expense upon the consumer greater than ought to be borne. Such is felt to be the case here, and your committee has obtained some information which seems to indicate that either our commission men or grocery men are making undue profits, or that the business is handled in an irregular and improper manner. We give below the result of our inquiries as to the selling prices of wholesale commission men in the city of Duluth and in the city of Minneapolis on the 20th day of September, 1909. The provisions for the markets of Duluth and Minneapolis are secured from substantially the same source. At present Minneapolis is surrounded by a much better developed agricultural region than Duluth, and the provisions needed for that city require less transportation than those brought to Duluth. So that in the present development of the country a slightly higher charge might be expected here than at Minneapolis, but your committee is unable to discover why this increase of charge should be more than the ordinary freight or express charges, and for so short a haul the difference should not be very great.

Wholesale Commission Selling Prices.
Sept. 20, 1909, at

Minneapolis.	Duluth.
Tomatoes, 35c to 50c	$ .75
Potatoes, 35c to 40c	.50
Carrots, 25c to 30c	.60
Beets, 20c to 30c	.60
Onions, 40c	1.20
Squash, 50c to 75c	1.15
Pumpkins, 50c per dozen	.85
Radishes, 8c to 10c	.15
Lettuce, 15c to 20c	1.00
Green onions, 7c to 10c	.18
Celery, 20c	.30

In addition to the very considerable disparity in price against Duluth shown above, it is charged, with how much truth your committee have not fully investigated, that the commission merchants of this city do not facilitate, but rather retard the efforts made by our local growers to dispose of their produce. If these charges be well founded, they constitute an abuse, which it is the duty of the people of this city to see corrected. Nothing will do more to promote the growth and prosperity of Duluth than to develop the agricultural resources of its immediate surrounding country. Such development will add to the population of the county, whose increasing needs must be supplied by our merchants. It will cheapen the cost of the products of the farm to the consumer, invite the location of factories and mills and balance the development of this portion of the state and bring it into those normal relations that spring up between city and country that are so beneficial to both.

The Peddling Ordinance.

As bearing upon the subject of supplying provisions to our people, attention is called to an ordinance adopted by the council of Duluth, possibly unwittingly, which virtually makes it impossible for any, except a permanently established merchant, to offer provisions and meats to the people of the city. This does not apply to farmers or gardeners, who offer the produce of their own farms and gardens; but it does provide that it shall be unlawful within the limits of the city of Duluth for any person, either as a principal or agent, to engage in the temporary or transient business, either in one locality or in traveling from place to place within the city, of selling goods wares and merchandise, and who for the purpose of carrying on such business hire lots or occupies any buildings or structures for the exhibition and sale of such goods without obtaining a license therefor, as provided in the ordinance.

The charges for license under that ordinance are: For one year $500; for six months $300; For one month $200; For one day $50. According to the provisions of this ordinance if a man desired to buy a few carloads of apples or other fruit or provisions, place them in a store rented for that purpose for, say, a month, and dispose of them to grocers and citizens at large, he would be unable to do so without paying a special license fee of at least $200 which is not charged against other dealers. There may be some merit to this ordinance as applied to merchandise in general but in its present form it tends to foster a monopoly in supplying provisions to the people of this city that is unfair and ought not to be borne.

Freight Rates.

There are many things which might be said upon the general topic referred to this committee, such as the correction of freight rates, the establishment of a public market to be placed under the direction of competent and public-spirited men, the building of roads, the construction of suburban railway lines, but these are all being well considered by the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club and need not be gone into by your committee, except to say that we deem it to be the duty and interest of all members of this exchange to support the public affairs committee in its efforts to ameliorate and improve the condition of the people of this city and vicinity in every respect.

There is no doubt that more attention must be given to this general subject than it has occupied hitherto. More money must be put into the regulation of these questions than has been contributed heretofore. The people of this town certainly have the ability and ought to engage in such concert of action as will surround Duluth with all the conditions favorable to municipal growth and development which are found elsewhere in the United States. Whatever the practice may have been heretofore in relation to city growth and development, at present it is a subject which requires much thought and consideration and the intelligent attention of the people who are directly interested therein.

There is a keen competition between the cities east and west, large and small, new and old, for the location of important works of industry and for population. This is seen in the work of promotion, which has been undertaken by such cities as Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane in the West, the response to which has shown in each such rapid growth. Among the larger cities none is today giving more attention to the expanding of its business, and the extension of its industries, and the increase of its population than Chicago. If Duluth has advantages for business or for residence, they must be intelligently presented to people who are looking to the West for new fields in which to establish themselves and engage in the activities of business life.

Work Done in Chicago.

Your committee has been greatly impressed with the marvelous work in this line which is now being conducted in Chicago, and while we cannot organize ourselves in any such extensive manner as has been done there, yet there are many lessons to be learned from studying their methods, and we can modify and adapt them so far as is necessary for the purposes of our own advancement and growth. The commercial interests of the city of Chicago are now being fostered and promoted under the leadership and guidance of the Chicago Association of Commerce, which is a name given to an organization which has absorbed all previous associations established for the same general purpose or distinct portions thereof. The membership of this association, which includes individuals, firms and corporations, is nearly 3,000, and each supporting member contributes $50 per annum toward the purposes of the association. According to the annual reports, it seems that the service rendered by this body and its committees is of the most effective and useful character. We beg to submit one or two illustrations of this, showing that it is not perfunctory work which is accomplishing such results, but serious, thoughtful, intelligent, constructive action.

Not long since Chicago desired to extend its commercial trade to the South, and as one means of so doing it has prepared for its shippers a large folio entitled "Way to Ship Showing Through Package Cars and How to Route Your Shipments to Obtain the Best Results." Useful and instructive information and directions are given in this folio relative to the rates, character of service, time of delivery, best cars to reach special points, etc., as applied to 16,000 cities and villages in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia. This publication was issued by the freight traffic committee of the association and is made available to all manufacturers and merchants.

The trade extension committee of the association has busied itself with organizing trade extension delegations of which two were sent out in 1908, one to points included in what is known as the Michigan and Ohio trip, and the other to the Mississippi valley. These delegations are thoroughly organized, made up of representatives of different mercantile interests and covered the territory included within their itinerary in a most thorough and effective manner. Reports of the results secured in increased trade for Chicago have reached the ears of your committee from some of the towns visited.

A second instance: As in Duluth, so in Chicago, one of the complaints frequently heard, relates to the loss and damage arising from freight shipments. The Chicago association has had published under its auspices a little pamphlet of thirty-two pages, in which specific information is given to shippers of freight accompanied by forty-seven illustrations, showing what good and bad marking and what packages are required for the proper handling of shipments and conveying much other information, which will have a tendency to reduce the losses by breakage or miscarriage.

These illustrations show thoroughgoing, earnest work. Of course, there is gathered a large fund from the sustaining members which can be used in promoting the interests of the city, but no larger than ought to be freely paid here to accomplish the same purpose with reference to our smaller city of Duluth.

Work of the Press.

The daily papers of the city have been filled lately with editorials and reports showing the unfairness with which the railways have treated Duluth in many respects. This is, no doubt, done to inform the public and attract its attention to the subject. Whether thse charges, as made, are correct or not your committee do not undertake to say; but they do urge that in so important a matter some person representing the commercial interests of the city ought to be employed who will devote his whole time, if necessary, to questions of transportation in which the city is interested. In the opinion of your committee Duluth ought not to rest under any unfair treatment by transportation companies, and it will not be necessary to do so if the subject is handled in the right way from the standpoint of the interests of the city.

There is no problem relating to the growth and development of Duluth but what can be worked out to the benefit of the city and the advancement of all our interests if it is earnestly undertaken. The competition among cities is as keen as in private business, and if we are going to hold our own we must engage in the same line of activity in our own behalf which is pursued by others in theirs. We must advertise our advantages and correct our delinquincies and shortcomings. The cost of living, if excessive, must be and can be reduced to a fair comparison with that of other towns, and nothing is more vital to the interests of our city. There are some indications that Duluth has been sleeping and lagging behind in the efforts that are being made all through the country to promote commercial growth and the development of progressive towns. There is every inducement for every citizen to put his shoulder to the wheel and bring Duluth into the position that she ought to occupy among the cities of the country.

Respectfully,
CHARLES P. CRAIG,
N. J. UPHAM,
O. H. SIMONDS,
Committee.

ARE YOU HEALTHY

On that one question hangs all your future success. It is impossible for success to come to a man who is crippled by ill-health, who has lost all his ambition and vitality in the constant struggle against some disease. It is impossible for any disease not to have a certain amount of effect upon the brain, and from thence it will partially paralyze the entire system. Even though you are suffering from only a mild case of catarrh you notice that it immediately dulls your mind and prevents you from doing your BEST work. It is the same with any disease, however mild. It is absolutely necessary for a man to be in good condition to do his BEST WORK all the time in these days of keen competition. Just as soon as he begins to fall away from that standard, he goes to the wall. If you are suffering from ill-health, however slight, do not neglect it, have the matter attended to at once and you will regain your normal tone at the expense of very little money and time. Allow the matter to lag and it may take years and thousands to obtain a cure. The Progressive Medical Association of this city have saved hundreds of people from serious trouble by TAKING HOLD OF THEIR CASES IN TIME AND CURING THEM. That tired, languid feeling, from which you suffer at this time of the year, means that your system needs bracing up. If you do not do it, it will revenge itself by taking from your stock of vitality far more than the worth of a cure. This is the greatest truth about sickness: DELAY IS DEADLY. In nothing else is this more marked. A delay of five days in discovering a case of diphtheria and administering the anti-toxin may make the disease incurable, and will certainly make it far more difficult to cure. A few dollars spent on regaining the health and poise of your system may make a difference of THOUSANDS to your yearly income.

Was Not Her Brother.

Emil Peterson, the insane man brought from Ely to the county jail to be examined, still maintains his speechless attitude. No amount of coaxing can induce him to talk. This morning a West Duluth woman, who has not heard from a brother of the same name in a long while, called at the jail and asked to see Peterson. He was not her brother, however. She said her brother had been ill, and she fearing his mind might have been unbalanced.

"Correct Dress for Women"

There Is Really Nothing to Wait for in Getting Your Fall Apparel

Styles are absolutely correct, and there are literally thousands of fashionable garments waiting for buyers! Prices are probably less now than they will be a little later, when materials get scarce and are advanced by the mills, and when tailor hire is more precious because of the imperative demand for quick deliveries. Then, too, alterations can be more readily made now than when we are more rushed.

A Neat Appearance Implies a Properly Fitted and Well Moulded Corset

Nothing is more shapely than its foundation. If the "Shape" and "Outline" of a hat be not right, then all the trimmings in the land could not make it attractive. And so if is with the general appearance. The corset is the foundation of the appearance, and if the corset is wrong, then all is wrong!

'Tis surprising to know how few women really know how to choose a corset, how to lace it and how to wear it.

These are some of the things that will be touched upon in the corset conversations being given this week by Mrs. Zereda Sullivan of Chicago, who is with us, exploiting the merits of the Gossard front laced corsets.

Every woman is invited to come. The fact that you do not want to buy a corset does not make our welcome to you less cordial.

Take for instance the practical and conservative Tailored Suit — begin at $25.00 or $29.50 for a choice of splendidly made women's suits in worsteds, homespuns, broadcloths and novelty weaves—then at $35.00, $39.50 and $45.00 we are showing a wonderful range of smart and exclusive styles in the favorite handsome materials and shades, all splendidly lined, "correctly cut" and "excellently tailored"—at $47.50, $49.50, $55.00, $59.50 and up to $115.00 the showings are really superb.

The expansion of our store space has given us an opportunity this season to far outdo ourselves in point of variety, style and value, at all prices, especially those ranging from $25.00 to $50.00.

In Separate Coats, Dresses and Skirts you'll find that we've never shown such extensive assortments of really fashionable garments.

TRAIN THE AUDIENCE

That Is the First Requisite of the Drama, Says Lecturer.

Dr. William Norman Guthrie Delights Audience at High School.

"To have drama you must have an audience," said William Norman Guthrie last evening in his first lecture in a series of seven on the "World's Drama," "and the first effort must be to train your audience. Later the actors may be trained and then you must train your playwrights, but until there is an audience ,there can be no great drama. A masterpiece demands something of you. You cannot sit through a great master's work without it compelling some response from you. And this response is what a public that wishes to leave its brains at home or in the office does not desire to give."

But Dr. Guthrie did not berate his audience for lack of interst in great drama. Instead he unfoldled in a compelling and forceful manner the great possibilities of it, explained its appeal which is to the great mass of people the line of art along which they go with least resistance. The drama, said the speaker, appealed to people through the eye, in the series of tableaus presented; to the ear with the music of poetry. It drew from the province of music and it took the best of the art of dancing, which art, said Mr. Guthrie, is dead. The drama had tragedy as its greatest expression in distinction from the other arts. In drama a physical tragedy is endured that a moral victory may be gained. In the other arts this is not so. The sculptor who knows his business does not present a grimace or picture of agony in stone to endure for all time, because he knows that they are not permanent and to do a master's work he knows that he must perpetuate in marble a quality that is enduring.

In tragedy, contrary to the generally accepted idea, the death of the hero or heroine is not an essential, and it is really but an incident. The people no longer as a class enjoy seeing the misery and suffering of an individual, but it is thrilling to see the endurance strength, morally and spiritually, of a soul in trial.

The use of art was explained in a most convincing manner by the speaker. "Art is necessary to our lives to add to our experience," he said. "There are none of us who have in life the experiences we most desire and in art through the drama we get experience not actually but vicariously and it may be even more valuable. All of us have found that when the great experiences of life come, we are not there. If, however, a great sorrow or other spiritual experience does come to us, it may exhaust us and we have not the perspective. It is too close. In the drama however we have the experience which is of us and yet not of us. It touches our lives closely and intensely and yet we can have the necessary perspective. If the life of the individual was completely satisfactory there would be no need for art."

The audience last evening which filled the assembly hall of the school, was most enthusiastic over the lecturer and the course to be presented promises to be the finest ever given in Duluth.

Last evening many time economists saved two minutes out of all eternity by adjusting their hats and veils during the last few minutes that Dr. Guthrie was talking. They made use of those two minutes afterward in expressing their pleasure at the lecture.

Mr. Guthrie's next lecture will be given Wednesday evening of this week.

tion. He is to say whether his story of a large fortune left by a repentant father to the fruit of his youthful folly is true, or whether it was merely a prop to assist in his investigations to discover the whereabouts of the girl.

The Story.

But to the story:

Nearly twenty years ago, Mrs. Eva Billingston conducted a boarding house in the little frame building which is still standing at 118 Third avenue west. There came to the house one day to board a man and woman, who were presumably husband and wife. She was about 22 years of age, a pretty little blonde woman, with blue eyes and rosy cheeks. Her supposed husband, on whom she showered bountiful love, was a year older, tall and rather good looking. They boarded there for some months, and nobody at the house suspected that they were other than they appeared to be. It has developed in the recent investigations that they were Helena Peterson, or Larson, and Peter Swenson, or Swanson, and that they came from Sanborn, Wis.

Aug. 18, 1890, the girl who is Nina V. Mack came into the story in the shape of a wee, sickly child, born to Helena Peterson. The little girl apparently was not long for the world. There wasn't much of her when she arrived and what there was had little animation. But appearances lied; she was hardy and has survived, and when all the proofs had been gathered those who were investigating the case had no hesitancy in believing that the Nina V. Mack of today was the little morsel of humanity born in the boarding house on Third avenue west over nineteen years ago.

Just about the time of the child's birth, Swenson disappeared and the cruel story of the little mother came out. The world swallowed the man in its capacious maw and eventually, the woman went the same route, but for a few months she was in the midst of conflict.

The fatherless child was given to the Children's Home, where it hovered between life and death for some months. The records show that it was weak and sickly, almost a hopeless charge. From the Children's Home, it was sent to the Orphan's Home at St. Paul, where Dr. Savage had charge of it for some time. It did not improve and eventually came back to the Children's Home. One day, the mother called and took the little girl away. There official records end. The child passed also into the maw of the world and was forgotten. So was the mother. As far as Duluth was concerned, it appeared to be a closed incident.

For nineteen years the incident remained in the oblivion into which it had passed and then the white light of investigation was turned on and its sordid details were dragged out for inspection. The inspection has been made, the details pieced together to make a connected story—but there the investigation ends. There have been no results.

Stranger Appears.

One day about a year ago, a man giving his name as P. Swan of Portland, Or., came to Duluth. He was unlettered, but shrewd; unpolished, but opulent. He dressed well, had plenty of money and was willing to spend it to accomplish the object of his visit. He said that some time previously, a relative of his—one Peter Swanson—died somewhere in the West—he did not give the exact place—and left a fortune. His will set aside $10,000 to be used if necessary in discovering the whereabouts of a child born to him and Helena Peterson in Duluth eighteen years before and in the event of her being found, his entire fortune was to go to her. Swan was entrusted with the mission and he was here to begin the investigation.

For a week or so, he was unsuccessful. Then somebody directed him to Judge J. B. Middlecoff of the probate court, who became interested in the strange story. He entered into the investigation with interest and in a week or two had pieced everything together and had found the girl living as the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli L. Mack at Spooner, Wis.

When the man Swan arrived here, he was fairly well supplied with clues, but failed of skill in following them out until Judge Middlecoff interested himself. He had a picture of the house where the child was born, the name of the father and mother and a few other inconsequential facts. Judge Middlecoff learned of the boarding house, discovered Mrs. Billingson and heard her story of the child born to the young couple. Dr. J. J. Eklund had attended at the birth and his records showed the names of the people. He remembered the appearance of the woman and gave Judge Middlecoff a description of her that aided materially in the subsequent investigations.

From various sources the woman's story and the fact of her desertion and trials after the birth of the child came out. The natural inference was that she had disposed of the child, and the records at the children's home supported the conclusion. The child born at 118 Third avenue west was a delicate bit of humanity. A child tallying exactly with the description was brought into the home shortly afterward, and registered under the name of Baby Peterson.

Follows Up Clues.

Ben F. Howard furnished the next clue. About the time the mother took the child from the children's home he said a man named Eli L. Mack had adopted a child he thought was named Peterson. An investigation of the records of the district court verified that fact, for Baby Peterson was legally adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Mack some months after her birth. On account of the delicate condition of the child during the early months of its life there was some doubt of its having lived, but the death records at the city hall showed no death registration which might have been that of the child, and the investigators were satisfied that Baby Peterson still lived.

Mack and his family had gone out to the Pacific coast a short time after adopting the child, according to Mr. Howard, and Judge Middlecoff was evidently at the end of a blind alley. His next move was to trace Mack, and, by much correspondence and the following out of slender clues, he discovered that Mack had gone to the Pacific coast and had remained there for several years, later returning to Spooner, Wis., where he was living at the time. Once he was located, the rest was easy. The girl was living and healthy, Mack had the records of her adoption and his description of her mother tallied exactly with those of Mrs. Billingson, Dr. Eklund and the people at the children's home. Pretty Nina V. Mack was born at 118 Third avenue west in 1890, and was the child of Helena Peterson and Peter Swanson.

P. Swan had remained in Duluth during the investigation, which took only a few weeks. He was apparently anxious that the girl be found. When she was found he was evidently elated. He went to Spooner to see her and returned to Duluth firmly convinced that she was the child for whom he was searching. He told Judge Middlecoff that he had also found the mother, but he did not tell where she was, for he said she had been married again and was the mother of a family—the respected wife of a good man, and he did not care to resurrect her history and drag her present name into it. But as for the child, he was perfectly satisfied.

Swan was profuse in his thanks to those who had assisted him in his investigations. His attitude toward the girl was kindly and he informed her unreservedly that she was heiress to a large fortune. He left his address with her, left again for Portland and there his activities ended.

It is nearly a year since the girl was discovered, but the man has not made a move. He has corresponded with the girl, always holding out promises, but never fulfilling them. The girl has kept in touch with Judge Middlecoff and to him she confides that she is impatient. She doesn't know what to make of Swan's strange actions since he first met her. He was anxious to discover her to carry out the trust imposed in him by Peter Swanson, but once she was discovered, the trust evidently slipped his mind.

Four or five months ago, Mack and his family again went to the West, settling at Sand Point, Idaho. Swan kept close track of the girl's movements. He wrote her often, inviting her to visit him at Portland. She and her mother did so this summer. In a letter to Judge Middlecoff, she said that Swan received them and treated them kindly, showing every indication that he believed she was the child for whom he had diligently searched. But never a word of the money. He offered to help her if she needed money, but the immense fortune which was ever on his tongue while he was carrying on his search was never brought up by him as a subject for conversation.

Judging from correspondence with Mack and others who know the girl, now that she has grown almost to woman's estate, Judge Middlecoff says that the sickly child of the early '90s has developed into a beautiful girl. Her description tallies with that of her mother. She is small and pretty, with blonde hair, blue eyes and a rosy complexion that belies the predictions of those who attended her in her infancy that she was not long for this world. She is a very healthy, a very rigorous and just now a very worried young woman. If Swan had not entered her life with his story of untold wealth, she would have been continuously happy in her ignorance. But now that he has resurrected her lineage, has interrupted the trend of her life and has put dreams into her head, she wants something to come of it all. She has more at stake than anybody else and she is most anxiously waiting for the last chapter that has not yet been written.

Pretty Nina Mack is waiting for the solution of the mystery that envelopes her; P. Swan is affable but uncommunicative; bland, but unconfiding. Those who have heard the story are asking questions the tenor of which are:

Was the story told by P. Swan true?

Is there a fortune waiting for Nina Mack?

If Swan's story is true, is he figuring on double-dealing to appropriate the money to himself?

If he is or was counting on swindling the girl out of the money, why he ever look her up?

If Swanson is dead, why doesn't Swan tell where he died, that the probate records may be investigated?

And when all the queries are made one is inclined to suspect that P. Swan is Peter Swenson with his name mutilated to suit the occasion; that P. Swan is the man who lived with Helena Peterson at 118 Third avenue west twenty years ago and was the father of her child; that P. Swan is the father of Nina V. Mack and hungered for a sight of the child he begot and deserted; that P. Swan framed up his story as a basis for his operations and is now trying to crawl out of it without disclosing his identity; or that Peter Swenson as Peter Swan wanted to know whether his child was living, that he might will her his own wealth.

But the last chapter still remains unwritten.

rails, and the work of laying steel on the grading done by Runquist will be begun in a few days. The corporation already has a mile of steel laid from Pokegama Junction northward. The road will be about four miles in length, and the other three miles will be constructed this fall and early in the spring. Next spring some track will also be laid on the Minnesota side of the river, and by the time the bridge is completed the railroad will be ready to carry trains across it. There are several large fills to make along the right-of-way, and two concrete bridges and one steel bridge to build.

There will also be a spur track running from the site of the plant to connect with the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad. This road has already been surveyed, and the line can be constructed at short notice. It is not needed, however, until the plant is completed, as its sole use will be to bring ore from the mines to the furnaces. The other road is needed to haul in building material and supplies. Building the Missabe spur is a minor matter, and it need not be begun before the actual work of construction on the plant is begun.

George L. Reis, the manager of the Minnesota Steel company, is at present out of the city. He is expected back the latter part of the week, and it is possible that he will have some information to disclose regarding the plans. He will have charge of the construction work on the plant itself. The Missabe road officials have charge of the construction work on the transfer roads, and they are carrying out their instructions to complete their share of the work as rapidly as possible. The construction of the plant, when all the preliminaries are completed, will take but a few months from the time the order is received to begin. When that order will come is a question that nobody outside of the general offices of the Steel corporation can answer, and up to the present time they have been non-committal.

Furs Are the Feature!

Never have we had such a demand for high-class Furs as during the business hours of yesterday.

Our Fur demonstration was "a real demonstration," not alone in our display of beautiful furs, but a demonstration by critical fur buyers who wanted the S. & B. fur guarantee back of their purchase.

Duluth women are becoming more particular each succeeding season! Duluth women are not accepting the "every-day class" of merchandize exploited in newspaper advertising.

Especially is this so regarding furs, which are the most important and most expensive articles of the winter toilette.

S. & B. Furs have maintained their quality and reputation for nigh a half century.

Good Furs (The S. & B. kind), properly cared for will last a generation; poor furs, poor, ordinary and indifferent skins will scarcely hold together during the first season of wear.

Never have we had such a splendid selection of fine Furs, never (with but one exception, Lynx) have fur prices been so favorable.

COME TO THE SHOWING TOMORROW.

cheering people, the president was driven to the campus of the University of California. Under escort of the university cadets he was taken to the Greek theater, the first open-air theater built in America. Here the president was given a public reception.

Cheered by Students.

When he appeared on the stage he received an ovation from a crowd of 10,000 citizens and students, which must have reminded him of some of the greetings which he has been given at Yale, for it was as noisy as only college affairs can be.

After the reception the party reentered the conveyances and were driven to the football field, where 6,000 school children of Berkeley were gathered to do honor to the chief executive.

The famous Taft smile was much in evidence during his passage through the college town, and he expressed himself as delighted with the beautifully situated University of California campus. He was highly pleased with the spontaneous outbreak of applause which greeted him at the Greek theater. The feature at the Greek theater which pleased the president most was the Phippine Constabulary band, which furnished the music for the occasion.

From Berkeley the president and the members of his party proceeded in automobiles to the Key Route Inn in Oakland, where the official welcome of that city was extended by Mayor Mott.

Escorted by Marines.

At the inn a detachment of the Thirtieth United States infantry was drawn up to salute the president and a company of marines formed part of his escort in a combined military and civil parade.

At Lake Merritt the parade halted long enough for the president to make a brief address. The party boarded the revenue launch, Golden Gate, to cross San Francisco bay at 11:35 a. m.

The official parade in San Francisco was followed by the laying of the corner stone of the new Y. M. C. A. building. President Taft prepared to attend a reception at the Union League club, then retired to his hotel for a brief rest in preparation for the banquet in his honor tonight.

Los Angeles Getting Ready.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 5.—Complying with the request of the mayor and presidential reception committee, business men and householders began today the decoration of buildings, and when President Taft and his party arrive Monday afternoon the city will present a festival appearance.

They Say You Can Feel It Heal

Eczema on the head and scalp is a common occurrence of a most common disease, and it is to be regretted that most remedies for eczema which produce cures when other parts of the body are affected fail to give good results when used for eczema on the head.

The new drug quintone is different from other eczema cures offered to the public, for it proves an excellent remedy for all forms of salt rheum, tetter, ringworm, psoriasis and similar skin diseases, and purchasers report they "can feel it heal" eczema on the scalp.

As eczema on the scalp causes annoying itching, dandruff and falling hair, the sales of quintone are rapidly increasing and it is probably the most popular "home treatment" known. All that is necessary is to dissolve two ounces of quintone in a half pint of hot water and let cool. For eczema on the head rub quintone well into the scalp with the finger tips. For eczema elsewhere a cloth saturated with quintone lotion is applied to the affected surface. Quintone stops the itching at once.

work done during the last year in helping helpless human beings and dumb brutes. Mrs. Hugo Krause of Chicago read a paper on "Why Humane Education Should Be Made a Part of the Public School Curriculum." This was followed by an address by Guy Richardson of Boston on "Band of Mercy Work," and then there was a general discussion on animal protection. As this was "animal day," the afternoon session was devoted to papers and discussions on animal treatment.

Dr. Stillman reports that nearly 750,000 animals and more than 166,000 children were cared for in 1908 by the different anti-cruelty societies. They have 800 paid employes and 5,000 volunteer assistants.

Among the subjects to be considered at this meeting will be the amendment to the stock transportation law fixing a minimum speed for stock trains; federal legislation relating to cattle on the ranges; the protection of deer on the reservations, and the national movement for bird protection. The matter of representation at the international humane congress in Washington in 1910 also will come up.

Danger at Home.

In conclusion, the paper intimates that the reports from the interior of Spain indicate that there is grave danger of serious trouble at home as soon as the country is denuded of troops.

The Spanish embassy here is under heavy guard night and day, as it is feared that the Barcelona revolutionists are placing the assassination of the Marquis del Moni, the Spanish ambassador, as a means of forcing the government to abandon its repressive measures in Calalonia.

Moors are Reinforced.

Madrid, Oct. 5.—The Imparcial today confirms the report that the Moors south of Zeluan have received numerous reinforcements from the Beni-Burriaguel and Azza tribes. Riffs to the number of 10,000 are now entrenching themselves on the heights surrounding Zeluan.

Doctors Prescribe

Doctors of all schools in all parts of the country have used and prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for many years. Read the following letters selected from a large number received and note the uniform good results obtained by each and every one of these skilled physicians.

Prescribed It For 14 Years.

"Permit me to say that I have prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in my practice for the past fourteen years. I have been familiar with this medicinal whiskey for over 25 years, and specify Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in all cases." L. L. Hertel, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

Recommends It As Pure.

"I have often prescribed your article, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, in my practice, and can recommend it most highly as a Pure Whiskey." Dr. F. A. Kittinger, 97 Main Street, Lockport, N. Y.

Prescribed in Hospitals.

"For a number of years I have used your whiskey in the various public institutions of this city, of which I was attending physician, and it is still being used in them. I have your product at my private hospital, and I am perfectly satisfied as to its merits. I also use it in my private practice, and as I have been practising for upwards of forty years, I consider that I am able to judge of its good qualities." J. C. Beard, M. D., 638 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

A Pure Stimulant.

"I have obtained the most satisfactory results from the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey when a pure stimulant is required in my practice." J. E. Gendron, M. D., 35 Washington St., Worcester, Mass.

Prescribes It As Best Whiskey.

"When my patients require a stimulant I prescribe for them the best whiskey. Duffy's Malt fills all requirements." E. S. Siggins, M. D., North Yakima, Washington.

Upholds Vital Strength.

"That a pure alcoholic stimulant is essential in many cases when nature is tardy and inefficient, to assist in upholding vital strength in exhaustive diseases is a fact of urgent importance. Judiciously advised by the experienced physician, the results are such as must commend Duffy's Whiskey to the intelligence of those who have witnessed the recovery of very ill persons, the trend of whose condition seemed hopeless. I speak from abundant observation, and only from a physician's view point. I can duplicate the most flattering statement you have received concerning Duffy's." F. L. Peiro, M. D., 72 E. Madison St., Chicago, Ill.

Surpasses Any Other Product.

"I have thoroughly tested the merits of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and find it surpasses any product of the kind that I have ever used or prescribed professionally." Chas. T. Mitchell, M. D., Canandaigua, N. Y.

Prescribes It.

"I have been aware of the merits of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for a number of years, and do not hesitate to prescribe it in my practice." J. L. S. Hall, M. D., 4733 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Uses It In His Own Family.

"Replying to your communication of recent date wherein you ask my opinion regarding the Malt Whiskey put out by your firm, will state that have both prescribed it and used it personally in my own family, and consider it of great value in cases where a stimulant is required." A. T. Livingstone, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

FRANZ HEINRICH DIES AT ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL

FRANZ HEINRICH.

Franz Heinrich, for many years employed at the Fitger brewery, died at about 5 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's hospital after an illness of but a few days. He underwent an operation for stomach trouble last week and failed to rally.

Mr. Heinrich was one of the best known Germans in Duluth. For twenty-one years he had been in the employ of the Fitger Brewing company and nearly all that time he had presided over the destinies of the little German rathskeller there with a dignity and a gruff cordiality that won for him the respect and admiration of all.

Not only in his business life, but in his home and social life he made many friends. Years ago he was one of the leading spirits in the Turnverein and was an athlete of ability. He was a prominent member of the Duluth lodge of Sons of Herman. Behind his gruff exterior there was a kind heart and a whole-souled German geniality that only those who knew him best appreciated.

Mr. Heinrich was 55 years old and leaves a wife and one daughter. One sister, living in Germany, also survives him. He lived at 705½ East Second street.

Mr. Heinrich was one of the most original and picturesque characters in Duluth. Many visitors at the brewery went there merely for the purpose of chatting with the host in the little Dutch room and listening to his quaint and original views on various subjects. During his youth Mr. Heinrich learned the trade of a potter in Germany and he was always proud of his abilities along this line.

The funeral will be in charge of North Pole lodge, Sons of Herman, and will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from 705½ East Second street.

"PANNING" FOR BOARD

Alderman Says Fire Commissioners Put Up Jobs on Council.

Alderman Getchell Also Takes Shot at Council Methods.

The board of fire commissioners was "panned" at the meeting of the city council last night by Alderman Bloedel.

The fire commissioners were accused by the alderman of putting up jobs on the council and scheming to get the approval of the city fathers for money upon one proposition when the real intention was to use the money for something else

Alderman Bloedel declared that he was tired of having the board of fire commissioners putting up jobs on the council, explaining that in the past the board has frequently asked for money for one purpose and then used it for another and entirely different purpose. He said that he was tired of such business.

During the controversy Alderman Getchell took occasion to fire some hot shot into the council. He said that resolutions asking for the appropriation of city funds for various purposes are introduced without a minute's notice with the expectation that they will be passed without question. He said that the council has been doing altogether too much business in this slipshod manner. Alderman Getchell handled his fellow aldermen without gloves, asserting that too much cash has been allowed different parties and departments with practically no investigation as to the merits of the case.

The accusations came when City Clerk Cheadle read a resolution asking for an appropriation of $2,800 to repair fire hall No. 2, on Piedmont avenue in the West end. Alderman Bloedel declared that it was just wasting the money, alleging that instead of repairs the board should make permanent improvements. He said that the firemen are now sleeping with the horses and that the hall is in worse condition than any in the city with the possible exception of the Lakeside fire hall. He held that the repairs would not last a long time, and that if the money were to be appropriated, it should be put into work that would last.

Alderman Getchell said that it was wonderful how No. 2 fire hall was too small now, and yet large enough when the council made its annual inspection. He wanted more information, but his motion to lay the matter over for a week was lost. Upon final vote the resolution to spend $2,800 for repairs was lost.

After the matter had been well discussed Alderman Bloedel said that among other things the plans called for putting a rubberoid roof upon No. 2. He said that if he were going to put a roof upon his barn he might be glad to consider this material, but in the case of the fire hall he thought that it was a suspicious circumstance. He didn't believe that the material was sufficiently durable.

LAY PIPES TO PROCTOR

Work Begun on Connection With West Duluth Reservoir.

Duluth Water for Citizens of the Hilltop Village.

Work was begun yesterday on the laying of water mains from West Duluth to Proctor, which, when completed, will give the citizens of Proctor a water works system for which they have been agitating for the past few years.

Fairbanks, Morse & Co. of St. Paul have the contract for the work, and, according to a statement given out by one of their foremen, it is expected that the job will be completed before Christmas.

Three crews have been set to work, about 120 men being employed on the job. One crew will work from the West Duluth reservoir, toward Proctor, and another at Proctor, toward West Duluth, and the third will work between the two places.

The route taken will follow the old Proctor road, and the pipes will be underground about three feet. A twelve-inch main will be used. The distance between the two points has been closely estimated at 12,300 feet.

Water connections for Proctor will mean much to the people residing there, and to the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, which will be the largest consumer of the Proctor supply. The water will be pumped from the West Duluth reservoir to Proctor.

Heretofore all drinking water for Proctor people has been taken from wells only, and water for other purposes is taken from the creek running through the town. In case of a large fire, the supply from the creek would prove entirely inadequate, it is said.

The work of laying the pipes will be rushed before the frost comes, and an attempt will be made to get most of the work done before winter. Saturday, an official from the Fairbanks, Morse & Co.'s office was in West Duluth to make the final preliminary arrangements.

ELOPED WITH LANDLADY

"Star" Boarder Claimed to Have Fled With Boarding-house Keeper.

Husband Follows Them From New York and Causes Arrest.

A peculiar story of how the "star" boarder eloped with the landlady from a boarding house in New York, came to Duluth, and how, after they had comfortably established a boarding house of their own at West Duluth, they were finally caught by the husband of the landlady, was brought out at a hearing this afternoon in the West Duluth justice court, of Tiija, or Eli, Buncic, charged with having improper relations with another man's wife.

Mrs. Anna Deresic, who is 29 years old, deserted her husband last February, according to the story that has been told to the authorities by Vido Deseric, who found his wife, after a search of several weeks, living with Buncic in a boarding house at 122 South Fifty-seventh avenue west. Last evening the woman was arrested and given a hearing before Judge Flack of the West Duluth justice court. She pleaded not guilty. She was placed under bonds of $250, which she could not furnish, to appear before the grand jury.

Buncic was arrested this morning, and his hearing is in progress this afternoon. He will not talk on the stand, except through an interpreter, and the proceedings are being carried along in a tedious manner.

Deseric and his wife were married seven years ago in Austria and came to this country a year and a half ago. They settled in New York state, where they kept a boarding house. Buncic is appears, was a boarder at the Deseric home and last February both he and Mrs. Deseric were missing, the husband avers.

No trace of the elopers was found for some time, Deseric says, until he heard through a letter from a friend that Buncic had gone to the Minnesota iron ranges to work in the mines. He came to Duluth and left for the ranges and after a month's search finally found that they had not gone to the ranges, but were running a boarding house at West Duluth.

Deseric came to the West Duluth police with his grievance and warrants were sworn out for the wife who had deserted him and also for the "star" boarder. Deseric says that he had no trouble with his wife that would cause her to leave him, as she did.

Taken to Hospital.

Miss Emma M. James assisted by Rev. M. O. Stockland of the Grace M. E. church organized the new lodge. Rev. Stockland also gave a half-hour talk on the temperance situation.

SUNDAY BASEBALL LAW BEING TESTED IN COURT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Proceedings in the criminal court to determine whether the law passed by the legislature this year permitting professional baseball games on Sunday was constitutional are expected to go to the jury late today. The case has the form of a prosecution of Charles Carr, manager of the Indianapolis club of the American association, charged with violation of the law governing Sunday vocations.

Judge Pritchard declared the law unconstitutional in his instructions to the jury. The instructions, however, are offered only as a guide to the jury, and that body may decide differently.

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 5.—Robert Millington, who was injured in a high school football game at Shamokin, Pa. Saturday, died this afternoon. OFFICERS VISIT ODD FELLOWS

Grand Master Barber and Grand Patriarch McCulloch Address Duluth Lodge.

W. M. Barber of Long Prairie, grand master, and G. H. McCulloch of Brainerd, grand patriarch of the encampment branch of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, were guests last night of Central Link lodge, No. 175, of Duluth. The two grand lodge officers and prominent local members of the order addressed the meeting.

Mr. Barber spoke generally on the work of the order throughout the state and touched upon the Odd Fellows' home at Northfield. He explained alterations made in the laws of the order by the sovereign grand lodge at a recent meeting.

The work of the encampment was Mr. McCulloch's subject, reviewing its work and explaining the part it played in the progress which the order has made in Minnesota in recent years.

S. Lekve of Hibbing, deputy grand master, spoke briefly, and the work of the order in Duluth was reviewed by R. E. McFarlane, past grand patriarch, and T. J. St. Germain. Other local men also spoke. R. E. Patterson, an Odd Fellow for thirty-seven years, introduced the speakers. Following the addresses refreshments were served.

The grand lodge officers are on a tour through Northern Minnesota and will visit several other lodges before returning to their homes.

INSPECTORS KEEPING BUSY

Directors Confident Medical Examination of Children Will Prove Effective.

The physicians who are examining school children, in their test of the medical inspection plan for Duluth public schools, are finding many cases of neglected teeth and a number of more serious cases where children are suffering with contagious diseases.

They are not saying a great deal about the work, and the schools and teachers' committee of the school board has not made any reports on the progress, having announced a determination to wait until the experimental period has ended.

Members of the board of education are satisfied that the several months to be devoted to the experimental medical inspection, to test the advisability of the inspection plan, will prove its worth beyond a shadow of a doubt.

Inspections are being made all the time by physicians who have volunteered their services to the board of education free of charge. The doctor's name is not attached to the card sent by the principal of the school to the parents, and this is thought to insure uncolored reports. Moreover, the inspecting officers are shifted every little while.

PARKHURST AND BINGHAM BEGIN

Enter New York Campaign in Support of Otto Bannard.

New York, Oct. 5.—A minister of the gospel and a former police commissioner jumped into the municipal political game last night. Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst announced his intention of advocating from his pulpit the election of the Republican nominee for mayor, Otto T. Bannard; Theodore A. Bingham, who was ousted by the McClellan administration, said that he would go on the stump in Mr. Bannard's support.

Gen. Bingham is a Republican, though appointed to office by McClellan, a Democrat. For the first time since his removal he spoke publicly last night, appearing at the Calvary Methodist church.

In view of his attacks on McClellan in recent magazine articles, Gen. Bingham, heralded to speak on "The Police System in a Great City," surprised his audience. While he denounced Tammany and the present administration and criticised Justice Gaynor as a candidate, he made not even the remotest reference to Mayor McClellan, save in answer to a question. But throughout his address he urged his hearers to vote for Bannard for mayor.

CAN GIVE SURGEON COMMAND OF SHIP

Secretary of the Navy Is Declared to Have That Authority.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The secretary of the navy has authority, in the opinion of Attorney General Wickersham, to assign a medical officer, not below the grade of surgeon, to the command of a naval hospital ship.

This expression by the attorney general has come to Secretary Meyer in response to a request for an opinion as to the legality of the assignment of a medical officer to such command. It was made in view of the expected commissioning of the hospital ship Solace, which has for some time been fitting out at the Charleston navy yard, and for which Admiral Rixey, the chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery, was about to ask for the detail of a commanding officer.

Mr. Wickersham's opinion will preclude the possibility of a revival of the controversy over the command of the hospital ship witnessed about two years ago, when President Roosevelt sided with Admiral Rixey in the assignment of Medical Officer Stokes to the command of the hospital ship Relief, as against the wishes of the line of the navy.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE.

Members of Forum Society Talk on Initiative and Referendum.

Members of the Forum Debating society at the Central high school had a debate yesterday on the subject, "Resolved, That Minnesota adopt the initiative and referendum."

The debate resulted in a victory for the affirmative side, as represented by Charles Evans and Walter Wallander. The principal speakers for the negative side were Rolf Hovde and Nathan Cohen. Rupert O'Brien, Lloyd Green and Alfred Ott acted as judges.

The debaters regretfully received the resignation of Robert Donaldson, whose duties as president of the senior class will prevent his participation in this year's debates.

OPPOSE LETTING HERETIC PREACH

Presbyterians Are Stirred Up By Ordination of Archibald Black.

New York, Oct. 4.—The action of the New York presbytery yesterday in admitting Rev. Archibald Black to the ministry despite the accusations of extreme liberalism brought against him, will be hotly contested by a number of prominent New York pastors.

At the close of the meeting of the presbytery a meeting of the dissenting members was held, and it was decided to make a formal protest to the synod of which the New York presbytery is a part. The meeting drew up formal articles of protest, stating that objections were raised against Mr. Black on the ground that he rejected the infallibility of supreme authority of the Scriptures as rightfully determining his faith; that he said he did not know as to the virgin birth; that he doubted the raising of Lazarus from the dead, and the physical resurrection of the body from the grave.

Legler Gets the Job.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Henry F. Legler of Madison, Wis., secretary of the Wisconsin free library commission, was appointed librarian of the Chicago public library at a meeting of the board of directors. His salary was fixed at $6,000 a year. Mr. Legler will assume his duties next Monday.

Social clubs to take the place of high school fraternities, which the Chicago board of education is determined to abolish, are planned by the president and superintendent of the board.

AFTER THE GAMBLERS

Number of "Memory Brokers" Arrested in New York.

Indictments Against Brooklyn and Coney Island Jockey Clubs.

New York, Oct. 5.—After two years of agitation against race track gambling in this state, marked by the passage of the drastic Hart-Agnew anti-betting bill, it remained for the King county (Brooklyn) grand jury to write a new chapter in the crusade yesterday, when there were handed up in the court indictments against the two big Kings county race tracks, three police officials, five private detectives and twenty-five bookmakers.

The Brighton Reach Racing association was similarly involved last year, but the case failed and action has heretofore been mainly against bookmakers or bettors who have been exonerated by the lower courts, which held that oral betting was no crime.

It was the increase of "oral betting," conducted by the so-called "memory brokers," that resulted in this latest evidence of Governor Hughes' continued activity and the indictment against the corruption of the Brooklyn Jockey club and the Coney Island Jockey club.

It was not until yesterday that it became a definitely known fact who the defendants were. Foremost are the Coney Island and Brooklyn jockey clubs charged with conspiracy in allowing betting to go on. This involves a number of the most prominent supporters of racing in the United States. W. K. Vanderbilt owns a controlling interest in the Coney Island Jockey club, of which Schuyler L. Parsons is president.

The police officials are indicted for "conspiracy" on the ground that they knowingly permitted the Sheepshead Bay track to be used for betting purposes.

There was much gloomy speculation among the local followers of racing as to the probable effect of the new crusade against gambling.

The prosecution of the cases will, it is believed, be in charge of Assistant District Attorney Elder, who had the greatest part of the responsibility in the successful prosecutions last year.

Both Boys Saved.

Louis Boon, a leading merchant of Norway, Mich., writes: "Three bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar absolutely cured my boy of severe cough, and a neighbor's boy, who was so ill with a cold that the doctors gave him up, was cured by taking Foley's Honey and Tar." Nothing else is as safe and certain in results. Sold by all druggists.

COMPROMISE ON THE "DAY OFF"

Firemen Will Get a Weekly Holiday Beginning Next July.

The council last night compromised upon the proposition to give the firemen a day off in every seven instead of a day off in every ten. The city fathers agreed to start the new program next July rather than the first of the year. The resolution was introduced last week, asking for $5,000 for this purpose. Last night Alderman Foubister, chairman of the committee on fire department, stated that he would be satisfied with $3,750. All of the aldermen said they would like to see the men who are protecting the city from conflagrations get a day off every week, but some of them didn't think the time was ripe. They wanted to wait until Duluth was larger and had more money. If the original resolution had been voted upon it is doubtful if it would have passed, but when Alderman Moore suggested that it be tried for half a year all were in favor of the idea.

JOE SHEEHY BOBS UP AGAIN

Visits Council Meeting and Tells Aldermen "Where to Get Off."

Joe Sheehy was on deck at the council meeting again last night. And in the good old way.

Joe used to run an employment agency and made history for the police department. He lived in Superior a long time, but one day he came to this side of the bay with bad results. A sentence was hanging over him because he said things about Attorney Thomas McKeon, then assistant city attorney.

Anyhow, Joe told the council where to get off at last night. He was indignant. He declared that he had deposited a bond for $2,000 for the privilege of running an employment agency in the great and growing metropolis of Duluth and that he had not received the courtesy due him.

He further asserted that if anybody had any objection to him (J. R. Sheehy) making a living in the city of Duluth he would be much obliged to the same parties if they would state the same in writing.

Joe's talk was taken under advisement.

THE SERVANT BECOME MASTER.

The difference in viewpoint as to national resources—the property of the people—between Pinchot and Ballinger illustrates very clearly the difference in viewpoint between Roosevelt and Taft.

There is, as regards disposal of natural resources, a lack of definite law. Mr. Pinchot holds, in the absence of definite law, that the people's natural wealth should be conserved for the benefit of the people. Mr. Ballinger holds, in the absence of definite law, that the people's natural wealth shall be turned over to whoever is able to grab it.

Pinchot stands for the Roosevelt view. Ballinger stands for the Taft view. Under Taft and Ballinger there can be no adequate conservation unless congress passes laws providing for it; and congress, with Aldrich and Cannon in the saddle, is unlikely to pass such laws. The trouble is that commercial interests—big business—are too powerful in the government, and that now that Roosevelt is in Africa and Ballinger honored by the administration above Pinchot, the people's interests are weak. Meanwhile the biggest of all trusts, the trust that will dominate all trusts,—the water power trust, is being formed upon a capital of natural wealth that belongs to the people.

This is merely another instance of a curious reversion of natural order that isn't thought about enough. Commerce, which ought to be the servant, is the master. Big business, which ought to serve the people and be ruled by the people, makes the people serve it and rules the people.

This isn't right, and this strange, anomalous reversion is at the bottom of most of the political and economic evils that afflict this country.

Commerce—big business—should be the people's servant. It sells the people clothing, food, building materials, pleasures—it provides the things they need or crave, for pay. It should be as much the servant of the people as the valet is servant to his employer.

Yet by a strange convulsion of conditions it has risen to the top, and is master over a people to whom it should be servant.

Congress, the people's lawmaking body, is wholly subject to it. The real power in congress, wielded by Aldrich and Cannon, is entirely devoted to it, to the utter exclusion of every other consideration.

The president, the people's instrument in the execution of law, is hand in glove with its agents, and is apologizing for and condoning the sins committed in its interest.

The courts, the people's instruments for construing the law, are obeisant before its power; many newspapers and periodicals serve it singlemindedly; many churches, even, are not immune to its imperious influence.

That is why laws are passed which aim at the aggrandizement of big business, no matter how egregiously they oppress the people; that is why laws designed to make the real master the ruler and the real servant the server are smothered: that is why the public official who construes law in the people's interest is snubbed by high authority, and why the public official who construes law in the interests of this servant which has become master is honored by this same high authority.

Commerce, the servant, has become Commerce, the master; and little can be done until it is put in its proper place. It is evident already that President Taft has no mind to put it there. The way to get it done is to restore Roosevelt or another like him.

BUSINESS METHODS IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

Every large business concern, at intervals, employs business experts to look over its affairs. Its book-keeping is examined, its expenditures are analyzed, its costs are figured out exactly. The object is to see whether the business is going as it should, to see whether the utmost economy rules all departments, and to see that all departments are contributing to the prosperity of the concern, and that none of them are loopholes for waste.

This practice, which is a growing one and a wise one, is a recognition of the pernicious effects of habit. It is a recognition of the fact that slight abuses, leading to wastefulness, are apt to creep in, to grow, and to become accepted unthinkingly from force of habit. It is no reflection upon the employes whose accounts are examined, any more than it is upon the employers who have these accounts, and their own, examined by experts. It is merely a wise safeguard, an insurance against wastefulness and loss of profits.

If private business enterprises need this kind of occasional supervision, how much more do public business enterprises need it; such as a city or a school district, for instance—or even a county and a state.

The Duluth Commercial club has announced its intention of looking more closely in the future than it has in the past into public finances. This is timely, wise and desirable. The tax rate is high, and growing higher. The city's finances may be in perfect condition, but that is a thing no business concern takes for granted; neither should any city. The Herald has repeatedly suggested an expert business examination of the receipts and expenditures of the city, in order to make sure that proper business wisdom and economy are used. This examination should include all departments—not only the city, but the school district, the water and light department, everything. It should be done upon the same basis, and with the same process, as the business house that has its accounts examined by a man expert in searching out financial loopholes. If there are none in Duluth, it is well to know it; if there are, it will be well to stop them up.

Duluth several years ago had its accounts examined; but it does not appear that many of the suggestions made by the examiner were carried out. But it is not enough to examine the accounts of the city; the school district works independently, but levies nearly as heavy a tax as the city, and its accounts should be examined, too.

This suggestion isn't the child of suspicion. The plan is merely good business policy, such as private enterprises use habitually.

In Minneapolis the county, city and school district are practically the same. There is a board of tax levy which supervises all of the taxes levied except the state taxes. The state public examiner also scrutinizes these accounts. Yet the Minneapolis Journal suggests the employment of a business expert; and the Minneapolis tax rate is about 29 mills while that of Duluth next year will be nearly 40 mills.

The examination now made is a mere auditing. It sees that the books balance properly, and, in the case of the public examiner, that the expenditures are legal: but nobody inquires whether they are businesslike. That is what is needed, not only in Minneapolis, but in Duluth and in all cities: an occasional supervision by business experts.

THE MAIN ISSUE.

The public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club will hold one of the most important meetings in its history tomorrow night, when it will hear a report from the sub-committee appointed to devise a plan of getting to the Duluth consumer at fair prices the produce raised on near-by soil, while encouraging the cultivation of this soil by providing fair prices for the producers. What is first needed is service; prices will adjust themselves if a proper service is provided.

This sub-committee has asked the public to give it all the help possible, and that request should meet with a ready response. Information as to failure of service, improper handling of goods by commission men for producers, unfair prices paid to producers and charged to consumers—such information as this the committee asks for, and there should be plenty of it to be had.

The committee should have a care about confusing the real issue by taking up the demand of the commission men for an investigation. They have been charged with certain things, which they have denied, and they have asked for an investigation, which has been ordered. The committee appointed for that purpose and the committee appointed to find a way to market the product of near-by soil have joined hands, but they should not join issues. The idea is not to convict or clear the commission men; either conviction or acquittal is relatively unimportant beside the main fact that for some reason Duluth consumers are made to pay too much for garden truck. The commission man is a side issue altogether.

What is needed is a way to get the product of near-by soil to the Duluth consumer, profitably to the producer and cheaply to the consumer. The commission man has failed to do this, so some other method must be sought. The commission man is entitled to his trial, but it mustn't interfere with the main issue.

THE "FREE TRADE" SCARECROW.

When an advocate of honest protection, which means protection along the lines of platform theory but not along the lines of Republican practice, gets a defender of the protection policy of grab crowded into a corner, there is one last argument which is invariably used, and which the defender of Aldrich-Cannon practices seems to believe is crushing. He dismisses the dispute with the contemptuous remark: "Oh, you are a free trader!"

Believers in protection should have a care how they overwork this argument. It tends to create the impression that there is no alternative between the present rascality of plundering tariff bounties, such as those provided in the Aldrich-Payne-Taft law, and absolute free trade.

And if it came to that, what choice would the average consumer make, in this day and age? Between a practice of protection that is nothing but robbery of the many for the fattening of the few, and complete free trade, wouldn't the average consumer be pretty certain to choose free trade? And free trade isn't necessary; neither is it desirable. It is a bad thing for the country, therefore, that senseless advocates of the grab plan of protection should be making it seem desirable by contrast; and that is exactly what they are doing.

A tariff for revenue would provide all the protection that any industry needs. While preserving a difference equivalent to the difference in cost of production here and abroad, it would still let in enough foreign product to provide needed revenues and to keep domestic prices honest. Protective schedules fixed as American manufacturers want them tend to keep out all imports whatver, and thereby to destroy revenue, to throttle competition, and to foster conspiracies to plunder the American people. "Tend," did we say? That is what they actually do.

Says the Kansas City Times: "The defender of the Payne-Aldrich law is apt to say, with great firmness, that he is a protectionist, assuming that such a statement carries with it justification of his indorsement of the new tariff act. The same defender is apt to characterize any one who is opposed to the new law, especially if the opponent be a Democrat, as a 'free trader.' This is supposed to be an especially crushing way of discrediting the arguments of independent newspapers that have attacked the measure. The time has passed when this kind of justification on the one hand, or this kind of attack on the other, can go far in misleading the public. Sincere protectionists have come to resent the extremes, the elements of graft and extortion that have been drawn into the system to which they have held allegiance. They have come to the parting of the ways—where protection must no longer stand for robbery, or where they can no longer stand for protection. There is no such thing as a free trade issue in this country at this time, much less a free trade party. No one is asking the abolition of all the duties. No one is even demanding a reversion to the basis of a tariff for revenue only, except as that basis may be reached by gradual, safe and consistent steps."

The abuses of protection under the rule of Special Privilege have done more to make free trade tempting than all the academic arguments ever uttered.

Duluth has started. Keep her going. Every shoulder should go to the wheel and be kept there.

Says the Chicago News: "According to an English court a test for neurasthenia is to make a man stand up with head erect and eyes closed, and whistle. A neurasthenic, it is said, cannot do this." It would be funny, if it could be known, to realize how many people, reading that paragraph, will impose the test upon themselves, whether they know what neurasthenia is or not.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

THAT NEW FIRE ENGINE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I understand that the fire commissioners have bought a new fire engine. That in itself is not anything to cause citizens to write kicks to the newspapers, but I want to make a big protest against putting that engine anywhere except in West Duluth.

Once before the fire commissioners purchased a new fire engine, ostensibly for West Duluth. When the new apparatus arrived, however, it was placed uptown, while one of the discarded engines was placed in West Duluth.

This is not giving West Duluth a square deal, and it indicates that many people of the city, including the honorable fire commissioners, do not appreciate the importance of our section of the city. Our part of town is the location of large manufacturing plants, and it is most important that all the fire-fighting apparatus available for the purpose should be in readiness at all times to fight a blaze which menaces any of those factories. The fire engine they have in West Duluth at the present time is nothing but an old junk pile and should be disposed of. This latest new engine should certainly come to West Duluth and not be placed in some uptown hall and a worn-out affair given to us.

WEST DULUTHIAN.

Duluth, Oct. 4.

THE CHISHOLM REPORT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Merely out of a desire for information, I would like to know if any final report has been made on the expenditures of the Chisholm relief committee. It is now a year since the disastrous fire on the range, and so far as I know, the committee has made no detailed report of its expenditures. I realize that the committee members served without pay, and that they had no paid secretary to keep account of expenditures. The mayor has had to keep track of these accounts in addition to his other work, and I have no desire to embarrass him, by asking this question, but I would like to know if it is the intention to make such a report, and if so when it will be issued.

A CHISHOLM RESIDENT.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 3.

(Mayor Haven is now at work upon the final touches to the report, and stated to a Herald representative that it would be ready for publication within a very few days. It was expected to be ready last week, but he has been unable to complete it as yet.—The Editor.)

Fighting the Beef Trust.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: The Duluth Herald declares that the beef trust has repealed the economic law that high prices bring an increased supply by stimulating the raising of cattle, while low prices diminish the supply and cause an advance in prices. The trust fixes prices arbitrarily. It has throttled competition; and, to quote our temporary:

"It rules the situation with a hand of iron, unregulated by the majesty of law and undismayed by the fear of the people's wrath. Fixing the prices of meat to the retailer and consumer on the one hand, it makes both pay tribute to its might; fixing the price that shall be paid to the cattle raiser on the other hand, it makes him, too, pay tribute. The consumer pays too much, and the producer gets too little. Both are robbed because natural laws guaranteeing fair play have been repealed, and the government has made no other laws to take their place."

The abundance of meat, which once distinguished the American dinner table, is being curtailed by the inadequacy of the average income to meet the exactions of the trust-controlled butcher shops. And these exactions are matched, at the other end of the line, by such niggardly dealing with cattle raisers that they have often refused longer to continue in the business. So they unintentionally reinforce the trust in boosting prices to the consumer. But "even when prices get so high that thousands are unable to afford beef, and consumption falls off so greatly that in many large cities numerous retail butchers are forced out of business, the prices fail to respond, but remain at their fixed high level."

When the number of cattle obtainable threatens to become so small as to force a suspension of packing house operations, the trust ostensibly advances prices to the cattlemen. But these men have learned that the advance is always a treacherous lure, and that, the moment the herds increase to a point which promises a reward to the raiser, prices will be dropped to a point which makes him a loser instead. * * * So far as such cities as St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth are concerned, they can at any moment throw off the control of the trust by establishing public abattoirs, encouraging farmers to sell direct to local butchers, and encouraging the latter to break with the trust, by organizing the consumers under written agreements for their support. The moment it was seen that such a local revolt had occurred, the trust would undoubtedly, if unrestrained by law, put its prices down below those of the revolting butchers and to seek to force them out of business. But this game can be checked in part by a sanitary ordinance requiring, as in Paris, that all animals intended for consumption in the city shall be slaughtered at the public abattoir. The trust would, it is true, be entitled to the privilege of sending its cattle there. But as, even after doing so, it would face the agreement of the citizens to buy only of the local butchers, it would hardly be able again to bring the city under its yoke.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The exact truth is always either boresome or brutal.

The more conceit a man has the more a clever girl can make him think she doesn't see it.

When a girl will let you tie her shoe string, she knew it was going to happen and dressed for it.

A woman can keep on believing in her husband just to be able to hope some day it will come true.

There's mighty little use in being so good that everybody will wish you were a horse thief so you could be tolerated.

One Way of Routing a Bore.

Washington Star: Martin Beck, the well-known vaudeville impresario, was talking in the smoking room of the Mauretania about bores.

"Dash, the steel man," said Mr. Beck, "has a short way with bores. One tackled him last month on the piazza of an Atlantic City hotel—talked straight ahead of him for thirty minutes about grand opera.

"Dash, the instant there came a pause, said earnestly:

"'I tell you, sir, there are no lobsters like Maine lobsters.'

"The bore started.

"'No doubt,' he said; 'no doubt. But what has that got to do with what I was talking about?'

Dash heaved a yawn.

"'By the way,' he said, 'what were you talking about?'"

Love and Folly.

Puck: "Let him but love me—I make no conditions!" said the virgin who was very foolish indeed.

"He must love me for myself alone!" said the virgin who wasn't so foolish.

But the virgin who was least foolish said: "He must love me in spite of myself."

It is man, however, who proposes, and he is not so easily scared off by foolishness as by some other things.

The Measure of Success.

Los Angeles Times: Having left an estate of only $15,000, the world will say that John A. Johnson died poor. The world has strange standards.

THE WEATHER.

FAIR

The forecaster's fair weather did not materialize last night, being unable to shove the heavy fog out of the way. The fog was pretty much in command of the situation this morning, but another prediction of fair weather for tonight and Wednesday indicates that perhaps the mist may dissolve.

The weather a year ago today was fair.

The sun came up this morning at 6:12 and will set at 5:40 p. m.

Mr. Richardson says of weather conditions:

"During the past twenty-four hours further rain fell over Nevada, Utah, Wyoming and New Mexico, due to slight barometric depressions central over Alberta and Western Mexico, otherwise fair weather was the rule over other districts. Temperatures are moderate generally, except that the weather is rather chilly from Nevada and Utah northward to Alberta. The barometer remains high in the lake region. A continuance of generally fair weather is indicated for St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

Following are the minimum and maximum temperatures for the past twenty-four hours:

Chicago, Oct. 5. — Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Detroit Free Press: "Why do you call him effeminate?"

"He never knows when he's said enough."

Puck: "He forgets that he owes me his life."

"That's nothing; he even forgets that he owes me $5."

Chicago News: "Talk is cheap," quoted the moralizer.

"Huh!" rejoined the demoralizer. "You just wait till your wife begins to explain why she needs the money."

Fliegende Blaetter: Tourist—Why is it that your villagers never open their windows?

Native—Because they never play the piano.

Philadelphia Record: Nell—Mr. Saphedde has more money than brains.

Belle—Why, I never knew he had much money.

Nell—He hasn't.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "Am I the first girl you ever loved?"

"Your question pains me."

"Forgive me."

"Yes; I had flattered myself that there was nothing amateurish about my love-making."

Boston Record: Hixon—Did the operation on your wife's throat do her good?

Dixon—It did us both good. She hasn't been able to talk for six weeks.

Washington Star: "Does an automobile help you to forget your troubles?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Chuggins, thoughtfully; "my other troubles."

Judge: Diogenes was looking for an honest man. "I want one who will tell a summer girl he is a ribbon clerk," he explained. Herewith, none wondered at his failure.

London Globe: "I am convinced," said the proprietor of the jeweler's shop, as the plate glass window shivered into a million fragments and the chauffeur and his machine began to nestle behind the counter, "that the taxicab has come to stay."

Cleveland Leader: Employe—I want a raise.

Boss—Why, everybody says your work is rotten.

Employe—That's just it. I can't afford to have my feelings hurt for nothing.

Boston Transcript: Caller—Snip & Co. have employed me to collect the bill you owe them.

Owens—You are to be congratulated, sir, on securing a permanent position.

Life: Cynic—She knows his footsteps a mile off in the midst of a hundred others, sees him coming from the corner of her eye, pats her hair and smooths her dress and jumps a foot with surprise when he ascends the piazza steps.

Clinic—Who?

Cynic—All of 'em!

Puck: Judge—This lady declares that you hugged her at the baseball game.

The Accused—Couldn't help it, judge. She was sitting next to me when one of our boys swatted a homer over the left field fence!

A Gentleman.

I knew him for a gentleman
By signs that never fail;
His coat was rough and rather worn,
His cheeks were thin and pale—
A lad who had his way to make,
With little time for play—
I knew him for a gentleman
By certain signs today.

He met his mother on the street;
Off came his little cap.
My door was shut; he waited there
Until I heard his rap.
He took the bundle from my hand,
And when I dropped my pen
He sprang to pick it up for me,
This gentleman of ten.

He does not push and crowd along;
His voice is gently pitched;
He does not fling his books about
As if he were bewitched.
He stands aside to let you pass;
He always shuts the door;
He runs on errands willingly
To forge and mill and store.

He thinks of you before himself;
He serves you if he can;
For, in whatever company,
The manners make the man.
At ten or forty 'tis the same;
The manner tells the tale;
And I discern the gentleman
By signs that never fail.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

The chamber of commerce held a conference yesterday with the park commissioners, the latter being represented by President W. K. Rogers, R. S. Munger and Maj. J. H. Upham. President Rogers explained that no money could be expended except by vote of the city, and the proposed issue of bonds was limited to an amount on which the annual interest would not exceed $12,500. By this appropriation sections of Chester and Miller creek grounds could be secured with the connecting terrace drive. The chamber passed a resolution approving the plans of the park board and urging the citizens to give a favorable vote on the bond issue. Messrs. Munger and Mitchell were appointed a committee to secure the use of the opera house for a public meeting in advocacy of the proposed park system, with the expectation that the meeting will be addressed by C. M. Loring of Minneapolis and others.

It is said that several cities will be dropped from the Western Baseball association next year, and J. S. Barnes, the St. Paul manager, has written to Jay W. Anderson, the president of the old Duluth ball team, offering to get this city a place in the new association. If this scheme fails, Duluth will endeavor to reorganize the old Northwestern league.

The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad company is to be succeeded by the Great Northern railway, which will operate the Montana Central, the Manitoba to both St. Paul and Duluth, the Great Northern elevators, the Eastern Minnesota and its terminals at the Head of the Lakes, and the Northern Steamship company.

E. A. McCormick, until recently assistant paying teller of the Columbia National bank, Washington, D. C., has gone into business with his cousin, S. S. Williamson of West Duluth. They will handle real estate and insurance under the firm name of Williamson & McCormick.

TAFT IN MINNESOTA.

Paynesville Press (Rep.): President Taft's utterances in Minnesota were about what was expected, only more so. His position on the tariff will never do. The people of Minnesota are not willing to concede that eight of their representatives and both of their senators voted wrong on the Payne bill, while the remaining congressman who had much to gain by remaining with the party was in the right. The Payne law is perhaps a step ahead, and had the president contented himself with asking the Northwest to consider it in that light and devoted his attention to the gaining of more ground in the reforms sought, his counsel would have been wise, but in his zeal to laud the law as the best ever it is feared that he made a bad "slopover," to say the least.

Cass Lake Times: President Taft's "swing around the circle" reminds us of a like tour some forty years ago when questions as important as the tariff were at issue. If we may judge of the results of Judge Taft's itinerary by the fate of President Johnson it may be set down as a fact that President Taft will retire at the end of his first term and that his party will go down to ruin, in disgrace, as did the adherents of Johnson. The West is certainly not in sympathy with the president's tariff ideas and the fact will appear more patent to him as he pursues his route.

North Branch Review (Rep.): If the Republican leaders would admit that the Paine-Aldrich tariff measure was only a start toward the relief called for by the people, the voters of the West would be much better satisfied with it. It is the dictatorial manner which the leaders have adopted that the new tariff bill settles the question for a period of ten or fifteen years that will cause the trouble. The West will never let the matter rest until the question is honestly settled.

Anoka Union (Rep.): President Taft's visit to Minnesota may have been a success, but it looks as though he had butted his head against a stone wall.

Wahkon Enterprise (Rep.): One of the objections raised against the proposed non-partisan reception to the two senators and eight representatives in this state who voted against the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, was that it might be considered a "slap at President Taft," who signed the bill. And now comes President Taft to Minnesota, and in a speech at Winona proceeded to "slap" the ten insurgents and their supporters by stating that the Payne-Aldrich law is the best ever, and that Jim Tawney did his duty in voting for it. The Enterprise believes in the doctrines of the Republican party, but we can't help but notice that it makes a difference who does the "slapping." But then, the general public will get a chance to show their hand about a year hence.

Onamia Lake Breeze (Rep.): No one can deny Mr. Taft's sincerity. His inclination to defend the tariff bill is not encouraging, however. Were he to say that the bill which he signed was the best one obtainable under the circumstances, that he signed it as such, and that the coming sessions of congress would be utilized in bettering its provisions, it would strengthen the confidence of those Republicans who really believe that the president is desirous of securing a fulfillment in a liberal way of the party pledges made at the last national convention. There is nothing for the president or Congressman Tawney to be ashamed of in their action on the bill, but their course can not be strengthened by any attempted defense of the bill on their part.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Some family skeletons are padded beyond recognition.

A well-beaten path may not lead in the right direction.

You don't have to run a boarding house in order to board a train.

Some men are born liars and some are compelled to acquire the art.

People who borrow trouble are always anxious to turn it over to others.

Woman started the ball of trouble rolling, and she has kept it rolling ever since.

Instead of hiding their light under a bushel, lots of people stand in their own light.

It's no sin to be 30 years of age, but it's a sin to take a girl of 30 for old.

When a woman gets angry she thinks she is capable of generating a look that will put any man out of business.

It's a fact beyond dispute that a woman doesn't dislike to darn her husband's socks any more than he used to wear them.

Don't Practice It, Anyway.

Puck: Mrs. Sage is willing to give $500,000 to the Methodist church for the purpose of spreading the Bible all over the world. We suggest to Mrs. Sage and the Methodist church that, instead of spreading the Bible all over the world, they concentrate it within the United States. You have to read a long way in the Bible before reaching the Golden Rule, and a good many folks, we fear, have missed it.

THE MAGAZINES ON JOHNSON.

A Stimulating Example.

Harper's Weekly: It was grievous to all the country to have the romantic career of Governor Johnson cut short so prematurely. There has been no more engaging political figure than he in recent political life. Wherever he was known he made friends by the thousand, and for good reasons. He was full of good-will to men, pacific and gentle in his nature, and very attractive in manner and speech. One has to go back to the days of William E. Russell to find in the Democratic party a leader of such winning personal and political qualities. After his first remarkable campaign for the governorship of Minnesota everybody knew the story of his life, its pathos, its gallantry, its stimulating example of faithful manhood. As a man, Governor Johnson was a beautiful example of what human nature can attain to under circumstances of great adversity. As a politician he was a wonderful vote-getter, and deserved to be. As a statesman it is uncertain how far he could have gone. His political instincts were quick and true, and he had an inbred understanding of some phases of the relations of men that was of the highest value. He had a good mind, and had trained it remarkably, considering his opportunities. But if he had come forward prominently, as probably he would, as a candidate for president, there would doubtless have been misgivings as to whether he had the mental qualifications and a broad enough experience for that office. That question cannot now arise. So far as it went, Governor Johnson's career was wonderfully creditable, not only to the man himself, but to the people of his state, in that such a man won such recognition and appreciation at their hands.

Life Full of Achievement.

La Follette's Weekly: The passing of Governor John A. Johnson marks the untimely end of a notable career. Born in obscurity, raised in distressing poverty, denied the schooling that is the right of every American boy, burdened early in life with the responsibility of family provider, yet this man by diligence and ability, coupled with a rugged personality and a lovable disposition, rose step by step to a position of commanding distinction. Its life was full of achievement; his future seemed rosy with promise. The whole nation joins with Minnesota in mourning his loss.

An Inspiring Life Record.

Christian Guardian, Toronto: On Sept. 21 Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota passed to his long home. By his death his native state loses its foremost son, and the United States one of its foremost national figures. If he had lived it is reasonably certain that Governor Johnson would have been the Democratic nominee for the presidency, but it was not to be. In the full strength of a vigorous manhood, with a noble past behind him, and a future of rare promise before him, there came the call which earth's mightiest cannot refuse, and after an heroic fight with disease, Minnesota's honored governor fell asleep. His life's record is an inspiring one. * * * His record is clean. He could not be bought, and his native ability and common sense were apparent in all his work. His death leaves the state and the nation the poorer for his loss, but the richer by a record of which they may well be proud.

What He Got.

Saturday Evening Post: A good many years ago, in the state of Iowa, there was a small boy hoeing potatoes in a farm lot by the roadside. A man came along in a fine buggy and driving a fine horse. He looked over the fence, stopped and said: "Bub, what do you get for hoeing those potatoes?"

"Nothin' ef I do," said the boy, "and hell ef I don't."

All Right for Tabby.

Human Life: Mrs. X (away from home): John, did you leave out anything for the cat before you started?

Mr. X (who dislikes the beast): Yes; I left a can of condensed milk on the table, with the can-opener beside it.

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM.—"THE PARISIAN MODEL."

"THE PARISIAN MODEL."

Miss Grace Hazard Featured in Anna Held's Former Role.

Featuring Miss Grace Hazard in her famous vaudeville stunt "Five Feet of Comic Opera." "The Parisian Model" opened an engagement of two nights at the Lyceum last evening, before a small, but well pleased audience which grew more enthusiastic as the performance progressed.

"The Parisian Model' is Anna Held's old vehicle, and a most sumptuous production it is, showing a lavish expenditure for gowns and scenery. It is light and frothy in the extreme, bearing the unmistakable stamp of Florenz Ziegfield, Jr., although the production is now owned by Harry B. Smith and Max Hofman. There are one or two rather unpleasantly suggestive bits in the performance, but on the whole it is not any more objectionable than the average musical comedy, and it provides a very good evening's entertainment.

Miss Hazard's little specialty is one of the cleverest little turns seen here in many months. She calls it "Five Feet of Comic Opera,' and by some very ingenious costume changes she presents scenes from several of the old favorites among the comic operas of a decade ago. It is an act she formerly had in vaudeville, and it has been worked into the plot of "The Parisian Model," if the slender thread of action can be dignified by that name. Miss Hazard is rather shy on vocal ability, but she is a very attractive little miss and knows how to make the most of some pleasing mannerisms.

There are several attractive musical numbers in "The Parisian Model," and some decided novelties. In one number thirteen young women, with bells on their ankles, and bells on their knees, and bells hung about their necks, do a dance number, keeping time to the music, and playing the air accompanied by the orchestra.

"Ma Cherie," "On San Francisco Bay," "A Lesson in Kissing," and "It's Delightful to Be Married" are some of the other numbers which are tuneful and attractive.

The work of Robert Lett, the principal comedian, is a mixture of the veriest horse play with clean, cheap burlesque house mannerisms, and clever caricature work. His specialty in the second act was one of the genuine hits of the show, but some of his other work was exceedingly crude, and not much above the level of the old slap stick comedy (?).

"The Parisian Model" will be repeated tonight at the Lyceum.

GOOD BILL AT BIJOU.

Program Is Well Balanced and All Acts Are Good.

For all around excellence, the bill at the Bijou this week has not been equalled at the little playhouse for a long time. Sometimes one finds some act on the bill that is inferior to the others, or there is a headliner that overshadows all the others, but this week there is no headliner. All the acts are on the same plane, and that plane is well elevated.

The Nat Nazzaro Trio, which trio contains four members, have an acrobatic turn that is unique in that the heavy work is done by two dminutive youngsters. Propelled by the two men, they execute hair-raising parabolas in the atmosphere, only to land right side up when they strike the stage. The performance is meritorious and entertaining.

"Christmas on Blackwell's Island," a singing sketch by George Rolland, Sydney Deane, Frank Willing and William Betts gives the quartet some good opportunities for vocal work, and Deane's solo, "Only One Place I Long For," is especially good. The setting is appropriate, and between songs a few jokes that are free from moss, are turned loose.

Leon Rogee, billed as the "human orchestra," makes good in the role. He imitates a trombone, violincello, ocarina and piccolo, and while he is "faking," one would believe that the instrument he pretends to play is producing the music.

George X. Wilson is a German comedian, who is refreshing in his elimination of the burlesque "business" that most German comedians consider necessary to the character. With Camille de Monville he does a sketch entitled "A Thanksgiving Eve," which isn't much as a sketch, but it is strengthened by Wilson's singing and jokes.

Gertie Everett, an English comedienne, looks the part, but her dialect is rather forced. Her manner is pleasing and her songs characteristic.

"Good Night, Moonlight," is pleasingly sung by Earl Moore and is well illustrated. The moving pictures wind up the bill as usual.

"A Doll's House."

Miss Hortense Nellsen, who comes to the Lyceum for one night, presenting Ibsen's "A Doll's House," is one of the most successful actresses in the world today interpreting Ibsen's heroines. Other famous actresses have attempted the role of Nora Helmer, but have been obliged to give it up. Miss Nielsen has devoted a lifetime to the study of Ibsen.

Miss Nielsen's support includes Norval MacGreagor, an actor of wide reputation. The remainder of the cast is excellent, being the same which appeared with her in the Studebaker theater in Chicago and Davidson's theater in Milwaukee last season.

"Putting the Lid On."

Victor Moore, who comes to the Lyceum Thursday in "The Talk of New York," spent the summer in the beautiful Rhine valley, and tells this, apropos of the customs of that land:

"A friend and I were sitting in one of those quaint cafes, drinking beer from enormous steins and having a comfortable chat.

"The waiter, however, annoyed me by pouncing upon my stein each time I set it down and carrying it away to be filled.

"I'm pretty good at this elbow raising stunt, as you know, but at the sixth or seventh round I rebelled, and told the waiter, in no uncertain tone, that I didn't want any more beer.

"'Then why,' he said, in an injured tone, 'don't you keep your mug shut?' 'Why don't I keep my mug shut?' I repeated wrathfully, and was rising out of my chair to mob him, when my friend caught my arm and explained that when a guest leaves the lid of the stein up, that is a signal that he wishes it refilled, and I hadn't thought to close mine. I wonder now," said Mr. Moore thoughtfully, "if that is where all this 'putting the lid on' talk originated?"

NEW OFFICIALS CHOSEN.

Three New County Commissioners Selected in Beltrami County.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three well-known citizens of Beltrami county have been selected on the county board to succeed A. W. Danaher, F. O. Sibley and Wes Wright, who were removed because of alleged malfeasance in office.

William Fellows, a business man of Tenstrike and president of the village council there, will succeed Danaher, and Lars Myhre, a pioneer farmer of the town of Liberty, was chosen to succeed Sibley. It is stated that Danaher could have succeeded himself, but that a provision of the law would not permit him to serve, had he been chosen. There is general satisfaction over the election of Schroeder, Myrhe and Fellows, as it is believed they will make conservative commissioners, who will conduct the affairs of the county on a sound basis.

Clementson and Peterson, who still remain on the old board, are regarded as good men. Beltrami county now has a set of commissioners who will serve the people well.

WAS ST. CLOUD PIONEER.

Henry Edelbrook, Aged Resident, Head of Large Family, Called.

He was fond of a quiet life and very retiring in his habits. His brother, Joseph Edelbrook, formerly a prosperous merchant in this city, died a little over a year ago. His wife died last year.

Mr. Edelbrook is survived by eight children, Henry of Melrose, August Peter and Joe, business men of this city; Mrs. Joseph Heimans of St. Cloud, Mrs. John Schwartz of Royalton, and Mary and Tracy Edelbrook of St. Cloud.

WESTERN TRIP DELAYED.

Arthur Gene Brandishes Knife and Draws Sixty Days.

Arthur Gene was arrested yesterday afternoon on the Lyceum corner by Officer Youngberg for brandishing a knife and threatening to carve a number of bystanders.

The young man was about to start for the West. In order to protect himself he purchased a revolver, a cartridge belt and a long knife. He made up his mind that the knife was unnecessary and started an auction sale on the corner. Fifty cents was bid and this small sum angered him. He was starting in to clean up the bunch when arrested. He took sixty days in the county building.

GREWSOME FOOTBALL.

Dead Infant's Body in Paper Kicked About By Some Boys.

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 5.—While playing along the bank of the Chippewa river, some boys came across a bundle wrapped in an ordinary newspaper, and in sport kicked it about like a football. Finally the covering broke, and the boys were horrified when the break revealed the dead body of a newborn infant. The boys, frightened, ran home and told their parents, who in turn notified the authorities. The latter were unable to secure any clues as to the identity of the dead infant. Whether the child was killed or died is not known.

FATAL ITALIAN FEUD.

Cumberland, Wis., Oct. 5.—Nick Alberice, an Italian, aged 16, was shot and instantly killed at Drummond, north of here, Sunday night.

Another Italian, who has disappeared, is accused of the shooting.

The tragedy is believd to be the result of a feud between two families.

It acted more like a miracle than a medicine," said a well-known gentleman yesterday in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition. "I began to think that there was nothing on earth that could make me fat. I tried tonics, digestives, heavy eating, diets, milk, beer and almost everything else you could think of, but without result.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

BLACKDUCK LOSES CASE

Court Holds Village Must Pay for Revoking Unexpired License.

Beltrami County Grand Jury Finds True Bills Against Three.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury for the present term of court has concluded its labors and has been discharged.

Just prior to adjournment the jury presented to the court one indictment for larceny, one for impersonating an officer and one for falsely presenting a claim to a public officer, none of which were made public, as the party or parties against whom indictments were returned had not been arrested.

Before making the report, Judge Wright informed the members of the grand jury that the docket, which had been used by Justice M. G. Slocum, was on file in the clerk of court's office and could be used by the jury in their deliberations. The returning of the three indictments followed closely on the receiving of the justice docket.

The jury also presented a report stating that they had visited the county jail and found it in fairly good order; recommended the purchasing of new locks for the jail, with flushers for the closets; also to pad the insane cell; that they found the county stable in bad shape, and recommended the repairing of the fence around the courthouse yard.

Decides Village Must Pay.

The case of Eric Nelson vs. the village of Blackduck was concluded yesterday. The attorneys for the plaintiff, Messrs. Crowell, Spooner and Brown, moved that the court instruct the jury to find the verdict for the plaintiff.

This motion was amended by Messrs. McKusick and Willson that the court dismiss the case against all the defendants except the village of Blackduck. Thes motions were argued and Judge Wright directed a verdict for the plaintiff.

The attorneys for the village announced there would be a motion for a new trial and if this was denied that the case would be taken to the supreme court.

This case is an interesting one in that the plaintiff, Eric Nelson, paid the village of Blackduck the sum of $500 for liquor license, which license was revoked before the expiration of the term of the license.

SAFE IS BLOWN; OFFICERS NEAR

Daring Yeggs Turn Nervy Trick in Heart of Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The safe in the postoffice at Clarkfield, Minn., was blown some time Saturday night by robbers, who headed immediately after the crime for the Twin Cities, and early yesterday the safe in the depot of the Chicago Great Western railroad was cracked while the night watchman was but a few feet away, and between $800 and $900 in cash taken. In both cases the robbers were cool and deliberate about their work, and seemingly in no fear of the police.

After taking between $80 and $90 from the postoffice safe, the men stole a horse and buggy and drove leisurely toward the railroad. When they reached a point at which trains stop for water, they hitched the team to a fencepost and boarded a freight train.

Sunday, they were seen at Sacred Heart, from which placed they are thought to have caught a train for Minneapolis.

Sergeant Thomas Knutson and Patrolman Charles Main were at Twelfth avenue south and Washington avenue, two blocks away from the depot. They heard the explosion, but they had Harry Walton, a colored man wanted for stealing a suit of clothes, in custody, and as Walton would not run to the depot, they did not reach the scene until the safe blowers had departed.

Electropodes Do Wonders For Stomach

Remarkable Electric Device to Produce Wireless Current That Quickly Restores Diseased Stomach and Other Organs

A Real Treatment for Rheumatism.

We want to call the attention of our readers to a remarkable electric device which seems already to have exploded many pet theories of physicians and scientists, and to have produced positive wonder to those who have used it.

This new invention is called Electropodes, which comes in pairs,—both producing together, it is stated, an unnoticeable yet effective current throughout the entire body, permeating the vital organs, purifying and correcting diseased conditions, regulating vital functions, and strengthening the nerves almost beyond description.

It proves at last that electricity is not only life but health, and vigor unsurpassed. It has already produced astonishing results in Stomach and Liver Troubles, Kidney Complaints, Back Pains, Lumbago, Insomnia, Weak Heart, Rheumatism, Nervous Prostration, Neuralgia and Weak Nerves.

These results are not fanciful but already proven. For those who have relied on medicines for curing the above diseases, these Electropodes come as a distinct revelation.

Those who wear them report an inexpressible new feeling of glow and health to every organ, the nerves, and entire body. Nothing like it has ever been found.

Electropodes are peculiar metallic insoles in appearance, insulated and so placed in the heels of the shoes as to be unnoticeable to the wearer. They are never uncomfortable; indeed, were it not for the glow of energy and health you would never know you had them on. They are different from any other electric device in that they produce a current only when in actual use.

Electropodes have already been distributed so that you can now get them at any drug store at $1.00 a pair. To prove to you that they do the wonderful things claimed for them, the druggist signs a legal binding contract that if you are not perfectly satisfied with the Electropodes at the end of 30 days, your money will be refunded.

If your druggist should not have Electropodes on hand, send $1.00 for a pair to The Electropode Company, Suite 57, Holland Block, Lima, Ohio, and they will be sent to you on the same 30 days' trial, with contract placed in by the manufacturers, binding themselves to completely satisfy you or positively refund your [illegible] also the interesting story of how Electropodes heal no matter where the trouble is located. Say whether for lady or gentleman.

HUGE PROJECT IS BEING SURVEYED

The Northwestern Minnesota Swamp Land Redemption Plans Are Gigantic.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Probably the biggest uniform drainage project in the United States is now well under way in Eastern Mashall, Southern Koochiching, and Northern Beltrami counties as far as the survey goes. The main ditches with the laterals will have a total length of over 400 miles. These will all be judicial ditches and Prof. Hoag, formerly of the University of Minnesota, is in charge with several crews of surveyors.

The surveys have been ordered by Judge Grindeland of this district, who presides at Warren, and Judge McLennahan of Beltrami county. The ditches when completed will redeem hundreds of thousands of acres of swamp lands, and the system is to be so complete that every section within the drained zone will be thoroughly drained. The land is very rich, and when the work is completed the land will be among the most desirable in the entire state.

When the survey was started a few weeks ago there was little water in the swamps, but the heavy rains which have fallen since have made the work of the surveyors very strenuous. The work of the surveying crews will be continued as far into the winter as possible. Some idea of the magnitude of the undertaking may be realized when it is known that the survey will call for the removal of about 5,000,000 yards of dirt, which, figured at 12 cents per yard would amount to $600,000, and when the necessary bridges and other incidental work is included will exceed the $1,000,000 mark.

The completion of this gigantic drainage project means an immediate development of one of the richest sections of the state. The land will be specially adapted to diversified farming and will develop into one of the greatest dairying sections of the Northwest.

ADOPT COMMISSION SYSTEM.

The Congregationalists of North Dakota Favor New Idea.

Carrington, N. D., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The adoption by the Congregationalists of the state of the interdenominational commission system brings the second of the denominations in on this plan. The Methodists, who gather at Mandan this month, will be the third to consider the plan, leaving only the Presbyterians to decide.

The movement is one to appoint a commission for the government of new fields. It is a plan that has been carried on in Maine with a great deal of success.

Another action of the Congregational association was the appointment of a committee to look after the work at Grand Forks. The fact that the state university is located there resulted in the decision to take up an active campaign for funds over the state to assist in the erection of a church edifice in Grand Forks that would be ample enough to care for both the city and the university.

CRUSHED UNDER ENGINE.

Thrasher Killed Near Preston When Machine Goes on Rampage.

Preston, Minn., Oct. 5.—Caught in a wire fence in the pathway of a roaring juggernaut of steam and fire from which he had leaped, Gust Knudson, a thrasher of this village, is dying from wounds in the chest and abdomen.

Knudson and his stoker, Tom Olson, fired up a mammoth engine to pull a heavy separator up a steep hill to a nearby farm. At the point where the hill was steepest the front of the big engine reared into the air, as if to fall over backward.

The men leaped to save their lives. Knudson landed in a wire fence, from which he was unable to extricate himself. The engine dropped back upon its front wheels, and stirred with new power, having broken from the separator, bore down upon its owner.

The front wheels leaped the small ditch that intervened and struck his chest and abdomen, mangling him fatally.

Knudson's wife died a short time ago and left him with several small children.

Prosperous Citizen of Stutsman County, N. D., Takes Life.

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 5.—Herman Clemens, one of the most prosperous and highly thought of young farmers residing in Stutsman county, committed suicide by hanging himself to the joists over one of the stalls in his barn. He was found there by one of the hired men.

County Coroner A. W. Guest made a trip to the farm and announced on his return that an inquest would not be necessary.

The deceased had several brothers and sisters, all residing in this county, Frank, Albert, Mrs. Theodore Thomas, Mrs. Charles Schulz and Mrs. Walter Tompkins. The funeral was held Sunday from the Lutheran church in this city.

SEARCH CONVICT; FIND BIG ROLL

Inmate of Marquette Prison Had $300 Secreted on His Person.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—When officers at the Marquette prison got squared away at the job of searching John Adams, alias Dr. Anton J. Wiechers recently they struck a load of currency that would have done justice to an absconding bank cashier. Three $100 gold certificates were the fruits of their vigilance.

Adams was sent up from Detroit last March, and has had the money secreted on his person ever since his arrival. So cleverly were two of the bank notes hidden that it is remarkable that they were ever found.

Adams was employed handling lumber at the box factory. One of the officers considered his behavior suspicious, and thought it advisable to have his clothes searched. When one of his stockings was pulled off there fell out a scrap of paper, rolled together. Adams and the officers reached for it, and the latter got it. The paper was laid at one side, and later Adams tried to get hold of it. He was told to let it alone, and then remarked that there was only $100 in it. Investigation showed this to be true, the paper containing a $100 gold certificate.

CROOKSTON RAID RESULT.

Proprietress of Resort and Others Caught Are Punished.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the raid on the Stella Hamilton resort, which attempted to reopen after having been closed for months, the proprietress was fined $50 and costs, and the five inmates were given thirty days with sentence suspended, if they got out of town at once. Four residents of Crookston were allowed to plead guilty of disorderly conduct, because of their being married men of the city, and paid their fines.

Crookston Wins Close Game.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the opening game of football between Thief River Falls and Crookston, played here, the Crookston team won by a score of 7 to 5. The game was very close and for a time was considered a tie game, the referee having called a safety a touchback, but when the rules were loked up, the game was given to Crookston.

Minnesota Woman Accused.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ella Helgstrom, an Ashby, Minn., young woman, is being held in the Grand Forks county jail on a charge of obtaining merchandise under false pretenses. A charge of forgery may be entered against her also, as a confession made by her is considered sufficient to hold her on that charge.

Keep Pores Open; Be Young At 90

Sir Erasmus Wilson, England's Famous Physician, Tells How To Remain Vigorous, With Little Trouble and Without Drugs.

Remarkable Results Produced By Application of His Theory.

Keep the pores open and you will need no medicine! This is the new slogan which thousands in this country as well as in Europe have taken up and put into practice with astounding success.

Dr. Erasmus Wilson, one of England's famous physicians and scholars says that 75 per cent of all diseases and sickness are caused by the pores becoming clogged, thus shutting up in the blood the poisons and effete matter which Nature intended they should eliminate. The pores are the sewers of the body and must be kept open and active, if you would have perfect health.

The method of keeping the pores "open and active" is by the use of Robinson Thermal or Turkish Baths at home.

The power of life seems to lie in the skin—in the poison-chutes of the body, and one may even walk through pestilence unharmed if the pores are kept active and cleaned out.

The effect of the Robinson Thermal or Turkish Bath in Rheumatism, for instance, malaria, eczema and blood diseases is astounding, cures having been recorded as taking place in from 20 to 30 minutes.

Lung and throat troubles, also, lumbago, dyspepsia, nervous prostration, insomnia and constipation disappear in remarkably quick time and the cures are reported permanent.

Any one can now take Robinson Thermal baths at home without any trouble and at a cost of only about 2c a bath. The only way to take these baths is by the use of the Robinson Thermal Bath Cabinet, which is a unique and marvelous invention.

The Robinson Thermal Bath Cabinets can now be seen and examined in Duluth at A. E. Swedberg, White Swan Drug Co., L. P. Mattix (2 stores), W. A. Abbett (3 stores), A. C. Le Richleux (3 stores), and in Superior, Wis., at the Holmberg Drug Co., and H. J. Cameron.

Ask the dealer also for a copy of that great book, "The Philosophy of Health and Beauty." The regular price is $2.00, but you can get one free for a limited time.

If you cannot go yourself, just send your name and address to the Robinson Manufacturing Company, [illegible] Snowflake Bldg., Toledo, Ohio, for full illustrated information free.

SUGGESTED FOR MAYOR

The Name of B. Silberstein Is Being Quite Freely Mentioned.

Believed He Would Give City a Businesslike Administration.

From several representative business men comes the suggestion that B. Silberstein be urged to become a candidate for mayor. The suggestion has been made without consulting the wishes of Mr. Silberstein in the matter. It is prompted by the belief that he would give the city a capable, business administration.

For the past twenty years Mr. Silberstein has been a member of the park board. During that time he has shown broad ideas regarding municipal affairs, and has also taken a broad-gauged view of the duties of a citizen toward the city.

In addition to his services on the park board, Mr. Silberstein has been a member of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, has been actively identified with all the movements of that organization, and in every movement toward the public welfare of Duluth has played one of the leading parts.

The suggestion that a business man of the ability of Mr. Silberstein, who has also a thorough knowledge of municipal affairs and the needs of Duluth, be chosen for mayor, comes from those business men who have studied the municipal situation and believe that a thorough business administration is what is most needed by Duluth.

KNOCK PLAN OF ENGLISH LORDS

German-Americans Say Anglo-American Alliance Would Be Bad.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 5.—The so-called "union of defense" between the United States and Great Britain to offset the growing naval power of Germany, as advocated by Lords Northcliffe, Beresford and Close of England, is declared to be absurd in a resolution offered today in the German-American Alliance national convention by Dr. E. R. Richards, professor of German in Columbia university, New York City. The resolution declares also that any movement towards such an arrangement as is desired by the English would be certain to meet the strenuous opposition of the millions of German-Americans and Irish-Americans.

Former Congressman Charles B. Landis of Indiana, representing the Navy league, spoke today on "The Merchant Marine and Its Influence for Universal Peace."

Says Navy Is a Bluff.

"The American Merchant marine as at present constituted is a fiction," declared Mr. Landis. "We will have spent $300,000,000 in the construction of the Panama canal by the time that work is completed, and when it is finished we will not have a single ship flying the American flag engaged in over-the-seas commerce to pass through the canal.

"Those Americans who are informed consider our navy a bluff; other nations do not regard it seriously. They know that without practically anything in the shape of adequate merchant marine as auxiliary in time of war, its effectiveness is reduced to a minimum."

Mr. Landis advocated a "ship subsidy" to build up a merchant marine.

MANY VISITORS PRESENT.

Street Railway Convention Draws Big Crowd at Denver.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 5.—Nearly 900 visitors had arrived today to attend the American Street & Interurban Railway association, now holding its twenty-eighth annual convention in this city. The meetings are executive and information concerning discussions and action taken is withheld from the public.

It is asserted by many that President Shaw may have another term as head of the organization, if he desires. Unless he expresses a wish favorable to such a move, Arthur W. Brady of Indianapolis, first vice president, probably will be advanced to the presidency.

The $1,000,000 exhibit of heavy machinery, street cars and appliances, is a center of attraction. Thousands view the display daily.

TELEPHONE BONDS SOLD AT A PREMIUM.

London, Oct. 5.—The $10,000,000 worth of 4½ per cent thirty-year first mortgage bonds of the New York Telephone company, issue price $95, applications for which were invited yesterday by the Barry Bros., are in great demand. The lists were closed before noon and the bonds were quoted at a premium of 2 per cent.

KIDNEY DISORDERS

Symptoms and Home Treatment

Gaut, the celebrated German specialist, asserts that seven-tenths of the feeble-minded and insane are the victims of kidney diseases

Nervousness, excitability, restlessness, melancholia, pains in the back and head, neuralgia and rheumatic pains, fevers, chills, scanty urine, highly colored and acid urine, burning pains, fullness and soreness in the region of the bladder, all indicate that the kidneys are affected and weakened, needing tonic treatment.

The very best physician should be consulted at once, or let the following simple, inexpensive, but reliable prescription be used for several weeks:

Mix one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu, with one ounce compound fluid Balmwort and two ounces compound syrup Sarsaparilla. Then take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at retiring, drinking plenty of good, pure water between meals. This mixture makes a splendid tonic and blood purifier.

FURNITURE IS IN PLACE

New Courthouse Will Surely Be Occupied By Nov. 1.

County Officials See No Probability of Further Delay.

St. Louis county officials can't see where there can possibly be any hitch to prevent the occupancy of the new courthouse by Nov. 1. They expect to remove their books, records and themselves to the new building some days before the first of the coming month and when Nov. 1 is ushered in they expect to be comfortably located ready for business. The first term of court in the new building will open No. 3 and it being Judge Dibell's term to preside over the calendar, he will have the honor of calling the first calendar in the new building.

The delays in the delivery of furniture and furnishings, which prevented the occupancy of the building by the first of this month, have all been done away with. The furniture has all been received and placed, the elevator and ventilating apparatus have been installed. There was some delay in the delivery of the electric fixtures, but they have been received and are being put in place. Everything is running along smoothly and the latter part of this month, the mechanics will pack up their tools and depart to leave the building for the transaction of the county's business.

Despite the many associations connected with the old building, none of the county officials or employes will regret its abandonment. It has served well for many years and has outgrown its usefulness. In the office of Judge Middlecoff, a large section of plaster has fallen from the ceiling to expose the laths to view. The court rooms and offices are discolored by moisture that finds its way through the roof. The floors and stairs creak under the light tread of the slightest of lithesome stenographers, while the heavy walking males walk sheepishly along, every step giving out a crash like a road roller striking a board walk.

The day of the old courthouse is done and the new building in its resplendent newness will soon start its term of service.

ST. LOUIS HAS BIG WATER PAGEANT

Veiled Prophet Parade and Ball Are Features of City's Fete Week.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—A water pageant on the Mississippi river, in which scores of gaily dressed vessels took part, was the chief attraction of today's program for the St. Louis centennial. Rowing crews, power boats of all sizes and numerous river packets formed in line at the Merchants' bridge and passed down stream beyond the Eads bridge, where the pageant was reviewed by the visiting municipal officials and by the officers and crews of the United States torpedo boat flotilla.

The original program, which called for the heading of the parade by the fighting craft, was changed because of the low water in the channel. Lieut. Mitchell, in command of the naval contingent, feared that his vessels might run aground, and at his request the MacDonough, Fingey, Wilkes and Thornton were added to the reviewing fleet.

Hosts To Mayors.

The visiting mayors invaded the Merchants' exchange after the river pageant and business was practically at a standstill for an hour. The members of the exchange were hosts to the visitors at a luncheon in the Planters hotel. Later the Wednesday club entertained the wives and daughters of the mayors.

One of the big events of the week, the veiled prophet parade and ball, is scheduled for this evening.

WANT DAMS REMOVED.

Proceedings Brought to Have Obstructions in River Razed.

Onamia, Oct. 5.—An action has been commenced by Frank Baker, Hans Petrin, B. L. Anderson and Martin Lynch, residents of this vicinity, against the Foley-Bean Lumber company, the Rum River Lumber company, J. W. McClure and the village of Onamia, and process has been served by the sheriff of Washington county upon a number of interested loggers residing at Stillwater.

This action has been brought for the purpose of having two dams on Rum river razed and to secure an injunction against their further maintenance for the reason, it is alleged, that these dams cause the inundation of five hundred acres of meadow land adjacent to the Rum river and Lake Onamia.

Both sides have levels of the lake country in this vicinity, and a mass of testimony will probably be introduced. Up to this time no papers have been served on the village of Onamia or on J. W. McClure of this place, both of whom have been named as defendants in order to show cause. It is not known whether failure to serve the village and Mr. McClure means that they are not to be brought into the action or not. It is certain that if the village is not made a party it will intervene or take other appropriate action as is necessary to protect its bridge across the river, at least until such time as the new bridge is completed.

CAUGHT MANY FISH.

An Interesting Sight When Huge Net Was Raised.

Mankata, Minn., Oct. 5.—The first draw of the seine at Madison Lake was made late Friday afternoon, by the fishermen, Messrs. Holzinger and Williams and their crew of about ten men, and resulted in a fine haul. More than a ton of fish, perhaps two tons, was the result. The fish were from all sizes, from one pound sheephead to forty-pound buffaloes. It was a great sight to see the mass of big and little fish wriggling and squirming and trying in every way to escape from the net that was slowly but surely closing in upon them. A couple of hundred spectators watched the proceedings with great interest, about half of whom were from Mankato, and the balance from the village and surrounding country.

ONE OF THE TEN BALLOONS LANDS

Others Are Thought to Be Floating Somewhere Over Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—Most of the ten balloons which left here yesterday afternoon are believed to be floating over Missouri. The first word came from the balloon Missouri, which was reported eighty-five miles west of this city. Unidentified balloons were reported from Steelville and Liberia in the Ozark mountains to the southwest.

The St. Louis No. 3 was so close to the ground at Boonville, 145 miles northwest, that the occupants easily learned their location. Another big balloon raced with a train near Macon, Mo., distancing the train with ease.

The Missouri landed safely this morning at Hibernia, Mo., eight miles east of Jefferson City.

European Flyers Land.

Zurich, Oct. 5.—Le Blanc, one of the contestants in the international race for the Gordon Bennett balloon cup, which started from here on Sunday, landed at Zarzriva, Hungary, yesterday afternoon at 2:30.

Four of the participants in the contest, including Mix, the American pilot, now remain to be accounted for. Mix was last heard from Monday afternoon in Bohemia, where he dropped a dispatch saying that he was traveling northeastward.

Wife of North Dakotan Claims He Was Unjustly Convicted.

Minnewaukan, N. D., Oct. 5.—An attempt will be made at the next meeting of the North Dakota board of pardons to secure the release of Hartley A. M. Schafer, who was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary for horse stealing.

Schaffer's case is one of the most remarkable on record. He was a Benson county farmer, whose trial furnished the most sensational news stories of the year. The movement for a pardon is being made by Mrs. Schafer, who is engaged in circulating a petition over this county and among the jurymen who convicted her husband. She claims that Schafer was a victim of persecution.

WRIGHTS TO QUIT PUBLIC FLIGHTS

Wilbur Says They Will Stick to Commercial Work Hereafter.

New York, Oct. 5.—Unless some change of heart shall alter a decision announced today by Wilbur Wright, the spectacular flight made here over the harbor and up the river yesterday by the daring Dayton aviator is the last which he or his brother, Orville, propose to make in public.

While Mr. Wright was preparing for a second flight late yesterday afternoon the machinery of his aeroplane was injured by an internal explosion, and after an examination the aviator ordered it taken back to the shed, declaring that another flight at that time was impossible, as the engine would have to be replaced.

Stick to the Money End.

"Hreafter," said Mr. Wright, on his return today from an early morning visit to Governor's island, where he had gone to superintend the taking apart of his damaged aeroplane, "we shall devote all our efforts to the commercial exploitation of our machines, and only fly as a matter of experiment to test the value of whatever changes we desire to make in their construction."

Mr. Wright added that neither he nor his brother wished to be looked upon as showmen, and that all offers to fly for exhibition purposes would be rejected by them.

"The flight of yesterday," said he, "was more than an exhibition. It was more like the taking up of a challenge or the making of a record to stand as a milestone in the history of aerial navigation. I would have done better than I did had not the blowing out of a cylinder of my machine prevented me from making a second flight, but all things considered, I am satisfied with my performance of the morning."

Mr. Wright left this afternoon for Washington.

BUSINESS IN THE CHURCH.

The Bookkeeper: The old cry that faith demands sacrifice still rings out. The emotional appeal that opens purse-strings and pours a golden largess into the church's treasury is potent as of yore. But, little by little, the invasion of the pulpit by the business man, the trusteeship of great magnates, who have lent to the conduct of the church's affairs the color and vigor of their daily contests in the markets of the world, is establishing the church as the head of a vast enterprise, governed by its department superintendents, sometimes with its board of trustees as its clearing house and again with the pastor as the immediate control.

While sects differ in their idea of the manner in which we may lend to the Lord, it has been found not incompatible that the man of God should be also thoroughly versed in business methods, with a practical knowledge of bookkeeping as an asset in his profession.

Broadly speaking, the church is a unit, independent in the control of its own affairs, thoroughly equipped for home rule, but allied in the filial relation to the large interest of the diocese, the state and the nation, even to the spread of its particular form of belief in foreign lands. In other words, it pays its tithes to a church extension society, or a state church association. Through these the individual church may lend or borrow as the case may be. A church extension, as it is called in the Methodist Episcopal denomination, or a state association which shoulders the same responsibilities in the Congregational sect; acts at once as the protector and promoter of the church to which it is attached. It holds property in trust for its entire constituency, may lend at small interest, or none, or may give money to congregations whose need is pressing.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

THE SEASON HAS CLOSED

Baseball Ended for the Year Except the World's Series.

Many Surprises in the Big Leagues---All Teams Made Money.

Baseball, as far as the regular schedule of both the National and American leages is concerned, is over. Only the world's championship series remains.

In the season that has just closed there have been a number of distinct surprises in both leagues. The greatest surprise of either league was the winning of the National league pennant by the Pittsburg Pirates.

One of the surprising happenings of the older league was the poor showing made by the Philadelphia Nationals. Some of the critics picked this team to be up in the fight all the time. That Cincinnati should beat Philly out for a first division berth has been one of the surprises of the year.

Internal dissension seems to have been one of the causes of the poor showing of Philadelphia. Billy Murray has been unable to get along with the directors of the club or with some of the players. A change of management is one of the things promised for next season.

The defeat of the Cubs, was, of course, a great surprise to many. New York was the team that many picked to cop the pennant in the National. The schedule was aranged to suit the Giants and everything possible was done to facilitate their winning of the flag. But with all the assistance from high sources, McGraw had a hard row to beat Cincy for third place.

Clark Griffith has made a commendable showing with the Cincinnati Reds. The team has played consistent baseball and has been ono of the hardest teams in the league to defeat.

In the American the showing of the Chicago White Sox, the Clevelands and the St. Louis Browns has proved a distinct disappointment. Last year these three teams, with the champion Detroits, were practically tied for the championship until the last three games of the season. Great things were looked for from each of the three teams in the race of this season.

The absence of that great leader and brilliant player, Fielder Jones, has been saldly felt by the Chicago team. Bill Sullivan has done his best, but his best was not up to the ability shown by the former Sox leader.

Cleveland has broken badly all season. For a brief spell the team played pennant-winning baseball, but it was only a flash. St. Louis has slumped all season.

The showing of the Boston Red Sox has been one of the genuine surprises. A team of youngsters, playing but little inside baseball this team has proved a thorn in the side of all the teams of the younger league. Great things are expected of the Boston Americans next season.

It was believed that when Owner Taylor permitted Young and Criger to go he spoiled his chances for a first division team. Both of the veterans slowed and the youngsters on the Taylor team proved that they could play fast and consistent baseball.

The season has been a great one for both leagues. The fights have been close and every team has made a little money at least, some of the teams making fortunes for their owners.

PHILADELPHIA FORFEITS GAME

The National League Season Ended Rather Unfortunately in New York.

New York, Oct. 5.—The National league championship season in New York ended under unfortunate circumstances, Philadelphia forfeiting the second game to the locals. The first contest was won by the home team, 6 to 5, and in the second the score in the fourth inning was 1 to 1, when Pitcher Moren objected to a ball that had been called on Wilson, Mullin, a new umpire, put Moren out of the game and also ejected Knabe and Doolan. The latter two players refused to leave the field, and after waiting for Manager Murray to provide substitutes for them, Umpire Mullin awarded the game to New York, 9 to 0. New York won the first game in the ninth inning. Doyle tied the score with a double in this round and made the winning run when McCormick singled. Score:

		R.	H.	E.

Boston and Brooklyn Divide.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Boston and Brooklyn divided a double header yesterday, the visitors winning the first game 4 to 2 and the locals the second game 3 to 1. Both contests were decided through the effectiveness of the pitchers. Curtis let Brooklyn down with four hits in the first game, while in the second Dent allowed Boston six safeties. The scores:

NEW GOLF CHAMPION AND ONE OF THE VETERANS OF THE GAME

W. J. TRAVIS AND ROBERT A. GARDNER.

Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale won the golf championship of the United States Golf association at Chicago this month. While his victory over H. Chandler Egan in the final was not conclusive as between the two, because Egan was ill and under the doctor's care, Gardner had played some remarkable golf before he met Egan.

Chicago, 8; Pittsburg, 2.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Chicago closed the National league season yesterday by defeating the champion Pittsburg team 8 to 2. Pittsburg scored two runs on Chicago's ragged work in the first and Frock held Chicago safely until the eighth. In this inning the winners counted eight runs on six hits, one sacrifice hit, errors by Miller and Abstein and two men hit by pitched balls. Score:

"DARBY" SIGNS NEW PITCHER

Duluth Manager Is Gathering Material for the 1910 Team.

Manager Al. Kuehnow yesterday received word from Darby O'Brien that E. J. Kenney, supposed to be one of the very best pitchers in the Cleveland City league, has been signed for the Sox. Kenney has affixed his signature to a 1910 Duluth contract, and from the glowing account Darby sends of his work, Kuehnow believes that he will prove a very valuable man for the Sox.

Don Marion knows Kenney, and says he is one of the best pitchers in Cleveland. He will represent the Sox next spring.

Thomas Johnson, a catcher who comes from the Upper Michigan country, has also been signed. He is a youngster who comes with a very high recommendation from a number of old baseball players.

O'Brien is looking over the best talent in and around Cleveland, and as he recruited a number of fast men from the same field last year, he is in hopes of gathering a good squad.

HIGH SCORE IS AS YET UNBEATEN

Bowlers Trying to Pass the Mark Made By Shaub and Listy.

Shaub and Listy with their score of 1,158 are still the leaders in the two-man bowling contest now going on at the Majestic bowling alleys.

Many of the crack bowlers are yet to try their hand at the game, however, and it is expected that the Shaub and Listy score will be beaten before the tournament closes Friday evening.

Thursday evening a match game will be rolled between Ferguson's Colts and Shaub's Unknowns. C. R. Berini holds the alley's high score, 275. This score was made during a practice game recently.

The new Commercial Business Men's league now being organized will get busy within two weeks. Up to this time the following have announced their intention of entering: O. F. Collier Printing company, Three W' Wolvins, Big Duluths, Oak Halls, Columbias and a team from the First National bank.

Friday evening there will be a meeting of the City league. This league will be organized at that time and the schedule arranged. The teams will probably be the same as last year.

Stone Gets Decision.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 5.—Harry Stone of New York earned the decision given him by Referee Ulman at the end of a 20-round bout with Terry McGraw of this city, before the Eureka Athletic club last night.

Harvard is doing hard practice work, and Capt. Fish thinks he has some good material in his squad. Withington will undoubtedly play guard.

IRONWOOD COMES NEXT

High School Players Stiff After the Brainerd Game.

Colton Is Working Hard to Plug Holes in the Line.

A stiff lot of candidates reported for practice at Athletic park yesterday afternoon. But in the exultation that always follows victory, the team members and the substitutes didn't mind the bruises received in the game of last Saturday.

Coach Colton devoted part of the afternoon in letting his pupils know that their victory over Brainerd was an event that should not give any of the team members a case of enlargement of the cranium. He informed his charges that they played a hard, slashing game, but there were a large number of things that did not cause him any side-splitting mirth.

Colton warned the boys against high playing in the line, a fault that was manifested in several instances, and then put the boys through a light practice.

Ironwood comes Saturday. Little is known of the Michigan team. In years past Ironwood has sent good teams to this city. There is little dope on this year's team. The present week of preparation will be a strenuous one. Colton has the bigger games in mind and this week drill on team work will begin.

Reports from St. Paul state that the Central high school team of that city is not nearly as strong as the team of last year. Archie Grey, the plucky little end, who played through the first half of last year's game here with a fractured wrist, was in the city last week. He stated that the Central had lost heavily through graduation and that the team would not be up to the standard of last year.

If this statement be correct, Duluth has a very fair chance of getting away with the game in St. Paul. Duluth Central has a fast, willing aggregation, and if Colton can get his lineup to the stage of efficiency already shown by his back field, he should have a team that will give any high school in the state a merry battle.

There are some glaring faults in the line to be corrected. The short session yesterday afternoon was devoted to the playing of the linemen. Some of the center men who permitted the Brainerd players to tear through for large gains were given a call yesterday.

Young Taylor, who played a sterling game Saturday, is in bad shape. O'Brien is not in any too good shape, and there are one or two others on the squad who are suffering from "Charley horses" and slight bruises. All of the men should be in excellent shape for the game of next Saturday, however.

FOR PLAYING SUNDAY BALL

Charles Carr, Association Manager, Now On Trial in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—W. H. Watkins, owner of the Indianapolis club of the American association, was called as a witness yesterday in the trial of the club's manager, Charles Carr, charged with playing professional baseball on Sunday. The state purposed to show by Watkins' testimony that Carr made his living by playing baseball. He said that Carr received $6,500 for managing the Indianapolis club during the season just closed.

The state is seeking to convict Carr before a jury, although the last legislature passed a law excepting playing baseball on Sunday from the list of unlawful Sunday violations. It is held by the state's attorney that the new law is unconstitutional.

TICKETS GOING LIKE HOT CAKES

Baseball Attendance Record Will Undoubtedly Be Broken at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 5.—The National commission, having charge of the sale of seats for the world's series games here between Pittsburg and Detroit, announced yesterday that the public sale of reserved seats advertised for Wednesday had been called off owing to the fact that no tickets were left for either of the games of Friday or Saturday. The mail order sale of reserved seats has been unprecedented, the 18,514 tickets for each game at Forbes Field having been all sold forty-eight hours after mail orders were received and the announcement being made by an official of the Pittsburg Baseball club that $100,000 worth of orders for seats for the first two games here have been returned.

There still remains 12,000 bleacher and standing room tickets that will be put on sale each day.

The officials of the Pittsburg baseball club are not taking chances on any one's not being accommodated with the present seating capacity of Forbes Field, the largest baseball park in the world, and extra seats are being built around the grounds, thus preventing ground rules. Eight thousand seats are being built in right and left field, thus giving the park a seating capacity of 43,000. With those standing, all baseball records are expected to be broken during the games here.

Beavers Want Games.

The Beavers want a chance to show what the ycan do on the gridiron. They claim to weigh about 120 pounds and are particularly anxious to get games with the Maroon Juniors and the West End Pirates. W. Campbell is manager and 804 on the Zenith 'phone will reach him.

GLEAMS IN THE SPORTING FOG
BY BRUCE

One week from today will occur the heavyweight championship battle between Jack Johnson and Stanley Ketchel.

Who will win the battle that is attracting an increasing amount of attention from fight followers all over the country?

That is a question that many wise fans throughout the country have already decided in their own minds.

There is a belief among many who followed closely the dope on fighters that Ketchel will have no chance of taking the crown from the big black.

There is a lot of diversified dope on the two fighters.

Ketchel is far from being a scientific fighter. He is the kind of a fighter that sails in wide open, preferring to hit the other fellow than to prevent the other fellow from hitting him. In his fight with Jack O'Brien the wily Philadelphian could hit Ketchel where and when he wanted to.

It is a cinch that O'Brien cannot hit as hard as Johnson. It is very doubtful if he is any cleverer than the big Texas black. Tommy Burns fought O'Brien and could land an effective blow every now and then. In fact, he chased O'Brien out of every slugging bee.

When Tommy fought Johnson he was able only to land two or three effective blows throughout the contest. In their first battle Ketchel had very hard work locating the shifty O'Brien. Will Stanley be able to hit Johnson?

When Ketchel was training in New York for his fight with Sam Langford, he appeared at the Fairmount Athletic club smoking a big black cigar. This neglecting his training appears to be a chronic habit with the boy from Michigan. He has never been a lad who would sacrifice his own personal pleasure for the sake of condition.

Because of this fact the public has a deep distrust of the Ketchel Kid. One time he will fight like a champion; upon another occasion he makes us wonder why we ever remotely compared him with that grand old warrior, Bob Fitzsimmons.

What kind of a fight will Ketchel make against Johnson? The great majority of the fight fans are wondering. At his best Ketchel ought to at least worry the black; at his worst Ketchel will prove easy picking for the clever big negro.

Some one asked yesterday who Johnson had ever beaten. We asked that person who had ever beaten Johnson. One man has the record of knocking the black off his big flat feet. That man is Joe Choynski. He knocked the negro out in three rounds. At that time Johnson was a green fighter, without idea of defense or without ring craft.

Since that time no fighter has been able to knock the big grinning black off his feet, nor has any fighter been able to hurt him as far as any of us know.

He has fought Sam Langford, one of the hardest hitters in the world today, and the stubby black was unable to hurt the larger man. How, then, are you going to figure that Ketchel can beat the champion?

Johnson ought to win. He has a wonderful defense, which has prevented him from being hit. He may lack the punch. That is a question that we have not had answered as fully as many close followers of the game would like to have it answered. But if Ketchel comes tearing at the big black he should be able to cut the smaller man to pieces.

There is a growing opinion that Johnson is a greater fighter than any of us have ever supposed. He is no dub, and compared to the present line of scrub fighters, he stands out prominently. It is very doubtful if Johnson could have beaten Jim Corbett in the latter's prime. It is very much more doubtful if he could have beaten Bob Fitzsimmons or Jim Jeffries. But nevertheless he is a great fighter, and if Ketchel wins he will be stamped as one of the great fighters of the generation.

It is to be hoped that Ketchel can lower the colors of the Texan. There are many of the opinion that Jeff does not want to fight the dinge. He has gone too far to very well get out of the meeting. It would be awful, Mable, should Johnson beat James J. Jeffries.

Johnny Kling is probably as happy as any guy who has got his full measure of revenge ever feels. He has robbed Chicago of its fourth pennant.

There are few close followers of baseball who will believe that Pittsburg is a better team than Chicago. All the luck that abounds in baseball has fallen to the Pirates. With Kling in the game from the beginning, the Cubs would have been the champions today. He stayed away to wreck revenge on chubby Charles Murphy. He has filled his cup of malice to the brim.

And this same Charley Murphy is about the freshest thing that ever broke into the circle of organized baseball. He is cordially hated by his own players and by the members of the national commission. He is detested by practically every club owner in the national.

He refused to pay Kling what the player is worth. So Kling calls the bluff of the rotund person and Chicago loses the pennant. You can imagine what the other players on the team think of Murphy.

He made a bluff of giving his players $10,000. He welched on the proposition and not until Chance and the others decided to quit him cold, did he decide to come through with his grandstand bluff.

He has aroused the antagonism of every umpire in the league. This has rendered the path of progress of the Cubs indeed difficult. He has charged the other teams with laying down to the Pirates and conspiring to beat the Cubs. In about every way he is the most cordially hated man in baseball.

A lady innocently asked the other day if a fighter was obliged to stay down ten seconds. She believed it was against the rules for him to get up before the ten was tolled off. It isn't exactly that way, but there have been fighters (?) who have carefully refrained from rising before the official had counted the number that brought a stop to hostilities.

Wanted in Superior.

It is reported that Superior is full of subpoenas. A "business man" reported this today. It is said that quite a number of those attending the Gunther-Whitehead exhibition have their names on legal looking papers. These men are carefully avoiding Superior these days.

Wolgast vs. Redmond.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 5.—Ad Wolgast announced yesterday that he had signed to meet Jack Redmond Nov. 14 at New Orleans, for a 20-round battle, Redmond being given the choice of weights, 130 pounds at 3 o'clock, or 133 pounds ringside. Wolgast will meet Clarence English at Omaha late in October.

ARE PLEASED WITH TEAM

Result of Iowa Game Gives Gopher Supporters High Hopes.

Young and Ostrand Are Expected to Get Into the Game Later.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gophers trotted out on the football field at the regular time Monday afternoon to begin practice for the week. The men were all pretty stiff and the work was light. A short scrimmage was indulged in and the rest of the afternoon was spent in the usual signal practice, falling on the ball, tackling the dummy and the like. The men feel highly elated over the showing which they made last Saturday against Iowa. Sunday "Doc" Williams took the team out to a deserted spot between Minneapolis and St. Paul to talk things over. The men took a trolley to their destination, and then wandered around in the woods until they found a good place to build a camp fire. They sat around the big fire, reveling over the trouncing that they gave the Hawkeye team, and remarking about "poor Chicago."

The rooters at the university are more than satisfied at the showing which the team made last Saturday. Visions of a championship team are looming up bigger than ever. There is also this much to consider, that there is Ostrand and Young to add to the wonderful team which played Saturday. Young was selected as all-Western tackle last year by many writers, and is regarded by Coach Williams as one of the best tackles he has ever had. Ostrand is one of last year's men. He held down a guard position a year ago in great form. Ostrand has not yet been out in a suit, having been kept out of the game so that his leg, which is in very bad shape, may have time to heal. When these two veterans are added to the team, it will be hard to see where the varsity can be improved upon.

Ames is next in line, and the men will be worked hard all week so that an improvement can be shown over last Saturday. The farmers from Iowa are not feared to any great degree, yet they will come next Saturday to do all they are able and, undoubtedly, Minnesota will have to play good ball. Nebraska comes a week from Saturday, and will be a more difficult proposition. The Cornhuskers always play a little harder against Minnesota than any one else. The game will be in their own territory, and as it will be Minnesota's first game away from home this season, some serious objections are liable to be raised against Minnesota's carrying off the big end of the score.

In all seriousness, however, Minnesota expects to defeat both Ames and Nebraska. The one great object ahead and the one which causes real anxiety is the Chicago game. This big game comes off on Oct. 30, and already is being widely talked off. Stagg, notwithstanding all the bear stories he has sent out, will bring up to Minneapolis just as good, if not a better, team than his championship eleven of 1908. The game on Oct. 30 will be a great battle and one of the big teams of the West will be eliminated from the championship race by the result.

INDOOR SEASON ON IN NEW YORK

Driscoll of Yonkers Takes Two-Mile Run From Sullivan.

New York, Oct. 5.—New York's indoor athletic season was ushered in last night with the beginning of the annual indoor track and field championship meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union. There were twelve events on the program, and the performance in several events approached close to the record.

The closest fight of the night was in the two-mile run, which was won by Michael Driscoll of Yonkers in 9:39 from Sullivan, the Irish-American star, H. A. Wilson, formerly of England, and G. A. Dull of Michigan, who wore the colors of the Pittsburg Athletic club, took the 1,000-yard run in 2:18 4-5, after a gruelling finish with Brimilow of the Irish-Americans.

Gissing's time was 17 2-5 seconds faster than that which won him the same race last year. Lung Hi, the Italian runner of whom great things were expected, reached sixth.

At the end of the twelve events, the Irish-American led with 41 points and the New York A. C. was second with 33. The program will be completed tonight.

SIX GOOD RACES AT LOUISVILLE

Well Balanced Card Ushers in Second Week of Meet.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 5.—The second week of the Louisville Racing association's fall meeting was ushered in yesterday afternoon with a splendid card of six well-balanced races, of which the Old Inne handicap, in the fourth, at one mile was provided as a headliner. In the latter, Hanbridge, running right back to his good race of Saturday was again victorious, while All Red was forced to hustle to get the place by a head from Old Honesty.

Longshots gave the talent a jolt in two races, Kiddy Lee taking the opener and paying for a $5 straight ticket $140.75, while in the third, Pocoteligo was a rude upset at the market price of $143.45.

Fight Date Changed.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 5.—The Ketchel-Johnson fight scheduled for Oct. 12, has been postponed until Oct. 16. This was at the urgent request of Promoter Coffroth, who declared he believed it better to change the date for business reasons, Saturday being a better day than Tuesday to draw a crowd. All conditions governing the match are unchanged in the new articles.

Looking for Matches.

Albert Crago, a Cornish wrestler well known in the Copper country, and who has wrestled some of the best men on the range, is in the city looking for matches. Crago can get backing all the way up to $500 that he can throw any man of his weight in this part of the country.

He is particularly anxious to meet Thomas Sampson of Hibbing. If he can get on a match with Sampson, he will meet him either in Duluth or the range town, and will make a side bet as large as Sampson can cover.

ON THE IRON RANGES

COMPANY STARTS IMPORTANT WORK

Oliver Iron Mining Company Begins Putting Up New Buildings.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Oliver Iron Mining company has started to erect an office, warehouse, machine shops and stables on the property west of the residence portion of the town, where it has been rumored for two years the company would establish its headquarters, thereby adding materially to the size of Hibbing.

The platted township of Hibbing extends to the property and has been entirely occupied by residences for about two years.

Beyond this vacant common to the west, is a ravine, and it is rumored that yards for the Missabe and the Great Northern will be put in here. Beyond this is the Penobscott location, half a mile west of the town, and the new Hull dump.

To the southwest of the common is the old Elizabeth shaft and active preparations are now under way toward sinking a concrete shaft on this property, which will probably enter the shipping list next season. Thus the building of the Oliver shops and office, the changing of the ore outlet to the south and the reopening of the Elizabeth mine will make a very busy scene in the territory which has been so long nothing but a mass of stumps and brush.

It is expected that these various operations, particularly the transfer of the Oliver headquarters to the southwestern section of the town, from the north end, will result in building up rapidly the townsite lying about a mile south of Hibbing. All told there are at present more than 100 houses on these five townsites. The demand for building lots in this section has been active for some time, and recent sales have been heavy.

MUCH MINING ON VERMILION

Exploratory and Other Work Surpasses Anything Seen in Years.

Ely, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the large amount of exploratory work going on and new mining and prospecting companies being formed the Vermilion iron range is experiencing a boom the like of which has not been seen in years.

Within two weeks several new companies have been launched and added to those already in existence sum up a total of working companies such as this range has not experienced since the earliest days of its discovery.

From all indications and judging by the names of the incorporators of the several concerns which have filed articles of incorporation, none are of the wild-cat stock-jobbing order, but all are legitimate development and mining companies. Several of those organized have no stock for sale and those that are placing stock on the market are only doing so to secure cash with which to explore their respective propositions. This bodes good for the range and means that much good work will be accomplished.

Robinson Lake Company Busy.

The Robinson Lake Iron company is working as fast as it is possible for diamond drills to work and from all accounts given out by those on the inside, are meeting with most excellent results. A new hole being drilled at present is reported to be showing up well. This hole is being put down as a verification of finds previously made. E. C. Kennedy, who is in charge of the explorations, says that enough has been shown in the work done on this property to warrant the taking of a lease by a mining company.

The Armstrong Lake Iron company has received a diamond and churn drill at their property at Armstrong and the same will be put to work at once under the management of John Helmer. This company has secured the Goetchius claim by purchase and has also leased the Levy lands.

The Vermilion Iron Development company is a new concern which has secured control of the Pine Island property at Tower and also the Murray claim in 61-15. Much work has been done on the Pine Island property several years ago and it was reported that most excellent results had been secured.

MONEY NEEDED BY TWO HARBORS

City Council Has Fixed Levy to Meet Expenses for Year.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council last night fixed the levy for running the city government during the year 1910. It was estimated that a rate of 18 mills on the dollar will be necessary on real and personal property, with a 2-mill rate for the library fund, 3.6 mills for the interest fund and a 1-mill assessment to create a sinking fund to pay city bonds.

In addition to the library and sinking funds, the amount to be raised is $5,000 for the general fund and $2,700 for the interest fund.

The council voted to allow and pay $500 interest due on water and light bonds to the first National Bank of Chicago. The September pay roll, amounting to $1,959.41, was also ordered paid, and a statement was presented showing that the revenues for the year ending Oct. 1 have been $67,955.38.

ALLEGE QUINN STOLE CLOTHES

Two Virginia Men Believe He Walked Away With Their Fine Togs.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Theiry and R. E. Schultze are each minus a suit of clothes, all on account of Jimmie Quinn, who slipped away in the early morn Sunday, wearing both suits. At least that is what the night clerk at the Central hotel says. Theiry and Schultze both room at the Central and are employed at night work. They came home about 6 o'clock Sunday morning, and upon going to their rooms discovered that their best clothes were gone. Investigation was made, and it was learned from the clerk that Quinn had come down from his room at about 5 o'clock that morning, and in passing through the office the clerk noticed that he wore a different suit of clothes than was his wont, but did not connect the circumstance with any thought of robbery on the part of Quinn. The clerk asked Quinn where he was going, and the latter replied that he was just going out for a little walk and would be back soon. He has not as yet returned, and the authorities are still on the lookout for him. Upon learning of the robbery, J. S. Sutherland, proprietor of the Central, caused a telegram to be sent to Duluth instructing the authorities there to be on the lookout for Quinn. He is described as a man of medium height, with black curly hair and dark eyes. As he left the hotel without a package of any description, it is surmised that he had on both suits of clothes.

Quinn, although some of his acquaintances are inclined to believe such is not his real name, had been employed at the Silver mine in the capacity of railroad work, and had been boarding at the Central the greater part of the summer. It is thought that Quinn took the Duluth Flyer, which leaves this station at 5:15 in the morning.

WATER FROM SPARTA

Will Be Piped to Gilbert for Supplying the Village.

Gilbert, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—By laying two miles of water mains from the Genoa mine at Sparta, the United States Steel corporation proposes to furnish this village with an adequate supply of water for the village's use for years. Active work to that end has commenced. It was at one time planned to secure the supply from Cedar Island lake as soon as permission could be secured from the state board of health, but as such plans would necessitate laying five miles of mains, the idea of securing water from the Genoa mine is far more feasible.

The Steel company put thirty-nine men to work yesterday on a ditch in which to lay the pipes. It will not lay mains in the streets of Gilbert, but will construct a 100,000-gallon tank on a hill back of the town, which will provide high-pressure service capable of throwing a stream to the top of the highest building. It will then be up to the local people to provide for the laying of local mains, so the water will be available for use.

HIS SKULL FRACTURED.

Night Watchman at Two Harbors Falls Through Hatchway.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Earl Smith, night watchman on the steamer Neilson of the Pittsburg Steamship company, fell through an open hatchway last night, fracturing his skull. He is at the Budd hospital in a critical condition.

He was walking the deck in the course of his duties when he stepped into the hatchway over which the door had been left open, and fell twenty feet to the bottom of the boat.

HOLDS FIRST MEETING.

Virginia Study Club Meets With Mrs. W. E. Simons.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first meeting of the Virginia Study club for the season was held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. W. E. Simons. "Vacation Talks," in which all members took part, gave to the meeting an interesting subject for discussion.

Deputy Sheriff W. H. Oppel and Editor D. E. Cuppernull spent the past couple of days at Rice lake hunting ducks. Owing to the warm weather ducks are not flying very plentifully and their success was not crowned with an over abundance of this wild game.

Mrs. J. H. Fleming and children have returned from an extended visit among relatives and friends at Hinckley.

Peter J. Youngdahl, representing the Anti-Saloon league of Minnesota gave a splendid talk on the liquor question to a large audience at the Swedish Mission church Sunday evening.

Postmistress Mrs. J. R. James has established a new order of things at the local postoffice. Commencing Sunday the entrance doors will be opened at 8 o'clock in the morning for the accommodation of box holders in getting their mail.

NEW PASTOR ARRIVES.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new pastor of the M. E. church, Rev. T. S. Oadams, formerly of St. Cloud, has arrived to occupy the pulpit formerly filled by Rev. Mr. Gratz.

His wife and two daughters will join him in the course of a week and he will preach his first sermon a week from next Sunday. Mr. Gratz goes to Joyce Memorial church in Minneapolis.

A meeting of the old settlers of Lake county has been called by President Wood for Saturday night in the assembly room of the high school at 8 o'clock, at which an interesting paper is expected to be read by Judge Lawrence on "Pioneer Days."

The county commissioners are meeting today to award the contract for the clearing of five acres for the county poor farm.

Mayor Smith Candidate.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter J. Smith has become an active candidate for re-election as mayor. Attorney John Peterson and Chief of Police Kent circulated a petition yesterday to secure signatures sufficient to make him a candidate, and before nightfall they had the requisite number. It has been said that Former Mayor Charles Jesmore would also be a candidate, but it is now thought he will not be, and Mayor Smith is the only man in the field.

HASKELL GETS DELAY IN TOWN LOT CASES.

Ardmore, Okla., Oct. 5.—On motion of the defendants, the hearing of Governor Charles N. Haskell and the five other prominent Oklahomans under indictment charged with fraud, the Muskogee town lot cases, which were to be tried yesterday in the federal court here, were postponed until Oct. 13. The continuance was agreed to because of the inability of Governor Haskell to be present, he being in Oklahoma City in connection with the Columbia Bank & Trust company suspension.

Minneapolis Mills Busy.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minneapolis flour mills are operating at a rate of production not attained at any time in the past two years. Monday witnessed the putting into commission of every mill in Minneapolis in all departments, except where repair work or other improvement under way prevented.

Practically every milling wheel in the city is now turning.

JOHN ALBERT JOHNSON MEMORIAL FUND

John Albert Johnson Memorial Fund, Care of The Herald, Duluth:

Enclosed herewith please find .... (not to exceed $1), as a contribution to the fund to be used for the erection at the state capitol of a monument to John Albert Johnson, late governor of Minnesota.

(Signed) ....

JOHNSON FUND IS GROWING FAST

at the state capitol that will be a lasting monument of Minnesota's most popular chief executive. Inasmuch as the maximum limit of each contributor is $1, the fund has grown more slowly than it would have done had there been no such limit, as offers of large sums for the purpose came from several wealthy men. But the value of the tribute in the future will be that it came from the multitude of the common people.

Commission Organized.

The Governor John A. Johnson Memorial commission appointed by Governor Eberhart met at St. Paul yesterday for the purpose of organization. It was decided that no plans can be considered touching the nature of the monument or form of memorial until a fund for that purpose has been secured, and the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That Governor John Albert Johnson Memorial commission desires that a contribution of not less than $25,000 be made promptly, in order that the fund may be closed on or about Nov. 1."

The commission elected officers, including an executive committee, and adopted resolutions urging the newspapers that have already been active in furthering the movement for the erection of a memorial to continue the work until the fund shall have been raised. Other resolutions urged on various societies and organizations of the state the importance of co-operating in the movement in order to make the memorial a fitting expression of the popular esteem in which Minnesota held John Albert Johnson. The only member of the commission absent was Elmer Adams of Fergus Falls.

The following officers of the organization were unanimously elected: President, C. D. O'Brien, St. Paul; vice president, A. C. Weiss, Duluth; secretary, C. W. Ames, St. Paul; treasurer, B. F. Nelson, Minneapolis; member of executive committee, E. M. Neill, Red Wing.

A resolution was adopted calling upon all organizations, newspapers and individuals that have been receiving contributions to forward their collections to the treasurer, B. F. Nelson, 728 Security Bank building, Minneapolis.

The Duluth Fund.

The Herald's list is increased today by subscriptions aggregating $35.25, but the total to date is less than one-tenth the sum that has been raised in the city of St. Paul alone. Certainly Duluth should make a better showing. An indication of the interest taken in the movement to erect a statue of the late governor was the receipt today of subscriptions from eight members of the family of A. M. Marshall, president of the Marshall-Wells Hardware company. In this connection it might be mentioned that while there is a limit on individual subscriptions, those who desire to contribute more than $1 can send additional dollars in names of members of their families.

The employes of the Gately Supply company sent a check for $5, representing eighteen individual subscribers, and Charles Norquist of Biwabik, Minn., sent six subscriptions, of which five represented members of his own family.

Following is a list of the contributions received by The Herald to date:

Previously acknowledged	$315.00	Ray T. Lewis	$1.00
A. M. Marshall	1.00	Charles Norquist, Biwabik	1.00
Mrs. A. M. Marshall	1.00	Reider Norquist, Biwabik	.25

was in fact the verdict of twelve jurors. The attempt by one of them afterwards to impeach his verdict can have no consideration. This doctrine is well established and is based upon reason as well as upon authority."

In the instructions given the jury by Judge Anderson in the trial court, the higher tribunal finds no error.

As to Interest.

As to the lack of criminal intent, the opinion reads:

"Under section 5, 209, there could be no misapplication of bank funds by an officer which would be innocent and not criminal, and there could be misapplication which, under the statutes, would be criminal. What would show the difference between misapplications which were criminal and those which were not, what would show innocence or guilt, good faith or bad faith, the court sought by instruction carefully to define, and we think did fairly define."

Counsel for Mr. Walsh have thirty days in which to file application for a rehearing by the court of appeals. Meanwhile he will be at liberty under his present bonds of $50,000.

Last Attempt Futile.

The courtroom was jammed with a crowd which overflowed into the corridor during the proceedings in court. An eleventh hour attempt by the defense to file additional citations designed to show lack of criminal intent came to naught. The matter was taken under advisement, and a decision reached that the new arguments would in no wise alter the opinion as already written.

The rise and fall of the fortunes of John R. Walsh, who is now 72 years of age, forms an interesting chapter in the history of Americans who have risen from obscurity to power. Three Walsh banks—Tthe Chicago National, the Equitable Trust company and the Home Savings bank—were closed by the comptroller of the currency on Dec. 18, 1905.

Controlled Many Companies.

At that time Walsh not only owned these institutions and the Chicago Chronicle, but owned all, or nearly all, of the stock of the following companies:

The Acme Gas company, the Bedford Belt Railway company, the Chicago Southern Railway company, the Chicago Wharfing & Storage company, the Indiana Southern Coal company, the Illinois Southern Railway company, the Lake Michigan Car Ferry Transportation company, the Mount Olive & Stanton Coal company, the Ohio Quarries company (of Ohio), the Ohio Quarries company (of Illinois), the Southern Indiana Coal company, the Southern Indiana Railway company, the Southern Missouri Railway company and the Wisconsin & Michigan Railway company.

According to the brief of the government on the appeal, all these companies were bankrupt, or on the verge of it, when secured by Walsh for little or nothing. Their securities were unmarketable and practically worthless. Then, it is alleged, Walsh formed corporations to buy these companies from himself, taking in payment stock of the new corporations and enough of their bonds to repay himself at their face value for the sums he actually paid for him. In this way, according to the prosecution, he secured for nothing stocks and bonds to the face value of $30,000,000.

Planned Road To Duluth.

Walsh dreamed a great dream of a railway system to be pieced together from his scattered purchases which would reach from the Mississippi to Ohio, throught Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan to Duluth and Superior, Wis. The quarries and coal mines were to furnish much of the traffic.

To secure funds Walsh had recourse to the funds in his banks. In covering up these loans it is alleged that he used memorandum notes signed with the names of clerks who were not consulted in the matter. There was nothing on the books to show that Walsh had received the loans. Even Fred Blount, the vice president, is said to have been ignorant on the subject. For collateral Walsh deposited the securities of his various enterprises.

For two years, it is charged, Walsh ignored the demands of the comptroller of the currency that he place his banks on a firm foundation, and when the crash came it was discovered that 66 per cent of the securities held were those of Walsh properties. Of the $25,000,000 deposits $16,000,000 were represented by the paper and securities of the Walsh enterprises.

Appealed on "Error."

Walsh's appeal contended that the trial court erred in its rulings in regard to the showing of criminal intent, citing the case of the United States vs. Hibbard in the appellate court. In its answering brief the government insisted that the cases were in no wise alike, and declared that the instructions given by Judge Anderson in the Walsh case were taken with scarcely the change of a word from an instruction approved by the United States supreme court in the case of Agnew vs. United States.

In connection with the attack made upon the verdict of the jury because of the attitude of Juror Palmer, the government brief showed that all of the jurors except one, who is in Florida, and Mr. Palmer, after the trial, signed affidavits showing that Mr. Palmer reached his verdict freely and without any undue influence. The government further contended that when the jury was polled, Palmer acknowledged that the verdict was his and at that time there was no exception taken by counsel of Mr. Walsh to the verdict, and no request was made that the jury be sent out for further deliberation. It was also pointed out that immediately after the jury was discharged Mr. Palmer said to one of the counsel for the government:

"I know Mr. Walsh is guilty, but I hate to send an old, gray-haired man to the pen."

tion at this time is to secure for the company a right-of-way across the sections described, so that if the state should sell the lands before the line is constructed the sales would be subject to the rights of the railway company. Under a state statute a railway has a right to cross state lands, and the application filed yesterday is for the right-of-way deeds under that statute.

For some weeks rumors, which were well founded, have been circulated to the effect that real estate agents, acting for the Canadian Northern, have been picking up land and rights-of-way on property paralleling Cody street in West Duluth, from Central avenue to Fairmont park. It is also said that options are being secured and purchase made in the vicinity of Fairmont park, indicating that the company intends to establish yards or terminals in that vicinity.

Every move made by the Canadian Northern indicates that the time is not far distant when construction will be begun on the last link of its line between Duluth and Winnipeg. Work will hardly be started this fall, but the activities now toward securing the right-of-way would tend to show that the company intends to have all preliminaries arranged so that the actual work may begin without hindrance when the snow leaves the ground in the spring.

The line from Duluth to Virginia will be constructed by the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company, a subsidiary of the Canadian Northern, incorporated about a year ago.

ALDRICH IN ROLE OF FIXER OF TARIFF WITH FRANCE

with other countries, notably Germany, was in any way intended as a discrimination against France, and secondly, and more important, Senator Aldrich relieved the anxiety in Paris concerning the interpretation of section 2 of the new law.

Feared the Maximum Clause.

France believed that the automatic imposition of the American maximum was involved unless France afforded every minimum and every administrative concession in her tariff. As some of these concessions had been made after hard fought battles with other countries in return for specific advantages, the French government, in spite of its desire to avoid a tariff war, was hostile to the granting of wholesale concessions.

It is understood that Senator Aldrich expressed the opinion that section 2 gave President Taft a certain measure of latitude, and that if France accorded the minimum rate upon articles in which the United States was principally interested, Mr. Taft probably would consider that America was not unduly discriminated against within the meaning of the act.

WILL START 3-CENT FARE

cents on all lines, with a 1-cent extra charge for a transfer. Both the city and the railway company have agreed to let Judge Robert W. Taylor of the United States court determine the value of the railway property and the maximum rate of fare. It is agreed that at no time shall the rate of fare be greater than will allow the company an earning of more than 6 per cent.

Judge Taylor has indicated that he will make the maximum rate of fare 4 cents for a cash fare and the regular ticket rate seven tickets for 25 cents and a cent extra for a transfer. This proposition has been accepted both by the city and the railway company.

MRS. ARBOGAST TO BE TRIED OCT. 18

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Mina Arbogast, indicted for the murder of her husband, Louis Arbogast, will be tried Oct. 18. When she stepped to the bar of the court for the formality of having the date set, her daughter, Mrs. Ulmer, who had sat on her left, assisted her.

County Attorney O'Brien asked that the case be set for trial on Oct. 18. P. J. McLaughlin suggested Oct. 15. Judge Orr, consulting his calendar, found that the 15th fell on a Friday, and thought Mr. O'Brien's date preferable, so the case was set for that day.

Miss Louise Arbogast, also accused of the murder of Louis Arbogast, her father, was then summoned for the same formality, and her case was continued without date being fixed.

These proceedings seemed to point to the belief of the state that their strong case lies against Mrs. Arbogast and not against the daughter, and that the latter may never come to trial.

Miss Arbogast needed no one to assist her as she stepped to the front and stood, a picture of perfect self-possession, before the judge.

She, too, was dressed in black, but wore no veil. The rim of her low hat shaded her face, but the light fell brightly on her smile. Her dark eyes sparkled vivaciously. Her sister, Mrs. Ulmer, offered a sharp contrast. She is slender and her face was pale and serious.

The Arbogast girls, who spent the summer at a cottage at Bald Eagle lake, have moved back to town.

Beer vs. Other Tonics

The government's ruling compelling manufacturers of medicines to state on their labels the constituents of their products, has revealed the fact that most tonics contain a very large percentage of alcohol, often 50% and more.

Beer on the other hand contains but little alcohol, (about 3½%), and its medicinal properties are derived from two of nature's products—hops and barley.

ECZEMA VICTIM GAVE UP HOPE

After Suffering a Year with Raw, Watery Humor on Hands and Face—Prescriptions Did Not Do a Bit of Good—Scratched Till Blood Came and Had to Quit Work.

COMPLETELY CURED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I suffered with eczema for one year and had two of the best doctors in town, but their medicine did not help me. First of all there were small white pimples on my left hand and I had to scratch until the blood came. Then they would puff up and water would run out. Wherever this water would run there would be more pimples until my whole left hand was a mass of sores. Then my other hand became affected and they were like a piece of raw meat. Then it came on my face, neck and under my right arm so that I was unable to raise my arm for two weeks. It became so bad that I was obliged to give up work.

"About four months ago I started to doctor and the doctor told me it was eczema. So he told me to get —— ointment and soap. I used them for a month and they didn't do me one bit of good so I tried another doctor. He gave me three different kinds of medicines, but I was very much put out when these remedies did not help me. I was unable to sleep at night and I gave up all hope until I decided to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap, two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and I am glad to say I am cured. Miss Nora Shultz, 243 North Third St., Reading, Pa., Jan. 4 and 7, 1909."

CONCERNING WOMAN.

A defender of the bagpipes, not of Scottish birth, has been found.

She is Grace Hazard, a diminutive bit of enthusiastic comic opera seriousness who discoursed earnestly this morning at the Spalding on the art of playing the bagpipes. Miss Hazard sat on the window seat, balanced on the edge. Her feet did not touch the floor nor did her back recline easily against the rest provided. Sitting on the edge of anything always gives an appearance of earnestness.

"I studied the bagpipes under the piper for the prince of Wales," said Miss Hazard, with pardonable pride.

An unsympathetic interviewer suggested that that wasn't much of a trick because the instrument couldn't sound any worse when it wasn't well played than when a fine performer worked it.

"It doesn't!" said Miss Hazard, and her intonation would suggest that it would. "Playing the bagpipes is some trick, let me tell you," said this small person. First, you've got to have strong lungs to fill the bag full of wind and keep it that way. Then you have to have fine arm control to let it out properly. If too much air gets out at once, it won't play, or if too little, it won't sound. Then with your hands you must play the notes and then the reeds that are most skillfully hidden in this long thing, through which the air forcing it plays the accompaniment that—"

"Help," said the interviewer.

"It's really quiet simple," said Miss Hazard while a cluster of curls bobbed coquettishly at the extreme back of her head. "And I think it sounds nice. I practiced in a hotel over in Scotland, too," said Miss Hazard. "Imagine, if you can, practicing bagpipes in an American hotel. I think you can do much more as you please in England than you can in America. But wasn't I glad to get back. America is wonderful. Think of the cities in this country that were not here fifty years ago. In Europe everything is finished but America is the land of wonder."

Miss Hazard is the feature of "The Parisian Model" at the Lyceum, and her act of "Five Feet of Comic Opera" was originated by herself. She played it in vaudeville for nearly three years. She made the selections of the opera to be sung; she made her costume; she wrote the rhymes that connect one act with the following. But she takes small credit for that.

"My brother, Robert Hazard, educated me," said the wee star. "He calls himself my trainer. He's with the president's party as correspondent of the United Press. Bob's been with three presidents on their tours. He was with McKinley and then with Roosevelt and now with Taft. Bob says he feels like a fairy queen or a minstrel man at every stop they make. The committee is there handing them things and Bob says—"

Miss Hazard's talk gives full credit to "Bob" and to "my mother," who travels with the little star and who keeps a watchful and close outlook.

MATINEE MUSICALE.

Society Begins Its Tenth Season of Work.

The first meeting of the year of the Matinee Musicale was held yesterday afternoon at the assembly room of the Young Women's Christian association, and a most delightful program was presented before the members and their guests, for the opening reception was arranged for any Duluth woman interested in the work of the club.

The two young artists who were presented were Faith Helen Rogers, who returned late in the summer from a year's study in Berlin, and Elizabeth Kendall Bailey, soprano. Both of the young women gave great pleasure. Miss Rogers played her numbers in a convincing manner. Miss Bailey has delighted Duluthians during the summer with her voice, and she sang in a most charming manner yesterday. The program was received with enthusiasm.

The society, that is now entering upon its tenth season, has a most promising year before it. Several new features will be inaugurated this year. There will be reciprocity programs between the societies of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth. The Schubert Society of Minneapolis will send some of its members to present a program before the Matinee Musicale in this city, Dec. 2. This feature will be an interesting one and do much for the members of the three musical societies of the state in drawing them together in the interests of music.

Another feature of the year that will appeal to many will be the study class. Beside the active and student members this class will be open to associate members, who desire more serious study during the year. The study class will meet next Monday afternoon at the studio of Miss Simonds, the president of the club, for organization. Mrs. J. N. McKindley and Mrs. John Millen will be the leaders of the class.

The out-of-town artists who will be presented this year will be Mary Hallock, pianist, who has been engaged by the Thursday Musicale of St. Paul, and by the Schubert club, the Rommeiss-Tewksbury Quartet and Corinne Rider-Kelsey. Other artists may be engaged later in the year.

The regular meetings of the society will be begun Oct. 18.

This posed picture of the young prince of Braganza and his bride (who was Anita Stewart) was taken at the time of the wedding. It is the first authentic picture of the bridegroom to be published. They were, in fact, the young man's father when he was young. The young couple have been trying to avoid social attentions since the wedding, and though their honeymoon hiding place was discovered by their friends, they have steadfastly declined invitations.

THE EVENING STORY

ANOTHER WAY

By Ralph H. Korn.

(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)

At any other place it would have caused a scandal, but the ways of Allenhurst are most peculiar, and, of course, everything goes by custom these days. Still, if you have never summered at Allenhurst, an explanation is due you. It is one of the most beautiful places along the Jersey shore. The homes are palatial, the drives magnificent, the bathing excellent, the nights starry, and even the grass more green than anywhere within many miles. As a rule, the days pass more pleasantly and the nights more happily than in other places, and this tends to make even the bigger things in life go smoothly, without the usual jar. The people who come here for the summer put the natives in the minority. Their ways take precedence, for the natives, being but simple country folk, have few ways, and these of the simplest kind.

Of course, there was a man and wife in the case, but there was an addition, and this was the athletic young fellow who never seemed to have any business that was so urgent as to need his attention. The husband was a busy man. Sometimes he lived a hundred years in one day. He owned a fine city house and a beautiful Allenhurst estate, frisky horses, pedigreed dogs and a Panhard today, and was asking his best friend, or any one else, for a short loan tomorrow. To be brief, he "bulled" Wall street.

His wife was the most innocent woman in town. She dressed to perfection, but there was really nothing "flashy" about her. Yet she had a way in tilting her hat, or tying her veil, or flirting her fan—and when you saw her smile, you were ready for any kind of trouble, that is if you were a man. She had no woman friends.

The family consisted of the husband and wife, a boy of 7, and a girl of 3. They had been coming here for so long a time that they knew the grocer's name, and that, let me tell you, signifies much.

The athletic young man was a new person. He had come to spend a fortnight during the hot spell, but had lingered on and on. He could swim like a fish, and ride like a jockey, and tennis and golf seemed to be just about his size. He could turn the wheel of an auto with the best of them and he could dance! There was not a girl for miles around that would not have liked her friends to see her dancing with him. When they saw him riding, autoing, golfing, walking, and dancing with but one girl, and she a "married person," they shrugged their shoulders, and some began to talk. It is always very bad when such begin to talk.

The athletic young man noticed all this and it warmed his heart. "Who cares?" he used to think, when he thought at all "Who cares?"

The woman evidently had no time to think. She lived her life and never looked about her. One day the young athletic man reminded her that she was with him very often, and she asked him, "Who cares?" He did not answer her. He only laughed.

In his Wall street office the husband did percentage. He figured that his notes were coming due and he thought of the banks he owed. He wasn't really worried, but he thought he needed a rest in which to clear his head. So he took the express for Allenhurst and 'phoned for his automobile.

It happened that the day was fine and the athletic young man had called for the woman in a light runabout. They had taken the Norwood avenue road, a dangerous road for horses because of the speeding automobiles.

Somehow, the husband took the same road. He was out of sorts. His head felt queer. He fancied that those he saw grinned at him. He thought that his chauffeur was snickering at him. More than once he caught himself wishing things and saying "Pshaw!" Just then he saw a runabout go whizzing by, and he jumped from his seat as though the springs in his machine had failed to work.

"Home!" he shouted to his chauffeur He felt that he was going crazy. Anyway, he was pretty mad.

At dinner all went well, although the wife thought the husband paler than usual. The husband thought he saw an unwonted flush when he looked at his wife intently. It was impossible for either to catch the other's eye.

The husband passed a sleepless night. Suddenly it came to him that he had heard strange things lately. He wondered. Plans began to gather. They were hard and cruel, these plans, but soon they changed. Why all this fuss when a test would settle it? A test there should be. A test, by all means, and that speedily. He would soon see.

He left earlier than usual for his office. His wife, the innocent young thing, did her usual day of lazy idling, until the afternoon, when the athletic young man called for her in his light runabout. The young man had seen the husband pass, but had said nothing about it to the wife. What good would that have done, he wondered. At home, while in his room at the inn, he had said his usual "Who cares?" Only last night he said it several times instead of once.

The husband 'phoned for his automobile. He had not gone to his office, but had gone to Pleasure bay. When the machine arrived he told his chauffeur to take a day off. He took the wheel and started for Norwood avenue, the most beautiful, if the most dangerous, thoroughfare in the place.

Somewhere just south of the Deal station, where there is a curve in the road hidden by many trees, he had seen the runabout the day before. There is a long, steep hill, down-grade, you know, with a sharp swell from north to south. If a machine is allowed to coast it will go spinning around the curve on one wheel. If gas is used at the same time it will simply jump the distance, and if you are lucky, besides knowing the ins-and-outs of your machine, you may make the turn without breaking any bones, that is, if you fail to meet any one coming up the hill. The plan seemed a good one. To wait at the top of the hill with gas all ready and sparker itching for the touch, and in such a way that you can see the whole stretch of roadway until the curve blocks the view—surely there could be no better place than this. His head was feeling giddy and his ears were ringing in a most unheard of fashion, still he stuck to his post. He would have given anything to have been able to smoke, but that was too dangerous just now; he must see how his plan would work—first.

They had been to Asbury park, these two, and the runabout was coming home. Never had boy and girl spent a better day. They were coming up the hill now, and laughing most merrily. Suddenly, from above, there came the rush of wheels, the whir of engine and the hiss of sliding, sucking, swirling sand and stone. The athletic young man caught his breath. He knew the sound. An unmanageable automobile! An unmanageable automobile on such a hill! An unmanageabale automobile on such a hill and he and the wife in a light runabout! Good God!

They always said that he had nerve, that athletic young man, but they never knew quite how much nerve he had. With the kind of swerve he would have made if the carriage had been a Mercedes, he shot half-way up the embankment and went full into a tree. The horse was stunned, the runabout was smashed, the athletic young man cut and bruised, but the woman fell on the grass and rolled and rolled unhurt. Down at the end of the road there was no sound, nothing but a pall of dust.

The athletic young man and the wife went into a house a little way back. It was a farmer's house and the story that was told aroused no more than simple curiosity. To be sure the farmer would take care of the horse and he certainly would hitch up and take them to the trolley. In the meantime he gave them a good meal in the shape of a bowl of milk and the rest of it. When the athletic young man and the wife reached their destination a peculiar thing happened. The young man suddenly remembered that he had an important business engagement in town, and that it might be days, even weeks, before he could see her again. No, there was really no use in writing—so little to write about at this time of year, you know.

At Asbury park, six miles away, an automobile was stopped just in the middle of the road. Its driver had lost his cap, his goggles were hanging broken, and the machine had stopped because there was no more gas in the tank. The machine was right on the trolley tracks and the motorman and conductor of a stalled car were swearing at the man. His face was ashen, and here and there was a streak of mud, while his head was literally bathed in perspiration. No one would have taken him for the Wall street "buller."

They spoke to him, but he did not answer. Then a man who said he was a doctor came along and he said the man was unnerved. They went through his pockets and found out who he was. Then they took him home.

His boy of 7 was swinging on the rear gate, so he did not see his father when they brought him in. His wife had not seen the cause of the smashup, nor had she been told. To this day she has not learned either of the cause of her narrow escape. She still believes that the horse bolted and that the accident was due to that. The athletic young man had already gone. The truth is, he was more scared than any threat would have made him.

They took the broker to his room and sent for the regular physician. He came and had a long talk with the doctor who had been met on the road. It seems these physicians were good friends. It is strange how many friends a physician has.

They spoke of old days. Then they looked at the man. He was very stil. They shook their heads and asked why there was any cause for worry. It was only a case of mental exhaustion after all, and a few days of quiet would be sufficient medicine.

The room in which he lay had two doors, one of which led into the children's nursery. This was open and the voice of a child singing to her doll could be plainly heard. At this time the wife came into the room from the other side. She had grown strangely womanly, this innocent woman, and she looked from the man on the bed to the two doctors with some show of concern. The man sat up and said that he had an awful dream. In the other room the nurse told the child not to make so much noise, and the little girl answered that she would make the noise slowly. The doctors smiled, the man grinned. Then everybody laughed.

MORGANATIC WIFE IS MADE DUCHESS

Austrian Emperor Raises Rank of Mate of Heir Apparent.

Vienna, Oct. 5.—Emperor Francis Joseph has raised Countess Sophia Choteck von Chotkova, the morganatic wife of the heir apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, to the rank of duchess, with the title of "highness." This elevation of rank coincides with the announcement that the German emperor has invited the archduke and his wife to pay a visit to the Berlin court in November.

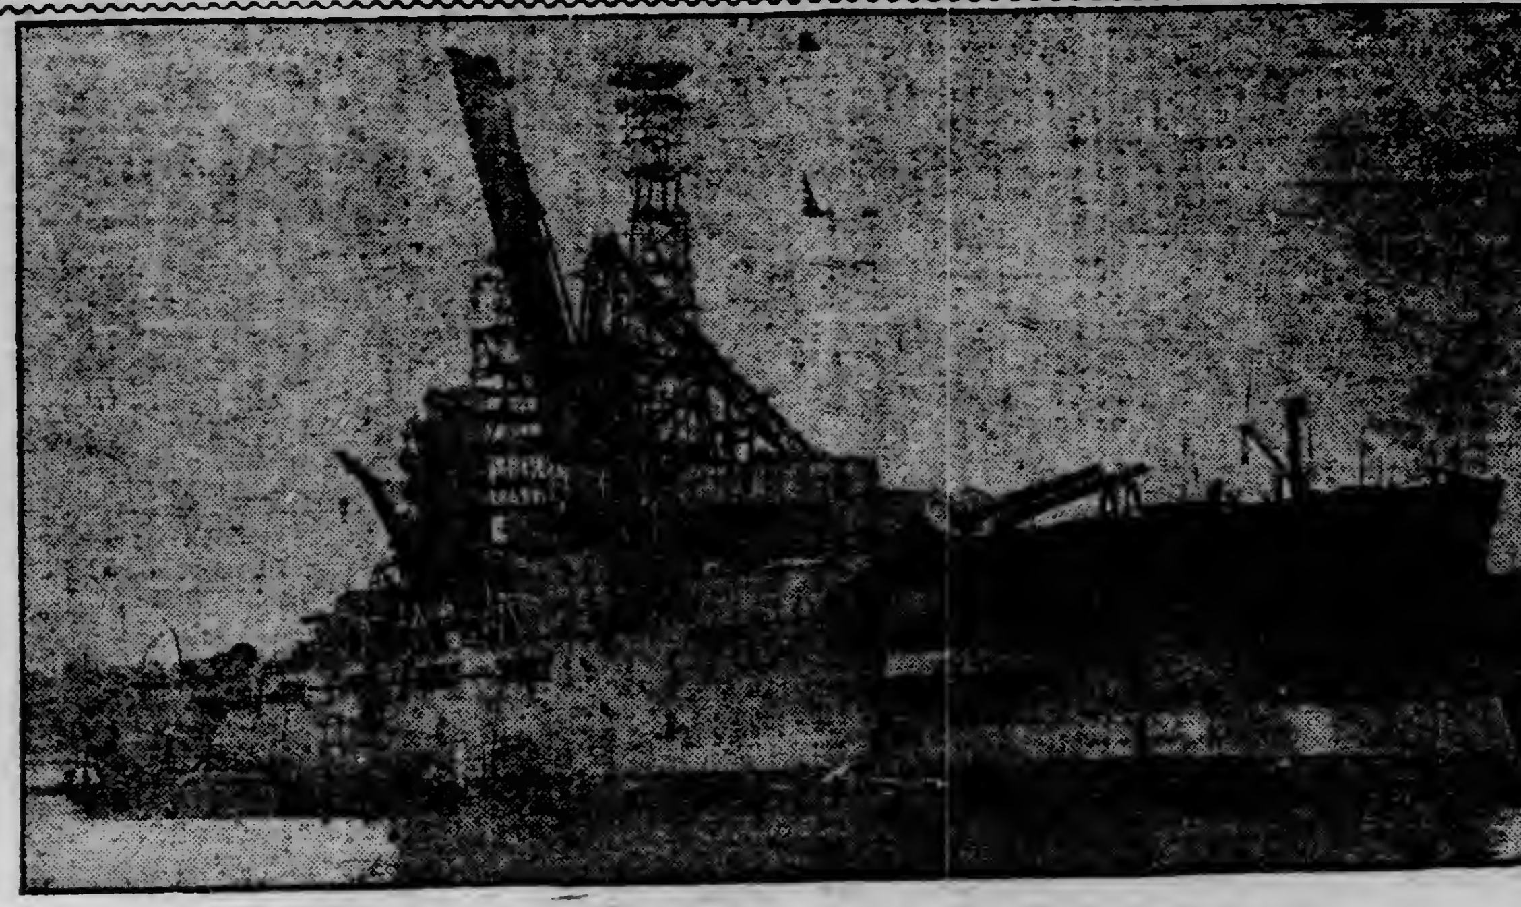
BATTLESHIP NORTH DAKOTA IS TO HAVE TRIAL TRIPS ON OCT. 15



BATTLESHIP NORTH DAKOTA, AS SHE NOW APPEARS.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 20,000-ton battleship North Dakota, one of the two so-called Dreadnoughts of the United States navy, which is being constructed at the Fore River shipyards, Quincy, will have her government standardization trial trips on Oct. 15, off the Rockland, Me., course. Nearly everything is now in readiness for the speed tests of this leviathan of the seas, and her builders have the utmost confidence that she will come up to the government requirement of twenty-one knots. In order that her tests may not be delayed, the company has put night riveters to work on the vessel, and the noise of the riveting is faintly heard by the people of Quincy.

This is the battleship for which the people of South Dakota are now laying plans to purchase a silver service. The silver service committee appointed by Governor Burke desires to collect a large fund to be expended for that purpose. The service will be one of the finest in the land, and the presentation ceremonies will be carried on in an elaborate manner. As the state constitution prohibits the appropriation of state moneys for the presentation of a silver service, the matter has been put before the people of the state on a popular subscription basis.

The North Dakota is a sister ship of the Delaware, whose trials will be held five days after those of the Quincy built vessel. Ever since these vessels were contracted for there has been great rivalry in their construction. The keel of the North Dakota was laid first, about a month ahead of the Delaware's. Up to six months ago the North Dakota was ahead of her sister ship about ten points in percentage of construction. Then the armor plate for the Quincy ship came slowly, so much of the work on the vessel came to a sudden stop. Armor plate for the Delaware came in abundance and so she began to creep up on her rival in percentage of construction.

Now the North Dakota will be tested first, and the merry race for completion will go on. At present the North Dakota is 94 per cent completed.

To a person not a critic, the big vessel appears completed, but such is not the case. Besides the numerous small guns, painting, scraping and the installation of the furniture remain to be done. On her return to Quincy from what is expected to be a triumphant success, the final touches will be made on her at one of the fitting-out docks. Then she will be sent to the Charlestown navy yord, where, in a course of a few months at the most, she will be taken possession of formally by the commandant. Then the United States will be the proud possessor of the largest engine of war afloat and commissioned.

Who will be so fortunate as to be her first commanding officer is yet a question. Only one name has been heard in connection with it, that of Capt. Charles J. Badger, formerly superintendent of the naval academy.

MARINE NEWS

ALL RECORDS ARE BROKEN

Traffic Through St. Mary's River Greatest in History of Navigation.

Canadian Canal Is Being Used More By American Boats.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—All records for traffic through St. Mary's Falls canal went glimmering when the total figures for the month of September became known. The record set in 1907 paled into insignificance when August traffic was totaled. Now, however, September comes with even greater tonnage, and for the first time in the history of the canal, places figures beyond the 9,000,000 mark.

The net tonnage was 9,227,190 tons or almost one-third of the total 1904 traffic. A feature which is becoming more noticeable each month is the wonderful increase in traffic through the Canadian canal. American vessels are passing down there to a startling degree because of greater draft.

During August the Canadian traffic exceeded the American by over 1,000,000 tons, and this month those figures are not quite reached. Exactly 687,573 tons of iron ore went East, an increase over the previous record of 8,188 tons.

Wheat shipments during the month jumped from nearly 1,500,000 to 15,782,494 bushels, about 1,486,932 tons of soft coal went up through the locks and 858,459 barrels of flour traveled East. Lumber fell off slightly, but 79,844 feet were taken down.

The Canadian lock passed 1,008 vessels, and the two American locks 1,893.

PIER LIGHTS DISCONTINUED

One Cluster to Be Maintained Until Close of Navigation.

The ornamental lighting on the piers at the canal has been discontinued for the season of 1909.

By special arrangement with the Lake Carriers' association, similar to that of last year, a set of six lights, carried by three iron posts, will be maintained at the outer end of the north pier until the close of navigation.

Each of the three posts carries a white and a green light, four feet apart. On of the posts stands on the nose of the pier, and the lights are twenty-eight feet from the water. The other posts stand on the lower pier. The latter are only twenty feet above the water.

The lighting system for this year came to an end last night, and the iron posts will, as usual, be removed from their position on the piers for the winter months.

The lighting under the regular fall system was started last night.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. FULL FORCE ON CARS IN OMAHA

Company Posts Notice That Temporary Employes Can Quit Jobs.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5.—Announcement has been posted by the street railway company notifying all temporary employes that their services will not be needed any longer.

President Wattles of the street car company said that since Saturday morning some seventy of the old employes have applied for re-employment, and that now the company has a full working force.

Rev. Jesse L. Fisher, pastor of Saratoga Congregational church, has announced that he will circulate a petition among the business men of the city, asking Governor Shellenberger to make an official investigation of the strike.

Attendance at the Ak-Sar-Ben carnival last night exceeded that of any previous year for the same night. This fact is claimed to indicate that notwithstanding the strike of street railway employes, transportation facilities are normal. Six thousand persons are reported to have arrived at Fort Omaha to witness the military program.

Some Violence Reported.

In a collision at Twenty-eighth and Farnam streets, Conductor A. J. Sullivan and Motorman J. J. Griffin were seriously injured.

Conductor F. H. Howard was struck at Twenty-eighth and Cumming streets by a bottle thrown through a car window. Leon Talbert, a laundry driver, was arrested, charged with the throwing.

Police Captain Powers of South Omaha fired his pistol to intimidate a crowd which was throwing stones at a car near Jefferson street and Railroad avenue. John Witzgall, who claimed to be only a passer-by, was hit in the hand by a bullet.

COOK STICKS TO HIS PLAN

Will Give North Pole Data to University of Copenhagen First.

Non-Publication Will Be Asked Until Other Bodies Examine Them.

Copenhagen, Oct. 5.—Prof. Torp, rector of the university here, has received the following cablegram from Dr. Cook:

"The press reports are incorrect. My records will go to you first.

"FREDERICK A. COOK."

According to a cablegram from Copenhagen received yesterday, it was stated that Dr. Cook's willingness to request the University of Copenhagen to waive its claim to the first examination of the records of his journey to the North Pole had caused keen disappointment and annoyance among the general public in Denmark, and that indications did not foreshadow a graceful acquiescence to the explorer's request.

Dr. Cook, after his lecture in Baltimore last evening, explained the evident misunderstanding of his intentions on the part of the people of Denmark and also of America, in the following words:

To Copenhagen First.

"A wrong impression has been received in Denmark as to just what I said in Washington, and this, too, seems not to have been perfectly understood in this country.

"In order that there may be no further misunderstanding, I am glad to say that I shall be able to adhere to the original plan to have the University of Copenhagen make the first examination of such records, but that I shall ask the university to withhold the result of such examination until the records shall have been examined simultaneously by all the geographical societies of the world. Immediately after they have been examined by the University of Copenhagen, duplicate copies of my records will be submitted to all the geographical societies of the world and to any other scientific body desiring them."

MISSING MAN IS ALIVE AND RICH

Louis Stensgaard of St. Paul Located After Thirteen Years.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 5.—"It's father; everything all right. He wants us all to live here. Letter following."

When Mrs. Mary K. Stensgaard of the Genesee flats, St. Paul, received the telegram last Saturday from her son, Thorvald M. Stensgaard, at Pasadena, Cal., it was the first definite intimation that she had received in thirteen years as to the whereabouts of Louis T. Stensgaard, her husband. In all that time she did not know whether he was alive or dead. Of late years she had made up her mind that he had gone forever out of her life—that he was dead.

But Louis Stensgaard—"Looey," the boys used to call him when he was on the top wave of popularity in St. Paul twenty years ago—is alive. Not only alive, but he has amassed a fortune and now stands ready to share it with his wife and children from whom he has been separated so many years.

SEATS ARE ALL SOLD

Probably 75,000 People Will See Pittsburg Ball Game.

Advance Sale for World's Series Breaks All Record.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 5.—With the aim of having the distinction of having a greater number of persons than ever before attended a baseball game, the members of the Pittsburg National League Baseball club are busily engaged in perfecting arrangements for the world's championship battle between the Detroit Americans and the Pittsburg National club here next Friday. At Forbes field, where the conflict will be waged, a force of workmen is constructing 8,000 additional seats. At the downtown offices of the club clerks are swamped in the task of returning letters estimated to contain many thousands of dollars. The letters are returned for the reason that the reserved seat supply became exhausted last Saturday. The seat sale has been phenomenal, and veterans of baseball games say they have never witnessed such an amazing demand for seats.

How many persons will attend the games here Friday and Saturday is questionable, but from present indications an estimate of 75,000 to 100,000 is believed not to be an exaggeration.

In the meantime Pittsburg, Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, not to speak of points thousands of miles away, are working up a baseball fever that bids fair to transform this city. Spectators are coming from Portland, Or., San Francisco and Denver. There will be delegations from all the cities embraced in the major leagues.

An evidence of the great interest in the contest can be had from the newspaper arrangements. Over 200 newspaper men from all parts of the country will be here. The task of assigning these men to places of vantage is one of the difficulties. In addition, there will be over 100 telegraph operators present. Already the police department is making preparations to protect the spectators and guard against accidents. The department of building inspection today made a thorough examination of the great stadium and pronounced it a model for strength and safety.

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—Speeding at a mile a minute on the straight stretches of the eight miles' course in Fairmount park fifteen automobiles handled by some of the best drivers in the country were given their first tryout today for the 200-mile stock chassis road race on Saturday afternoon. The course which includes some of the beautiful roads in the park has been especially prepared under the supervision of the park commission and is in splendid shape for the big race. The contest will be held under the auspices of the Quaker City Motor club. The proceeds go to four local charitable institutions.

HAVING TROUBLE IN MONTANA

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn and Husband Are in Jail.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn and her young husband, J. A. Jones, the Socialists, who attracted considerable attention in Duluth and the range during the miners' strike here, are in trouble at Missoula, Mont.

The fact is, both of them, together with several other Socialists and general representatives of the Industrial Workers of the World, are in jail there, charged with disturbing the peace.

Miss Flynn, her husband and their Socialistic retinue have been conducting agitations against capital in Missoula and, it is said, have attacked the soldiers of the United States in their speeches. For all of this, they have been cast into jail, but Miss Flynn, or Mrs. Jones, proclaims from her cell that they will not give up their agitations.

They have a friend in the person of H. L. Tucker of the government forestry service. He has espoused their cause enthusiastically, and has tried so hard to get them out of jail that he has been cast there himself.

BOTH WANT FAST TRAIN.

Grand Forks and Fargo Strive to Have Train Pass Those Cities.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—By co-operating with Fargo the Grand Forks Commercial club hopes to bring enough weight to bear on the Great Northern railroad to secure a change in the route of the new Chicago-Seattle mail train. Under the present route this train does not touch at either Fargo or Grand Forks, but instead, goes by way of Breckenridge, Casselton, Aneta and Devils Lake.

The business men of Fargo and Grand Forks are of the opinion that by bringing the train by the eastern route the run will be only nine and a half miles longer, while the benefits to be derived would be far greater in proportion.

The operation of this train has resulted in a great deal of rivalry among railroad men at engine changing divisions. Devils Lake has just established a record of 1 minute and 20 seconds in the changing of engines, the train being obliged to stop only that length of time in that city while making the change of locomotives.

ASSURED OF HOCKEY RINK

Plans for Big Centrally Located Structure Are Completed.

If Desmond Plans Fall Through A. W. Kuehnow Will Build.

Duluth is assured of one of the finest inclosed hockey rinks in the Northwest.

This fact became known today when it was announced that Joseph Maitland, manager ofthe Bijou theater, and J. J. Desmond, interested in the project of the forming of a company for the construction of a large rink, have completed their plans for the construction of a large building to be used as a rink.

But even if Messrs. Maitland and Desmond are not prepared to go ahead with their plans, Duluth is assured of a hockey rink this winter.

Today Al Keuhnow announced that he had secured backing for the construction of a large inclosed rink, to be used for hockey, wrestling and other athletic purposes, also to be utilized during the summer months for conventions, if so desired, and that if the other men interested in the formation of a company decide not to go ahead with their plans, he will take up the project and push it through to an early completion.

Mr. Keuhnow has two locations selected, and if he decides to proceed with his plans, will construct a building to cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. It will be on the general plan of the rinks in the Copper country, and will be one of the finest in the Northwest.

Today to The Herald Mr. Kuehnow stated that he had no desire to interfere with the plans of Messrs. Maitland and Desmond, and that if these two gentlemen were going to carry out their plans he would not go ahead with his.

However, if the other gentlemen are not prepared to construct a rink here this winter, Mr. Kuehnow, with the backing he has secured, states that he is ready at the present time to proceed with the construction of the rink.

Mr. Kuehnow says he has several business men interested in the venture and can proceed with the plans immediately. The building he has in mind would be a very large one and suited to stage not only skating and hockey events, but also large athletic contests, such as Duluth has been unable to secure in the past because of the fact that there has been no suitable hall here to stage these attractions.

Between the two Duluth should be assured of a modern inclosed rink. If the rink is assured there should be no difficulty in getting a hockey team for this city for Duluth is in the hockey belt.

FLURRY AROUSES THE LOCAL FLAX MARKET

Trade in Seed Spirited and Options Soar Five Points.

Wheat Active and Prices Are Higher at the Close.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 5.—Flax shot upward during an active session in the Duluth market today, the two nearby options closing more than 5c higher than yesterday.

The flax market has been without feature for several days, but it was evident that there was going to be something doing at the outset. Offerings were quite liberal, but they were quickly absorbed by the crushing interests, who were active bidders for the seed during the rest of the day. Prices steadily advanced and closed at the highest level of the day and the highest level for the present flax crop. The October and November flax options gained 5¼c over yesterday and December and May, 4¾c.

Wheat was fairly active and the tone was stronger, closing prices being a point over yesterday's.

Liverpool closed unchanged.

The December option closed 1c higher in Duluth and Minneapolis, 1@1⅛c higher in Chicago, ⅞c higher in New York, ⅞@1c higher in St. Louis and Kansas City and ¾c higher in Winnipeg. The May option closed 1⅛c higher in Duluth, ⅝@¾c higher in Chicago, ⅞@1c higher in Minneapolis, ⅞c higher in New York and Winnipeg, ⅝c higher in St. Louis and ⅞c higher in Kansas City.

December corn closed ¾c higher and oats ⅛@¼c higher in Chicago.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "At the opening the wheat market was steady, although values are ⅛@¼d lower, being influenced by lower American cables yesterday and the heavy Canadian receipts. Following the opening and during the remainder of the morning, the undertone developed firmness and values advanced ¼d for the nearby month, with the distant months about unchanged from the opening. Support resulted from the unfavorable weather in the United Kingdom, less favorable reports from Hungary and an impoved continental demand for white wheat cargoes. Continental millers are buying spot wheat in this market. At mid-day the market was still dull but firm, with values ⅛@¼d lower than yesterday. "Corn was quiet at the start and unchanged. Later values lost ¼d on disappointing American cables and a poor spot trade."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 523 against 512 last year, and at Minneapolis 481 against 484 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 1,004 against 996 last year. Chicago received 79 against 67 last year. Winnipeg received 726 against 764 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 2,289,000 bu, last year 2,036,000 bu. Shipments 1,154,000 bu, last year 1,286,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 423,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 624,000 bu, last year 244,000 bu. Shipments 235,000 bu, last year 209,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 2,000 bu.

Wheat was active during the session in the Duluth market. December wheat opened unchanged at 97½c, advanced to 98½c, and closed there, a gain of 1c over yesterday. May wheat opened ⅛c higher at $1.01¼, advanced to $1.02¼ and closed there, a gain of 1⅛c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ⅞c higher and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 2¼c over December for No. 1 northern.

Flax was sensationally active throughout the session and the closing prices were the strongest of the present crop. September flax opened ½c higher at $1.38¾, went to $1.43½ with scarcely a break and closed at that price, a gain of 5¼c over yesterday. October flax opened ¼c lower at $1.38 bid, advanced to $1.43½ and closed there, a gain of 5¼c over yesterday. December flax opened unchanged at $1.35½ and closed at $1.40¼, a gain of 4¾c over yesterday. May flax opened ¼c higher at $1.40¾, advanced to $1.45¼ and closed there, a gain of 4¾c over yesterday.

Oats closed ¼c higher and barley 2c lower for the best grade.

Following are the closing prices:

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Develops Some Strength in Spite of Receipts.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Notwithstanding continued liberal receipts in the Northwest the wheat market early today developed moderate strength owing to buying by cash interests. Offerings were light, and prices were readily forced up about ½c from the previous close. December opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 99⅞c to $1.00, and advanced to $1.00⅜.

Late in the session a decidedly strong tone developed. December advanced to $1.01⅛. The close was strong, with December up 1½1⅛c at $1.01.

Larger receipts than had been estimand caused moderate weakness in the corn market at the opening, initial quotations showing losses of a shade to ¼@⅜c. Buying of the May delivery by commission houses, however, soon imparted a firmer tone. December, which opened at 56¾@57c, advanced to 57¼c.

An improved demand for the cash grain had a strengthening influence during the final half of the day. December advanced to 57⅞c. The market closed firm, with December up ⅜c at 57⅜@57½c.

Oats were weak because of selling of both December and May deliveries by a leading cash interest. December opened a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 38⅞@39c, and sold off to 38⅝@38¾c.

Provisions were weak, owing to a heavy market for live hogs. Prices at the opening were unchanged at 5c lower.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Strong in Spite of the Bearish News.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 5.—The wheat market today was surprisingly strong in face of the bearish news. The movement of spring wheat to terminals was very favorable, the world's visible supply increased 17,300,000 bu for the past week and the cash market was easy. Buying by leading interests in Chicago was supposed to cause the strength. December opened ⅛@¼c above the close yesterday, and after fluctuating in a range of 1¼c closed ¾@⅞c higher than the opening. May was correspondingly strong. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 30,000 bu for three days. Minneapolis today received 481 cars of wheat, as compared with 484 cars a year ago; Duluth 523 cars, against 512 cars, and Winnipeg 726 cars, against 564 cars. December opened at 97¾@97⅝c; high, 98⅜c; low, 97⅜c; close, 98½c. May opened at $1.01⅝; high, $1.02⅜; law, $1.01⅜; close, $1.02¼@1.02⅜.

Cash wheat was about steady with yesterday. Demand was only fair. Big local mills were the leading buyers, although they sought the offerings with no degree of eagerness. Country millers did not buy. No. 1 northern sold for 2@2¼c above the December option and No. 2 northern for the even near option to ¼c above. One large elevator bought lightly at the lower price. Closing prices on track: No. 1 northern, $1.00¼, spot; to arrive, $1.00½; No. 2 northern spot, 98¼c; to arrive, 98½c; No. 3 wheat, 96¼@97½c; No. 3 yellow corn, 56¾@57¼c; No. 3 white oats, 36⅝@36⅞c; No. 2 rye, 66¾@67¾c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,721 tons. There was no change in the situation today. Demand remained good and in excess of the supply. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $19.50.

The flour market was steady. Domestic demand continued strong and active. Foreign inquiry showed a firmer tone, shipments were heavy and prices held firm. Shipments, 78,921 barrels. First patents, $5.20@5.30; second patents, $5.00@5.10; first clears, $4.35@4.55; second clears, $3.10@3.30.

Flax—Receipts, 37 cars; year ago, 27 cars; shipments, 14 cars. The market was steady again today. Demand was good for both spot and to arrive. Prices were quoted the same as the Duluth October option, both for spot and to arrive. Closing price, $1.43¼.

Barley—Receipts, 180 cars; year ago, 54 cars; shipments, 92 cars. The market was easier again today. Demand was strongest for choice malting barley. Prices were steady to 1c lower. Closing range, 43@50c.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Oct. 5.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 5@7 points, and after a brief rally turned easy, under heavy liquidation by smaller commission houses. Weakness in Liverpool, heavy receipts throughout the belt, fine picking weather and failure of bull leaders to offer aggressive support were causes. During the middle of the morning the market was feverish and about 10 points lower.

Futures closed barely steady; closing bids: October, 13.10; November, 13.05; December, 13.14; January, 13.12; February, 13.13; March, 13.18; April, 13.19; May, 13.22; June, 13.18; July, 13.15; August, 12.90; September, 12.21. Spot closed quiet, 20 points lower; middling uplands, 13.40; middling gulf, 13.65. Sales, 589 bales.

Treasury Statement.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The condition of the treasury at the beginning of business today was as follows: Trust funds—Gold coin, $865,720,869; silver dollars, $485,214,000; silver dollars of 1890, $4,062,000; silver certificates outstanding, $485,214,000. General fund—Standard silver dollars in general fund, $5,335,080; current liabilities, $100,477,217; working balance in treasury offices, $40,494,663; in banks to credit of treasurer of United States, $39,261,483; subsidiary silver coin, $21,165,943; minor coin, $1,961,259. WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

At the Close, Which Was at Lowest Level of Session.

Call Money Rose to 6 Per Cent, Causing Excited Liquidation.

New York, Oct. 5.—The stock market today opened irregular and the changes, as a rule, were very slight. Union Pacific was off ¾, but Southern Pacific ruled as much higher. Large fractional gains were also made by Erie and New York Central.

United States Steel and the metal group generally was off ⅝.

The opening hesitation wore off and there was a brisk rise in which the Morgan stocks were the leaders. St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central and the Eries rose 1 to 1½ above yesterday's close. United States Steel, Union Pacific and other stocks which had been heavy returned to above last night's close.

A bear raid in United States Steel threw the market into confusion for a time. United States Steel under a flood of selling orders dropped from 94⅛ to 90½. The general metal group and some of the active railroad stocks also slumped badly. Union Pacific and Republic Steel gave way 2 points, Reading 1½ and Chesapeake & Ohio, the St. Louis Southwestern stocks, Amalgamated Copper, United States Steel preferred and American Smelting 1.

Supporting orders were rushed in for United States Steel which rallied 2 points and pulled up the list strongly. The market was holding well at 11 o'clock.

Prices wavered on the first recovery, but moved upward again more steadily. New York Central rose strongly 1½ over last night, and some other stocks rallied to their previous high level. Trading dull again at the high level. Bonds were irregular.

The market moved uncertainly and showed a tendency to weakness. A few stocks stood out in marked contrast, such as Erie, which went up 1½ to 35. Canadian Pacific also gained 1. St. Louis & San Francisco first preferred lost 1½, and North American 2.

The market closed weak and excited. Call money rose to 6 per cent, and renewed liquidation of stocks carried prices to the lowest level of the day. Reading, Union Pacific, St. Paul and Great Northern ore certificates declined 2½@3¼; Louisville & Nashville, Great Northern preferred, Delaware & Hudson 2, and many of the most active speculative issues 1@1½. United States Steel fell to 90.

New York stock quotations furnished The Herald by Piper, Johnson & Case.

LEINONEN DIES FROM WOUND

Victim of Murderous Wrath of William Toija Has Succumbed.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jack Leinonen, who was fatally wounded yesterday by William Toija, who afterwards killed himself, succumbed to his injuries late yesterday afternoon at the Soudan hospital.

The murder evidently resulted from an accusation made against Tioja, who formerly lived at the home of Leinonen, that he was guilty of a heinous crime. It is said he threatened Leinonen's life unless the latter would withdraw the charge. After wounding Leinonen, Toija went to the river, and seating himself on a pile of logs, blew out his brains.

Looking Out for the Birds.

Country Life: In some new houses which have recently been built at Knutsford in Cheshire a very pretty idea has been carried out to encourage the bird loving propensities of the occupants. The idea is to leave nesting places for our feathered friends.

A local writer says: "Instead of filling up the holes left by the scaffolding the architect had closed them with a thin covering of stucco pierced with a round hole. The birds enter and build inside. Sometimes you may see a tiny step just below for the bird to alight on, and a little cornice over the gap to keep out the rain." Other holes have also been purposely left in the brickwork for nests, and it is said that the birds understand it all perfectly.

Life Among Animals.

The maximum length of life of some of the best known animals is as follows: The horse lives to a maximum of thirty-five years and the donkey a like period; the dog does not exceed twenty-five years, the rabbit from eight to ten, the goose thirty, the duck, the hen and the turkey a dozen years.

Among the animals having the best established reputation for longevity are: The crow, which lives a hundred years; the parrot and the elephant, which attain an age of 150 years. Carp, on the other hand, appear to have usurped their reputation, which was based on ill understood facts from Chantilly and Fontainebleau. They rarely become centenarians. The tortoise appears to be the animal that lives the longest, and the record of longevity is surely beld by one weighing 250 kilograms, which was presented in 1904 to the London Zoological Gardens by Walter de Rothschild and which is said to have been born in 1750.

OCTOBER 5, 1909.

We are starting into a big bull market, and while it may not be in full swing for some little time, it's coming as sure as fate. Sixty days ago there were three selling to one buying order. Now it's reversed. One house that was noted for its ability to hunt up selling orders has for the past few days been looking for stocks, not buyers. For the past 90 days stocks have been gradually absorbed until now the market is cleaned up to such an extent that scarcity of offerings are beginning to excite comment. Butte-Ballaklava, the Scotts, Tuolumne, Calumet & Sonora, Shattuck, Denn, Red Warrior, Butte & Superior, Zenith Lead & Zinc, St. Mary's, Calumet & Montana and many others are due for big advances right away. News from Butte-Ballaklava, another big body of ore opened up on the 1,200-foot level. Glance and bornite running 6½ per cent copper and 60 ounces of silver to the ton. Big shipments will be started Wednesday of this week. Try to buy a few shares of this one and find out how much is offered. Ballaklava will be above $12 before you wake up unless the alarm clock is set early.

In the lower priced issues keep your eye on St. Mary's. We know whereof we speak when we tell you St. Mary's is a comer. We have spent a lot of money having this property examined and all authorities agree that it's one of the most promising in the Star district. Management good, property capitalization low and enjoys the broadest market of any low priced stock listed today.

There is something doing in Calumet & Montana. Our guess of the past few days was corroborated today when all stock was taken up to $1.75. They worked the deal fine to coax out the weak holders. You can just as well have $3 a share as $1.50 if you hold your stock firm.

In a long interview with a party today who knows Calumet & Montana from A to Z, we learned some interesting FACTS, in addition to data already on file. Our clients can have this information for the asking.

Zenith Lead & Zinc paying 40 per cent on par. Not bad when it's known there are years of ore reserves in sight.

TWENTY-SEVENTH YEAR. LAST EDITION WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1909. TWO CENTS.

LITTLE TIME LEFT TO COMPLETE THE MEMORIAL FUND

Some Quick Hustling Is Necessary for the Johnson Memorial Fund.

Eighty-Two Subscriptions From Northern Shoe Company Workers.

Way Has Been Opened for Societies to Swell the Lists.

The Johnson Memorial Fund received by The Herald stands today as follows:

Previously acknowledged......	$380.25
Received up to noon today....	67.10
Total....................	$447.35

Eighty-two employes of the Northern Shoe company of Duluth have added their names to the list.

Charles d'Autremont and four members of his family send $1 each to swell the fund.

Johnson memorial commission will permit lodges and societies to send a dollar for each member.

It is planned to close the subscriptions on or about Nov. 1, which means that some quick hustling is necessary. Duluth must get busy in order that it may contribute its proper share of the total of $25,000 that is needed for the memorial.

One of the business firms of Duluth made a fine showing today, when a list of eighty-two employes of the Northern Shoe company came in, accompanied by a check for $33.60. This

GRAIN MEN MEET IN HOOSIER STATE

Fully 9,000 Are Expected to Attend Association's Meetings.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 6.—The thirteenth annual meeting of the Grain Dealers' National association opened in this city today and will continue until Friday. It is expected that the attendance will reach 9,000. United States Senator Albert Beveridge will address the convention tomorrow on "Higher Ethics in Business."

An important matter to be considered by the grain dealers is regarding progress in the adoption of the uniform grading standard recommended by the association. John F. Courcier, secretary-treasurer of the organization, will report that many grain exchanges have adopted the standard, and that he expects that the Chicago board of trade and the state railroad and warehouse commission of Illinois will soon put the standard into practice. The association, it is said, is strongly opposed to the proposed inspection of grain by federal appointees.

A. F. Reynolds of Crawfordsville, Ind., president of the association, will make a report on the campaign for uniform bills of lading and uniform demurrage rules in the different states.

BRAKEMAN IS MISSING AND FRIENDS WORRIED.

Cass Lake, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. H. Maher, a brakeman on the Great Northern passenger train between here and Grand Forks, disappeared suddenly today. He arrived on one train and was supposed to go back on the next, but failed to appear. He was last seen making for the railroad bridge. It is feared he became deranged. He has been sick for some time. He had no bad habits and was very popular. Parties are searching for his body.

PEARY WILL SHOW DATA

Agrees to Submit North Pole Records to Geographic Society.

Invitation Has Brought No Direct Reply From Dr. Cook as Yet.

Washington, Oct. 6. — Commander Peary has formally notified the National Geographic society of his acceptance of its offer to examine and pass upon the records of his polar explorations. Notice to this effect came to Prof. Willis L. Moore, president of the society, in a telegram from Commander Peary in New York, reading as follows:

"Copy of society's resolution just received. I am not only willing, but desire to submit my records and data to a commission of American scientists that is impartially selected."

Oct. 1 the board of managers of the National Geographic society sent to both Commander Peary and Dr. Cook a resolution, the last paragraph of which was as follows:

"The National Geographic society urges Commander Peary and Dr. Cook speedily to submit all their observations, notes and data to a competent scientific commission in the United States."

No Answer From Cook.

So far the society has heard nothing from Dr. Cook in answer to this invitation save through the public prints.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the National Geographic society will be held here next Friday. President Moore will then present Commander Peary's telegram and some action will be taken looking to the appointment of a special commission. In case Dr. Cook fails to respond to the invitation, President Moore says, the special committee will consider Commander Peary's data.

GRASS WIDOW OF SIX MEN IS TIRED OF MATRIMONY

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 6.—Grace E. Chapman pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy, admitting that she had married six men without having secured a divorce from any of them.

"Yes, I'm guilty," she testified. "I've had six husbands and I'm sick of matrimony. Most of the men I married were farmers. I'd live with them until I got tired of them and then I'd leave. They were all so tiresome."

"Were you ever divorced?"

"Not that I know of."

Mrs. Chapman was unable to furnish a bond of $2,000 and was remanded to jail to await trial.

NO MORE WAR GAMES

Battle of Boston Found to Have Been Worse Than Useless.

Lessons Learned Are Not Worth the Cost, Say Army Chiefs.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Joint maneuvers of the regular army and the National Guard are a thing of the past. At least there will be no repetition of the Boston campaign as long as the present directing forces in the war department are in control.

Some valuable lessons were learned in that period of stress and privation, but the cost in human suffering is held by the war department officials to have been out of all proportion to the benefits derived. And besides, they are now convinced that all real utility that was taught to the militiamen could have been imparted through other means.

The general officers of the regular army and of the National Guard, who planned and participated in the Boston campaign, insist that it was a great success. Not so the officials of the war department, who are reckoning with the results. It is true that the militiamen got a taste of conditions as they may exist in actual warfare, but for the most part they returned to their homes a disheartened and discouraged set of men.

Wherefore it has been decided that hereafter the participation of the militia in an encampment with the regular soldiers every second year will limit the intermingling of these forces.

Burden On the Privates.

Critics of the maneuvers declare now that the brunt of the suffering fell on the privates, who, it is claimed, did not need that sort of instruction, while the officers could have received it otherwise. They contend that company, regimental and battalion drill in any of the usual yearly encampments of the National Guard, with the addition of a little systematic cross country marching from time to time, will sufficiently instruct the privates; while larger and more complex information needed by

FLIES IN FOG AND STORM

Edgar Mix of Ohio Wins World Trophy By His Daring Feat.

Captures Gordon Bennett Cup in the International Balloon Races.

Zurich, Oct. 6.—The international balloon race for the Gordon Bennett cup has been won by Edgar W. Mix, the American aeronaut of Columbus, Ohio, who will take the cup back to the United States.

Mr. Mix landed north of Warsaw in Russian Poland, at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. With plenty of time to spare he won from Alfred Le Blanc, the French pilot, who was a companion of Mix in the St. Louis race of 1907. Le Blanc came down at Kubin, Hungary, Monday afternoon.

The first news of Mr. Mix's landing was conveyed in a personal dispatch to the Associated Press dated Ostrolenka. The aeronaut said:

"I landed in a large pine tree in the forest of Gutava, west of Ortonolo and north of Warsaw, at 3 a. m. Tuesday. I encountered a heavy rain. My ballast was exhausted when I came down. At present I am in the hands of the police, but all is going well.

Had Bad Weather.

"I had bad weather Sunday night, and rain fell and I used half my ballast before morning. The weather was so thick that it was impossible to locate my position, except for one hour south of Prague, a star observation I took at latitude 51.45.1 and longtitude 10.0.38."

It is evident from Mr. Mix's message that, in spite of the discouragement of drifting onward without knowing his direction, the American aeronaut husbanded all ballast and kept his balloon afloat until the last ounce of sand was gone. He made his journey through fog and blinding rain storms which compelled all other pilots to descend.

After crossing the Swiss and the Austrian Alps, Capt. Messner, one of the Swiss pilots, reported that his clothes were covered with ice to a

NEW PREXY TAKES SEAT

Abbott Lawrence Lowell Is Inaugurated as Head of Harvard.

Imposing Array of Dignitaries Marks Exercises on the Old Campus.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 6.—Scholars, scientists and theologians today paid tribute to Abbott Lawrence Lowell as he pledged himself before a great concourse of people in the old Harvard yard to the work of president of America's oldest educational institution.

It is forty years since the old brick buildings looked down upon the then youthful Charles William Eliot at a similar inauguration.

The ceremony today was held out of doors, with the principal actors on a temporary stage built against the ivy-covered walls of University hall. The stage extended the entire length of the building, with a depth sufficient to seat nearly 1,000 people, including a chorus of 200. Over them waved the crimson banners of the university, with the great "Veritas" seal resplendent in colors on the broad wall behind. In front, on white, eagle-tipped staffs, were raised the seals of the eight next oldest American colleges, William and Mary, Yale, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Washington and Lee, Columbia, Brown and Dartmouth.

Many Delegates Present.

From 100 institutions of learning delegates and guests, garbed in academic gowns and with degrees indicated by gorgeous hoods, strolled to assigned places in the inaugural parade, while spectators quickly filled the rows of seats in front of the stage.

The foreign delegates were easily distinguishable by the color of their gowns, with James Bryce, the British ambassador, prominent in the scarlet and crimson of a doctor of Oxford university.

The procession was of great length. Thomas N. Perkins of the board of overseers, the chief marshal of the Dublin, Ireland, Sept. 20.—Although, as heretofore stated, Belfast is one of the most prosperous cities of the Old World, and the farming population of North Ireland is generally among the most prosperous, it is not to be supposed that there are no poor in Ireland. Because in its outward apppearance and in its figures a community is flourishing is not to be taken to mean that all the people share in it, and that there are no such things as poverty, hunger, and rags and misery, any more in Ireland than in America.

There are rags in Belfast and in Dublin, just as there are in New York, Philadelphia and Washington. Unfortunately, many of our people look for the ruins and the rags when they come abroad, never looking for them or at them at home. These European "slums," are famous, and they say they are worse in some of the cities on the continent of Europe—where, by the way, they have a protective tariff—than here; but I hope "they" are mistaken, for the slums of Dublin are bad enough, certainly dirty enough—almost, if not quite, as bad as the negro quarters in some of our American towns, the negroes corresponding to this slum and peasant class in Ireland.

You can find pretty much anything you look for in a big cty, either at home or abroad. Travelers, on holiday, usually look for the picturesque, and the guides take them to the slums. Dublin's slums are close at hand, lying so close to Sackville street, where the hotels are situated, that a visitor has but to walk a few blocks to come right into the rags and filth and thousands of people living "low, miserable lives."

People and Cities.

Dublin is a far different sort of city from Belfast. It is less prosperous, less active industrially, has far more paupers, more filth and rags in evidence, its buildings are older and shabbier, generally speaking, and its people generally not so well off. Neither are the farmers and farm laborers in Southern Ireland as well to do as those in Northern Ireland. But they are both in Ireland, you know, under the same laws and the same economic opportunities. The difference is in the people.

In the North are the "Scotch-Irish," the same element which has been such a great factor in building up the industries and the civilization of America. The north of Ireland is where they come from. South Ireland is the home of the Pats, the Moikes, and the Happy Hooligans, and these

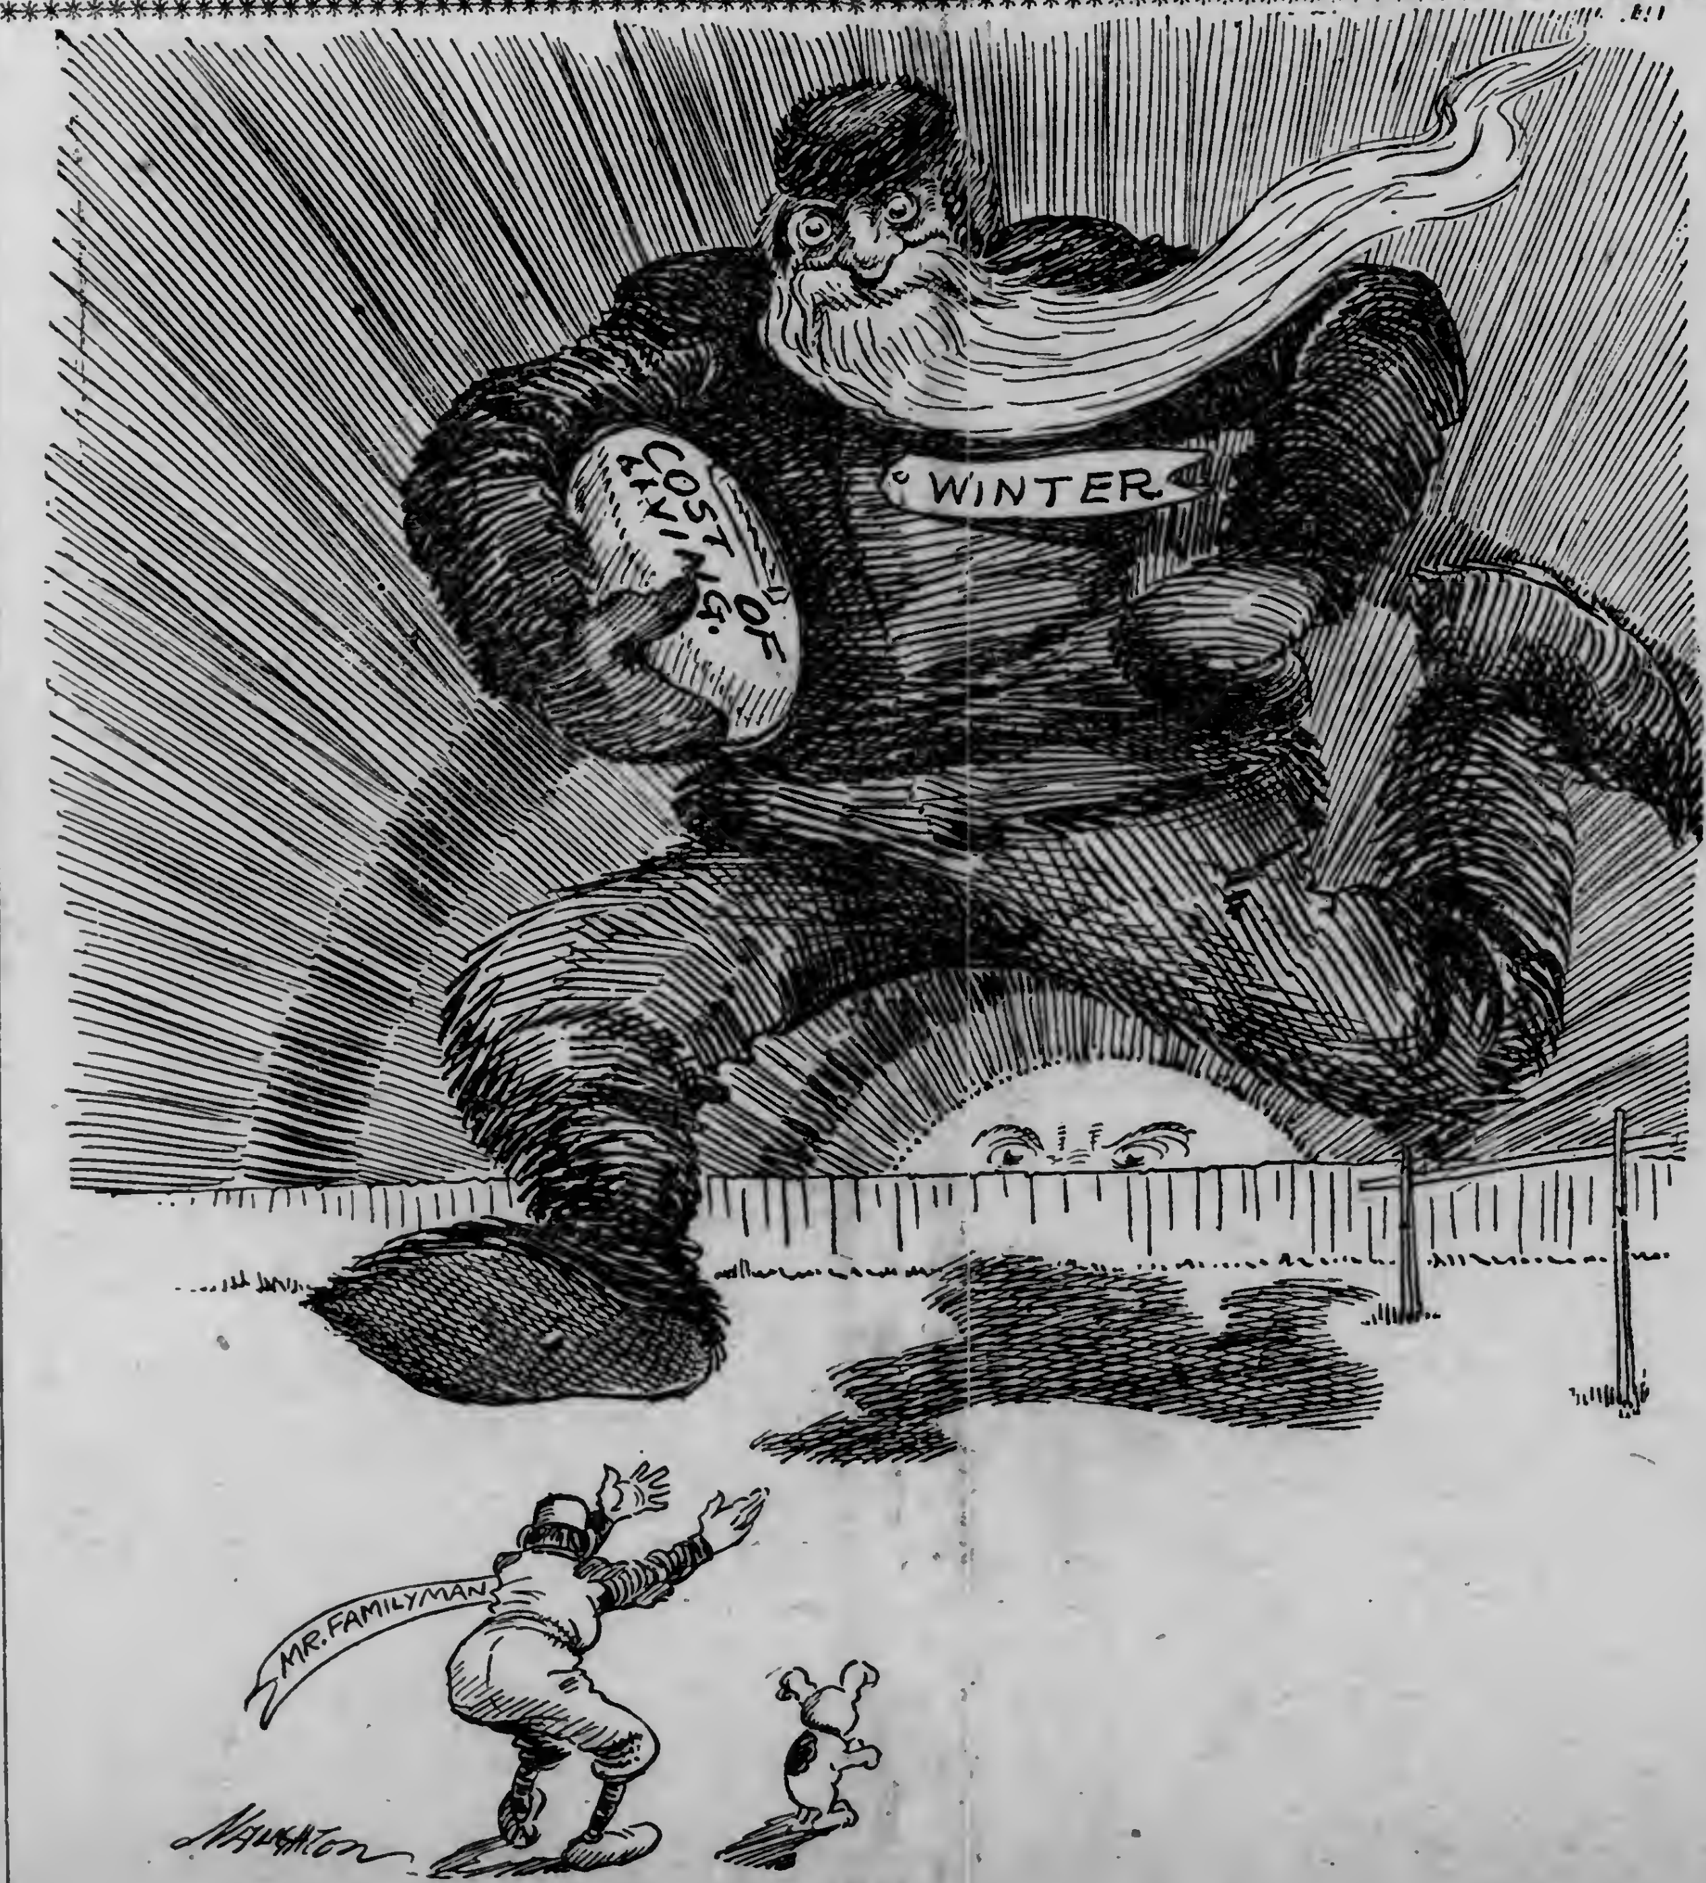
THE BIG GAME OF THE SEASON.



BIG GAS BAG ON DIRECT LINE FOR HEAD OF LAKES

St. Louis No. 3 Is Sighted at St. Cloud Bound For Duluth.

Has Traveled From St. Louis in Contest That Began Monday.

Another Flying Monster Is Seen Passing High Over Renville, Minn.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two of the big dirigible balloons that started from St. Louis Monday in an endurance and distance race are hovering over Minnesota today, and one of them, the St. Louis No. 3, is reported as heading for Duluth. At 8:30 o'clock this morning the St. Louis passed over St. Cloud, Minn. It was sailing close to the earth, and the pilots hailed pedestrians on the street.

What town is this?" they asked, and added, "This is the St. Louis No. 3."

Headed for Duluth.

The balloon contained two men, and came from the direction of Northeastern Iowa. It was sailing to the northeast, in a direct line toward Duluth, from which place St. Cloud is about 150 miles distant. The fact that the balloon was sailing low gave the impression that a landing would be made before many hours.

Another of the contestants from St. Louis was reported at Renville, Minn., where it passed over at 7:30 o'clock this morning, headed in the direction of St. Paul. It was about 300 feet above ground. It was thought that it was the Indiana.

Five Still Afloat.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 6.—Of the big 78,000 cubic foot balloons which left St. Louis Monday, the air craft believed to be yet in the air and their pilots are:

Cleveland, J. H. Wade; New York, C. B. Harmon; St. Louis, No. 3, S. L. Von Phul; Centennial, H. E. Honeywell; Indiana, H. H. McGill.

The balloon South St. Louis, in which

MANY HURT IN WRECK

One Girl Killed in Disaster to Illinois State Fair Special.

Injured Conductor Limps Into Town With First News of Accident.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6.—One passenger was killed and thirty-five persons were injured, four probably fatally, in a collision at 9:40 o'clock last night between a state fair special taking home several hundred excursionists who had been attending the state fair in this city, and a regular passenger train on the Illinois Central at Parnell; three miles south of Farmer City.

It was first reported that at least a dozen were dead and 100 injured, but early today it was ascertained that but one person, Miss Clara Watson of Farmer City, was killed.

The wreck occurred on a sharp curve while the two trains were running at a high rate of speed, and when the two engines came together with terrific

Owners of Fishing Schooner Give Up Hope of Craft's Return.

Pensacola, Fla., Oc. 6.—All hope for the fishing schooner Francis H., commanded by Capt. Albert Sadler, formerly of Booth Bay, Me., and manned by a crew of eight, has been abandoned by the owners, who believe the vessel, with all hands, went down in the gulf hurricane of Sept. 21.

SEVERAL HURT IN WRECK IN TEXAS

Splitting of Frog Sends Speeding Santa Fe Train Onto a Siding.

Houston, Tex., Oct. 6.—Running at a rapid speed, Santa Fe passenger train No. 17 was wrecked near Temple, Tex., early today. The engine was overturned and several coaches left the track. Several passengers and Engineer McGinnis, who was pinioned under his engine, are reported seriously injured. The splitting of a frog, it is said, caused the wreck, the train dashing into a siding.

THIRTY-TWO MEN KILLED IN MINE

An Explosion of Fire Damp Causes Deaths in British Columbia.

Ladysmith, B. C., Oct. 6.—Thirty-two miners lost their lives yesterday in the extension mine of the Wellington Collier company near here as a result of an explosion of fire damp. Eighteen bodies have been recovered and fourteen are still entombed.

There is no fire in the mine. It is expected that work will be resumed in less than a week. The mine has a daily output of 1,400 tons.

All the men rescued were badly injured.

High-Class Workmen.

The men employed in the collieries on Vancouver island are of the better class of British miners, and are all well paid and have comfortable homes.

The Wellington Colliery company, which owns the mine, is controlled by British Columbia capitalists, Lieutenant Governor James Dunsmore being the head of the corporation. Some of the mine chambers run under the sea.

Over 3,000 men are employed in the collieries, which are the second largest in Canada, and have been operated for forty years. There have been several bad disasters in these mines in past years.

STREET RAILWAY MEN TALK RATES

Interstate Traffic One Theme Considered By Convention at Denver.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 6.—Branches of the American Street & Interurban Railway association, including accountants, engineers and claim agents, held sessions early today, the parent body not meeting until the afternoon.

The principal business before the latter body was the appointment of an nominating committee and consideration of the reports from the committee on interstate commerce commission classification and the committee on compensation for carrying United States mails.

Many delegates have joined the new Railway Business association, intended to look after the political relationship of street railway companies to national and state laws. It is probable that this association will lead the fight against the proposed corporation tax of President Taft.

DENSE FOG CAUSES SOME BAD ACCIDENTS IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Oct. 6.—A dense fog early today was responsible for a number of accidents. The more serious were a rear-end collision between two suburban trains and a smashup involving a street car and a wagon.

In the collision of the suburban trains a score of passengers were injured, four of them seriously. In the fog the engineer of a Rock Island train failed to see a Lake Shore train ahead and the crash followed.

Five persons were hurt in the street car accident, one severely.

Accidents of a minor nature were reported in various parts of the city before the fog lifted.

NO TRACE OF HER HUSBAND

Mrs. O. E. Brown Unable to Locate Child and Its Father.

O. E. Brown, accused by his wife of kidnaping their 1-year-old child, and abandoning her at Jamestown, N. D., has not yet been located as far as the police can learn. The last trace of him was obtained from Rev. M. S. Rice of the First M. E. church, to whom he went looking for a home for the child. Since then no clue as to his whereabouts has been found. Rev. Rice was unable to help him out. Mrs. Brown believes that when he learns she is in the city he will return to her.

WILL REPORT PROGRESS MADE

Important Matters Are to Be Brought Before Public Affairs Committee.

At this evening's meeting of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club the consolidated committee on the open market question and on the cost of living, the committee which has been investigating certain phases of the railroad question, will report progress made. This will not be the final report of these committees, as their work is far from complete.

F. A. Patrick and one or two other jobbers are looking into the railroad's relation to the shipping interests of Duluth. It is said that these gentlemen will have some suggestion to make to the members of the public affairs committee.

As yet the members of the consolidated committee appointed to look into the open market question and the cost of living have come to no definite decision regarding the best methods to pursue in the establishment in Duluth of such a market as exists in many other cities, but some interesting suggestions are expected tonight.

HURLED A CUSPIDOR.

Robert Ford Goes Back to Jail After Brief Freedom.

Robert Ford, released from the county jail yesterday morning after serving seventy-five days for forgery, was arrested again last night, charged with being drunk and disorderly. He claims that a man called him a nasty name in a local saloon and that he threw a cuspidor at him. When arrested he said his name was McCutcheon—not the famous author. He pleaded guilty and got $15 and costs or fifteen days in the county jail.

The negro who was arrested claimed he acted in self defense.

NEW TERM OF COURT OPENS

Calendar For October Term of District Court Has 145 Cases.

One Murder Case Will Come Before the Grand Jury.

The October term of district court, the last term to be held in the old courthouse, opened this morning, Judge Cant presiding over the calendar. The calendar was called, and after that proceeding, the grand jury reported, was charged and retired to begin its deliberations.

There are 145 cases on the calendar, and of them 106 were set for trial at this term. Twenty-two were continued, 14 stricken from the calendar and 3 dismissed. There are 75 jury cases on the calendar and 70 court cases. Of the latter, 23 are divorce actions.

Tomorrow is divorce day, and the wronged husbands and wives, on whom the marriage bonds are chafing, will have an opportunity to tell their troubles to the court. Of the 23 divorce cases, 19 will be tried at this term, the other 4 having been continued. It is expected that all divorce cases will be disposed of by Friday night except one, in which there are issues to submit to a jury, and that will be tried in the regular course of procedure.

The petit jury will report next Monday morning, when the first jury cases will be taken up. Three court rooms are expected to be in use, as Judge Ensign, who has been indisposed for the past week, expects to be able to resume his duties by Monday.

The grand jury has one murder case to consider, that of Jackson McPherson, the sailor who is charged with killing Otto Frey, a shipmate, on board the steamer North Lake of the Mutual line, at the Marshall-Wells dock last month. The other cases to come before the grand jury are for minor offenses.

DENY THAT SALE IS CONTEMPLATED

Report of Purchase of Park Point Line Is Unfounded.

It was stated today that the Hartman brothers and R. J. Dunn, owners of the street railway system on Minnesota Point, have received an offer for the property.

The report was that they had been made a specific offer for the road, but refused to make any deals.

The street car system on Park Point has been in operation for many years, starting in the early days with horses or mules hauling the cars. It is now in good condition and is increasing in value as Park Point's population increases. The place has been built up rapidly in recent years. It has found great favor with Duluthians as an excellent place to build their summer homes, and more and more people are staying there the entire year.

When asked about the matter today, O. C. Hartman denied that there is any deal under way for the sale of the street car system.

DEFENSE OF THE BOARD

Mayor Says the Fire Commissioners Know Their Business.

No Effort Made to Put Up Jobs on the Council.

Mayor R. D. Haven believes that the aldermen made a mistake at the council meeting last Monday night when they attacked the board of fire commissioners, accusing them of putting up jobs on the council.

He says that he thinks the aldermen did not understand the situation, and that if they had, the requested appropriation of $2,800 would have been allowed, to make badly needed repairs. He also said that the commissioners are responsible business men and that the city fathers should put some confidence in their judgment.

"What's the use of having a board of fire commissioners if they are to be nothing but an ornament?" he asked. "They have investigated the matter and are convinced that they have suggested the best and most economical way of remedying the existing evils at No. 2 fire hall on Piedmont avenue.

"A scheme has been worked out to partition the hall, separating the horses from the men and apparatus. The floors are rotten and must be replaced without the loss of much time. The brick in the walls is loose and the chimney is in bad shape.

Instead of an extension, the mayor says the commissioners have come to the conclusion that the city will be saved $4,000 to $5,000 by making needed repairs. He states that this will put the hall in condition for service for years to come.

Incidentally he declared that he is of the opinion that the time is not far distant when fire departments will dispense with horses altogether.

The matter will probably be brought up at the council meeting next Monday night. The resolution calling for the repairs lost by one vote last Monday night.

BEGIN WORK IN TWO WEEKS

According to the statement made today by J. J. Desmond, one of the men interested in the incorporation of a company to construct a hockey rink on Park Point, the articles of incorporation for the company will be filed within a short time and construction on the rink will begin within two weeks.

A meeting of the gentlemen interested in the scheme will be held the latter part of the present week, according to Mr. Desmond, when all the plans for starting construction on the big enclosed rink will be completed.

Uncle Sam Will Observe Traffic Ordinance in Future.

Bowlers Will Meet.

A meeting will be held Friday evening at the Majestic bowling alleys, at which fourteen local bowling clubs will be represented. At the meeting, plans will be presented for the formation of a city and commercial bowling league. It is expected that every bowling team in the city will be represented in the league.

The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock. Every bowling representative in the city is requested to be present at the meeting.

Money Comes in Bunches

to A. A. Chisholm of Treadwell, N. Y., now. His reason is well worth reading: "For a long time I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, and general debility," he writes. Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infallible for Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Blood and Nerves. 50c at all Druggists.

SYNOD MEETING COMES TO AN END

Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society Re-elects Old Officers.

After holding meetings at the Trinity Lutheran church in Superior this afternoon and tonight, the twelfth annual convention of the English Evangelical Lutheran synod, which has been meeting in this city, will come to a close.

This morning, the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society, which has been meeting in conjunction with the synod, re-elected all the officers who have served for the year past. Mrs. George H. Schur is president; Mrs. T. H. Kaye, vice president; Mrs. L. F. Gruber, recording secretary; Mrs. Ida H. Helle, treasurer.

The women this morning pledged quite a sum of money to be used in both the foreign and home mission work. Plans were discussed whereby the work could be furthered during the coming year, and most encouraging reports were read by those occupied during the past year in the work.

The synod officers are not elected at this time. This election will take place next spring. At the present time Rev. A. F. Elmquist of Minneapolis heads the organization.

At the services held this morning at the St. John's English Lutheran church, several members of the synod took occasion to thank the members of St. John's church for the entertainment furnished while the synod was in session.

About fifty members attended the conference, and they represented congregations in the Dakotas, Minnesota and a part of Canada.

HEAVY FOG DELAYS BOATS

Incoming and Outgoing Boats Wait for Atmosphere to Clear.

As a result of the heavy fog of last night and early this morning, the boats entering the harbor were forced to anchor at almost any point they could, until the air became clear.

Early this morning there were several boats outside the canal waiting to get inside. The fog lifted about 6 o'clock and there was no further trouble.

Some of the boats that were to have gone out last night started, and found that groping in the darkness was running too great a risk. A few took chances and got out, but the majority brought up at anchor a short distance from where they started. The harbor and river were dotted when the sun rose this morning with craft of all kinds.

The fog delayed both the incoming and outgoing boats to quite an extent, several of the boats losing as much as nine hours.

As this time is the rush season of the year in all branches of lake trade, there were some irate skippers waiting to get out when the fog lifted this morning.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

A special feature of the work of the Young Women's Christian association this year will be the children's sewing classes which will be organized as a part of the extension work. Last year a number of the members of the association organized a class on Garfield avenue and one lesson a week was held. The work was most successful and valuable to the children who attended and there was a large attendance. This year the work there will be continued with Miss Ruth Patrick, teacher of the domestic art and science of the association, as director. This will make the work easier on the members who volunteer their assistance, and anyone who will assist in the work is invited to notify the general secretary. The class at the Garfield avenue mission will be held Friday afternoons.

There will also be a class for the children in the central part of the city, which will meet Saturday afternoons. This work is deemed one of the most important to be undertaken in the line of extension work by the association.

PRIVATE THEATRICAL

Given at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Cook Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook Howard entertained last evening at their home on London road at an informal private theatrical that gave much delight to their hundred guests. "The Sleeping Car" was the name of the little sketch presented. The porch of the Howard residence opening from the living rooms made a most convenient temporary stage. The fittings were the hiding curtains of a pullman sleeper with one section unmade. Mrs. Howard appeared as the talkative woman traveler and was delightful in the role of the inconsequential, thoughtless, but repentant wife, who keeps the other travelers from sleep. Miss Frank Paine was her elderly aunt, in a wonderful makeup of much white hair and some wonderful old garments. W. E. Magner was the husband of the talking lady; H. A. Hooker was the oft disturbed traveling Californian; Warren Jamar was an irritable traveler who couldn't sleep; C. F. West appeared as the conductor, and Walker Jamar was the porter who could arrange things.

The piece was in one act and was greatly enjoyed. Following the play there was an informal dancing party.

ANNUAL RECEPTION.

The Century Club Formally Receives at Y. W. C. A.

The opening reception of the Twentieth Century club was held yesterday afternoon at the Young Women's Christian association building, and, as usual, was a largely attended and delightful affair. The president of the club, Mrs. J. D. Morrison, received, with William Norman Guthrie the honored guest of the club for the afternoon. Mr. Guthrie will lecture before the members of the club Thursday afternoon of next week. His subject will be "The Constructive Side of Ibsen's Work." The place of the lecture has not yet been decided upon.

The reception hall of the building yesterday afternoon was most attractive in decorations of scarlet geraniums and autumn leaves. During the afternoon Miss Alice Sjoselius sang, and Charles Dexter Ostergren played a violin number. The program was arranged by Mrs. K. A. Ostergren of the music committee.

At the tea tables a bowl of geraniums formed the centerpiece. Assisting about the rooms were the members of the social committee, of which Mrs. M. Kelley is chairman, and the following members assisted: Mrs. A. L. Agatin, Mrs. Page Morris, Mrs. G. A. St. Clair, Mrs. F. C. Berry, Mrs. N. F. Hugo, Mrs. J. H. VALLEY CITY LOSES.

Fails in Effort to Have All Northern Pacific Trains.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Amidon decided that the Northern Pacific was giving Valley City a good train service with three passengers daily each way, and that the company can run its new train over the new high line. On account of the heavy grade at Valley City the company constructed another track a mile north and proposed to run all its passenger trains over that route, but the residents of the city secured an injunction against all but the North Coast Limited. When the company planned another new train, the residents wanted that but have lost.

ITALIAN BOY KILLED.

Shot Down By Man Refused Admittance to Railroad Car.

Washburn, Wis., Oct. 6.—The authorities have been unable to apprehend the man alleged to have shot and killed an Italian boy at Drummond, thirty miles from here, early Sunday morning.

According to current reports, the murdered boy was with a party of Italians who were using an Omaha box car for sleeping quarters, and the murderer fired several shots into the car when refused admission, one hitting the boy and killing him.

Reports are rather conflicting, as another story had it there was a fight with knives that resulted fatally.

D., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Old horse shoes and sundry pieces of scrap iron concealed in shocks on the Becker farm, resulted in extensive damages to the threshing machine owned by W. F. WEST END

GATES FOR THE SMALL CARS

Experiment Is Being Tried On the Third Street Line.

Gates may be installed on the small street cars, now used principally on the West Third street car lines, if an experiment which was inaugurated yesterday, proves to be successful.

Yesterday afternoon one of the single truck cars running west as far as Thirty-ninth avenue on West Third street had one of these appliances attached to it. It was used all day yesterday and was also sent out again today.

The principal difference between the gates on the double truck cars and the ones with which the experiment is being tried on the small cars, is that the former are operated with the assistance of air, while hand power is used on the small cars.

It is thought that if the gates are installed on the small cars, there would be much less danger of accidents when people get on and off from moving cars. Manager Warren of the street car company stated this morning that he did not know whether these appliances would be attached to all the small cars in the future or not.

SPEAKS TO FRENCH PEOPLE

President of St. Jean Baptiste Societies Commends Educational Work.

That the work of the French Naturalization club of the West end in training the French immigrants who come to Duluth to qualify themselves to take out citizenship papers was especially commendable, was the declaration of F. Gatineau of South Bridge, Mass., who is president of the St. Jean Baptiste societies of this country, last evening at the French Catholic church at the West end.

Mr. Gatineau gave a very interesting talk to a large audience of French people of Duluth. The lecture was given under the auspices of the local St. Jean Baptiste society. He urged the French people of Duluth to keep up the god work that they were doing through their society, and advocated that an insurance provision should be made by the local society the same as is being largely done with similar French societies in the East.

Mr. Gatineau will leave this evening for Chicago.

MISSIONARY IS FREED OF LIBEL

American Declared Not Guilty in Congo Case at Leopoldville.

Leopoldville, Belgian Congo, Oct. 6. —Rev. W. H. H. Sheppard, an American missionary, was yesterday acquitted of the charge of libel brought against him by one of the Congo concession companies, which has a monopoly of rubber gathering in the Kasai region.

Two American missionaries, W. H. H. Sheppard and Rev. William Morrison, were charged with "calumnious demonstration" and libel by the concession company. The suit was based on an article which appeared in the Kasai Herald. The charges against Mr. Morrison, however, were withdrawn. The company sought to recover $6,000 from Mr. Sheppard.

Charged Brutal Treatment.

In substance, the charges made by the missionaries were that Congo officials levied upon the natives oppressive so-called taxes to be paid in rubber; that privileges, including women and children, were impressed by the soldiers for gathering their rubber, that they often are compelled to travel many miles to the rubber forests and to sleep there for more than a week under unhealthy conditions; that they are cruelly punished for failure to meet the taxes imposed, and that so large a proportion of their time is taken for gathering these taxes, that they are unable to cultivate crops and raise food necessary for their support.

The Belgian government holds half of the stock of the Kasai company and a majority of the company directors are Belgian officials, so that the suit has been considered as practically one by the Belgian government against the missionaries.

GIVE BANQUET TO M. E. STONE

Prominent Men to the Number of 130 Attend the Function.

New York, Oct. 6.—As a tribute of their regard on the eve of his departure for a trip around the world, friends of Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, gave him a dinner last night at the Lotus club in this city.

Of the invited guests and the subscribers to the dinner, there were 130 present. Frank B. Conover, chairman of the committee having the dinner in charge, presided until cigars were reached, when he requested Henry D. Estabrook to act as toastmaster.

Messages of regret were read, among them greetings from Andrew Carnegie, Mark Twain, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Col. George Harvey, Frank R. Lawrence, James Speyer and Col. J. C. Hemphill. An original poem of tribute was read by Francis D. Carley.

Prominent Men Speakers.

The speakers included Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press; Judge Elbert Gary, John C. Spooner, former United States senator from Wisconsin; J. Hartley Manners, the dramatist; Bourke Cockran, Victor Lawson and Myron T. Herrick, former governor of Ohio.

After the dinner Mr. Conover presented Mr. Stone with a shield taken from one of similar design of the fifteenth century. It is of cast bronze, about 16 inches wide by 21 inches high, with ornamentation appropriate to the period. In the center is a bass relief of Mr. Stone surrounded by exact reproductions in gold and enamel of the foreign decorations which have been bestowed upon him by France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Sweden and Japan. The whole is surmounted by an American eagle. The coloring is brushed gold, rich and dull, giving a look of age and dignity. It is mounted on French gray velvet enclosed in a mahogany box.

Among those seated at the guest table were George B. Cortelyou, Cornelius N. Bliss, Frank A. Vanderlip, George W. Perkins and C. H. Grasty of St. Paul, Minn.

JUST LIKE OLD LUNNON

Duluthians Grope Their Way Through Densest of Fogs.

Ferry Boats Tie Up---The "Oldest Inhabitant" Speechless.

Near-sighted persons abroad in the downtown district last night could not have told the fog which smothered buildings, lights, automobiles and everything, from the real London brand.

Indeed, Duluthians who have experienced both kinds, the London article and the best domestic variety, say that last night's mist was the thickest thing in fogs they had ever encountered and made the everyday British fog seem like a clear, crystal-like night in the spring time.

For thickness, general quality and class, last night's fog was easily the best Duluth has ever had, probably eclipsing anything in the line within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

At times, the mist was so heavy that it was impossible for a person to see more than a few feet ahead. Few automobilists ventured out and those who did crawled cautiously along, keeping to the right of the road, and tooting their horns like nervous sea captains.

Although they knew the track was ahead of them all right, street car motormen could not see it and they caused the cars to progress slowly through the fog belt, which, singularly enough, did not extend higher than Fifth street. At that altitude, only a light mist prevailed while on the bay and in the downtown district, it was as thick and impenetrable as a Henry James novel.

From the bay the sound of the foghorns on the boats came like a cannonade. The ferry boat masters decided it was too thick for them to venture across to Superior, with big boats prowling around in the gloom, and the first trip of the ferry boats this morning was abandoned on account of the mist.

The brilliant electric lights on Superior street appeared like exhausted glow worms from a short distance, and pedestrians were mere blurs at spaces of a few feet and at greater distances were obliterated altogether.

The quality of the fog gave the night an atmosphere of spookishness. Voices could be heard some little distance, but their owners could not be seen. Several collisions between wayfarers were reported, the pedestrians coming together with big bumps and backing away with profuse "beg pardons."

The weather man says fogs may be expected for several days and declares that there is nothing unusual about these, except that they do not extend to the hilltop, the weather being as clear as crystal at the thickest period of the fogginess of this morning. The hilltoppers looked out of their windows and saw the bright sunshine above, and below a sea of fog which completely erased the city.

CONDITIONS IN IRELAND AND THE ATTITUDE TOWARD "PROTECTION"

three illustrious gentlemen are still doing business here at the same old stand. These, by the way, belong to that picturesqueness which American tourists like to see and go home to tell about. The enterprising, husky, hustling Scotch-blooded Irishman of the North is not so interesting to holiday makers, but he's the fellow and his works to point to when you talk about the opportunities in a country.

Conditions on Farms.

The conditions among the farm laborers, especially in the South, seem to be about on a par with those of our Southern negroes, although the "lowly thatched cottages" are better, more comfortable and neater looking than the negro's cabin. But as the negro's condition is improving economically since his release from slavery—that is, in those communities where he is allowed to work—so the Irish peasant's condition is steadily improviing and he is being gradually released from the slavery of the landlord.

With all the interesting things in Ireland, the land question is still the most interesting, as it is the most important. It is doubtless somewhat astounding to many Americans to know that the government in Ireland has taken direct control over more than one-half the lands of the island, renting it, or selling it on the installment plan, to tenants. And if you sneeringly remark to them that this is that dread thing, "socialism," which it undoubtedly is, they don't scare at all, but merely point out the improvement it is working in the condition of the farmer and working class. Funny people these!

"The earth is the Lord's—not the landlord's," was one of the most conspicuous signs in a monster parade I witnessed in Edinburgh a few days ago. It was a demonstration in favor of the plan of the present government at London to tax all unimproved land. "Break the land trust," "Free land, free trade, free men," "Peers, keep off the grass," "Less pleasure ground, more treasure home," were other mottoes displayed.

What Caused Distress.

What has borne down the people of England and Scotland, as well as Ireland; sent hordes of unemployed to the city to make up such appalling slums as one can see about Dublin and London, is the enormous rent the landlords have been holding up the people for on farm lands. I saw farm lands in Scotland on which a farmer could scarcely make more than fifty bushels of wheat renting for $40 a year. The price is generally about $25 a year for fairly good land in Scotland, I believe. In Ireland it is now from $3 to $4.50.

This is rent, you understand, and, except in Ireland, it goes on forever, for the landlords will not sell. The government now practically forces him to sell in Ireland, buying it itself and selling on the installment plan. The annual installment the government charges is from one-third to one-half less than the renter formerly had to pay.

But what made it particularly oppressive in Ireland, and to some extent yet, for the government so far has taken over only half the land, is the custom here of a tenant selling his lease. The price for the lease of a farm has been about the value of the farm. A man wants to go to farming, say. He cannot buy a farm, for the landlord will not sell. He finds a desirable farm unoccupied, but he comes up against the proposition that another man who, however, does not want to work it, has a lease on it. To get it he has to pay the lessor $2,000, or the value of the farm, and then when he gets it, pay the landlord $500 a year rent, and the government $50 a year taxes on the land.

Now see, from the foregoing, by what easy steps the people of Ireland have reached the conclusion that rent, after all, is taxes, and how the landlords—the dukes, the earls and the rest of the privileged class who have been holding the people up—have been slowly torturing to death the goose that laid the golden egg.

Eager for Tariff.

It was the landlords of the United Kingdom who, in the first half of the last century, held out so stubbornly against the repeal of the protective tariff. The manufacturers were willing to take off the tariff duties, which the masses of the people had come to look upon as a tax on the necessities of life. But the landlords were unwilling to give up their protection on wheat, knowing they would have to reduce their exorbitant rents. They were finally defeated, the dreadful situation in Ireland forcing the country to free trade.

But owing to the fast growing population and the consequent demand for land, the landlords have been able to continue holding the people up. The people of the United Kingdom, more particularly those in Ireland, where they have been compelled to buy the land from a middleman and then pay rent all their lives to a rich duke, who often lives in England, have been so ground down till now they will stand it little longer, and to any impartial observer it inevitably appears that it is only a question of a short time, as time moves over here, say some fifty years or so, when in Great Britain, as well as Ireland, the ideas of Henry George, which he got from a study ofthe Irish situation, will be put into operation; that is, that the government shall take up all the land, rent it out to tenants, with life leases, at so much a year, abolishing the landlords altogether.

This, in effect, is already in force as far as half of Ireland is concerned, and the government is steadily acquiring the rest. At present there is no law compelling the landlords to sell to the government, but there is a widespread sentiment in favor of such a law, which now is pending in parliament.

The Land Problem.

Besides the land commission, which buys land and sells it, as described above, there is an arbitration board which fixes rates of rent to be paid to the landlord and specifies that after so many years the renter or lessee shall receive a title in fee simple to his farm.

In addition to the selling to farmers, the government sells homes to laborers, just a house—a thatched cottage of four rooms, and a half-acre of land. One must be a laborer, a worker with his hands, but any such man can buy one of these homes for 60 cents a week, payable semi-annually, for a period of years, generally forty-eight. If the man dies his heirs may have it when the forty-eight years are out.

Under the operation of this regulation, conditions among the peasant class are steadily improving in Ireland, and the more enthusiastic advocates of the scheme are hopeful that in time these dirty slums about Dublin will be cleared away. Already they are being cleared away in most of the English cities with great rapidity, the municipal government buying up all slum property, erecting good and sanitary buildings instead of the filthy hovels, and renting them to tenants at less than they had paid before.

This is another of the ways the consumer is "protected' in the United Kingdom.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER VERDICT IN NEW YORK.

New York, Oct. 6.—Frank Schliemann, charged with killing Mrs. Sophia Staber in her home in Flatbush last July while he and another man were robbing the house, was found guilty of murder in the first degee yesteday. The jury was out little more than an hour.

There was a pistol fight between Mrs. Staber's son and the robbers in which Mrs. Staber was killed and Schliemann was badly wounded. Schliemann's counsel made no defense, but attempted to raise doubt as to whether Schliemann's bullets killed Mrs. Staber or that her son accidentally killed her in the fight.

Schliemann came into court on crutches and swathed in bandages covering the wounds inflicted by young Staber's bullets.

BUFFALO PARK LAID WASTE BY BIG FIRES.

Calgary, Alta, Oct. 6.—Word has been been received here by a man named Edwards that the Canadian buffalo park at Wainwright, Alta., had been destroyed by the prairie fire which has been burning in that section for a week. As the fire burned the fence surrounding the park the frantic herds of buffalo, estimated at 800 animals, and a large herd of elk, escaped.

Many of the animals were killed, but those not destroyed escaped and are roaming over the prairie.

Some of the herd were those secured from Pablo, Mont., last year. The fires in this section have caused a financial loss that will run up into millions.

TO FACE SERIOUS CHARGE.

Hubert Mathieu Arrested in Duluth Will Not Fight Extradition.

Fred K. Ramsey, who is sheriff of Hillsborough county, N. H., and John T. O'Dowd, a police inspector of Manchester, N. H., arrived in the city yesterday and will take back with them Hubert Mathieu, formerly of that city, who is wanted on a charge of embezzlement.

Mathieu was arrested some time ago by the Duluth police on information from Manchester. He is said to have taken $352.52 from Court Le Val, No. 488, Catholic Order of Foresters.

At the time of arrest, Mathieu admitted that he was the man that was wanted, but said that he would fight extradition proceedings to take him back to the New Hampshire city. He now announces that he is willing to accompany the officers without papers.

AUTO STRIKES STUMP.

New Rockford, N. D., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Davies and his wife were the victims of an automobile accident in which Mrs. Davies was seriously injured. They were making fast time along a prairie trail when they struck a stump in the center of the road that was concealed by the grass. Mrs. Davies was thrown over the machine and onto the ground, but Mr. Davies stayed with the machine. The car was completely wrecked.

BANQUET OFFICERS OF BRITISH SQUADRON.

New York, Oct. 6.—Six hundred men, still loyal to the Union Jack of Great Britain, despite their years of residence in New York, gathered last night at the Waldorf-Astoria at a dinner in honor of Admiral Sir Edward Seymour, commander of the British fleet; Rear Admiral Frederick Tower Hamilton and the officers of his Brittanic majesty's cruiser squadron which came to the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

The dinner was given by the British residents of New York, under the auspices of St. George's society, St. David's society, St. Andrew's society, the Canadian society and the British School and Universities club of Manhattan.

A cablegram from King Edward was read, expressing his compliments and thanking the united British societies for their hospitality to the officers of the British fleet.

Grand Admiral von Koester of Germany was one of the hosts of the evening.

COURTHOUSE FOR RANGE

Question Will Come Up Again at County Board Meeting.

The proposed courthouse for Virginia will again come up for discussion at the meeting of the board of county commissioners tomorrow. A delegation of citizens of the range town will be on hand to present their claims and furnish the facts and figures for which the county commissioners asked when they visited Virginia after the last meeting.

The Virginia people think that the county ought to spend $250,000 on a courthouse for the range. They say that the building should be constructed with an eye to future development, not to present needs, and they think that about $250,000 will put up the building they think the county should provide.

After the last meeting, at which the plans were broached, the county commissioners visited Virginia and looked over the ground. They suggested that the Virginia people secure some facts in regard to population, growth, amount of court work done, prospects for development, etc., and submit them at the October meeting in support of their claim. If Virgina needs a courthouse of the size suggested, the commissioners are disposed to build it, but they do not want to build on wild dreams alone.

There is some internal dissension at Virginia on account of the proposal that the park site recently purchased be turned over to the county as a site for the new building. The park commissioners object and they and the members of the city council are at war over the proposition. It is likely that if the commissioners decide to erect the building little trouble will be experienced in securing the site.

TO INSPECT DULUTH WORK

President Thomas Shaughnessy of Canadian Pacific Coming Here.

Will Look Over Terminals With Party of Soo Officials.

According to the information received at the Duluth office of the Soo railroad this morning, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway company; E. Pennington, president of the Soo railway, a subsidiary line of the Canadian Pacific; G. R. Huntington, general manager ofthe Soo, and other officials of the Soo, will be at the Head of the Lakes some time this afternoon.

The officials, according to the information received here, have been making a trip of inspection over the new Soo construction and will come here to inspect the work that is in progress here, and also to look over the local traffic situation.

It is expected that the members of the party will spend part of the afternoon in this city. The Canadian Pacific officials are very much interested in the development that the Head of the Lakes has undergone as a traffic point within the past few years.

The party of officials has made a thorough inspection of the newly completed Soo extension from the West to the Head of the Lakes, and will probably go from here to Minneapolis.

DENIES CHARGES OF HUSBAND

Charlotte G. Michaud Files an Answer to Divorce Action.

Charlotte G. Michaud filed an answer in district court this morning to the complaint of her husband, Horace Michaud, in a divorce action he brought against her. She denies the charges of cruel and inhuman treatment made against her, and asks that the action be dismissed.

Mr. Michaud is 52 years old and his wife is 44. They were married at Rigolet, Newfoundland, in December, 1884, and have lived in Duluth about nineteen years. In his complaint, Mr. Michaud charged that his wife's treatment caused his to leave his home. He said that she accused him of infidelity, of having been responsible for the death of one of their children, and with having consorted with other women.

Mrs. Michaud's answer is a denial of the charges. She says that in January, 1905, she did not scratch her husband and tear his clothing, nor did she charge him with being responsible for the death of the child. She says that the child was in such condition that the application of a hot water bag was necessary. She sent her husband to get the bag, she says, but he failed to return, and she afterwards heard that he had engaged in a gambling game. When the hot water bag was secured, she says, it was too late, and the child died. She says she told her husband that if he "had sent or brought the hot water bag, the life of the child might have been saved.

She says that she met her husband on the street on Aug. 7, 1909, with a woman, and she remonstrated with him, but she denies having sworn at him or applied the epithets that he alleges she applied to him.

HARD KNOCKS IN MARRIED LIFE

Mrs. Campbell Says She Has Been Cruelly Treated By Her Husband.

Nineteen years ago the 18-year-old bride of a man twenty-three years her senior, Mrs. Margaret Campbell, who lives near Saginaw, on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, has rebelled against the cruelty to which she says she has been subjected, and she has brought suit in district court for divorce from her husband, George D. Campbell. She is now 37 years old and her husband is 60. They were married Nov. 10, 1890.

Her husband has been extremely cruel, she says. He has struck her repeatedly, and of late, she says, he has used force to keep her from leaving him. He is a hard drinker, she says, and has often commanded her to drink intoxicating liquors with him. On her refusal, she claims, he enforced his commands with a bottle, a chair, or any other weapon handy.

Christmas day, 1907, she says, her husband struck her with his fist on the back and knocked her across the floor. In October, 1908, she alleges, her husband hit her on the back of the head and knocked her against a window sash so that her head was cut. Early this spring he threw her out of the house, she says, and threatened to shoot her if she returned. Sept. 23 of this year he struck her and knocked her across the room, so she landed on her face on the floor.

There are five children ranging in age from 6 to 18 years. She asks a divorce and custody of the children.

ATTENTION OF UNCLE SAM

The Agricultural Department Looking Into Problem of Market Here.

Agent Arrives in Duluth to Help With Investigation.

J. C. McDowell of the department of agriculture reached the city today and will co-operate with the Commercial club committee in its campaign to reduce the cost of living, in conjunction with his regular work.

Mr. McDowell said that he had not yet had time to investigate conditions about Duluth yet, but he believed from what he had been told by reliable men, that Duluth has been paying too high a price for the necessaries of life.

Mr. McDowell's field consists of five states, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and the two Dakotas. His business is to co-operate with the farmers, helping them manage their farms in a more business-like and scientific manner. He does not make a specialty of giving them information upon any specific crop, or any particular line of cattle, but considers all phases of farm management.

He makes the farmer a partner in the proposition. He says that the farmer knows more about his own locality than he could be expected to learn in the limited time which he nas to spend in covering his big field. Mr. McDowell's own experience and training are better than that of the farmer, and by putting their heads together, he says that they have obtained excellent results.

Often, he explained, he will find one farmer making money from one crop, while his neighbor has absolutely no success with the same crop. He learns the reason for the first man's success, and helps the other out.

He will try to get the department to let him have an assistant in the Duluth investigation, in order that the matter may be thoroughly sifted. The market conditions here will come under the searchlight of the government men, but Mr. McDowell says he prefers that the local committee have charge of any dealings with the commission men.

CAR JUMPED THE TRACK

Ran Across Gutter Onto the Sidewalk During the Fog.

Passengers Given Bad Scare, But Nobody Was Injured.

An eastbound car, carrying three passengers, jumped the tracks about 6 o'clock this morning on West Third street at its intersection with Thirty-first avenue west. The car was going at full speed, but no one was injured. The car was put out of commission and had to be taken to the car barns for repairs.

When the car left the rails on the eastbound track it crossed the other tracks, ran down into the gutter and up on to the sidewalk on the other side of the street. The cement walk was broken in two places where the car wheels struck it.

The occupants of the car were badly shaken up, but no injuries resulted. The motorman did not have time to jump, but applied the brakes when he found the car had left the tracks. Some of the windows were smashed and the front of the car was also badly damaged. The accident happened while there was still a heavy fog in that section.

Last evening a narrow escape from a rear-end collision occurred, when one West Third street car nearly collided with the one ahead of it. The fog was the heaviest that it has been for some time, and it was impossible to see more than a few feet ahead. The motorman on the car in the rear caught a glimpse of the car ahead just in time to stop before the cars crashed together.

A man came to the West Duluth police station last evening with the request for a lantern to see his way through the fog, so he could get back to his home near Proctor. At Proctor last evening there was no fog at all.

A MAIN TRUNK SANITARY SEWER

Property Owners Will Be Given Hearing on Assessment.

Property owners at West Duluth whose lots have been assessed to defray the expense of constructing a sanitary main trunk sewer in the southern section of West Duluth will have an opportunity for a hearing before the board of public works next Monday morning at 10 o'clock, if they have any objection to make in regard to the assessment levied.

An assessment of $2.11 is made on each full-sized lot in that section which will be directly benefited by the new sewer. All objections made to the board, however, must be made in writing and filed with the board by Saturday of this week or the objection will not be considered.

Work has already started on the laying of the sewer at the foot of Main street, near the bay, toward Polk street. The sewer will have two branches, one running from the intersection of Sherburne street and Sixty-third avenue west to Fifty-seventh alley west, and in Fifty-seventh alley west to the main sewer in Polk street.

The other fork of the sewer will run from the intersection of Grand avenue west and Sixty-third avenue along the ravine of Kingsbury creek out into Polk street. From Polk street both branches will empty into a main trunk sewer, which will run to St. Louis bay.

There are several hundred lots affected by the much desired improvement, and the levy for the expense is not considered to be high. The contract price for the laying of the sewer is in the neighborhood of $30,000. It will not be completed until some time next year.

WILL LECTURE IN WEST DULUTH

Dr. Ben Ridder, the "Millionaire Tramp," will lecture this evening in Victor hall, West Duluth. His subject will be in regard to transportation problems and their relation to the working men, and also prison life in America.

Dr. Ridder attempted to secure the armory for a lecture here. So far his efforts have been unsuccessful. When "Bill" Haywood spoke in the armory last spring, he attacked the soldiers of the country in such vigorous manner that the officials of the armory board resolved to forbid all socialists using the hall to exploit their principles.

If the doctor is successful in securing a large hall in the central part of the city, he will deliver a lecture here some time this week.

Since coming to this city, Dr. Ridder says he has met a number of hoboes whom he has met in other parts of the country. He says that it is very hard for him to keep money, as every old acquaintance he meets invariably asks him for money.

CHARGE WAS NOT PROVEN

Failure to identify the woman alleged to be Anna Deseric as the wife of Vido Deseric of New York, was the cause of the dismissal of the case against the woman and Elija Buncic, who was held on a charge of having improper relations with another man's wife.

The cases were put on trial yesterday in the West Duluth justice court. The woman was not called to the stand and the husband, it was shown, has failed to prove to the satisfaction of the court that the woman was his wife.

Mrs. Deseric and Buncic were said to have been living together in a West Duluth boarding house as man and wife.

Improvements to the extent of $1,400 will be made to the rink of the Western Curling club at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Gosnold street before the curling season opens.

WALKED FIFTY MILES TO WORK

The first of the fall complaints regarding the tactics of the employment agents, was received at police headquarters this afternoon.

A man who gave his name as John Olson appeared at the station, and stated that he had hired out for work four miles from Hibbing. Arriving at Hibbing he claims he had to walk fifty miles instead of four, and was compelled to sleep one night in the open. He says that he was discharged three days after arriving at the camp and was compelled to walk back to Hibbing.

The police directed him to the office of the assistant city attorney, but he either lost his way in going from one building to the other, or gave up the idea of prosecuting the employment agent, for he did not appear at the prosecutor's office.

MEETING OF TRAFFIC MEN

A meeting of the Commercial club traffic committee was held today in the rooms of the club. At the meeting of the public affairs committee this evening, a report of the opinion of the members of the traffic committee on the rate situation, in relation to the business houses of this city, will be submitted.

Those present at the meeting today, were: E. A. Risden, traffic manager of the F. A. Patrick company; C. F. Rowe, traffic manager of the Marshall-Wells company; F. O. Davison, traffic manager of the Kelley-Howe-Thompson company; H. A. Earnshaw, traffic manager for the Stone-Ordean-Wells company.

It has been suggested by certain members of the club that the members of this committee be empowered by the club to carry on a thorough investigation of the railroad situation, and if necessary a fund be devoted to this work.

The meeting this afternoon was a general discussion of the situation at the Head of the Lakes and the best methods for proceeding along the line that is being taken up by the club at the present time.

According to the members of the traffic committee there are many needed changes in the tariff conditions here, but it will require time to secure these changes. The best method to secure these reforms is the question now engaging the attention of the committee.

THE PROBLEM OF COST OF LIVING.

One of the most important collateral issues in the broad campaign of bringing Duluth into its own is the problem of cost of living, and to that discussion a committee of the Duluth Real Estate exchange, appointed for that purpose, contributes a suggestive report. It is welcome because there is room for everybody in this important work.

The committee, approaching the subject historically, notes that Duluth was built, not as an outgrowth of agricultural conditions as most communities are built, but in what was practically a wilderness, and in order to take advantage of the immense advantages of commerce and transportation that invited development.

Thus food had to be brought in from afar, and for that purpose a large commission business was built up on Michigan street, through which much of the city's provender comes. Agricultural development, because other forms of labor were too ready to hand, was slow, but it is now in encouraging progress, and there is much to do in further encouraging it, especially by providing proper markets for its products.

But in the meantime, as the committee hints, a hard and fast combination had grown out of the commission business. In a field "without opposition or serious competition," the commission trust arrogated to itself liberal profits and placed an unfair burden upon the consumers. A comparison of Minneapolis and Duluth wholesale prices on Sept. 20 showed these figures: Tomatoes, 35 to 50 cents in Minneapolis and 75 cents in Duluth; potatoes, 35 to 40 cents in Minneapolis and 50 cents in Duluth; beets, 20 to 30 cents in Minneapolis and 60 cents in Duluth; onions, 40 cents in Minneapolis and $1.20 in Duluth; green onions, 7 to 10 cents in Minneapolis and 18 cents in Duluth. These are but a few; there are many others, quite as bad. There is reason for some slight difference in favor of Minneapolis; but there is no honest reason for such a difference as these figures show.

Particularly pertinent are the suggestions that Duluth has failed in the past to make the most of its advantages and that the time is come when everybody should get together in an aggressive campaign to make things what they ought to be in this city. Other cities are pushing for business and advertising their advantages; Duluth should do so. These are things that The Herald has been urging for several years; since long before the present attack upon concrete details began. Another suggestion of importance is that the Commercial club should employ an expert to investigate the railroad situation and to find out just what is needed to restore to this city the advantages that have been taken away from it. The concluding paragraph sums up pointedly the need of aggressive and co-operative activity:

> There is no problem relating to the growth and development of Duluth but what can be worked out to the benefit of the city and the advancement of all our interests if it is earnestly undertaken. The competition among cities is as keen as in private business, and if we are going to hold our own we must engage in the same line of activity in our own behalf which is pursued by others in theirs. We must advertise our advantages and correct our shortcomings. The cost of living, if excessive, must be and can be reduced to a fair comparison with that of other towns, and nothing is more vital to the interests of our city. There are some indications that Duluth has been sleeping and lagging behind in the efforts that are being made all over the country to promote commercial growth and the development of progressive towns. There is every inducement for every citizen to put his shoulder to the wheel and bring Duluth into the position that she ought to occupy among the cities of the country.

It is to be hoped that in a subsequent report the committee will deal with the problem of rents, which is quite as vital as anything else, and the absence of which from this report is notably conspicuous.

TELL YOUR GARDENING EXPERIENCES.

For several years The Herald has advocated home gardening enterprises. That means not only those who make gardening a business, and who make their livings by raising products for the market, but particularly those who utilize spare space in the back yard, even though it be but a few square feet, to raise fresh garden truck for the home table.

This plan The Herald has advocated not only because it will help reduce living expenses, but because it provides a healthful, invigorating and wholesome occupation—a side interest to distract the mind from the cares of one's daily labor, whether it be in office, shop or factory.

It has been a pleasure to know that in many cases this advice has been followed, and that profit and pleasure have come of its application to practice. The number of back yard gardens has grown every year; and many who did not have them this year are planning to have them next year.

The Herald would like to have those who have taken up this work write to it and tell its readers their experiences. Tell how much space you used, how you got it, what you did with it, what you raised on it, how you raised it, what you succeeded in and what you failed in, and why. Tell anything about your gardening operations that will be interesting and helpful to others. Try to make the letters short; they shouldn't exceed 400 words. While we prefer that you should sign your own name, it isn't necessary if you prefer to sign an assumed name; only in any event send in your real name and address, so that we may know who is writing. It will not be published if you had rather not. Address your letters to the "Open Court," in care of The Herald and write on one side of the paper only.

The reason for this request is that such letters will stimulate others to take up this healthful and profitable work, and will give them useful hints about how to go about it. Many of those who are taking up the back yard garden plan have never before set a spade to earth, and there is a lot that they need to know and want to know. First, they should be encouraged; and a brief relation of some of the pleasant triumphs of those who have turned waste spaces in back yards into productive gardens will encourage them a great deal.

The gardening season is closed now, and the stories should be complete. This will be a good time to tell them, in order that the full results may be made known, and in order that those who have thought of taking up home gardening may be induced to make up their minds in plenty of time to do it next season.

There is benefit in this work not only to the individual but to the community. For the individual there is cheaper living, better furnishing for the table, an interesting and beneficial hobby and good health and vitality to be gained from association with the life-giving soil. For the community there are the social benefits of these individual gains, and in addition there are sightlier back yards and more contented, healthier and therefore more efficient citizens.

Help it along by telling about your experiences.

NO SECTIONALISM IN THIS REVOLUTION.

The Herald has insisted, throughout the discussion over the tariff bill and the attitude of Aldrich, Cannon and Taft toward pending public questions, that there is in all this no issue of sectionalism.

The issue is rather class against class than section against section. When Governor Johnson, in one of the last and one of the most ringing of his messages from the people for whom he was spokesman, called upon the West to throw off the shackles of the East, he proclaimed no war of section against section, but he did proclaim a war of the under-trodden against the heavy foot of Special Privilege, and against the power in the government which serves Special Privilege. His message was addressed not only to the people of the West, but to the under-trodden masses of the people in the East. Though the power is sectional, the weight of its tyranny is country-wide.

Because this newspaper has looked upon it this way, it finds satisfaction in the news from the East that proves the existence of a political revolution there hardly less formidable than that in the West—a breaking down of party lines, a new perception that the end of popular liberties is more important than the political means, and that the people's good is more important than party supremacy.

The Democrats of Massachusetts the other day nominated for two of the principal offices men who have until recently worked with the Republican party. Eugene N. Foss, the candidate for lieutenant-governor, is a prominent manufacturer who has always been a Republican, though a strong advocate of reciprocity and tariff revision. Tired of useless effort within the party, he has made a new stand without the party. Harvey N. Shepard, the candidate for attorney general, is less well known, but he, too, is a Republican.

Thus the Democratic party of Massachusetts has given two important places on its ticket to Republicans. Besides this, it is stated that thousands of Republicans in Massachusetts, tired to death of the domination of the party organization that keeps Lodge and Crane in the senate to work for Special Privilege, will work and vote with the Democrats who have thus met them fairly half way. Where one comes out into the open there are dozens who will register quiet protests with their votes.

When the president sees these things, and when his clipping bureau supplies him with the press comments from all parts of the country on his old-fashioned party regularity in the face of party shame, he will be in a position to appreciate a famous incident from Carlyle's "History of the French Revolution." The sans-culottes having adorned the street lanterns of Paris with sundry friends of the Special Privilege of that day, and having proceeded to storm and carry the Bastile, somebody had to carry the news to the doomed and unhappy Louis who sat upon the tottering throne. Thus was it done:

> Late at night the Duke de Liancourt, having official right of entrance, gains access to the royal apartments; unfolds, with earnest clearness, in his constitutional way, the Job's-news.
> "Why," said poor Louis, "that is a revolt!"
> "Sire," said Liancourt, "it is not a revolt,—it is a revolution."

PUBLIC METHODS AND BUSINESS METHODS.

> Alderman Getchell took occasion to fire some hot shot into the council. He said that resolutions asking for the appropriation of city funds for various purposes are introduced without a minute's notice with the expectation that they will be passed without question. He said that the council has been doing altogether too much business in this slipshod manner. Alderman Getchell handled his fellow aldermen without gloves, asserting that too much cash has been allowed different parties and departments with practically no investigation as to the merits of the case.—From the report of Monday night's city council meeting in last evening's Herald.

Taken in conjunction with the fact that the total tax rate in the city of Duluth next year will be the highest in its history, this has exceeding interest of more than passing importance.

One of the hardest tasks is to get public business done in the same wise, economical manner that brings success to private business.

Each department, seeking to make a good showing, demands all that it can hope to get, and often demands more in the expectation that its demands will be shaved down. Usually there is lacking a central authority to scrutinize closely every demand, and to see to it that it is granted only for proper and necessary purposes and that sound business judgment prevails in its expenditure. So wastes creep in. It would be a greater reproach to the system of government than to the officials if there were wastes in connection with the spending of the money contributed by Duluth taxpayers. In view of all the circumstances, it would be marvelous if there were not.

No private business sets apart funds for any purpose without knowing all about what the money is for and how it is going to be spent. Appropriations for departments of the business are not made on mere request, without investigation. Perhaps appropriations for city departments are not made that way, either; though Alderman Getchell's address to the city council certainly leaves room for a suspicion that sometimes they are.

The real needs of the city, and the need of the taxpayers for rigid economy, are too great to have it even possible that heedlessness in the disposal of public funds may exist.

The business of the city of Duluth should not be different from the business of any private enterprise; neither should its funds be spent with less wisdom and less caution. And what is true of the city is true of the school district and of any other political organization that levies and spends taxes.

This emphatic and pointed talk by Alderman Getchell, taken in connection with the proposed rate of taxation, lends force to the suggestion made by The Herald last night that there should be some disinterested business supervision of local public business. It also lends encouragement to the Commercial club in its recent announcement that it proposes to pay attention hereafter to the levying of taxes and the spending of public funds.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

A MASTERPIECE OF EVASION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was much amused at the report of the committee appointed by the real estate exchange to investigate the cost of living in Duluth, as that report was published in your paper last evening. It really was about the most amusing thing I have seen in print for some time. And it would have been still more amusing if it had not had so serious a bearing on a vital question—the cost of living in Duluth. It showed, to my mind, just how much we can expect from the real estate exchange in this effort to better conditions; just how much truth there is in the assertions of members of that body that the exchange is going to try to better conditions in Duluth. In brief, just how much of their own soft snap are the real estate men willing to give up in order to make things tolerable for us common people?

You probably noticed, as I did, that they scored the commission men (gently); rapped the railroads (very lightly, indeed); touched up the newspapers (in soft terms); gave an unnecessary full review of the history of Duluth and St. Louis county; told something about the lake trade; gave interesting (?) statements about Chicago and other cities a long way off—but never once in the whole course of the report touched on the one thing in Duluth that they are competent to talk about; that they can remedy, and that is at the root of 99.9 per cent of the high rate of living here—exorbitant rents.

If the report of the committee of the real estate exchange is fair sample of the kind of deal we are to expect from the other organizations which have "taken up" the problem of the high cost of living in Duluth, then may the good Lord have mercy on the rest of us, for there will be no decrease in prices, and the chances are that the whole thing will amount to about the same thing for Duluth people that the recent tariff revision by the Republican party did for the country at large.

A SOCIALIST'S REPLY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I see by a letter in The Evening Herald (Sept. 27.) that Francis B. Linesey writes truly when he claims "that Socialism is the greatest problem that is bred by our present day education," for the foundation of Socialism is and must always be, the educated intelligence of the masses by state institutions, as against the education of the higher classes (and the keeping in superstitious ignorance and servility of the masses of the people) by private educational institutions, which by their very conservatism of maintaining the old as against the new, are stumbling blocks in the way of progress and personal liberty, for evidence of which note the difference in countries where church and state are separate, and where state and church are consolidated.

I also disagree with his statement that "Socialistic education will cause national disruption," but on the contrary claim that it will consolidate the nation and promote national and personal prosperity, and bring about that solidarity that all Socialists demand and work for but do not pray, beg, and cry for, a government by the expressed consent of the governed in which the referendum and veto power is left on the people collectively.

Again he is right when he says that "nothing prepares for Socialism like the public school," and "the Socialist is its chief defender," and why not? Is not the little red schoolhouse (the state school) the bulwark of all true religious and civil liberty and the foundation of all self-government?

Again he says "the child that gets a state education wants everything else from the state," and why not? If it is a good thing for the state to educate the child it must be a good thing for the state to be the medium of exchange between it and its fellow man in its future battle of life for the state has no interest in robbing, poisoning and starving it for the sake of profit like the individual has and under a true democratic and representative government like Socialism the adult child is an integral part of the government and not such a nonentity as the average citizen is today, who is poisoned, bartered, bought and sold by his public servants both with impunity and unashamed arrogance, greed and conceit.

FIXING IT UP.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The real estate men blame the commission men; now let the commission men blame the real estate men. Then the real estate men and the commission men can get together and take a drink on it, and add the price of the drinks to the next month's bills for rent and eatables, and everything will be fine.

BILL PAYER.

Died Poor, But Left a Fine Heritage.

San Francisco Bulletin: Governor Johnson's estate, it is reported, will not exceed $18,000 in value. That fortune will barely support the widow in moderate comfort.

Measure by a standard which is only too commonly accepted in this country, Governor Johnson's career was a failure. Men who are giving their lives to the accumulation of money must say, surely, that a man of Johnson's ability who, at the age of 48 years, had piled up no more than $18,000 was not a successful man. At the age of 22, we have been told recently in obituary encomiums, E. H. Harriman was able to buy a seat in the stock exchange for a sum larger than Governor Johnson left to his widow; and at the age of 48, Harriman was a very wealthy man. There is no denying that Harriman loomed larger in the public eye than Johnson, and that more Americans are following in Harriman's than in Johnson's footsteps.

But, measured by other standards, Johnson's life was not a failure. He fought his way upward from the very bottom, and the experience, instead of making him sordid, selfish and conceited, as it makes so many men, refined and ennobled him, as it did Abraham Lincoln. He was a soldier of the common good. He worked for the people, not for himself.

And the people were, in his case, what they are not in every case, eagerly appreciative of his service and character. In a year when the Republican national and state tickets carried Minnesota by an immense majority, Johnson, the Democratic nominee, was elected governor by a majority almost as large as that given to President Roosevelt.

With the modest little fortune, Governor Johnson left to his widow an honored name and a glorious tradition; and even in this age such a heritage is worth while.

THE WEATHER.

It was fair last night, but Duluthians didn't know it. Up above the fog the stars were shining. The weather man looks for a continuance of the fair weather tonight and Thursday, with little change in temperature.

A year ago today it was cool and clear.

The sun rose this morning at 6:14 and will set at 5:38, making eleven hours and twenty-four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of considerable intensity has developed over Alberta. During the past twenty-four hours it has caused light rains over Oregon and Washington and warmer weather over Alberta, the plateau region and Montana. Some rain also fell over North Carolina and South Carolina. The barometer remains high over the lake region and Northeastern states and Nevada, California and Oregon. A continuance of fair weather may be expected in St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

Taft and Aldrich.

New York Journal of Commerce: We devoutly wish we could find in the public utterances of President Taft evidence of independent knowledge and understanding and a personal judgment of his own on the great questions of governmental policy that confront this nation. His speech at the dinner of the Boston chamber of commerce, preliminary to his departure upon the long trip during which he will swing around a very large circle on the map of the United States, might not inappropriately perhaps have been confined to the compliments and sentiments of such an occasion without touching upon practical questions of policy. But if he touched upon them some pregnant suggestion of his own position might well be expected. Upon only one such question did he dwell, and what he had to say upon that was most disappointing.

President Taft shows that he is depending entirely upon the monetary commission headed by Senator Aldrich for his opinions on this great subject, and there could hardly be a worse guide. He is expecting the commission to publish soon "in interesting and attractive form the best accounts of the financial systems of the world." This will be based upon what certain members of the commission learned on a trip abroad last year and can by no possibility contain anything essential which has not been long familiar to students of the subject. It is not such a new subject as the president seems to think or as it appeared to be to Mr. Aldrich a year and a half ago and still is to such "statesmen" as Speaker Cannon. There is hardly a subject that has been more thoroughly thrashed out in human experience with recorded results.

The president in his Boston speech put himself in a position that will be construed as in favor of the central bank scheme, merely because he understands that the monetary commission will recommend it. If he cannot be said to have done this unwittingly, he certainly did it without any appreciation of the significance and seriousness of the proposition. His reliance upon the superior wisdom of Aldrich is almost pitiful. Mr. Aldrich, he says, states as two indispensible requirements in any central bank plan that the control "shall be kept free from Wall street influences," and that it "shall not be manipulated for political purposes," than the senator from Rhode Island, we should be glad to have him identified.

The president "cannot too strongly approve" of Mr. Aldrich's purpose of lecturing in "many cities of the Middle West on the defects and needs of our monetary system," because he is "the leader of the senate and certainly one of the ablest statesmen in financial matters in either house," and has been "regarded with deep suspicion by many people, especially in the West."

This is almost grotesque. Notwithstanding Mr. Aldrich's position for some years as chairman of the senate committee on finance, he was, at least down to the last congress, one of the most stalwart defenders of our national bank system with its bond secured currency. His financial education has been purely practical and political, and he never showed any knowledge or understanding of fundamental principles, because he was never a student except of men and business and practical politics.

The Lawyer's Function.

Donald R. Richberg in the October Atlantic: In the realm of advice a lawyer may choose between counseling his client how to uphold the rights secured to him by the justice of his cause, or how to obtain benefits from the application of technicalities and the use of the weaknesses of the particular statute or precedents under consideration, whereby he may attain advantages inconsistent with fair play between man and man. Every time a lawyer encourages such an application of the law as, resulting in injustice, casts disrepute upon the law or its administration, he is plainly promoting discord either in the present or the future. Every time a lawyer counsels controversy for the establishment of a right as recognized by existing law, or for the promulgation of new law beneficial to the majority of society, he is exercising his true function, and the charge which he lays upon his individual client and, through him, upon industry and progress in the mass, if reasonable in amount, is well earned and should be cheerfully paid. When, however, a lawyer gives the other kind of advice, the expense, perhaps cheerfully borne by the client who profits personally therefrom, must be finally laid upon society as a whole, which is thereby paying for its own injury, and naturally resents the charge.

Porter, Sang & Co. bought some cedar a few days ago from the man who cut it. Yesterday, as it was being unloaded, a man named Washburn, foreman for Wilson, Stevens & Co., paving contractors in West Superior, arrived on the scene and claimed the cedar belonged to his firm. He flourished a shotgun and proposed to take the cedar, but when the police arrived he quieted down, and the cedar will go on West Duluth streets.

The council finance committee has fixed the 1890 tax levy at 9¾ mills, about same as last year. The total levy is $202,006.75. An ordinance has been introduced in the council for the issuance of $1000,000 general fund bonds, bearing 4½ per cent interest.

By Dec. 1, Duluth will have direct rail communication with Sioux City, Iowa, by the completion of the Sioux City & Northern road, in connection with the Great Northern.

A new Duluth musical society is to be formed soon, membership being limited to those who are vocalists. J. W. Johnson, assistant signal service observer, is one of the moving spirits in the society, which will give several concerts here this winter.

Morrill Clarkson of West Duluth is enjoying a visit from his father, who lives in Wilmington.

The West Duluth Electric Light company, whose franchise was recently revoked, will carry the matter into the courts. It has disposed of the franchise for valuable consideration, and seeks to close up the sale.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Roseau Region: The state tax commission is at work on the iron mines with a view of raising their assessed valuation. It is to be hoped that the board will do the job so thoroughly that the tonnage tax proposition will be taken out of politics for all time to come.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: Are the politicians never to learn anything? Three defeats would lead some folks to see that the people are mighty independent, and pay very little attention to the party label. But it does not seem to have penetrated the think-tanks of some of the Twin City politicians, who, seeing a few pieces of official pie in sight, are flocking around the governor like fungus-laden flies. Governor Eberhart can make himself popular with the people of the entire state in about three minutes—just long enough to say to the would-be bosses and spoilsmen, with emphasis and proper gubernatorial dignity: "Shoo fly; twenty-three for you!"

Austin Transcript: Tariff revision will be a live issue in every congress and at every election until the matter is settled right in the interest of the consumer as well as of the manufacturer.

Warren Sheaf: Governor Johnson's name and fame or Harriman's millions—which would you choose?

Roseau Region: The state tax commission has added some $27,000,000 to the valuation of mining properties in St. Louis and adjoining counties. The commission is going into the complex question of taxation carefully and systematically and it will eventually evolve a fair and effective method of taxation. The mining properties of the state will now pay on a valuation of $217,094,438.

Fairmont Sentinel: Every indication points to a tariff war against the United States as a result of the boost of our tariff by the Aldrich monstrosity, not only by Canada, but by the principal European nations. Our country has gone tariff mad in order to swell the earnings of a few interests, and all of the American people will suffer as a consequence in more ways than one.

Windom Reporter: The fact that times are getting better is an argument in favor of the tariff—so say its authors. To a layman it seems strange that good times can be brought about by taxing people, yet that is the argument. In a way that is the result. The high protection given the trusts makes them active in pushing business, while there is plenty of cream in sight, no doubt thinking that the time may come when the people refuse to submit so freely. Such prosperity is not the lasting kind; it means nothing, except that we are mortgaging the future. The debt some day must be paid, but that time will not arrive until the mass of wealth of the country has passed into the hands of the few. Then the people will begin to realize what they have voluntarily or ignorantly assumed.

Worthington Advance-Herald: The Duluth Herald thinks that if the president had gone to sleep ten years ago he would have talked just as he did at Winona when he harped on party organization and partisanship. Perhaps Mr. Taft has been asleep to the changes which have converted the West into the seat of a large-sized demand for more representation by the people and less by the interests.

Very Likely.

Lippincott's: The depot of Meridian, Tex., is about a mile from the business part of the town. One night a sleepy, weary traveling man said to the darky who was driving him to the hotel:

"Old man, why in the name of heaven did they put this depot so far from town?"

The darky scratched his head in thought, and replied:

"Wall, boss, I's fo'ced to admit dat I hasn't give de matter s'ficient cogitation, but jes' jumped up fer a answer like dis, I s'pose dey done dat so as to have de depot as near as possible to de railroad."

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Puck: From one man's point of view another man may be all right in his way, provided he isn't in the way of the first man.

Yonkers Statesman: Mrs. Bacon—I understand your husband is at work on a new poem.

Mrs. Egbert—He is. He's trying to get some magazine to accept it.

Detroit Free Press: "Do you believe in long engagements?"

"Not in the summer time. I never accept the proposal of any man whose vacation lasts longer than two weeks."

Louisville Courier-Journal: "Forty years ago I started in life without a dollar."

"Say on."

"And now I have $400 in the bank and a job lot of furniture worth as much more."

Illustrated Bits: "Why did Eve give Adam the apple?"

"I suppose she wanted to get rid of the fruit so as to wear the basket for a hat."

Puck: "What do you figure in the result of a college education?"

"The young man learns to yell for the money, and the old man to whistle for it!"

Harper's Bazar: Knicker——Time brings strange changes.

Bocker—Yes; the boy whose mother can't make him wash his neck grows up to be a rich man who goes abroad for baths.

New York Sun: First Milliner—You have designed the North Pole hat?

Second Milliner—Yes; it will be a matter of dispute between the purchaser and her husband.

St. Louis Times: He—It has been said that a woman can make a fool of any man. Do you believe it?

She—Of course not. The best she can do is to develop him.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "I don't approve of these solitary dashes fer de pole."

"How does it affect you, Weary?"

"How kin I git a handout by tellin' people I wuz wit' Cook?"

Pittsburg Post: "I want to shake hands with the engineer of this train."

"What are you a candidate for?"

"Nuthin'. I think somebody ought to remember the engineer, even if it is an off year."

Detroit News: Mrs. H.—Why are you so fond of Oriental rugs?

Mrs. R.—I'll tell you a secret. The dirtier they get the more genuine they look. You've no idea how much sweeping that saves.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Ideas seem to scramble easier than eggs.

A woman contradicts her husband so she can say she didn't.

What makes women grow old is working so hard to seem young.

Girls have more natural sense than men because they don't need it.

The first time a man falls in love he thinks he will never get over it; after that he always knows he will.

REACHING FOR CRUST

Body of William Herndell Found in Shack at Burnett.

Hand Outstretched Toward Last Morsel of Food in Hut.

The body of William Herndell, 45 years old, was found by neighbors Monday afternoon in his humble home, an old shack near Burnett, with his hand stretching forth to grasp the last crust of dried biscuit in the place.

Living alone and with no relatives, he had been denied even the comfort of a stove. Death was caused by consumption.

The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of Durkan & Crawford yesterday afternoon. The funeral expenses will be paid by his friends and neighbors living at Burnett.

Little is known of Herndell, but he was well-liked by the settlers in the vicinity of his home. Although unable to work, he has been helped by them from time to time, and when it was learned that the owner of his two-room house wanted to have him put in the care of the officials at the poor farm, they came forward with promises to help him through the winter.

All the provisions were gone when the body was found. The only remaining scrap was a piece of dried biscuit in a paper sack, towards which Herndell was reaching when he was dying. It was found lying beside him on the floor. The last time he was seen alive was Sunday, when he did a little work in his yard.

LOOK OUT FOR STRAY BALLOON

One Big Gas Bag Said to Be Headed This Way.

According to a special dispatch to The Herald this morning from St. Paul, one of the balloons which started in the St. Louis race is headed toward Duluth. It was reported passing northward over St. Cloud and may land in some part of St. Louis county.

The weather man was notified, and he is seated in his station on the hilltop, with a telescope trained southward, sweeping the horizon for any signs of stray balloons. If any vagrant gas bag drops in on Duluth before night the weather man intends to see it coming.

is an example that will no doubt be followed by other leading business concerns of the city. With proper effort the fund could be doubled in two days from this source alone. The individual subscriptions continue to arrive, and the names of women and children and whole families on the list indicate how this memorial movement has gripped the home and the people who make the home. It reveals in a striking manner how close Governor Johnson was to the hearts of the people. Among the contributions received today was a check for $5 from Charles d' Autremont and four members of his family. This idea of each member of the family being a contributor to the memorial seems to be growing.

Fund of $25,000 Wanted.

In only a little over three weeks the subscription lists for the memorial fund will be closed. This decision was reached at the meeting of the memorial commission at St. Paul, and at the same time the desire was expressed that the fund be increased to $25,000 before that date. While the maximum donation has been limited to $1, and no contributions will be received from theatrical or other benefit performances, the commission decided that lodges, societies and similar organizations may contribute as such, provided that the contribution is not in excess of $1 per capita for the membership of the organization. This will open the way for lodges and societies to make contributions to the fund, as many of them have desired but have been heretofore prevented by the $1 limit on donations. Several Duluth organizations will probably be heard from now. The commission adopted a resolution urging upon the various societies and organizations of the state the importance of co-operating in the movement to make the memorial a fitting expression of the popular esteem in which Minnesota held Governor Johnson.

The commission decided that the treasurer is to receive all funds, through members of the commission, newspapers, other organizations and societies or individuals, and the secretary is to keep an accurate list of contributors, giving the names of each contributor, the amount subscribed, and such list shall also be tabulated by locations so as to show the whole amount contributed by each county, city and village in the state. When the work of the commission shall have been ended the list of contributors and the proceedings of the commission will be transmitted to the governor to be filed in the archives of the state.

In accordance with this action, The Herald will continue to receive subscriptions and forward the money and lists of contributors to the treasurer, Hon. B. F. Nelson, 728 Security Bank building, Minneapolis.

Contributions Urged.

The following resolutions, presented by Hon. C. F. Macdonald of St. Cloud, were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, the late Governor John Albert Johnson was for many years one of the most highly esteemed members of the Minnesota Editors and Publishers' association, serving as its president; and was honored and beloved by its members as was none of his predecessors; and

"Whereas, a movement has been inaugurated to erect a statue in his honor by popular subscriptions of amounts not exceeding $1, so it may stand through ages to come as a people's tribute in recognition of his services to the state of Minnesota; and

"Whereas, the newspapers of the state can and are furthering and supporting this movement; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we earnestly request the said newspapers to continue their good work and in the various communities to urge upon their readers cooperation by contributions.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the officers of the Minnesota Editorial association, with a view to securing their hearty official co-operation."

Women to Assist.

Mrs. C. G. Higbee, a member of the commission, explained that the Federation of Women's Clubs would take up the active work of collecting contributions through the different branches of the organization in the state.

It was also proposed that some day be fixed upon which the school children of the state may be allowed to contribute.

The details of the plan for securing the contributions yet needed will be worked out and properly announced from time to time by the executive committee.

SUPERLATIVE HOTEL COMFORT AT THE ST. REGIS, NEW YORK

The One American Hotel that is Not Surpassed by the Famous Hotels of Europe.

The great cities of Europe have long been famed for splendid hotels, in which the highest possible degree of luxury was obtainable. In America, it has been said, we had no first class hotels—measured on the best European standard. This statement, formerly, may have been true, but it is not true today. The Hotel St. Regis, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, New York City, was designed, built and furnished, and is being operated and maintained upon a standard equal in all respects to the famous hotels of London and Paris. It even exceeds them all in some of its attributes, and, in one respect at least—that of its prices—it is setting an example of moderateness and economy that appeals most favorably to America's great "middle class." American citizens should not be expected to pay—and at the St. Regis are not asked to—more than a fair compensation for the service rendered. Although living at the St. Regis combines the highest degree of hotel comforts with the best features of home-likeness and refinement, there is no advance in its prices over those of other first class hotels. Rooms may be had there as low as $3 and $4 a day for a large, handsomely furnished single bedroom; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); or $12 a day and up for an elegant suite consisting of parlor, bedroom and private bath.

MANY HURT IN WRECK

force four of the coaches of the special were smashed.

Two Hours Without Aid.

It was 11 o'clock before the first word of the accident reached Farmer City, when Conductor Duncan of the special, himself seriously injured, limped into town and told of the wreck. Word was hurriedly sent to Clinton for a special train, and in a few minutes five physicians, all that could be found in that brief time, were on the way to the scene of the wreck.

The body of Miss Watson was pinned down under the wreckage so that rescue was difficult. The fact that the wreckage did not catch fire is responsible for the number of dead and injured being so small, as a number of the injured were pinned under the wreckage for some time.

Due to Changed Watches.

Conductor Duncan of the special gives his version of the cause of the wreck. His own watch was being repaired and he was using his son's watch. The figures on the dial in his son's watch were not in the same position as on his own, and when he looked at it he thought he had fourteen minutes in which to run into Farmer City, when in fact he had but one minute.

Engineer Clark of the special, on rounding the curve, saw the headlight of the southbound passenger train, shut off steam and reversed his engine.

FLIES IN FOG AND STORM

thickness of an inch. Messner reached an altitude of 18,000 feet.

Of the division of balloons which were carried more to the southward, Le Blanc, one of the Belgian pilots, reached the farthermost point. He descended in the foothills of the Carpatian mountains, being forced to abandon his balloon owing to an accident upon landing. Le Blanc covered a distance of 630.31 miles; Messner's distance was about the same as Le Blanc's. Col. Schaeck, a Swiss entrant, covered 493.69 miles. The others covered lesser distances.

Old Timers in the Race.

Erbstoh covered 871.26 miles from St. Louis in 1907, which is the longest flight made in an international race, although behind Count de La Vaulx's record trip to Southern Russia.

It is possible that Mix, by jockeying, was able to catch a more northerly current, and that after he passed to the south of Prague he continued the point where he landed north of Warsaw. He is the only contestant to cross the Russian frontier.

It is not explained why Mr. Mix should have been molested by the Russian police, as in anticipation of a landing in Russia, each of the pilots was provided at Zurich with a special Russian passport.

The American embassy at St. Petersburg has been advised of Mr. Mix's predicament, and asked to take the matter up at once with the Russian authorities. The distance from Zurich to the point where Mix landed has been given as 1,100 kilometers, or 683.1 miles.

Edgar W. Mix was the only American contestant in the international balloon race for the Gorden-Bennett cup in which seventeen balloons started from Zurich on Oct. 3.

Mr. Mix used in this contest the balloon "America II," built in Paris last year for J. C. McCoy, and used by Mr. McCoy in the Berlin race. It has a gas capacity of 80,000 cubic feet, the maximum allowed for the race.

BIG GAS BAG ON DIRECT LINE FOR HEAD OF LAKES

Jack Bennett and A. A. Heimmann made an independent ascension at the same time that the racing balloons started, landed at Laredo, Mo., 206 miles from St. Louis.

Because of the ceremonies incident to "municipal" day in the St. Louis centennial celebration, the officials of the St. Louis Aero club called off all aeroplane and dirigible balloon flights scheduled for today. The parades and drills of city employes incident to the laying of the corner stones of new municipal buildings kept all the police busy downtown, and with no men available for the handling of crowds at Forest park the aviators were asked not to try out machines.

Curtiss is Expected.

Brilliant flights are predicted for the remaining days of the week, however, as they include Glenn H. Curtiss, who arrives here today; George Ostmont, who is to handle the bi-plane in which Farman broke records at Rheims; Marc Anthony, who has a wireless dirigible and Thomas Baldwin, Lincoln Beachy, Roy Knabenshue and Cromwell Dixon, pilots of dirigible balloons.

Today's ceremonies were confined to the evolutions of the police and fire departments and a march by the city's employes of all classes.

NO MORE WAR GAMES

the militia officers can be imparted through officers' schools.

Complaints from the guardsmen engaged in the Boston maneuvers allege bad food; no food at all for twenty-four hours at a time; lack of transportation; ill fitting shoes and clothing unsuited to the weather.

Many Lamentable Failures.

For these conditions the staff officers of the guard house, it is declared here, were largely to blame, and systematic instruction by regular officers and practical observation of the manner in which they handled their own men would have prevented many lamentable failures.

Taken as a whole, last summer's campaign is held to have taught some lessons almost worth the cost. For instance, it was shown conclusively that men of sedentary habits cannot safely be called in open field service without being gradually inured to its hardships, and that a week's encampment under wall tents in a carefully prepared camp does not sensibly fit the men for the hardships of a real field campaign. Nor can a drill once a week in a sheltered armory place the guardsmen on a footing with the regular soldiers.

The guardsman has still to learn how to take care of his health, to pitch his own tent and cook his own meals; to find shelter in action, even at the expense of aptitude in marching movements and finesse in the manual of arms.

NEW PREXY TAKES SEAT

day, marched alone. Following in line by twos came the president of the alumni association and the president of the university, the fellows of the corporation, the governor and lieutenant governor of the state, the governor's military staff and the dignitaries, civil, educational, military and naval. On the platform four members of the university corporation occupied seats near the center.

Historic Chair Placed.

In the middle of the row, unoccupied, stood the ancient chair of time-darkened mahogany from which the president of Harvard has conferred degrees for more than a century.

Sheriff Fairbairn, garbed in a blue "swallow-tail" coat and wearing his official sword, called the gathering to order. The ceremony of induction having been completed, President Lowell delivered his inaugural address. He dealt largely with the development of the college of the old type, and in the course of his address said:

"A discussion of the ideal college training would appear to lead to the conclusion that the best of the liberal education in our complex modern world aims at producing men, who who know a little of everything and something well. Nor if this be taken in a rational rather than an extreme sense, is it impossible to achieve within the limits of college life.

Advises Wide Attention.

"That a student of a college can learn one subject well is shown by the old schools of Oxford and Cambridge, but for us this alone this would not be enough, because our preparatory schools do not give the same training as the English, and because the whole structure of English society is very different from ours. For American students, the wise policy would appear to be that of devoting a considerable portion of their time to some one subject, and taking in addition a number of general courses in wholly unrelated fields."

PRESIDENT OF GIROUX COMPANY

Thomas F. Cole Named By Directors to Fill Vacancy.

Directors of the Giroux Consolidated Mines company have elected Thomas F. Cole of this city, president of the concern.

This action follows the resignation of Joseph L. Giroux of Los Angeles, who was the president at the time the Giroux company went under the control of the Cole-Ryan interests.

Ill health and a press of business in other directions were given by Mr. Giroux as reasons for his retirement and the directors promptly named Mr. Cole to succeed him. The head offices of the company are located in Duluth.

Why You Should Buy a Stewart Heater

Here are some absolute facts concerning the Stewart Base Burners. Study the detail construction shown in the illustration and note the large hot air flue that extends the entire length of the stove. The flue is over five inches in diameter and you will notice that it is curved over the fire pot. This is a great economical feature found only in Stewart Heaters. The cold air being taken in at the bottom of the heater is so intensely heated when it reaches the top that a match can be lighted by holding it twenty-four inches above the stove. No other heater will do this. The opening or collar of this hot air flue is seven inches in diameter—the largest on the market.

Cut Down Your Coal Bill

A Stewart Base Burning Heater will circulate every ounce of air entirely through the stove and into a room size 12x15 feet, with a 12-foot ceiling, in 50 minutes, so that you can readily see that by circulating this air through the stove in this time, it makes warm to a comfortable and even degree all parts of the room. Another important point, a Stewart heater will give one-fourth more heat with one-fourth less fuel than any other heater of equal size. These few facts explain why there are more Stewart stoves in use at the Head of the Lakes than all other makes combined.

WE TAKE YOUR OLD STOVE

Remember, we take your old Stove or Range and allow you all it is worth as part payment on a Stewart Heater. The balance we can arrange in small payments as low as—

IS DESPERATE MANIAC.

J. J. Burns, Arrested in Beltrami, Gave People Big Scare.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Daniels and Capt. of Police Vanderbeck have just returned from Beltrami, this county, bringing J. J. Burns, a raving maniac, who was before taken in charge by the officers gave the citizens of Beltrami a terrible fright.

When the sheriff and Capt. Vanderbeck arrived at Beltrami after making a flying trip from this city in an automobile they found Burns bound and guarded by several men, including the village marshal, in the jail at Beltrami. He was shrieking and fighting like a wild man, and tried to bite any one who came near him.

He raved about having $60,000 in a bank at Arvilla, N. D., and had evidently been in that section some time recently. When bundled into the auto to be brought here he fought like a wild animal and raved about having just paid for the auto.

All last night he raved about people being after him and wanting to kill him. He paced his cell without cessation and the other prisoners did not enjoy much sleep.

Burns is about five fet, eight inches high, weighing 165 pounds and powerfully built. He is dark complexioned and with bloodshot eyes makes about the worst looking object a man would want to meet alone at night.

NO TRACE FOUND OF OMAHA MAN

Month's Search Has Failed to Locate Anything But His Baggage.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 6.—The mystery of the disappearance a month ago of George W. Bowers, general manager of the Omaha plant of the Armour Packing company, deepens daily. His baggage has been traced to Fort Frances, Ont., which is in a direction opposite to which Mr. Bowers was presumed to have gone.

Miss Rogers, to whom Mr. Bowers was to have been married next month, is prostrated.

Friends of the missing man have had several men searching for him for the last week.

OMAHA CARS IN SERIOUS CRASH

City Council Adopts Measure to Probe Strike Over Mayor's Veto.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 6.—The most serious accident since the street car company began filling the places of striking employes with men of little experience, occurred last night. At Thirteenth and Harney streets a Benson car struck a Harney street car amidships, hurling it several feet and seriously injuring three passengers, George Marley, L. W. Brittain and Fred Halverson, all residents of Omaha. Marley may die. Both cars were badly smashed.

The Omaha city council last night passed over Mayor Dahlman's veto a set of resolutions requesting the state railway commission to make a physical valuation of the street car company's plant, demanding that the police department enforce the laws impartially against all violators, and providing for a thorough investigation of the strike and its cause by a committee from the council.

AGED EX-SLAVE DEAD.

Moses Sanes, Who Farmed in North Dakota, Quite a Character.

Lakota, N. D., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the death of Moses Sanes at his farm near this city, a negro of more than ordinary ability and prominence, is taken away. Sanes had resided in Nelson county since 1881, and has farmed constantly.

"Uncle Mose," as he was familiarly known, was a typical negro of the slave times. He made his escape from bondage at Fort Donaldson and enlisted in the Union cause, fighting through the balance of the war. Following the close of the conflict he resided in Lincoln, Ill., until coming to North Dakota. His exact age was not known, even by himself, but he was in the neighborhood of 90 years.

SHIPPING OF STOCK.

American Humane Society Listens to Some of Systems.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 6.—Abuse in the transportation of livestock and cruelty in catching fish with dynamite were the principal evils that were discussed before the twenty-third annual meeting of the American Humane society, which began a three days' session here yesterday.

In a paper on "The Transportation of Livestock," T. M. Libbey, United States inspector for the St. Paul district, dwelt on the inhumanity of mixed shipments where the railroad car is first loaded with large stock and then small calves and hogs are run in under, to be trampled to death by the larger animals. As a remedy for this, Mr. Libbey suggested that the railroads be compelled to partition off their cars for mixed shipments.

Fifty Dead of Cholera.

Vladivostok, Oct. 6.—Since the outbreak of the cholera here there have been ninety-three cases of the disease and fifty deaths.

An Antiseptic That Cures All Germ Diseases

Salubrin, that most wonderful antiseptic (germ destroyer) does more than merely destroy all kinds of disease germs, whether in the skin where they cause itching and eruptions, or in open sores, which they prevent healing, or in internal tissues, where they produce catarrh, bronchitis or tuberculosis. Salubrin counteracts and neutralizes the poisons (toxins) produced by disease germs (bacteria, bacilli) and strengthens the tissues so as to enable them to resist further attacks from these enemies, something which no other antiseptic or antitoxin ever accomplished.

No wonder leading physicians all over the world are resorting to the use of Salubrin in every case of germ disease, from a common cold or a slight skin eruption, sore or wound, to the most complicated and stubborn affections of the skin and internal tissues, relying on Salubrin to cure when everything else has failed. And the beauty of this new eradicator of disease is, that any person or child can use Salubrin with as much safety and success as the most skilled physician.

If you want to learn more about the magical efficacy of this greatest medical discovery of the age, call on your druggist for a free Salubrin booklet or write to Salubrin Laboratory, 13 Salubrin Bldg., Grand Crossing, Chicago.

PARK DEAL UP IN AIR

Virginia Council and Park Commissioners Are Still at Odds.

Presbyterians Object to Valuation Placed Upon Their Property.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—In behalf of the Presbyterian Church society, Rev. Henry E. Neff, C. E. Hendrick, Norman McDonald and J. S. Sutherland appeared before the council last night and entered a protest against the price agreed upon by the appraisers for the church property, located in block 43, which the city proposes to convert into a public park. This property consists of lots 12 and 13, upon which stands the Presbyterian manse, and the appraisal of this property was fixed by the board at $3,975, and this the society claims is at least from $1,000 to $1,500 less than the property is really worth. The speakers declared that the society did not want to stand in the way of the city's progress, or in any way retard its improvements. The deed to this property has not as yet been turned over to the city, and the society has been holding off its delivery with a view to making an effort to have the city raise its price to something near like the value of the property. The society have been casting about all summer for a desirable location upon which to erect a new manse, but until recently have found nothing to their liking. Mr. Hendricks stated that the amount offered for their property would not begin to pay the cost of construction of a new manse, and if the society undertook to build with such capital, it would place itself in debt, and that was something that the society did not care to risk. The society has secured an option upon certain lots, and if it can induce the city to increase the appraisal price to the figure suggested it will erect a neat, comfortable and modern residence for the pastor and his family.

A technicality in the law has presented itself whereby it may be possible for the society to retain possession of its property in block 43 unless the park board comes to its terms. However, block 43 is not as yet in control of the park board, as again last night the council held up its communication which was presented at the previous meeting. This communication asks the council to complete the condemnation proceedings started in block 43, and states that the board will not sanction the turning over of this block to the county as a courthouse site in the event that the commissioners decide to erect such a building in this city. This latter sentence is what has stirred the wrath of some of the aldermen, who claim that their votes were secured on the purchase of this block with the understanding that it could be turned over to the county for a courthouse site.

Meat Markets Sanitary.

That the meat markets in this city and at Mountain Iron are kept in the best of sanitary condition and that there is now very little bad meat handled in either place is shown by the report of J. P. Chalmers, meat inspector, presented to the council. There are seven retail and one wholesale meat house in this city and two markets at Mountain Iron which come under the inspection of Mr. Chalmers, and during the past week he found every one of them models of neatness and cleanliness.

Bids for the purchase of the old pesthouse and lot upon which it stands were opened last night. Only two bids were received. Ben Milavetz being the bidder on both propositions. He offered $200 for the lot and $100 for the building. The bids were laid over for another week.

The ordinance allowing farmers to sell their produce, meats, etc., in the city of Virginia without license received its third reading and was passed by a unanimous vote of the council.

Judge James P. Carey did a rushing business in municipal court during the week ending Oct. 2, as the fines collected in that court amounted to the sum of $316.85.

Bills amounting to a total of $4,508.25, which had accrued during the month of September, were allowed by the council.

CHARGE PREYED UPON HIS MIND

Accusation Against Toija Evidently Drove Him to Killing.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The murder of Jack Leinonen Monday by William Toija, followed by the murderer's suicide, has been the absorbing topic here since the double tragedy. The crime was evidently premeditated and the result of an accusation made against the murderer.

Toija returned last Thursday from Cloquet after an absence of several months and apparently had been waiting for an opportune time to commit the deed. Not until Monday morning did the opportunity present itself.

Leinonen was then on his way to his work at the Tower Lumber company's mill. Toija had slept in a vacant house near the depot, and when his victim appeared he accosted him and after a few words, fired three shots from a 38-caliber revolver, one entering below the heart and passing out through a lung, the other two entering the stomach. The injured man called for help and out of the thick fog of the morning, a fellow workman appeared, who assisted him until a rig was secured to take him to the Soudan hospital, where Dr. Burns gave him every attention, but all efforts proved futile. The dying man's wife and children were at his bedside to the end, and the widow is frantic with grief.

The trouble between Toija and Leinonen dates back a few months ago to a time when the murderer boarded with Leinonen, and is alleged to have committed a heinous crime which was reported to the authorities. The accused pleaded not guilty and since then had stated that unless Leinonen would admit he (Toija) was not guilty, he would kill him.

For the past few days the murderer had been seen skulking about the Leinonen home, and Mrs. Leinonen requested her husband to have him arrested, but he declined and his life was the penalty.

The accusation against Toija is believed so to have preyed upon his mind that he became murderously insane.

After shooting his victim Toija ran to the river, nearby, and seating himself on a pile of railroad ties blew out his brains with a pistol. It is reported he has a family in Finland. Oscar Johnson, a relative of Pike River, took charge of the body.

Sterilized Fruit Jars

If fruit has once spoiled in a jar, the same thing will happen again unless the jar has been thoroughly cleaned and sterilized. It is not enough to merely wash the jars, they should be boiled. To make sure that they are in good condition, put them in a pan of cold water in which has been dissolved a tablespoonful of Gold Dust washing powder; let come to a boil. The tops, also, should be immersed in boiling water, and old rubbers should never be used.

BACHELOR'S CLUB ELECTS.

Two Harbors Unmarried Aggregation Has Chosen Its Oficers.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The second year of the existence of the Bachelor's club of this city begins with the following officers who have just been elected: Joseph E. St. George, president; Robert J. Olsen, vice president; Edgar W. Conliff, secretary-treasurer. Locker & Murphy of the Glen theater have assured the club quarters in readiness by Nov. 1, and with this in view President St. George appointed a house committee to look after the details of arranging matters for the opening night, and for the purpose of purchasing furniture, and such other necessities as are required.

The annual meeting of the Tuesday club was held last night at the home of Mrs. W. B. Woodward and the following officers were chosen: Mrs. H. C. Hanson, president; Mrs. J. M. Hickox, vice president; Mrs. Odrick Le Clair, secretary-treasurer; committee on program, Miss Agatha Cotter, Mrs. W. B. Woodward and Mrs. G. A. Daniels. The Bayview course was selected for study, including studies of Greece and Italy.

MISS BRACCO IS BURIED.

General Grief in Tower Over Death of Popular Girl.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held yesterday morning at the Catholic church for Miss Lena Bracco, who died at the home of her parents Sunday. Diabetes was the cause of her death, her illness dating back over five months. By a singular coincidence the young woman's death was just two years from that of her brother, Bennie Bracco, who was a victim of the same disease, his death having occurred Oct. 1, two years ago.

Miss Bracco was 16, having been born here and resided here, and is mourned by many. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bracco reside on their farm just southwest of the city, Mr. Bracco having recently retired from a general mercantile business, which he conducted here for several years. Four brothers and a sister also survive.

Interment was made at Lakeview cemetery.

Negaunee Woman Plans to Reside on the Western Mesaba Range.

Negaunee, Mich., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Peter Fahey, who has been in the city the past three or four weeks, expects to return to her home at Coleraine within the next few days. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Clancey, who plans to remain permanently on the Mesaba. While here Mrs. Fahey has had her residence property on West Barnum street considerably improved. A new veranda has been built and the exterior painted. The house at the rear of the lot has also been improved and it is offered for rent.

DIRECTORY OF AMUSEMENTS

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—Hortense Neilson in "A Doll's House."

"A Doll's House."

Hortense Neilson, a young star who has made her mark in New York and other large cities of the country, will appear at the Lyceum tonight only in a performance of Ibsen's "A Doll's House," one of the most remarkable of the great Norwegian dramatist's remarkable productions.

As an interpreter of intellectual roles, Miss Neilson has made her mark. Eight years ago she was a chorus girl in a San Francisco company. She secured an engagement with Madame Modjeska, and her rise has been rapid. She has accomplished her rise to stardom by hard, conscientious effort and the development of her talent by consistent study, and as Nora Helmer in "A Doll's House," she is said to ideally meet Ibsen's conception of the character.

Before Miss Neilson produced "A Doll's House" she studied the role for three years, visiting Norway to see the original Norwegian company. Her appearance in New York caused a sensation. Her success has been unbounded wherever she has appeared. Miss Neilson brings with her a strong support. Her leading man is Norval McGreagor, who was for several seasons leading man with Florence Roberts.

"The Talk of New York."

Here are a few of the song punctuations that have helped make Victor Moore and George M. Cohan's play, "The Talk of New York," one of the biggest successes of the past decade: "Follow Your Uncle Dudley," "Put a Little Bet Down for Me," "Mr. Burns of New Rochelle," "When We Are M-A-Double-R-I-E-D," "Burning Up the Boulevard," "Busy Little Broadway," "When a Fellow's on the Level With a Girl That's on the Square," "I Want You," "Claremont," "Under Any Old Flag at All," "Drink With Me" and "Gee, Ain't I Glad That I'm Home Again." Victor Moore will open at the Lyceum tomorrow night in "The Talk of New York" for the remainder of the week.

MILITIA MEDICAL CORPS IS A "JOKE"

National Guard Work Is Condemned at Meeting in Washington.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Declaring that much of the field service of the medical corps of the state militia is a joke, Capt. Harold W. Jones, medical corps, U. S. A., arraigned today the present organization of the medical departments of the National Guard.

At today's session of the military surgeons of the United States, he read a paper on some impressions he had gained of the value of the camps of medical instruction for medical officers of the National Guard, and called upon the medical officers to take up immediately the fight to secure at once a change in the field organization.

Maj. George F. Crampton of the Pennsylvania National Guard said that something more was needed than "beautifully worked out schemes for medical aid, and the Red Cross bringing up the rear."

OLSEN LAUDS FARMING.

Dean of Agricultural Department of University Speaks to Students.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—"There is no occupation on earth—I yield to none—so honorable as farming." Dean John W. Olsen of the department of agriculture of the state university at St. Anthony Park, formally opened the school year in the school of agriculture at chapel hour yesterday, with a eulogy on the industry of farming, and admonished the students to "mix their brains with the soil" and reap harvests of success.

"Any honest work is honorable, provided it furnishes facilities for man's faculties," said the dean. "The work that substracts most from human misery and adds most to the sum total of human happiness is farming when rightly conducted."

Round after round of applause greeted these remarks, and the 482 students who had cheered Dean Olsen when he made his appearance on the platform, took up the applause again.

MAY WIN WATER PLAN.

Citizens of Fargo Hope to Have Better Quality.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fargoans who have for years fought for an improved water service now see a victory in sight. Last spring, despite the fact the idea was coupled with an unpopular municipal lighting proposition, both carried by a big majority.

The supreme court held that two issues could not be voted upon under one head and knocked the bond issue out. The council has finally decided to submit the water proposition alone and turned down a motion to also submit the lighting plan separately at the same time. There were two reasons for this, one that the light proposition is not popular with the taxpayers and another because of the greatly reduced rates by the present company. When the water bonds are voted again a modern filtration plant will be established.

LITTLE FALLS PUPILS CONTRIBUTE TO FUND.

Little Falls, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The students in the high school and the ward schools of this city have raised $22, which will be added to the sum received by the Commercial club for the Johnson monument. TWO MORE ACCUSED.

Governor Asked to Remove More Beltrami County Officials.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 6.—Governor A. O. Eberhart was yesterday asked by the grand jury of Beltrami county, now in session, to begin an investigation looking to the removal from office of Court Commissioner M. E. Slocum and County Attorney Charles R. McCusick. Malfeasance in office is intimated. Direct charges are made that the court commissioner charged and collected from the county fees to which he had no right.

Governor Eberhart will place the matter in the hands of Attorney General Simpson and Public Examiner Anton Schaeffer.

This action follows the removal by the late Governor Johnson of three commissioners of Beltrami county, with the fate of the county auditor still in the balance. The auditor's case was held up, owing to Governor Johnson's illness, and is now in the hands of Governor Eberhart.

Stop Women And Consider

This Fact — that in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman — a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years.

The present Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, was for years under her direction, and has ever since her decease continued to advise women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty causes them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. Such questioning and examination is unnecessary. Without cost you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

LOST $200

The man who neglected to buy his ten acres of land for a grove on the Isle of Pines last year has lost just $200 by waiting. To wait another year will prove still more expensive. With the great number of people going to the island, and making improvements, and with the hundreds of acres of groves now just coming into bearing, and beginning to ship their fruit, land values cannot stand still. $50 an acre is dirt cheap.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LAW HAMPERS LOVE'S TRIP

Pair of Alleged Youthful Elopers Will Have to Explain.

Arrested in North Dakota They Will Be Brought Back.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Rice and Sophia Anderson, both residing near Crookston, were arrested at Leeds, N. D., yesterday afternoon, and Sheriff Daniels left yesterday morning to bring them back.

They are alleged to have eloped from this city last Sunday, taking the Northern Pacific train. The charge is a serious one on the part of Rice, as the Anderson girl is under the age of consent, being but 17 years of age. Rice formerly resided with his parents, well-known people, near McIntosh, and the girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson of Burwell, six miles southeast of Crookston.

Carl Olson, also of Burwell, is now in the Polk county jail, having been held to the grand jury after a preliminary hearing held last July, charged with rape, the Anderson girl being the complaining witness.

Rice and the Anderson girl left Burwell for Crookston last Sunday and were expected to return home in the evening, and when they failed to appear, suspicions were at once aroused that something was not right, and Sheriff Daniels started tracers after them, with the result stated.

Sheriff Daniels was notified Monday evening that Will Kelly, who is charged with having passed a forged check on Merchant Reep of Nielsville for $39.50 last Saturday, had been arrested at Hillsboro, N. D. He was taken to Grand Forks yesterday by the sheriff of Traill county, N. D., and returned to Crookston last night by a deputy sheriff sent from here yesterday morning. The case is said to be a very plain one against him. Kelly is a laboring man and a stranger in this section.

SHIPPING BIG SHOVELS.

Soo Contractors Begin Grading at Leech Lake Dam.

Cass Lake, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.) —The contractors of the Soo railroad are at Bena this week unloading steam shovels which will be taken to Leech Lake dam, where the work of grading for the new line between Moose Lake and Thief River Falls will be commenced. On account of the huge size of the shovel it will be necessary to lay track from Bena to the dam, a distance of eight miles, in order to get the shovels to the working place. It is figured that the track can be laid at the rate of one mile a day.

There are at present fifty men at work at Leech Lake dam erecting camps and making other necessary preparations for the beginning of work.

The right-of-way through Cass Lake has been practically decided upon and bids will be received within a short time for the moving of buildings which are on the proposed right-of-way.

Sick Headache and Indigestion

The Former Is Very Frequently Caused By the Other.

The pneumo-gastric nerve connects the stomach region directly with the brain, and when the stomach is out of order the head is almost certain to be affected through reflex or sympathetic nervous irritation.

The headache of dyspepsia and indigestion is of every variety from the dullest and least defined to the most acute pain. Sometimes the whole mass of the brain seems racked with anguish; at others, the ache is confined to the back or front part of the head. The first form is usually of a confused character, and is often accompanied by dizziness of vision, and a mild vertigo, or so-called "rush of blood to the head." The victims of this symptom complain of a "swimming" or "lightness" in the head, and dizziness, or a sensation of motion while the body is still, and specks, or flashes of light before the eyes.

Persons subject to indigestion and others forms of stomach trouble are very frequent sufferers from headache, and in numerous cases a sick headache is the only noticeable symptom of indigestion present; in others, there are stomach manifestations as well.

The majority of people regard this headache as a separate disease, instead of a symptom of stomach-disease, which it usually is; and they attempt to treat it separately, and make the mistake of endeavoring to obtain relief through the use of headache powders, tablets, pills and seltzers, the use of which is extremely dangerous, as many of them contain such powerful depressent drugs as acetanilid, phenacetine, antipyrine, caffeine, etc., which depress the heart, brain and nerve centers, and lower arterial pressure; and many a person with a weak heart has become dangerously ill shortly after taking one of these headache remedies. They also interfere with the digestive processes, and actually make the dyspepsia worse than before.

In order to get rid of the headache of indigestion—and most headaches are caused by stomach trouble—one should endeavor to reach and remove the cause, and the headache effect will soon be relieved.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS do not cure the symptoms; they cure the cause of the headache, which permanently removes the symptoms. They digest every atom of food in the stomach, cure all forms of stomach trouble, and the headache, and every other disagreeable symptom and untoward effect is quickly gotten rid of.

Don't make the mistake of trying to cure your dyspeptic or nervous headache through the use of headache powders, tablets, etc. Use common sense, good judgment, and one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and you will be agreeably surprised at the rapidity with which the headache will be relieved and cured simultaneously with the relief and cure of the stomach disturbance.

Purchase a package from your druggist today for 50 cents, and send us your name and address, and we will forward you a trial package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

BOARD HEARING SEVERAL KICKS

Dakota Railroad Commission Has Plaints to Consider.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota board of railroad commissioners, now in session here, have a long string of rate complaints for consideration before adjourning tomorrow evening.

Important among these is a protest from the Commercial club of Kenmare, which sets forth an alleged discrimination in grain shipping rates. The Kenmare business men claim that the rate on grain from that city to the terminals in Minneapolis and Duluth is a cent higher per 100 pounds than it is at points from twenty to forty miles farther from the terminals; in other words, grain loaded at points west of Kenmare and transported through Kenmare is shipped at 16 cents, while grain loaded in Kenmare is shipped at a charge of 17 cents. The business men claim that in consequence of this unfair discrimination, the business of the city has suffered.

Another proposition to come up is brought before the board by the Grand Forks Commercial club. It is that of the charges on returning empties. Recently the Northern Express company made an order affecting Minnesota and North Dakota, in which a raise in the charges was brought about. The Minnesota warehouse commission refused to approve of the new schedule, and the North Dakota board, it is expected, will take similar action.

From Bottineau county comes a request for the establishment of a transfer track at Omemee.

The board also has for consideration the applications of about seventy-five elevators and grain warehouses in the state for licenses. Up to the present time, 1,500 licenses have been issued, but the board members are of the opinion that many have failed to comply with the law, and prosecutions will probably be ordered in such cases.

BOOMAGE CASES ARE BEING TRIED

Important Actions Involving Charges for Booming Logs on River.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—In district court the first of the boom cases, involving boomage rights on the Rainy river, near Baudette, has been taken up.

The case is that of the International Boom company, et al, vs. the Rainy Lake River Boom company.

These boomage cases are of much importance to the lumbermen and loggers who reside along the Rainy river, as the cases practically involve the boomage rights in the Rainy river.

The first case involves some $7,000 and $15,000 is involved in the next two cases. The total sum of about $80,000 is involved in all of the cases.

The case has been to the supreme court for the third time and in each instance the defendants have been granted a new trial.

The "bone of contention" is the charges for booming. The companies involved are the Rainy River Lumber company, the Backus & Brooks people, the Shevlin-Mathieu company, Namakin Lumber company, as well as the International Boom company.

SNAPS REVOLVER WITHOUT RESULT

John A. Hoffman Comes Near Killing Morrison County Official.

Little Falls, Minn., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A revolver loaded in such a manner that it would not explode the shells probably prevented John A. Hoffman from killing Deputy County Auditor McNairy here. He mistook McNairy for N. N. Bergheim, who had secured a divorce for Hoffman's wife and against whom Hoffman had vowed vengeance. Hoffman is locked up, pending a hearing on the charge of attempted murder.

Hoffman has figured a lot in the limelight, having twice attempted to commit suicide. Hearing his former wife was in town Sunday, he worked himself up to a high pitch over fancied wrongs and went to one of the hardware stores, where he purchased a 32-Colt automatic. After the gun and shells had been purchased, Hoffman dropped a hint that "there would be something doing before the day was over" and asked the clerk to load the weapon for him. Taking his cue from the hint dropped by the man, who was at the time under the influence of liquor, the clerk loaded the weapon with nine cartridges instead of eight. The handle of the automatic was filled with eight shells and an additional one was placed in the barrel, thus making it impossible for the gun to be discharged. With nine shells in a Colt's automatic, an attempt to discharge the gun causes two cartridges to work together and for the trigger to strike the rim instead of the center of the cartridge. As the weapon is a center fire gun, such an occurrence makes it impossible for the shell to be exploded.

Hoffman went to the home of N. N. Bergheim, who at the time the divorce was granted in court, appeared as counsel for Mrs. Hoffman. When informed that Mr. Bergheim was not at home, he went back and on his return to the business district met Deputy County Auditor B. Y. McNairy. Hoffman called to Mr. McNairy saying that he wished to speak to him. When he drew near, Hoffman pulled the gun from his pocket and snapped it. The fact that the hardware clerk had placed nine shells in the gun intentionally is all that saved McNairy, as the revolver was loaded with soft nosed bullets, which would cause the death of a person struck in nearly any part of the body.

Chief of Police Gannon was called and started in search of the man and found him a little later at the home of Joseph Ruff in the east end of the city. He was placed under arrest and taken to the county jail.

Mr. Bergheim was warned of his peril by Hoffman's son Fred, who found his mother's attorney and told him that his father was in search of him and was armed with a revolver.

MAY HAVE A GYMNASIUM

School Board Likely to Place One in New Building.

Superintendent Denfeld Favors Such a Place for High School.

When the new combination grade school and manual training building is erected during the coming year on lots purchased recently by the board of education on Lake avenue north, Third and Fourth streets, it is highly probable that it will contain a well equipped and airy gymnasium for the use of the girls and boys attending Central high school.

The need of a gymnasium for the high school students and conducted by the school authorities has long been felt, but as there is no available room in the Central building, it has not been possible for the school board up to the present time to supply such a place.

Perhaps more than the pupils of the grades, who, being of younger age, engage in play after school hours, there is need of healthful exercise on the part of the high school pupils and, save for the gymnasiums maintained by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., there is no place where certain exercises may be held.

The erection of the new manual training and grade building offers a solution of the problem and it is likely that the school board will ask F. G. German, the architect, who is to draw the plans for the new school, to include a gymnasium in his specifications.

That this scheme has the indorsement of R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools, is shown by the following remarks in his last monthly report to the board of education:

"There seems to be a widespread feeling on the part of the principals, teachers and pupils, that, in planning the new manual training school, some provision should be made for a gymnasium. The board, upon representation made by two of the high school teachers, entered into an agreement with the Y. W. C. A., to give gymnastic training to the girls of the sophomore and freshman classes in the Central high school The lessons have not yet been given, but Miss Wells and Miss McEwen are preparing to do so as soon as the authorities of the Y. W. C. A. are ready to receive these girls.

"If there were a gymnasium directly connected with the high school, not only the girls of the two classes, but all the girls, as well as all the boys, would have excellent opportunity for physical training I think it is safe to say that no class of pupils in the public schools are so much in need of it as are the high school students. Indeed, so much stress today is being laid upon physical education that every new modern high school throughout the country makes some provision for a gymnasium. It would not of necessity greatly increase the cost, though the construction of the building might be somewhat modified to bring this about."

LESS ATTENDING SCHOOL.

Wisconsin Congregationalists Listen to Unpleasant Figures.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 6.—That there are more than 1,000 less Congregational Sunday school children in Wisconsin than there were ten years ago, despite the growth in population of more than 1,000,000 within that same period, was reported to the convention of the Wisconsin Congregational association here yesterday. Forty-eight Congregational churches in the state failed to report Sunday school departments at all for the fiscal year. A report by Registrar Miner of Milwaukee showed that there are 467,000 children in Wisconsin that are not affiliated with any Sunday schools. An investigation of conditions was ordered by the convention.

FAMOUS MINING SUIT IS SETTLED

Doyle-Burns Litigation Ends, But Terms Are Not Made Public.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Oct. 6.—The famous $1,000,000 Doyle-Burns mining suit, which has been in the courts of this state for several years, has been settled. The terms are not divulged.

The Doyle-Burns suit is one of the most noted in the history of mining litigation. Doyle and Burns were the discoverers of the great Portland mine at Cripple Creek, Colo. After disposing of the property to a stock company, suit was filed in Colorado by Doyle against Burns, asking $1,000,000 as Doyle's share of the transactions.

Burns obtained an injunction prohibiting Doyle from bringing action in Colorado courts, which injunction was ignored by Doyle, who spent some months in prison for contempt of court. After being released Doyle took the case to the Iowa courts and was given a judgment for $650,000. Burns appealed, got a new trial and was given a verdict in his favor. Doyle then appealed, and it was the retrial obtained by Doyle which was to have been heard when the suit was settled today.

"MEDICINE MAN" TO GET SALARY

Will Act in Conjunction With the Indian Agency Physician.

Washington, Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The latest move toward uplifting and bettering the physical condition of the Indian has just been announced by Indian Commissioner Valentine, the proposition being to place the "medicine men" of the various Indian reservations on the government pay roll. Recently the most influential "medicine man" at the Tongue River reservation in Montana, a character considered one of the brainiest Indians of the Northwest, proposed that he act on salary, in conjunction with the agency physician, in a campaign against tuberculosis, a disease particularly rapid in its spread among Indian tribes when once fairly lodged.

Indian agents have suggested that the "medicine man" be induced, if possible, to assist the regular physicians, and that they be allowed a small salary for this service. The most ignorant element of the tribes could then be reached in a satisfactory manner, since the people are ready to follow the counsels of their time-honored tribal doctors.

Under the new plan, the "medicine man" would simply transmit the directions of the regular agency doctor, whose prescriptions have formerly been discredited and generally not taken at all. Great benefit is expected if the tribal doctors can be counted upon to aid in this work, especially if they will assist in spreading proper ideas of sanitation, which some Indians are slow to accept when recommended by white doctors.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT.

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum, and it is such a comfort to have something we can enjoy drinking with the children.'

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact.

"My first trial was a failure. The cook boiled it four or five minutes and it tasted so flat that I was in despair, but determined to give it one more trial. This time we followed the directions and boiled it fifteen minutes after the boiling began. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich, delicious flavor. In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better and better month aftr month, until now I am perfectly healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to the nerve-destroying regular coffee for any money."

SAVED BY FIREMAN,

Otherwise Engineer Would Have Been Crushed to Death.

Fort William, Ont., Oct. 6.—His right forearm under the forward wheels of an engine, and his body being slowly dragged under the locomotive, Charles N. Gorman, an engineer on the Canadian Pacific, aged about 36 years, was saved from almost certain death by the prompt and heroic action of Robert Crain, his fireman.

Gorman was in charge of engine 1160, which had just been coupled on to eastbound passenger train No. 96 and which was due to depart at 10:40 o'clock at night. He had gone forward to make an examination of the headlight, when his torch fell between the wheels of the front truck. Just as he reached along the rail, between the two front wheels, the engine suddenly moved several feet ahead. The arm was torn and crushed from the elbow to the wrist.

Gorman's cries attracted Crain, who probably saved him from being dragged under the engine by grasping him about the waist.

It was found necessary to amputate the arm above the elbow.

SERIOUS CAR FAMINE FELT ABOUT BALTIMORE.

So serious has the situation become in the mining regions of Maryland that today the Baltimore & Ohio foreign distribution coal cars are on the percentage basis. MULLIN TO PITCH OPENING GAME

Detroit People in a Mad Scramble for World's Series Admission Tickets.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 6.—With every reserved seat for the world's series baseball games here next Monday and Tuesday sold before noon yesterday, the office of the Detroit club was besieged yesterday afternoon by disappointed applicants. The demand for seats was so heavy that the national commission gave the club permission to place on sale Friday morning, 5,000 pavilion seats.

President F. J. Navin had tiers of circus seats erected around the entire outfield, and when play is called next Monday it is expected that there will be a total seating capacity in Bennett park of about 20,000 to 22,000. There will be no standing room available, as the circus seats will occupy all space that might be used for this purpose.

Last night a dozen members of the American league champions left for New York, to play there today against the New York American league club in a benefit game for Sam Crane, a former player on the old Detroit National league team.

Manager Hugh Jennings said that it is his intention to send George Mullin into the box in the opening game at Pittsburg on Friday.

INDOOR BALL TEAMS BUSY

Some Fast Contests Promised for Armory This Winter.

All of the indoor baseball teams of the military league are hard at work preparing for the approaching season. All of the three Duluth teams, Companies A. C. and E. and J of Superior, have organized.

Those who have seen the Company A team practice in the Armory are of the opinion that this team will come very near winning the pennant in the military league. The team is composed of some of the very best indoor baseball players in Duluth, and in Pitcher Lee the team, has one of the best big-ball hurlers in this part of the state.

Lee will pitch and "Babe" Bennett will catch. This should compose one of the best batteries in the league. The remainder of the lineup is as follows: Jones, first base; Clark, second base; Anderson, third base, Amundson, left short; Bjork, right short; Art Johnson, left field; Gibson, right field.

Company A has been industriously practicing in the Armory. The teams of Companies C and E have also been out on the floor. Word from Superior states that Company J of that city will have a very strong team.

It is believed that some of the best indoor games ever witnessed in this part of the country will be played at the Armory this winter.

Dr. B. P. won the 2:20 pace in two straight heats, with Legal Heir second and Mac Thistie third. Best time, 2:11¼.

An Ordinary Card.

Belmont Park, N. Y., Oct. 6.—A very ordinary card was run off here yesterday. The crowd was up to the average. The Corinthian cup steeplechase field had many starters, and Vilhallia was returned the winner. Pretty Michael, the favorite, made the running to the last turn of the field, when Vilhallia took command and won easily by ten lengths.

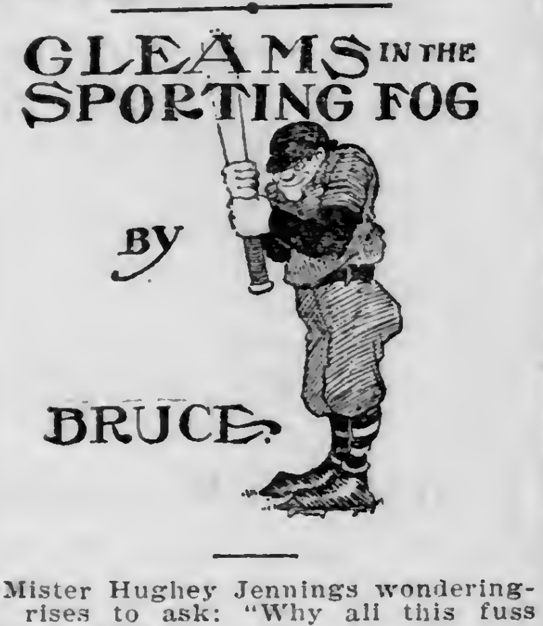
MANAGER OF THE PITTSBURG NATIONALS

FRED CLARK.

Fred Clark is captain and manager of the Pittsburg National baseball team, the champions of the National league for 1909. Clark is a great baseball general and plays a regular position in the outfield for the Pittsburg team. The Pittsburgs will meet the Detroits of the American league for the championship of the world, the first game being played Friday.



GLEAMS IN THE SPORTING FOG
BY BRUCE

Mister Hughey Jennings wonderingly rises to ask: "Why all this fuss about spiking?"

"In my day there was no great fuss and ado when a guy spiked you," says Hughey. "One day Bill Lange spiked me four times. That was a great day for Bill. When I took off my stocking my shoe was filled with blood. But I never thought much of the accident. In those days we never thought much of being spiked."

And Hughey sure did play in the rough and ready days of the baseball period. Look who he played with! He played on the same team with John McGraw. Scrappy Doyle was another member of the old Baltimore Orioles. If a man got around the Baltimore bases in a close game without losing part of his anatomy, he often uttered a silent prayer of thankfulness as he sank trembling on the bench.

More than that, when the Baltimore bunch was fighting hard for the pennant the members of the team used to incite the crowd to take their parts. It was mighty hard for an opposing team to get away with a game—very difficult, indeed, in more ways than one.

But really, spiking has become a very serious problem of the great game of baseball. Some action should be taken at the meeting of the national commission this winter. The chances of Philadelphia were hurt this season by the spiking of two of Connie Mack's players by Cobb. The Georgia Peach is one of the most reckless players that ever slid feet-foremost into a bag.

In the old days, if we are to believe all we read—and we all do—they used to engage in merry spiking duels. A baseman on a team would probably be spiked by a player on Monday, though Monday is a very poor spiking day. On Monday evening the spiked player, instead of complaining to his manager, would go out behind his boarding house and sharpen his spikes with malicious intent.

"Tuesday will be my busy day," he would mutter to himself, as he filed away at his spikes.

When the guy that slipped a piece of steel some place into his anatomy on Monday came down the paths, the spiked party of the day previous would not be so dead anxious to put the ball on his opponent, but, rather, would be contemplating with keen and unerring delight the festooning of a fantastic design on the calf of the other player.

Beautiful designs can be worked out with a sharpened spike. Have you ever watched mother cut cookies with one of those fancy cutters? Sure you have. The design of a baseball spike is something on the order of the cookie cutter.

Sometimes even the players in the days of long ago used to wind wire around their limbs to prevent dire revenge on the part of some player. But the spiking duel is a thing of the past. It has passed with the rougher element of the game, and we are inclined to believe that the only spiking incidents of today are accidents, pure and simple.

Those who know Tyrus Cobb are loath to believe that the Georgia boy would deliberately go out of his way to spike an opponent. He is a reckless and daring runner, and takes chances that he should not in the matter of injuring opposing players; but it is doubtful if Cobb had any intention of deliberately spiking either of the Philadelphia players.

But the national commission should get to work on this unpleasant feature of the game. The reckless and careless player has a distinct advantage over the player who thinks of the other fellow's safety. Some players would rather be put out than take a chance of spiking an opposing player. There are some ployers who take the chance every time.

Spiking, be it accidental or intentional, is one bad feature of the great American game that is a heritage from the days when rougher players and rougher methods were in vogue. This evil should be remedied. Action should be taken the coming winter.

Reports from Millets, San Francisco, where Stanley Ketchel is preparing for his battle for the world's heavyweight title, state that he knocked out three sparring partners before any one had gone two rounds with him. Charlie Miller, the "Giant Motorman;" Steve O'Connor, and the "Montana Cyclone" were the boys that Ketch is reported sending to the land of slumber. That prince of fourflushers, W. P. McLoughlin of New York, says it is not true, though he is some little distance from the scene of the reported Ketchel carnage. It is so mean for O'Loughlin to spoil a story like that.

Not since the days of strenuous Thomas Sharkey have the coast followers of boxing seen such rough methods used in a training camp, according to reports that come from the Pacific coast. Ketchel is finding great difficulty in securing sparring partners who can stand up and take the gaff.

Now when you read accounts like those coming from the coast, you wonder how he can lose. It has ever been thusly. Read the reports that come from a fighter's training quarters and you can not conceive how he can possibly lose. He is fit as a fiddle, strong as a lion; swift as a gazelle, and has a wallop in either mit that would put to shame Sampson's execution with the bone of an ass.

But when the day of the fight rolls around there is often a sad story to tell. The invariable cry is that the fighter was not in condition. So, dear reader, don't take this bunk that comes from the training quarters too seriously.

Never before in the history of the world's championship series has so much interest been exhibited in the premier event of baseball as is being shown in the series that opens Friday. It is estimated that the greatest number of people that has ever witnessed a short number of games, will be in attendance at Pittsburg. It is not at all likely that the attendance at Detroit will compare with the crowds that will flock to Forbes' field to witness the opening battles. Bennett park is not as large as the new Pittsburg inclosure, in the first place, and then Detroit has never been the baseball center that the Smoky City has. But from present indications, the greatest crowd in the history of baseball should witness the games played in Pittsburg.

ONE OF MAINSTAYS OF PITTSBURG TEAM

MILLER.

Miller of the Pittsburg Nationals has been one of the finds of the season. He is an excellent second baseman and has won many games for Pittsburg with his bat. He and Hans Wagner make a great combination with their phenomenal playing in the infield. It is largely through their good work that the Pittsburgs have won out in the championship race.

PLANNING FOR WINTER SPORT

Ski Club Is Already Working on a Big Tournament.

Already the ski enthusiasts are beginning to plan on their winter sport.

Last year the club did not get busy until very late in the season and the tournaments pulled off were not up to the standard set in former years. This year by beginning early and getting the dates set far in advance, they hope to provide the best sport of this nature seen on the local hill in many years.

The National tournament will be held in Coleraine this year Feb. 19 and 20. A big Duluth tournament will be held a few days in advance so that the best riders in the country may give an exhibition of their skill on the local hill.

The Duluth club is going hot after the tournament for the season following and as the national tournament has not been held here in some years, the local club has every chance to land it.

Duluth is rich in the number of her expert ski riders and the local bunch usually gets away with the big money. All the old favorites will get busy as soon as snow flies.

The grounds are to be improved, and already a crew of men is at work enclosing the grounds inside a high board fence. The big slide erected last year will probably be lengthened a trifle and several smaller stands will be built so as to encourage the sport among the yonnger riders of the city.

The present officials of the club are: President, Dr. H. Hovde; vice president, H. Wannebo; secretary, John Jenswold, Jr.; treasurer, P. C. Wright; financial director, John L. Larson. In addition to this corps of officers, a directorate of eighteen men assist in the administration of affairs.

MEETING OF BALL MAGNATES

Minny League Season for 1910 Will Be Discussed Oct. 12.

President Elliott has issued a call for a meeting of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league magnates, to be held at the St. Louis hotel Tuesday, Oct. 12. The meeting will be called in the morning, and the session will continue all day.

There are several important matters to come before the directors of the league. There is a disputed game between Winona and La Crosse that will come up for settlement. The settling of the dispute will make a difference in the position of the two clubs.

The most important matter to come before the attention of the league directors is the circuit for next season. Whether the circuit will remain as it is at the present time, or whether some new towns will be admitted, is a very serious question.

Mankato would like to get into the league. Stillwater has also let it be known that the Prison City is seeking a franchise. Red Wing is said to be another city that would like to break into the Minny league territory.

It is improbable that final action will be taken at the Tuesday meeting. Final decision as to what towns will compose the league will be reserved until a later meeting. But this question is one that will engage the attention of the directors.

The matter of the Minny league flirting with some of the clubs across the Canadian border, as suggested by J. M. Lamb, is not regarded as serious by any one acquainted with the situation over on the Canadian side. It is a good guess that the league will be nearly the same as during the past season.

FINE HEATS IN THE 2:24 PACE

Long Jim Wins First and Last Two---Track Record Broken.

Long Jim, entered by W. A. Shelden of Superior, won the 2:24 pace at the Superior driving park yeserday afternoon. Five heats were necessary to decide the race, Long Jim taking the first two heats, Sally Felkner taking the third and fourth heats, and the deciding heat going to Long Jim.

Sally Felkner took second in the first, second and fifth heats. Skidoo took third money, Rosa May of this city being distanced after taking third place in each of the first two heats.

The time was 2:19¾, 2:19¼, 2:24¾, 2:24.

In the 2:18 pace but three heats were necessary to decide the winner. Ivan C, owned by M. F. Baker of Kankakee, Ill., winning the race in straight heats. Dan Jeffers took second in each of the three heats, Onadonna getting third money. The time was 2:17, 2:15¾ and 2:15¼.

The track record was broken in the last two heats of the 2:18 pace. The record was formerly 2:16, and was made in 1899 by Louvagie.

The 2:30 pace and the free-for-all will be the cards this afternoon. There is a purse of $400 for the 2:30 class and $500 is hung up for the free-for-all class.

FOUR RECORDS ARE SMASHED

Melvin W. Sheppard Beats His Former National Indoor Time.

New York, Oct. 6.—Four indoor records were smashed last night at Madison Square Garden at the conclusion of the annual indoor track and field meet of the Amateur Athletic union. By far the most interesting contest was the 600-yard run, won by Melvin W. Sheppard of the Irish-American Athletic club. He ran a splendid race all the way, but his final dash to the tape was magnificent, as he defeated Harry Gissing of the New York Athletic club by two yards. Sheppard's time was 1:14 3-5, one-fifth of a second better than the national indoor record he established previously.

In winning the final heat in the 150-yard dash, J. J. Eller of the Irish-American Athletic club, made the distance in 15 4-5 seconds, bettering his time of a year ago by one-fifth of a second. Ray C. Ewry of the New York Athletic club hung up a new indoor figure of 34 feet, 1 inch, in three standing jumps. He also holds the outdoor record of 35 feet, 8 3-5 inches for this event.

W. Happeny of the Montreal Athletic association won the pole vault for height with 11 feet, 6 inches, four inches higher than the best previous record of the meet.

The point scores for the two days' meet were as follows: Irish-American A. C., 69; New York A. C., 62; Pastime A. C., 25; Boston A. A., 8; Maryland A. C., 6; Montreal A. A., 5; Xavier A. A., (Brown university), 3; Motthaven A. C., 3; St. Gregory A. C., Philadelphia, 2; unattached, 5.

The summaries:

Putting the 24-pound shot, won by P. McDonald, Irish-American A. C., with 36 feet, 11 inches; W. W. Coe, Jr., Boston A. A., second, with 36 feet, 7 inches; Martin J. Sheridan, Irish-American A. C., third, with 34 feet, ¼ inch.

Standing high jump, won by Platt Adams, New York A. C., with 5 feet; B. Adams, New York A. C., second, with 4 feet, 11 inches; J. A. Baller, Y. M. C. A., Brooklyn, third, with 4 feet, 10 inches.

150-yard dash, won by J. J. Eller, Irish-American A. C.; H. Heiland, Xavier A. A., second; W. R. Bursen, New York A. C., third. Time—15 4-5 seconds.

Three standing jumps, won by Ray C. Ewry, New York A. C., with 34 feet, 1 inch; Platt Adams, New York A. C., second, with 33 feet, 4 inches; Robert Hickman, Union Y. M. C. A., the Bronx, third, with 31 feet, 8¾ inches.

Five-mile run, won by T. J. Collins, I. A. A. C.; W. I. Bailey, New York A. C., second; J. J. Daly, I. A. A. C., third. Time—25:42 2-5.

WORKING ON HOLES IN LINE

Colton Trying to Strengthen Weak Spots in His Defense.

Yesterday was moving day. As a consequence the Boyle boys, Larry and Joe, could not get out to practice. Now, who says that football training does not teach the youth of the nation to be useful? Young Kelly had to make a trip to the pumping station for some reason or other, so that three regulars were absent from the lineup.

Despite the fact that these regulars were called by duty from the field of action, the rest of the team members went through a lively scrimmage. The second team was out in full force, and the two teams went through a hard afternoon's practice.

The work is being directed to perfect the team play and to plug up some holes in the line. Yesterday afternoon Colton devoted considerable time to his linemen. From tackle to tackle the line is causing him a great deal of worry. The old fault of playing high was manifest yesterday afternoon.

The work of the back field in the interference is another part of the team's work that Colton is working on. At times in the Brainerd game the interference was very loose, permitting the opposing ends and backs to sift through and nail the runner. Only the wriggling ability of Larry Boyle saved him from being thrown for a loss several times in the Brainerd game.

Kelly is developing more speed than he showed in the Two Harbors game, and he is getting the ball to the runner more cleanly. The backs are also starting more rapidly, and with a perfection of the interference, Colton will have a strong back field.

Jeronimous is giving Mars and Taylor a sturdy battle for one of the end positions. The "Dutchman" is perhaps the hardest tackler on the squad. He misses his man occasionally, but when he does hit him the runner stops with a thud. If Jeronimous would pay more attention to the finer points of the game and cut out a lot of kidding, he would make one of the best ends in this part of the state. He will be given an opportunity in the Ironwood game to show what he can do.

Little is known of the Ironwood team. In the past the teams from that city have been strong. The coaches of the high school are looking forward to a hard game.

THE PIRATES LOOK STALE

Pittsburg Has Slowed Up---Tigers Going at Top Speed.

Can it be that the Pirates are a trifle stale as a result of the gruelling race they have just finished? Their playing the past few days has not been up to the standard set during the greater part of the season. The team is either letting up, in preparation for the world's series, or else the men are fatigued from the severe strain.

On the other hand the Tigers are playing better baseball at the present time than at any stage of the strenuous hunt for the flag. The Tigers, if the truth be told, are the kind of a team that seems to arise to an emergency. This very fact may enable the Jennings crew to win the world's series.

That Pittsburg is a game team, there is not the least doubt. But in crucial games of the past this same team has been known to go to pieces. If the Pittsburgers show the least sign of the hard fight the team has been through, the Tigers should be in a position to take immediate advantage of this fact.

The betting should favor the Pittsburgers. They have the better team. In a long race the Pirates would beat the Tigers. Whether they will beat the Michigan team in a short series is a question that has the entire sporting world by the ears.

SIXTEEN WOMEN IN SECOND ROUND

Weather Clear and Much Better Golf Is Looked For.

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—Sixteen women began the second round of play today for the national golf championship on the links of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford. The weather was clear and pleasant, with little or no wind, and better golf was looked for than on the two previous days of the present tournament. The success of the players from the British isles up to today had been marked. Starting out with six representatives in a field of seventy aspirants for national honors, there were still left in the field sixteen that teed off today.

Miss Dorothy Campbell, the Scottish champion, who has displayed the best golf of the visitors, met Mrs. E. H. Fitler of Philadelphia, while Miss Frances Teacher, also of Scotland, matched her skill against that of Miss Vida Llewellyn of Chicago, the Western champion. Miss S. Temple of England met Miss Margery Phelps of Boston, and Miss Jane Spence, also of England, was paired with Mrs. R. H. Barlow of Philadelphia.

Another match of interest today was that of Miss Frances Griscom of Philadelphia against Mrs. Charles T. Stout, both former national champions.

The drawings today were as follows: Miss Frances Griscom, Merion Cricket club, vs. Mrs. Charles Stout, Apawamis.

Mrs. E. H. Fitler, Merion, vs. Miss Dorothy Campbell, North Berwick.

Miss Frances Teacher, North Berwick, Scotland, vs. Miss Vida Llewellyn, La Gange.

Mrs. Mary Adams, Wollaston, vs. Mrs. Caleb Fox, Huntington Valley Cricket club.

Miss S. Temple, Westward Ho., Eng., vs. Miss Margery Phelps, Brookline.

Miss Edith Noblit, Wilmington Cricket club, vs. Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, Philadelphia Cricket club.

Miss Isabelle Smith, Evanston, vs. Miss Elizabeth Porter, Brookline.

Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Merion, vs. Mrs. Jane Spence, Moreton, Eng.

A cup has been given for competition by the thirteen players who were beaten yesterday and match for the trophy play was begun today.

Some More About Jeffries

London, Eng., Oct. 6.—James J. Jeffries, who arrived in London last night from Paris, does not anticipate any developments in his prospective fight with Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world during his stay in London. He is of the opinion that the meeting will occur in San Francisco, and he said today:

"If Johnson is half as ready as I am for the fight it won't be long after my return to America before we are at it."

GOOD SCHEDULE FOR THE BIG DULUTHS.

Games have been arranged with Virginia, Eveleth, Hibbing, Grand Rapids, Washburn and Superior by the manager of the Big Duluth football team. Efforts will also be made to arrange games with some of the city teams of Duluth. The team had its first practice Sunday and will be ready for a game the first of next week. The team averages 145 pounds and is ready to meet any team of the city.

Corbett Badly Beaten.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 6.—Young Corbett of Denver, the former lightweight champion, was dragged from the ring by his second in the eighth round in the Armory Athletic association hall last night, after David Despler had put the old-time champion to the floor in bad shape.

Crystal Maid Wins.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 6.—The Oakdale handicap for all ages at six furlongs was a feature in the racing here yesterday. Crystal Maid, running in good form, won by two lengths from Hyperion II, with the show going to Al Muller. The latter, with Marbles and Colloquoy, were raced into the ground in the early stages.

Gertrude Hoffman Goes Free.

New York, Oct. 6.—The case against Miss Gertrude Hoffman, who was arrested on July 24 at the close of her Salome dance, charged with giving an improper performance, was dropped and she was dischaged yesterday, when her counsel assured the court that the dance had been discontinued.

WILL NOT TALK OF COOK AND PEARY

Capt. Bernier Says He Must See Data Before Believing Either One.

Quebec, Oct. 6.—Capt. Bernier and the government steamer Arctic have arrived here from a cruise in the Arctic regions.

Capt. Bernier said the Northwest passage had been negotiated. First Mate Green, in May of this year, with a party of six selected men drove over the ice westward, but before returning to Etah suffered terrible hardships. Their dogs all had to be killed for food. The men arrived at the winter headquarters dragging their sled, and in the last stages of exhaustion.

Letter From Cook.

Capt. Bernier has a letter, which he received from Dr. Cook, dated Upernavik, May 23, in which the latter says that Peary sold his supplies, but that with the aid of the provisions brought by Bernier, he was able to "work out his problem." The letter says:

"We have pushed into the barest center and have picked the polar prize, but the effort was dangerous beyond all conception."

Capt. Bernier was asked if he thought either Cook or Peary had reached the pole. The captain answered:

"I would not admit that either had been to the pole before I have sufficient proof. Both are very persistent."

The captain did not want to say any more because, as he said, he expects to be a witness in the Cook-Peary controversy.

Viborg Signers Lose Titles.

Kharkoya, European Russia, Oct. 6.—The nobility have expelled from their ranks Prof. Kovalesky, leader of the Democratic reform party; M. Gredescult and three other members of the first duma who were among the signers of the Viborg manifesto.

B. W. HOW HEADS KITCHI GAMMI

Well Known Social Club Has Annual Election of Officers.

B. W. How was elected president of the Kitchi Gammi club, at the annual meeting of the organization held last evening in the club's rooms at First street and Third avenue west. He succeeds W. J. Olcott.

The following were elected directors for three years: G. G. Hartley, F. A. Day and A. M. Miller, Jr.

The club was organized in September, 1883, and has had a remarkably successful career and growth. It now occupies the upper floors of its building, which are handsomely furnished and appointed for the use and pleasure of the members. There are 254 resident members and 158 non-resident members at the present time.

FELTON RESIGNS FROM ALTON DIRECTORATE.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Chicago & Alton Railroad company, S. M. Felton retired from the board of directors and Edward A. Tilden of Chicago was elected to fill the vacancy. Other retiring members were re-elected.

The annual report shows gross receipts from operation of $12,500,682, and net receipts of $5,092,083. Deduction of interest charges, dividends on guaranteed stock and taxes, leaves a balance of $1,666,261. Out of this dividends were paid, leaving as a surplus for the year $32,445.

S.S.S.
CURES RHEUMATISM

Every person who suffers with Rheumatism knows of some liniment, plaster, or other external application that may afford temporary relief from the pain of an acute attack of the disease. Such treatment, however, is in no sense curative—it simply gives ease for the time being, by counter-irritation at the spot affected, as the attack is sure to return at some future time. In this article we want to talk with you about S. S. S., a medicine that CURES Rheumatism, a remedy that removes the cause, and in this way assures the sufferer of permanent freedom from this painful and health-destroying disease.

Rheumatism is due to a diseased condition of the blood, brought about by an excess of uric acid in the circulation. This uratic impurity gets into the blood usually because of constipation, poor kidney action, indigestion, and other minor stomach disturbances. These physical irregularities may be so slight, and at such prolonged intervals as to give us slight concern; but each one has a distinct influence on the eliminative members of the body, and prevents the proper removal of the impurities from the system. This refuse remains in the stomach and bowels, and souring, forms uric acid, which is quickly absorbed into the blood.

Then the circulation becomes weak and sour, the corpuscles, which ordinarily furnish nutriment to the body, are saturated with the uric acid, which they deposit into the muscles, nerves, bones and joints. This causes soreness and inflammation, and brings on the pains and aches of Rheumatism. No longer does the blood nourish every ligament of the body with healthful properties, but constantly the briny, inflammatory circulation distributes the uratic impurity throughout the system, and Rheumatism becomes chronic. The occasional pains shooting through the muscles, or shifting from joint to joint, become more frequent and severe, the muscles get sore, the flesh becomes feverish and inflamed; and constant contact with the acrid blood slowly dries up the natural fluids of the joints, stiffening the knees, ankles, fingers, etc.

There is but one way to cure Rheumatism, and that is to cleanse the blood of uric acid poison. S. S. S. goes into the circulation, and attacks the disease at its head, and by removing every particle of the cause, and thoroughly purifying the blood, cures Rheumatism permanently. S. S. S. changes the blood from a sour, acid-steeped stream to a rich, healthy fluid, which quiets the excited nerves, eases the throbbing, painful muscles and joints, cools the blood tissues, and reduces all inflammation of the flesh. When the blood has been purified and enriched by S. S. S., it gradually nourishes back to a healthful state the different members that have been starved and weakened because of imperfect, diseased blood. S. S. S. is purely vegetable and contains no harmful minerals of any kind.

We have a special book on Rheumatism, which we will send, together with any special medical advice desired, free.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

CURED HIS RHEUMATISM.

While recovering from illness of fever, I had a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism in the knees, from which I was unable to leave my room for several months. I was treated by two doctors and also tried different kinds of liniment and medicines which seemed to relieve me from pain for awhile, but at the same time I was not any nearer getting well. One day while reading a paper I saw an advertisement of S. S. S. for Rheumatism. I decided to give it a trial, which I did at once. After I had taken three bottles I felt a great deal better, and I still continued to take it regularly until I was entirely cured. I now feel better than I have for years.

FLAX SOARS THREE CENTS

Another Flurry Is Feature of Market Session in Duluth.

Wheat Active and December Closing Price Is Point Up.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 6.—Flax was the center of interest in the Duluth market again today, there being active trading in the seed over a wide price range. The close showed a gain of 3c over yesterday, although at times during the session the most active options were 4 points over the low level of the day. The market was nervous and responded quickly to every move of the bulls, shorts contributing something to the rise at intervals.

Wheat was also active and bullish in tone, the December option closing a point higher than yesterday in Duluth.

Liverpool wheat closed ⅝d@¾d higher and Budapest ¾c higher.

Domestic and continental markets were given some strength by a rumor of a Russian embargo, caused by cholera. This was later denied in a cablegram from Antwerp, however.

The December wheat option closed 1c higher in Duluth and ⅞c higher in Chicago and Minneapolis, ¾c higher in New York, ⅝c higher in St. Louis, ⅞@1c higher in Kansas City and ⅜c higher in Winnipeg. The May option closed ¾c higher in Duluth, New York, St. Louis and Kansas City, ½c higher in Minneapolis, ⅝@¾c higher in Chicago and ¼c higher in Winnipeg.

December corn closed a shade higher in Chicago and oats ⅜c off.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The unexpected strength in America yesterday led to active covering of wheat here at the opening and values were ⅜@½d higher. During the morning values further advanced ⅛@⅜d, with offerings light. There was an improved demand for spot and the continent was reported a buyer again in this market. London and Bristol quarterly stocks both show a good decrease, where an increase was expected, and Manitoba offerings were scarcer and firmly held. Toward midday prices suffered some reaction, at which time the market was dull, due to the heavy increase in Russian stocks and less inquiry for both cargoes and parcels. At this time the market was firm and from ½@¾d higher than yesterday.

"Corn at the start was steady and unchanged and later values advanced ⅛d in sympathy with the steady American cables and the fact that a number of La Plata steamers have been diverted to the continent."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 620 against 403 last year, and at Minneapolis 509 against 715 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 1,129 against 1,118 last year. Chicago received 50 against 27 last year. Winnipeg received 561 against 548 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 1,605,000 bu. last year 1,783,000 bu. Shipments 1,296,000 bu, last year 1,132,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 268,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 705,000 bu. last year 277,000 bu. Shipments 486,000 bu. last year 165,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 670 bu.

Wheat was active in the Duluth market. December wheat opened ⅛c higher at 98⅝c, advanced to 99½c and closed there, a gain of 1c over yesterday. May wheat opened late at $1.02½, advanced to $1.03⅛ and closed there, a gain of ¾c over yesterday.

Durum closed 1⅜c higher.

Flax was nervous, with distinct bullish tendencies, closing three points over yesterday. October flax opened ½c lower at $1.43, declined to $1.42½, advanced to $1.47 and closed at $1.46½, a gain of 3c over yesterday. November flax opened ½c lower at $1.43, declined to $1.42½, rallied to $1.47½ and closed at $1.46½, a gain of 3c over yesterday. December flax advanced from $1.39½ to $1.44 and closed there, a gain of 3¾c over yesterday. May flax opened at $1.44½ and closed at $1.48¼, a gain of 3c.

Oats closed ¼c lower and rye 1c higher.

Following are the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard on track, $1.02¾. To arrive: No. 1 northern, $1.01¾; No. 2 northern, 99¾c. On track: No. 1 northern, $1.01¾; No. 2 northern, 99¾c; October, $1.00½; December, 99½c; May, $1.03. Durum on track: No. 1, 87⅞c; No. 2, 85⅞c; October durum, 87⅜c; November durum, 87⅝c; December durum, 86c; May durum, 89c. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Demand From Commisison Houses Makes Wheat Open Strong.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Owing to general demand from commission houses, the wheat market was strong during early trading today. Although an advance of ½@¾d in the price of wheat at Liverpool had some effect, a moderate decrease in stocks at Minneapolis during the last four days, notwithstanding the continued enormous receipts there, was the principal incentive to buy options here.

Wheat prices at the opening were ⅛@⅜c higher, December being at $1.01⅛@1.01⅜. Early in the day December advanced to $1.01½@1.01⅝ on light offerings.

The market gained strength in the late dealings. On trading supposed to be for a leading short, December advanced to $1.02⅛. The close was strong, with December up ¾@⅞c at $1.01¾@1.01⅞c.

In corn, buying based on smaller receipts than had been estimated, caused firmness at the start, but an easier tone soon developed on selling prompted by ideal weather condition for the maturing of the new crop.

December, which opened at 57½c, sold at 57⅝@57¾c within the first few minutes, but declined later to 57¼@57⅜c.

Owing to an improved demand for cash grain, the market recovered the early loss. The close was steady, with December a shade higher at 57½c.

Oats opened firm with wheat and corn, but soon became weak on profit-taking. December opened unchanged at 39¼c, sold up to 39⅜c and then reacted to 39c.

Provisions were weak owing to a 5@10c decline in live hogs. Local packers led in the selling movement. Prices at the opening were 2½@10c lower.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Spot Wheat Demand Makes the Options Strong.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 6.—Wheat was very strong today. The strength of the market was due principally to the big demand for the spot wheat at the prevailing premiums. December opened ⅛c higher than yesterday, and after fluctuating in a range of 1c from low, closed ⅝@¾c above the opening. May showed corresponding strength. Speculative interest was light, trading being confined almost wholly to the professionals. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 15,000 bu for four days. The movement to primary markets was favorable. Minneapolis received 509 cars against 715 a year ago; Duluth, 620 cars against 403, and Winnipeg, 561 cars against 548. December opened 98⅝c; high, 99½@99⅝c; low, 98⅝c; close, 99¼@99⅜c. May opened $1.02½; high, $1.03@1.03⅛; low, $1.02¼; close, $1.02⅝@1.02¾.

Cash wheat was about steady with yesterday. No. 1 northern sold for 2@2¼c over December option, and No. 2 northern for the even near contract to ¼c above. Country mills bought very little, the big local mills being the leading buyers. One local elevator bought a small amount at the low price. Closing prices on track: No. 1 northern spot, $1.01; to arrive, $1.01¼; No. 2 northern spot, 99c; to arrive, 99¼c; No. 3 wheat, 97@98c; No. 3 yellow corn, 56¼@56¾c; No. 3 white oats, 36½@36¾c; No. 2 rye, 67¼@67¾c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,871 tons. The market continued unchanged. Demand was strong and in excess of the supply, shipments heavy and prices firm. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $19.50.

Domestic demand for flour continued active and firm. Local mills are behind with their orders and are running full capacity in an endeavor to catch up. Shipments were heavy and prices firm. Shipments, 91,923 barrels. First patents, $5.20@5.30; second patents, $5.00@5.10; first clears, $4.35@4.50; second clears, $3.10@3.30.

Flax—Receipts, 24 cars; a year ago, 47 cars; shipments, 7 cars. The market was about steady today. Demand continued for both spot and to arrive at the Duluth October price. Closing price, $41.46.

Barley—Receipts, 160 cars; a year ago, 79 cars; shipments, 106 cars. There was a firmer tone to today's market and several sales were reported at prices about 1c higher than yesterday. Demand was good for all grades. Receipts heavy. Closing range, 43@58c.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

United States Steel Was Main Point of Selling Attack.

All the Chief Stocks Lost Ground, But Close Was Firm.

New York, Oct. 6.—There were a few small gains registered in the opening dealings in stocks today, but prices were lower in most cases. United States Steel opened with sales of 18,000 shares at 89¾ to 89, compared with 90¼ yesterday. The preferred was also down ¾. Missouri Pacific lost 1 and Chicago Great Western certificates and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie large fractions. United States Realty advanced 1.

Opening prices were the lowest made during the first hour, buying orders making their appearance in abundance on the decline, which sent prices above yesterday's closing. United States Steel was lifted to 90½ and there was also a continuance of the recent strength in Erie and New York Central. Some stocks wavered a bit when the realizing sales began to appear, but the market was disengaging at 11 o'clock.

Atchison stiffened a fraction on the announcement of the dividend increase, but United States Steel was pushed for sale again to take advantage of the effect and brought back to 89. Union Pacific, Atchison, St. Paul and United States Steel preferred suffered losses of a point, Pacific Telephone and United States Rubber 1¼ and Vulcan Detinning 2. There were fractional rallies afterwards. Bonds were irregular.

Some of the recoveries in the railroad section reached a point, notably for Union Pacific, but United States Steel and other metal stocks did not make much headway.

The heaviness of the industrials invited renewed selling around 1 o'clock, in which United States Steel broke to 88⅛, or 2 points under yesterday's final price. Other stocks went off rapidly to their low figures. Reading, American Smelting, American Locomotive, National Biscuit and International Paper yielded a point, Amalgamated 1¼ and St. Louis Southwestern 1½.

The market was subjected to another vigorous selling movement, in which all of the representative stocks lost considerable ground. United States Steel was the main point of attack and dropped to 87½. The heavy selling of this stock yesterday and today had a damaging effect on the whole market. At the low point there was buying for both accounts all around and the principal stocks moved up a good fraction. Pacific Telephone was driven down 3⅝, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis 2½, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie 2, Union Pacific and Delaware & Hudson 1¾, and New York Central 1¼.

The market closed firm and active. The bears set about covering their shorts. Full recoveries were not unusual in this process, and United States Steel rallied 1¾. Central Leather rose 2 over last night, and Consolidated Gas 1.

New York stock quotations furnished The Herald by Piper, Johnson & Case.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Oct. 6.—Chiefly in consequence of pronounced weakness at Liverpool, the cotton market opened barely steady, 9@13 points lower, and continued to decline. Other factors were heavy receipts and fine weather over practically the entire cotton belt. Trading was very heavy, with the South a seller and Liverpool selling March and May here. Later in the first hour the market was feverish and 11@15 points lower.

Spot, closed quiet, 10 points lower; middling uplands, 13.30; middling gulf, 13.55; sales, 817 bales. Futures closed firm. WEDNESDAY, OCT, 6, 1909.

The Scotts are the best buys in this country today, and some of you stand around and watch the outside take this stock away from you at these low prices. One thousand shares of Scott may make you independent for life. Why should not these shares sell at $50? You cannot show me one reason why they should not. Look at Tuolumne, now $4.50, and 800,000 shares out. At this rate it would mean almost $37 for Scott, which has only 100,000 shares issued.

Tuolumne is striking it rich, Butte-Alex Scott is striking it rich and Ballaklava is also striking it rich. To sum the whole matter up, every independent mine on Butte Hill is striking it rich. What else could you expect, for is not Butte Hill the richest hill in the world? In thirty-five years of mining they have not missed it in one place on the hill. A man does not have to know very much to see this if he only takes the time to visit Butte, Mont.

We have one of the greatest mines in Butte, Mont., and none of the others can show you one better. The ledges running through the Scott are some of the biggest on Butte Hill and the Minnie Henly made big money from one of the veins. Look at the High Ore above us, and the great Leonard, which was the one the president of the United States was taken down into. Have we good neighbors? Well, I guess yes, and they are working the same veins that the Alex Scott company is now mining ore from. We can use over 3,000 shares of part paid at $5 a share. Butte, Mont., is now a heavy bidder for these shares. Pittsburg is also in the market, and it looks reasonable for us to see this issue selling at $35 or $40 a share this fall. It goes fast after you begin showing up the high-grade ore on Butte Hill.

Do not overlook St. Mary's stock. This mine is located right near the great Red Warrior mine in the Salt Lake district. When news is received from this property to the effect that they have struck good ore, the shares should easily advance to 90 or 95 cents a share.

Buy Ballaklava, for it is a cinch. I know much about this property, and let me tell you one thing, they do not make them any better.

Calumet & Montana is looking very good; stock is hard to buy. It is sure to sell much higher.

TAFT TAKES SOME REST

Goes to the Yosemite to Spend a Few Quiet Days.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 6.—After a few hours' rest, following a strenuous night of banqueting and receptions, President Taft departed early today for a few days of real rest in Yosemite valley.

In spite of his great strength, the president was a very weary man when, after eighteen hours of almost constant entertainment, he retired at 2 o'clock this morning.

One of the features of the visit here was the banquet at the Fairmont hotel. Governor Gillett, in an address, urged the maintenance on the Pacific coast of a fleet of at least sixteen battleships. He said:

RAISE DIVIDEND OF THE SANTA FE

Directors Also Elect T. De Witt Cuyler to Late H. H. Rogers' Seat.

New York, Oct. 6.—The directors of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad today declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent on the common stock. This is an increase of ½ per cent over the last previous semi-annual dividend. It was announced that the dividend will be declared quarterly instead of semi-annually.

T. Dewitt Cuyler of Philadelphia was elected a director in place of the late H. H. Rogers. Mr. Cuyler also is a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

COME TO TERMS ON RAISIN WINE

Government Officials and Distillers Have Conference in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—After a conference today between the government officials and representatives of distilling interests, it was decided that the bill of H. H. Schefeldt & Co., praying an injunction against the collection of a revenue tax on the manufacture of raisin wine, would be dismissed.

The internal revenue officials, against whom a temporary injunction had been issued, were assured that the large distillers would work in harmony with them. Under the revenue regulations there is no tax on the manufacture of wine. What is known to the trade as "raisin wine" is a fermentation of glucose and raisins which, it is alleged, enters into the manufacture of sweet cordials as a substitute for distilled alcohol, which is subject to the tax. The government action was intended to prevent the illicit production of alcohol.

Butte-Ballaklava, Butte-Alex Scott and Tuolumne all firm with a gradually advancing tendency. Butte-Ballaklava commences their regular shipments today. They have opened up some rich copper glance on the 1,400-foot level, 1,200-foot level, 1,000-foot level, and they have high grade ore on the 700-foot level, 500-foot level and the 100-foot level. The stock is now selling at one-third its intrinsic value, and that the advance from this time on will be rapid, is as sure as the sun will rise in the east each day all of next week.

Alex Scott is selling for less than one-half its intrinsic value, and what it is worth at the mine on the present showing. Without one dollar's worth of development work, or a nickel's worth of machinery, the property alone is worth much more than it is selling for, on its location. You cannot buy one acre of ground within 1,500 feet of the Alex Scott for $1,000,000.

St. Mary's is without a doubt one of the most popular of the lower priced issues. The breadth of the market on this issue is little short of phenomenal. We had orders today on St. Mary's from New York state, Iowa, North Dakota and Ohio. This stock is going into strong hands, and like Calumet & Montana will surprise the natives before the year is out.

SUIT ANSWERED BY GUGGENHEIM

He Says Divorced Wife Is Only Trying to Extort Money.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—An answer was filed in the circuit court here today by William Guggenheim, a member of the well-known New York family, to a suit brought last June to dissolve the decree of divorce granted his former wife, Grace B. Guggenheim, in 1901.

In the answer the charge is made that the present suit was brought by the former Mrs. Guggenheim in the hope of extorting a large sum of money from Guggenheim, and sets forth that the court has no right to annul the decree now, five years after the divorce was granted.

TELLS ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE HIS MIND.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 6.—William Kent, independent candidate for governor of Virginia, replying to the interrogatories regarding his attitude upon the temperance question asked by the state Anti-Saloon league, says he is in entire sympathy with the movement "to the end that temperance may be promoted among the people," but denies the right of the league's president, Henry Pearce Atkins, to catechise him regarding temperance legislation other than that adopted and advocated by the league.

RETURNED TO PRISON.

Two Discharged Convicts Are Sent Up on Another Charge.

Grand Rapids, Wis., Oct. 6.—Thomas Hanlon and James Norton, who were brought back to Wautoma from the federal prison at Leavenworth, where they had served four years for robbing the Wild Rose postoffice, were sentenced by Judge Charles M. Webb of this city yesterday to a term of one year at Waupun, having pleaded guilty to attempting to rob the Wild Rose bank at the same time they robbed the postoffice.

Both Hanlon and Norton are cripples. One of them was shot in the leg by a member of the posse that captured them soon after the robbery, and a stone fell on the foot of the other when he was at work as a mason in the Leavenworth prison.

CROP RIPENS QUICKLY.

Fair Yield Harvested Sixty Days After Seeding.

Gardena, N. D., Oct. 6.—The farm of Otto Brandt, living five miles south of Gardena, was in a strip devastated by a hail storm June 22. He immediately plowed and reseeded, and has just finished thrashing his crop, which averaged eleven bushels an acre. Just sixty-two days elapsed from the time the ground was reseeded until the crop was harvested on Aug. 24.

THRESHING BOSS GONE.

Several of His Helpers Looking for John T. Olson.

Anamoose, N. D., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A crew of threshers are engaged in a search for John T. Olson, their threshing boss, who has suddenly left for unknown parts. The threshing hands have sums of money ranging from $50 to $75 coming from Olson, and for that reason they are particularly anxious to locate him.

Olson had been operating a threshing machine here during the fall and at the close of operations Saturday made collections from the farmers he had threshed for. He succeeded in securing about $1,000 of the collections and immediately skipped out. A warrant, it is understood, has been issued for his arrest, but as yet he has not been captured.

ARRESTS WRONG MAN.

Real Culprit in Meantime Escapes, Being Finally Taken.

Bowbells, N. D., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herbert Fuson, for whom the Ward county authorities were searching and for whom John Howell, a thresher near here, was mistaken, was arrested at Halbrite, Sask., by Detective Puckett, who arrived here just after Howell's arrest. Fuson was wanted for rape in the first degree. The warrant had been placed in the hands of the Ward county officials, but the deputy made a mistake in his man, and while he was arresting Howell the real culprit made his escape from the farm on which he was working with Howell.

ROAD PERFECTS TITLE.

Believed Great Northern Will Boom New Rockford, N. D.

New Rockford, N. D., Oct. 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern Railroad company, which recently secured options on considerable property in this district, has just perfected its title to the land, taking up all the options held. The options were secured to run thirty days from the time they were dated.

New Rockford hopes to become an important division point on the new Great Northern cut-off, as the company has secured considerable property near here. In anticipation of the coming of the railroads, a new addition to the city will be opened shortly, extending towards the Great Northern property.

A FEW YEARS SPENT IN THE NAVY are years of valuable experience. Habits of regularity are formed. Healthy exercise, regular drills and growing responsibility develop quickness and self reliance. Many large employers prefer men who have had naval training because more capable and efficient. Young men with mechanical knowledge have greater opportunities. They master their trade instead of being mere helpers. Go to a recruiting office and learn about the fine chances in the different branches of the service to save money, the hours of duty, cruises, sports, promotion, etc. You are not urged to enlist. Individuality will be developed, not suppressed, in the navy. Ask any one in the service about it. The navy hanger in postoffice and navy posters will give you an idea of the appearance of a bluejacket. Apply at Navy Recruiting office, Postoffice building, Minneapolis, Minn.

THROW DOWN GAUNTLET TO THE COMMISSIONERS

Range Residents Want a Courthouse or County Division.

Virginia Men Demand $250,000 Building for Range Town.

Attorney for the Board Finds No Authority to Build It.

When William J. Stevenson, special counsel for the county board, poured cold water on the plan of range people to secure the expenditure of about $250,000 for a courthouse at Virginia, A. C. Osborn, president of the city council of Virginia, threw down the gauntlet to the county commissioners at their meeting this morning. After a long discussion the matter was laid on the table.

"We are doing this to head off county division," he said. "We want the board to do what is right—that or nothing. If we don't get what is right, we will start county division and will get it."

The contention that nothing but discrimination against the range could be offered as an obstacle to the erection of the building, was advanced by Attorney N. B. Arnold of Virginia. Mr. Stevenson wanted to know where the authority of law could be found that would give the county commissioners the right to erect such a building as that suggested.

"If we were to buy twenty-six lots for a courthouse at Virginia, the purchase might be enjoined as an outrageous expenditure of the people's money," Mr. Stevenson said.

"If you were to buy one lot for a courthouse on the range, it might be enjoined as an outrageous expenditure for the range," replied Mr. Arnold.

Wants To Be Shown.

Mr. Stevenson wanted to be shown the law. He said he was willing to be informed, but as far as he could find the only authority given the board to build at Virginia is in the law creating the range district court, which provides, "that the county shall provide adequate accommodations for the holding of court, and offices for the deputy sheriff and deputy clerk." By no construction, he said, could the phrase, "adequate accommodations," as applied to the district court, be construed to authorize the purchase of

TAFT TO SEE BIG GROVE

Will Spend Three Days Without Having to Make a Speech.

President Is Resting on Western Slope of the Sierras.

El Portal, Cal., Oct. 7.—In the wilderness of the Western slope of th Sierras, away from the crowds and necessity of speech-making, President Taft traveled by stage coach today toward the wonderful Mariposa grove of big trees. It is an eight-hour ride to Wawona, where the party will spend the night at a lonely tavern on the outskirts of the Yosemite valley before starting Friday morning to penetrate the Mariposa grove.

The president and his party left the terminal station of the Yosemite Valley railroad at 7 a. m. The little settlement of Chinquaplm was selected as the place of luncheon. The schedule time of arrival at Wawona was between 4 and 5.

The respite from the great crowds, the bracing mountain air, breathed amid a scenic environment declared

TRADES ASSEMBLY WILL PROBABLY LOSE CHARTER

Unions Supporting the Electricians May Also Be Disciplined.

Result May Be Two Trades Assemblies in Duluth.

Although it is unlikely that the attitude of the American Federation of Labor toward the Duluth Federated Trades assembly, as a result of the assembly's action in reinstating members of electrician's unions, which is at outs with the federation, will be known at the assembly meeting tomorrow night, union men are speculating as to what the outcome of the trouble will be.

Most of them are of the opinion that the Duluth assembly will undoubtedly lose its charter in the American Federation but they are not sure what the ultimate effect upon the local unions, individually, will be.

The local electricians' union is part of a dissenting faction of the international organization which has broken away from the American Federation. By its action in restoring the electrical representatives to full rights in the body, the Duluth assembly invites a revocation of its federation charter. Now the question is: Will the American Federation, through the various international unions, try to discipline the individual Duluth unions which are supporting the seceding electricians?

This question is by far the most interesting one that presents itself in the fog that has arisen from the original strife among the electrical workers.

A month ago the Duluth trades assembly decided to unseat the electricians' delegates because of their de-

Armed Men Arrest Six Federal Officials at Mahnomen.

Attempt to Enforce Lid on Reservation Is Halted.

Mahnomen, Minn., Oct. 7.—Armed citizens of this place brought to a sudden end yesterday, the efforts of William E. Johnson, inspector of the department of the interior, and five assistants, to close the saloons of the White Earth Indian reservation, in accordance with the government prohibition order issued thirty days ago.

The government officials went into a saloon and began to break the liquor bottles, when the armed posse arrived, and getting the "drop" on the officials, put them all under arrest. E. S. Oakly, assistant United States district attorney, came from St. Paul to secure their release.

Before arriving in Mahnomen, the federal officials succeeded in closing the saloons in several of the other smaller towns. The recent order to

SAYS SISTER DID NOT SEE DUKE

Katherine Elkins Is Accompanied By Brother on Her Return From Europe.

New York, Oct. 7.—Miss Katherine Elkins arrived today on the White Star liner Adriatic after a stay of several weeks in Europe during which it has been asserted and denied that she had met the duke of the Abruzzi, to whom at one time she was reported to be engaged. It was reported at the same time that royal objections to the match had been withdrawn, and that Miss Elkins was the sole dictator.

With Miss Elkins were her mother and her two brothers, Stephen and Davis. The latter was asked:

"Is your sister engaged to be married to the duke?"

"So far as I know she is not," was the reply.

Mr. Elkins added that if his sister and Abruzzi had met he did not know of it. He added also that he did not believe they had.

Some photographers endeavored to get a picture of Miss Elkins, but her brothers and some friends crowded around her to prevent it. Senator Elkins remarked that his daughter had been driven almost to distraction by the reports that have been printed about her. She has the appearance of having been through much mental strain.

LOWRY'S ESTATE IS $177,035.56

Late Magnate Found to Own But Little Stock in Companies.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A complete inventory of the estate of Thomas Lowry, filed in probate court by the official appraisers, Walter A. Eggleston and A. R. Taylor, shows the property to be worth $177,037.56. This is $2,000 more than the estimate made when the will was filed last May by the executors. Calvin Goodrich, Mrs. Lowry and Horace Lowry.

Mr. Lowry's real estate holdings, as shown by the appraisement, were all in Duluth, the Minneapolis holdings having been disposed of before his death. The Duluth property is valued at $50,000, and consists of improved and unimproved residence lots.

Held Little Stock.

The inventory shows a complete ownership in but six shares of the Twin City Rapid Transit company stock, although his interest in several thousand shares held by Eastern firms was large. His interest in 3,300 shares held by Hayden, Stone & Co. of Boston is valued at $70,028.51, and his interest in 2,721 shares held by J. H. Davis & Co. of New York at $54,650.

Mr. Lowry's holdings in the Soo road, of which he was the president, are listed as seven shares of stock, worth $1,057.

The only other property mentioned is cash in the Northwestern National bank, amounting to $251.73, a deposit of $250 in the Security National bank and a mortgage worth $250.

BIG FUND TO BE RAISED FOR FIGHT

Four Duluth Jobbers Head the Subscription List With $10,000.

Commercial Club Committee Starts Out to Raise Equal Amount.

Investigation Lasting Two Years Brings Out Many Discriminations.

After years of taking whatever the railroads chose to hand them, the jobbers and business men of Duluth have at last been aroused to the fact that the city is being throttled by rate discriminations, and a fund of $20,000 will be raised, two-thirds of which will be used in fighting to secure the city's rights in the matter of railroad rates. Of this sum $10,000 has already been subscribed by the four large wholesale houses of Marshall-Wells company, the F. A. Patrick company, the Stone-Ordean-Wells company and the Kelly-How-Thomson company. The finance sub-committee of the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club will start out today to raise the remaining $10,000. One-third of the total amount of $20,000 will go to pay the year's expenses of the public affairs committee, and carry on the work in which it is engaged, and the remaining two-thirds will be used to fight for fair and equitable rates, the money being expended by a sub-committee of the public affairs committee, the chairman of which will be named by the four jobbing houses which donated half of the sum.

The Jobbers' Offer.

All of this was decided upon at the meeting of the public affairs committee held last evening, when the following letter was received and read by Chairman T. W. Hugo:

"To the Public Affairs Committee, Duluth Commercial Club:

"Gentlemen:—We, the undersigned jobbers and manufacturers of the city of Duluth, being deeply interested in the future welfare and development of this city and the territory tribu-

Albert Schulz Meets Instant Death While Stealing a Ride.

Car Was Coming Down on Last Trip for Night.

Albert Schulz, 27 years old, of 210 West Fourteenth street, was killed last night at the foot of the incline railway, Seventh avenue west and Superior street, while trying to steal a ride to his home.

The car had made its last trip to the top of the hill, and the dummy on the other track, which acts as a counterweight, was at the bottom. Schulz attempted to go up on the dummy as the car was coming down to lay up for the night.

But he had only gone a few feet when the fatal accident occurred. James De Santo, proprietor of the candy store, heard his yells and ran, to find him lying on the ground with his back broken. He lived but a few minutes.

De Santo notified Lieut. Fritz at police headquarters, and after summoning the coroner, the body was taken to the undertaking rooms of Durkan & Crawford. No one saw the accident, so the exact manner in which it occurred will probably never be ascertained.

Before making the attempt to get the free ride which cost him his life, Schulz told De Santo of his intentions.

"Better not try it," De santo said to him. "It's pretty dangerous."

"Oh, that's nothing," Schulz is said to have answered. "I've gone up many times before." That was the last seen of him alive.

RHODE ISLANDERS AFTER ALDRICH

Democrats Adopt Platform Declaring Against the Senior Senator.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 7.—The state Democratic convention today adopted a platform which condemns the Aldrich tariff law as the most outrageous and unfair tariff ever enacted by an American congress. It demands the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, a system under which, the resolution declares, "Nelson W. Aldrich would not be returned to the senate from this state."

The vote of every Democratic member of the incoming general assembly is pledged in support of the income tax amendment to the national constitution.

The larger portion of the platform is devoted to the alleged domination of state affairs through the Republican organization reputed to be controlled by Gen. Charles R. Brayton.

State Held Up to Scorn.

"So absolutely and acknowledged is this boss-ship of the state," the platform asserts, "that Rhode Island has been held up to scorn and ridicule and its citizenship derided throughout our whole country."

The remedy is held to be a revision of the state constitution.

A Republican plan of redistricting the state is denounced as a scheme to "fix upon this state for the rest of his life the absolute domination of Charles R. Brayton without any hope of better things, and upon his death to pass this domination over to some other Republican boss who makes a business of politics."

NEWSPAPERS ARE IGNORING CHOLERA.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 7.—The cholera epidemic in St. Petersburg continues. The cases average thirty a day, but the newspapers no longer pay any attention to the subject. NEW HOTEL TO BE BUILT Five-Story Structure Planned for Sixth Avenue West Corner.

J. J. Wagenstein Is Preparing the Plans for L. S. Loeb.

Duluth will have another first-class hotel.

It is to be located on the southeast corner of Superior street and Sixth avenue west. The cost will be $35,000 and the owners are L. S. Loeb & Co.

The plans for the structure are being prepared by J. J. Wangenstein, the architect, and they will soon be submitted to the owners for their approval.

The building will be modern throughout. It will have a frontage of fifty feet on Superior street and sixty-five feet on Sixth avenue. It will be five floors in height and built with a view of increasing the number of floors as the growth of business demands. At first the brick structure fronting on Michigan street will be allowed to stand, but later an addition will be built so that the structure will extend to Michigan street.

Brick will be used in the construction of the building, the main entrance of which will be on Sixth avenue or directly across from the new Soo depot.

There are to be several stores on the ground floor.

The ground was purchased some time ago by Mr. Loeb, who at that time stated that it was purchased for investment purposes.

Already there are several applications by persons who wish to lease the property and conduct a hotel business. Work will be started as soon as the plans have been approved.

The ground is at present occupied by a clothing store and saloon. The new structure will greatly improve the looks of the corner and further the movement of wiping out the old unsightly Bowery.

President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific says that increasing business in the Northwest makes it imperative that considerable more double tracking be done and that the running time of passenger trains between St. Paul and the Pacific coast must be lowered.

The Northern Pacific has now under way or planned for the next few months new double tracks aggregating 131 miles. When this is completed the system will have a total of between 600 and 700 miles of second track.

"We are giving especial attention to maintenance," said Mr. Elliott, "although the property is now in such excellent condition that the maintenance can be kept up with lower expenditures than formerly was the case. When I became president of this company the line was laid with seventy-pound rails, and by the end of this year, 1909-10, the whole system will have been relaid with a heavier rail.

"The Northwest is thriving, business is excellent now and the prospects are the best."

At a meeting of the board of directors held the early part of last October, when results for last year were laid before the board, an extra salary bonus of $20,000 was voted Mr. Elliott as an appreciation of his management. This is the annual custom when earnings are up to or over a certain standard.

The annual stockholders' meeting was purely formal, with only about a dozen present, and most of these officers. The five directors whose terms expired were re-elected. Three of these were Morgan representatives on the board, J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., George W. Perkins and Charles Steele. The other two were Howard Elliott and Lewis Cass Ledyard. There were voted a total of 1,664,164 shares.

MAY REACH A MILLION

October Building Promises to Break All Records for City.

Permits Already Issued for Nearly $500,000 Worth of Work.

October promises to be the banner building month in Duluth, indications being that the records at the office of the building inspector will nearly reach, if not exceed, the $1,000,000 mark.

Already permits have been issued for half that amount, and the inspector knows of another list of buildings, representing improvements costing about $250,000, for which permits will likely be issued.

The record has never been as high as this since the city was started. Whether the full million is reached or not, there is little doubt that every previous record for a single month will be smashed by a big percentage.

Among the buildings for which permits are expected are: The orphanage at Woodland, $100,000; Wisconsin Central depot, $75,000; Sherwood building, Third avenue west and First street, $60,000; Prindle building, Superior street between Lake avenue and First avenue west, $18,000; Capt. McDougall's residence, $10,000; Catholic school on Fourth street, $50,000.

The permit for the Alworth building, near Third avenue west and Superior street, issued yesterday afternoon, shows a single item for $400,000. Permits for miscellaneous improvements amounting to over $60,000 are now on the books.

NORTH DAKOTANS EATING DURUM

Celebration Asked for By Grain Growers Is Generally Observed.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—In compliance with a proclamation of Governor Burke, North Dakotans today are eating durum wheat only. The proclamation was issued in compliance with a request of the grain growers of North and South Dakota and Minnesota for the purpose of establishing durum as a bread wheat.

The day is being generally observed throughout the state. All bread and wheat foods are being made of durum, and the sales of that quality of flour have been heavy in consequence.

Widespread interest has been taken by the farmers in pushing the sale of durum, as with the price equal to that of other varieties of wheat, the income from their land would be much increased. A test today shows it is equal to standard hard varieties for bread and other products.

JUDGES NAVY BY CARE OF INJURED

Japanese Surgeon Addresses Convention of Military Medical Men.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The Association of Military Surgeons of the United States today laid aside its program and heard Surgeon Inspector Bunzo Tomatsuri of the Japanese navy explain his views upon the progressive methods that should be adopted in promoting the efficiency of the medical service of a modern navy.

The surgeon inspector, whose presence here was incident to his visit to the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York, called forth repeated applause as he developed a theory that naval vessels should be designed to care for the injured in times of conflict as well as to bring their fighting qualities up to the highest point of efficiency. Indeed, he maintained that on the ability of the medical officers to handle the injured promptly and efficently during active hostilities, the efficiency of the modern dreadnought depended as much as on the resistence of the armor and the penetration power of the guns.

He emphasized the necessity of providing ladders and elevators at convenient places on board vessels for the rapid removal of the injured to places where proper care could be given.

HELP FOR REDMOND.

Duluth Irishmen Will Aid Irish Leader in British Commons.

A regular meeting of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians was held last evening in the cathedral hall. After the regular business had been transacted the society adopted strong resolutions indorsing John Redmond, the leader of the Irish parliament and his colleagues in their work for Ireland and pledging them their heavy support, moral and financial, in their efforts to wrest from the British commons a home rule bill for Ireland. The members have always taken an active interest in Irish affairs and according to today's telegraph dispatches, John Redmond will send to the United States T P. O'Connor to plead with Irishmen in this country for assistance in the coming struggle.

GERMANY WILL ASK FOR $125,000,000.

Berlin, Oct. 7.—To cover deficits, the imperial government ask for a loan of $125,000,000 in the beginning of 1910, so the Tageblatt says today. This accounts, according to the newspaper, for the recent tendency to sell imperial issues on the bourse.

SEVEN MEN HURT IN NEW JERSEY COLLISION.

NEW CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Duluth Athletic Club Leases Old Commercial Club Quarters.

Starts With 200 Members—Will Father Amateur Sport.

Plans were completed today for the organization here of one of the finest athletic organizations in the Northwest.

The organization will be known as the Duluth Athletic club, and the quarters will be in the old Duluth Commercial club rooms. H. E. McCollom is the man who has completed the plans that will give this city a progressive and hustling club.

For the past two weeks, as stated in The Herald previously, negotiations have been going on for the securing of the quarters recently vacated by the Commercial club. The matter has been pending for some time, but today Mr. McCollom completed arrangements for the lease of the building for a term of years, and will immediately proceed with the formation of the club.

There are nearly 200 members secured at the present time. In fact the membership list is nearly filled. While the negotiations for the securing of the quarters were going on, Mr. McCollom was receiving memberships from men who wanted to see the formation of a club here.

The advisory board of the club will be composed of Dr. G. H. Jones, E. P. Alexander, Ray W. Higgins, F. E. Brooks, Elmer Whyte and C. E. Haines. The object of the organization will be the promotion of clean athletic events, as well as to provide a first class and up-to-date gymnasium for its members.

The quarters in the Manhattan building will give the club a space of 50 by 115 feet, with a very high ceiling to the gymnasium and locker rooms. Modern apparatus will be installed and the gymnasium will be made one of the most modern in this part of the Northwest.

It is the idea of Mr. McCollom to have a competent instructor, both for wrestling and boxing. All clean sports will be encouraged by the directors of the organization.

Work on the remodeling of the old club quarters will be started at once. It is the plan of Mr. McCollom to have the gymnasium ready for the members of the club within two or three weeks. The organization of the club, backed by men of the highest standing in the city, will prove a boom for amateur athletics in Duluth.

MISTAKES OF DAN CUPID

Judge Cant Busy Untying Marriage Ties That Chafe.

Three Wives Are Freed From Husbands Who Were Unworthy.

Judge Cant, in district court this morning, was busy repairing the havoc wrought by the poor aim of the little blind god. Three wives were freed from the bonds that bound them to husbands who were unworthy. Yesterday afternoon one wife was granted a divorce. One case was held up yesterday afternoon for further evidence, and the same disposition was made of a case this morning.

Emma M. Irion, 32 years old, and William C. Irion, 42 years old, were married June 20, 1899, at Buffalo, N. Y. Irion deserted April 27, 1907, and has not been heard of since. Mrs. Irion was granted her plea.

Clara V. Lees, aged 26, and Thomas A. Lees, aged 27, were married at Saginaw, Mich., July 26, 1904. He deserted Feb. 25, 1908, while they were living at Mountain Iron. She also charged that he was an habitual drunkard. She was granted a decree and the custody of the three children, who range from 1 to 4 years.

Frieda Kohout from Joseph Kohout yesterday afternoon on the ground of desertion, and Estella Peterson was freed from Charles R. Peterson this morning on account of drunkenness and non-support.

Fred Anderson's dream of married bliss was short. He and Lulu Murphy Anderson were married in June, 1907 in Duluth. In March of the following year, when he secured a position in Minneapolis, she refused to accompany him there. He returned to Duluth and secured a position, but he said she has since refused to live with him. She went home to mother and stayed there, he said. The case was also held up for further evidence. He is 25 years old and she is 24.

ENGLAND NOT HELPING SPAIN

Foreign Office at London Officially Denies Report of Agreement.

Spanish Deputy Says Government of King Alfonso Is Doomed.

London, Oct. 7.—The reports current on the continent that Great Britain is supporting Spain in any scheme of aggrandizement at the expense of Morocco were declared at the foreign office today to be without foundation. Foreign office officials say they had no reason to believe that the Spanish government contemplated the occupation of Tetuan or any other considerable portion of Moorish territory, or of otherwise acting contrary to treaty obligations.

Predicts a Revolution.

Paris, Oct. 7.—The Spanish ambassador to France, the Marquis del Muni, has again formally assured Foreign Minister Pinchon that Spain has no intention of departing from the original program regarding Morocco, as communicated to the powers.

Alexajandro Leroux, member of the Spanish chamber of deputies and leader of the Barcelona Republicans, who is now returning to Spain for the opening of the cortes after two years spent in exile because of his bitter denunciation of the government, declared in an interview in Paris today that all the Liberal elements in Spain were concentrating, and that a revolution was not only possible, but necessary and easy.

He said he was convinced that although Ferrer was not directly responsible for the rioting in Barcelona last July, Ferrer would be condemned to be shot, as was Garcia, because the clerical reaction has the upper hand and is determined to put an end to lay education.

Says King Is Weak.

Leroux is of the opinion that King Alfonso is weak and without prestige, except with the army, and that the monarchy is irretrievably doomed. According to Leroux, the only way to save Ferrer is through international agitation in favor of a public trial.

The French Socialists are calling meetings throughout the republic to protest against the Spanish repression.

Moors Open Fight.

Melilla, Oct. 7.—The searchlights on the fortifications of the city last night disclosed several groups of Moors hidden among the cactus in the surrounding country. When they were discovered the Moors opened a hot fire, to which the Spaniards responded with artillery and rifle volleys. The Spaniards drove the enemy off after half an hour's fighting.

CHANGES IN THE CHINESE.

Western Education Sought—Less Trust Put in Foreigners.

An American missionary in China, Dr. J. B. Fearn, has recently discussed before the Shanghai Missionary association the changes which are occurring in the Chinese as individuals.

He is quoted in the Journal of the American Asiatic association as saying that all our mission institutes of learning in that country are crowded.

"Ten or twelve years ago," he says, "to get a full school it was necessary to furnish everything free; in some cases even the clothing. Even then the pupils felt as though they were conferring more or less of a favor on the foreign educator by allowing themselves to be taught from Western books.

"How different it is now! Large colleges full of students who gladly pay all their expenses, which in some cases is no small sum, and many perhaps who would be willing to pay twice the amount for what they now realize in their changed mental condition to be true education.

"Go back ten years and call to mind the little group of boys in a small room memorizing the Chinese character with absolutely no idea as to its meaning—that would come later—any lack of zeal in their studies being evinced by a slight lull in the pandemonium, which was immediately corrected by a sharp rap on the table and a fierce glare from the teacher.

"At present there is a trained teacher who in our mission schools at least knows his business. The students are busy with such studies as are claiming the attention of schoolboys in the home land. The room is well kept, well ventilated and the pupils are orderly. A certain amount of military discipline is evident, not to prepare for war but to teach unity of purpose and action.

"This change has brought new methods of examination for official preferment. Thus we see that the change in the individual Chinese has brought about a change in the entire educational system of this enormous empire.

"When we come to note the change in the social life of the Chinese we do not find such a wide field as in the above, largely due to the fact that their social system satisfies them and is adequate for their purposes. What change there is is seen more in the manner of giving expression to this side of their nature than any real change in the fibre of their social system.

"They still have their clubs or guilds, where the members meet to discuss their business or engage in some game—usually of chance. In ports they meet around a foreign 'spread' instead of their native feast. They drink the wine common to foreigners instead of the famous wine of Shaohsing.

"Man and wife are more frequently seen together in public places, though quite often as they walk the streets together the man will be about three feet ahead of his wife, with an expression upon his face as though he were doing something wrong and feared being arrested. In other cases their appearance is quite natural and in many cases the man is quite attentive."

Another example of the change going on is, according to Dr. Fearn, the desire expressed in many quarters for a new marriage ceremony. "Years ago," he says, "it was difficult to get even our converts to use the church form." Now the missionaries are asked by unconverted Chinese to officiate and find "that they are largely using a modified form of our Christian ceremony. We note a change also in their funeral offerings, where flowers play an important part."

In their business methods also Dr. Fearn sees indications of progress. "Does the sign seen often in shops, 'Tsung puh ri kia,' really mean that there will be no reduction in price?" he asks. "Ten years ago there was only one shop in the Qoen Zien in Soochow which displayed this sign to indicate their change from the custom of charging a large price with the expectation of being beaten down. Now the sign is quite common.

"In their relation to foreigners we can each give personal testimony of the change which has come over the individual, and we can all note how this has affected the entire nation. A desire to do for themselves the things which we have been doing for them so long forms the pivot upon which they have turned.

"Ten or fifteen years ago the foreigner did everything for the Chinese—drilled her troops, commanded her navy, established and conducted her schools, and in many other ways showed the Chinese how the thing should be done. A few years ago they grew restive under this, and began to look about for themselves.

"In many cases they endeavored to do what was entirely beyond them, and not infrequently, when they met defeat, were not only unwise enough to refuse to admit their inability, but, to save face, persisted in their efforts to stand alone and—inconsistently enough—felt a jealous resentment toward the foreigner.

"Many of us can well remember the time when the fact that a man was a foreigner was ample proof to the Chinese of integrity and uprightness; also, how sometimes it was hard to convince our acquaintances that there were wicked foreigners as well as wicked Chinese.

"It is the rude awakening from this deception which is mainly responsible for the changed attitude on the part of a large number of Chinese. In former days they trusted every foreigner; now they go forward with care, and unless a man proves himself trustworthy, he is looked upon with distrust."

USE MORE THAN ONE DESK.

New York Sun: "One man I had occasion to call on the other day," said a man whose business takes him around among people more or less, "I found sitting between two desks. Facing one, he had the other directly at his back, and evidently both were in use. The significance of the two desks was really very simple.

"This man is at the head of an establishment calling for both scientific and administrative work, and in one of his desks he has all the material required in his scientific work and in the other the various things required in his business work.

"He sits between the two desks in a revolving chair. If he has business to attend to he swings around and goes at it on the business desk. Business finished, he swings around again to his other desk and resumes his scientific work, enabled by the arrangement to avoid confusion and to prosecute his work in either direction with convenience and economy of time, all of which I thought was very fine.

"I have since heard of another man engaged in three pursuits who uses three desks in precisely the same manner, the three desks being set to form three sides of a square, with his revolving chair in the center, the papers and documents and data pertaining to one thing in one desk, to another thing in another, and to the third thing in the third desk, all very convenient and time-saving.

"And I suppose if you looked around enough you would find in fact a considerable number of men who make use in their businesses or professions of more than one desk."

MANY LABORERS WANTED.

Mining and Other Employers of Labor Look for Men.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — The employment agencies are unable to supply the demand for workmen despite the fact there are plenty of idle men here. On some days the streets appear to be full of them, but they refuse to accept work even at the comparatively high wages offered them.

The mining companies are all somewhat short of men as the mining of ore is now being pushed to the full capacity of the shovels now in use.

MR. MEEHAN'S FUNERAL IS LARGELY ATTENDED.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Church of the Blessed Sacrament was thronged yesterday by friends of the late John Meehan, the pioneer citizen, whose funeral was held during the morning. The procession to the grave was one of the longest ever seen here. Two orders, the Catholic Order of Foresters and the Eagles, attended in a body and there was a general attendance on the part of citizens who have been in Hibbing for some years and by business men generally. Interment took place in the Hibbing cemetery.

ON THE IRON RANGES

START WORK ON WATER SYSTEM

Oliver Iron Mining Company Begins Digging for Gilbert Plant.

Gilbert, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Oliver Iron Mining company is advertising for 250 men to go to work at once to dig a trench from Malta mine, No. 4, to Gilbert, that the town may be supplied with water. The state board of health would not permit the bringing of water from Ely lake. The water tower will be built on the hill by the new high school and the work is expected to be completed before winter. The promise to supply water and light was made to the Sparta people in return for concessions made by them so that the village could be moved and the site stripped for mining purposes. The Oliver Iron Mining company will install larger generators at the Gilbert mine and Gilbert will be furnished with light from this powerhouse in the near future. The village will put up the poles and wires and pay the company for the current and then sell to the consumers here. This is an excellent solution of the vexatious question of light and water that has been dividing the people of this city for more than a year and will allow the village to control both these commodities and at such prices as will be of much benefit to the people of the village. A great many corporations and individuals have sought such franchises in the past twelve months, but the majority of the people were not in favor of tying the village up in such a manner for a term of years.

The Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company has a crew of fifty men and several teams at work constructing a roadbed into the village limits. The present depot is about half a mile out, making it very inconvenient for passengers. A new freight and passenger depot will be built near the baseball grounds, on Broadway. The new line will be a branch from the McKinley-Virginia branch, and, after reaching the new depot, will continue around the hill on the north side of the village and join the main line about a mile west of the former depot. The station at the Pettit mine, on the south side, and now known by the name of Pettit, will be discontinued under the new arrangement, as the Eveleth branch of the Duluth & Iron Range will be moved about half a mile further south, and the passenger trains will probably stop there only for the accommodation of employes of the Schley, Pettit and Gilbert mines. The track will be moved so that the pit of the Gilbert mine can be extended in that direction the coming winter.

IS NOW LARGEST GAME PRESERVE

Comprises Empire in St. Louis, Lake and Cook Counties.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The largest and most important game reserve in the country is the Superior State Game preserve, the limits of which were fixed by the state game and fish commission yesterday.

The preserve will take in all the land in the Superior National Forest reserve, and all the land north of it to the Canadian line. This makes a tract of 1,500,000 acres, extending through Cook, Lake and St. Louis counties, a length of about ninety miles.

The land on the other side of the boundary is also a game preserve, and the two together make the largest and most important reserve on the continent, according to Carlos Avery, executive agent of the commission.

The board recommended Z. D. Scott of Duluth to succeed T. J. Davis of Duluth on the state forestry board, Mr. Davis having resigned.

The report for September showed $1,873 in office collections from fines, non-resident licenses, confiscated game and fishing licenses. The non-resident game licenses sold so far are 240, a gain of 15 per cent over last year.

EXTENSION PROGRESSING.

Good Progress Being Made on Nashwauk-Grand Rapids Line.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work on the Great Northern road, Nashwauk-Grand Rapids extension is progressing rapidly. The steel has been laid to Buckeye lake, about two miles this side of Bovey. At that point the steel gang is stopped by a great sink hole which has been bothering the contractors for some time. It is expected, however, that this will be overcome in a short time, and that the steel will be laid to connect with the three miles of track which were laid from the main line north on the extension.

At the junction, which is something over two miles east of Grand Rapids, the railroad company is preparing to build a water tank, a roundhouse and a depot. The concrete foundation for the water tank has been started, and the work at that point will continue for some time. The roundhouse is to be a sixteen stall building, and will be used to accommodate the locomotives which will be engaged in hauling ore from the mines to the north.

The ballasting of the new line is also being done on the north end, and it is expected that this will be completed as soon as the presetn gap in the track is spanned with steel.

The construction of depots and other necessary buildings along the route is going on, and these buildings will be completed in time for the first regular trains, which are expected to run the latter part of this month.

Virginia Nimrods Not Very Successful on Hunting Trip.

Willie Morrell, who has been confined to his home for the past several weeks with typhoid fever, is past the danger mark and is getting along nicely. There are also a number of other typhoid cases in the city at the present time.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Edwin of Oak street Monday.

Rev. R. W. Wilcox, selected by the Methodist conference held at Duluth recently, to succeed Rev. F. G. Clark in this city, is expected to arrive here the latter part of the week and will deliver his opening address Sunday morning.

Subscriptions are being received at the First National bank in this city for the John Albert Johnson memorial fund. Virginia hopes to send its proportionate share to the committee at St. Paul.

A photo of the wreath sent by the city of Virginia and placed on the bier of the late Governor Johnson now hangs in a conspicuous place in the city clerk's office. The wreath was a beautiful floral offering and expressed something of the respect held for the governor by the citizens of Virginia.

A comedy playlet will be presented by the members of the sophomore class, who are being drilled by Miss Kendall. Recitations, musical solos and the rendering of the high school journal will make up the remainder of the program.

FOUND DEAD BESIDE JUG.

Daniel O'Meara, Who Left Grand Rapids With Whisky, Expires.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Leaving here Sept. 20 with a jug of whisky, Daniel O'Meara, an old river driver, aged about 60, expired near Prairie lake. Some boys out hunting found the body, which was in an advanced state of decomposition.

The boys immediately notified Coroner Russell, who waited for Deputy Coroner Reussvig to assist him. The men drove out Monday morning to get the body, and discovered it to be that of O'Meara.

As near as could be learned, O'Meara left Grand Rapids on foot Sept. 20, carrying a jug of whisky. When found the jug was beside him and still contained a portion of the spirits.

His death is attributed to heart failure. Interment was made in the potter's field.

Employe of Northern Lumber Company at Kinross, Minn., Missing.

Mountain Iron, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas H. Armstrong, locomotive engineer for the Northern Lumber company at Kinross has dropped out of sight.

He disappeared Sept. 11, leaving no information as to where he was going and since that time no one has heard from him. His sister, Mrs. Dan Peterkin, who lives here is very anxious to learn of his whereabouts.

SEEK SEWAGE OUTLET.

Virginia Aldermanic Committee Has Tough Problem on Hand.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Aldermen McNeil, Carlson and Boylan, the committee on streets, alleys and sewers, have a problem to solve in the matter of a sewerage outlet that will undoubtedly keep them guessing for a time. Messrs. R. F. Grochan and R. F. Gross of Duluth, owners of lots 1, 2, 4 and 5, in section 24-58-18, have entered a protest against Virginia's sewerage emptying into waters adjoining their lands. They claim that Virginia's sewerage is being run into a creek which runs through their land and empties into Manganika lake, which also borders their property, and as a result the value of such property has been utterly destroyed. They claim that this is in violation of their rights, a nuisance and a trespass, and demand that the city abate the same by taking steps to remedy the evil. The city has had previous notice of this state of affairs by Messrs. Grochan and Gross, but nothing had been done to relieve the situation. Just what the committee will do in the matter has as yet been undetermined.

EVELETH JEWS ELECT.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a recent meeting of the Jewish congregation, the following officers were elected: Morris Nathanson, president; Samuel Levant, vice president; Charles Levant, secretary; George Mesberg, treasurer; William Kaner and Henry Siegel, trustees.

The meeting was held in the new church, recently built, and many out-of-town members were present. Next Sunday the installation of officers will take place, and a dance will also be given.

Want Skating Rink.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The young people are agitating the question of establishing a skating rink in the baseball park. The plan is to get several local enterprising business men to furnish the necessary capital to back the project. There are many skaters here, and all are clamoring for some sort of a public rink, where the pastime can be indulged in.

The ball park is the only available location for a good rink.

Small Coleraine Fire.

Coleraine, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire department did excellent work yesterday in extinguishing a fire in a small paper covered shanty in the rear of Dr. W. D. Kean's residence which broke out about 10 o'clock, by extinguishing it before much damage was done. The origin of the fire is not known.

TERM OF COURT WILL BE BUSY

Judge Stanton Has Many Cases to Try at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations are being made for the term of district court which starts Oct. 19. Judge Stanton will preside.

The calendar is an unusually large one, and the term promises to be a long one. There are some twenty-five or thirty jail cases on the criminal calendar, beside a number of cases which were left over from last term. The civil calendar will also be a large one, and most of the cases are new business, as the calendar last term was pretty well cleaned up. Among the cases which will go to swell the civil calendar are the Bovey saloon cases, which are cases appealed from justice court.

The following is the list of jurors selected for the term:

Grand jury—A. H. Delap, R. Neddon, Martin Dufficy, A. McAlpine, N. O. Pierce, August Johnson, Peter Bohn, Fred Johnson, Henry Buring, Axel Oakerman, M. McAlpine, Herman Bolin, M. Madeson, W. E. Kelly, A. A. Hall, Alex Cook, Edward Ingalls, Bert Anderson, John Carlson, A. M. Sisler, John Burns, C. M. Sumner and John Benson.

Petit jury—Jacob Lieberman, John Griswold, James Bickley, John A. Vandyke, Edward Martineau, William Wheaton, A. G. Anderson, John Landy, P. S. Kinney, Harry Johnson, A. Richardson, J. C. Mick, Tim Mahon, Frank La Point, D. Bartley, Joseph Gilbo, S. P. Marsh, James McMahon, H. Van Horn, Ole Dahl, Pat Kinney, Barton D. Rosbrook, Perry G. Warner and Thomas Jones.

FINE STREET TO BE THE RESULT

Third Street in Grand Rapids Will Be Pretty Thoroughfare.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Only a little over a block of paving is left to be done on the Third street paving contract. During the past week or two the work has been going on quite fast. The shortage of men and their tendency to move on has been felt, but no serious results have followed. Last week a little strike was on, the men demanding an increase of 25 cents per day, and for a couple of days the skilled labor worked with wheelbarrow and shovel.

The pavement, along with the other contemplated improvements, will make Third street one of the prettiest streets in the county. It is planned to have the poles and cables of the Mesaba Telephone company removed and placed on another street, which will add greatly to the appearance of the street.

The lighting system which is being put in the street will also help to make the thoroughfare pretty. These lights are to be incandescent lights, placed on poles or supports of cast iron, one on each corner of the block, and two between each corner. This will give a more even distribution of the light than the arc light formerly used, will give more light for less cost and will require less care. The lampposts will be about twelve feet high, and on each post will be three lights, one on each end of a crossarm, hanging down, and one the center on an extension of the main pole. The two lamps hanging down will be each 100-candle power, while the other will be 40-candle power. These will be enclosed in twelve-inch globes. The system will extend along the paved portion of Third street, and on Kindred avenue where that street is to be paved, from Second street to Fourth street. It is likely that the same system of street lighting will be adopted further in years to come, and particularly in such sections of the city as the streets are paved.

FOR GREATER EVELETH.

Question of Extending City Limits to Be Considered.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many important matters will be discussed at tonight's meeting of the Business Men's association at the city hall, among which is the extension of the corporate limits of the city.

At present Central Division No. 2, which lies west of Hayes street and which is now being rapidly built up and the residence lots disappearing, is not in the city limits, and it is expected some action will be taken to include that portion in the city, and give it the benefits of the city government. This division lies close to the high school and Adams school buildings, and is also closely situated to the new water tank that is in course of construction, so that no opposition is expected to its being incorporated. The adding of this division will do much toward the making of a greater Eveleth.

POLITICAL POT SIMMERS.

Several Eveleth Officials Will Be Out for Re-election.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The political pot is beginning to simmer, and several persons have made known their intention of trying for offices. Every day brings out one or two new candidates, and the fights for the different offices promise to be warm.

The present members of the city council, with the exception of Alderman Loye, will try for re-election. Aldermen Shea, Andrew, Millette and President Doyle have made known their intentions of running for office. John Primozivich, Joseph Thibault and John Wilson are candidates for alderman in the First ward. In the Second the fight will be between W. G. Sutherland and E. J. Millette. Henry Kotze will run for alderman-at-large. Mayor Smith will not seek re-election.

HORSE DAMAGED GARDEN.

So Eveleth Man Sues Animal's Owner for $100.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since Judge Prince returned from his vacation in Michigan he has been pretty busy with various cases.

One of the most important was that of Salvatore Arcuri, who is bringing suit against Matt Miller for alleged damages to his garden on the night of Aug. 18 by Miller's horse. The amount of damages asked by the plaintiff is $100, and to prove his case Arcuri produced eighteen witnesses. The case has been before the court for the past two days, but the rendering of the verdict has been deferred until next week. The occurrence took place in Chickentown, and four interpreters were engaged in make plain the recital of the many witnesses, who represented many nationalities.

The case of John Fidel for assaulting Miss Francisco Fink was tried and the defendant fined $25. The case of John Tetach for "blind pigging" in the mining locations was dismissed. Mike Mojich was fined $25 for interfering with Officer Zidar, who was attempting to make an arrest in Chickentown.

Hibbing Likes Appointment.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 7.—Members of the congregation of the Methodist church of Hibbing are much pleased with the reappointment of Rev. J. F. Pickard, as pastor for the ensuing year. Mr. Pickard has been with the church for the past two years, during which time the debt has been entirely lifted from the church and parsonage, and the membership of the church has been more than doubled.

Give Enjoyable Social.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A very enjoyable tea and afternoon social was given at the Presbyterian manse yesterday afternoon by the Mesdames Wadsworth, Trenerry and Rose of the ladies' reserve fund society of the church. There was a large attendance of ladies.

Begun Laboratory Work.

Coleraine, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ground is being broken for the foundation for a new chemical laboratory, to cost $14,000. The new laboratory will occupy the ground opposite the baseball park and south of the machine shops. It will be 48 by 58 feet, with basement, and a story and a half in height.

Still Unconscious.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Earl Smith, watchman on a boat, who fell into the hold of the vessel here, Monday sustaining a fractured skull, is still unconscious at the Budd hospital and fears for his life are entertained.

Ellsworth Gets License.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 7.—A license has been secured here by Fergus R. Ellsworth, assistant postmaster at Eveleth, Minn., permitting him to wed Nivabel Lucas of Milwaukee, after the five days' wait required by law.

Gilbert Couple Married.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Lendshek and Frances Andilshek, both of Gilbert, and very well known locally, were married by Father Bilban of the Holy Family the wedding the couple left on a honey- the wedding thecouple left on a honeymoon to Duluth and nearby range towns. The couple will take up housekeeping at Gilbert, where the groom holds a very important position.

fection from the recognized national body and the American Federation of Labor, but at the last meeting the assembly turned right around and reinstated the electricians. This is calculated to anger the federation authorities, and a decree barring the assembly from the federation is anticipated. Owing to the secretary's absence from the city the federation office was not informed of the latest action in Duluth, so the revocation of the assembly charter will probably not reach here until the meeting two weeks from tomorrow night.

At the last convention of the American federation an effort was made to patch up the differences between the two factions of the electrical workers' organization, but it was unavailing. The matter will probably be an issue at the coming federation gathering in Toronto.

Union ranks in Cleveland are rent and torn by the same problem which confronts the local bodies, the support shown the unrecognized branch of the electricians' union.

Unless the trouble is settled, it may result in two factions and two trades assemblies in the local union body. The unions supporting the insurgent electricians will have an assembly unrecognized by the federation and those opposing the electricians' course will have an organization affiliated with the regular heads of the labor movement in America.

MEMORIAL FUND IS GROWING WITH GREAT RAPIDITY

tory of the fund being raised by The Herald for the Governor Johnson memorial, the sum of $110.50 being added to the total, which is now well advanced toward the $600 mark.

One of the features of today's contributions is a list of eighteen subscriptions from Williamson & Mendenhall of the Big Duluth clothing house and their employes. Some of the employes of the City National bank set an example to similar institutions by forwarding a check for $6.50 to be added to the fund.

Charles W. Elston, president of the St. Louis County State bank at the West end, has been taking an active interest in this tribute to the late governor, and as a result of his efforts The Herald received a check for $33.50, representing subscriptions by thirty-four residents of that section of the city.

The family idea seems to be growing more popular every day. In the list today will be found the names of five members of the family of John Jenswold, Jr., and an equal number of Andrew Nelson's family.

A little town that has made a splendid showing is Ranier, Minn., E. A. Bergeron forwarding $17, which represents $1 contributions by seventeen residents of that place. From Gwinn, Mich., a town that has been in existence only a year or two, come three $1 contributions. Wisconsin is also represented in the list, showing that Governor Johnson had many admirers in the neighboring states who are anxious to aid in the memorial movement.

A Word From the Commission.

The commission appointed by Governor Eberhart has issued the following letter to the people of Minnesota, which emphasizes the point already referred to by The Herald, that when this monument is built with the tributes of the masses, it will mean more than the finest marble ever erected by accumulated wealth:

"The members of the board appointed by Governor Eberhart to take charge of the Johnson Memorial Fund met at St. Paul, Oct. 4, and effected a permanent organization, under the title the Governor John Albert Johnson memorial commission.

"It was evident that no practical consideration could be given to the question of the form of the proposed memorial until the amount at the disposal of the commission should be approximately determined. As this is essentially and peculiarly a popular and spontaneous movement, it was felt that no solicitation should be used, but that an opportunity should be given to every man, woman and child in the state to contribute. The memorial will have its profoundest significance as an expression of the universal respect and affection in which Governor Johnson was held by his fellow citizens. For this purpose, it is not so important to secure the greatest possible sum of money as to secure the widest possible participation. Therefore, the commission reaffirmed in its articles the original policy of the movement as begun in the newspapers that individual subscriptions shall in all cases be limited to $1 and that smaller amounts will be welcomed. But due credit is to be given not only to the individuals, but to the localities from which the contributions are received, and to the organizations and newspapers through which they are transmitted. Thus the final calculations will show the amounts received from each county, town and city, and also the amounts paid in through each association, business firm or newspaper.

"It is important that the campaign be closed at the earliest date consistent with the necessity of universal publicity. The commission therefore invites and requests active and immediate co-operation in offering the opportunity to contribute. In each locality systematic work should be done, and lists should be circulated by those who desire to share in the testimonial expression. Churches, schools, labor unions, fraternal and other associations, women's clubs, commercial organizations, employers of labor,—above all the newspaper guild of which Governor Johnson was a loved and honored member,—are invited to see that the opportunity to contribute is given to each person in their several spheres of influence.

"The commission adopted a resolution expressing the desire that not less than $25,000 should be contributed promptly, in order that the fund may be closed on or about Nov. 1. It was thought that this would be the minimum sum necessary to provide a worthy memorial—and it is to be hoped that the amount contributed may largely exceed that figure.

"Finally, it is requested that all contributions be forwarded promptly through local newspapers (by which they will be publicly acknowledged) to the treasurer, B. F. Nelson, No. 728 Security Bank building, Minneapolis."

THROW DOWN GAUNTLET TO THE COMMISSIONERS

twenty-six lots and the expenditure of $250,000 for a building to include juvenile and probate court rooms and offices for the county superintendent of schools, county road superintendent, county commissioners, assistant county attorney and other officers.

If such steps were taken, Mr. Stevenson said, there was nothing to prevent any citizen applying for an injunction to restrain the commissioners from a too liberal interpretation of the law. More legislation would be needed, he said, if such a courthouse as that desired were to be built. He said he can find nothing in the law to allow the furnishing of accommodations for any but the district court and the officers directly connected with it.

The question of funds also came up. Mr. Stevenson says there are no funds now, bonds cannot be sold to build a courthouse anywhere but at the county seat and the money could only be raised by levy. The levy for this year has already been made.

"Sell some of the property you are holding here," suggested Mr. Arnold. "You're holding a lot of property that is of no earthly use to the county."

"We'll sell it to you if you want to buy it," said Mr. Stevenson. "It's been on the market here for a long time."

"Well, we might find you a purchaser," replied Mr. Arnold.

"Build for Future."

"Build for the future," was the cry of the Virginia visitors. They said the experience on the range has always been that the public buildings were all too small a few years after they were erected. They said the city hall at Virginia, which was thought to be too large when erected, is now too small. During the past fifteen years, they said, each five years has seen the population of the range double, and there is no reason to suppose that the same will not be true for some time to come. In that event, the building suggested will not be too small.

"The range is paying two-thirds of your taxes; there are 60,000 people there and Duluth and the Head of the Lakes are dependant on them and the place where they live for their very existence," said Mr. Arnold. "We are entitled to something. We believe the building suggested by us is not too large and we are here to leave it to the county commissioners and ask them that they do what is right."

The Virginia delegation consisted of Mayor Andrew Hawkinson, N. B. Arnold, John Costin, Frank J. Hughes, C. E. Moore and A. C. Osborn, president of the council. Mr. Arnold was the principal speaker, but all were given an opportunity to express their views.

Mr. Arnold submitted a sketch showing an exterior view of the proposed new building, as prepared by W. A. Hunt, the Duluth architect, and floor plans of the three floors. He first took up the matter of site. Two sites are offered, he said, one being a portion of block 43, consisting of twenty-six lots, purchased by the city of Virginia last spring for park purposes. The other is in block 30, diagonally across from the site of the proposed new federal building. The city paid $21,000 for the portion of block 43, and would turn it over to the council for about the same sum, he said. The site in block 30 would cost about $50,000. If the city desired the entire block 43, about $20,000 additional would be necessary.

Since the court was opened on the range, he said, about 100 civil cases have been filed. At the April term, twenty indictments were returned by the grand jury, and at the July term thirty indictments were returned. There are about twenty criminal cases pending for the investigation of the October grand jury, he said. The July term was in session nine weeks, he said, and about 100 cases were disposed of in all. The July term was really the first term of court, he said, and the amount of business shows that the range court will be in session a good deal of the time.

The New Building.

The new building, he said, should contain two court roms, judges' chambers, reporters' rooms, jury rooms, grand jury room, rooms for visiting attorneys, a juvenile court room, a probate court room and offices for assistatn county attorney, mine inspector, county superintendent of schools, road inspector, and county commissioners. The jail would be in the basement.

The proposed building, he said, would be 68 by 142 feet and would accommodate the court and the county officers on the range for many years to come. If the county would do the job right, everybody would be satisfied, he said.

John Costin said that figuring the building would cost $175,000 and the site $50,000, there would be $25,000 left for furnishing the building and the appropriation would come within the figure suggested at the last meeting.

F. J. Hughes, A. C. Osborn, C. E. Moore and Andrew Hawkinson all pointed out the necessity of building for the future. Mr. Moore said that Virginia is centrally located and is the natural place for the courthouse. Aside from Virginia's local interest, he said, they are anxious to secure a building for the range.

Everything went along swimmingly until Mr. Stevenson was called upon for an opinion. Then he poured large quantities of cold water on the whole plan, insofar as it exceeded provisions for the court and the officers directly attached to it. There is nothing in the act of 1909, he said, to authorize the expenditure of any money to provide quarters for the county superintendent of schools, mine inspector, road inspector, or even for the assistant county attorney. He said as far as he could see any citizen could secure an injunction to prevent the expenditure of so much money for a building without additional legislation. The phrase "adequate accommodations" could not be stretched to take in such offices, he said.

Mr. Arnold suggested that the rooms be not assigned, but that the county officers be allowed to use them if they wished. Mr. Stevenson said that wouldn't alter the case. Mr. Osborn hurled his gauntlet into the lists, but there were a few speeches on the rights of the ranges to a building for the accommodation of the court. The matter was allowed to rest there, and did not come up again during the morning session of the board.

In closing the discussion, Chairman Neil McInnis said that there is no doubt but that the range court will be an important one and much business will be done. He said some accommodations will be necessary, and the county must provide them.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

At the meeting of the Saturday club, to be held Saturday afternoon of this week at the clubroom of the library, the Duluth delegates to the state federation meeting held recently at Lake City, will present their reports. The club women of the city are invited to be the guests of the Saturday club at this meeting. Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst, president of the club, will preside and will also give a brief report of the work of the forestry committee of the state federation. Mrs. J. L. Washburn, an officer of the general federation, will tell of the discussion of the suffrage question at the state meeting and will report the addresses of the general president, Mrs. Moore, and the state president, Mrs. Higbee. Mrs. F. L. Barrows of the Twentieth Century club will report on the welfare work in the factories of the state and the discussions on household economics. Mrs. W. J. Stevenson will report on the civics, arts and crafts, and Mrs. D. A. Williams of the Lester Park Literary club will talk on the social and musical features of the meeting.

One of the most interesting features of the meeting was the founding of a Maria Stanford scholarship fund to be available for young women in the last two years of their college work at the Minnesota university. The fund has been started as a mark of honor from the club women of Minnesota to Prof. Stanford, who resigned last year from the faculty of the university. The Duluth clubs in attendance at the meeting pledged $100 to the fund.

Mrs. Barrows was named as a delegate from the eighth district to the biennial meeting to be held at Cincinnati in the spring. Mrs. Brocklehurst was named as alternate.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM

Is Shown Over the Guthrie Lecture Course.

Last evening a larger audience than Monday's greeted William Norman Guthrie at the high school assembly hall in his second lecture in the course being presented in the drama. His subject last evening was "The Wheel of Life," illustrated from the Hindu drama. Although few things could be more remote from the life of the average American citizen than the Hindu drama, the speaker made his subject alive and interesting. He showed that even through the handicaps of the pessimistic philosophy of Hindustan, the great difficulties that the cast system and belief in reincarnation placed in the way of the dramatist, that the real racial life of the people was shown in their drama. And although their philosophy would teach an aloof and far removed interest from the material things of this world, in their drama they were very human, taking delight in the universal experiences of man.

Mr. Guthrie regrets, with many of his audience, that the limited time makes it necessary for three lectures a week to be given, when much outside reading should be done, in order to make the course of the greatest value, but his stimulating presentation of the subject is arousing interest that will undoubtedly result in much study during the coming months. Seldom has a lecturer in Duluth presented a subject in so compelling a manner.

The third lecture in the course will be given tomorrow evening at the assembly hall at 8:15 o'clock, when the Hellenic drama will be used to illustrate Mr. Guthrie's talk on "Fate and the Gods." The plays spoken of will be Aeschylus, "Prometheus," "Libation Pourers;" Sophocles, "Alas," "Antigone;" Euripides, "Hippolytos," "The Bacchanals."

WIDOW OF T. B. WANAMAKER WEDS A PHILADELPHIA MAN

The widow of Thomas B. Wanamaker was married Sept. 29 at Philadelphia to Dr. Archibald G. Thomson, member of a well known Philadelphia family. Mrs. Thomson was Mary Lowber Welsh, daughter of the late John Welsh, one of Philadelphia's prominent financiers. Dr. Thomson is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and is a member of several clubs. The wedding was a surprise to many of the friends of both, because no announcement of it had been made in advance.

AUTUMN VEILS.

The Styles That Will Be Seen This Season.

Veils are first in the list of the important accessories to my lady's toilette. She must have a sufficient number, for it is impossible to wear a soiled one, and they must be either washed or renewed entirely. There is nothing that adds so much to a woman's attractiveness and beauty as a becoming veil, writes an exchange. It is sometimes said that a veil is worn to protect the complexion and to keep the hair in place, but beauty lotions now take care of the former and hair nets see that each hair is in its correct marcel wave and has not trespassed on the wave of its neighbor, so, then, beauty is the first qualification of the veil.

The present shapes of hats and trimmings lend themselves particularly well to the new lace veils which are having a large vogue.

But the woman who wears one of these princess or chantilly lace veils must have her entire toilette absolutely up to the mark, and in keeping with the elegance of her veil. Of the lace veils the chantilly and princess laces are the favorites. Chantilly veils come in large pattern effects, like the veils which were the fad in the spring. It is the absolute novelty which makes a veil of this sort popular, and as soon as the novelty begins to wear off the fad is replaced by something more sane.

The fall veils are strongly dominated by eccentricity. Indeed, the patterns run to such an extreme that one is rather inclined to believe that Dame Fashion has done her worst. Many of the dots in the Parisian veils range from one-half to an inch in size. The fine thread foundation of the veil is so tiny that a startling checkerboard effect is gained when the veil is worn.

HUGE MUFFS

Of Fur, Velvet or Chiffon to Be Worn.

Sable of course, is the ideal luxury in brown furs—but then only a princess of the blood, or a queen of the dramatic stage can afford sables says an exchange. It is really the difficulty of getting sable at anything like a reasonable price that has brought skunk into such amazing popularity in Paris. Redfern has built a most gorgeous wrap of gold cloth, covered with bronze and gold embroidery and edged all around with skunk bands, the fur being put on in such narrow strips as to give a very delicate feathery finish to the beautiful mantle. Another Paris couturier shows a reception gown of light brown velvet, sparingly trimmed with gold lace and long border bands of skunk fur. These costumes are interesting both because of their beauty and harmony of color, and because they show which way the wind is blowing in browns.

Fisher is another dark brown pelt which has sprung into favor overnight, or so it seems to us, who cannot be behind the scenes with the mode-makers. Pointed fox leaped into the same popularity last autumn and this beautiful fur is fashionable as ever, though Fisher bids fair to rival it closely. Fisher is a rich brown fur, especially velvety in texture. The surface of the pelt has a tipped appearance and is lighter than the deep brown color near the skin. Fisher, with the wind blowing across it, is particularly beautiful because of this depth of color under the surface.

Muffs are huge. In fact no muff can be really too large to be fashionable; and the beauty of it is that if one cannot afford a fur muff—and the enormous affairs are really horribly expensive—a stunning substitute may be evolved from velvet or chiffon, a soupcon of fur being added to carry out the muff idea. All the important openings are making displays of fur and velvet turbans with fascinating little neck pieces and huge shirred muffs to match. A skunk turban in the towering hussar style was brightened by a chou of velvet in the vivid cardinal of Vibert's paintings, and to match the turban there were a pert little ruff of cardinal velvet, shirred over cords and finished with a bunch of brushes, placed at one side. An evening wrap of smoke-colored chiffon bordered with gray fur called smoked fox—a beautiful, silky pelt somewhat darker than the silver fox fur. To match this graceful wrap, which was a mass of tuckings and shirrings over cords, there was a turban of gray chiffon laid over silver lace, the gray fox fur being used around the brim.

Millinery Notes.

The primary item of interest is the swathed velvet toque.

* * *

There is nothing tentative or hesitating about that.

* * *

Its wear is imperative.

* * *

We are not permitted to question its possibilities.

* * *

It is a fact accomplished, boasting preferably, for decorative relief, an aigrette set at a sharp outward angle.

An exceedingly smart turban toque is arranged in a harmony of tempered old gold embroidered net, and completed by a long straight veil of lace dyed to match.

* * *

In some instances the toques are daringly enveloping, and set round the head like a veritable extinguisher.

* * *

An attempt, the success of which has yet to be proved, is being made to revive the Revolution bonnet, again a fearsome enveloping thing, with a partly turned-up brim.

* * *

There is an amusing touch of irony in the fashioning of this piece of millinery in mousseline de soie and lace for evening and fete wear.

Later on, though, we may find a similar idea, though one hopes somewhat modified, presented in felt and velvet or a mingling of velvet and silk.

TO CLEAN LINOLEUM.

Country Life in America: A floor covering of good linoleum for the kitchen should hold its own for at least five years. The way to prolong its period of usefulness is to keep it clean; dirt ground into the finished surface by the tread of feet is the floor covering's greatest enemy.

Linoleum needs no soap, ammonia or strong cleaning agents. A simple wiping with a cloth just moist with warm water is all that is needed. In one country home I have seen them use skimmed milk instead of or mixed with the water; but the owner had a herd of thirty cows. Once or twice a year give the linoleum a wiping of good furniture polish to renew its smooth surface.

THE EVENING STORY

THAT RAVISHING GOWN

By Ella C. Wilson.

(Copyright. All rights reserved.)

"O, Bess! My Dearest Cousin Bess: Now read with all your eyes, for I have just the divinest scheme! I am always provided, as you will admit, with a passable wardrobe. You, also. Well, my wardrobe allowance has reached the vanishing point with the season half over! I am bored to death with every identical article of apparel. Now I'll be willing to wager a box of candy that things are in exactly the same state with yourself! Now then! Being a responsive spirit you have already penetrated my thought and assented thereto! Yes, we are to exchange gowns! The scenes of our respective dramas are so far apart that our strategy will be safe! Let us begin with our most fetching gowns. You remember that rose-colored one I wore to the Al Fresco lunch when you were here? The one with the garden hat to match? I'll send you that. It is simply a dream. You will be irresistible in it! Now you send me something bonny and bewitching for the archery lark we are to have on the 19th. Afterwards we can keep it up ad infinitum."

With a few more rhapsodies and exclamation points and confidences, Evelyn finished her letter and ran out and posted it.

Now, Lawrence Liscomb, the most "eligible" and the handsomest of Evelyn's "set," had utterly lost his head to this little butterfly. He spent all his leisure trying to induce her to consent to his "interviewing her parents," while she employed all her charms in endeavoring to convince him that she was far too young and foolish to know how to think the least bit about such things. Lawrence was coming to see her that evening, as he generally did come seven times or so per week. To enhance her eloquence in trying to put a stop to Lawrence's "teasing her so," Evelyn dressed that evening in her most bewitching style. Nevertheless, they quarreled that night. They often did quarrel, indeed, but this time it promised to be really final, for when Lawrence went away he said with great solemnity:

"I shall not ask you to marry me again for a whole month!" and he impressively added, in the tone of a judge delivering a death sentence: "I shall not even see you—unless you send for me." Then, with his best and deepest society bow, he stalked rapidly away.

Evelyn listened to the firm, determined click of his step on the pavement till it died away, then she softly closed the door and gasped. He couldn't do such a thing! Yes, he could; he was a man! He could do anything! But he wouldn't! He might, though! She returned to the parlor and gazed upon herself in the full-length mirror. She shook her little fist at her pretty double and muttered:

"You are a lovely creature, you just are! But you are a little idiot! You don't know a good thing when you have it! He's perfectly splendid!"

Evelyn didn't care for fine clothes any more! What was the use of them anyway? She went straight to her room and sat down to her rosewood desk to let her cousin know that, after all she didn't want her "old things"; she had changed her mind. She tore up half a dozen sheets in attempts to set it down with decent dignity, and finally decided to be kind to Bess and go on with the plan for her sake. Probably Bessie still cared about clothes! In this benevolent frame of mind she went to bed and cried herself to sleep. She didn't do it hastily, but with sufficient leisure—that she might as long as possible enjoy her sweet carnival of tears. The first thing in the morning she sent Bessie the garden gown and hat.

Of course Evelyn scarce looked at the letter or gown which Cousin Bessie sent her in response to her scheme. For almost a week she passed long, long, weary days and nights, alternating "not caring a bit what he does" and being sure "she couldn't possibly live without him." At last a letter from Bess electrified the situation. The letter ran as follows:

"Who is Lawrence? O, Evelyn! Evelyn! What have we done! But I managed it, as mamma would say, with consummate policy. You do exactly as I direct and all will be well. You may trust me absolutely. I am older than you. (She was six months older). I have done all for your good. But I will tell you the story from the beginning.

"We have just come in from one of our festivals on the lake. There were three boat loads of us. We were at our merriest when we overhauled a knight of the paddle, a stranger enjoying in his canoe. As we passed him singing the Lorelei in our most sentimental fashion, he rested on his paddle and stared at me as if dazed. I had the forward seat in our boat, and the light of the low lantern was on me as well as the brilliant moonlight, but you may never again tell me that love is blind! The knight took two or three strokes as though he would approach and accost me, then suddenly turned his canoe about and disappeared swiftly down the lake. You may be sure I had to endure a good deal of chaffing. They all declared that I had bewitched the man with my dazzling new gown, which by the way, seems to have been the literal truth.

"I cannot tell you how deliciously romantic it was! But it turns out all prose for me. The poetry of it is yours! An hour or so later a small boat made its way up the lake at life and death speed, and made directly for the bow of our boat. The youngster who was rowing the same, handed me a letter and disappeared again as swiftly as had his chief before him. In the light of the lantern I could see that the letter was addressed to you! After all, love is blind, for that Lawrence, whoever he may be, had been deceived by the gown—as you will see.

"Once in the privacy of my own room I had to decide what to do with the letter. If I forwarded it to you, it would be too late to act! I decided to open that letter and do whatever the occasion required! I inclose the letter. Stop right here and read it before you finish this."

Evelyn had, of course recognized the handwriting of "the inclosed;" but now she obeyed her cousin and read it again, this time understandingly.

"O! Evelyn, My Darling: (And Bessie's eyes had looked upon that!) I cannot resist. I must speak my vow. Just once more I plead. That dear, familiar, ravishing gown! The quaint turn of your dear, golden head which no one on earth is capable of except your own precious self! (Indeed!) Do not think I followed you up. I did not even know that you ever came to this town. Darling, you and I will never be able to forget. Write me one of your adorable little letters and tell me where I may meet you—alone. You must let me see you just this once more; then I will go away to Japan or any outlandish place you want me to! Only, Evelyn, you will say "Stay," won't you? You can, you must. I shall call at the postoffice every hour till I hear from you," etc.

Evelyn's fever ran higher and higher every time she read this very ordinary love-epistle. At last she happened to remember that she was reading a letter from Cousin Bess. She returned to it languidly.

"Now I am supposing that you have read the letter. Isn't it a document? (A document! Humph!) You see, I positively couldn't allow you to drive to despair and perhaps to death, so chivalrous a suitor. I am sure I have acted for the best. I got out your last letter, copied your handwriting, and I—well I answered the thing. (The thing!) I told him simply that I (or was it you?) was going home this morning, and would see him any evening he chose to call. It was the best I could do. I signed your initials, and then I actually posted that fraud of a letter. I did not put in any tootsie-wootsie, not knowing exactly how affairs stand. Otherwise, I would have. Now you be at your prettiest every evening till he calls—and you won't have to wait long after he gets my letter! Yours in an agony of suspense,

"COUSIN BESS."

Cousin Bess did not have to dwell long in her agony of suspense. Half an hour later, fancy free, she was so occupied building airy castles in Spain that she never heard the loud ringing at the door-bell. She didn't notice anything at all, indeed, until some one rushed in through the parlor and made real some of her castles by snatching her in his arms.

Explanation was impossible. That infatuated boy would have none of it. He stopped her every time—in his own way, and finally exclaimed impatiently:

"Confusion to explanations! It's all right as it is!"

MEET NEXT YEAR IN WASHINGTON

American Humane Association to Meet With International Organization.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The American Humane association will hold its meeting next year with the International Humane congress in Washington, D. C. This was decided on at today's session.

This afternoon officers are being elected and after other routine work the association will adjourn.

The first hour of today's session was devoted to an informal discussion of non-listed subjects in relation to children. W. R. Collicotte of Denver thought that the frequent grading of children in the public schools involved cruelty. He thought the weak ought not to be mated in grades with the strong.

Miss Mary F. Lovell of Philadelphia said in the schools of that city it became necessary to remedy a condition arising from the habit of foreign mothers sewing on their children's clothing so that they would remain on all winter.

President Stillman announced that the association was contemplating the publication of a monthly magazine and he said it was expected that the public would give it support sufficient to maintain the venture.

The first paper was on "Child Probation," and was read by N. J. Walker, chief probation officer of Albany and Troy, N. Y.

President Stillman prepared by Elbridge Gerry. The subject was "Hasty Legislation in Child Rescue Work."

The writer thought there had been too much legislation along that line.

SUGAR COMPANY IS ACCUSING RAILROADS.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Action has been begun before the interstate commerce commission by the Federal Sugar Refining Company of New York against the seven leading railroads, because of alleged unjust and unreasonable charges for the transportation of sugar from New York to Eastern and Western points, and because of alleged discrimination in favor of John Arbuckle and William A. Jamison, who operate sugar refineries in New York city and Brooklyn.

The case involves the much mooted question of lighterage limits of New York city and the rail terminals.

MEMBERS OF PEARY'S CREW SEEING NEW YORK.

New York, Oct. 7.—Under the guidance of Archer M. Huntington, president of the American Geographical society, and President Osborne of the Museum of Natural History, eight members of the crew of Commander Peary's ship, the Roosevelt, started out today to see the sights of New York city. Matt Henson, the negro cook, who went with Peary to the pole, was a member of the party.

After a comprehensive view of the city from the Metropolitan building tower they were taken up Broadway on a sight-seeing tour.

LIFE INSURANCE OFFICIALS MEET.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 7.—About 500 life insurance officials from more than a score of states were present today at the fourth annual meeting of the American Life Insurance convention. Addresses were delivered by President Samuel Bosworth Smith of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Congressman J. Warren Keifer.

BREWERY NOT UNDER GERMAN PROTECTION.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 7.—The foreign ministry has announced the settlement of the dispute at Harbin between the German consul there and the Russian authorities over the refusal of the proprietor of a German brewery to pay certain taxes. The consul has admitted officially that the brewery has no claim to German protection, and at his orders the German flag has been taken down from the brewery building. The German consul at Mukden has assumed charge of the situation, and proceedings have been begun against German subjects for insulting Russian officials.

MAY FORM NEW SENATE FROM FINNISH MILITARY.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 7.—It is reported here from Helsingfors that the governor general of Finland contemplates forming a senate from the Finns now in the Russian military service, to replace the senators who last month refused to accept reappointment to office.

The refusal was because the Russian cabinet insisted that the Finnish senate assign $4,000,000 as Finland's contribution for the defense of the empire. The Finns were willing to contribute only $2,000,000.

UNCLE SAM'S MONEY FACTORY.

The system of checks employed to prevent irregularities in Uncle Sam's money factory, otherwise known as the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, is as complete as human ingenuity can devise.

Each die, roll and plate has a number in sequence stamped upon it, and by said number it is recorded. Each employe receiving a piece of steel to work on is charged with the same by its number and a description of the engraving to be made thereon. He is not allowed to leave the building, says the National Magazine, until the same has been returned and checked into the vaults presided over by the custodian of dies, rolls and plates. This officer is the representative of the secretary of the treasury.

In the custodian's office complete records and the history of 18,000 dies, 19,000 rolls and 18,000 plates are on file. Once a year this office is audited and checked up by a committee appointed by the secretary of the treasury, each piece of engraved work being identified and compared with the records of the office.

This is an arduous duty, and it usually takes three months.

After finding the records correct, the committee receipts to the custodian for all obsolete dies, rolls and plates which have become worn by use or no longer serviceable on account of legislation; these are carefully checked and packed in sealed boxes and taken to the navy yard, where they are totally destroyed by melting in a blast furnace.

Last year the committee destroyed 3,842 pieces of engraved work, packed in 247 boxes and weighing 35,757 pounds. Each morning the custodian issues all plates to the printing division and all dies, rolls and plates necessary to the engravers on requisitions, and receipts for them upon their return at the close of the day's work, when they are stored in two large steel fireproof vaults of modern construction, protected by time locks.

The 18,000 plates represent all classes of work, including commissions, checks, drafts, portraits of deceased members of congress, certificates, diplomas, inaugural souvenirs, national bank currency, United States and treasury notes, gold and silver certificates, bonds, and cigar, cigarette, tobacco, snuff, beer, oleomargarine, rectified spirits, postage, documentary, customs and proprietary stamps. The system of checks and rules governing the custody of the work is so perfect that in the history of the bureau not a single plate has gone astray.

PLANS FOR BUNGALOW. BY PUCK

ANTHONY PUCK,

CO-OPERATIVE MARKET IN ARMORY THE SOLUTION

Agricultural Committee Submits Plan to Lower Produce Price.

Get a Market and Then Build Suburban Electric Lines.

Establish a public market in Duluth where retailers, wholesalers and consumers may buy produce, and where the prices for produce will be definitely fixed; then connect the outlying districts with trolley lines running to the city, so that the nearby market gardeners may have easy access to this market. That, in brief, is the suggestion of the agricultural sub-committee of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, made last evening.

It is believed that this will offer a solution of the high prices of produce in Duluth, and will provide a market for the settlers who are rapidly filling up the county.

The plan was well received by the members of the public affairs committee, and it was made a special order of business for the next meeting, the members of the sub-committee being instructed to work out the details of their scheme, finding out what capital would be necessary and other matters.

The scheme proposed by the Commercial club's agricultural committee contemplates the establishment of a permanent, co-operative open market in the Armory. Farmers and gardeners are to be interested and induced to bring their products to the market, and the support of all citizens will be asked for it. A discussion of the plan last evening brought out the fact that these markets worked out successfully in other cities and determined prices for various articles, thereby preventing a manipulation of the market by private individuals and concerns.

The subject had its introduction to last night's meeting through a communication to Chairman Hugo of the committee from Secretary Eva, relative to the club's agricultural committee activities. Mr. Eva's communication follows:

"Hon. T. W. Hugo.

"Dear Sir: At a recent meeting of the agricultural committee it was taken as the unanimous sense of the meeting that the public affairs committee take immediate steps to form a farmers' co-operative association, with headquarters at the Armory, and that space in the Armory be set aside for this purpose; that a company be formed to carry on the business, and that an effort be made to get all the farmers in the territory to join the association, if only for a very small amount, in order to get them interested. Also, that the committee recommend and urge the backing of the public affairs committee in the establishment of suburban electric lines, as the transportation problem seems to be one of the greatest difficulties in bringing the produce to market. Members of the agricultural committee will undoubtedly be very glad to outline their ideas on this matter at any meeting you may desire to have called for this purpose. Very truly yours,

"H. V. EVA,
"Secretary."

An interesting discussion of the subject followed, led by C. P. Craig, chairman of the agricultural committee of the club.

Mr. Craig Explains.

"The report which the agricultural committee is preparing is not designed to be hostile to Michigan street," said Mr. Craig. "The proposed Farmers' Co-Operative association is not designed to be inimical to commission row in Duluth. But the city markets in the larger cities regulate the commission rows, and that is what may be found to be very desirable here. We are not seeking to do Michigan street any wrong. There will always be a commission row here. But we must open the door to nearby producers. We may have to go farther to get them than some other cities, but we must do so, and join hands with them and make them welcome to Duluth. Prices, as I have said, are fixed by the market houses, and not by commission rows, in other important cities."

These statements were greeted with applause.

Mr. Craig went on to explain the new plans for the market more explicitly. He said it was proposed to use the Armory for the market and that it would be run on a co-operative basis, as economically as possible.

He said all would be free to buy there, the consumer, the retailer and the wholesale-commission merchant. There will be three different scales of prices: first, the price to the consumer, for small lots; second, the price to the retailer, for larger lots, and third, the price to the commission man for big lots. The prices which the produce brought in this co-operative market, said the speaker, would determine the prices for the entire city and he was sure they would be cheaper than they are now."

SERIOUS LABOR FRICTION STARTED

Cleveland Unions Plan to Precipitate Question of Local Control.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 7.—A local fight among labor unions, which may have serious culmination in the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Toronto Nov. 8, has arisen here over the expulsion of the local union of electrical workers as a result of their financial troubles. The local central organization partially supported the electrical workers, and as a result the Cleveland central body lost its charter. The unions loyal to the order of the American federation received a new charter and formed a new central organization composed of fifteen unions. The "insurgents" will carry their fight to the convention of the Ohio state federation at Toledo next Tuesday, and if their delegates are unseated will go up with an appeal to the Toronto meeting.

This will bring to a focus the question of the right of the American federation to interfere with matters relating to central bodies of the various cities of the United States. This situation has also arisen in other cities where the central bodies refused to recognize the expulsion order against the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

WATCH RESULTS IN OTHER CITIES

Commission Government Not to Be Voted On for a Year.

The commission form of city government will not be put to a vote in Duluth for at least another year. The subcommittee of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, which has been conducting an investigation along these lines, announced at the meeting last night that in their judgment it will be better to wait another year, at least. The committee believes that the interests of the city will be best protected if the results in other cities are watched for some time longer.

GOVERNOR ASKS STAFF TO STAY

Eberhart Writes to Members of Late Governor's Official Family.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—A formal invitation was sent yesterday by Governor A. O. Eberhart to all the members of Governor Johnson's staff to remain until the end of the present term. In letters addressed to each the governor says:

"Knowing that you have been for some years a member of the staff of the late governor of the state and appreciating the fact that my incumbency of the office is not due to an election, but to an unforseen fatality that has shaken Minnesota's entire government structure, I am writing you to invite you to remain a member of the staff during my present term of office.

"While I cannot hope to have the love and affection of the staff in the same degree enjoyed by Governor Johnson, I will consider it an honor and a pleasure if you will indicate an acceptance of this invitation and remain a member of the governor's official family. It is my policy to make as few changes in the administration of the late governor as possible and none in the personnel of the staff, if agreeable to its members."

MONEY HAS NOT ALL BEEN PAID IN

More Than Promises Needed to Improve Garfield Avenue.

The necessary money for the Garfield avenue paving has been subscribed, but not all paid in, according to the report at the Commercial club last night. It appears that the three largest donors are holding back because of statements that the needed money is now on hand. This is not the case. Sufficient money has been promised, but if those who put their names down for substantial amounts fail to make good, it may cause the whole improvement to go up in the air again.

FRANZ HEINRICH IS LAID AT REST

Friends Pay Last Tribute to Old-Time German Settler.

The funeral of Franz Heinrich, 55 years old, of 705 East Second street, took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence. Mr. Heinrich was one of the pioneer residents of Duluth, having lived here the last thirty years. His acquaintance in Duluth was extensive. He was active in local German societies. The funeral this afternoon was large and the floral tributes were profuse. Interment was at Forest Hill cemetery.

FORCE HEARST INTO THE FIGHT

Admirers Nominate Him as Candidate of New Party in New York City.

New York, Oct. 7.—William Randolph Hearst, once defeated for mayor of this city by George B. McClellan and later defeated by Charles F. Hughes for governor of the state, was nominated for mayor last night at Cooper Union at a mass meeting of 4,000 of his admirers. This action was taken despite his authoritative statement the evening before that he would not be a candidate. Resolutions were adopted directing that a committee of five be appointed to name other city, county and borough officers, whose names will be placed in nomination by petition. No indications as to what Mr. Hearst's attitude will be toward the action of the meeting was received before adjournment, but the leaders and speakers expressed confidence that it would be impossible for him to refuse.

Not Independence League.

The third party, which is thus suddenly projected into New York's municipal campaign, will not be known as the Independence league, but will probably bear the title "Citizens' Party" or some similar designation. The platform, as indicated by the speakers, will express distrust of the intentions of both the Republican and Democratic parties, which already have nominated full local tickets, declaring that a silent alliance exists between Tammany and the local Republican machine which would make good government under either an impossibility. It will declare in strong terms for municipal ownership of subways, economy of administration and adequate school and transit facilities.

Both Boys Saved.

Louis Boon, a leading merchant of Norway, Mich., writes: "Three bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar absolutely cured my boy of severe cough, and a neighbor's boy, who was so ill with a cold that the doctors gave him up, was cured by taking Foley's Honey and Tar." Nothing else is as safe and certain in results. Sold by all druggists.

SWINDLER PROVES TO BE NOTORIOUS THIEF.

London, Oct. 7.—In the course of yesterday's proceedings at the trial of Harry Benson, otherwise known as "Brebro," on charges of fraud in connection with the bankrupt Feltham bank, which he found, the prosecution drew from Benson the admission that he had been sentenced in New York to an indeterminate term of from five to nine years as a notorious thief under the name of Harry Phillips.

Benson also averred that Alexander C. Chaffin of Brooklyn gave him $25,000 twenty-three years ago as compensation, Benson having been tried and acquitted at the Old Bailey on a charge of obtaining goods frm Chaffin by false pretenses for an alleged bogus American.

Harry Benson was arrested in London on Aug. 31, 1908, together with a man named George Petty, and charged with attempting to obtain money on fraudulent pretenses. The two prisoners were directors of what was known as the International Securities corporation, limited, and of Feltham's bank. The prosecuting attorney at the first hearing said that 18,000 poor persons had been defrauded by the International Securities corporation and more than 500 others by the bank.

The judge at that hearing appointed a receiver and remarked that the dealings of the companies were full of irregularities, and that Benson was the chief offender.

PAYS DEBT HIS FATHER CONTRACTED LONG AGO.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.—County Clerk Flejstad yesterday received a letter from J. A. Stransky, a wealthy stock raiser of Pukwana, S. D., saying his family, through nearly half a century ago, had received aid from this county and requesting the clerk to ascertain the amount, that he may pay it back with interest. This is the first case of the kind on record in the county.

ARGUES THAT THAW IS ILLEGALLY DETAINED.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Former Governor Frank S. Black appeared yesterday before the court of appeals for Harry K. Thaw and attacked the constitutionality of the act under which Thaw was committed to the Matteawan state hospital for the criminal insane, and by which he is being detained in that institution. Mrs. Thaw. and her daughter, the former Countess of Yarmouth, listened to the arguments.

The case came up on an appeal from an order of the appellate division affirming an order of Supreme Court Justice Mills of White Plains in discussing a writ of habeas corpus and refusing to order Thaw's release.

New York, Oct. 7.—The formal decree in favor of Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould, granting her a separation from Howard Gould, was filed yesterday. The decree awards Mrs. Gould $3,000 a month permanent alimony and $3,683 costs. It was said that Mr. Gould would appeal.

CHURCHES MUST PAY

Building Permits Will Not Be Issued to Them Free.

City Attorney Rules They Are Not Charitable Institutions.

Churches are not charitable institutions!

So rules E. M. Morgan, assistant city attorney, confirming the decision of the officials in the office of the building inspector, to whom the question was first put.

Although the amendment to the building ordinance recently passed by the city council allows schools and charitable organizations to take out building permits free of charge, the churches must come across with the cash the same as any private individual.

The matter came up yesterday afternoon when Bergquist Bros. came to Deputy Inspector Anderson for a permit for the Swedish Baptist church in the West end. He refused to give it to them unless they paid the regular fee. The contractors cited the new amendment, but the deputy looked it up and found no provision for churches. He asked Building Inspector Kielley about it, and he took the same view. The matter was laid before Attorney Morgan, and after consulting his law books, a dictionary, probably, and the new amendment, he held in emphatic terms that a church is not a charitable institution.

Officials at the city hall said charitable, according to the dictionary, means "benevolent, kind, generous to the poor." They say that a man might come in and ask for a permit to erect a building to be used for a grocery store or a saloon. They assert that he might claim that he is kind, benevolent and generous to the poor, and will follow these tenants in his dealings. But they hold that this does not make the grocery store or the saloon a charitable institution.

The ruling of the city attorney's office will probably cause surprise to the thousands of church people in Duluth, and it is possible that some of the leading church people in the city will take the matter up with the council to get another amendment to the ordinance which will allow the building inspector to issue permits to churches free of charge. The fee is $2 for the first $1,000 of the cost of the building, and 50 cents per thousand for all sums above that amount.

ARRESTED ON HER RELEASE

Agnes Winters Gets Suspended Sentence for Shop Lifting.

Agnes Marie Winters, one of three sisters arrested last winter for shoplifting, was rearrested this morning by Capt. Fiskett on another warrant charging the same offense. She had just completed a sentence of thirty-five days in the county jail when the second warrant was served upon her. The court suspended sentence because of the other sentence. She is 18 years old.

THE MAJORITY WERE "DRUNKS"

Out of 384 Prisoners, 240 Were Held for Intoxication.

The monthly report of the police department shows that a total of 384 arrests, 354 men and 30 women, were made in September. Among them were three murderers. The majority, as usual, was drunks, 240 being taken to the station on this charge. The record of all previous years for fugitives from justice being arrested in a single month was broken, thirteen being caught in the net for police of other cities. The patrol wagon traveled 390 miles and the police responded to 307 alarms. The property stolen was valued at $1,025, of which 56 per cent, or $574 worth, was recovered.

Mr. F. G. Fritz, Oneonta, N. Y., writes "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is mild, pleasant and effective, and cures habitual constipation. Sold by all druggists.

CROWD WAITS FOR TICKETS

Only General Admission Seats Left for the Detroit Game.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 7.—More than 1,000 people were in line patiently waiting today, when tickets for 5,000 pavilion seats for the world's series baseball games here next Monday and Tuesday were placed on sale. Many of the men had been standing in line since daybreak, and some had even taken positions at the head of the line soon after midnight.

The 5,000 seats for each afternoon were disposed of as fast as the ticket-sellers could push the tickets through the windows in pairs. To avoid ticket scalpers, only two tickets were sold to an individual. The supply was exhausted long before the demand had been satisfied.

Only general admissions are now left for the two games, all the reserved seats having been disposed of Tuesday.

Old Bridge Collapses.

Menominee, Mich., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alderman McLain of Marinette had a close call from perhaps serious injury yesterday, when the upper bridge between here and Marinette, which had been condemned, collapsed as he was driving across it with a heavily laden team from the Menominee & Marinette Paper mills.

BANK OF ENGLAND RAISES DISCOUNT

Minimum Rate Is Put Back at 3 Per Cent by the Governors.

London, Oct. 7.—The governors of the Bank of England today raised the minimum discount rate from 2½ per cent to 3 per cent.

This is the first change since April 1 last, when it was reduced from 3 per cent.

It was decided to raise the rate to 3 per cent owing to the large inroads on the bank's reserve already made by exports to Egypt for the financing of the cotton crop and by the Argentine withdrawals. The governors were unable to offset these by fresh arrivals from the mines, owing to the sustained demand from Russia, which absorbed available quantities week after week, preventing the bank from building up the reserve.

New York Enters In.

A fresh element in the situation, however, undoubtedly helping the directors to their decision, is yesterday's decline in New York exchange on London, the recent sharp rise in money and the calling of loans in New York, which probably will necessitate the withdrawal of gold for that quarter against finance paper which had been placed here some time ago and the number of fresh bills still coming forward.

The higher rate, although it was expected soon, was not generally looked for today.

The increased rate had little effect on the stock exchange beyond a fractional easing in American securities, operators generally considering 3 per cent a good working rate.

TAX OF $1,500 FOR SALE OF NEAR BEER IS LEVIED.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 7.—It was announced here today that near beer dealers are liable for a tax of $1,500 per each year. Preparations are being made by James R. Jetton, state revenue agent for Middle Tennessee, to begin at once the collection of this tax.

ONE ACTOR WHO FINDS HIS RECREATION IN HUNTING

VICTOR MOORE AND A GUIDE.

Victor Moore, the star in "The Talk of New York," which comes to the Lyceum tonight for three nights and a matinee, is about as breezy and happy off the stage as he is on, and that's going some.

He is very fond of hunting, and these glorious autumn days find him impatient of matinees. "My professional duties," he said, "make it a bit difficult to get into the country during the hunting season; nevertheless, I manage to get away and spend a few hours at some nearby place. By leaving after the night performance, I can motor far enough away to find small game, and if I fail to bring down anything, I am amply recompensed by my night in the woods with my dogs and gun. I've hunted pretty much all over the States and Canada, because I have traveled about so much, and I have never allowed the chance for a little shooting to get away from me.

"Pigeon shooting at the traps has never interested me as much as tramping over a corn stubble with my dogs, or beating up a hedge to start a quail. I've done my share of big hunting, too, but my engagements make that impracticable, although I've taken all the deer and moose that the law allows, in several states. I would rather go after a woodcock any day than bag all the big game in the forest."

OBJECT TO SALOONS NEAR LUMBER CAMPS

Virginia & Rainy Lake Company Wants Towns Kept Dry.

Residents of Gheen Also Want Sale of Liquor Forbidden.

The Virginia & Rainy Lake company, which is conducting extensive logging operations in the northern part of St. Louis county, is anxious to have the county commissioners apply a large lid on the settlements to which their camps are directly tributary. Attorney W. D. Bailey, representing the company, appeared before the county board this morning and objected strenuously to the granting of licenses to J. Polsky and M. Graney at Gheen, and to F. J. Lemoine at Cook. Mr. Lemoine asks for a renewal of his license.

"We don't want a license issued anywhere along the Rainy Lake road near our camps," said Mr. Bailey. "When there are saloons near, the men drink, carry bottles into camp, and the work is demoralized. Our camps are five or six miles from Gheen and eight or nine miles from Cook. Of course, they are not very close, but they are within 'drinking distance,' or at least 'bottle distance,' and the 700 men employed in that vicinity will get drink if there is any within ten miles."

A protest, of which Mr. Bailey said he had no previous knowledge, was presented from residents of Gheen against the granting of any licenses there. It set forth that there are only four families and sixty people at the settlement, so that the saloons would draw their patronage from transients and an undesirable element.

Mr. Graney was present and he said the saloon would be conducted decently if he were granted the license. He denied seeking patronage from the camps, but on Mr. Bailey's inquiring, he said it was immaterial where he secured it. Mr. Graney said that no objection had been made to William Orr's saloon at Pelican Lake, but Mr. Bailey said that the present officers of the Virginia & Rainy Lake company are opposed to all licenses in that section and will oppose Mr. Orr's license also when it comes up. No action was taken on the applications this morning.

Petitions for the incorporation of the villages of Kinney and Spina were presented to the board this morning. Both are in town 58-19.

Edward Thompson, who was cited to appear before the board at the meeting today to show cause why his license should not be revoked, was not able to be present and the hearing was postponed for a month.

The board went into executive session for a few moments just before the noon adjournment, which was taken to 1:30.

POSTAL CLERKS SHIFTED.

New Fast Mail Necessitates Many Changes in North Dakota.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The operation of the new fast mail train on the Great Northern through North Dakota is resulting in a great shakeup of the mail service of the state, as well as in the postal clerk circles. The special mail train runs by way of Wahpeton, Casselton, Aneta and Devils Lake, thence west along the main line.

To provide clerks for the new train, five men have been switched from Jamestown to Devils Lake to form one crew. Several men have also been ordered from Grand Forks to take runs on the new mail train, but whether these orders are permanent or not, is as yet uncertain. Jamestown is much wrought up over the transfer of clerks from that city, believing that the transfer of the five clerks will be followed by the ordering of others onto the new work within a short time.

TAFT WANTS MORE WEST POINTERS

Will Try to Have Number of Appointees to the Academy Raised.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Less than 39 per cent of the whole number of officers in the United States army are graduates of the West Point military academy, and each graduating class is about eighty short of the number necessary to officer the army. These facts will form the basis of an effort to be made next winter by the president and the secretary of war to induce congress to increase by 125, the number of cadets to be appointed to the academy every three years, instead of every four years as at present.

C. R. Kluger, the jeweler, 1060 Virginia avenue, Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. CUP LIFTED BY VON PUHL

Aeronaut Who Landed in Minnesota Gets the Lahm Trophy.

Winner of Altitude Prizes Reaches 24,200 Feet Above the Earth.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 7.—Officials of the Aero Club of St. Louis were busy today preparing the official result of the two balloon races, which started here Monday. The unofficial results give the honors of the chief event to "St. Louis No. 3," S. L. Von Puhl, pilot and to the "New York," C. B. Harmon, pilot. The former won the first prize for distance, besides lifting the Lahm cup from Capt. Chandler of the United States army, and the latter took the endurance prize and established a new American height record of 24,200 feet.

The St. Louis No. 3 landed yesterday morning at Wahkon, Minn., 580 miles from St. Louis. It was in the air forty-one hours and thirty-five minutes.

The New York landed at Edina, Mo., 148 miles from here, after a trip fraught with disappointments. The aeronauts, in the most expensive and best equipped gas bag, traveled over Illinois, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Missouri, and then had to alight north of the starting point. The New York was in the air forty-eight hours and twenty-six minutes.

Had Exciting Trip.

The Indiana, which sailed under protest because H. H. McGill has no license, dropped to the ground near Albany, Minn., 520 miles air line, after an exciting trip. Mr. McGill left here in a hammock in the basket because of an injury he received at the Aero club grounds.

J. H. Shauer, aide in the Indiana, gave out the following statement:

"We left St. Louis Monday afternoon at 5:15 and have been in the air ever since. Tuesday evening we ascended to an altitude of 15,000 feet. It was so cold up there that we were almost frozen stiff. My pilot, Mr. McGill, was sick when he left St. Louis and I did not intend that he should go, but he insisted. Last night he was a very sick man and I had to rub him all night to keep him from freezing. I feared that he would die up in the clouds, so I lowered the balloon as we were nearing Albany.

"I am not very handy at that sort of work, so the balloon struck a tree, tore down a wire fence and we were both thrown out. We landed in a meadow, and I consider myself very fortunate in escaping with the bruises I received. This accident certainly was a great disappointment to me, as I am sure we would have won the $5,000 prize offered if it had not happened."

Found 40 Below Zero.

Augustus Post of New York, who was aid to Harmon in the New York, said the New York reached an altitude of 24,200 feet, and the temperature was 40 degs. below zero.

By remaining in the air 48 hours and 26 minutes, the New York broke the American records for height and time in the air.

Mr. Post was in the international balloon race in Germany last year and escaped death after a fall of 3,000 feet, when the gas bag broke and formed a parachute.

The other balloons in the race landed as follows:

Hoosier (disqualified), Dr. Crume and Custer, near Russelville, Mo., at 11:20 a. m., Tuesday, in air 11 hours, 24 minutes; distance, 123 miles.

University City, Berry and Fox, near Mooresville, Mo., at 3:15 p. m. Tuesday, in air 21 hours, 55 minutes; distance, 204 miles.

Pommery, Arnold and Taylor, near Knobel, Ark., at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday; in air 24 hours, 30 minutes; attained a height of 14,500 feet; distance, 162 miles.

Cleveland, Wade and Morgan, near Alexander City, Ala., at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday; in air 39 hours, 45 minutes; distance, 444 miles.

The largest tobacco manufacturing center in the world is St. Louis. Its annual sales aggregate $45,000,000, which is qual to 18 per cent of the total tobacco output of the United States.

OLD COFFINS ARE DUG UP

Work of Moving Forgotten Graveyard Only Half Done.

Workmen Find Human Bones While Excavating for Sewer.

Coffins and bones of people long dead have been discovered by workmen digging a ditch for a sewer in East Fourth street, near Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues east.

Years ago, when Duluth was considerably smaller than it is now, a cemetery used to be located in this vicinity. But with the population pressing upwards and outwards, the demand for the ground became so persistent that it was removed to what is now known as Forest Hill cemetery.

Other people putting in foundations for their homes have discovered old bones and remains of people who were former residents of Duluth. The finds have startled the laborers, who did not know what to make of them.

The existence of the old graveyard is unknown to the last generation. Many Duluthians, who have been here since the '80s and '90s know of it, but their recollections of it are rather faint.

It is said that when the cemetery was moved the bodies were all supposed to have been dug up and placed in the new lots where Forest Hill is now located. But the work was evidently not done as carefully as it might have been. One man said today that it is probable that the only ones to be removed were those marked by headstones or monuments and others that were easily found nearby.

NOT A CASE OF SCARLET FEVER

City Has Wiped Out Last Trace of Epidemic.

The city of Duluth is without a case of scarlet fever from one end to the other. Woodland, which caused such a disturbance, is cleaned up, and all other cases which have been under the supervision of the health department were discharged today. G. Bernard Shaw, says a story teller in the Berlin Post, never goes to the theater except to see one of his own plays. He was asked recently why he denied himself the pleasure and answered: "You see, I snore so dreadfully that no one near me can sleep with any degree of peace. That is why I do not go to the theater."

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BUSINESS SUSPENDED

All Pittsburg Turns Its Attention to the World's Series.

Tickets Now Selling at 100 Per Cent Over the Original Cost.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 7.—With the world's series games but one day off, Pittsburg practically has abandoned business and turned its attention to baseball and the world's series games which begin here Friday.

The Detroit American league champions will arrive here today and will indulge in secret practice on Forbes field. The Pittsburg team already has put in hours of secret work, and will rest until the opening clash on Friday afternoon.

Through the courtesy of the officials of Greater Pittsburg, Forbes field is being enlarged to take in a section of Schenley park, a city property. Bleachers are being erected on the park slope, and this in a great measure will eradicate the application of ground rules during the championship games.

A list of the stores and business houses who intend to make Friday and Saturday a half-holiday on account of the games published yesterday shows that nine-tenths of the mercantile establishments of the city will close up shop during the series here.

Premiums on seats at Friday's and Saturday's games are being offered on the streets. In a prominent downtown cafe several hundred dollars was placed to purchase seats at the opening games at 50 to 100 per cent over the original cost of the entrance tickets.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 7.—The members of the Detroit American League champions, who did not accompany Manager Jennings to New York for the exhibition game played there yesterday, left last night for Pittsburg. They will join the rest of the team there today and immediately go to Forbes field for final practice before the opening of the world's series.

Pitcher Donovan has a slight attack of malaria, but it is not thought it will interfere with his work.

This morning the sale of 5,000 seats for the games of next Monday and Tuesday at Bennett park, opened and there was a tremendous demand. The $2 and $2.50 reserved seats were all disposed of yesterday.

BANKERS WILL PLAY BROKERS

Market Guessers Will Show Their Ability on Gridiron.

Between the fluctuations of the copper market Duluth brokers are talking football. The brokers are going to play the bankers, and every broker who has ever seen a football has been asked to come out and try for the team. The first practice of the season was held last evening.

"Cy" Forgette, who has played football in high school and college, will give the brokers the benefit of his experience and playing ability. Harry Hanson is another who has played the game before and will don a suit for the clash with the money-handlers.

The bankers will have practices this week and expect to be in shape to trim the market guessers when the teams line up.

TIPS ON SPORT
By BRUCE.

Hurrah for our side!

Yes, sir, it looks as if Minnesota is going to have one of the best teams ever turned out at the Gopher institution of learning. That is what Otto Davies says, and what Otto says goes, with a lot of people.

Otto is the halfback that played in the famous Minnesota-Michigan game of 1903. The score was 6 to 6, and so peeved was Mr. Yost over the unexpected outcome, that he has steadfastly refused to come into the tent since that memorable occasion. Davies and Irsfield, a great pair of backs, played nearly all that game, going out toward the latter part of the game to give place to freshmen. Verily, brother, it was a game that exhausted the fiber of about everybody but one rude, uncouth person named Heston. And if you don't believe it, ask Otto.

But anyway, Davies stated yesterday that Minnesota was or has, a great team, one of the best in the West right now. And the belief is growing that Minnesota has the royal red chance to bring to the classical atmosphere of Minnesota the Western championship, that emblem of football supremacy that has reposed in the vicinity of Chicago since a sad game of a year ago. Which fact leads us to exclaim, with pent up passion included in the remark—"we love you Rhodes scholarship guys, but oh, you football guys."

Davies, who is visiting friends in Duluth, has been assisting in the coaching of Minnesota this fall. He is in a position to know something about the prospects of the team. He believes that Williams has some of the best players in the West, and that with the material at hand, and the degree of progress that the team has shown so far this season, there is every reason to believe that the old gold and maroon will be carried to victories in all of the games of the present season.

This man Johnson is a wonder, according to Davies, and Pickering at fullback looks to be one of the best back field men developed at Minnesota for a long time. With these two men and sawed-off McGovern, the back field, thinks Davies, should compare with any set of backs in the West. The line promises to be one of the strongest ever turned out of the Minnesota football factory. The veteran ends, Pettijohn and Rademacher, are back, and with the men ineligible last year because of the freshman and one-year rule, there is every prospect that the famous Minnesota stonewall line will be revived.

Davies believes that Michigan will have one of the strong Western teams this season. He is inclined to believe that the Minnesota-Michigan game will be one worth traveling some dusty miles to witness, as Mr. Yost, not forgetting that poets have harped long and sometimes laboriously upon the fact that fame is but fleeting, will endeavor, with that degree of enthusiasm made famous by "Hurry-up" Yost, to corner a bunch of fame in his last year of joyous campus life.

The University of Michigan opened Tuesday. The first real scrimmage work of the year was held on Ferry field Monday. From the reports published about the outlook at Michigan, Yost expects to have over fifty candidates on the field the present week. It is generally believed by those who have closely watched the conditions at Ann Arbor, that Yost will have a team that will prove awfully hard to beat.

The defeats of the past two or three years have weighed heavily on the ordinarily cheerful soul of Fielding Yost. Time was once when Fielding Yost was a larger man in the Wolverine state than Hughie Jennings. Alas, Hortense, how times have changed! Today there are those unkind enough to say that Yost has always been a much over-rated man.

Now in the days of old, those halcyon days of free and easy college conditions, Yost used to have one of the most all-American teams that you could wish to gaze at. He had players from abotu every state in the Union but Michigan. The competition for the team was so great that it was pretty hard for the boys from home to get on. Heston came from Sunny California. No one has a very firm recollection of what Mr. Heston did before coming acquainted with Mr. Yost. But nearly everybody in the West has a very distinct idea of what Mister Heston did after becoming a disciple of Yost.

But the fact is this—Yost has had some of the greatest teams in the West, or in the entire country, in the times past. He made Michigan famous, like a liquid beverage worked fame for a German--American city. This may be his last year at Ann Arbor. The students are clamoring for a winning team. Michigan is to play Minnesota, its old enemy, this season. For a hundred reasons, Yost wants to have a good team this year. He is leaving no stone unturned to accomplish this object, and it is rather natural to expect that there will be at least a very dangerous machine at Michigan.

John L. Sullivan is going to root for Ketchel. Isn't that just considerate of John? John says if Ketchel wins he will be the greatest fighter of the age. If John mounted the Masonic temple and yelled as loud as he is capable of, it is just possible that those at the ring side could hear the stentorian tones of the old boy. John can come into our tent any time.

Dennis O'Brien—bless your heart, Dennis—writing from that very funny city of Superior, remonstrates with us for certain qualities of ability attributed to Jack Johnson. How these Irish do not tenderly love the black brother.

Dennis stated that Marvin Hart "knocked out that lazy field nigger Jack Johnson in five rounds at Louisville, six years ago." We would hardly say that, Dennis. The little book that generally contains all that is interesting of a fighter fails miserably to mention the battle you speak of. The only time Lil' Arthah and Marvin Hart clashed, according to the records, was March 28, 1905, the place being San Francisco. Hart received the decision after twenty rounds of stalling, but everybody the least conversant with ring events is aware of the fact that Johnson had the decision by a mile. It was not on the books for the brunette to win.

Dennis says that Ketchel will knock the negro out in less than eighteen rounds. We hope Dennis proves a good prophet. By-the-by, Dennis, how is Sheriff Carlson?

New Record Established.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 7.—In winning the futurity for 2-year-olds, which was the feature of the second day of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association fall meeting, the filly, Native Belle, driven by Thomas W. Murphy, trotted the second mile in 2:07¾ and established a new world's record for horses of her age and gait. The time is likewise equal to the world's 2-year-old pacing record, which was made by Directly in 1894.

WILL HAVE A HOCKEY TEAM

Duluth Puck Chasers Will Get Busy in New Rink.

A meeting of those interested in the forming of a hockey club for this city will be held in the near future. Edward Furni is working for the formation of a strong team, and will call a meeting shortly to take the matter up.

Interest in hockey has increased with the announcement that Duluth is to have a large inclosed rink. There are a number of strong hockey players in the city, and there is no question but that a very strong team could be organized. It is not known as yet whether there will be a professional team here. If Duluth breaks into the hockey league, which is probable, some strong professional players will be secured, in addition to the players here.

Furni says he can secure some of the strongest players in the Northwest, if the rink project goes through. The construction of such a rink as is proposed would assure Duluth admittance to the hockey league that includes the cities of the Copper country, the Soo and some of the Canadian cities.

TITLE MAY BE CARRIED ABROAD

English and Scotch Women Still Remain in National Golf Championship.

Philadelphia, Oct. 7.—An ideal Indian summer day favors the eight survivors in the women's national golf championship tournament who teed off today for the third round of match play on the links of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford. A large gallery followed the players, and the most spirited contests thus far in the championships work is anticipated. The eight contestants include the two strong Scotch players, Miss Dorothy Campbell and Miss Frances Teacher. They chance to be in the top half of the drawing, so that should they both win today they must win in the semi-final round tomorrow. That would present the curious spectacle of two foreign contestants struggling with each other for the American championship, with the best golfers in the United States looking on.

The match between Miss Campbell and Mrs. Charles T. Stout of New York carried the largest gallery. Miss Campbell is the British title holder, and Mrs. Stout has twice won the American championship. Both have been playing at the top of their game, and an interesting exhibition is looked for by the gallery.

Miss Teacher measured her skill against that of Mrs. Caleb Fox of Philadelphia, who always plays a strong game.

The drawings for the day were as follows:

Mrs. Charles T. Sout of New York and Miss Dorothy Campbell of Scotland.

Miss Frances Teacher of Scotland and Mrs. Caleb Fox of Philadelphia.

Miss Margery Phelps of Boston and Miss Edith Noblit of Wilmington.

Miss Isabella Smith of Chicago and Mrs. R. H. Barlow of Philadelphia.

The second match round will also be played in the consolation division, in which there are many defaults.

LONG JIM WINS THE 2:30 PACE

Takes Three Straight Heats After Tie in the First.

Long Jim, W. A. Selden's entry, won the 2:30 pace at the Superior Driving park yesterday. After tieing with Sally Felkner in the first heat, Long Jim went out and won first money in straight heats. Sally Felkner finished at the sulky wheels of Long Jim in each of the next three heats, winning second money from Rosy May, who finished third in each of the four heats. American Count was fourth and Badger C. fifth. Time for heats: 2:22¾, 2:20, 2:23, 2:26.

Four entries faced the starter in the free-for-all pace. Ivan C. won first money, finishing close behind Onadonna in the first heat, and securing the first place in the next three heats. Onadonna secured second money by finishing second in each of the next three heats, Casper Dean winning third money and Better Promise pulling up in fourth place. Time by heats: 2:17¼, 2:13½, 2:15, 2:17.

The 2:27 trot with four promised starters, will be one of the cards this afternoon, the 2:21 pace being the other event. In addition to these races, there will be the Douglas County event, all the horses being owned by Superior citizens. Old Boy and Geography will meet in a special race. The race will be best three in five heats and will be for a side bet of $250.

HARD WORK FOR IRONWOOD GAME

The high school football team held one of the most strenuous practices of the season yesterday afternoon. The scrimmage—work continued for half an hour, and when time was called every man on the first and second teams was ready to quit. Tonight a hard practice will be held and Friday afternoon signals and team work will be perfected.

Yesterday the line men played better than they have in any practice of the season. The second team was able to make some gains, but found the Central line more formidable than it has been at any time this year. The necessity of charging low and hard is being gradually learned by the line men.

It is not known whether the St. Paul Central game will be played. No word has been received from the St. Paul Central manager. The date of the East Side game is indefinite, so that several games on the Central schedule may be shifted around.

If all the games are won by the Central, including the St. Paul Central and Minneapolis East Side games, and East Side or St. Paul Central does not win the Twin City championship, an attempt will be made to arrange a game with the winner of the Twin City championship.

THROWN BEFORE RACING HORSES

George Loomis, Minneapolis Driver, Has Narrow Escape at Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 7.—Thirty thousand people at the state fair races yesterday witnessed a sensational spill in the first heat of the first race. Star, the winner in straight heats of the 2:29 pace on Monday, broke in the scratch when nearing the wire.

Driver Scully was thrown to a safe distance, but Star plunged into Happy Hooligan, whose driver, George C. Loomis of Minneapolis, was thrown on the track immediately in front of the fast-moving racers. Loomis, however, escaped injury Star and Happy Hooligan were favorites in the race, and both were distanced because of the mixup. Star will be unable to race for some time. The weather was fine, and the track fast.

"EXTRAS" ON WORLD'S SERIES

Herald Will Publish Results of Football and Baseball Games.

Interest in the world's championship series between Pittsburg and Detroit is greater than the interest ever shown in any series of baseball games in this country. The reason for the countrywide interest shown is the growing belief that the series will be a closely contested one.

If the Cubs had won the pennant in the National league there would be little interest in the world's championship series between Chicago and Detroit. But with Pittsburg it is very different. Many people believe that Pittsburg is just the kind of a team that the Tigers can beat.

The Evening Herald has completed arrangements to give its readers the latest returns of the big world's series games. An extra will be printed each afternoon of the games, giving the score and details of the struggles. The games open tomorrow at Pittsburg, and tomorrow afternoon The Herald will get out an extra giving the details of the game.

The Saturday afternoon extra will also contain the result of the football games.

SPECULATING ON THE WEATHER

Pittsburg Baseball Fans Are Worrying Over the Elements.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 7.—A dense fog held Pittsburg in its grasp early today, and the great army of baseball followers began speculating on weather conditions tomorrow, when the first game of the Pittsburg-Detroit post-season series is scheduled. From early morning the local office of the United States weather bureau was besieged through telephones and otherwise, by baseball fans asking for "tips" on tomorrow's weather. A part of the Detroit team arrived here today and is quartered at the Colonial Annex hotel. Members of the national commission reached the city about the same time.

All is in readiness for the first game. The police arrangements have been completed. Over 250 officers are to be stationed in and around Forbes field, under the direction of the assistant superintendent of police and the various inspectors. For the purpose of avoiding as much as possible the anticipated congestion at the park, the newspapers today will publish a diagram of the seats, with instructions to seatholders regarding the entrances and exits. A number of new openings have been constructed, and practically every section of the immense structure has individual entrances.

BENEFIT GAME A BIG SUCCESS

Baseball Authographed and Used By Christy Mathewson Brings $275.

New York, Oct. 7.—For the benefit of Sam Crane, a veteran baseball player and newspaper writer, the New York and Detroit American league teams played an exhibition game yesterday at American league park. Detroit, with Joe McGinnity pitching, won by a score of 8 to 4. Christy Mathewson of the New York Nationals, pitched three innings for the local American league club. He was followed by Lake. The receipts of the game amounted to nearly $7,000. A ball pitched by Mathewson and autographed by him, was sold at auction for $275, while the bat with which Cobb of Detroit made most of his hits this season brought $50. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
Detroit	200040002	8	10	1
New York	002001001	4	12	5

Batteries—McGinnity and Casey and Stanage; Mathewson, Lake and Blair and Farrell.

Races Without Feature.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 7.—The offering at Churchill Downs yesterday afternoon was devoid of a head-liner. With well-balanced field in the six races down for decision, the play in the machines was fairly active. Jockey Goz started the card by piloting the first two winners to victory, while the talent got away with flying colors, when Stoneman in the second, and Bruce Rice in the third, finished winning favorites.

Billiard Scores.

At the Central billiard hall yesterday, Herman Brown defeated T. Olson by the score of 100 to 91, and in the evening defeated John Gutchey by the score of 100 to 61. Brown made a high run of twenty-three in the afternoon game.

HARD WORK FOR GOPHERS

Williams Puts His Men Through Two Hours of Stiff Practice.

Ames Is Not Feared, But Coach Takes No Chances.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The varsity football squad was put through an unusually hard practice last night. The grind was kept up for more than two hours, and the men were not sent to the Armory until after 6. Coach Williams did not seem to be at all satisfied with the work of the team last night. It was a little loose, and the second team time after time made gains through the varsity line. When the scrimmage started, "Doc" Williams said, "A fifteen-minutes scrimmage now, boys." The coach did not seem to like the way in which the second team walked on the first, and so the men were kept at it until an hour had been disposed of.

Webster and Shevlin, football stars of other days, were out assisting Williams. What one coach couldn't think of, another could. A couple of new stunts for training the men were tried. One of these was the placing of six men on the field in a direct line with one another, and about thirty feet apart. Then the rest of the team was sent running through this line. The object of the man-lined-up was to tag the runner, the object of the running was to dodge by the tagger. This stunt proved of great benefit. The way some of the men tore through the line was a caution. McGovern and Johnson both dodged the entire six men more than once. Some of the others were not so slow, either. Pockering, the big fullback, usually got by without being tagged more than once, and Stevens, the clever left half, showed up good in this new game.

The coaches do not fear the Ames' game, which comes Saturday, so very much, but as large a score as was run up in the Iowa game is not expected. Ames came close to beating Minnesota last year, and will bear watching this season. They have a number of veterans back and as they always send up a team composed of speedy and gritty players, they are sure to give Minnesota a tough fight.

The gloom from the Nebraska camp is so thick that it is blinding. The Cornhuskers made a very poor showing last Saturday, but it was probably due more to the cleverness of the opposing team than to the poor playing of the Bryan boys. At any rate, Minnesota people do not in t he least care for a 0 to 0 score, which was the outcome of the Minnesota-Nebraska game last year.

Minnesota's coming opponents do not seem to want to leave things alone, and bear stories are daily reaching Minneapolis from Stagg's camp. Nothing but desolation is pictured by the Standard Oil coach. All these stories are taken by the Gopher adherents with several grains of salt. Sig Harris spent car fare to go down to Chicago last Saturday, in order to see the Maroons play Purdue, and he said it wasn't worth the price. Harris did say, however, that Stagg had another wonderful player in Fage, who not only can play the quarterback and end positions well, but who can also boot the ball far better than any man the Gophers have. Harris was not all discouragement, however, and so the Minnesota rooters are not at all downcast

From all the reports received from Chicago, with the exception of Stagg's own depressing stories, Marshall Field more resembles a bee hive than anything else. Stagg's men are out from early till late, tackling the dummy, falling on the ball, running signals and going through the entire program of practice. Several stunts of Stagg's own invention are tried, such as dodging through a field of upright posts, racing after the ball and turning handsprings off the goal posts. Stagg is just about as foxy a coach as there is in the business. He can always be depended upon to turn out a strong and aggressive team. As the Midway coach has six veterans back, including the wonder, Pat Page, his team this year will be fully up to the standard. Chicago money has already reached Minneapolis to be placed on the Minnesota game, and this alone shows the great faith the Chicago rooters place in Stagg.

Contracts Announced.

New York, Oct. 7.—President Heydler of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs yesterday announced the following contracts: With Boston, William Cooney, Case Evans; with Chicago, Paul Brown, Leonard L. Cole, W. S. Davidson, Walter S. Hart, Fred Luderus, John Mitchell; with Cincinnati, W. R. Johnson, Mike Konnick, Arthur McCabe, Patrick Maloney.

YALE, 12; HOLY CROSS, 0.

Both Elevens Played Listless Ball Owing to Extreme Heat.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 7.—Yale and Holy Cross played an uninteresting game of football here yesterday. Yale won, 12 to 0. Both teams, except in the latter part of the second half, played listlessly owing to the extreme heat.

Yale's scores were made in the first half. Messenger made a 10-yard gain which was duplicated by Field, and Philbin then took the ball around the end 35 yards for the first touchdown. Hobbs kicked goal.

The second was made after Yale had been held for downs. Shied had to punt and the punt was blocked by Hobbs, who scored and then kicked goal.

Navy Team Outplayed.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 7.—The Navy opened the football season here yesterday afternoon and was clearly outplayed by the much lighter but faster eleven of St. John's college, and while the score was—Navy, 16; St. John's, 6—all of the glory goes to the college team. The Navy line was weak, and the back field men who started the game were totally unable to gain through the very light but aggressive line of St. John's.

The Tigers Win.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 7.—Princeton won a football game from Villa Nova yesterday, 12 to 0. A fifty-yard run by McCrohan for a touchdown in the first half, and two goals from the field by Cunningham, were the only features.

Fall colds are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, the great throat and lung remedy. The genuine contains no harmful drugs. Sold by all druggists.

CHEAP POWER NOW ASSURED

Fort Frances Will Greatly Benefit From Construction of Dam.

Fort Frances, Ont., Oct. 7.—Ormund Higman, chief electrician for the Dominion government, was here Monday for a trip of inspection to the big power dam. Mr. Higman said that the hydro-electric power plant now being installed here was one of the finest in Canada. He predicted that on account of the advantageous contract made by the provincial and Dominion governments with the power company on behalf of Fort Frances, that in a short time residents would have their houses and places of business not only lighted, but heated, by electricity.

Fort Frances will get her power off the wires at $12 per horse power per annum, which will make lighting very cheap. The electric lights for street lighting are to be installed this month, and by December the entire lighting system will be in working order.

DULUTH MEANS BUSINESS.

The enthusiasm shown at last evening's meeting of the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club is mightily significant.

It means that Duluth is in deadly earnest; that Duluth means business.

It means that this city is tired of taking what anybody chooses to give it, and that it means to go out and get what belongs to it; by peaceable, friendly persuasion if possible, but by hard, persistent fighting if necessary.

It means that this city has thrown off the drowsy complacency that has permitted other communities, not half so well located, to get ahead of it.

It means that this city is going to earn and deserve and get the business and prosperity that belong to it; that it is going to see that the railroads give it just as combinations that affect the price of living; that it is going to see that its people are not held up by unfair combinations that effect the price of living; that it is going to see that conditions of markets and traffic arrangements that have kept the cost of living too high are corrected; that it is going to see that new industries seeking locations shall have every encouragement and that conditions here shall be such as to invite their immediate entrance.

The public spirit of Duluth is aroused as it never was before. Money and personal energy are needed to set this public spirit at work upon definite and clearly defined objects, and both money and effort will be forthcoming. There will be work for everybody, and everybody will work.

The present conditions of affairs in Duluth is more gratifying than it has been in many a day. The iron is hot, and now is the time to strike. Years of neglect have piled up a vast quantity of work, but it is being attacked with cheerful confidence, and though not everything can be done in a moment, there is a work to do that will bring results almost from the start. Every citizen of Duluth should do his duty, and as the campaign proceeds the course of each individual will be made clear.

The offer of $10,000 from four wholesale houses to be used in attacking the railroad situation, providing an equal amount is raised by the citizens, puts the campaign well ahead, and there should be no difficulty in raising the required amount.

Duluth is going ahead; let everybody get behind and push.

WHAT THREE DRINKS WILL BUY.

A drink a day at 5 or 15 cents doesn't take much money; neither do three drinks a day at 5 or 15 cents. But when you buy them every day of the year, they amount to a good deal.

During one of the recent prohibition campaigns in Ohio a card was circulated among the voters, bearing the signatures of twelve local grocers below the following offer:

> Anyone who drinks three glasses of whisky a day for one year and pays 10 cents a drink for it, can have for the same money—and get $15.30 premium for making the change in his expenditures—the following groceries:

3 bbls. flour.
20 bus. potatoes.
200 lbs. granulated sugar.
1 bbl. crackers.
1 lb. pepper.
2 lbs. tea.
50 lbs. salt.
20 lbs. rice.
50 lbs. butter.
10 lbs. cheese.
12 pkgs. rolled oats.
25 lbs. coffee.
10 lbs. candy.
3 doz. cans tomatoes.
10 doz. pickles.
10 doz. oranges.
10 doz. bananas.
2 doz. cans corn.
18 boxes matches.
½ bu. beans.
100 cakes soap.

The sum spent in a year for three drinks a day at 10 cents a drink will buy an amount of groceries that would represent wealth to thousands of families. The man who takes three drinks a day for himself, in nine cases out of ten, pays for many more drinks than that, because he "treats." The man who does this habitually, therefore, is pouring down his own throat and the throats of his companions potatoes, flour, coffee, sugar, tea, butter, and other household necessaries that belong to his family.

From an economic viewpoint, nobody ever wrote a stronger temperance argument than did those twelve grocers.

But it is not only a temperance argument. It is an argument for sensible economy, for thrift, for saving, for looking out for a rainy day. That 30 cents a day dropped into the liquor-dealer's till buys nothing but temporary exhiliration, accompanied by a steady and lasting physical and moral deterioration. Thirty cents a day dropped into a savings bank for a year will buy half a year's groceries for an ordinary family.

Drinking isn't the only leak through which the family prosperity drips away, though it is a big one in many families. It will be good for those families which cannot afford leaks if the heads will look over that list of the things they have been drinking up, and consider how unfairly they have been treating their wives and children in indulging their appetites with these household necessaries. But those who always take street cars for short distances which they could walk to the benefit of their healths and their pocketbooks are also frittering away groceries and shoes and hats and dresses and stockings. Those who let their incomes dribble away through other small and unnoticed leaks are unconsciously injuring themselves and their families.

It would be a good thing in almost any household if the wife and husband were to sit down with a block of paper and a pencil and figure out where the leaks are; it would be a better thing if, after having found the leaks, they immediately stopped them up. The average worker in the ranks, whether he is a laborer or an artisan or a salesman or a bookkeeper, gets little enough anyway, and has little enough ahead of him. He can't afford to let the savings, that should be going into the bank against the proverbial rainy day, trickle out through the small leaks and vanish forever, leaving nothing worth having behind.

WHY NOT PASS IT AROUND?

President Taft has helped much—far more, apparently, than he realizes—by his ingenuous admission that the protective tariff is in its nature and effect nothing more nor less than a taxing of the many for the benefit of those engaged in manufacturing. For years his party has denied this. It has accounted for its denial by statements more or less absurd—at one time by the theory that the foreigner paid the tax on imports, and that therefore American consumers were nothing out. It is strange that this theory found believers and advocates, but it did.

Now, however, the nominal leader of the Republican party—with apologies to the senator from Rhode Island who is not only the actual leader of that party but also the Boss of the Republic—is out in the open with the frank admission that the protective tariff is a tax upon the American people for the benefit of the manufacturers. He does not pretend that it is for the aid of infant industries requiring artificial stimulation; it is for the profit of industries firmly grounded and already paying rich dividends wrung from the people's need.

Also, he proposes a further tax upon the American people for the benefit of ocean shipping interests. They can't, he says, earn profits now; so the people should be taxed to provide those profits. He doesn't propose anything so sensible as free shipbuilding materials or free ships. A simpler way, so long as the people will stand it, is to levy a tax and turn the proceeds over.

Following out this kind of logic, why should this thing of taxing the people to provide profits for business interests be so limited?

Why not levy a tax to provide profits for the newspaper business, the grocery business, the business of selling meat and onions and gas and electricity and anything else that can stand more profits?

Why not, indeed, levy a tax to provide more profit in the sale of labor? Labor is the only commodity on earth that is sold at cost; and often it is sold at less than cost, as thousands of people whose earnings do not yield enough good nourishment to keep them bodily efficient can testify. Why not levy a tax to provide surplus profits for labor?

Why, indeed, should this distribution of government generosity stop with the manufacturing and the shipping industries? Wouldn't it be fairer to let everybody in on it? And when everybody is supplied, why not start in all over again, and distribute a second round? For instance, the coal and lumber and oil and wool trusts, already plentifully bulwarked with tariff bounties, could do with a little more; why not enlarge the subsidy idea by giving them direct bounties in addition to the indirect bounties with which the tariff lavishly supplies them?

What is fair for one is fair for another. The gander has an appetite for the sauce which the goose relishes. The government should pass this generosity around, and let everybody in on it.

And when everybody was supplied, we should all be taxing ourselves to make our own livings. We should be in the position of the colony of impoverished aristocrats whose members, being without funds or ability to earn funds, decided to make their livings by taking in each other's washing.

GAYNOR AND BANNARD.

Fusion having taken to the woods in New York, and Tammany having been inspired by the fear of popular wrath, the Republicans have nominated a gentleman of the name of Bannard for mayor, and the Democrats—Tammany—have nominated Judge William J. Gaynor.

Tammany's astuteness has, it would appear, rather confused the real issue in New York, which ought to be the overthrow of Tammany and the erection in its place of a progressive business administration. Judge Gaynor, so far as we may judge at this distance, is a perfectly respectable candidate, though the country knows little about him except that he was recently instrumental in furnishing the excuse for the decapitation of the most honest and efficient police commissioner New York has had in many a day. Mr. Bannard, though still less known, seems to be respectable, too; though a Republican organization which isn't a great deal cleaner than Tammany seems to have nominated him.

It is rather a puzzling situation. Seeking light upon it from the New York newspapers, The Herald has accumulated a great deal of information about Judge Gaynor, but somehow it doesn't seem to help very much.

The Times says that Gaynor is a "curious cross between a fanatic and a demagogue," with more to the same effect.

The World says that Gaynor's nomination is a Tammany surrender to civic ideals, upon which the people are to be congratulated.

The Tribune says that Judge Gaynor is a candidate who is singularly without qualifications for an extraordinarily difficult place.

The Press hasn't the slightest doubt that thousands of Republicans will vote for Gaynor.

The Sun said one morning that a worse man might have been chosen, but that it would have been a deuce of a job. Next morning, conscience-stricken, it made amends for this rather slender compliment to the excellent judge: it said that on second thought it didn't believe it possible to have found a worse man.

The American says that Gaynor is a better man than Jerome; which does not seem to be especially pertinent to the discussion.

The Post says that Gaynor's nomination by Tammany, even though he be a good man, places him under bonds to that organization; which does not necessarily follow, though Tammany isn't famous for letting loose of anything unnecessarily.

The Globe says that if the forces back of the Gaynor candidacy were widely understood, his only support would be that of lawbreakers and intending lawbreakers. But the Globe is a Republican newspaper.

Now this is all interesting, but not informing. Only two things are clear, and both of these are good to know. One is that McClellan, who has displayed even less force and ability than did his soldier father, is not going to be mayor of New York any more. The other is that the scattering musketry of the preliminary skirmish indicates that it is going to be a right lively and instructive contest, which may help to take out of the public mouth the bad taste of the Cook-Peary controversy.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about live topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective however.)

ONE DISSENTING VOICE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Kindly allow me space to answer the question of the high cost of living in Duluth, compared with St. Paul and Minneapolis, which I will do without any guess work or personal interest, as I have none to serve, beyond the fact that I can not stand still and allow unfavorable impressions to become created against our beautiful city, where there is no foundation for it.

In the first place, Duluth people are just like other people, except that the general prosperity has driven us into extravagance, and we are all living on a high scale. Hence it is that during periods of depression, when times throughout the country are depressed, and which are to a greater or less extent felt here, the extravagance has to bring its natural consequences.

To return to the actual cost of living here in Duluth, it is not any higher than elsewhere, where supplies are bought in the same way.

For instance, in the report of the real estate exchange, it is stated that the price of potatoes in Minneapolis is 35 to 40 cents per bushel and 75 cents in Duluth, which is true; but the 35 to 40 cents per bushel is the price paid on the public market by the load, or bag—no peck measure about it. If you buy a load it will be delivered to you, but if you buy a bushel basket or a bag, you must either have your own conveyance or hire a dray to take it home. As a result, the great majority of people buy in the small way at the grocery store and pay 20 to 25 cents per peck, just what you pay in Duluth. One can do the same thing in Duluth. Let the good housewife take her market basket and go to the market and buy her supplies, pay cash and take the stuff home, as of yore. Then there will be the reasonable saving of 25 to 50 per cent. The same thing applies to other commodities, such as general groceries, meats, etc.

Do the retailers make undue profits? I think not, when you take the high cost of labor, horse feed, rents, lights, telephones, etc., and above all the delivery of goods from the stores. Take, for instance, potatoes. Granting that they can be delivered here in car lots at 50 cents per bushel, cash. A customer orders through the telephone "a half a bushel of potatoes, please." It requires a clerk's time to put them up. The driver must then put them on the delivery wagon, drive upon an average ten blocks and deliver. Next month the bookkeeper makes up the bill and mails it for collection. Finally, the bookkeeper enters a check from the buyer of that peck of potatoes, and this deal is closed. Whereas, if the consumer would go back to old ways, take off the telephone, go to the grocery or meat market, buy economically, pay cash, and bring home their daily supplies, the dealers would soon make a list for the cash buyers who are living on an economic basis, and the so-called rich who live high.

Much has been said concerning rents in Duluth. Now I know what I am talking about when I say that rents, if anything, are cheaper in Duluth than they are in St. Paul and Minneapolis, but the Duluth people have drilled themselves into crying down rents and owners of property, when, as a matter of fact, people who invest money in real estate find that other cities pay greater dividends. Hence it is that we do not have as many buildings to rent as you find in other cities.

Now let us pull together, let us show Duluth's advantages and encourage home industries; let us buy at home all we can and keep our own men at work, and help to establish small factories and become a source of supply. Our splendid water power ought to furnish a very large number of small factories with power and keep our men at work. Let us organize factories and go to work, and quit fault-finding.

P. BENETEAU.

Duluth, Oct. 6.

ANOTHER ARGUMENT FOR A MARKET.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been requested to call your attention to the following matter by James Brownlee of Deerwood.

Under date of Oct. 2, a Duluth dealer wrote the following letter to Mr. Brownlee:

"The market on potatoes is away down here at present and I am buying them at 35 cents per bushel on track here. If you can furnish potatoes at that price here, sacked, let me know and I will be glad to give you the business."

On the day in question potatoes were quoted at 55 cents per bushel in the prices published by the commission men and Mr. Brownlee wants to know why the prices actually paid for produce cannot be quoted.

This is a complaint that I run against every day.

GEORGE H. DAHL.

Deerwood, Oct. 5.

(The prices quoted for produce published in The Herald, are furnished by the commisson men. This might be taken as an argument for the establishment of a public market here, which would definitely fix prices, so that outside shippers would know what to expect.—The Editor.)

The Wool Tariff In the Making.

Kansas City Times: In his Winona speech President Taft expressed the opinion that the duties on wool were too high. The way these duties came to be agreed upon is a striking illustration of the practical workings of the protective system. The evidence is readily accessible in the published "tariff hearings" before the ways and means committee.

A letter is printed in the "hearings" that was addressed to Chairman Payne by the secretary of the National Wool Growers' association. It "begs to advise" Mr. Payne that the wool schedule had been thoroughly discussed by representatives of the National Wool Growers' association and the National Association of Wool Manufacturers at a meeting held in Chicago, Oct. 15, 1908. The resolution then adopted is referred to the committee on ways and means. This rsolution declares it to be "the sense of this meeting that in the coming revision of the tariff the present duties both on wool and woolen goods be maintained without reduction."

The Republican platform, of course, had pledged the party to a revision based on the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. The woolen manufacturers reported to the committee, "We should have been glad to furnish you with information relating to comparative costs of production of woolen goods, but this is unobtainable."

So the committee, having no information to go on, did as it was told and the Dingley woolen schedule was maintained. The beneficaries were permitted to write the tariff.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Politics and religion are habit; morals, fashion.

Pride can take its fall and think it was an ascension.

The reason a woman can go mad over a man is he ought to over her.

What gives people keenness about things is the danger they may turn its edge.

You can tell when a girl is pretty by the way she will believe you if you say so.

A Cinderella.

New York Sun: The Payne-Aldrich tariff was a Cinderella. Nobody thought much of it at first. Now Mr. Taft and Mr. McCall have told us that it is the most perfect and the loveliest that has been or that will be. All right; only don't do it again. It is not humane to expose a doting people to such hopeless perfection.

Governor Harmon a Cynosure.

Atlanta Georgian: Since the death of Governor Johnson the eyes of the country have been focused upon Governor Harmon of Ohio. Apart from the prestige which Governor Harmon gained in President Cleveland's cabinet, he is commended by his consistent record of public service and by his success in swinging the Buckeye state into the Democratic columns in the last governor's election.

THE WEATHER.

And still the delightful fall weather continues. One perfect day has followed another for weeks, with only a fog to mar the beauty of the long spell of Duluth's delightful autumn climate.

The weather man looks for rain tonight or Friday.

A year ago today it was cold and clear.

The sun rose this morning at 6:15, and will set at 5:37, making eleven hours and twenty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The Alberta disturbance has moved its center to Saskatchewan. During the past twenty-four hours it has caused rain in Western Canada, the Rocky mountains and Eastern slopes. Temperatures have risen slightly over the western lake region and upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys. The barometer remains high over Eastern states and have risen decidedly over North Pacific districts; in the latter section cooler weather attends the high pressure. Indications favor rain in St. Louis and Douglas counties during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Detroit Free Press: "Did your wife bring many souvenirs back from Europe?"

"I should say she did. Sixteen spoons, a silver sugar and creamer, a dessert fork and eight wine glasses, all from different hotels, too."

Ally Sloper: Poet (with emotion)—All people seem to scorn my poetry; but I suppose when I die everyone will go into raptures.

Editor—Oh, yes—at least—all the editors will, I should think.

Fliegende Blatter: Newly married wife—My husband understands absolutely nothing about cooking. It doesn't matter what I make, he always thinks it is something else.

Success: There is an elder of a certain church up state who thinks that things are only half done or not well started in which he has no voice. At a prayer meeting he offered thanks for the safe return from their vacation of the minister and his wife. With proper dignity and in a loud voice he said: "O Lord, we thank Thee for bringing our pastor safe home, and his dear wife, too. O Lord, for Thou preservest man and beast." The "dear wife" has made a change in her visiting list since then.

Cleveland Leader: "What does your husband like for his breakfast?"

"Anything I haven't got in the house."

Louisville Courier-Journal: "That man couldn't interpret a single passage of the Constitution."

"Yet you naturalized him, Judge?"

"Well, he was away up on batting averages. I guess he'll make a good American."

Detroit Free Press: "My husband is suffering from polaritis."

"Polaritis! What sort of disease is that?"

"It's a new disease. I'm beginning to doubt everything he tells me."

Tit Bits: Wife—In a battle of tongues a woman can hold her own.

Husband—M'yes, p'raps she can; but she never does.

Life: "Don't you like that quotation from Shakespeare: 'The friends thou has and their adoption tried, grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel'?" he asked, soulfully.

"I think hoops of gold would be better," said the summer girl, shyly.

Chicago Tribune: Jason had found the golden fleece. "It isn't like discovering the North Pole," he said. "I've got to take it back with me." Still, even when he returned with it there were doubters who declared that it was neither all wool nor a yard wide.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "Couldn't you give something from out of your abundance to help a poor woman?"

"Why, certainly; I'll contribute an old sheath gown and some puffs."

A New Federal Crime.

Harper's Weekly: We read in the papers of a new federal statute, effective after Jan. 1, 1910, which reads:

"No person shall make, issue, circulate or pay out any note, check, memorandum or token or other obligation for a less sum than $1, intended to circulate as money or to be received or used in lieu of lawful money of the United States, and every person so offending shall be fined not more than $500, or imprisoned not more than six months, or both."

Which means that after New Year's the people of this country cannot draw checks for less than $1.

Why not?

We hope to find some one who happened to be looking when this curious statute became a law (if it really did become a law), who will explain its warrants and intentions.

Mr. Bannard on Personal Liberty.

New York Evening Post: As for the personal liberty issue of which Judge Gaynor is certain to make much, Mr. Bannard is at pains to make it clear that he believes that "personal liberty is freedom to do right" but "trespassing on the rights of others in the name of personal liberty is lawlessness." Not even a jurist could state it better.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

Gen. John T. Averill of St. Paul is dead after an illness of several months. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. H. Stowell of Duluth reached St. Paul a few hours before his death. Gen. Averill was an early settler in Minnesota and served several terms in the state senate and was a member of congress from 1871 to 1875. He was a member of the Republican national committee for twelve years from 1868. Gen. Averill, who was 68 years of age, was head of the wholesale paper house of Averill, Carpenter & Co., and his wealth is estimated at from $400,000 to $600,000. He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. Stowell of this city and Miss Averill.

T. G. Hillhouse, president of the Metropolitan Trust company, is in the cty. He is a large owner of Duluth real estate and also owns tracts of land on the banks of Knife river, which stream he says he will convert into a private trout preserve.

Mrs. James Mallock has returned from Montreal, bringing her mother, Mrs. Lavaque.

B. T. Hewitt of Hollidaysburg, Pa., a member of the Duluth law firm of White & Hewitt, is in the cty for a few days' visit.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. McDonald, who have had apartments at the Spalding for the past six months, have left for St. Paul and will make that city their future home.

Peck & Son will saw another season in their present location, after which they will move up the bay.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Thief River Falls News: Bob Dunn is to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor next year, and this is going to insure a full attendance. Bob's friends and enemies always turn out when he wants anything.

Le Sueur News: Now, who is who in Minnesota politics? The race is started and a number are warming on the track. Let them fight, voters; you have your pick of two, anyhow, regardless of conventions.

Princeton Union: For the time being the "Kitchen Cabinet" has been superseded by the "Amalgamated Interests' Guardians." The latter body is in session continuously these days. The selection of a premier is a weighty matter and requires much deliberation.

Elk River Star-News: J. Adam Bede is figuring on being a standpatter candidate to succeed Congressman Miller, who was one of the insurgents. Here is a chance for public sentiment to declare itself.

Madison Independent Press: The Canby News brings out John N. Johnson of Canby for governor. We fear Brother Brynildsen is picking his fruit before it is fully ripe.

Roseau Region: In the last national campaign the only issue of any prominence that separated Republicans and Democrats was the tariff. Nowadays when that question is discussed it is mighty hard to tell who is a Republican and who is a Democrat.

Austin Transcript: If Senator Aldrich favors a central bank of issue we are against it on general principles, and we do not know anything about banking.

St. Cloud Times: Minneapolis may have a John A. Johnson school building, the matter being under consideration by the board. Two Harbors has a John A. Johnson school building—named three or four years ago.

Mora Times: J. Adam Bede's paper, Bede's Budget, is criticising Congressman Miller because he became an insurgent and voted against the tariff bill. Miller's vote suits the Eighth district pretty well, even if it does not suit Mr. Bede.

Princeton Union: Duluth banks have more than $3,000,000 in deposits over the amount reported by them last year. This shows thrift and progress. Some day we will have to chop this old state in two and make Duluth the capital of Northern Minnesota.

A Homogeneous Nation.

New York World: All travelers through the West and South have been struck by that "homogeneity of the American people" which has impressed President Taft during his tour of the country. In his address at Seattle Mr. Taft said:

"We all wear the same clothes, even to the latest fashions in the bonnets of the ladies; we all speak the same language and have the same ideas and aspirations. One of the things that strikes one going around the country is the exactly similar attitude the people all occupy toward the questions that affect them in the same way."

A New Yorker has only to cross the continent to hear San Francisco, 3,000 miles away, humming Broadway's newest topical song. He will see clothes the same cut as his own, the same hats and haberdashery. In the hotels are the palm rooms and Pompeian parlors he left behind. So entirely has one touch of fashion made the whole country that "Dutch necks" appear simultaneously on Fifth and Michigan avenues and the latest confections of the New York modiste blossom out in Butte or Galveston.

St. Paul reads the same "best sellers" as Boston. The whole country laughs at the same jokes, works out the same jigsaw puzzles, discusses the same questions—"Salome," Dr. Cook, New York mayoralty issues and candidates, prohibition or license, baseball, Sunday observance. It spices its speech with the same slang expressions.

Manners, morals, political views, have all undergone a standardization which is one of the remarkable aspects of American evolution. Perhaps it is in the uniformity of language that this development has been most noteworthy. Outside of the Tennessee mountains and the back country of New England there is no true dialect. By his R we may still know the Bostonian, and there are many foreigners who cling to the mother tongue. But we have nothing corresponding to the dialect of the cockney. History affords no example of so complete a linguistic fusion among so large a population.

Goods News For Kissees.

Law Notes: The commercial court at Vienna had to decide recently whether the law recognized a distinction between kissing and being kissed. Herr Meyer, a bookkeeper, brought suit against his late employers, alleging that they had wrongfully discharged him. The defendants set up in justification that Herr Meyer had a pernicious habit of kissing the stenographers, which they deemed to be prejudicial to their business, as it took the girls' minds off their work. Herr Meyer's counsel, however, produced witnesses who swore they had witnessed some of the osculatory performances and that the ladies were the aggressors in every instance, though it did not appear that the plaintiff had repelled the advances as strenuously as he might have done. The court gave judgment in favor of Herr Meyer for a month's salary, holding that the mere passive receipt of a kiss did not constitute kissing in the eyes of the law.

Too Late.

Success: A member of the faculty of the Columbia medical college of New York was giving his students an oral quiz.

"What quantity constitutes a dose of Oleum Tiglii?" he asked a student, giving the technical name for croton oil.

"A tablespoonful, sir," was the reply.

The professor made no comment, but the student soon realized that he had made a grave mistake. After the lapse of half an hour, he went to the professor.

"I should like," he said, "to change my answer to the question you asked me in class."

"It is too late," replied the professor, looking at his watch. "Your patient has been dead just twenty-nine minutes and thirty seconds."

TAFT IN MINNESOTA.

Anoka Free Press (Dem.): "Party solidarity was once a meaning phrase in party politics. Today it is a phrase attractive only to those who wish to excuse themselves for personal slavery to political dictators. If President Taft believes that solidarity of party exceeds in importance the prosperity of the people we may expect from his administration other acts just so undesirable as the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and retention in Washington with presidential approval of other legislators as deservedly unpopular as Aldrich and Cannon.

Foley Independent (Rep.): The people out this way demand downward revision and Mr. Taft, who has been spending the past summer in the midst of protection loving New England, will undoubtedly find out that such is the case before he returns to Washington. In his ponderous way he speaks of party solidarity. Pray for what, and whom are parties organized and maintained? Is it not for the purpose of establishing cardinal principles which a certain portion of the people desire? When a party in power fails to attain the ends desired by its votaries, must it not be said that it has failed either in part or in whole? While the West does not wholly approve of the Republican party she points with pride to the record of her Nelsons, Clapps, Lindberghs, Davises, La Follettes, Cummings and other great lights of progress. We, of the West, believe they are the true type of Republicanism, as understood and practiced by Lincoln, Blaine and Roosevelt, and will probably withhold approval from a man who has virtually repudiated his own promises and allowed such men as Cannon and Aldrich to assert their evil power to the detriment of the American people.

Elk River Star-News: The stalwart politicians are very indignant because the newspapers comment independently on the remarks of the president, not being able to understand that conditions are constantly changing, and nowhere are the changes more pronounced than in the refusal of the press to take their opinions from the machine politicians who are a decade behind the times in methods. The party lash no longer has the terror it used to have; the newspapers no more permit a lot of political barnacles to tell them where to get off at, and we think it is a very encouraging innovation.

Sandstone Courier: President Taft evidently did not know the people of this state when he delivered that speech at Winona. Such a declaration might have been accepted ten years ago, but it raises a great stir of protest just now. He claims in order to have a popular government we must have representatives, to have representatives we must have parties, and to have parties these representatives must stick to a party.

"Vote for your party," was the cry a few years ago. The people did vote for their party and the result was the building of a machine run by a few political bosses—and the people are now trying to break up that machine. This is a period where the spirit of independence is revealed, by the independent voter, and they will not work for a party unless that party delivers the goods.

President Taft and Congressman Tawney have both shown that they favor Cannon and his gang, in opposition to the wishes of the people, and the voter will henceforth cast his ballot accordingly. A servant of the corporations is not a good representative for the people who put him into office. The people of Minnesota are rightfully indignant over Taft's attempt to bolster up Tawney's rapidly dwindling support in the First district.

Mora Times (Rep.): The president said in his Winona speech that the new tariff bill was the best tariff law ever passed. The others must have been awful bad.

Big Falls Compass (Rep.): Probably the most important as well as the most statesman-like speech which President Taft will deliver during his present junket of 13,000 miles was the one he delivered at Winona last Friday, on the recently passed tariff bill. In it he gave some good sound advice along the line of the necessity for party unity, and suggested that it was the duty of the representatives to stay by their party, even though the bills for which they are sometimes required to vote do not meet all their wishes, but are the best that can be gotten, under the circumstances.

Cass County Interested.

Cass Lake, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saloonmen all over Cass county are eagerly awaiting the enforcement of the recent order of the interior department relative to saloons on lands in Indian reesrvations.

The order, if enforced, is going to be a hard blow to the villages, especially to Walker and Cass Lake. The license money which the villages have received from the saloons has been a great help in paying the village expenses.

There are saloons in both Cass Lake and Walker, where liquor has not been sold to Indians, and people interested have put the question up to the government as to why all should suffer because a few have disobeyed the law. The department, it is quite firmly believed, will make some compensation.

PROBE NOT SUPERFICIAL

Reports on Cost of Living Here Will Be Complete.

Committees Now at Work on Different Phases of Case.

The Commercial club's probe of the cost of living in Duluth will not be a superficial one.

The committees now at work on the question propose to go to the bottom of it, and they are getting the most complete figures on the problem which it is possible to secure.

There are two committees at work. One committee consts of W. A. McGonagle, E. W. Bohannon, S. T. Harrison, C. W. Andrews, and J. J. Eklund. This committee is investigating what it costs different clases of people to live in Duluth. The committee has access to many valuable sources of information, and complete statistics are being gathered from the ore dock workers, the blast furnace employes, and many large industrial concerns in the city. Figures will also be secured from Buffalo, Chicago and the Twin Cities, and when the tables are complete they will show some accurate and complete statistics, comparing the cost of living here and in other cities along the lakes, and in the Northwest.

The second committee is working along the line of finding out just why provisions should cost more here than in other cities. This committee is composed of O. H. Simonds, J. G. Williams, E. A. Schultz, C. P. Craig and A. B. Hostetter. This is a special committee appointed for the purpose, and is distinct from the regular agricultural sub committee which reported last evening on the advisability of establishing a market here This special committee is for the purpose of investigating the situation, and finding out why produce costs more here than in other cities. Mr. Simonds reported progress last evening, but said that the committee members proposed to make the investigation a thorough one, and were after facts. He said that they were not ready yet to submit a report. He asked for the assistance of the other members and of citizens in general. Anybody who has information bearing on this subject is requested to furnish it to the secretary of the club or to any of the members of the committee. Facts and figures and complaints are what the committee members want, and they propose to make their report complete and reliable, before presenting it.

DULUTH WILL BEGIN CAMPAIGN FOR JUSTICE IN THE MATTER OF RAILROAD TARIFFS

tary thereto, do feel that such development and welfare depends almost altogether upon securing for Duluth what Duluth is entitled to from its natural advantages and location in the way of just and reasonable freight rates and freight and passenger service to and from Duluth, which rates and service at the present time are most discriminatory against us. Also to secure for Duluth adequate terminal facilities for all roads entering here. All of which seems entirely possible and certain.

"Now, therefore, we, the undersigned, propose to pay over to your committee the sum of $10,000 in cash as fast as the same is required to be used for the purposes and to be applied as hereinafter named, providing your committee will raise an equal amount, making $20,000 in all.

"The purposes and the manner of handling this fund of $20,000, or any additions thereto, shall be as follows: One-third of this sum or any additions thereto shall be for the sole use of your committee and available for any purposes you may desire or see fit. The balance, or two-thirds or any additions thereto, shall be for the sole use of the committee on transportation and mail service, which committee, by your permission, shall be headed by a chairman to be selected by us.

Discuss the Report.

The offer of the four jobbing houses was the outcome of a meeting of the sub-committee on transportation and mail service held during the afternoon. This committee is made up of the following men: C. F. Rowe, E. A. Risden, F. O. Davidson, H. A. Earnshaw and L. L. Culbertson. The first four of these men are the traffic managers for wholesale houses. For two years they have been studying the problem of rail rates with a special bearing on the unjust features of the lake and rail rates as they apply to Duluth. They have found so many glaring cases of injustice that they have felt it necessary to begin a campaign for the entire readjustment of the lake and rail rates.

Offer Accepted.

The generous offer of the jobbers was promptly accepted by the members of the public affairs committee, and E. P. Towne, chairman of the finance committee, promptly moved that a special committee be appointed to raise the other $10 000 at once. This was finally changed to leave the work in the hands of the finance sub-committee of the club, with instructions to call upon any member of the public affairs committee when necessary.

"That's all I want," said Mr. Towne. "If the chairman will just put that in writing and give me a copy of it, we will go out after the money."

Milie Bunnell, who was present at the meeting, then offered to be one of fifty men to subscribe $200. His offer was promptly accepted, and Mr. Towne put down his subscription. Mr. Towne then showed a disposition to find out what the other men present would give, but he was ruled out of order, as it is one of the rules of the committee to allow no solicitation of money at their meetings. Mr. Towne, however, said it was up to every member of the committee to let him know today just what he was willing to give, so that the finance committee would have every member of the public affairs on their list before they started after outside names.

The report of the committee on transportation and mail service, which was read by the chairman during the meeting, outlines the situation which Duluth is called upon to face. The report follows:

"The members of this committee have been working in the interests of the Commercial club since June 5, 1908, under the title of the wholesalers' and jobbers' sub-committee, and our last report was made to the public affairs committee under that head on June 2, 1909.

"At a meeting of the executive committee of this club, held on Sept. 30, at the suggestion of B. P. Neff, then vice chairman of the committee on transportation and mail service, the members of the wholesalers' committee were transferred so as to constitute the transportation committee, and Mr. Neff and his associate members were transferred to the wholesalers' committee.

"This explanation is given so that members of the public affairs committee may understand why we are reporting in the name of a different committee than that upon which we were originally appointed.

"Our work, however, has been almost entirely in the line of transportation problems affecting the commercial welfare of this city.

"Since our last report to your committee we have been endeavoring to investigate as rapidly as the time at our disposal would permit, every phase of the transportation situation so far as it affects Duluth. Transportation problems resolve themselves naturally into two general heads, namely, that of service and that of rates. It is difficult to say which of these heads should be named first, because one is of just about the same importance to a community as the other. In order to study intelligently the transportation service into and out of Duluth, the committee has made a number of trips to various sections of the territory within a radius of 300 or 400 miles of Duluth. In order to study the rate situation we have been obliged to dissect a very large number of tariffs, and we are not through with the work yet.

Western Rates.

"Our committee has investigated and undertaken to readjust several rate situations which have in the past operated unfavorably to Duluth merchants. One of these was the adjustment of rates from Duluth to the Black Hills country, which included such points as Deadwood, S. D., Lead, S. D., etc. Duluth was formerly on a very fair basis of rates, but a short time ago the tariff to this section was republished by the Northwestern and the Milwaukee roads, and we found upon carefully comparing the same with the old basis that Duluth was placed at a decided disadvantage. In other words the Twin City jobbers had been given rates which were very much in their favor as against the jobbers of Duluth.

"We have found that it is not an uncommon thing for the railroads which issue tariffs supposed to contain rates from both Duluth and the Twin Cities, to entirely overlook Duluth interests in making up the rates and either leave us out entirely or put us upon a basis that practically puts us out of the competition for our business. Eternal vigilance in the inspection and comparison of all new tariffs is necessary in order to protect Duluth interests in the same. In regard to this particular service we have now taken the matter up vigorously with the two roads interested and insisted that the old basis of rates from Duluth be restored and we have assurance that this will be done. To some of the merchants of this city these rates are of no importance, but to others who do considerable business in that territory the relative adjustment of rates between Duluth and the Twin Cities is of the very greatest importance.

This committee has been successful in securing the publication of a joint tariff from Duluth to points on the Minneapolis and St. Louis road, on a basis that is very favorable to Duluth. Formerly merchants on the Minneapolis & St. Louis road doing business with Duluth jobbers were obliged to pay local rates into St. Paul and then the local rates from St. Paul to destination, and the new tariff makes a through rate which is considerably lower than the sum of the local rates.

Lake and Rail Rates.

"There have been a number of other minor rate matters that have received our consideration, but probably the most important matter to which we have given study is the question of the lake and rail rates from Eastern points to Duluth. This subject of lake and rail rates from the East to Duluth is of such far-reaching importance not only to Duluth, but to every village and community from Duluth to the Pacific coast, and a study of the conditions discloses such an unnatural and unfair situation, and such an arbitrary, discriminating and unreasonable plan and scheme underlying the entire fabric of freight rates, that it is with considerable reluctance that we mention it in this report at all. Our difficulty is not how to describe the situation to you, nor are we in any lack of material to furnish you for careful thought upon the subject, but our difficulty is to boil down a matter of such scope within the limits which may be reasonably expected of such a report as this. We beg your indulgence to the extent of quoting just one single illustration out of literally thousands which will point out to you, we think, how unfairly Duluth has been treated in the matter of this adjustment of lake and rail rates. The distance from Buffalo to Chicago via the lake is roughly 900 miles, and from Buffalo to Duluth, approximately 1,000 miles. The carload rate on any commodity taking fifth class, for instance, from New York to Duluth, lake and rail is 28 cents. The same commodity is hauled via lake and rail to Chicago for 25 cents, the distance being substantially the same. The same commodity from New York moving either through Chicago or through Duluth to the Twin Cities is hauled for a through rate of 32 cents. In other words, Chicago has the benefit of a rate that is 3 cents more than Duluth, while the Twin Cities have a rate which is only 4 cents per hundred pounds higher than Duluth. Now the fifth class rate from Duluth to the Twin Cities is 10 cents per hundred pounds. There is a difference of 6 cents, which is taken care of by the lake and rail lines to the advantage of the Twin Cities. In connection with this illustration, it is interesting to note the proportions of the earnings as they are divided between the lake lines and the rail lines. On a shipment moving as described as in the foregoing from New York to Duluth the through rate is 28 cents as before stated. Out of this the lake lines get about 13 cents. Now if the shipment moves through Duluth to the Twin Cities, they haul it up to Duluth for 10 cents. This is not so bad, but they will also haul this shipment to a Lake Michigan port such as Milwaukee or Chicago for the Twin Cities for the sum of 5.6 cents for their haul from Buffalo to the Lake Michigan port.

Discrepancy Too Great.

It is well recognized among those familiar with rate construction that a proportional rate up to a given point may very properly be lower than the local rate up to the same point. However, the discrepancy is so great in this case as to be out of reason and as to create an unhealthy and unnatural condition with reference to Duluth, defrauding Duluth of a very large tonnage which should move through this gateway en route from the East to the West, this being the logical and natural gateway. Furthermore, the Twin Cities, by the present adjustment of rates, receive practically every advantage that they would if they were actually located upon the shores of Lake Superior. It must be remembered in any consideration of rate problems, so far as Duluth is concerned, that the lake and rail rates from the East to Duluth, and the all-rail rates from Duluth to the West, are correlated and interwoven in such a way that a consideration of one involves a consideration of the other. When it is understood that the Twin Cities have precisely the same rates to the West as Duluth, and, to all intents and purposes, the same rates from the East as Duluth, it is not difficult to understand that Duluth has been cheated out of her birthright—this magnificent location at the head of the Great Lakes of these United States. We appreciate very well all of the reasons which have built up such a situation as now confronts Duluth, and these reasons are many and involved, including the ownership of the lake carriers by the railroads with whom they are theoretically supposed to compete, but we have not time to enumerate these here.

One Victory Already.

It is well known that a very large proportion of the territory tributary to Duluth is located upon the Great Northern railway. Consequently the matter of prompt delivery of freight from Duluth to points in North Dakota, for instance, on the Great Northern has always been of the greatest importance to Duluth shippers. For a great many years, in fact as far back as anyone in Duluth can remember, this city has been at a disadvantage as compared with the Twin Cities in delivering goods in North Dakota. We have always been at least twenty-four hours, and sometimes longer, behind them in deliveries, and we have always been told that we could not expect anything different until the tonnage from Duluth increased to a very large extent. The rates from the Twin Cities and from Duluth being the same, and prices of goods being about equal, it is easily understood that this matter of service is a very important element in meeting competition from the Twin Cities. Our committee has been making a study of this particular subject for at least two years, and have made a number of trips over the territory trying to expedite the service from Duluth. Until recently the freight for points in North Dakota left Duluth at about 11 o'clock, or rather, left Superior at that time, and arrived at Grand Forks at 11 o'clock the following night. This was too late for the merchandise to be sorted out into the various cars for distribution in time to go west the same night. We made a trip to Grand Forks on Sept. 11, and went over the situation as to the details of the tonnage, etc., the schedule of trains, at considerable length. We then went to St. Paul and presented our findings up to Mr. Broughton, general traffic manager of the Great Northern. The result of our conference with him was that on Sept. 23 the Great Northern put on a new fast time freight between Duluth and Grand Forks, which leaves Duluth at 3 o'clock and arrives at Grand Forks at 1 o'clock the following day. The freight is then promptly transferred and goes west the same night, and this results in our being able to lay goods down to practically every point in North Dakota within thirty-six or forty-eight hours. Last Saturday two members of our committee were in Grand Forks and went over the records there and also inspected the manner of handling the freight. We found that since the train was put on the connection for the west has not been missed a single day, and the reports from our traveling men and customers in North Dakota are unanimous in praise of the improved service. We believe that this new service will regain for Duluth a great deal of prestige which has been lost by reason of inferior service in the past.

"We are working on a hoped-for improvement in the passenger train service between Duluth and the West. The railroads take the "show me" position on this subject, and say we haven't sufficient travel to warrant better service—in fact, from strictly the point of dollars and cents, we don't deserve the accommodations we now have. But we hope to show them that they will never increase the business in a thousand years with the accommodations they now afford, and we hope to work this proposition out very satisfactorily within a short time. But we need the co-operation of every one to do it.

"In conclusion, we wish to say that in our opinion there are some very large transportation problems looming up ahead of Duluth at this time. In meeting these problems we do not know of any short road to success. It is as true of a community as of an individual that there is nothing so effective as systematic, continued hard work, directed by careful and intelligent study of conditions. Duluth is a city of such splendid potentialities, there is so much work to be done, there are so many things to live for, to work for and to hope for, that we must not only be patient, but must give freely of our best thought and our best efforts for the common good. Let us have more of these meetings of the public affairs committee, where the various committees can get together and imbibe each other's enthusiasm; let us all take off our coats and roll up our sleeves and sail in right now! Some good, hard, enthusiastic work on the part of every committee and every member of this club at this time will count more than ever before in our history.

IRISH CRISIS IS AT HAND

forwarding to M. J. Ryan of Philadelphia, as follows:

Says Crisis Is Near.

"A great crisis in the Irish struggle has arisen.

"The house of lords is engaged at this moment in destroying the Irish land bill, with its promise of closing the land war of centuries and completing the restoration of all the land of Ireland to her people and the banishing forever of misery and famine from the west of Ireland. General electons are certain within the next two weeks. In these elections the veto of the house of lords will be at stake, and with the veto of the house of lords will disappear the last obstacle to home rule.

"In this fight Ireland will have arrayed against her all the forces of landlordism, wealth and privilege. Once more we appeal to our race to help us fight against these powerful enemies of our race."

He has three days of sight-seeing and restful traveling before him, in and around the Yosemite, and there is not a speech of any sort in sight until Fresno, Cal., is reached next Sunday afternoon.

High Living Continues.

Despite the many suggestions from the White House at Washington, which have been telegraphed ahead, the hospitable cities of the West continue to vie with each other in preparing elaborate bills of fare for the presidential banquets. Mr. Taft has almost given up the idea of getting simple food at any public function, but he takes the situation philosophically.

President Taft, after spending tonight at Wawona, and visiting the big trees tomorrow forenoon, will proceed into the valley. He will probably spend Friday night at Glacier Point or at Sentinel hotel. On Saturday he will return to El Portal to spend the night, and early Sunday morning will resume his journey toward Los Angeles, arriving Monday morning.

While in Yosemite park the president will not be entirely cut off from communication with the outside world. A telephone wire, equipped with telegraphic instruments, is in easy reach.

Waterways Program Ready.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 7.—The program of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf deep waterways convention, Oct. 30 and Nov. 2, when President Taft, Vice President Sherman and several cabinet officers will be in attendance. was announced today.

President Taft will address the convention in the afternoon of Oct. 30 and then attend a football game between Sewanee and the Louisiana state university. On Saturday night it is planned that the president shall attend a performance at the French opera house. Sunday morning he will be taken on a sight-seeing trip through the French quarter, and in the afternoon he will attend a sacred concert upon the campus of Tulane university. At that time he is expected to deliver an address.

On Monday, Nov. 1, Vice President Sherman and Secretary of War Dickinson are scheduled to deliver addresses before the convention.

Speaker Joseph G. Cannon of the national house of representatives will address the convention on the morning of Nov. 2.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting was held here of the stockholders of the Crow Wing Iron company, composed mostly of Cloquet men, which is interested in iron properties on the Cuyuna range.

Directors were elected as follows: J. C. Campbell, John Long, O. W. Erickson, Louis McCullough, J. A. McDevitt, W. G. Dolan, Fred D. Vibert. The directors then elected the officers for the ensuing year as follows: J. C. Campbell, president; John Long, vice president; Fred D. Vibert, secretary; O. W. Erickson, treasurer. These are the same officers that were elected when the company was organized, and their reports at the meeting show the affairs of the company to be in a prosperous condition.

Danderine

Grows Hair and we can PROVE IT!

DANDERINE is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

A lady from St. Paul writes in substance, as follows:
"When I began using Danderine my hair would not come to my shoulders and now it is away below my hips."
Another from Newark, N. J.
"I have been using Danderine regularly. When I first started to use it I had very little hair, now I have the most beautiful long and thick hair anyone would want to have."

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: OCT. 10. Acts 22:30-23:35. The Plot Against Paul.

THE CONNECTION.

We left Paul making his defense before the howling mob, telling them of his lineage, his training, his career as a persecutor, his conversion on the way to Damascus, his interview with Ananias, his return to Jerusalem, his call to preach to the Gentiles. At this point their rage broke out, and the officers took him away from danger. These officers had not understood him, for he spoke in Hebrew, but they thought he must be a very bad character, and took him in to examine him, which meant to torture him into making a confession. As they were about to torture him, he startled and alarmed them by informing them that he was a Roman citizen. As a citizen of Rome, they dared not lay violent hands on him. The commandant was still more puzzled by this remarkable man, and, in order to study the case, brought him into the Jewish Council the next day to see what they would make out of him. They showed such brutality and got into such a contention among themselves that the officer had to take him away by force. Unable to secure his death in a legal way, they formed a plot to kill him, as our lessons inform us.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Plot Formed. 11-15.

"And the night following the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good cheer, Paul; for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome.

"And when it was day, certain of the Jews banded together, and bound themselves under a curse, saying that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul.

And they were more than forty which had made this conspiracy.

And they came to the chief priests and elders, and said, "We have bound ourselves under a great curse, that we will eat nothing until we have slain Paul.

"Now, therefore, ye, with the council, signify to the chief captain that he bring him down unto you tomorrow, as though ye would inquire something more perfectly concerning him; and we, or ever he come near, are ready to kill him."

1. Paul's Preparation for It.

He was heartened by an interview with God himself. It was natural that God should stand by the man who, in standing for God, was suffering such treatment.

God got him ready for still further suffering, by assuring him that his dearest wish should be gratified, to preach the gospel at Rome. Then he would welcome the sufferings.

2. This plot was formed by Paul's own countrymen, not by Romans.

3. It was under the severest oath possible. They bound themselves under a curse, or "cursed themselves with a curse," not to eat or drink till they had killed Paul. They imperiled their own lives to do evil, so demonized they were with hate.

4. It included a large number of men, about forty. That indicates that they might have been some men already banded together as assassins or brigands. Sin always overreaches itself sooner or later. There were too many of them, or they were too bad to keep a secret.

5. The chief priests and all the Jewish officials entered into the conspiracy. They did not propose to do the killing themselves, but gave approval and protection, and possibly pay, to those who were to do it. Representatives of religion have often taken life in the name of God and with the spirit of the devil. In all such cases there is something radically bad in the persons and in the religion they represent. The devil is the father of the ideals and the impulses that lead to persecution.

6. The priests were to tell a lie and get Paul down into the council, as though they wanted to investigate the case more fully. As he passed from the castle out to the council chamber the assassins would dispatch him. The high religious officials would do the lying; the assassins would do the killing.

II.

The Plot Discovered. 16-21.

"And when Paul's sister's son heard of their lying in wait, he went and entered into the castle, and told Paul.

Then Paul called one of the centurions unto him, and said, Bring this young man unto the chief captain; for he hath a certain thing to tell him.

So he took him, and brought him to the chief captain, and said, Paul the prisoner called me unto him, and prayed me to bring this young man unto thee, who hath something to say unto thee.

Then the chief captain took him by the hand, and went with him aside privately, and asked him, What is that thou hast to tell me?

And he said, The Jews have agreed to desire thee that thou wouldest bring down Paul tomorrow into the council, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly.

But do not thou yield unto them; for there lie in wait for him of them more than forty men, which have bound themselves with an oath that they will neither eat nor drink till they have killed him; and now are they ready, looking for a promise from thee."

1. Paul's Nephew.

A new character appears on the scene—Paul's nephew. We never heard of him before and shall never again. Was he a Christian or still a Jew? No one knows, yet anyone can conjecture. Had he come to Jerusalem with Paul, or did he live there? No one knows. My conjecture is that he was not a Christian. Even near relatives would see Paul put to death, such was their unnatural hatred of those they regarded as renegades. But this was a young man, probably more liberal on that account, and because he had known some Christians, and had found them not bad people at all. Not being a Christian he would more easily learn of the plot. Perhaps the other Jews did not know he was a kinsman to Paul.

We cannot help admiring the wisdom and self-control of the young man. Visitors were admitted to see prisoners, and it was not hard for him to get to Paul. Besides, the officers had come to treat Paul as a privileged prisoner, because he was a Roman citizen and because he had personally won their respect and confidence.

2. A Watchful God.

We are not so much surprised at Paul's prompt and cool-headed course. He was accustomed to all kinds of evil-doers, and knew how to meet them. He advised the only safe thing.

We must not forget that God was working through all these things. He had promised Paul the night before that he should "bear witness also at Rome," and now it was by His Providence that Paul's nephew should learn about it, and that the commandant should be sympathetic and prompt, and brave and wise. The purpose of God to let Paul go to Rome was being promoted.

3. The Noble Commandant.

We admire the noble commandant, Claudias Lysias. He made it easy for the young man to tell his story. The latter's heart was in his throat with fear for his uncle, and he was trembling with embarrassment in the presence of the military chief and with some alarm for his own safety. Claudias took the boy by the hand to give him assurance and composure; he led him aside to give him sense of freedom in telling the story. The captain gave him so much encouragement that he not only told his story, but boldly urged that he would not grant the request that the Jews would make for another interview with Paul.

The effect of the interview on the captain was exactly right. His sympathies were naturally with the man whom the Jews so hated, and they had been enlisted by the noble bearing of Paul. He was a true Roman, and resented the purpose of any people to take the law into their own hands and trample on it. He was glad of an opportunity to show his zeal for the majesty of the law and safe-keeping of a Roman citizen. He was indignant at the thought that the Jews should imagine for one moment that they could play such a trick on him. His pride was insulted. Every high impulse was awakened in him, and he was ready to frustrate the plans of Paul's foes.

III.

The Plot Defeated. 22-24.

"So the chief captain then let the young man depart, and charged him, See thou tell no man that thou hast showed these things to me.

"And he called unto him two centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred soldiers to go to Caesarea, and horsemen three score and ten, and spearmen two hundred, at the third hour of the night;

"And provide them beasts, that they may set Paul on, and bring him safe unto Felix the governor."

The verses following must be read in order to know just how it was done. The present verses show the chief's promptness, for he seemed to have his plans formed in a moment. He had decision. We note also his wisdom in enjoining secrecy on the young man, who was so excited that he might let out the secret almost without knowing it.

The chief captain sent Paul off to Caesarea that night before the assassins knew about it, and thus saved him. He sent Paul to Caesarea because it was the official seat of government for that province, and it was fitting that Paul should be taken there. He sent Paul under a very strong escort of 200 soldiers, 200 spearsmen and 70 mounted troopers. Those on foot only went as far as Antipatris, forty-two miles, and returned. The horsemen took Paul on the remaining twenty-nine miles and reached Caesarea in safety. Claudias Lysias sent a letter to Felix, explaining the case, and Paul was shut up in the palace built by Herod the Great, and held till his accusers could come and bring their charges against him. A palace generally had subterranean dungeons for prisoners and so had this. Paul, however, may have been kept in more comfortable quarters. Our next lesson will tell of his trial before Felix, the Roman governor of that province.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

There is a close and strange alliance between formal religion and murderous hatred and vulpine craft, as the history of ecclesiastical persecution shows; and though we have done with fire and fagot now, the same evil passions and tempers in modified form do still lie very near to a Christianity which has lost its inward union with Jesus, and lives on surface adherence to forms. In that sense, too, "the letter killeth." We lift up our hands in horror at these fierce fanatics, "ready to kill" Paul because he believed in resurrection, angel and spirit. We need to guard ourselves, lest something of their temper should be in us. There is a devilish ingenuity about the details of the plot, and a truly Oriental mixture of murderous passion and calculating craft. The serpent's wisdom and his poison fangs are both apparent.—Maclaran.

Although Paul had an express promise from Christ of security that he would escape the snares of the Jews and bear witness for him at Rome, yet he did not neglect any proper means of safety, thus proving how far removed he was from the character of an enthusiast. His prudence also is here observable; he does not tell the centurion, but thinks it safer to inform the tribune himself.—Gloag.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Can truth be served by trickery?
2. Why does he who approves of crime prove himself a criminal?
3. How does God make wicked men serve His purposes?
4. Why do God's promises discourage presumptuous confidence and encourage caution and energy?

FORESEES CAR FAMINE.

Esch Warns Upper Mississippi River Improvement Association.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 7.—The needs for the improvement of inland waterways from a commercial and economic standpoint were presented to the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association yesterday afternoon by S. A. Thompson of Richmond, Ind., field secretary of the national rivers and harbors congress. Mr. Thompson stated that the Panama canal would be a positive detriment to the manufacturers of this country unless the interior waterways received the attention and improvements for which these organizations are working. He stated that Germany can ship to the west coast of South America and Japan can ship to the east cost of South America cheaper than the average Amercian manufacturer can get his goods from factory to seacoast.

Congressman J. J. Esch of La Crosse, Wis., said:

"We are going to have another car famine this fall and we will continue to face car famines until our waterways are properly developed."

MANY PERSONS REGISTER.

Wednesday Was the Banner Day Since Opening Began.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 7.—Yesterday was the biggest day for registration crowds since the opening began for the Cheyenne River and Standing Rock reservations, and under the influx of excursionists on the monthly home-seekers' rates, Aberdeen entertained its biggest crowds of outsiders.

Official figures received by Judge Witten show the following as the day's registration at the various points:

Aberdeen, 2,863; total, 9,150. Bismarck, 506 total, 1,789. Lebeau, 207; total, 598. Lemmon, 125; total, 509. Mobridge, 121; total, 490. Pierre, 938; total, 2,426. Grand total, 14,961.

ROOSEVELT PLAN FAILS.

Proposed International Congress on Conservation May Be Abandoned.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Former President Roosevelt's scheme for raising his conservation policy to the dignity of a world movement is on the verge of dropping out of sight in the morasses of state department archives. Out of the forty-nine countries with accredited representatives at Washington who are invited to participate in the proposed international congress, only nineteen have accepted and there is grave doubt in official quarters whether the movement will extend beyond this first preliminary stage.

ST. PAUL SCHOOL BOARD HONORS LATE GOVERNOR.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—The East side high school, now in course of construction is to be known as the Governor John A. Johnson school, in honor of the late governor. This was decided by the unanimous vote of the members of the St. Paul school board.

The present East side high school is known as the Cleveland high school.

Turner Given Degree.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 7.—At the Howard celebration yesterday thirty honorary degrees were conferred. Among them was that of doctor of letters, conferred upon Frederick Jackson Turner, delegate from the University of Wisconsin.

Ten Things You Should Know About Milk

Here are ten facts about milk which every housewife should know. It is worth all you pay for milk in a year to let us convince you on one of them.

1—About Germs

There are myriads of germs in every drop of raw milk.

There are germs of typhoid if the milk cans are washed in bad water.

There are germs of consumption if the cow is tubercular, and one cow in ten is infected.

There are germs that cause bowel trouble, and two-thirds of infant mortality is attributed to them.

Van Camp's is an absolutely germless milk. Our cows are inspected, and the milk is sterilized.

2—About Cows

Milkman's milk comes largely from mongrel cows—cows of no standard breed.

Van Camp's comes from Holstein cows—cows that result from 2,000 years of good breeding.

Holsteins are calm and healthy cows. And their tremendous vitality is conveyed to their milk.

3—About Cost

On milkman's milk, the cost of daily delivery exceeds the cost of the milk. This is saved in Van Camp's.

Then we evaporate two-thirds of the water to reduce the cost of handling.

We have dairies and evaporating plants in six states, so we rarely have far to ship.

If raw milk was sold at six cents per quart it would cost about the same as Van Camp's, but would lack the convenience and healthfulness.

4—Convenience

Van Camp's means a cow in your kitchen.

No waiting for the milkman, no shortage, no waste.

Rich milk or cream at any time, in any quantity and for any use.

5—Economy

With milkman's milk there is considerable waste—milk that sours or milk left over.

With Van Camp's there is no waste whatever. You open a can when you need it, and it keeps till you use it up. One spends for raw milk, on the average, twice what one spends for Van Camp's.

6—Whole Milk

Milkman's milk separates. The butter fat rises and the solids fall. You get a different milk from every part of the can.

When you skim that milk, and use the balance in milk dishes, you are cooking with less than a half milk.

In Van Camp's you get the whole milk—all of the butter fat, all of the solids.

It gives to milk dishes a richness and flavor that will surprise you—you who have used raw milk.

7—Condensed Milk

Condensed milk is nearly half sugar. That was the old way of preserving milk before the days of sterilization.

When you buy it, about half the price goes to pay for sugar—at twice sugar's proper price.

And you can't use it in cooking.

Van Camp's is nothing but milk—no sugar, no starch, no preservative. It serves your every purpose.

8—Competing Milk

In Van Camp's we evaporate two-thirds of the water. We reduce it to the thickness of thick cream.

In Van Camp's you get 28 per cent solids—8 per cent butter fat.

Yet you get just as much of Van Camp's for 10 cents as you get of the thinnest evaporated milk of other brands.

9—Five-Cent Cans

No 5-cent can of evaporated milk contains more than six ounces. That is what you get in a 5-cent can of Van Camp's.

But the tall can of Van Camp's—price 10 cents—contains sixteen ounces, or a full pint.

Thus you pay a third more for the same grade of milk when you buy in 5-cent cans. That is useless waste. An opened can of Van Camp's in ordinary weather, will keep 48 hours or longer, which is plenty of time to use it up.

10—Case Buying

The cheapest way to buy Van Camp's is to buy a case of 10-cent cans. Grocers give discounts on cases.

Then you have it on hand. No running to the grocer every time you want milk.

When bought in this way, Van Camp's costs about six cents per quart, figured on the basis of raw milk.

Van Camp's Milk is sold in 5 and 10-cent cans—at your grocer's. If you will prove the facts we have stated you will be one of the users. The milk is put up at our dairies, located in six states.

ROTTING IN THE GROUND

Bear River Farmers Have 20,000 Bushels of Potatoes.

Unable to Market Produce Because They Have No Road.

With 20,000 bushels of potatoes and large quantities of other farm produce on their hands, the farmers of the Bear river district in 61 and 62, 20 and 21, are isolated from their markets, and their potatoes may rot before they can be turned into the channels of consumption, according to statements made at the meeting of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club last night.

The matter was discussed at some length and it was decided to make a final effort to secure trains over the Sand Lake logging road of the Virginia & Rainy Lake company or to secure a wagon road that will give the farmers a good road to Virginia or to a station on the Duluth, Virginia & Rainy Lake railroad. The matter will be taken up with the St. Louis County club at its coming meeting.

The farmers of the Bear river district have been working for years to secure a market, but without success. Commissioner P. J. Ryan of the Seventh district started the construction of a road from Hibbing north last year, but the settlers say that it is not the road they want, for it passes over a rough country and through a sparsely settled district. They say that by the extension of the road from Virginia north, they would be furnished a good outlet and the extension would only have to be made for a few miles. Old logging roads will furnish a roadbed for the greater part of the distance. The Mountain Iron hill can be avoided by a small detour, they say. But they have not yet convinced Commissioner Ryan of the justice of their claims.

Road Impassable.

From the Bear river district, the Tower and Itasca road runs east to cross the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Virginia tracks, but the farmers say it is impassable for anything but saddle horses the greater part of the way. One man said recently that he was two days and two nights getting a few hundred feet of lumber across fourteen miles of the road. At the point where the road touches the railroad, there is no station and it would be necessary for the farmers to handle their produce themselves, waiting for trains, if they were to ship there.

The road from Hibbing to the Bear lake district is about forty miles long; that from Virginia is twenty-two miles, but the few miles over which the road is not graded are so rough that the grading will have to be done before Virginia is accessible.

The public affairs committee last night discussed a plan which was tried without success by the Virginia Commercial club last spring. It is to secure a road to the Sand lake logging road of the Virginia & Rainy Lake company for a distance of about six miles and to secure a passenger and freight service over that road and the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg. The loggnig road now runs within six miles of Bear river and connected with the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg at Sand Lake Junction.

The Virginia Commercial club last spring urged on the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg Railway company the extension of the Sand lake branch and the institution of service last spring. It came out that the logging road is owned by the Virginia & Rainy Lake company, the lumber company formed last winter, and is not controlled by the railroad company. Neither is it a legalized railroad, and the lumber company will not institute passenger and freight service over it.

They say that if they instituted freight and passenger service the road would come under the control of the state railroad and warehouse commission, and the service once instituted would always have to be maintained. In places, the right-of-way is cleared wide enough to permit the passage of trains and if the state railroad and warehouse commission took hold the right-of-way would have to be widened and other improvements made.

They want the road only to get out their timber and the tracks are constantly being changed, they say. They are in the lumber business, not the railroad business, they say, and they don't want to be tied up to giving the settlers service forever.

In retaliation, the farmers pointed out that as the road was laid only so that the timber might be taken out, its right-of-way rights expired when the timber was removed and they threatened to force the removal of tracks on land from which the timber had been removed. No steps were ever taken in that direction, and the whole matter was dropped.

The public affairs committee is disposed to do something for the Bear river settlers if it can. The Bear river district is thickly settled and is a fertile region. Pictures of farms show that good progress is being made in transforming the country from a wilderness into a producing region, but without markets the settlers are losing heart. They cannot make their farms pay unless they sell their produce and scores of them go out every year, abandon their claims and work in the neighboring towns to earn money enough to support their families.

STATE IS DEFICIENT.

Should Make Provision for Dependent City-Bred Children.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 7.—The failure of the state to give dependent city children their just advantages was the subject of a vigorous speech at the afternoon session of the American Humane association yesterday by C F. Faulkner of Minneapolis. Mr. Faulkner urged that the city-bred child be given greater opportunities for the battle of life after it becomes a ward of the state. He said that child dependency generally is a city problem, as there is little of it in the country.

John L. Shortell, president of the Illinois Humane society spoke on "Humane Protection as a Function of Government." Judge Robert J. Wilkin of the Brooklyn, N. Y., juvenile court urged the widest publicity for the prevention of cruelty. Dr. Mercer Logan of Nashville, Tenn., and Police Capt. Goetz of Massilon, Ohio, were among the speakers.

What you want is an Edison Phonograph

Do not be misled. The only kind of sound-reproducing machine that is perfect is the one that Edison invented and the one that Edison makes.

It is the one with the smooth and perfect sapphire point, that doesn't require changing with each record and that doesn't scratch—two points alone that should influence your decision.

Only in the Edison do you find the music-reproducing idea at its best.

Don't take our word for it. Compare the Edison Phonograph with all other instruments side by side, on the same music, if possible, and then you will know better than we can tell you.

Edison Phonographs are sold everywhere in the United States at the same price, $12.50 to $125.00. Standard Records, 35c. Amberol Records (twice as long), 50c. Grand Opera Records, 75c. There are Edison dealers everywhere. Go to the nearest and hear the Edison Phonograph play both Edison Standard and Amberol Records. Get complete catalogs from your dealer or from us.

Assistant Cashier of Spooner Bank Sank to Death in River.

He and Companion Fired at Ducks and Upset Their Canoe.

Spooner, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Marquis Koefod, assistant cashier of the Security State bank here, who was drowned in the Winterroad river while duck hunting from a canoe with J. Severton, has been recovered and taken to Ashby, Minn., for interment.

A flock of ducks were sighted and both fired from the same side of the canoe, capsizing it. Severton, being an expert swimmer, swam to shore, while young Koefod clung to the canoe. Koefod called out to his companion to find out how far he had to swim before he could walk ashore, which Severton did. Young Koefod thought he could make it and let go his hold, but instead sank from sight. His comrade dove for him and had a hard time in the water, as Koefod was helpless, and Severton, to save himself, had to leave him to his fate.

TRAIN CREW IS GIVEN SCORING

Coroner's Jury Blames Them for Collision Causing Two Deaths.

Spooner, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—An inquest was held Monday at Rainy River to investigate the cause of the colliding of the two freight trains near Banning on the Canadian Northern railroad yesterday, killing the brakeman and fireman. The jury brought in a verdict to the effect that the entire train crew of extra No. 382 except the head brakeman was to blame for the accident, through negligence and misunderstanding of orders.

Conductor Murdock had been on duty for twenty-six hours and took a sleep with the intention of being several hours on the side track at a station north of Banning, his understanding and the orders of Engineer Pushie conflicted with the result of the collision.

PASSENGERS GIVEN SCARE

When Switch Engine Strikes an Ishpeming Street Car.

Ishpeming, Mich., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A switch engine on the Lake Superior & Ishpeming line, pulling some fifteen cars of ore, struck a street car on the Fine street crossing, opposite the depot, Monday night, knocking it off the track and giving the passengers a scare.

It was foggy, and the motorman, L. E. Bancroft, was unable to stop the car on the grade. He heard the train approaching from the west side of the crossing, but in spite of all that he could do, failed to avoid the collision. The locomotive struck the car almost in the center and threw it some feet off the track, against a pole. Under favorable weather conditions the train would have been moving more rapidly, and in that event the passengers and carmen would probably have been killed or injured, as they had no time to escape.

ATTENDANCE IS LARGE.

Enrollment at University of Wisconsin Is Passing All Records.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.—The registrar's figures of enrollment in the university this year justifies the report that the 5,000 mark will be passed. During the first week 3,369 students were enrolled this year as against 2,998 in 1908. With this increase of over 10 per cent and a similar increase in the last summer session, when 1,150 students were enrolled, the university will give instruction this year to many more students than ever before. The facilities for handling this increase have been likewise improved, the faculty being larger, and the two new buildings, Lathrop hall, the women's building, and the forestry building being in the last stages of completion.

The largest gain this year is in the college of letters and science, in which there are 2,092 students, an increase of 327, or over 15 per cent. The college of agriculture shows a gain of 103 students in the long courses, the enrollment this year being 308 against 205 last year. The school of medicine has forty-three students this year, an increase of twenty-eight, which is nearly three times as many as were enrolled last year, when the school was organized. The reorganized department of home economics begins with forty-one students.

In the college of engineering 685 students are enrolled; in the college of law, 121; in the department of pharmacy, 32.

TWO TONS OF FISH.

Large Shipment From Madison Lake, Minn., to New York Market.

Mankato, Minn., Oct. 7.—Over two tons of rough fish—or 4,100 pounds of carp, buffalo and sheephead fish, to be exact—were shipped from Madison lake to the New York Fish company at New York city Saturday by the company contracting to rid that lake of undesirable species of the finny tribe.

The fish, which were taken from the lake in the big draw, which attracted so many people to the lake Friday afternoon, were packed with ice in barrels and forwarded by express to market.

Deputy Game Warden Jordan, who is supervising the work, said that the fishermen were busily engaged today in adding a width to the big seine, which will be widened from twenty-five to forty feet.

Hall is a married man, 41 years old. He denies the crime.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A letter has been received here from Gus Doucette of Au Train, stating that he found a corked pop bottle in Lake Superior, one mile west of Rock river, Sept. 30, in which was inclosed the following note, written on a sheet torn from a pocket memorandum book:

"To whoever finds this: Was out in a 16-foot yawl and are wrecked. Good-by.

"DAN McKINNON,
"F. W. PHILLIPS."

It was stated in the Munising News that a rowboat had been found in the lake near that village, but no men answering to those names are known to be missing.

BALLOT WITHOUT CHOICE.

Men Chosen to Select County Commissioners Cannot Agree.

Aitkin, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. A. Rathburn, chairman of the town board, and Mayor P. O. Erickson, who are to appoint a county commissioner to succeed F. P. McQuillin, resigned, have had a meeting and balloted without a choice. L. E. Turner is the choice of Mr. Rathburn and J. J. McDonald, who is backed by a petition signed by many from the village is the choice of Mr. Erickson. Neither has seen fit to yield and Mr. Rathburn says that he has three times given over to the village on matters where the township and village were jointly interested, and he does not feel that he should do so again. Mr. Erickson maintains that the petition from his constituents makes it equally plain for him to stand for Mr. McDonald and so the appointment may be said to be in a deadlock. In case one or the other of the candidates withdraws or a third one is presented who is acceptable, some agreement may be reached, otherwise it is probable that the board will have to transact business for the rest of the term with one member short. Both men mentioned for the place are good citizens and successful business men.

THEIR CRIME DETECTED.

Two Purloiners of Suit Cases Are Caught Redhanded.

Harvey, N. D., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The brass "front" put up by a pair of crooks when they stole two suit cases from the Soo depot in this city resulted in their arrest. The cases had been left in the waiting room by T. L. Quam, a traveler, H. V. Kirkpatrick, a schoolteacher, being the only one in the waiting room at the time. A few minutes after Quam left, the toughs appeared on the scene, asking Kirkpatrick whether the cases belonged to him or not, and on being informed that they did not they proceeded to take charge. Kirkpatrick was warned that if he "peached" he would be in trouble.

The teacher, however, gave the officials a good description of the men with the result that they were landed in jail, giving their names as W. J. Mitford and Tom Casey. Both will appear at the next term of the district court on charges of grand larceny.

SAYS CAPITAL MAKES HOBOES

Tramp Socialist Expounds Views to West Duluth Audience.

That the "hobo" was the direct result of capital attempting to get men to work for practically nothing, was the assertion of Dr. Ben Ridder, Socialist, lecturer and popularly known as the "Millionaire Tramp," at Victor's hall last night. He is the man who claims to have been arrested 601 times, mostly for expounding his views upon Socialistic questions.

His audience was not very large, but it was enthusiastic. Transportation, in which the "hobo," with his various methods of "beating his way" across the country, was taken up as his theme. He thinks that the railroad should not be so harsh with the tramp, and should help him get along to where he can find work.

He says he admires that independence that some men called tramps have. He said that he likes to see them stand up for their rights and refuse to be overriden and oppressed by capitalistic means.

FIREWORKS IN COPPERS

Butte & Superior and Alex Scott Have Big Bulge.

American Metal Company Will Treat Zinc Ore From Former Mine.

Although tame enough at the opening, the Duluth copper stocks furnished all of the interest in the market today, Butte & Superior having quite a sensational bulge and Butte-Alex Scott, Butte-Ballaklava and other leading local issues being active and firm.

Total trades on the Duluth stock exchange for the day were 6,250 and Butte & Superior was the most active issue. The buying of this stock was on the news that the Butte & Superior people had closed a contract with the American Metal company whereby the latter concern will construct a zinc mill near the Butte & Superior mine to treat the zinc ores of the mining company. The American Metal company also agrees to buy all of the Butte & Superior production for a period of five years, to build the zinc mill without expense to the mining company and to furnish $100,000 for improvements at the plant of the Butte & Superior company.

The contract is regarded as a very favorable proposition for the Butte & Superior people, by the trade, and the price on the local exchange rose from $2.15 to $2.75, with active bidding all the time.

Full paid Alex Scott sold at $9 and $9.45, part paid Scott at $5; Butte-Ballaklava at $10 and $10.25; St. Mary's at 33 and 32 cents; Greene-Cananea at $10.37½ and $10.40; Calumet & Montana at $1.75; Red Warrior at $2.50; full paid Cordova at $3.50; Calumet & Sonora at $11.37½, and Rawhide Royal at 9 cents.

Boston coppers were weak. A rumor that the Amalgamated mines were going to be closed, although denied, had a depressing effect on the list. Amalgamated opened at $82, advanced to $82.50, declined to $80.75 and closed at $80.87½ bid and $81 asked. North Butte opened at $60, advanced to $60.75, declined to $60.25 and closed at $59.75 bid and $60.25 asked.

Greene-Cananea acted quite firm, advancing from $10.50 to $10.75 and closing at $10.50 bid and $10.62½ asked. Butte Coalition opened at $25.12½, advanced to $25.25 and closed at $25.12½ bid and $25.50 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $101, advanced to $102 and closed at $100.50 bid and $101 asked. Giroux opened at $9, advanced to $9.12½ and closed at $9 bid and $9.25 asked. Superior & Pittsburg opened at $15.37½, advanced to $16 and closed at $15.50 bid and $16 asked. Anaconda opened at $48, declined to $47.75 and closed at $47.87½ bid.

ASSOCIATION FOR THE TAWNEY BILL

Winona, Minn., Oct. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Upper Mississippi River Improvement association took important action today in adopting resolutions urgently asking congress to adopt the bill now before it introduced by Congressman Tawney, to appropriate $2,0000,000 for the establishing of a six-foot channel in the Mississippi from Minneapolis to St. Louis, the work to be completed in ten years.

Indorsement was given to the work of the national river and harbor congress.

The establishment of public landings along the Mississippi river was urged. The creation of a waterway commission in each state along the Mississippi river was recommended.

The association re-elected its old officers as follows: President, Thomas Wilkinson, Burlington, Iowa; secretary, L. B. Boswell, Quincy, Ill.; treasurer, John P. Eckart, Guttenberg.

Governor Eberhart of Minnesota arrived just before the noon adjournment and aroused great enthusiasm in a fifteen-minute address, in which he set forth the advantages of river transportation, and said the time had arrived when the policy of national development of inland waterways, by deepening of channels and canalization of rivers, which has been so successful in Germany, France and other European countries, must be adopted and earnestly pursued by the United States.

At the close of his address, Governor Eberhart was made an honorary member of the association. Congressman James A. Tawney was also elected an honorary member on account of his interest in river improvement work.

SUPERIOR NEWS

CITY WINS FIGHT.

Supreme Court Decision on Free Telephone Service Is Favorable.

The city of Superior won the last round in the fight for free telephone service when a decision was handed down this week in the Wisconsin supreme court in favor ofthe city and adverse to the state rate commission.

The rate commission made a ruling about two years ago that telephone companies should not furnish free service to a municipality. The Douglas County Telephone company had a contract with the city of Superior before this ruling was made.

The matter was taken to the Dane County courts where the city lost out. An appeal was made by City Attorney Lyons and the matter was taken to the supreme court. The decision of the lower court was reversed.

All money that the city has paid out during the fight at Madison in the courts will be refunded to the city.

CHICAGO TO CUT EVERY SALARY

Will Take 10 Per Cent Off Pay of Every Employe of the City.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—A cut of 10 per cent in salaries of all officials and employes of this city, from Mayor Busse's $18,000 down to the lowest laborer, has been agreed upon for next year by the mayor and department heads.

This drastic measure was declared necessary by the fact that Chicago has not money enough to maintain the payroll at the present level. The payroll last year approximated $15,000,000.

The cut, before becoming effective, must be sanctioned by the city council, where a big fight against such a course is expected. According to Comptroller Wilson, however, there is no other way of piloting the administration.

LYCEUM—"The Talk of New York."
BIJOU—Vaudeville.

"A Doll's House."

Ibsen's play, "A Doll's House," was presented at the Lyceum last evening by Hortense Neilson and several other players. The English adaption used was that of William Archer, the distinguished London critic.

The audience was small. The Ibsen enthusiasts eagerly drank the gloomy philosophy of the late Norwegian master dramatist, while another portion of the gathering, which confused Hortense with Alice Neilson, waited patiently for the leading lady to break forth in song, and for the chorus girls to appear. Miss Neilson is an artist of ability, but her support was mediocre.

"The Talk of New York."

"Kid" Burns, the slangy character who shared with just plain Mary the spotlight in "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," is the principal person in "The Talk of New York," which opens an engagements of three nights and a matinee at the Lyceum this evening. George M. Cohan wrote it for the use of Victor Moore, the original "Kid," who will enact it here.

Among the slangy "Cohanisms" which fall from the "Kid's" lips during the action of the play are the following:

"There ain't no love bees making any honey—with him it's the looks, and with her it's the money."

"Take it from me, little girl, whichever horse wins this race couldn't prevent it."

"I don't rave about anything, but the coffee they serve in this lunch hut is all to the pansies."

"Is it as good as that, Mr. Burns?" queries a pretty soubrette.

"Sure it is; I just drank four saucers full."

In response to a declaration made by one of the other characters in the play to the effect that his folks want him to marry into swell society, the "Kid" says:

"Well, you tell them that you're going to marry into the Knights of Columbus—that's the swellest society that is."

The "Kid" refuses to refer to his name as a name. "That's my label," he insists.

In conclusion, after being "stung" for $50,000 by the adventuress, he remarks, sadly:

"Barnum was right—there's one born every minute."

MISSOULA'S JAIL STORMED BY MOB

Gurley Flynn's Followers Demand Release of Imprisoned Followers.

Missoula, Mont. Oct. 7.—Headed by Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, a Socialist of New York, and an organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, a mob of 2,000 threatened the Missoula county jail Tuesday night, demanding the release of twenty-five members of the order, who had been arrested for causing disturbances on the streets.

An unexpected show of strength on the part of the police and deputies prevented serious trouble.

Gurley Flynn, as her adherents call her, was discharged from the police court Tuesday after spending two nights and days in jail on a charge of creating a disturbance. She contends that she will fill the jails of the city and county to overflowing with Industrial Workers of the World men, and every train is bringing volunteers for prison from Spokane, Seattle and San Francisco, in which cities she has formed strong organizations.

There is no strike, but the speakers direct their efforts to make laborers dissatisfied with their lot. It is feared that if allowed to continue spreading their doctrine they may endanger the growth and prosperity of this section, as they are asserted to have done in Goldfield.

WOULD DOUBLE LAND FOR THE YUMA INDIANS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 7.—The delegates to the national convention of the Women's Home Missionary society discussed today the question of urging the government authorities to give the Indians of the Yuma reservation ten acres each instead of the five-acre allotments at present contemplated. Mrs. W. A. Goodman of Cincinnati led the consecration exercises of the convention.

D. E. H. Oct. 7, 1909.

You hear a lot of justified talk these days about high living expenses at the head of the Lakes.

If any man in Duluth pays too much for his clothes,

It's his own fault. Let him buy Columbia Clothes!

Some of our salesmen have worked in Minneapolis and St. Paul stores. They maintain that quality for quality, Columbia prices are lower than in those cities.

Everybody seems willing to give us credit for having the best qualities that may be obtained in America, but there are some—especially among people who never travel—who think because ours is such a fine, big store, it must be a "high-priced" one.

A sad mistake—they go to a "cheap-looking" store and pay dearly for it.

The Columbia makes good, because it is a good store.

MARINE

TAKEN OFF DULUTH RUN

Hamonic and Huronic Finish Season Between Sarnia and Port Arthur.

Saronic to Run Weekly to Duluth Until the Close.

The steamers Hamonic and Huronic of the Northern Navigation company have been taken off the Duluth run for the rest of the season.

They have made their last trip to the Head of the Lakes and the steamer Saronic is now taking care of the local trade, so far as her capacity admits.

The boats are taken off the Duluth run about this time every year. The passenger business is all over and only the package freight remains. They have all they can do between Sarnia, Port Huron and Port Arthur. The trips are shorter and in this way the owners work the boats to the best advantage.

While these boats carried much package freight to the Head of the Lakes, they catered particularly to the passenger business.

The Saronic will run to Duluth the remainder of the season.

DULUTH MAN IS AN AUTHOR

T. W. Hugo Publishes Digest of Text Book of Masonry.

The first fifty copies of the "Digest-Index" of Albert Pike's "Morals and Dogma," are ready for distribution to the Scottish Rite Masons of Duluth and the rest of the edition, limited to 1,000 copies, will follow along rapidly; each member will have a copy and a few to libraries and distinguished individuals of the order will exhaust the supply.

The author, T. W. Hugo, has been engaged, during his rest periods, for twenty months on the manuscript, and in the preparation has been forced to read and study closely the subjects embraced in the "Morals and Dogma," philosophy, ancient and modern, particularly that of Pythagoras and the Hebrew Qabalah; religious, ancient, early Christian and later, but not the modern; folk lore; astronomoy of the ancients; the principles of the Hermeticists, Rosicrucians, Kabalists and other mediaeval schools; Colleges of Artificers of Numa and the operative guilds of modern times; the ancient mysteries and other intellectual developments and has produced a volume of 200 pages which is a digest of the monumental work by Albert Pike, the text book of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry.

The press work was done by the Rankin Printing company and is a creditable and artistic sample of their work; the binding is done by the Wendlandt Brothers and they have produced a book which opens flat, is strong and neat and is a good evidence that there is no need to go outside Duluth for bookbinding.

The book is not for sale and the type has been pied.

UNCLE SAM TO SAVE LOBSTERS

Placing of Bounty on Dogfish Is Proposed in the East.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Whether the valuable lobster or the worthless dogfish of the waters of Rhode Island and Massachusetts is to be allowed to survive, is a burning question that is receiving the careful consideration of Commissioner George M. Bowers of the bureau of fisheries.

Several millions of summer tourists who seek the cool breezes of the New England coast will be interested in the contest between the lobster and the dogfish, as the price of lobsters has gone up, largely because the marauding dogfish hover about and gormandize themselves upon this sea food, and in that way prevent the catch from increasing as rapidly as otherwise would be the case.

The efforts of the bureau of fisheries to propogate the lobster so that it may become plentiful and cheap have been nullified to so great an extent by the avoracious dogfish that Commissioner Bowers is contemplating placing a price upon the head of the marine nuisance so as to encourage fishermen to devote their efforts to clear the sea of them.

JOSHES THEM ON LIFE INSURANCE

Kentucky Commissioner Gets Facetious While Talking to Agents.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 7.—A humorous description of Kentucky traditions and of the tribulations of the insurance business was given today by Charles W. Bell, state insurance commissioner, in welcoming the National Association of Life Underwriters at their annual convention here.

"It would be improper and imprudent," said Mr. Bell, "for you to enter into a discussion of our tobacco troubles. You may, if you choose, venture to discuss this matter at your pleasure, but if you have left a dependent family behind; I suggest that you increase your life insurance policy before doing so."

Mr. Bell said that Kentucky's reputation of being rather careless of human life is undeserved.

Mr. Bell said that the National Association of Life Underwriters represents insurance companies holding policies aggregating more than $12,000,000,000 in the United States alone, an average of 150 to each inhabitant of the country.

WAS IN A TERRIBLE FIX

A Georgia Woman Tells How She Felt Like She Was Being Killed--Cardui Helped Her.

Pelham Ga.—"I was in a terrible fix," writes Mrs. E. L. Bigham, of Pelham, Ga. "I was so weak I could hardly walk across the room. I had such pains in my sides and would swell up so I could hardly stand it. I was irregular and could not do my work. My head ached all the time, so bad at times I felt like it would kill me. I also suffered with drawing pains in my legs and my back hurt and I was getting poorer every day, but Cardui got me up able to do my work and I feel better than I have for some time.

"I cannot praise Cardui strongly enough. I will recommend it to all my friends."

As a tonic for weak women, we know of nothing equal to Cardui. It gives strength and ambition, brightens the eyes, clears the complexion, regulates the system and helps you back to a new youthfulness of looks and feeling.

Made from pure vegetable ingredients, it contains no powerful, mineral drugs, or deleterious compounds. Containing no glycerin, or similar material, it has no mawkish, disagreeable taste, and has no possible bad after-effect.

Absolutely harmless, it is good for young and old and should be in every family. Try it.

Your druggist sells it.

SENTENCED TO SUNDAY SCHOOL

Negro Boy Who Stole Pair of Shoes Also Must Be Whipped.

Durham, N. C., Oct. 7.—A sentence of one whipping under the direction of an officer of the law and attendance at Sunday school every Sunday for six months, was imposed by Judge Sykes in the recorder's court today on a 13-year-old negro boy who had stolen a pair of shoes. The judge required a written agreement from the boy's parents that they would do the whipping and see that the boy attended Sunday school.

She Was Pleasantly Surprised.

Miss H. E. Bell, Wausau, Wis., writes: "Before I commenced to take Foley's Kidney Pills I had severe pains in my back, could not sleep and was greatly troubled with headache. The first few doses of Foley's Kidney Pills gave me relief, and two bottles cured me. The quick results surprised me, and I can honestly recommend them." Sold by all druggists.

CURTISS BEATS ST. LOUIS CROWD

Makes Two Short Flights Before Anybody Is There to See Him.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 7.—Scores of thousands of spectators thronged the natural amphitheater near Art hill in Forest park today to see what were scheduled to be the first aeroplane flights west of Dayton, Ohio. But the first flight had already been made long before the crowd reached the park, Glenn Curtiss having stolen a march on the centennial officials, newspaper men and his fellow aviators by making two short test flights shortly after daybreak. Not a dozen persons saw these performances, which lasted only a few moments each.

Curtiss drove a bi-plane of the same type which he used at Rheims, except that it carried an engine of 25-horse power as against one of 50-horse power in the foreign contest.

The pageantry feature of the day's program was an industrial parade. It was one of the longest of the week and illustrated by floats the progress of manufacture and commerce during the 100 years since the incorporation of St. Louis as a municipality.

WHEAT MEN TALK UNIFORM GRADING

Seek Plan to Forestall General Inspection By the Government.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 7.—Uniform grading of wheat was the principal subject of discussion today among the delegates to the convention in this city of the National Grain Dealers' association.

Because the inherent quality of wheat, varying with soil and climatic conditions in different sections of the country, has supplied a great obstacle to uniform grading, the association is split into factions. It is hoped to formulate a grading plan on which the Chicago board of trade and all the other wheat interests will be able to agree, and thus ward off general government inspection, to which the majority of the members of the association are opposed.

United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge addressed the convention this morning on "Higher Ethics in Business."

CLEMANS TO HEAD LIQUOR WAR

Campaign Soon to Be Begun in the Zenith City.

Dr. E. C. Clemans, who now heads the work of the Anti-Saloon league for the territory surrounding Duluth, will soon begin an active campaign in the interests of that organization.

The state is to be divided into four districts that the work may be systematized and carried on in a more thorough manner.

During the national meeting in Chicago in December, a daily paper will be published, telling of the proceedings. This paper will be mailed free to all those interested. The several leagues are now subscribing money for its maintenance.

Dr. Clemans' headquarters will be either in Duluth or Brainerd. He has not as yet decided.

The figures for the first six days of October from the district of Consul General Mason show 7,061 invoices, valued at $14,470,000, as against 5,519 invoices, valued at $8,472,177 for the corresponding period of 1908. There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally, in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

WEST END

THEIR WEDDING KEPT SECRET

Mr and Mrs. William Peterson Surprise Their Friends.

After keeping their marriage a secret for nearly three months, Miss Inez Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thorwald Peterson of 2318 West Eighth street and William Peterson of 11 North Twenty-fifth avenue west, surprised their friends and relatives yesterday by announcing it.

They were married at Carlton, July 22, by the Rev. Mr. Long of the Carlton M. E. church. Returning to Duluth, they did not tell any one of the wedding. It was rumored, however, among the friends of the young people that they were to be married some time this fall. Mrs. Peterson told her parents of the marriage yesterday.

Mr. Peterson, the groom, has been employed at the Broman meat market at Twentieth avenue west and First street. He will leave with his bride for Jacksonville, Fla., some time next week, where he will engage in the fruit-raising business.

Both of the young people are well known and have a wide acquaintance in the western end of the city.

Surprised By Friends.

G. Lindahl was given a surprise party last evening at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, by his friends and the members of the congregation of the Swedish Mission church. He was presented with a purse by those present. During the evening several speeches were made and a short informal program was carried out.

Hearing on New Road.

Property owners along the proposed route to be taken by the Hermantown cut-off, which begins at the intersection of Miller's creek and Twenty-fourth avenue west and runs along the old ravine south of the old McGoffin place to the Hermantown road, will be given a hearing tomorrow morning before the board of public works.

Any complaints that are to be made against the proposed road can be registered with the board at this time. Arrangements for the advertising of the condemnation proceedings against the property affected will also be made by the board tomorrow.

REFUSES OFFER.

Rev. W. E. Harmonn Will Not Go to St. Paul Church.

Rev. W. E. Harmonn, rector of St. Peter's Swedish Episcopal church, at Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, and also the pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, will not accept the call he received last week to St. Sigfrid's Episcopal church at St. Paul.

He conducted services last Sunday at the St. Paul church, returning to Duluth early this week. The offer made to Rev. Harmonn by the St. Paul congregation was flattering, but he says that after carefully considering the matter, he will remain with his charge in Duluth.

Rev. Harmonn has been pastor of the Swedish Episcopal church since a year ago last June and has been pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church since the resignation of Rev. R. J. Mooney last June.

Autumn Festival.

An autumn festival will be given tomorrow evening at the First Swedish Baptist church, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, under the auspices of the Young People's society of the church.

A good program has been arranged. The choir will sing several numbers. Mrs. Carl Hagberg will give a solo. There will also be a duet and a quartett.

Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the church, will deliver a short address during the evening.

West End Shortrails.

BASEBALL MAN IS FOUND GUILTY

Appeal May Be Taken in Test Case in Hoosier Court.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 7.—The jury in the case of Charles Carr, manager of the Indianapolis Baseball club, charged with having played professional baseball on Sunday, returned a verdict of guilty last night. The proceeding was brought to test the constitutionality of the law permitting Sunday baseball.

The case against Carr will be appealed to the Indiana supreme court, unless Judge Pritchard of the criminal court sustains a motion to arrest judgment, according to a statement of Carr's attorneys.

The jury deliberated for twenty-seven hours. For a great part of the time, it is said, the ballot stood 8 to 4 for Carr's acquittal. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the jurors reported to the bailiff that they were unable to agree, but Judge Pritchard ordered them back for the night. In a few hours the verdict of guilty was reached.

The prosecution contends that the law passed by the last legislature is unconstitutional. It is declared to be class legislation, as it permits professional baseball players to follow the vocation of Sunday baseball contrary to the Sunday desecration law of this state.

WHEAT AND FLAX LOWER

All Grain Prices Go Lower in the Duluth Market.

Flax Longs Dump Seed at End of the Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 7.—Both wheat and flax closed weak in the Duluth market today.

Wheat had a lower tone in all of the American markets, but the greatest depression reflected by the closing prices was in Duluth.

The December option closed ⅞c lower in Duluth, ⅜@½c lower in Chicago, ½@⅝c lower in Minneapolis, ⅜c lower in New York, a shade lower in St. Louis, ¼c lower in Kansas City and ⅜c lower in Winnipeg. The May option closed 1¼c lower in Duluth, ⅜@½c lower in Chicago, ½c lower in Minneapolis, ⅜c lower in New York and Winnipeg, ⅜@½c lower in St. Louis and ¼c lower in Kansas City.

December corn and oats closed ¼c lower in Chicago.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "At the opening the wheat market was firm with values ¼d to ⅜d higher, being influenced by the steadiness of American cables yesterday and the scarcity of American offerings. Following the opening and during the morning, the market was firmly held and with good support values further advanced ¼d to ⅜d. Strength was attributed to the scarcity and higher Manitoba offerings, very few Pacific coast offers and the reports of locusts being numerous in Argentina. Cargoes were firmly held with offerings few and spot markets were firm. At mid-day, there was a slight recession from top prices on a less active demand, but still the undertone was firm with values ⅜d to ¾d higher than yesterday with December firmly held.

"Corn—This market was dull and neglected with prices unchanged."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 516 against 414 last year, and at Minneapolis 576 against 639 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 1,092 against 1,053 last year. Chicago received 18 against 46 last year. Winnipeg received 693 against 285 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 2,042,000 bu, last year 1,613,000 bu. Shipments, 1,145,000 bu, last year 720,000 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 469,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 531,000 bu, last year 311,000 bu. Shipments, 455,000 bu, last year 138,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 85,000 bu.

Wheat was active in the local market. December wheat opened unchanged at 99½c, declined to 99⅛c, rallied to 99⅝c and declined by the close to 98⅝c, a loss of ⅞c from yesterday. May wheat opened ½c lower at $1.03, declined to $1.02⅝, rallied to $1.03½ and closed at $1.02¼, a loss of 1¼c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ½c lower.

Flax had a weaker tone throughout the session and when longs began dumping heavy holdings toward the close, the market could not absorb them fast enough to prevent a slump. October flax opened unchanged at $1.46½, advanced to $1.46¾, declined to $1.44 and closed there, a loss of 2½c from yesterday. November flax opened unchanged at $1.46½, finally declined to $1.44 and closed at that price, a loss of 2½c from yesterday. December flax opened ½c lower at $1.43½, declined to $1.40¼ and closed at $1.40½, a loss of 3½c from yesterday. May flax opened ¼c lower at $1.48 and closed at $1.45¼, a loss of 3c.

Oats closed ⅜c lower.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Selling Causes Decline in the Price of Wheat.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Official predictions of rain tonight for Kansas and Nebraska, where the seeding of the winter wheat crop is practically complete, prompted considerable selling of wheat today and resulted in a decline of about ½c from the opening quotations. Slackening in demand for the cash grain here also inspired selling, which was led by a prominent elevator interest.

The wheat market opened firm with prices a shade to ⅜c higher, owing to revived reports of locust damage to the Argentina crop and because the output of flour at Minneapolis and Duluth was reported the largest in four years. December opened at $1.01⅞@1.02⅛. An easier tone, however, soon developed and December sold off to $1.01⅝.

Following a mild rally, during which the December option advanced to 102⅜, the market developed still greater weakness, and December sold off to $1.01⅛@1.01¼. The close was weak, with December off ⅜@½c at $1.01⅜.

Trade in corn was dull and prices were inclined to sag owing to selling based on ideal weather conditions for the maturing of the new crop. Cash demand was slow and local receipts were a trifle in excess of what had been estimated. Prices were a shade higher to ⅛c lower, December being at 57½c to 57½@57⅝c. After touching 57¾c, the December option dropped to 57¼c.

The market was weak all day. There was considerable selling during the last half of the day on anticipation of a bearish government crop report tomorrow. December declined to 56⅞@57c. The close was weak, with December ¼c lower at 57¼c.

Oats for December delivery were again subjected to considerable selling pressure by cash interests and as a result the market in general was weakearly. The December option opened unchanged to ⅛c higher at 38⅞@39c and later declined to 38½@38⅝.

Provisions rallied from a rather weak opening on buying brought out by a material reduction in hog packing for the week. Declines of 2½@5c at the start were due to selling inspired by a 10c decline in live hogs.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

December Wheat Goes Up, But Easy Tone Develops Later.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 7.—Sentiment favored a reaction from the strong wheat market of yesterday. The movement was favorable and the primary wheat receipts were far in excess of those of a year ago. During the early session the market was about steady. When December advanced to 99¾c a new high price was reached for this option. During the last two hours an easy tone developed and the near option declined 1⅛c below the high point and closed exactly 1c below. May was correspondingly weak.

Local elevator stocks of wheat increased 15,000 bu for five days. Minneapolis today received 576 cars of wheat as compared with 639 cars a year ago; Duluth 516 cars against 414 cars, and Winnipeg 693 cars against 285 cars. December opened at 98⅜@98½c; high, 99⅝@99¾c; low, 98⅝c; close, 98¾c. May opened at $1.03; high, $1.03¼; low, $1.02⅛@1.02¼; close, $1.02¼@1.02⅜.

Cash wheat was steady again today. No. 1 northern sold for 2@2¼c above the December contract, and No. 2 northern for the even near option to ½c above. Local mills were the principal buyers and elevator interests and country mills bought sparingly. Closing prices on track: No. 1 northern spot, $1.00½@1.0¾; to arrive, $1.00¾; No. 2 northern, 98½@98¾; to arrive, 98¾c; No. 3 wheat, 96½@98½c; No. 3 yellow corn, 56¼c; No. 3 white oats, 36¼@36½c; No. 2 rye, 65¾c.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 1,722 tons. There was no change in the situation today. Demand continued in excess of the supply, and prices held firm. Bran in 100-pound packages, $19.50.

The flour market continued strong and active, with no new feature. Mills are running full capacity in an endeavor to catch up with orders booked ahead two months. Demand was good. Shipments were heavy and prices held firm. Shipments, 64,495 barrels. First patents, $5.20@5.30; second patents, $5.00@5.10; first clears, $4.35@4.55; second clears, $3.10@3.30.

Flax—Receipts, 77 cars; year ago, 63 cars; shipments, 13 cars. Demand was good for both spot and to arrive at the Duluth October price. Receipts were far in excess of those of a year ago. Close, $1.43¾.

Barley—Receipts, 177 cars; year ago, 79 cars; shipments, 60 cars. The market was steady again today. Demand was good for all grades, especially the choice malting barley. Offerings were more than twice as heavy as those of a year ago. Prices were unchanged. Closing range, 43@58c.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Oct. 7.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 4 points, in response to bullish Liverpool cables, and broke 8 to 10 points under a flurry of commission house liquidation, heavy receipts and scattered hedge selling from the South. STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR Opened With Vigorous Rebound From Wednesday's Closing Prices.

General Selling in Final Hour and the Early Gains Lost.

New York, Oct. 7.—Opening prices of stocks today showed a vigorous rebound from yesterday's closing level. Running sales of 12,000 shares of United States Steel were made at 89⅞ and 90, compared with 89⅛ last night. Union Pacific, Kansas City Southern, New York Central, United States Realty and American Sugar rose 2, and Union Pacific, St. Paul, Wabash preferred, Central Leather, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred and Republic Steel large fractions. The dealings were in only moderate volume, outside the heavy transactions in United States Steel.

Some of the opening advances were cancelled when the traders began to take profits, and United States Steel reacted to 89⅝. New buying orders came in the lower levels and the market rallied strongly, with the railroad stocks making an exceptionally good showing. Many of the low priced specialties also were conspicuously strong.

United States Steel bounded up to 90¾, where it seemed to meet enough stock to check its further progress. Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati & St. Louis advanced 4 points, Vulcan-Detinning preferred 2, Iowa Central preferred 1¾, St. Louis Southwestern 1⅝, New York Central, Erie second preferred and Central Leather 1½, Norfolk & Western 1¼ and Reading, Chesapeake & Ohio, Illinois Central, Pennsylvania, Allis-Chalmers preferred, American Beet Sugar, American Locomotive and Republic Steel 1. Des Moines & Fort Dodge declined 2 and Pacific Telephone 1½.

United States Steel was lifted to 91⅛. The strength and activity of this stock and of Union Pacific, Reading and New York Central affected the market in sympathy, and a wide variety of advances were shown. Union Pacific, New York Central and American Car rose 2, Wabash preferred and Railway Steel Spring 1¾, Reading 1⅝, Southern Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern preferred, American Beet Sugar, Kansas & Texas and United States Rubber 1½, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred 1⅜ and Louisville & Nashville, Southern railway, Rock Island, Great Northern preferred, St. Paul, Delaware & Hudson and American Telephone a point or more. The market rested at fractional recessions from the top. Bonds were steady.

Low priced stocks were more active, particularly the Southwestern group. Kansas & Texas was heavily bought and gained 2½. Texas & Pacific also gained 1¾. The rest of the list was about steady and much quieter. Kanawha & Michigan certificates sold off 3 points.

A few stocks lost ground and the market became dull. Union Pacific lost a good fraction, which was recovered afterward. Sloss-Sheffield Steel advanced 2⅛.

The market closed weak and rather dull. The was very general selling in the final hour and the consequent recessions left little of the earlier gains. The leaders retained only small fractions or nothing of the previous rise. Amalgamated Copper fell ½ below last night and Canadian Pacific 1. Chesapeake & Ohio rose a point in the late dealings with some check on the decline.

New York stock quotations furnished The Herald by Piper, Johnson & Case.

Our own wires to the Copper country. Also connections to Eastern Markets.

OCTOBER 7, 1909.

In the balmy days when Calumet & Arizona opened up big rich deposits of high-grade ore, and when the North Butte followed closely and also opened up rich enough to become an equal to the former, those were great days for many in Duluth and the Copper country. Mr. Thomas F. Cole was the man at the helm, and carried them safely through. Did you ever stop to consider the value of these two mines alone? They are today paying big dividends on $45,000,000. The late E. H. Harriman was worth, they say, $75,000,000, and you know his interests were very large throughout the United States.

Look at W. A. Clark, who is worth several times that amount of money, and it was made mining copper. Look at the great Calumet & Hecla company, controlled by a few men and which is one of the richest companies in the world. Strike it rich in a copper mine and you make a fortune. Today on Butte Hill we have three independent companies which promise to have much to do in the way of producing a great amount of copper. The Tuolumne was the first to pave the way and is now gradually starting to produce large quantities of copper ore. Then comes the Butte-Alex Scott with its big ledges running through it from the High Ore to the Leonard and from which is being taken thousands of tons of ore every day. The Scott will be one of the greatest new mines in Butte, Montana, and the shares should now be selling at $40 instead of $5. You could not buy one acre from the Amalgamated for $1,000,000. When I say the Scott mine is worth $5,000,000 easy, I know what I am doing. It is located in the heart of the heart of Butte Hill. We urge our best friends to buy the shares. If it is good enough for the people of Butte, Montana, to buy, it must be good enough for us, for out there they know. The Scott has thousands and thousands of tons of ore shown up and it is only a question of number of holes it takes to open up as rich bodies of high grade ore as its neighboring mines have shown on same veins. The shaft has started for the 1,400. Only 155 feet to go. The veins will be opened on the 1,245 and 1,400 and then, boys, look out, for something real big. Most of the work has now been done on the 1,000 and the showing is big even on this level. It is an absolute certainty below because the Amalgamated has proven our veins in their ground up to our end lines. In less than 60 days we will reach the 1,400-foot level.

Buy this Scott stock with every dollar you can lay your hands on, for this mine should easily earn $5 a year on every share of stock. You also want to watch Balinklava for it has wonderful possibilities.

It is an absolutely certain proposition and could not be better if made to order.

Remember, Butte Hill is the richest hill in the world, and in thirty-five years of mining they have never missed it yet. You stick to Butte Hill, and if you do not buy Scott, buy the others, either Balinklava or Tuolumne, and you will thank me. What we want nowadays is something that will earn dividends. We have been up against the other game long enough. We should have three mines pretty much like the North Butte. Show me any better ones than Balinklava, the Scotts or Tuolumne. You cannot do it.

For a low priced issue, buy St. Mary's stock. Here is a live one selling away down low, but with a market almost as broad as you have on postage stamps. Remember what I tell you, this one should be bought, for prospects are good at the property, and as it is a public favorite, you can expect a big advance in the shares. One of these fine days you will see it crawl along on a 10 cents advance a day. Remember, this is a tip to buy. Around 33 or 34 St. Mary's stock is going to advance, and remember I said so.

Our offices are the best located in Duluth for curb stocks. We always have the true market. Give us your business.

OCTOBER 7, 1909.

There was plenty of news today.

In the big New York market the much touted and oversold Steel Common started a general decline, which, while not serious, was material along the whole line. But general conditions were too optimistic and the whole market closed somewhat higher than last night's closing.

The local market was strong and higher all the time and the volume of business largely increased.

On report of a very favorable smelter contract for an enormous quantity of zinc ore, Butte & Superior was easily the leader, making a substantial advance which was well maintained.

Following the news yesterday that the Anaconda had cut two veins on their Right Bower claim, which adjoins Butte-Balinklava on the east, came the information that Butte-Ballaklava had encountered seven feet of glance and bornite in the drift on the 1,200-foot level. This new strike, taken with the fact that the mine commenced shipments to the smelter today, caused a commotion and all offerings were at once withdrawn. Bids up to $10.25 failed to dislodge any stock and this can mean but one result—higher prices for Butte-Ballaklava tomorrow—and, too, right on its merits. Fifteen dollars will look cheap for this stock within a few days.

Keweenaw Copper, the shares of which have been picked around at your own bid for some time, reported a drill core showing 18 feet of good ore, supposed to be the Osceola lode. The market responded promptly and advanced $1.50 per share to $5 bid at the close.

The Scotts were much in demand and scored material advances.

Tuolumne reported cutting a 14-foot vein on the 1,400-foot level and was much in demand at $4 per share. This property has proven that it is a mine and in the best of company will sell much higher, and at once.

St. Mary's was not heavily traded in today, the favorites absorbing the interest of traders, but they are sawing wood and at these prices it's like finding money to take on a block of this stock. They have the proven property, the money and the management. This stock will look cheap at $1 per share before New Year's.

Copper Queen showed good life and scored a material advance. Any news from this property would benefit it, as it has undoubtedly suffered more from the lack of news than from any fault.
